This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

Googlebooks

https://books.google.com

Tappan Presbyterian Association LIBRARY

Presented by Mrs. Atterbury.

From Library of Rev. John G. Atterbury, D.D.

4726

PAMILY EXPOSITOR:

47.21

OR, A

Paraphrase and Version

OF THE

HIW TESTAMENT:

WITH

CRITICAL NOTES;

AND A

Practical IMPROVEMENT of each Section.

VOL. IV.

Containing the EPISTLE of

PAUL the APOSTLE to the ROMANS,

And his FIRST, and SECOND,

EPISTLES to the CORINTHIANS.

By P. DODDRIDGE, D.D.

Εων γυρ επιδω [τινα] τη μέζα τα προσεχειν αναγνωσει, ευ οιδ' ό]ι η θαυμασέζαι τον ναν τα ανόρω, (sc. Παυλα,) εν ιδιωζιαη λεξει μεγαλα περινοανίω, η μη θαυμασας αυζω καζαγελας Φανείζαι.

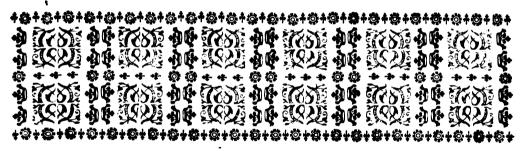

Origen. con. Cels. Lib. III. Pag. 122. Cantab. 1658.

ZONDON:

Printed for the Benefit of the Family, and Sold by J. WAUGH, at the Turk's-bead in Lombard-street, and J. BUCKLAND, at the Buck in Pater-noster Row.

M.DCC.LIE.

2-2-57/11

THE

PREFACE.

 $oldsymbol{F} T E R$ what $oldsymbol{I}$ have faid concerning this Work, in the Prefaces to the former Volumes, A I have little to add, but what relates to the Manner in which I have endeavoured to conduct this Part upon the Epistles; which I bless

GOD, he has carried me thro', and thank the Publick they bave so kindly encouraged.

As far as I know myself, I have no favourite Hypothesis to serve, nor a Fondness for any unscriptural Phrases; in which fo many have, on one Side, and the other, made the very Being of Orthodoxy to confist. I have been disposed to let Scripture carry me along with it, wherever it naturally leads, rather than refolve it should follow me. Instead of labouring to establish any particular human System, which has always, I fear, a Leaven of Imperfection attending it; I bave endeavoured to keep Controversy as much out of Sight as possible, and to represent what I verily believe to be the Scripture-Doctrine, in as simple a Manner as I could, and didivested of those particular Expressions, which some, who perhaps are not averse to the main Doctrine itself, are ready to rise up against.

But I have not the Vanity to hope I have escaped all Prejudice. Where it has been manifested, may GOD pardon it, may my Brethren excuse it, and may divine Illumination, more plentifully imparted, preserve others from being led into any Errors, into which I may have fallen!

I hope it will be deemed no Matter of just Offence, that I have not always critically examined those Interpretations, which, as seeming less natural, I have declined. It had been endless, amidst such a Variety of Sentiments and Explications, to have done this. Some Commentators have darkened these Epistles so much, that I am sensible St. Paul's Writings are best explained, by keeping their Glosses as much as possible out of Sight. I have therefore frequently passed them over, as if I had never heard, or known them. And if any should impute this to Ignorance, I wish they had happened to be in the right, as it had been the saving a great deal of important Time, not to have known the Manner in which these Writings have been tortured, to serve and save a favourite Hypothesis.

It has seemed reasonable to me, when the Text and Context will bear two Interpretations, to prefer that which gives the noblest and most extensive Sense, and might make the Passage in Question most universally useful. And I hope this general Apology will be sufficient.

If I have been less sanguine than some would choose, let it be forgiven. I wrote with Fear and Trembling when I considered the favourable Reception which the former Volumes had bad met with, and that these which I now publish might probably follow them over a considerable Part of the Protestant World: A Testimony, I bope, that they breathed a Spirit of Piety, rather than Party; and a Reason for Caution in these, that an Air of Authority might not mislead, or of Rashness offend.

I have endeavoured to guard against excessive Length in the Paraphrase; and so much the rather, as St. Paul's Sentences are often so long, that I feared I should otherwise have obscured the Sense, rather than illustrated it; and have rendered one of the liveliest Writers in the World, (for such undoubtedly St. Paul is,) tedious to the Reader. To avoid this, I have often broke one Sentence of the Text into two or three in the Paraphrase; and have had a great deal of Work in the Review, to correct the Obscurity, which was the natural Consequence of following one leading Thought.

I have aimed at making the Improvements naturally arise out of, and follow the Scriptures illustrated; and by tracing the Temper of the Apostles, under the Instuence of the great Truths they are inculcating, to produce correspondent Affections in my own Heart. I have endeavoured that the Mind of the Reader, more attentive perhaps at first to the critical Sense, may be led into the practical Use, which, plain as it generally is, is indeed the End of all, and alas! the hardest of all to teach. I have preferred plain and useful Resections to those, which might have been curious and surprizing; and proposed those Lessons, which I would be most desirous to impress upon my own Heart.

When this Work is read in the Families, or Closets, of any who practise free Prayer, I would desire them to observe, how naturally the several Improvements will furnish them with with proper Materials for this important and delightful Exercise; and by such a Use of them, their Hearts may be more powerfully impressed with the Truths illustrated, and the Duties recommended. In this View, I have in some of them suffered my Thoughts, while warmed with serious and devout Meditation, to breathe forth the Language of Prayer and Praise; which may furnish my Fellow-Christians with a Specimen of the Manner, in which most of them may be converted into direct Addresses to GOD.

Upon the whole, the Design of this Work is not to proselyte Men to human Names, nor to reconcile them to this or the other discriminating Phrase; which in the Mouth of one may be Truth and Propriety, and in the Mouth of another, False-hood and Nonsense; according as any Idea, or none, a just, or a wrong Idea, may be affixed to them.—Nor is it my Design to influence Christians to worship here, or there—my Design is to let into the Heart the great Sentiments of Christianity, and to convey them there as warmly and strongly as I could. And I hope GOD will graciously reward the faithful Care, with which I have consulted the Honour of my sacred Guide, by making it the Means of spreading true Religion, and nourishing many Souls in fervent Piety, brotherly Love and universal Goodness. Amen.

Philip Doddridge.

A

L I S T

OF THE

SUBSCRIBERS NAMES.

Α

RALPH Allen Esq; of Bath.
Jos. Ashe, Esq; of Milton,
Northamptonshire.

Benjamin Avery, L. L. D. Treasurer of Guy's Hospital.

Reverend Dr. Ayerst, Restor of St. Swythin's, and Treasurer of the Cathedral at Canterbury.

Reverend Mr. Adams of Salop.

Reverend Mr. Addington of Harbo-rough.

Reverend Mr. Adams of Bewdley.

Reverend Mr. John Aikin, A. M. of Kibworth.

Reverend Mr. Caleb Ashworth of Daventry, two sets.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Ashworth of Lancasbire.

.Mrs. Elizabeth Abney of Newington, two sets.

Mrs. Adams of Stamford.

Mr. Robert Alger of Thelveton, Norfolk.

Mrs. Mary Allard of Tewkesbury.

Mr. John Allen of Frome.

Mr. Abraham Allison of Keswick.

Mr. Jof. Archer.

Mr. John Arnold, Merchant of Rotter-dam.

Mr. Thomas Ashmead, of Tewkes-bury.

Mrs. Sarah Ashhurst, two sets.

Mrs. Ashhurst near St. Albans.

Mrs. Ashhurst of Derby.
Mr. John Atchinson of Olney.

Mr. John Attley, Merchant at Lisbon.

Mr. Jos. Austin at Kidderminster.

Mr. Samuel Avery Junior of Northampton.

B.

The Right Honourable the Lord Barrington.

Sir Philip Boteler, Baronet.

Sir Charles Buck, Baronet.

Lady Buck.

Reverend Sir William Bunbury, Barenet.

John Baker of Denton, Gent.

John Bance, Esq; of King's Arms Yard.

James Birch, E/q; of Coventry.

Thomas Bird, E/q; of ditto.

John Blencowe, E/q; of Marston. John Bond, E/q; of Grange, Dorset-

William Bowden, Esq; Merchant.

John Burnett, E/q;

Dr. Banson of Huntington. Reverend Mr. Thomas Bagshaw.

Rev-

Reverend Mr. John Barker of Clapham. Reverend Mr. Barwis, A. M. of Soho-Square.

Reverend Mr. James Belsham of Bedford.

Reverend Mr. John Bernonville of St. Kitts.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Bingham of Nottingham.

Reverend Mr. Binnel of Newport, Shropshire.

Reverend Mr. Malachi Blake.

Reverend Mr. David Black of Perth.

Reverend Mr. Francis Bolt.

Reverend Mr. William Boughton of Buckingham.

Reverend Mr. Boyce of Kettering.

Reverend Mr. Brabant of Bloxham, Oxfordshire.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Brewer.

Reverend Mr. Broak, Minister of the Parish of Eglwysworow, in Pembrokeshire.

Reverend Mr. Brogden of Narborough. Reverend Mr. Bulkley.

Reverend Mr. Burridge, Fellow of Clare Hall, Cambridge.

Mr. Samuel Badely, Merchant of Walpole, Suffolk.

Mr. John Baker of Kidderminster.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. William Baldwin of Coleford.

Mr. John Banister near Lewes. Mrs. Elizabeth Barker.

Mr. Edward Barnard of Hackney.

Mr. Thomas Barnes of Northampton.

Mr. James Barrow of Norwich.

Mr. George Baskerville.

Mrs. Rachel Baskerville.

Mr. Beach.

Mr. Philip Beart of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Andrew Behman of Rotterdam.
Mr. Richard Bennet of Ashburton,

Mr. Henry Benwell of Covers near Henley.

Mr. William Beesly.

Mr. William Betts of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Fdward Best of Bewdley.

Mr. George Birch of Coventry. Mr. Thomas Birch of Manchester.

Mr. Thomas Bickerton of Berwick, Shropshire.

Mr. John Burkitt of Sudbury.

Mrs. Blis of Northampton.

Mrs. Joice Bloxham of Banbury, Oxfordshire.

Mrs. Bodham of Lynn, Norfolk.

Mr. George Bond.

Mrs. Boothby of Derby, two fets.

Mrs. Borrett.

Mr. John Bosquain of St. Ives.

Mr. Thomas Bowles.

Mr. John Bowles.
Mr. Carrington Bowles of Cornhill.

Mr. Joseph Bradney, Apothecary.

Mr. Bailey Brett of West Bromwich, Staffordshire.

Mr. John Broom of Kidderminster.

Mr. William Brock.

Mr. John Brogden, Merchant.

Mr. William Brown of Rendham, Suffolk.

Mr. Edward Brown of Lisbon.

Mr. George Buck of Worlington in Suffolk.

Mr. Jonathan Bullen of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. William Burnley.

Mr. John Burgess of Leicester.

Mr. George Burward, deceased.

Mr. Hans Buske of Leeds.

Miss Sarah Butler of Halesworth, Suffolk.

Mr. Francis Butlin of Northamp-

Mr. William Butlin of ditto.

Mr. John Button of Peasmarsh.

Mr. Thomas Buxton of Northampton.

Mr. Charles Buxton.

His

Mr. John Bilby of Derby.

His Grace the Most Reverend Dr. Thomas Herring Lord Archbishop of Canterbury.

The Right Honourable the Lord Cadogan.

The Right Honourable the Lady Ann
Countess Downger of Coventry.

The Honourable Alexander Hume Campbell E/q;

Daniel Campbell, E/q; of Shawfield. Nathaniel Carpenter, E/q; deceased. Lewin Cholmley, E/q;

Robert Fowler Coade, Esq; of Lyme, Dorsetshire.

Richard Clarke, Esq; of Breedwell, Devon.

Henry Collet, E/q; of Tewkesbury, Gloucestershire.

Robert Cruttenden, E/q,

Nathaniel Cotton, M. D. of St. Albans.

Reverend Mr. John Carlyon.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Chandler.

Reverend Mr. Chapman of Staplehurst, feven sets.

Reverend Mr. Chidlaw of Chester.

Reverend Mr. John Chorley of Ufculme, Devon.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Clarke of Daentry, Northamptonshire.

Reverend Mr. Coriolanus Coplestone of Princes-Risborough, Bucks.

Reverend Mr. Crompton of Walpole, Suffolk

Mrs. Mary Calamy of Harborough. Mr. William Calcot, Bookfeller of Ban-bury.

Mr. Cowper Cardwell of Northampton.

Mr. Newcombe Cappe of Leeds.

Mr. James Carlon of St. Ives.

Mr. John Carthew.

Mr. Chambers of Lewes.

Mr. Jacob Chapman of Falmouth.

Mr. Eliezer Chater.

Miss Cholmley.

Mr. Fleetwood Churchill of Clare Hall, Cambridge.

Mr. Thomas Clarke of Goodleigh, Devon.

Vol. IV.

b b

Mrs. Sarah Clarke of St. Albans.

Mr. Nicolas Clayton.

Mrs. Clayton of Enfield Park, deceafed.

Mr. William Cleeter of Henley.

Mr. Richard Clements, Bookseller at Oxford seven sets.

Mr. Robert Cliffe.

Mr. Henry Coape.

Mr. Henry Coleman of Burton-Overy.

Mr. William Coles of Warwick.

Mr. John Coles of Taunton, Somerfet.

Mr. Joseph Collet of Tewkesbury.

Mr. John Colvil of Goudhurst in Kent.

Mr. Joseph Cooper of Northampton.

Mr. John Copeland, M. B. of Yoxford in Suffolk.

Mr. George Conon Schoolmaster at Truro in Cornwall.

Mr. John Conner of Bloxham, Oxfordfhire.

Mr. John Corrie, two fets.

Mr. John Corflic of Norwich.

Mr. John Cotton of Starston, Norfolk.

Mr. Thomas Cotton of Brockdish, Norfolk.

Mr. Samuel Cowell.

Mr. Denny Crabb of Wattessford.

Mr. John Cramant of Leicester.

Mr. Henry Crane of Kidderminster.

Mr. John Crane of ditto.

Mr. Nicolas Crisp.

Mr. Thomas Crifp.

Mr. Joseph Cruttenden.

Mr. John Cumberland of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Samuel Cumberland of ditto.

Mr. Henry Cutler, deceased.

Mrs. Cutts of Derby.

Ď.

Right Honourable Earl of Dunmore, deceased.

The Right Reverend Dr. Joseph Butler Lord Bishop of Durham, deceased.

Sir Thomas Drury, Baronet.

Peter Delme, E/q;

Humphrey

James Dunn Esq; of Dublin. Humphrey Dell, M. D. of Flitwick, Bedfordshire.

Reverend Mr. Risdon Darricott of Wellington, two sets.

Reverend Mr. Evan Davies Tutor to the diffenting Academy at Carmarthen, South Wales.

Reverend Mr. Isaac Davies of King's Walden, Hertfordshire.

Reverend Mr. Dowding of Tunbridge Wells.

Reverend Mr. Dowley of Lutterworth. Reverend Mr. John Drake of Yardley, Northamptonshire.

Captain Thomas Dawson.

Mr. Edmund Darby of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Peter Darval of Ray Mill near Maidenhead.

Mr. Peter Dehondt, of Holland.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon.

Mrs. Doliffe in Old Burlington Street. Miss Dolins.

Mr. William Drane of Scole, Norfolk. Mr. William Drew, Attorney at Law. Reverend Mr. Durant.

E.

Reverend Sir John Elliot, Baronet.

James Erskine, Esq; near Ampthill, Bedfordshire.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Ellis of Cave in Yorkshire, seven sets.

Mr. John Eddowes of Chester.

Mr. Joshua Eddowes, Bookseller in Salop.

Mr. John Edgar, deceasede

Mr. Bartholemew Edye in Behalf of the Benefactors of the Charity School at Stoke Craft, Bristol, and for the Use thereof.

Mr. John Edwards of Tavistock, Devon.

Miss Ekins of Chester, Northamptonshire.

Mr. Eldridge.

Mr. Samuel Enderby.

Mr. Walter Erle.

Mrs. Evans of Penywenallt in Cardiganshire.

Mr. Thomas Evanson of Whitchurch, Shropshire.

F.

Right Honourable Lord Fincastle.
Right Honourable Viscountes Fane.
Right Honourable Lady Jane Ferguson.
Sir John Frederick, Baronet.
William Finch, Esq; of Cambridge.
William Fitzherbert, Esq; of Tissington, Derbyshire.

Reverend Mr. Fabyan of Newton, De-

Reverend Mr. Hugh Farmer of Walthamstow.

Reverend Mr. Benjamin Fawcett of Kidderminster, five Sets.

Reverend Mr. Fitzherbert of Ashborne, Derbyshire.

Reverend Mr. Floyd of Daventry.
Reverend Mr. Follet of Ilfarcomb, Devonshire.

Reverend Mr. Follet of St. Edmunds Bury.

Reverend Mr. Foot of Chard.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Ford.

Reverend Mr. French of Wellingborough.

Reverend Mr. Richard Frost of Yarmouth.

Reverend Mr. Philip Furneaux.

Mr. William Farr.

Mr. John Fellowes of Nottingham.

Mr. Thomas Field, Bookseller.

Mr. Charles Finch of Cambridge. Mr. John Fitch of Northampton.

Mrs. Fitzherbert of Derby.

Mrs. Fitzherbert, two sets.

Miss Judith Fitzherbert.

Mr. Thomas Fletcher. Mr. Benjamin Forfitt.

Mrs. Sarah Fletcher.

Mr. Michael Fowler.

Mr. Richard Froom. G.

Right Honourable Lady Frances Gardiner. The Honourable Mrs. Mary Grevill.

Samuel Gellibrand, Esq;

John Gisborne, junior, Esq; of Derby. Rev.

Reverend Dr. Green.
Reverend Benjamin Grosvenor, D. D.
Reverend John Guyse, D. D.

Reverend Mr. John Gardiner of Marlborough.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Gellibrand of Ashford.

Reverend Mr. Gilbert of Northampton, three sets.

Reverend Mr. Edward Godwin.

Reverend Mr. Goodrich of Oundle seven sets.

Reverend Mr. Graham of Tewkesbury. Reverend Mr. Green, Fellow of Clare-Hall, Cambridge, seven sets.

Reverend Mr. John Green of Ongar. Reverend Mr. Gregson of Rowell.

Reverend Mr. Joseph Grigg, of Beaumont Hall.

Mr. Jeremiah Gardiner.

Mrs. Gibson of Wood Dawling, Norfolk.

Mr. Walter Griffiths of Ludlow.

Mrs. Gore of Enfield.

Mr. John Gotheridge of King's Walden. Miss Gravill.

Mrs. Green of Huntington.

Mr. Francis Gregg.

H.

The Right Honourable Philip Lord Hardwick, Baron of Hardwick, Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain.

Right Honourable Earl of Hallifax. Right Honourable Countess of Hallifax.

Right Honourable Countess of Harborough.

Sir John Hartopp, Baronet.

Sir Henry Houghton, Baronet, seven sets.

William Hanbury, Esq; of Kelmarsh, Northamptonshire.

Charles Hardy Esq; of Delapre, Northamptonshire.

Charles Hardy Esq;

James Harkness Esq; of New Barns-

Davenant Hawkins Esq; of Tewkefbury.

B b b 2

George Heathcote E/q;

John Hopkins Esq; five sets.

Andrew Hume E/q; of Edinburgh. Thomas Hunt E/q; of Salop.

Reverend Obadiah Hughes D. D. deceafed.

Reverend Dr. Hunt of Christ's Church, Oxford, fix sets.

James Hadow M. D. Warwick.

Cheney Hart M. D. Salop.

David Hartley M. D. of Bath.

Charles Haye M. D. of Halesworth, Suffolk.

Reverend Mr. Hampton of Banbury.

Reverend Mr. Hanmer of Plymouth. Reverend Mr. Solomon Harris of Swanfey in Glamorganshire.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Hurrion of Guefwick, Norfolk.

Reverend Mr. Harmer of Wattesfield, Suffolk.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Hartley Rector of Winwick, Northamptonshire.

Reverend Mr. Hildesly of Hitchin Hertfordshire, fix sets.

Reverend Mr. Haskall of Bishops Hall.

Reverend Mr. James Hervey A. B. of Weston.

Reverend Mr. John Heap of Box Lane, Hertfordshire.

Reverend Mr. Heywood of Potterspury, Northamptonshire.

Reverend Mr. Hextall of Sudbury, feven fets.

Reverend Mr. Jabez Hirons of St. Albans.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Hirons of Narborough.

Reverend Mr. John Hodge.

Reverend Mr. Holland of Difs, Norfolk.

Reverend Mr. Holland of Wem, Shrop-Reverend Mr. Holland of Wolverhampton.

Rev-

Reverend Mr. John Howel of Rhostowarch in Pembrokeshire.

Mr. Benjamin Hanbury of Kidderminster.

Mr. William Hankins.

Mr. Richard Harris of Salop.

Mr. John Harris of Northampton.

Mr. Anthony Harris of Deddington, Oxfordshire.

Mr. Thomas Harris.

Mr. Robert Harrison.

Mr. William Harwood of Bewdley.

Mr. Samuel Hawtyn near Chelmstord, Effex.

Mr. Ch. Hayward of Haverill, Effex.

Mrs. Ann Hayward of Haverill, ditto. Mrs. Margaret Heame of Penryn in Cornwall.

Mrs. Mary Hearle of Penryn, ditto.

Mr. William Heath of Tewkesbury.

Mr. Philip Heath, of Salop.

Mr. Henderson.

Mrs. Rachael Hensman, of Bedford.

Mr. Daniel Hickox of Wolverhampton.

Mr. William Hill.

Mr. Hillier.

Mr. Nathaniel Hillin.

Mr. John Hinde of Spittlefields.

Mr. William Hogg, Merchant in Edinburgh.

Mr. John Holdrich of Oakley, Suffolk.

Mr. Chaplin Holman.

Mr. Thomas Holmes of Northampton.

Mrs Hopkins.

Mr. Abraham Hoskins of Birmingham. Miss Elizabeth Hudson of Upton upon Severn.

Mr. John Humphreys, Attorney at Law, Tewkesbury.

Mr. John Humphreys of Birming-

Mrs. Mary Hunt of Chester.

Mr. John Hurst.

Lady Ann Jekyll of Dallington, Northamptonshire.

Simon Jackson Esq, of Shallcross, Derbyshire.

Thomas James E/q; of Ailesbury. William Ingle, E/q;

John Innys, Esq;

Ambrose Isted, Esq; of Ecton, Northamptonshire.

Reverend David Jennings, D. D.

Reverend Mr. Jackson, Rector of Rosington and Master of Wigston Hospital, Leicester.

Reverend Mr. Matthew Jackson.

Reverend Mr. Jenkins of Lanvilling, Montgomeryshire.

Reverend Mr. John Jennings of St. Ives. Reverend Mr. William Johnston of Tunbridge Wells.

Reverend Mr. Ebenezer Johnston of Lewes.

Reverend Mr. Richard Jones of Cambridge.

Reverend Mr. Jones of Cradley.

Reverend Mr. David Jordine of Carmarthen.

Mr. William Jackson.

Mr. William James.

Mr. Joseph Jennings.

Mr. Francis Jennings of Bedford.

Mr. John Johnson of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Thomas Jolly of Palgrave, Suffolk.

Mr. Obadiah Jones.

Mr. Richard Jones Surgeon at Coventry.

Mrs. Jones, deceased.

Mr. Matthew Iremonger of St. Albans.

Mr. Joshua Iremonger, of Taunton. Mrs. Jane Irish of Guilford, Surry.

Mrs. Elizabeth Isted of Bath.

Mrs. Isted of Ecton, Northamptonshire.

Mrs. Ann Isted of Northampton.

K.

Reverend Mr. Keay of Whitchurch, Shropshire.

Reverend Mr. Andrew Kippis.

Reverend Mr. James Kirkup of Southpetherton.

Reverend Mr. William Kymer of Stowey, Somersetshire.

Mr.

Mr. Robert Keene. Mr. John Knee of Harborough. Mr. Benjamin Knott of Northampton.

L.

Right Reverend Dr. Thomas Sherlock

Lord Bishop of London.

Right Honourable Countess of Leven:

Honourable Sir George Lyttelton, Baronet, one of the Lord's of the Treasury. Samuel Lesingham E/q; twenty sets.

James Lamb E/q;

Thomas Le-Gendré Esq ; deceased.

Huling Luson Esq;

Roger Lyde Esq; of Chetwood Somersetshire.

Reverend Nathaniel Lardner, D. D. Reverend George Legh, L. L. D. Vicar of Hallifax.

Reverend Mr. Laidman Vicar of Calverley in Yorkshire.

Reverend Mr. William Langford.

Reverend Mr. Lawson of Wivetis-comb.

Reverend Mr. William Lincoln of Beckles, Suffolk.

Reverend Mr. William Lister of Ware, Hertfordshire.

Reverend Mr. Lowth.

Reverend Mr. Loftus of Rotterdam, deceased, feven sets.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Lucas, of Buckingham.

Mr. Conrade Long.

Mr. Richard Lateward.

Mr. John Lea of Kidderminster.

Mr. William Leapidge.

Mr. John Lee of Manchester.

Mrs. Lesebré.

Mr. John Ling of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Stephen Leonard of Tewkesbury.

Mr. John Lewin of Leicester.

Mr. Lewin.

Mr. William Lewis of Leicester.

Mrs. Lister of Cottingley, Yorkshire.

Mrs. Lucas of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Ronald Lyon of Fulborne, Cambridgeshire.

M.

Patrick Mackey Esq;
Joseph Martin Esq;

Edward Middlecot Efq; of Warminster. Samuel Moody Efq; of St. Edmunds bury.

William Miller Esq; of Glanlee.

William Mount and Thomas Page Esq; seven sets.

Reverend Cox Macro, D. D.

Reverend Dr. Moss Rector of St. James's.

Reverend Mr. Manning Fellow of Queen's College, Cambridge.

James Marriot, L. L. B. of Trinity Hall, Cambridge.

Reverend John Mason, A. M. of Ches-hunt.

Reverend Mr. William May.

Reverend Mr. Merivale of Tavistock.

Reverend Mr. Monro at Monzie.

Reverend Mr. Morgan of Aswestry, Shropshire.

Reverend Mr. Joseph Mottershead of Manchester.

Reverend Mr. Murry.

Mr. William Marshall.

Mrs. Sarah Marsh of Epsom.

Mrs. Masters.

Mr. Thomas Mast of Farnham, Suffolk.

Mr. Samuel Matthews.

Mrs. Philip Meadows of Difs, Norfolk.

Mr. Thomas Mason of Salop.

Mr. Mat. Medbury of Northampton.

Mr. Samuel Mercer.

Mrs. Moody of Norwich.

Mr. John Morley of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mrs. Morris of Rowell.

Mr. R. Mosely of Kidderminster.

Mr. John Muncaster in Yorkshire.

N

Reverend Dr. Newton of Hart-Hall, Oxford deceased, fix fets.

Mr. Nathaniel Neal, three sets.

Mr. John Newman of Banbury.

Mrs. Sarah Nicholas.

Reverend Mr. J. Nixon A. M. and F. R. S. Restor of Cold Higham.

Mr.

Mr. John Noon Bookseller, sourteen Reverend Mr. Philip Pugh of Blaenlets. Mr. John North.

Mr. Thomas Nunn of Southwold, Suffolk.

O.

The Right Reverend Dr. Thomas Secker Lord Bishop of Oxford.

John Offeley E/q; of Norton Hall near Sheffield, two fets.

Andrew Oliver E/q; of Boston in New England.

Reverend Mr. John Olding of Glou-

Reverend Mr. James Oliver of Wrentham, Suffolk.

Reverend Mr. Orton of Salop, three sets.

Mr. Benjamin Oakes.

Mrs Martha Oakes, deceased.

Mr. John Oland of Marsfield.

Mr. Samuel Ollive of Lewes.

Р.

Edward Clarke Parish E/q; George Pembroke E/q; of St. Albans. J. Pembroke E_{fq} ; Thomas Porter E/q; of Shelford, Cambridgeshire. John Plumtree E/q;

Reverend Dr. Plumtree, Archdeacon of Reverend Thomas Pearce, M.D. of Chelwood, Somersetshire.

Reverend Mr. William Palke of Southmoulton, Devon.

The Reverend Mr. Vincent Parronet M. A. Vicar of Shoreham in Kent and Chaplain to the Right Honourable Earl Stanhope.

Reverend Mr. R. Palmer.

Reverend Mr. Richard Pearsall of Taunton.

Reverend Mr. John Penrose.

Reverend Mr. Petto of Coggeshall.

Reverend Mr. Michael Pope.

Reverend Mr. Porteous at Moneyverd.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Price.

ennalin, Cardiganshire.

Mr. John Pearfall of Kidderminster.

Mr. Hugh Paul of Kettering.

Mr. Thomas Pacey of Blissworth, Northamptonshire.

Mr. Joseph Parker.

Mr. John Payton.

Miss Eleanor Parsons of Guilford.

Mr. Peacock of Huntington.

Mr. John Percivall of Northampton. Mr. Samuel Pett of Liskeard, Cornwall.

Mrs. Philips of Worcester.

Mrs. Pike.

Mr. Robert Plumleigh of Dartmouth, Devon.

Mr. Chauncey Poole, Attorney at Bristol.

Mr. John Plumer of Lewes.

Mr. John Potter of Northampton, two

Mr. John Prentice of Walsham.

Mr. Thomas Prentice of Bungay, Suftolk.

Mr. John Prentice, Attorney at Law in Rotesdale.

Mr. Richard Prideaux of Tavistock, Devon.

Mr. Robert Prudum.

Mrs. Mary Pullen.

Mr. S. Pyke, Merchant of Apple. dore.

Mr. John Purchas of Cambridge.

William Roffey E/q;

Henry Rodbard E/q; of Marryot.

Mat. Rolleston E/q; Southampton, feven sets.

George Ross E/q; two sets.

Reverend Charles Rose, D. D. Antigua.

Reverend Mr. Ogle Radford of Nottingham.

Reverend Mr. Frederick Everard Ram-

Reverend Mr. Richard Rawlin. Reverend Mr. Henry Read.

Rev-

Reverend Mr. Reynell of Totness. Reverend Mr. John Richardson.

Reverend Mr. James Robertson, Professor of Oriental Languages in the University of Edinburgh.

Reverend Mr. Henry Robinson of Bungay, Suffolk.

Reverend Mr. John Rutter of Honi-

Mr. Daniel Radford.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rappitt of Northampton.

Mr. Samuel Read of Kidderminster.

Mr. Remington, Apothecary of Coven-

Mrs. Mary Raymond.

Mr. Travers Richards.

Mr. John Richards.

Mr. Samuel Richards.

Mr. Thomas Richardson of Kidder-minster.

Mrs. Riggs.

Mesheurs John and James Rivington.

Mr. William Roberts of St. Martins, Stamford.

Mr. Richard Robins.

Mr. Roquette junior of Rotterdam.

Mr. John Rodick of Wellingborough.

Mr. John Roe of Birmingham, four

Mr. Robert Rogers.

Mr. William Rose of Kew, two sets. Mr. Jer. Rudsdell of Northampton,

S.

Her Grace Frances Dutchess Dowager of Somerset.

Thomas Scawen Esq; of Maidwell, Northamptonshire.

The Honourable Mrs. Scawen.

Richard Sharpe Esq; of Wing.

William Snell Esq; William Snook Esq;

Reverend Dr Stevenson of Bath.

James Stonehouse M. D. Physician to the County Infirmary at Northampton, seven sets.

Reverend Mr. Edward Sandercock.

Reverend Mr. Saul Retter of Harlaxtow

in Lincolnshire.

Reverend Mr. James Saunderson of Bedford.

Reverend Mr. Saville of St. Edmunds Bury.

Reverend Mr. John Simpson, in West-moreland.

Reverend Mr. Patrick Simpson of Coventry.

Reverend Mr. Sowden of Rotterdam.

Reverend Mr. Francis Spilsbury.

Reverend Mr. Statham of Loughborough.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Strange of Kilfbey.

Reverend Mr. John Steffe of Little Badow, Essex.

Mrs. Saunders of Derby.

Miss Saunders of Kettering.

Mr. John Scott of Norwich.

Mr. James Sealy of Exeter.
Mr. William Seaman of Honiton.

Mr. John Searle near Maidenhead.

Mr. Richard Sharpe.

Mr. Edward Shaw Serjeant in Lord: Barry's Regiment.

Mrs. Sheafe.

Mr. Jos. Sheard of Hopton, York-shire.

Mr. Samuel Shepherd of Exeter.

Mrs. Ann Simmons of Battersea.

Mr. John Skey of Upton upon Severn.

Mr. Samuel Skey of Bewdley.

Mr. Benjamin Smith.

Mr. Edward Smith.

Mr. Jos. Smith junior of Birmingham.

Mr. Smith of Huntington.

Mrs. Ann Solly.

Mrs. Spellersbury of Peckham, seven sets.

Mr. John Stallard.

Mr. Philip Stannard of Norwich.

Mr. James Steckles of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr.

Mr. Walter Shellabear of Tavistock. Mr. Edward Stephenson of Northamp-Mrs. Still of Peckham. Mr. Charles Stuart of Birmingham. Wir. William Stump junior of Cor-Mrs. Sturges of Northampton. Mr. John Swanwick of Wem, Shrop-Mr. Jos. Swanwick of ditto. Mr. John Symmonds of Kiddermin-Т. Right Honourable Lord Tyrconnel. Right Honourable Lady Ann James. Sir John Thorold in Lincolnshire, two Samuel Touchett E/q; Richard Tunnard E/q; of Frampton, Lincolnshire. Richard Turner E/q; Reverend Dr. Taylor of St. John's Cambridge. John Tylston M. D. of Chester. Reverend Mr. John Taylor of Norwich. Reverend Mr. Evan Thomas. Reverend Mr. Jeremiah Tidcombe. Reverend Mr. Thomas Towle. Reverend Mr. Isaac Toms of Hadléigh. Reverend Mr. Josiah Tompson. Reverend Mr. Thomas Tooley Rector of Kelmarsh. Reverend Mr. Micajah Towgood of Reverend Mr. Stephen Towgood of Reverend Mr. Abraham Tozer of Norwich. Mr. William Tatnal. Mr. James Taylor. Mr. James Taylor of Leicestershire. Mr. Thomas Taylor of Daventry.

Mr. George Temple of St. Edmunds

Mr. William Theed.

Mrs. Thomson of St. Austen Fryers. Mr. Samuel Thorpe of Banbury. Mr. Edwin Thomas of Dublin. Mrs. Till of Mark Lane. Mr. James Thompson of Norwich. Mr. Aaron Tozer of Exeter. Mr. John Tozer of ditto. Mr. John Tozer, Merchant in Billiter Square. Mr. Tristram Attorney at Law of Hitchin. Mrs. Tristram of Poundisford. Mr. Thomas Troller Merchant in Edinburgh. Mr. Jos. Trone of Maidenhead. Mrs. Elizabeth Trueman. Mr. Tyrion Bookseller in Amsterdam, seven sets. U. Right Honourable Earl Verney. Walter Vane E/q; Reverend Mr. Valentine. Reverend Mr. Thomas Urwick of Sa. Reverend Mr. Thomas Vivian, Vicar of Cornwood, Devon. Mrs. Vanderplank of St. Albans. Mr. Aaron Vardy of St. Edmunds Bury. Mr. John Vickers. Mr. Henry Unwin. Mrs. Utting. Right Reverend Dr. Isaac Maddox Lord Bishop of Worcester. Colonel Elisha Williams, seven sets. Lewis Way E/q; Simon Wellman E/q; of Poundisford, Somersetshire. Thomas Wellman E fq; of ditto. Gilbert West E/q; Joseph Williamson E/q; Advocate in Edinburgh.

Yardley Wilmot E/q; of Ofmaston,

Reverend Dr. Wynn one of bis Majesty's

Rev-

Derbyshire.

Chaplains.

—Wordsworth E fq ;

Clark Willshaw, M. D.

Reverend Mr. Walker of Buckby, Northamptonshire.

Reverend Mr. Warburton of Northamp-

Reverend William Warburton A. M. Reverend Mr. James Watkins of Lewes.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Watfon of Coleford, Somerfetshire.

Reverend Mr. Webb of Harleston, Norfolk.

Reverend Mr. S. White.

Reverend Mr. White of Kinfare.

Reverend Mr. Whitefield.

Reverend Mr. Evan Williams of Blakenev.

Reverend Mr. Williams of Nottingham. Reverend Mr. Wills of Appledore, Devon.

Reverend Mr. Willis of Billing, Northamptonshire.

Reverend Mr. Samuel Wood of Nor-wich.

Reverend Mr. If. Woodman of Leicefter.

Reverend Mr. Thomas Wright.

Mr. Thomas Wadland of Appledore, Devon.

Mr. John Wainright.

Mr. Jos. Wakeford of Andover.

Mr. John Watson of Kidderminster.

Mr. Thomas Watson.

Mr. Francis Warden of Lisbon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Watts of Stratford.

Mr. Benjamin Way.

Mr. John Webb of St. Edmunds Bury.

Mr. Martin Webster of ditto.

Mrs. Welman of Taunton.

Mr. Welton Surgeon at Welford, Northamptonshire.

Mr. Thomas West.

Mr. Edward White.

Mr. Deputy Wilkins.

Mr. Israel Wilks senior.

Mr. Israel Wilks junior.

Mr. Abraham Wikinson Merchant of Dublin, seven Sets.

Mr. John Wilkinson of Northampton.

Mrs. Mary Wilkinson of Dublin.

Mr. Wilson Williams of Ailesbury.

Mr. Jos. Williams of Kidderminster.

Mr. Mat. Wilkins.

Mr. Ab. Wilkinson.

Mr. Woodcock, deceased.

Mr. Thomas Woodward of Bedford.

Mr. John Worsley.

Mrs. Mary Worth of Brixham, Devon.

Mr. James Wright of Harleston, Nor-

Mr. Ichabod Wright of Nottingham.

Mr. Timothy Wyld.

Y.

The Honourable James York Esq; Reverend Edward Young L. L. D.

To be corrected.

A G E 4. lin. 35. repaid r. repaired. p. 11. Not. (d) l. 1. r. E2 avas aseas. ibid. 1. 3. r. the compound Word & Eavas aois (for he considers it as one Word,). ibid. Not. (e) Savour r. Favour. p. 14. Par. l. 3, 4. to come unto you (Ital.) ibid. l. 5, 6. to you (Rom.) ibid. Not. (a) r. xiv. 1, 12. p. 21. Par. l. ult. were r. was. p. 24. Par. l. 16. pacified r. pacific. p. 27. Par. l. 11. And (Ital.) ibid. l. 15. whosoever thou art (Rom.) p. 28. Par. l. 3. final (Rom.) ibid. l. 14. theje r. thoje. p. 34. Par. l. 7. therefore (Ital.) p. 36. Par. 1. 2. accomplishing (Ital.) ibid. 1. 3. the Law (Ital.) p. 44. Not. (b) 1. 9. Promises r. Premises. D. 40. Impr. 1. 6. r. us therefore. ibid. 1. 17. r. dispensed. p. 52. Par. 1. 14. Now (Ital.) p. 58. l. 3. having r. have. p. 59. Not. l. 14. excepted r. excused. p. 61. Not. l. 1. died in the Stead of the Ungodly (Ital.) p. 65. Par. l. 17. are r. to. p. 86. Par. l. 28. which r. as. p. 88. Not. (1) l. 4. removed r, renewed. p. 89. Par. l. 27. r. Christ our Lord. p. 100. Par. l. ult. without r. with it. p. 101. Par. l. ult. these r. those. p. 120. Par. l. 21. r. the Vessels. p. 132. Par. l. 19. r. " Lord, who. ibid. l. 19, 20. and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed (Rom.) p. 133. Par. l. 28. their r. your. l. 29. their r. your. p. 145. Impr. l. 25. r. towering. Pages 137, 138. are omitted, and Pages 145, 146. are put twice over. p. 152. Par. l. 17. Care r. Cafe. p. 158. Impr. l. 2. the r. be the. p. 164. Par. l. 40. this (Ital.) p. 165. Par. l. 22 compleat (Rom.) p. 172. Par. l. 34. all (Ital.) p. 175. Par. l. 32. your Liberty then, r. then your Liberty. p. 191. Par. l. penult She (Ital.) p. 214. Par. l. 6. of (Ital.) p. 230. Not. (g) 1. 2. fetting r. fetting up. p. 234. 1. 38. more r. most. p. 245. Not. l. 2. r. the Consideration of those. p. 253. Par. l. 35 even r. both. p. 260. Par. l. 17. together (Ital.) ibid. Text, v. 4. l. 1. r our Lord. p. 263. Par. l. 18. or (Ital.) p. 278. Par. l. 3. I (Rom.) p. 290 Par. l. 15 hath not sinned, r. sinneth not. p. 291. Par. l. 31. a Life r. Life. p. 292. Impr. 1. 28. Direction r. Discretion p. 295. Par. 1. 27. so (Rom) p. 296. Par. 1. penult. your r. the. p. 298 Impr. 1. 5. or deriding r. and p. 304. Impr. 1. 22. share r. shew. p. 313 Not. (c) l. 6. Truth r. Faith. p. 335. Text v. 22. l. 2. r. drink in. p. 336. Par. l. 28. these r. those. p. 337. Not. (i) l. 5. Gen. iv. r. iii. p. 339. Par. l. ult. these Love-feasts r. those Feasts. p 341. Impr. l. 24. this r. their. p. 343. Par. l. 13. seriously r. sincerely. ibid. Not (b) 1.2 Jestr. Test. ibid 1.8. Exorcises r Exorcisms. p. 383. Par. 1. 3. Christ's (Rom.) p. 387. Par. init. v. 28. r. But when the Father shall have fulfilled this Promise in its utmost Extent, and all Things shall be subjected to him. p. 394. Not. (e) 1. 3. r. Phil. iii. 11. p. 396. l. 33. was r. is. 419. l. 13. xii. r. xiii. p. 434. l. ult. now (Rom). p. 442. Par. l. 24. all (Rom.) p. 454. Par. l. 16. dele (a). ibid. l. 17. r. Respect (a). ibid. Not. (a) l. 1. afflicted, &c. r. in every Respect. p. 456. Text l. 1. r. Spirit of Faith. p. 460. Par l. 8. this r. our. p. 467. Par. l. 20. r. be made accepted p. 469 l. 2. Breath r. Breafts. p. 470. Not. (a) 1. 7. Particle r. Participle. p. 477. Par. 1. 13 r. favourably. p. 479. Par. 1. 13 dele not. p. 483. Par. 1 31. now (Rom.) p. 496. Par. 1. 5. to them (Rom.) p 499. Impr. 1 26. supply r apply. p. 502. Text v. 7. we r. ye. p. 509. Par. l. 26. every where r. in every Respect. p. 520. Imp. l. 24. boast r. burst. p. 533. Par. l. 16. fitted r filled.

To be corrected in some Copies.

PAGE 112. Not. (b) 1. 4. given by Grotius and maintained by Dr. Clarke r. given by Dr. Clarke—who supposes. After Chap. vii. 12. insert; Grotius understands it of a Separation from the Church of Christ, (which is sometimes called by the Name Christ, 1 Cor. xii. 12. Gal. iii. 27.) or of Excommunication. And sor, agreeably to the last Interpretation r. agreeably to Dr. Clarke's Interpretation.

The Family Expositor:

OR, A

PARAPHRASE

ON THE

E P I S T L E

O F

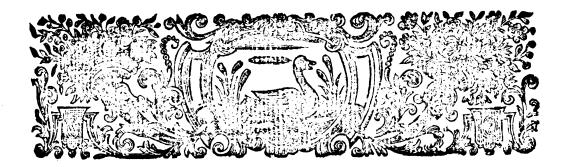

PAUL the APOSTLE

TO THE

R O M A N

WITH

Critical Notes, and a practical Improvement of each.
Section.

A

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

TO THE

PARAPHRASE and NOTES

On the EPISTLE to the

R O M A N S.

when Paul was travelling through Greece, after finishing his Tour in Macedonia, about the Year of our Lord 58, which was the 4th of the Emperor Nero. The chief Arguments to prove this have already been stated in a few Words, Vol. iii. pag. 319. Note (c); and they are drawn from comparing Asts xx. 1,—4. with Rom. xv. 25,—27. xvi. 21. But for the Sake of those who may not have the third Volume before them, I shall exhibit them again, in my Notes on those Texts as they occur in the Epistle, and shall observe the same Method elsewhere on the like Occasions.

The Design of the Epistle has been much more controverted than its Date; and yet it seems so obvious, that hardly any thing has surprized me more, than the different and inconsistent Plans which ingenious Writers have given of it. I should but consound the Reader, as well as swell this Presace beyond all due Bounds, if I should attempt distinctly to propose pose and examine them here. Instead of this I shall therefore content myself, with exhibiting (not my own Hypothesis, for truly it has been my Care to have no Hypothesis at all, but) what upon reading the Epistle, without any View but that of following the Apostle whithersoever he should lead me, I find to be assured Fact; and I will state these Contents in as sew and as plain Words as I can, and so every Reader will easily see what this great Author intended, by seeing what he has done; for no Doubt he answered his own Design.

Digitized by Google

Now I think it must be evident to every Reader of common Discernment and Attention, that Paul is labouring through all this Epistle, "to fix on the Mind of the Christians to whom he addresses himself, a deep Sense of the Excellency of the Gospel, and to engage them to act in a Manner agreeable to their Profession of it." For this Purpose, after a general Salutation, (Chap. i. 1,—7.) and Profession of his ardent Affection for them, (ver. 8,—15.) he declares, that he shall not be ashamed openly to maintain the Gospel at Rome, for this general Reason, that it is the great and powerful Instrument of Salvation, both to Jews and Gentiles, by means of Faith. (Ver. 16, 17.) And then, to demonstrate and vindicate its Excellency in this View of it, the Apostle shews,

I. That the World greatly needed such a Dispensation; the Gentiles being fallen into a most abandoned State, (ver. 18. to the End,) and the Jews, though condemning others, being themselves no better; (Chap. ii. throughout,) as notwithstanding some Cavils, which he obviates, Chap. iii. 1,—8. their own Scriptures testify: (ver. 9,—19.) So that there was an universal Necessity of seeking for Justification and Salvation in this Method. (Ver. 20. to the End.)

II. That Abraham and David themselves sought Justification in such a way as the Gospel recommends, that is, by Faith; (Chap. iv. 1,—12.) and that a very illustrious Act of it entailed everlasting Honour on that great Patriarch from whom the Jews boasted their Descent. (Ver. 13. to the End.)

IIÍ. That hereby Believers are brought into so happy a State, as turns the greatest Afflictions of Life into an Occasion of Joy. (Chap. v. 1,—11.)

IV. That the Calamities brought on the Seed of the first Adam by his ever-to-be-lamented Fall, are with glorious Advantage repaid to all who by Faith become interested in the second Adam. (Ver. 12. to the End.)

V. That far from dissolving our Obligations to practical Holiness, the Gospel greatly increases them by peculiar Obligations, (Chap. vi. 1,—14.) which the Apostle strongly urges upon them. (Ver. 15. to the End.)

By these general Considerations St. Paul illustrates the Excellency of the Gospel in the Six first Chapters of this Epistle, and they must be acknowledged Considerations of the highest Importance.

There were great Numbers of Jews at Rome, many of whom had embraced the Gospel; to make them therefore more sensible how glorious a Dispensa-

Dispensation it was, and to take them off from a fond Attachment to the Mosaical Law, now they were married to Christ by a solemn Profession of his Religion, (Chap. vii. 1,-6.) the Apostle largely represents, how comparatively ineffectual the Motives of the Law were to produce those Degrees of Obedience and Holiness, which by a lively Faith in the Gospel we obtain. (Chap. vii. 7. to the End. Chap. viii. 1, 2.) And here in all the Remainder of this celebrated Chapter, the Apostle gives a more particular View of those Things, which rendered the Gospel so much more efficacious for this great Purpose, viz. that of forming the Soul to Holiness, than the legal Oeconomy had been: (Chap. viii ver. 9.) The Discovery it makes of the Incarnation and Death of Christ; (ver. 3, 4.) the Spirituality of Temper to which it calls us; (ver. 5,—8.) the Communication of the fanctifying and comforting Influences of the Spirit of God, whereby true Believers are formed to a filial Temper; (ver. 9,—17.) the Views which it exhibits of a State of Glory, so great and illustrious, that the whole Creation seemed to wait for the Manifestation of it; (ver. 18,—25.) while in the mean time, Believers are supported under all their Trials by the Aids of the Spirit, (ver. 26, 27.) and an Affurance that all Events should co-operate for their Advantage; (ver. 28.) since God has in consequence of his eternally glorious Plan already done so much for us, (ver. 29, 30.) which emboldens us to conclude, that no Accusation shall prevail against us, and no Temptations or Extremities separate us from his Love. (Ver. 31. to the End.)

As the Bleffings so affectionately displayed above, had been spoken of as the peculiar Privileges of those who believed in the Gospel, this evidently implied, that as all believing Gentiles had a full Share in them, so all unbelieving Jews must necessarily be excluded from them. But as the Calling of the Gentiles and the Rejection of the Jews was a Topick of great Importance, the Apostle imploys the ninth, tenth and eleventh Chapters in the Discussion of it, and so concludes the argumentative Part of this Epistle.

He introduces what he had to say on this interesting Subject, by declaring, that he thought most honourably and affectionately of the few-ish Nation; (Chap. ix. 1,—5.) and then shews,

1st, That the Rejection of a confiderable Part of the Seed of Abrabam, and even of the Posterity of Isaac too, was an incontestable Fact, which the Yews themselves could not but grant to have happened, that is, with respect to the Descendants of Islamael and of Esau. (Ver. 6,—13.)

2dly. That the fovereign Choice of some Individuals to peculiar Privileges, to which none had any Claim, and the sovereign Appointment of some, from among many Criminals, to peculiar and exemplary Punishment, was perfectly consistent both with Reason and Scripture. (Ver. 14,—24.).

Digitized by Google

PARAPHRASE

AND

NOTES

ON THE

EPISTLE to the ROMANS.

SECT. I.

The Apostle begins his Letter with a general Salutation to the Christians at Rome; in which he transfently touches on some very important Doctrines of that Gospel, which it was his great Design to illustrate and enforce. Rom. I. 1,---7.

ROMANS I. I.

PAUL a Servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an Apostle, separated unto the Gospel of God,

ROMANS I. I.

this Epistle from Paul, who, tho' once a bitter Persecutor, hath now the Honour to style himself a Servant of Jesus Christ; whose Property he humbly professes himself to be, and glories in it, as his highest Happiness, to be absolutely at the Command and Disposal of such a Master. And he is the more sensible of his great Obligation to this, as he hath been, in so wonderful a manner, called, not only to the Fellowship of that holy Faith which we all profess, or to the common Services of the Ministerial Office, but even [to be] invested with the distinguished Charac-

Vol. IV.

В

ter

3dly, That the taking the Gentiles to be God's peculiar People, when Ifrael should be rejected, had been actually foretold, both by Hosea and

Isaiah. (Ver. 25. to the End.)

4thly, That God hath graciously offered the Gospel Salvation to Jews and Gentiles, on the same equitable and easy Terms; though Israel, by a bigotted Attachment to their own Law, had rejected it. (Chap. x. throughout.)

5thly, That nevertheless, the Rejection of Israel, though according to their own Prophecies it be general, and attended with astonishing Blindness and Obstinacy, yet is not total, there still being a Number of happy Believers among them. (Chap. xi. 1,—10.)

6thly, That the Rejection of the rest is not final, but that the Time shall come, when to the unspeakable Joy of the whole Christian World, the Jews shall in a Body be brought into the Church of Christ. (Ver. 11,—31.)

And lastly, That in the mean time their Obstinacy and Rejection is overruled to such happy Purposes, as serve, through the whole various Scene, to display, in a glorious Manner, the unsearchable Wisdom of

God. (Ver. 32. to the End.)

The Remainder of the Epistle is taken up in a Variety of practical Instructions and Exhortations, which hardly admit, and indeed do not need, so particular an Analysis. The grand Design of them all is, "to " engage Christians to act in a manner worthy of that Gospel, the Ex-" cellency of which he had been illustrating." He more particularly urges,—an entire Confectation to God, and a Care to glorify him, in their respective Stations, by a faithful Improvement of their different Talents; (Chap. xii. 1,—11.)——Devotion, Patience, Hospitality, mutual Sympathy, Humility, Peace, and Meekness; (ver. 12. to the End,) and in the whole thirteenth Chapter,—Obedience to Magistrates, Justice in all its Branches, Love as the fulfilling of the Law, and an universal Sanctity of Manners, correspondent to the Purity of those religious Principles which they professed. In the fourteenth, and part of the fifteenth Chapter, he dilates more largely on mutual Candor, especially between those Christians who did, and those who did not, think themselves obliged in Conscience to observe the Ceremonies enjoined by Moses, and pleads a Variety of most pertinent and affecting Considerations in this View; (Chap. xiv. 1. to Chap. xv. 17.) in profecuting some of which, he is led to mention the Extent of his own Labours, and his Purpose of visiting the Remans; in the mean time recommending himself to their Prayers: (Ver. 18. to the End.) And after many Salutations, (Chap. xvi. 1, —16.) and a necessary Caution against those that would divide the Church, he concludes with a Benediction and a Doxology, fuited to the general Purport of what he had been writing. (Ver. 17. to the End.)

From the Sketch here given, the Reader might form some Conjecture of the rich Entertainment provided for him in this Epistle, were he yet a Stranger to its more particular Contents: But bleffed be God, they are already familiar to almost all who have any Regard for their Bible, and take any Delight in perusing any Part of it. I shall not therefore detain such from Paul's invaluable Periods, any longer than whilst I observe, that whereas the Interpretation of several Phrases, which occur here, has very much divided Commentators, and laid the Foundation for many unhappy Contentions, which have been more efficacious to alienate the Affections of Christians, than all the Apostle's Arguments, powerful as they are, have been to unite them; I am very solicitous to handle this Epistle in as pacifick a Manner as possible. shall therefore, as plainly as I can, give that Sense of the disputed Phrafes which appears to me most natural, and briefly suggest, in the Notes, the Reasons which induce me to understand them in the Sense I have preferred. And I hope, my Readers will be contented with this; for were I to produce what Interpreters of different Opinions have alledged, and canvass the Reasons by which they have endeavoured to support their Explications and Criticisms, I must turn my Work into a Treatise of Polemical Divinity; and so quite change that original Plan, which I hope will be found much more entertaining and useful: Nor should I, if the Scheme were thus changed, be able to comprehend in this whole Volume, what I might easily find to offer on this Epistle alone.

PARAPHRASE

AND

NOTES

ON THE

EPISTLE to the ROMANS.

SECT. I.

The Apostle begins his Letter with a general Salutation to the Christians at Rome; in which he transfently touches on some very important Doctrines of that Gospel, which it was his great Design to illustrate and enforce. Rom. I. 1,---7.

ROMANS I. I.

PAUL a Servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an Apostle, separated unto the Gospel of God,

Romans I. 1.

Y dear Christian Brethren, you receive Sect. 1. this Epistle from Paul, who, tho once a bitter Persecutor, hath now the Honour to style himself a Servant of Jesus Christ; whose Property he humbly professes himself to be, and glories in it, as his highest Happiness, to be absolutely at the Command and Disposal of such a Master. And he is the more sensible of his great Obligation to this, as he hath been, in so wonderful a manner, called, not only to the Fellowship of that holy Faith which we all profess, or to the common Services of the Ministerial Office, but even [to be] invested with the distinguished Charac-

Vol. IV.

В

ter

Paul, inscribing this Epistle to the Romans,

Sect. 1. ter of an Apostle (a) in the Church. He once indeed boasted, that he was of the Pharisaick Sect, separated from the rest of the Jews by ceremonial Observances, in which they place so peculiar a Sanctity; but he now rejoiceth much more, that he is, by so special an Act of condescending Grace, separated to the glorious and saving Gospel of the blessed GOD, destined and devoted to its sacred Interests; Even to that Gospel, ed to its facred Interests; Even to that Gospel, which, before it was thus expressly committed to the Christian Apostles, was in a more obscure Manner promised, and in some Measure declared and exhibited, by his Prophets, in the Records of the Holy Scriptures, on which such bright Lustre is now thrown by comparing the Predictions with the

10

3 Events. I would take every Opportunity of promoting in your Minds, and my own, the highest Regard to this blessed evangelical Dispensation with which God has favoured us; relating chiesly to his only begotten and beloved Son Jesus Christ our great anointed Saviour, our ever honoured Master and Lord, who was born a few Years ago of the Seed and Family of David, according to the Flesh, that is, with Respect to his human Descent, and so far as Flesh was concern'd in the 4 Constitution of his Nature: [But] who is also to be regarded by us in a much higher View, as having been determinately, and in the most convincing Manner, mark'd out as the Son of GOD (b), with the most astonishing Display of divine Power, according to the Operation of the Spirit of Holiness,

2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the Holy Scriptures,)

3 Concerning his Son Jefus Christ our Lord, which was made of the Seed of David, according to the Flesh,

4 And declared to be the Son of God with Power, according to the Spirit of Holi-

(c) The

. (a) Called to be an Apostle.] As the judaizing Teachers disputed Paul's Claim to the Apostolical Office, it is with great Propriety that he afferts it in the very Entrance of an Epistle, in which their Principles were to be intirely overthrown. And the attentive Reader will observe, with great Pleasure, what a Variety of other most proper and important Thoughts are suggested in other Clauses of this short Introduction: Particularly, the Views which the Jewish Prophets had given of the Gospel, the Descent of Christ from David, the great Doctrine of his Resurrection, and Deity, the sending the Gospel to the Gentiles, the Privileges of Christians as the called and beloved of God, and the Faith, Obedience, and Sanctity to which they were obliged, in Virtue of their Profession. Occasion will be given for the like Reslections on a thousand other Occasions, the' the Limits of such a Work as ours will not allow us so particularly to trace them.

(b) Determinately mark'd out.] That this is the exact Signification of opioberlos, Elsner bas learnedly proved. Compare Acts xvii. 31.

Holiness, by the Resurrection from the Dead:

nefs (c), which having originally produced that holy Sect. 1. Thing which was born of the Virgin, exerted its Energy upon him on so many Occasions, and especially in the triumphant Resurrection from the Dead (d); which amply rolled away all the Reproach of his Cross, and intitled him to the Honour of the first-born among many Brethren.

5 By whom we have received Grace and Apostleship, for Obedience to the Faith among all Nations for his Name:

This is that illustrious Person, by whom we have received Grace and an apostolical Mission (e); as I esteem it the greatest of Favours to be thus employ'd, and furnished for this important Work: Especially since the Plan is so extensive, and it is the glorious Design of it, that, out of Regard to his Name, all Nations might, in due Time, be brought to the Obedience of the Christian Faith, and thereby rescued from a State of Idolatry and Wickedness, formed to the most rational and sublime Pleasures in the present Life, and fitted for a State of compleat and eternal Felicity. is the grand Scheme, which God is already carrying on in many Gentile Nations: Among whom are ye Romans; illustrious in the World on many Accounts, but on none fo happy as on this, that ye also are now the called of Jesus Christ, invited by him into the Fellowship of his Gospel, and a Participation of all its invaluable Bleffings. as God hath especially committed this Ministration to me, I do therefore, agreeably to the general Purport of my Office, inscribe this Epistle to all in Rome.

6 Among whom are ye also the called of Jesus Christ,

7 To all that be in Rome, beloved of God, called to be Saints:

(c) The Spirit of Holiness.] It seems to me so little agreeable to the Style of Scripture in general, to call the Divine Nature of Christ the Spirit of Holiness, or the Holy Spirit, that, highly as I esteem the many learned and accurate Commentators who have given it this Turn, I rather refer it to the Operation of the Spirit of God in the Production of Christ's Body, by which Means the Opposition between rala sapra and rala musuma will be preserved; the one referring to the Materials acted upon, the other to the divine and miraculous Agent. Compare Luke i. 35.

(d) Resurrection from the Dead.] Equipment is render'd by some, Resurrection from among the Dead, i. e. leaving many of the Dead behind; and Mr. Fleming has taken great pains to show, that wherever the Word equipment is used, it is always in this Sense. See Flem. of Res. p. 70.—By this Resurrection, Christ was declared the Son of GOD; but to say he was constituted the Son of GOD by it, seems very unscriptural, since he was proclaimed under that Title so long before his Resurrection.

(e) Grace and an Apostolical Mission.] Many would render it the Savour of the Apostolish: But that rendering is not the most literal; and it is certain, that Paul did receive Grace to subdue his Heart to the Obedience of Christ, and fit him for the Ministry of the Gospel, before he received his Apostolical Commission, whenever we suppose that Commission to have been dated. I therefore choose to keep the Clauses thus distinct.

Reflections on the Regard due to the Apostolick Writings, &c.

Sect. 1. Rome, who are to fuch a Degree beloved of GOD, as to be called to the Privileges and Hopes of Christianity, [and] numbered among that boty People, who solemnly profess themselves consecrated to his Service. And as, in this View, I must think of you with great Respect, so I most unseignedly wish Grace and Favour to you, with all Kinds of Prosperity and Peace, from the blessed GOD, the great Original of all Good, who is now become our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ, who is exalted at his Right Hand, that he may scatter down all the Blessings of Providence and Grace on his People, and may rule over all Things for the Good of his Church.

Saints: Grace to you, and Peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us begin the Perusal of this excellent, tho' in many Passages obscure, and difficult Epistle, with paying our humble Acknow-ledgments to the Divine Goodness, that we are favoured with so valuable a Part of Scripture, as that contained in the Apostolical Epistles. How happy are we, who read from the Pen of those holy Men, the Sentiments they entertained of Christianity, under the full Illumination of the facred Spirit,—and so learn, what were the leading Affections which prevailed in their Minds. By these Letters, they open all their Hearts to us, amidst their Labours and Sufferings, that we also may have Fellowship with them in those important Things, in which their Communion was with the Father and his Son Jesus Christ.

Ver. 1. With particular Pleasure, let us peruse the Writings of Paul, who was, in so peculiar a Manner, called to be an Apostle, and separated to the Gospel of GOD. He gloried in the Name of a Servant of Christ, and let us emulate it as the greatest Honour. Let us be animated to exert ourselves to the

Ver. 5. utmost under that Character; since God hath been pleased to bring us, tho' originally Sinners of the Gentiles, to the Obedience of Faith, and to reveal unto us the Gospel of his Son; that glorious Gospel predicted by the

Ver. 2. Prophets, and opened by the Apostles, yea, by their divine Master.

May our Hearts adore the great Emanuel, who, tho' he condescended to Ver. 3. be made of the Seed of David, according to his Flesh, had a divine Nature in finitely superior to it. Let us often reflect on that glorious Display of the Power

Ver. 4. of the Holy Ghost, in his Resurrection from the Dead, by which he was marked out as the Son of GOD; and yielding to the Force of such a Demonstration, let us confide in him as Jesus our Saviour, and obey him as Christ our Lord.

We are called to partake of the Privileges of his People; we belong to the Ver. 7. Society of those who are eminently beloved of GOD, and who lie under Obligations, gations, as they are called an boly Nation, a peculiar People, to be indeed Sect. 1. Saints, to be holy in all Manner of Conversation, as being intirely devoted to God and the Redeemer. May such Grace be imparted to us Ver. -7. from GOD our Father, and from Jesus Christ our Lord, that we may not dishonour the sacred Community to which we belong; that we may not with Millions be cast out at last infamous and abhorred, but may enjoy its most important Privileges, in that State of final and everlasting Glory, in which the Kingdom of the Son of GOD shall terminate.

13

SECT. II.

The Apostle strongly expresses his Affection for his Christian Friends at Rome; thereby to introduce with greater Advantage, the Considerations he had to lay before them in the Process of the Epistle. Rom. I. 8, --- 15.

ROMANS I. 8.

ROMANS I. 8.

FIRST, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your Faith is whole World.

9 For God is my Witness, whom I serve with my Spirit in the Gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my Prayers;

T AM now fetting myself to write to you, my Sect. 2. dear Brethren at Rome; and I must, in the spoken of throughout the first Place, declare to you, that I unfeignedly Rom. I. & thank that most glorious and excellent Being, who is now become my Covenant GOD and Father thro' Jesus Christ, by whom we have received the Adoption, and bless him for you all; that your Faith in his invaluable Gospel is so pure and stedfast, and produces such genuine Fruits, that it is declared and celebrated thro' the whole World; and is univerfally looked upon, by all Christians in this extensive Empire, as a most happy Presage of the general Spread of their holy Religion. Report as this cannot but excite my Praises, as being so agreeable to the Tenor of my Petitions: For GOD whom I make it the continual Business of my Life to ferve, with the greatest Integrity and Ardor of my Spirit, in the Gospel of his Son, is my Witness; and I appeal to him with Confidence on fo folemn an Occasion, as it is he only who can judge of the Fact; how incessantly I make mention of you Romans, when I bow my Knee before

Sect. 2. before him in folemn Seasons of devout Retire-Always intreating in my Prayers the ment; Rom. I. 10. Permission of his gracious Providence to come unto you, if by any Means now at length, after so long a Delay, I may have a prosperous fourney to you, by the Will of GOD; on whose Bleffing I am fensible the Prosperity of all our Ways depends, and to whose wise Determination I desire to submit all my Schemes and Purposes, even those which are formed with the most affectionate Re-II gard to the Good of his Church. Nevertheless, so far as may consist with this due Resignation, I am humbly importunate with him on this Head; for I defire greatly to see you, not from any Curiofity which the Grandeur and Magnificence of your City excites, nor from any Prospect of personal Advantage that I might receive from the most considerable of you, in the greatest Distinction of Circumstances, but that I may impart to you some spiritual Gift, by the laying on of my Hands in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ (a); that by the farther Experience which you may then have of the Operations of the Holy Spirit, as well as the Edification to be received from what Discourses may pass between us, you may be established in your Christian Faith, and fortified against all Temptation, either to renounce or dis-12 honour it: That is, in other Words, [I defire] that while I am among you, we may be comforted together, as I have great Reason to believe that we shall, by the Exercise of the mutual Faith, both of 10 Making Request (if by any Means now at length I might have a prosperous Journey by the Will of God) to come unto you.

you, that I may impart unto you fome spiritual Gift, to the End you may be established; to that is, that I may be comforted together with you, by the mutual Faith both of you and me.

(a) Impart to you some spiritual Gift.] Bos interprets this, of preaching the Gospel, which was a divine Kind of Food, by which their Souls might be strengthened; and which he, as with the richest Liberality, was willing to impart and distribute among them. But as spiritual Gifts, in the Language of St. Paul, have generally another Signification, (Compare 1 Cor. xii. 1, 4, 9. xii. 1, 12.) and it was the particular Office of the Apostles to bestow miraculous Gifts, by the laying on of their Hands, I have taken the Passage in that View; and tho' it is reasonable to suppose the Christians now at Rome had some Share of these Endowments, Chap. xii. 5,—7. it is highly probable, that on Paul's Arrival among them, they might receive them in much greater Abundance. The great Temptations which the Inhabitants of Rome were under, both to Infidelity and Immorality, would make such Assistances more desirable, and the Apostle more solicitous for such an Interview.—As for the Words evulus, it makes the Construction much plainer to read them before ourmapanandnum, as they can by no Means, otherwise, have any Force at all. They must, therefore, as L'Enfant has well noted, be rendered being among you.

you and me; while I am communicating, and you Sect. 2. receiving these Blessings, and those correspondent Graces are working on each Side, which I doubt Rom. I. 12. not will be for my Improvement, as well as for 13 Now I would not have you ignorant, Brethren, that oftentimes I purposed to come unto you (but was let hitherto) that I might have fome Fruit among you also, even as among other Gentiles.

yours (b).

14 I am Debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians, both to the Wife, and to the Unwise.

And, while I thus express my Desire of an In- 13 terview with you, I would not have you ignorant, my dear Brethren, that I have often been propofing and contriving to come to you; tho' I have bitherto, by one Means or another, been hindred. I have, I say, long meditated and defired the Journey, that I might have some Fruit of my Ministerial and Apostolical Labours among you also; even as I have already had from the many Churches I have planted and watered among the rest of the Which I mention, not by any 14. Gentiles. Means as boafting of what I have done; for I know, that in the Circumstances in which Christ has placed me, confidering the Charge he has honoured me with, and the Mercy he hath extended to me, I am, in the strictest Justice, a Debtor both to the Greeks, and the Barbarians, both to the Learned, and the Ignorant (c). Duty and Gratitude bind me to do my best, to promote the Conversion and Salvation of Men of every Nation and Rank, of every Genius and Character. Therefore, according to my weak Abilities, and the 15 Opportunities which God may give me, I am ready and defirous (d) to preach the Gospel to you also that are at Rome, tho' it be the Capital of the World, a Place of fo much Politeness and Grandeur, and a Place, likewise, where it might feem peculiarly dangerous to oppose those popular Superstitions.

15 So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you that are at Rome also.

(b) For my Improvement as well as yours.] This Thought, so full of Respect to his Christian Friends at Rome, is suggested with great Delicacy and Address; and it is very reasonable to suppose, that every new Instance, in which miraculous Gifts were communicated by the laying on the Hands of any of the Apostles, would be a Source of new Edification and Establishment to these holy Men; as being so evident a Token of the Divine Presence with them, and a new and folemn Seal set to the Commission they had received.

(c) The Learned and the Ignorant. L'Enfant justly observes, that occor often fignifies learned; (Compare 1 Cor. i. 20, &c.) and consequently avoid must fignify ignorant, or those whose Understandings had not been improved by Cultivation. And it is well known, that the Literati, or Sages of Antiquity, were anciently called oopol. See ver. 22. I Cor. ii. 4. iii. 20. and σορια plainly fignifies Learning. Mat. xiii. 54. Mark vi. 2. Aεts vii. 22.

(d) Ready and desirous.] Raphelius shews, that προθυμου expresses, not only a Readiness, but in some Cales, an Eagerness of Desire. Not. ex Herod.

Ver. 15.

Ver. 9.

Ver. 10.

Ver. 14.

Ver. 11.

Ver. 12.

Ver. 10.

Sect. 2. Superstitions, to which the Empire is supposed to owe its Greatness and Felicity: Yet still, at all Events, I am willing to come, and publish this divine Message among you; tho' it should be at the Expence of my Reputation, my Liberty or Life.

IMPROVEMENT.

APPY is the Church of Christ, when its Ministers are thus confcious of the Excellency of the Gospel, and thus earnestly desirous, in the Midst of Reproach, Persecution, and Danger, to extend its Triumphs; when they can thus appeal to God, that it is with their Spirit that they serve him in the Gospel of his Son.

This will give them a Largeness of Heart, well becoming their Office. Devotion will then flourish in their secret Retirements, as well as be maintained by them in publick Assemblies; and the Concerns of the Churches, and sometimes of far distant Churches, will have a Place in their Thoughts and Prayers at such solemn Seasons.

May they ever remember, that as the Servants of Christ, they are to be the Friends of Mankind; and that their Master has laid such Obligations upon them, that for his Sake they are Debtors to the whole World, in every Office of Christian Friendship, and especially as to any Spiritual Gift, which by their Ministration they may be instrumental in imparting. The more they exert themselves in such Services, the more will their own Faith and Comfort, as well as that of their People, be

But in whatever Station we are, let us be forming Schemes for the Service of God, and Good of Men; projecting our Journeys and Visits on that Plan, yet always with a becoming Sense of our Dependence on the Smiles of Heaven, for Prosperity and Success; and as dutiful Children, referring it to the infinitely superior Wisdom of our heavenly Father, to put a Negative, at his facred Pleasure, upon those Purposes which lie nearest to our Hearts, and in which we most fincerely intend his Glory.

confirmed.

The Gospel the Power of GOD for Salvation both to Jews and Greeks. 17

SECT. III.

The Apostle declares his Readiness boldly to preach the Gospel at Rome, supported by a Sense of its Excellency; to illustrate which, he shews, that the World greatly needed such a Dispensation. And first he introduces a Discourse of the abandoned State into which the Gentiles were fallen. Rom. I. 16,---32.

ROMANS I. 16.

ROMANS I. 16.

FOR I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: For it is the Power of God unto Salvation, to every one that believeth, to the Jew surft, and also to the Greek.

THAVE told you (ver. 15.) that I am ready Sect. 3. and defirous to preach the Gospel at Rome, tho' the Capital City of the World; and indeed Rom. I. 16. there is nothing that I more earnestly wish, than Opportunities of bearing the most publick Testimony to it: For, with whatever Contempt that facred Dispensation, and they who publish it, may be treated, on Account of the Circumstances and Death of its Founder, the Character of its Ministers, and the Nature and Tendency of its Doctrines; I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, but rather glory in it. And I have great Reason to do it; for while other Methods, intended to promote the Reformation and Happiness of Mankind, have been all ineffectual; it has clearly appeared that this is the Power of GOD for compleat and eternal Salvation, to every one that believeth. It contains the most glorious Display of the Divine Power, efficaciously exerted for this important Purpose, and operating in Favour of every one who cordially embraces it. Thus falutary is it to the Jew, who is far from being above the Need of it, and to whom, by the special Command of our Lord, it is to be first preached and proposed (a), wherever its Embassadors come;

(a) To the Jew first, &c.] There is a noble Frankness, as well as very comprehensive Sense, in these few Words of the Apostle; by which, on the one Hand, he strongly infinuates to the Jews, their absolute Need of the Gospel, in order to Salvation; and on the other, while he declares to them, that it was also to be preached to the Gentiles, he tells the politest and greatest of these Nations, to whom he might come as an Embassador of Christ, both that Vol. IV.

) to the Greek, and the Roman, and Gentiles of eve-Rom. I. 16. ry Nation under Heaven; who are all, with equal Freedom, invited to partake its important Bene-And it is admirably adapted to fecure this great and blessed End; for in it the Righteousness of GOD (b) by Faith, that is, the Method which God hath contrived and proposed for our becoming Righteous (Ifai. lvi. 1.) by believing his Testimony, and casting ourselves on his Mercy, is revealed to our Faith (c), and most clearly exhibited, as the great Object of it. As it is written in the Prophet Habakkuk, Chap. ii. 4. "The Just shall "live by Faith (d);" and as good Men were then delivered from the Ruin which involved others, by trusting to and acting upon the Divine Declaration; fo now, the like Principle of Faith, receiving and embracing this great Discovery which God hath made of his Mercy in Christ, secures our And as in this View it is 18 Life and Salvation. well worthy of our Regard, so there is an absolute Necessity of its being attended to: for the

Sect. 3. yet not to be limited to him, but proclaimed also 17 For therein is the Righteousness of God revealed from Faith to Faith: As it is written, The Just shall live by Faith.

18 For the Wrath of God is revealed from Heaven their Salvation also depended upon receiving it, and that the first Offers of it were every where to be made to the despised Jews.

Wrath

(b) The Righteousness of GOD.] Anasorum Oes plainly signifies, in several Passages of this Epistle, not the essential Righteousness of GOD's Nature, but the Manner of becoming Righteous, which God hath appointed and exhibited in the Gospel. Compare Chap. iii. 21, 22. x. 3. Compare Phil. iii. 9. Mat. vi. 33. And the Phrase may perhaps have the same Sense in several Passages of the Old Testament. See Isai. xlvi. 13. li. 5, 6, 8. lvi. 1. Mr. Mace generally renders it the Divine Justification; yet cannot always render Succession so.

Mace generally renders it the Divine Justification; yet cannot always render δικαιοσυπ so.

(c) By Faith, is revealed to Faith.] I would connect ex πισεως with Δικαιοσυπ, and suppose ως πισευ to be governed of αποκαλυπίελαι, thinking the Transposition easier than the Interpretation given by many others, as if it implied its being wholly by Faith, as Mr. Mace renders it; or going on from one Degree of Faith to another: For though it is true that this is the Case, I find no Example in which the Phrase is used in either of these Senses. Those which Mr. Lacke produces to justify the former of these Interpretations, (viz. Chap. vi. 19. and 2 Cor. iii. 18.) being by no Means exactly parallel. And it is so plain, that examples in the Close of this Verse, signifies, by Faith, that I wonder it should have been rendered so differently in the former Clause.

(d) As it is written, The Just shall live by Faith.] The Prophet Habakkuk, speaking of the Destruction to come upon Jerusalem by the Chaldeans, observes how different the Behaviour and States of good and bad Men would be. The Sinners Heart would be vainly listed up to his Destruction, while trusting to his own Wisdom and Power, (and accordingly Prince and People became the Sacrifices of this foolish Self-Confidence:) Whereas the Righteous, the truly good Man, would preserve his Life by believing the divine Declarations, and acting according to them; and thus under the Gospel, he that believes, shall live. Some would render it, the Just by Faith shall live, or he shall live who is justified by Faith; but however this might suit the Greek Phrase, it seems less agreeable to the Hebrew, from whence it is taken.

ven against all Ungodliness, andUnrighteousness of Men, who hold the Truth in Unrighteousness.

Wrath of GOD is revealed from Heaven (e), by Sect. 3. many fingular Interpolitions of divine Providence, and especially by the most express Declaration of Rom. I. 18. the facred Oracles, which teach us to look on the grand and final Revelation of it, as nearly approaching. And the Terrors of this Wrath are apparently levelled against all Impiety and Unrighteousness of Men, who wickedly restrain the Truth in Unrighteousness; when that Heaven-born Captive would exert its Energy upon their Minds, and urge them to obey its Dictates. This is, more or less, the generally prevailing Character; and it exposes Men to a Sentence, the Terrors of which, if they were well understood, would soon drive them, with the greatest Solicitude, to seek their Refuge in that Gospel, the Tidings of which they now so arrogantly despite.

19 Because that which may be known of God, is manifest in them; for God hath shewed it unto them.

The fad Character I hinted at above, of re- 19 fraining and imprisoning the Truth in Unrighteousness, is more general than Mankind are aware. We find it not only among those who have enjoyed the Benefit of a Revelation from God, but in all the Gentile Nations. For the main fundamental Principles of what is by any Means to be known of GOD, that is, that he is the great Original of all, is manifest among them, for GOD bath shewed it to them, by a Light universal For those Things of Him which are 20 as the Sun. invifible, are, and have been from the very Creation of the World, not only intimated, but being duly attended to (f), clearly seen by the Things which are made; the whole System of which, bears such eminent Signatures of the great Artificer, as loudly to proclaim his Name and Attri-

20 For the invisible Things of him from the Creation of the World are clearly seen, being understood by the Things that are made,

(e) For the Wrath of GOD is revealed, &c.] Commentators differ much in fixing the Connection of these Words.—Some have considered this Verse as another Reason, why he was not ashamed of the Gospel; because it contained so awakening a Declaration of the Wrath of God against Sin, and by that Means, had a most powerful Tendency to awaken Men's Consciences and save their Souls: in which View, some treating the Particle yap as an Expletive, have render'd it, there the Wrath of GOD is revealed. And Mr. Locke brings it nearly to the same, where he explains it as a Reason, why Paul was so ready to preach the Gospel at Rome.—But the Connection hinted in the Paraphrase, seems most rational and natural. The Sentences in Paul's Writings often run into each other.

(f) Being duly attended to.] Noupeva seems to have this Signification, and to be, as it were, included in a Parenthesis; so that loss wonquass is governed of natopalas.

(g) Divi-

20 The Gentiles, taught the Knowledge of GOD by the Works of Creation,

Sect. 3. butes, even his eternal Power and Divinity (g);
Rom. I. 20. fo that if any of the Gentile Nations neglect to trace it, with Reverence, Love, and Obedience, they are without Excuse, and would be destitute of every just or plausible Apology for themselves, if he should enter into Judgment with them: 21 Because knowing GOD (b), as the great Former of all, and a Being of supreme and incomparable Perfection, they have not adored and glorified [him] as GOD their Maker, neither were duly thankful (i) to him as their great and constant Benefactor; but acted as if they had neither Opportunity nor Capacity of acquainting themselves with him. This has generally been the Character of the Gentiles, without excepting those of the politest Ages and most learned Nations. Instead of setting themselves to inquire into the Will of the supreme Being, and with becoming Gratitude and Zeal devoting themselves to his Service; they became vain and foolish in their boasted Reasonings (k), intangling themselves with a thousand unprofitable Subtleties, which only tended to alienate their Souls from every Sentiment of true Religion; and their unintelligent Heart, instead of being enlightened by these Sophistries, was more and made, even his eternal Power and Godhead; fo that they are without Excuse;

21 Because that when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful, but became vain in their Imaginations, and their foolish Heart was darkened.

(g) Divinity.] It is observable that Augustine (Civ. Dei, vii. 1.) nicely distinguishes between bedisla, and bedisla the Word here used; maintaining that the one signifies Deity, or Divine Nature; the other, Divinity, or Divine Majesty and Glory: And if there be that Distinction, the latter Word is apparently more proper here, as Divine Glory results from that eternal Power which is comprehended in the Divine Nature.

more

(b) Knowing GOD.] Some understand it as if he had said, whereas they might have known GOD; but I think what Paul charges upon the Philosophers, is, that though they actually knew there was one supreme God, they neglected him, to conform (for low and base Considerations) to the established Idolatry; which was really the Case, to their aggravated Guilt and Condemnation; as appears from most of the Passages in which the Pagan Writers bear a Testimony to the Doctrine of the Unity; a Specimen of which may be seen in Dr. Sykes's Connect. Ch. xiv. pag. 364,---383. Dr. Ab. Taylor of Faith, pag. 12,---17. not. and Cudworth's Intellect. System, chap. iv. §. 10,---31. especially §. 19,--28.

(i) Neither were thankful.] It is worthy our Observation, that Gratitude to GOD is here put for the Whole of Religion; and no Principle can be nobler, and none can be stronger or more extensive.

(k) Vain in their Reasonings: εμα αιωθησαν εν Joss διαλογισμοις αυθαν.] Mr. Locke illustrates this by the stupid Folly of their Idolatry, 2 Kings xvii. 15, 16. Acts xiv. 15. But I rather think the Word Διαλογισμοις refers to the perplexing Sophistry of the Philosophers. I have often thought Lucretius one of the most remarkable Illustrations of the Character here drawn.--What vain Reasonings, and how dark a Heart, in the midst of the most pompous Prosections of oracular Wisdom!

22 Professing themselves to be wife, they became Fools:

23 And changed the Glory of the uncorruptible God, into an Image made like to corruptible Man, and to Birds, and four-footed Bealts, and creeping Things.

24 Wherefore God also gave them up to Uncleanneis, through the Luits of their own Hearts, to dishomore involved in Darkness, and rendered impene- Sect. 3. trable to the Simplicity of the most important So that professing themselves to be wise, Truths. far beyond the common Pitch, affuming and glorying in the Title of Sages or wife Men, at least in that of Lovers of Wisdom (1), they became Fools and Idiots, degrading, in the lowest and most infamous Manner, the Reason which they fo arrogantly pretended to improve, and almost to engross. And as this was evident in a Variety of other Vices, in which the Philosophers of Heathen Nations joined with the Vulgar, fo particularly in the early, and almost universal Prevalence of Idolatry amongst them, by which they changed the Glory of the immortal incorruptible and eternal GOD, even all the majestick Splendors in which he shines forth thro' Earth and Heaven, into the representing Image of mortal and corruptible Man; which, how elegantly foever it might be traced, was a great and infufferable Degradation, had their Folly proceeded no farther. But not content with this, they set up as Emblems of Deity, and Objects of Worship, Brutes and their Images, Birds and four-footed Animals, and even such vile Reptiles, as Beetles, and various Kind of Serpents which creep on the Dust (m).

This was fuch fcandalous and pernicious Superstitition, that it is no Wonder that GOD should in righteous Judgment withdraw from those, who introduced and encouraged it. He therefore not only left them to fink lower and lower in these absurd Methods of Worship, but also delivered them up to the vilest Uncleanness, in [gratifying] the detestable Lusts of their own Heart; which grew more and more outragious and enormous, when the Restraint of his common Influences were thus withdrawn from their Minds. Thus he

(1) Professing themselves.] Daguels swall soper seems just equivalent to Xenophon's pagnorlas which so evidently refers to the Pride they took in the Title of Lovers of Wisdom. See Raphel. in Loc.

(m) Beetles and Serpents.] Of this amazingly stupid, yet prevalent Idolatry, the Worhip of Serpents, see Jenk. Reas. of Christianity, Vol. ii. pag. 246,--248. Tennison of Idol. chap. xiv. pag. 352,-354. Owen on Serp. chap. iv. and v. Stillingf. Orig. Sac. pag. 516, &c. (n) Changed

26

Sect. 3. he left them to dishonour their Bodies among themfelves, as much as they had before dishonoured Rom. I. 24 their rational Faculties by such senseles Idola-

This was so prevalent an Evil, that even many of them who knew much better, and had in their own Minds founder Apprehensions of Things, yet from mere secular Motives, suppressed that better Knowledge, and conformed to popular Superstitions and Follies, and thereby changed the Truth of GOD, the true Doctrines of his Nature, and genuine Institutions of his Worship, into a Lie (n), into abominable Idolatries, founded on the falsest Representations of God, and often supported by a Train of artful Forgeries; and, upon the Whole, they worshipped and ferved, with religious Homage and solemn Devotion, the Creature, to the Neglect of the great Creator; who, however basely and ungratefully overlooked by Men, is furrounded with the perpetual Homage of the Heavenly World, and bleffed for ever. Amen. May he ever be held in the highest Veneration, by all his Creatures, in Heaven and Earth, throughout all succeeding Ages.

Therefore, I say, because of this inexcusable Neglect of the ever-blessed GOD, he abandoned them to the most infamous Passions; for even their Women, from whom the strictest Modesty might reasonably have been expected, changed the natural Use of the other Sex, to that which is against Nature (0).

And likewise their Males, leaving

27 Nature (o). And likewise their Males, leaving the natural Use of the Female, have been inflamed with the most scandalous and abominable Desires towards each other, Males with Males, perpetrating that which is most shameful to mention, and detestable to think of; and receiving in themselves the sust Recompence of their Error, in that Stupidity and Degeneracy of Mind, to which they were evidently nour their own Bodies between themselves:

25 Who changed the Truth of God into a ve, and worshipped and served the Creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.

26 For this Cause Gon gave them up unto vile Affections: For even their Women did change the natural Use into that which is against Nature:

27 And likewise also the Men, leaving the natural Use of the Woman, burned in their Lust one toward another, Men with Men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that Recompense of their Error which was meet.

(o) To that which is against Nature.] Many horrible Illustrations of this may be seen in Bos, Exercit. in Loc.

(p) Were

⁽n) Changed the Truth of GOD into a Lye.] Elsner takes great Pains to shew, that the Truth of GOD here signifies what he really was, and a Lye, a false representation. See Elsner's Observ. Vol. II. pag. 11. It is well known that Idols are often called Lyes. Isai. xliv. 20. Jerem. iii. 23. xiii. 25. xvi. 19.

28 And even as they did not like to retain God in their Knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate Mind, to do those Things which are not convenient:

29 Being filled with all Unrighteousness, Fornication, Wickedness, Covetousness, Maliciousness; full of Envy, Murder, Debate, Deceit, Malignity; Whisperers, 30 Backbiters, haters of God, Despiteful, Proud, Boasters, inventers of evil Things,

And thus, upon the Whole, as Sect. 3. evidently left. they were not folicitous (p) to retain GOD in their Knowledge, nor to propagate suitable Conceptions Rom. I. 28. of him, or address him by proper Acts of rational and pure Devotion, GOD delivered them over to an undiscerning Mind, to do Things most inexpedient (q) and enormous; as he cannot more dreadfully punish one Sin, than by giving up the Offender And accordingly, universal Depravation and Corruption feiz'd and posses'd them; and the whole Series of their Discourses and Actions, shew'd that they were full of all Manner of Injustice, Lewdness, Mischief, Covetousness, and Malignity; perpetually injuring each other, and drawing Damage and Misery on themselves; while they were filled and intoxicated with every imaginable Vice, Envy, Murther, Contention, Fraud, the Inveteracy of all Evil and pernicious Habits (r), which no Sense of Decency, or Regard to Reputation or Interest could reform. Instead of entertaining those friendly Regards to each other, which common Humanity might have taught them, they were whifpering something against those that were present, as well as Backbiting such as were absent; and being Haters of GOD, discontented with his Government, and diseffected to his Rule as a righteous and holy Being, who could not but be highly displeased with their Abominations, they were violent and overbearing (s) in their Behaviour to each other, proud of what they had, and arrogant Boafters of what they had not; ingenious inventors of evil and vicious

(p) Were not folicitous.] Esculuates imports a Concern to bring Things to a Trial or Touchstone, which this Translation expresses much better than ours, which coldly renders it, they liked not.

(q) Things most inexpedient.] The original Expression is a Meiosis, to express Things most detestable; as aenea eppa signifies all the Inhumanities which Achilles most ungenerously practised on the Corpse of Hestor. Compare Wisd. xiv. 22,---27. See Bos in Loc.

(r) Mischief, Malignity, Inveteracy.] According to some acute Commentators, Tompia signifies doing Mischief, xaxia a malicious Temper, and xaxondeia a Custom of repeating it frequently.

(5) Violent and Overbearing.] There is properly opposed to suppose, and expresses the Character of a Man who is resolved to gratify his own Appetites and Passions, and to pursue what he apprehends his own Interest, right or wrong; without at all regarding those Inconveniencies or Sufferings which he may thereby bring upon others.

(t) Without

Sect. 3. cious Things, who picqued themselves on making fome new Discoveries in the Arts of Sensuality, Rom. I. 30. or Mischief. And it is no wonder that when or Mischief. And it is no wonder that when there was such an impious Disposition to rebel against God, they should also be disobedient to earthly Parents:

And that they should act in so earthly Parents: And that they should act in so wild and unaccountable a Manner, as to seem to be without the natural Understanding of Men; implacable in their Resentments, without natural Affection (t), even to their own Children, in some Instances, and to their Parents in others. And when a Reconciliation was attempted, and mutual Engagements entered into with the highest Solemnity, they were on any present Appearance of Advantage, presently for breaking those pacified Treaties, and unmerciful in pursuing their Schemes of Cruelty and Revenge, whenever they got any new Opportunity of doing it. This their Schemes of Cruelty and Revenge, whenever they got any new Opportunity of doing it. This was the Character which generally prevailed in the Heathen World, who, though they knew the righteous Judgment of GOD (u), and though their Consciences, as well as the Lessons of their wisest Teachers, told them, that they who do such Things as these, are worthy of Death; yet not only do these Things themselves, but also look with Complacency

Things, Disobedient to Parents,

31 Without Understanding, Covenant - breakers, without natural Affection, implacable, unmerciful:

32 Who knowing the Judgment of God (that they which commit fuch Things are worthy of Death) not only do the same, but have Pleasure in them that do them.

(t) Without natural Affection.] Asopyn may include the Absence of both parental and filial Affection. The Custom of exposing new-born Infants, which prevailed so generally in the Heathen World, and that among polite Nations and Persons, in other Respects not destitute of Humanity, is a most striking Instance of the Truth of this Assertion; as that of killing their aged Parents also was of the Counterpart.

(u) Who, the' they knew the righteous Judgment of GOD, &c.] The Clermont Copy inserts the Words our evonear after entryvoles; agreeable to which reading, Mr. Locke renders it, who though they acknowledge the Rule of Right [Inaumua] prescribed them by GOD, and discovered by the Light of Nature, yet did not understand that they who do these Things are worthy of Death and therefore --- our wood own live well with those who do them, "that is, converse with them, " without any Marks of Difesteem and Censure; whereas the Jew, who condemns the " Evils which he practices, is much more inexcusable:" So connecting this Verse with the 2d Chapter. But I neither think the Authority of the Clermont Copy, by any Means sufficient to justify our admitting this Reading, nor can imagine it would make a good Sense: For furely if they knew a Rule of Right prescribed by God, they could not be ignorant that the Violation of it would expose them to Punishment: And it is evident, in Fact, from numberless Passages in Heathen Moralists, that they were not ignorant of it. The Vulgar Latin does indeed partly follow this peculiar Reading; but they add, non folum qui faciunt, fed qui consentiunt facientibus, " not only they who commit these Crimes, but they who agree "with others that commit them:" which I think makes a Sense much preferable to Mr. Locke's, tho' by no Means agreeable to the Original. —It feems here to be implied, that to look with Complacency on the Vices of others, is one of the last Degrees of Degeneracy.

Pleasure in them that do Complacency upon, and agree together with, Sect. 3. those that do them; forming Confederacies to countenance and support each other, and impudently Rom. I. 32. outbraving those, who should presume to bear Testimony against them.

IMPROVEMENT.

THEN we dwell on the Representation of that Character, which this humane and candid Apostle gives us of the Heathen World, Ver. 21, & with Regard to their Idolatries, Impieties, and other Immoralities, what Reason have we to bless God for the Dispensation of the Gospel; which thath wrought so effectually for the Reformation of Thousands, who might otherwise have been as deeply drenched in all these Enormities, as the vilest of them! For we know, that it was not the barbarous Nations alone, but some of the politest, who in Neglect of all the Opportunities they had of knowing better, and in Opposition to that better Knowledge which some of them actually obtained, were often distinguished for the Superstition of their Worship, and the Scandal of their Lives; so that the chief Illustrations of this sad Subject, are to be borrowed from Ægypt, Greece, and Rome.

Let us learn, not only to guard against the Vices for which the Heathens are here branded, (knowing that the Practice in us will be yet more criminal,) but let us cultivate the opposite Virtues of Justice and Temperance, Benevolence and Contentment, Peace and Charity, Sincerity Ver. 29, 31. and Humility: And let us cherish the natural tender Affections. fences arise, let us always be ready to hearken to Terms of Reconciliation, and faithfully observe our Engagements; taking the greatest Heed, that knowing so clearly as we do the Judgments of GOD, we do not, by any Ver. 32. Means, give Countenance to, and feem to join in a Confederacy with,

Sinners.

Let us bless God for all the Capacities and Opportunities he hath given to the Heathen Nations, of coming to the Knowledge of himself by the Things that are made, which declare his eternal Power and Godhead, Ver. 19, 20, and render inexcusable both Atheists and Idolaters among them. But when we recollect how many either intirely lost the Truth, or imprisoned it in Unrighteousness, let us be most affectionately thankful for so superior a Light; for that Gospel, which is to every Believer, without Exception, the Power of GOD for Salvation, and which declareth the Righteousness of Ver. 16. GOD, as the Object of our Faith. May we properly receive it, and so escape the Terrors of that Divine Wrath, which is revealed from Heaven Ver. 18. against all Impiety and Unrighteousness of Men. Vol. IV. To Those, who knew their Duty, and condemned the Crimes of others,

To this Revelation let us give the most attentive Heed, and be much upon our Guard against those vain and sophistical Reasonings, to which they, Ver. 21. who knowing God, neglect to glorify him as GOD, are so ready to sly; Ver. 22. lest we approve ourselves Fools in Proportion to the Degree in which we Ver. 28. profess to be Wise, and provoke God to give us up to an injudicious Mind, and to leave us to that reciprocal Influence which evil Principles, and evil Actions have, to render each other more inveterate and incurable.

SECT. IV.

The Apostle discourses more particularly of those who knew their Duty, and yet acted contrary to it; and of the Condemnation they must expect from GOD; that so he might properly introduce the particular Charge he had to advance against the Jews, as, above all others, answering that Character. Rom. 11. 1,--- 16.

ROMANS II. I.

Sect. 4.

I HAVE just been speaking of the great and aggravated Guilt of those, who not only do Things which they know to be displeasing to God, and evil in themselves, but also agree together to countenance those that do them. And it may be, some who know they are not of that Number (a), but, on one Principle or another, bear their Testimony against the prevailing Immoralities of those about them, may imagine themselves secure and happy. I must, therefore, argue from the Premises just laid down, that thou art inexcusable, Oh Man, whosever thou art that judgest, and pretendest to pass Sentence upon others.

ROMANS II. I.

THerefore thou art inexcusable, O Man, whosoever thou art that judgest: For

(a) Some who know that they are not of that Number.] There is a greater Delicacy in the Apostle's Transition here, than most Commentators have imagined. From what he had before said, to prove the most abandoned and ignorant of the Heathens inexcusable in their Wickedness, he justly infers, that the Crimes of those who had such Knowledge of the Truth as to condemn the Vices of others, were proportionably yet more inexcusable. This was eminently the Case with the Jews: But he does not directly speak of them till the 9th Verse; but draws the Inference at first, in such general Terms, as might also comprehend Gentile Philosphers, and all others, who contradicted the moral Instructions which they themselves gave.

(b) Dost

For wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest, dost the same Things.

2 But we are fure that the Judgment of God is according to Truth, against them which commit such Things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O Man, that judgest them which do such Things, and dost the same, that thou shalt escape the Judgment of God?

4 Or despisest thou the Riches of his Goodness, and Forbearance, and Long-suffering, not knowing that the Goodness of God leadeth thee to Repentance?

5 But after thy Hardness and impenitent Heart, treasurest others: For I know what the Character of such Sect. 4. generally is, and I know that the very best of them all have their Blemishes and Faults; and Rom. I. I. therefore I may fay, that wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thy self; for thou who judgest, dost the same Things in many Instances (b), and consequently art convicted out of thine own For we know in general, that the 2 Judgment of God is according to Truth, and Justice, against all those who do such Things, however they may behave towards their Fellow Sinners. canst thou then, by the Sentence which thou passest upon others, think to evade that which goeth forth against thy self? Or reasonest thou thus, Oh Man, whosever thou art, whether Pagan Philosopher or Jewish Teacher, who judgest those that do such Things, while thou doest them thy felf, that thou shouldest escape the Judgment of GOD? Or is thy Heart so obdurate, as to make light of 4 those Judgments which thou must certainly meet, because they are not immediately executed: And dost thou indeed despise the Riches of his Gentleness and Forbearance, and Long-suffering (c), exercised towards thee for fuch a Length of Time, fo as to think it may be fafely trifled with? Surely if thou dost, thou art shamefully ignorant indeed, as not knowing, that the Goodness and Gentleness of GOD leadeth thee to Repentance. He bears with thee, that thou mayest prevent the threaten'd Blow, by humbling thy felf before him, and forfaking thy Sins. But this Day of Mercy and Grace has its Limits; and however thou mayest flatter thy felf now, the Consequence will soon appear fatal, and thou wilt find, to thine unutterable Confusion, that by this Hardness and Impenitence

(b) Dost the same things.] Dr. Whitby shews, by many very proper Quotations, chiefly from Josephus, that the Jews of that Age were guilty of many of those Crimes, which had been enumerated above. See Joseph. de Bello Judaic. Lib. v. cap. 13. (al. 16.) §. 6. and Lib. vii. cap. 8. (al. 28.) §. 1. Edit. Havercamp.

(c) Gentleness, Forbearance, and Long-suffering.] Mr. Blackwall (Sacr. Class. vol. i. pag. 306.) enlarges on the great Emphasis of these Words in the Original. He thinks χρηκοδηκ signifies Benevolence and Generosity in the General, ανοχη Mercy in the Proposals of Pardon and Happiness to fallen Creatures, and μακροδυμια Patience in attending so long on such obstinate Wretches. I have given what I take to be the exactest rendering of each; but did not judge it convenient to protract the Paraphrase of so lively a Passage, by attempting in many Words to illustrate it.

(d) Children

Sect. 4. tence of thy Heart, thou art treasuring up to thy Ielf a more abundant Store of Wrath, in the Day Rom. II. 5. of final Wrath, and of that Revelation of the righteous Judgment of GOD, which is now, as it were, under a Veil, and so disregarded because unseen; but it shall then be set forth to View, 6 in all its Lustre and Terror. The divine Being is indeed a most gracious and indulgent Father; but be it known unto thee, that he is also the wife and holy Governor of the Universe, who will recompence every Man according to his Works, in the final Distribution of Good and > Evil; how unequal soever his present Dispensations 7 may seem. To these generous and elevated Souls, that are not discouraged by present Difficulties, nor infnared by the Allurements of the World, but amidst them all, by a patient and persevering Course of well-doing, seek for Glory and Honour and Immortality, he will graciously render the great Prize they pursue, even eternal Life. But to the perverse and ungrateful Children of Con> tention (d), who quarrel with the merciful Difpensation that should have saved them, and are obstinately disobedient to the Dictates of Truth, but fervilely obedient to the usurped and base Tyranny of Unrighteousness, perversely opposing the Evidence of true Religion, because they are averse to its practical Design, [he will render] a quite different Portion. For them is referved all that can be imagined most dreadful; Indignation shall be conceived, and Wrath shall break forth against 9 them; The sharpest Tribulation, the most hopeless and inextricable Anguish and Despair (e) furest up unto thy self Wrath against the Day of Wrath. and Revelation of the righteous Judgment of God:

6 Who will render to every Man according to his

7 To them, who by patient Continuance in well doing, feek for Glory and Honour, and Immortality; eternal Life:

8 But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the Truth, but obey Unrighteousness; Indignation, and Wrath;

9 Tribulation and Anguith

(d) Children of Contention.] Mr. Locke thinks that Patience in the former Verse, and Contention here, refer to the malignant Enmity with which the Jews endeavoured to exclude the Gentiles from the Church. Compare Gal. i. 7. 1 Tim. vi. 4, 5; but it feems much better to explain it in a Latitude which shall indeed include this, as one Instance of Obstinacy and Perverseness, without contracting that extensive and important Sense which our Interpretation gives. And that the Contention of the Gentiles is included here, evidently appears by the Conclusion of the Sentence.

(e) Indignation and Wrath, Tribulation and Anguish, &c.] Here seems to be a Reserence to these expressive Words, Psal. lxxviii. 49. when speaking of the Egyptians, 'tis said, be cast upon them the Fierceness of his Anger, Wrath, and Indignation, and Trouble. And it may finely intimate, that the Jews would, in the Day of Vengeance, be more severely punished, than even their Egyptian Enemies were, when Gop made their Plagues so wonderguish upon every Soul of Man that doth Evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile.

10 But Glory, Honour, and Peace to every Man that worketh Good, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile.

11 For there is no Refpect of Persons with GoD.

12 For as many as have finned without Law, shall which shall be poured out in a Torrent of un- Sect. 4. mingled Misery, even upon every Soul of Man who worketh that which is Evil. This shall be rendered to the Jew in the first Place (f), who far from escaping by his superior Advantages and Privileges, will, by the Abuse of them, be obnoxious to distinguished Wrath. Nor shall the Greek escape, who shall be judged according to the Light he hath enjoyed, or the Opportunity he had of enjoying more. But, as I said before, and repeat it with Pleasure, as the more delightful Part of the Subject, which I love to dwell upon; Glory, Honour, and Peace, [shall be] recompenced to every one who worketh Good; first to the Yew who stands fairer, (in Virtue of the Divine Revelation he enjoys,) for distinguished Degrees of it, as well as receives the first Messages of this Salvation; and then to the Greek, who, if he exclude not himself, shall not be exempted For there is no partial 11 from his proper Share. Acceptance of Persons with GOD (g), which should engage him on Account of outward Condition, or lineal Descent, to spare Obstinacy and Wickedness in a Jew, or to reject the humble Faith and Obedience of a Gentile. will fully display this Impartiality of Administration in the great Day of universal Judgement; for as many as have sinned without the Mosaick Law, ful. ετειοχωρια properly fignifies Straitness; and is used by Xenophon, to fignify a narrow Way, that cannot be passed. See Raphel. Not. ex Xen. in loc. As for the Difference between Oupos and Opyn, Elfner (Observ. vol. ii. pag. 14.) takes some Pains to shew, that the former fignifies the first Conception of Anger, the latter, a Defire and Purpose of Punishing. Some Reference to this Interpretation will be found in the Paraphrase, tho' expressed as briefly as possible.

(f) To the Jew first.] Here we have the first express mention of Jews in this Section; and it is introduced with great Energy and Weight. Their being trained up in the Knowledge of the true Religion, and having Christ and his Apostles first sent to them, will place them in the foremost Rank of the Criminals, who obey not the Truth.

(g) Acceptance of Persons.] That is, In passing the final Sentence, he is determined by their real Characters.—This is very consistent with an Inequality in distributing Advantages, and Opportunities of Improvement, according to the fovereign Pleasure of the great Lord of All. This Affertion of the Apostles, so often repeated, will appear the more important and seasonable, as the Jews thought, that no Israelite should be deprived of future Happiness, whatever his Faults had been; unless he were guilty of Apostacy, Idolatry, and a few other very enormous Crimes. See Mr. Jortin's Discourses concerning the Truth of the Christian Religion; pag. 26, 27. and the Notes there.

(b) Sinned

GOD will judge Jews and Gentiles by the Light they enjoy.

Sect. 4. Law (b), and have continued impenitent in their Crimes, shall without the Law perish; the Light of Nature, without the Knowledge of Revelation, being sufficient to condemn them. And as many as have sinned under the Instruction and Obligation of the Law, shall with proportionable Severity be judged by the Law (i), and meet with a more awful Sentence, as their Offences have been aggravated by such express Discoveries of the Divine Will: For not the Men who are merely refpectful Hearers of the Law of God in the Synagogues, or loud and vehement Applauders or Defenders of it elsewhere, [are] just before GOD, nor will he ever accept any Encomiums upon it, instead of the Obedience it demands; but the Doers of the Law, who steadily and universally, in the Tenor of their Lives, act agreeably to its Precepts; they, and they only, shall be justified, in the Day of final Audit and Account; whether their Knowledge of it were more or less express.

14 For when the Gentiles, who have not the written Revelation of the Divine Law, do, by an Instinct of Nature, and in Consequence of the untaught Dictates of their own Mind, the moral Duties required by the Precepts of the Law (k), these baving not the Benefits of an express and revealed Law, are nevertheless a Law unto themselves: The Voice of Nature is their Rule, and they are inwardly taught, by the Constitution of their own Minds, to revere it as the Law of that God by whom it was formed. And they, who are in whom it was formed. And they, who are in this State, do evidently shew the Work of the Law, in its most important moral Precepts, written upon their Hearts, by the same Divine Hand that engraved the Decalogue upon the Tables given also perish without Law: And as many as have sinned in the Law, shall be judged by the Law, 13 (For not the Hearers of the Law are just before God, but the Doers of the Law shall be justified.

14 For when the Gentiles, which have not the Law, do by Nature the Things contained in the Law, these having not the Law, are a Law unto themfelves:

To Which shew the Work of the Law written in their Hearts, their Confcience

(h) Sinned without the Mosaick Law, &c.] 'Tis evident that must here be intended; or none can Sin without the natural Law, under which all are born.

(k) By Nature.] Raphelius (Not. ex Xen. in. loc.) shews, that Animals are said to do that by Nature, which they do by Instinct; and Elsner, (Observ. vol. ii. pag. 16.) that last volume signifies the Duties inculcated by the Law.

(1) According for none can Sin without the natural Law, under which all are born.

(i) Perish,---be judged.] These two Phrases are so different, that one would hardly think they were intended to signify the same Ideas; yet so many Arguments, both from Reason and Revelation, lie against supposing wicked Heathens annihilated, as Mr. Locke seems to infinuate from these Words; that I think it most rational to interpret both these Expressions, as signifying real Punishment, but in different Degrees.

fcience also bearing Witness, and 'their Thoughts the mean While accusing, or else excusing one another) to Moses: their Consciences joining to bear Wit- Sect. 4. ness to it, and [their] mutual Reasonings among themfelves, accusing those that break such Precepts, or Rom. II. 15. defending those who observe them, attest the same Thing. As therefore there are fure Traces of some natural Knowledge of the Law, a due Regard will be maintained towards them, and on this most equitable Principle will the grand Process be conducted, in that awful Day, when GOD shall judge the Secrets of the Hearts of Men by Jesus Christ, according to the Tenor of that glorious Dispensation which I may call my Gospel (1), as it is committed to my Care; in which no Doctrine is more important, or evident, than that of a universal and most impartial Judgment.

16 In the Day when Gop shall judge the Secrets of Men by Jesus Christ, according to my Gospel.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us revere the righteous Judgment of GOD, which is here laid before us in so particular and affecting a Manner; remembring we are each of us to have our Part in that Day of final Retribution, and that the Secrets of our Hearts will then be made manifest. Let us often Ver. 16. reflect upon the awful Result; and consider, that Indignation and Wrath, Ver. 8. Tribulation and Anguish will be our Portion, if we are contentious and Ver. 9. disobedient to the Truth, yea, if we do not, by a patient Continuance in well doing, seek the promised Glory, Honour and Immortality; which if Ver. 7. we do, we shall, through the Grace of God, secure everlasting Life. Ver. 1. Vain will our Knowledge and our Profession otherwise be, and our Tessimony against the Sins of others will only instame the Guilt of our own.

Let it ever be remembered, that the Goodness of GOD, which we have such daily Reason to acknowledge and adore, gently takes us, as it were, by the Hand, and leadeth to Repentance; and while we con-Ver. 4. tinually live upon it, let us not act in Contempt of it, or abuse it to our own inconceivable Detriment. Is the Wrath already laid up so small, that

(1) According to my Gospel.] Nothing is more contrary to the Apostle's Meaning, as expressly declared above, than that all Men are to be judged by the Gospel. He only means, that the Gospel teaches such a Judgment. Therefore, some transposing the last Clause, render it, very plainly and properly, In the Day when GOD shall, according to my Gospel, judge the Secrets of Men. Mr. Mace transposes the whole sixteenth Verse to join it with the Twelsth; and I think it very evident, the thirteenth, sourteenth; and sisteenth Verses come in as a Parenthess: But the Transposition of Verses seems a dangerous Thing; though I think, in some evident Cases, that of a sew Words may be pardoned, considering the different Genius of Ancient and Modern, Eastern and Western, Languages.

Sect. 4. that we should be increasing the Treasure? Increasing the Terrors of the Day of Wratio, and Revelation of the righteous Judgment of GOD?

Ver. 5. It will be a most impartial, as well as important Day. Nor are we concerned to know how the Heathen will fare in it: Let it suffice us, Ver. 14, 15. that if they are condemned, they will be righteously condemned; not for remaining ignorant of the Gospel they never had an Opportunity of hearing, but for violating those Precepts of the divine Law which were inscribed on their Consciences. Let us bless God that he has written it there, and reverence the Traces of his Hand on our own Minds; always remembring, that the Discoveries of Revelation were never intended to erase or discredit the Discates of Nature, but to illustrate and confirm them.

Ver. 12. We shall be judged by the Dispensation we have enjoyed; and how Ver. 13. devoutly soever we may hear and speak of it, shall be condemned, if we have not acted agreeably thereto. The Lord grant that we may all find that Mercy of the Lord, which we shall every one of us need, in that Day; and that we may find it, may we keep that Day continually in View, and direct all our Actions with a Regard to its grand Decisions.

SECT. V.

Paul proceeds to fix the Charge upon the Jews, that they were Sinners, as well as the Gentiles; and consequently flood in Need of Justification by the Grace of the Gospel, as well as they. Rom. II. 17, to the End.

ROMANS II. 17.

Sect. 5. I HAVE hitherto been speaking of the inexcusable Guilt of those, who have the greatest Opportunity of knowing their Duty, and in Confequence of this acknowledge it, and condemn others for acting contrary to it; while yet they are guilty of the same Evils. I will now keep on the Reserve no longer; but will boldly declare, that in what I have said concerning such, I meant the Conviction, not merely of Heathen Philosophers, but of wicked Jews; and if thou, Oh Reader, art such an one, I apply myself perfonally to thee. Behold thou bearest the Name of a Jew,

ROMANS II. 17.

BEHOLD, thou art called a Jew, and reftest in Boast of God;

18 And knowest Will, and approvest the Things that are more excellent, being instructed out of the Law,

19 And art confident that thou thyself art a Guide of the Blind, a Light of them which are in Darkness, 20 An Instructor of the Foolish, a Teacher of Babes, which hast the Form of Knowledge, and of the Truth in the Law.

the Law, and makest thy a Jew (a); and thou reposest thyself on the Sect. 5. Knowledge and Profession of the Law, as if that would fave thee; and thou gloriest in Rom. IL 17. the true GOD, in whom thou believest; as if thy Descent and Profession, by Virtue of the peculiar Covenant he made with thy Fathers, must necessarily intitle thee to his Favour. Thou boastest of it as thine Honour and Happiness, that thou knowest [bis] Will; not merely by uncertain Conjecture and Reasoning, but by an express Revelation; and that thou accurately discernest and distinguishest upon Things that differ (b), which untaught Nature may in many Respects confound; being thyself well instructed out of the Law, having been from thy Infancy catechifed and educated in the accurate And in Consequence of Knowledge of it. this, thou art very confident, that thou thyself art fit to teach the whole Gentile World; to be a Guide of the Blind, as thou thinkest them to be; a Light to them, that for Want of the Light thou dispersest, are in Darkness; An Instructor of the Ignorant, a Teacher of these Babes(c), as thou esteemest them in Comparison with thyself; baving perhaps not only the Sacred Oracles in thine Hands, but also, in Order to render thee more expert and methodical in the Use of them, a Summary, a compendious System and Form of the Knowledge and Truth, which is contained in the Law (d).

Now

(a) Bearest the Name of a Jew.] The Apostle frequently addresses himself to unconverted Yews in this Epistle, and especially here; for no Doubt there were many of them. at Rome, who might be curious to know, what he, who had been so violent an Enemy to Christianity, would say to recommend it. And Paul's great Love to them engaged him, on the Contingency of such an Event, to insert such Passages; and other Passages are calculated for the Conviction of other Unbelievers, as well as for the Edification of Chriftians.

(b) Discernest Things that differ.] So Beza renders Soxiμαζεις τα Stapepola; and Elsner vindicates it in a Manner which feems very fatisfactory; tho' Cappellus, Hammond, and Erafmus defend our Translation, approvest Things, which are more excellent. See Elsner, Observ.

Vol. ii. pag. 17.
(c) Blind,--ignorant,--Babes.] These were Titles, which the proud Jews often gave to the Gentiles.

(d) Form.] popposes has this Signification, 2 Tim. iii. 5: And Bos (Exercit. pag. 100, 101.) shews, that it often fignifies the Sketch, or Out-lines of a Thing; which suits the Interpretation here given, better than he seems to apprehend. L'Enfant fenders it, hav-Vol. IV.

Expostulation with those, who commit the Crimes they condemn.

3+ Now I deny not, that thine Advantages are in I this Respect very great; but I must caution thee, Rom. II. 21. that thou art not deceived by any absolute Dependence upon them; and must press thee to reflect, how far thine own Temper and Conduct is agreeable to this Knowledge and Profession. Let me ask therefore, Thou that teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? Dost thou act, as if thou hadst forgotten thine own Precepts, or didst imagine, they did not oblige thee? Thou that preachest, for Instance, a Man should not steal, doest 22 thou think thyself tolerated to steal (e)? Thom that forbiddest a Man to commit Adultery, dost thou commit Adultery? Thou that dost so abominate Idols, and speakest of them at all Times with fuch great and just Abhorrence, dost thou commit Sacriledge by robbing the true God of what he so justly claims from thee, whether of outward Tribute, or inward Homage; while thou so strenuoully disputest against any other Object of Wor-

23 ship? In one Word, thou that gloriest in the Law, as so excellent, and thinkest it such an Honour to be acquainted with it, doft thou by the Transgression of the Law dishonour GOD, and act as if thou wert studying the Declaration of his Will, only to shew him, in a more presumptuous and contumatious Manner, that thou dost not regard it? It is not an improbable Supposition, that I have now been making; for I, who have had an Opportunity of knowing by long Experience the Temper and Character of the Jewish People, know it to be fuch, that I will boldly say to their Faces, " the Name of the "GOD of Israel, for which you profess so

" warm a Zeal is by your Means blasphemed among 21 Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? Thou that preachest a Man should not steal, dost thou steal?

22 Thou that sayest a Man should not commit Adultery, dost thou commit Adultery? Thou that abhorrest Idols, dost thou commit Sacriloge?

23 Thou that makest thy Boast of the Law, through breaking the Law diffionourest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among ing in the Law the Rule of Knowledge and Truth; but I know not whether possesses ever fignifies Rule; and if the Article has any Force, it is in Favour of the Rendering we have preferred.

(e) Dost thou steal? Grotius on this Text proves from Josephus, that some of the Jewish Priests lived by Rapine, depriving others of their due Share of the Tithes, and even suffering them to perish for Want; that others were guilty of gross uncleanness; and as for facrilegiously robbing GOD and his Altar, it had been complained of as early as Malachy's Days, Mal. i. 8, 12, 13. So that the Instances are given with great Propriety and Judgment.

the Gentiles through you, as it is written.

" the Gentiles, and his holy Religion brought into Sect. 5. "Contempt by your notorious and scandalous "Immoralities: as it is written in your own Scrip-Rom. II. 24. " tures concerning your Fathers, whose evil Deeds "you so generally imitate." (Compare 2 Sam.

25 For Circumcision verily profiteth, if thou keep the Law: But if thou be a Breaker of the Law, thy Circumcifion is made Uncircumcifion.

26 Therefore if the Uncircumcifion keep the Righteousness of the Law, shall not his Uncircumcifion be counted for Circumcision?

xii. 14. Isai. lii. 5. Ezek. xxxvi. 23.) My Duty absolutely requires me to give such 25 Cautions, and to make such Remonstrances, as these: For Circumcifion is indeed profitable, if a Man keep the Law (f): His being a Jew, if he be truly a good Man, will give him many Advantages for becoming a Christian; and were his Obedience perfect, would intitle him to the Bleffings promised in the Law. But if thou be a Transgressor of the Law, thy Circumcision is in Effect become Uncircumcifion: Thou wilt have no more Benefit by it, than if thou hadst never received it; as thou well knowest, that according to the Tenor of the Law itself, Circumcision, far from being any Excuse for thy Offence, will rather expose thee in many Respects to much greater Punishment. And therefore, by a Parity 26 of Reason, if the Uncircumcision, that is, an uncircumcifed Person, observe and obey the greatest and most important Precepts or righteous Determinations of the Law, tho' without any Acquaintance with the Book that contains them; if he faithfully and steadily conform himself to the main Branches of Virtue and Rectitude it requires, shall not his Uncircumcifion be imputed or reckoned, as Circumcision? Shall he not be treated as favourably by GoD in his final Account, as if he had been circumcifed, when his not being so does not proceed from any Contempt of the Divine Authority, but from his knowing nothing of the Rite, or not apprehending it in his particular Circumstances to be his Duty to practife it? Yea it is certain, that the Uncir- 27

27 And shall not Uncircumcifion

(f) For Circumcision, &c.] It is most evident that yest cannot here fignify, that the following Words are a Reason for what was afferted in those immediately preceeding: It seems little more than an Expletive, as the Particle now among us often is. I shall not therefore in many Passages take the Pains of endeavouring to find such a Connection, as would justify the Use of it in its strictest Propriety; in attempting which many have vainly perplexed themselves to no other Purpose, than to make the Writings of St. Paul appear more obscure, than they really are.

(g) Praise

36 Sect. 5. cumcifion that is by Nature, a Man who continues I uncircumcifed as he was born, accomplishing the Rom. II. 27 great moral Purposes of the Law, in Subserviency to which its Rituals were appointed, [hall judge] and condemn thee; who while thou actest by the Letter of its ceremonial Precepts, and retainest Circumcifion and all its Appendages with the greatest Exactness, art nevertheless in Things far more effential and important a Transgressor of the Law, to the spiritual Meaning and Extent of which thou continuest an utter Stranger, and which thou encourages thyself, by these external 28 Observances, to neglect. For upon the whole, as you would not allow any Man to be truly a Tew, merely for any outward Rites which he might observe, if he continued uncircumcifed, how carefully soever he might conceal it; so must I freely declare to you, that be is not in the most sublime and important Sense a Yew, that is, one of God's Covenant and beloved People, who is merely so in outward Shew, neither indeed [is that] the true Circumcifion, which is apparent 29 in the Flesh. Nothing merely ritual or ceremonial can recommend a Man to the Divine Fayour; but he [is] a Jew, that is, one of God's chosen People, who is one in the hidden Part, as David expresses it; (Psal. li. 6.) or in the secret

Recesses of the Soul; and the acceptable Circumcision [is that] of the Heart, which your own Prophets so often inculcate, (See Deut. x. 16. xxx. 6. Jer. iv. 4.) when they urge the putting away all inward Impurity and Obstinacy, as that which is most highly offensive in the Sight of God. This excellent Circumcifion is feated in the Spirit, confishing of a Change made there by the Operation of the Divine Spirit himself, and not merely in an external Conformity to the Letter of the Law, of which the worst of Men may be capable. Now fuch a person, whatever his outward Profession may be, is one, whose Praise [is] not so much of Men (g), who eager cumcifion which is by Nature, if it fulfil the Law, judge thee, who by the Letter and Circumcision dost transgress the Law?

28 For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that Circumcifion, which is outward in the

29 But he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and Circumcifion is that of the Heart, in the Spirit; and not in the Letter, whose Praise

(g) Praise not of Men, &c.] Perhaps here is a Reference to the Etymology of the Word Jew; it being derived from the Name of Judah, which signifies Praise. Gen. xxix. 35. and xlix. 8.

Praise is not of Men, but to spread their own Sects applaud those who be- Sect. 5. come their Profelytes, or most strenuously retain their peculiar Forms; but is of GOD, who alone Rom. II. 29. knows the Heart, and whose Esteem and Complacency is infinitely preferable to that of whole Nations or Worlds.

IMPROVEMENT.

T ET our Hearts be always attentive to these Lessons of inward Reli- Ver. 28. gion, which the Sacred Oracles fail not continually to inculcate. It is the Praise of GOD that is in Question: And who can be so lost to all Ver. 29. true Greatness of Mind, to all generous Ambition, as that he should not long and ever burn to obtain it? Or who can enjoy, or attend to, the Praise of Men, while he has any Reason to fear that God condemns?

To have the Name of a Yew or of a Christian! How little will it signi- Ver. 17. fy? To boast in an external and temporary Relation to GOD, if we are fuch as shall finally be disowned by him, will make us the more wretched. To have known his Will, to have distinguished Things that Ver. 18. differ, and set up for Instructors or Reprovers of others, will only furnish out Matter of Condemnation from our own Mouths; if, while teaching Ver. 19,-21. others, we teach not ourselves. Well may the Punishment be aggravated, where the Guilt is fo great; when it brings fo peculiar a Reproach upon Religion, and in Effect dictates so many Blasphemies against the Name Ver. 24. of Gon, at the very Time it pretends to exalt it.

We pity the Gentiles, and we have Reason to do it; for they are lamentably blind and dissolute: But let us take Heed, lest those Appearances of Virtue, which are to be found among some of them, con- Ver. 26,27. demn us; who, with the Letter of the Law, and the Gospel, and with the folemn Tokens of a Covenant Relation to GOD, transgress his Precepts, and violate our Engagements to him; fo turning the Means of Goodness and Happiness into the Occasion of more aggravated Guilt and Misery.

SECT. VI.

After removing some Objections, the sad Case both of Jews and Gentiles is farther illustrated; and the Representation shewn to be agreeable to the Scriptures of the Old Testament. Rom. III. 1,---19.

I say that it profi-

ROMANS III. 1.

Sect. 6. DUT some may be ready to object, "If it " be so, that no Circumcission, but that of

Rom. III. 1. the Heart, will avail to Mens final Happiness; " what then [is] the Advantage of the Jew, or " what the Profit of Circumcifion, which yet you

" feemed to allow, when you faid but just before, (Chap.ii. 25.) that it in some Circumstances profi-2 teth?" Nor do I deny it now.

teth much every Way, or in a Variety of Respects; as I shall hereafter more fully shew; (Compare Chap. ix. 4, 5.) and chiefly in that they, who have received it, have been intrusted with the Oracles of GOD (a) in the divinely inspired Scriptures; by which they are taught many important Lessons, which may direct their Lives, and dispose them to embrace the Gospel, to the Security of their final and everlasting Salvation.

Of great Importance indeed are these Divine Oracles to this Purpose. And what if some, and they a confiderable Number, of those who once possessed these unvaluable Treasures, believed them not, or did not duely consider what they speculatively believed, and so rejected the Gospel, to which they were intended to lead? Shall their Unbelief disannul, and enervate, the Faith of GOD (b)? Shall it destroy his Fidelity to his Promises, ROMANS III. I.

WHAT Advantage then hath the Jew? Or what Profit is there of Circumcision?

2 Much every Way: Chiefly, because that unto them were committed the Oracles of God.

3 For what if fome did not believe? Shall their Unbelief make the Faith of God without Effect?

(a) The Oracles of GOD.] This is so remarkable and important a Testimony to the Divine Inspiration of the Old Testament in General, that it can leave no Doubt concerning the full Persuasion of St. Paul upon this Head.

(b) The Faith of GOD.] This is an ambiguous Expression; and may either signify, the Fidelity of GOD, or that Faith of ours, which God has pointed out, as the Way of obtaining

4 God forbid: Yea, let God be true, but every Man a Liar; as it is written, that thou mightest be justified in thy Sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged.

5 But if our Unrighteourners commend the Righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous who taketh Vengeance? (I speak as a Man)

6 Gop forbid: For then how shall GoD judge the World?

7 For if the Truth of God hath more aboun-

Promises, or prevent our receiving them and ow- Sect. 6. ning their Accomplishment, with becoming Re-GOD forbid, that we should infinu-Rom. III. 4. gard? ate any Thing of this Kind. No; let the Blessed GOD ever be acknowledged to be true and faithful, tho' every Man be esteemed a Lyar, and unfit to have any Confidence reposed in him; as it is written, (Psal.li.4.) " that thou mightest be justified in " thy Words, and mightest upon the whole over-" come, when thou art called into Judgment (c); " that they, who infolently dare to arraign the " Equity of thy Conduct, may soon meet with " the Confusion they deserve."

But a Jew may be ready further to object, and say, " If our Unrighteousness recommend the Righ-" teousness of GOD (d), and illustrate his Perfec-"tions in that Way of becoming righteous by "Faith, which he now ordains; what shall we " fay, and what are we to expect? " Is not "GOD unrighteous, who inflicteth that Wrath, " which it is well known, you affert, he will " execute upon the whole Jewish Nation for re-" jecting it?" I now speak as a Man, who had a Mind to cavil at the Gospel, might plead; and by no Means express my own Sentiments, as you may well imagine.

No; GOD forbid, that I should harbour such 6 a Thought, or allow such a Consequence. For how then should GOD judge the World? With Abraham our Father, I acknowledge him under the Character of the Judge of all the Earth, and maintain that he will always " do right." (Gen. xviii. 25.) And as for fuch a 7 Caviller, he might as well speak out and say, " If the Truth of GOD bath abounded to his ning Justification and Life. The Senses run at last into each other. I have included both; and hinted, in the last Words of the Paraphrase, at a Sort of intermediate Sense; as the attentive Reader will observe.

(c) When thou art called into Judgment.] Elsner and Bos have abundantly shewn, that upire 9 at has this Signification; (Compare Acts xxv. 25. xxvi. 6.) and that rixar, in such a Connection, fignifies to carry the Cause. See Elsner, Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 18, 19. and Bos

(d) The Righteousness of GOD.] Tho' the Phrase be in itself ambiguous, I think Dr. Whitby has abundantly proved, it has here the Sense we give it. (e) If

" oren

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 6. " own Glory by Means of my Lye (e), my " Falsehood and Iniquity of any Kind; if he Rom. III. 7. " has taken Occasion to over-rule my Offence to

" the Accomplishment of his Word, and the " Honour of his Administration; why am I ne" vertheless called into Judgment as a Sinner, and " arraigned for that as a Crime, which is atten-

8 " ded with fuch happy Confequences?" why may I not say, (as we are calumniated, and fome most injuriously affirm, that we maintain,) " let us do evil Things, that good Consequences " may come from them?" You may eafily see, that Principles like these would justify the greatest Crimes in the World, if they might be so over-ruled as to prove the Occasion of Good; and confequently, would fo intirely confound the Nature of Good and Evil, that I think it not worth while to argue with fuch Persons; whose Condemnation is indeed so apparently ju/t(f), that I leave them to be convinced, and filenced, by their own Consciences; and only mention such a detestable Principle solemnly to warn you against it.

But, to return from this long Digression——If the Question I mentioned before be repeated, and any fay, " what then, upon the whole, have " we Jews the Advantage of the Gentiles so far,

" that in Consequence of having these Oracles " of God which we have received, the Promifes

" which he will never fail to observe, and the "Principles of Righteousness, which he will " never himself violate in his Conduct, we can " claim Justification before God by Virtue of ded through my Lie unto his Glory; why yet am I also judged as a Sinner?

8 And not rather (as we be flanderoufly reported, and as some affirm that we say) Let us do Evil, that Good may come? Whose Damnation is just,

9 What then? Are we better than they? No, in no

(e) If the Truth of GOD, &c.] The Pruffian Testament renders this Clause, " In the "mean Time if my Lye conduces to the Glory of God, by making the Grandeur of his Truth shine forth with superior Advantage," &c. This is the clear and genuine Sense; but it is not confistent with the Rule I generally follow, to deviate so far from the Words of the Original; and I mention it as a Specimen of many Liberties, in which I have declined following that Version after attentive Examination of it.

(f) Whose Condemnation is just.] I think this must imply, that there are certain Rules which God has laid down for us, Disobedience to which in any imaginable Circumstances is universally a moral Evil; even tho' the Quantity of Good arising from thence to our Fellow-Creatures, should be greater, than that arising from observing those Rules. For if this be not allowed, there can be no Shadow of Force in the Apostle's Conclusion.

(g) A_3

Wife: For we have before proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under Sin;

There is none righteous, no not one:

11 There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God.

of the Way, they are together become unprofitable, there is none that doth good, no not one.

13 Their Throat is an open Sepulchre; with their Tongues they have used Deceit; the Poison of Asps is under their Lips:

14 Whose Mouth is full of Cursing and Bitterness.

" our Obedience to his Law?" Not at all; for we have before proved that Jews and Gentiles are all under Sin, and have placed them as convicted Criminals at the Divine Bar; As it is written, (Pfal. xiv. 1.) (g) in a Variety of Passages which may be applied to the present Occasion, "There is none righteous, no not one; There

"There is none righteous, no not one; There III.
"is none that understandeth his Duty and his "true Interest; there is none that seeketh after "GOD (b), and constantly endeavoureth to "fecure his Favour. They are all declined 12

"from that moral Rectitude, which is the Glo-"ry of the rational Nature; they are altogether become useless as to the great End for which

"tifeth Good, there is not fo much as one. (Pfal. xiv. 1—3. liii. 1—3.) Their Throat [is]

" noisome and dangerous as an open Sepulchre, gaping to swallow them up, or poison them with its infected. Air swith their Tongues they

" with its infected Air; with their Tongues they bave used the most mischievous Deceit; and while they make the fairest Profession of " Friendship, the mortal Venom of Asps [is] hid "under their Lips, which utter the most infec-

" under their Lips, which utter the most infectious and fatal Slanders. (Psal. cxl. 3.)

"They are Men whose Mouth is full of Cursing and Bitterness; (Pial. x. 7.) so that the most shocking

(g) As it is written.] These Scriptures are collected from different Parts of the Old Testament; but there are many Editions of the lxx. in which they all stand together, in the xivth, or according to their Order, xiiith, Psalm; which has given some Occasion to think, that other Alterations may have been made in that Greek Version, to render it more agreeable to the New Testament; tho' many Passages might escape the Notice of such as made this Attempt, if it were really made. But it must have been, as we see in this Instance it was, a fruitless one; considering how wide such Copies were dispersed, and how different the religious Sentiments of the Persons with whom they were lodged. It seems much more reasonable, to account for the Diversity we find between the Original and Quotations, by supposing the Sense, rather than Words, intentionally regarded; and some accidental Alterations have happened since in the Hebrew Copies, which in several Places may make the Difference greater than it originally was,

(b) There is none that feeketh after GOD, &c.] It is allowed, that this Passage only proves directly, what was the Character of the fews in David's Time; but it plainly shows that the Wrath of God was awakened against them, as well as others, for their Sins: It proves also, that a general Degeneracy might prevail among them, tho' by Prosession God's People; and it suggests a strong Presumption, that if Israel in David's Time, which was one of its best Ages, was so bad, Gentile Nations were still worse; and in all these Views, it was much to the Apostle's Purpose to produce the Passage. The like Observation is in a great Measure applicable to all the following Quotations; as the Paraphrase on ver. 19. suggests, or rather, as the Apostle himself there evidently infinuates.

(i) What

Sect. 6. " shocking Prophaneness mingles itself with that Malignity of Heart towards their Fellow-men, which breathes in every Word.

"Their Feet [are] fwift to run towards the Places, where they have appointed to sked

" the Blood of the Innocent. (Prov. i. 16, 18.)

16 "Ruin and Misery [are] on the Whole in all their Ways; they bring it upon others, and so,

" by an inevitable Consequence, upon them" selves at last.

And as for the Way of Peace

" and Happiness, they have not known or regar" ded it. (Îsai. lix. 7, 8.) And, to sum up all in one Word, the great Cause of all this De" generacy is, that the Fear of GOD is not be" fore their Eyes, but they are utterly destitute of any true Principle of Religion, of any

" Reverence and Love to the great and adorable

" Object of it." (Psal. xxxvi. 1.)

This, my Brethren, is in general the fad Character of Mankind in their fallen State; and the Representation is the more striking, as it is borrowed from the Sacred Writings. Now we know, that what the Law faith in such Passages as these, it faith to those, that were under the Law (i); They do not immediately relate to the Heathen, but contain the Character of those that were at that Time the professing People of God. And as most of these Passages are borrowed from the Writings of David, Solomon, or Isaiah, it appears, that even in the best Days of their State, they had a great Deal of enormous Wickedness among them. And if Israel, even at fuch a Time, could not justify itself, much less can it be imagined, that the Idolatrous Nations of the Gentiles, should be able to do it: So that every Mouth must be stopped, and the whole World stand convicted before GOD(k) as guilty, and acknowledge itself obnoxious to a dreadful Sen-

15 Their Feet are swift to shed Blood.

16 Destruction and Mifery are in their Ways:

17 And the Way of Peace have they not known.

18 There is no Fear of God before their Eyes.

19 Now we know that what Things soever the Law saith, it saith to them who are under the Law: That every Mouth may be stopped, and all the World may become guilty before God.

(i) What the Law faith.] It appears here, that this Word Law doth sometimes signify the Old Testament in general; for not one of the Quotations above is taken from the Pentateuch.

tence

(k) Stand convicted before GOD.] So unodexos to Geo seems exactly to signify. Archibishop Tillotson would render it, liable to Divine Justice; which is the same in Sense. See bis Works, Vol. i. pag. 126.

tence from his Tribunal. Now I earnestly desire Sect. 6. to bring every Reader under a Sense of this, as what is of the highest Importance, in Order to receiving the Gospel with becoming Gratitude and Joy.

IMPROVEMENT.

by the Hand of an Apostle from the Lines first drawn by inspired Prophets, without deep Humility, and Lamentation? To this was it sunk, that there was none righteous, no not one; none disposed to Ver.10,11.

seek after GOD, or to cultivate bis Fear. And from this bitter Root, Ver. 18.
the Apostacy of our Nature from God, what detestable Fruit proceeds!

The Throat which is like an open Sepulchre, the deceitful Tongue, the invenomed Lips, the malicious Heart, the murtherous Hand! And who can wonder, that such Rebels to their Heavenly Father should sometimes prove Russians to their Brethren!

Let us bless God that we have been preserved from falling into such Enormities, and from falling by them. His Grace has restrained us from sinning against him in such an aggravated Manner; his Providence has guarded us from those, whose Feet are swift to shed Blood, and in whose Ver. 15, 16.

Paths there is Destruction and Misery.

Let us remember the View, in which these Instances were brought; even to evince this deplorable, but undeniable Truth, that Jews and Ver. 19. Gentiles are all under Sin. The Purpose of Conviction therefore being answered on our Hearts, let us humble ourselves before God, as those that stand guilty in his Presence, and obnoxious to his Judgment.

Thankfully let us own the inestimable Goodness of God in having favoured us with his Sacred Oracles, and endeavour to improve in the Ver. 24 Knowledge of them. Thus instructed, let us be careful to form the most honourable Notion of God, as the worthy and universal Judge, Ver. 64 who will never sail to do right; and may these Views of him produce an Abhorrence of every Thing evil, which must necessarily be displeating to him. Nor let us ever allow ourselves to be brought under the Instructed of those fallacious and pernicious Maxims, which would persuade us, that the Goodness of the Intention sanstifies the Badness of the Ver. 84. Action; or that the pretended Benevolence of the End will justify Irregularities in the Means. GOD's Judgment and Decision is final; and an inspired Apostle's Authority is an Answer to a Thousand Subtleties, which might attempt to turn us from the strictest Rules of that immutable Rectitude, on which it always proceeds.

SECT.

•

SECT. VII.

From the Representation made above, of the Guilt and Mifery of Mankind, the Apostle deduces the Necessity of seeking Justification by the Gospel; and consequently the Excellency of that Dispensation, as exhibiting the Method of it. Rom. III. 20, to the End.

ROMANS III. 20.

Sect. 7.

Rem. III. 20.

Levidences of the universal Degeneracy and Corruption of Mankind, and shewing you, that the whole World must stand convicted before God: Therefore let all my Readers be persuaded to admit it, as a most certain Principle, and at all Times to act upon it, that according to the just and humble Acknowledgment of the Psalmist, (Psal. exliii. 2.) no Flesh shall be justified, or pronounceed righteous, before him (a), by Works of compleat Obedience to the Law of God (b), whether natural or revealed. For, instead

ROMANS III. 20.

Herefore by the Deeds of the Law there shall no Flesh be justified in his

(a) Be justified, &c.] The learned Vitringa hath with great Propriety observed, that this Word is borrowed from Psal. cxliii. 2. and must therefore fignify to receive the Testimony of being righteous from a Judge, and cannot merely fignify to obtain Mercy. To be justified also sometimes fignifies to overcome in Judgment, Psal. li. 4. and the Expression of being just before GOD implies the same. And that this is the Sense of the Word in this Epistle, appears from several Passages; particularly, Rom. ii. 3. So that on the whole, as he argues, Justification is not a Phrase parallel to Forgiveness, but refers to a judicial Process, and carries in it the Idea of Acquital, Praise, and Reward. And indeed it seems to me always ultimately to refer to the being pronounced, and treated as Righteous in the great Day of God's universal Judgment. See Rom. ii. 13, 16.

(b) By Works of the Law.] I think with Mr. Locke, that the Word Law must here be taken in this Extent, comprehending ceremonial, and moral, revealed and natural. And this I conclude, not so much from the Omission of the Article (Compare Rom. ii. 12, 14, 25, 27. Chap. iii. 31. Chap. v. 13, 20. in all which Places and many more, vepos without the Article signifies the Mosaick Law, as the Sense evidently proves,) but from the Conclusion which the Apostle draws, and the whole Tenor of his subsequent Argument; which would have very little Weight, if there were Room to object, the we cannot be justified by our Obedience to the Law of Moses, we may be justified by our Obedience to God's natural Law. And nothing can be more evident, than that the Promises, from which this Conclusion is drawn, refer to the Gentiles as well as the Jews; and consequently, that Law has here, and in many subsequent Passages, that general Sense.—A very learned Person has lately proposed

Digitized by Google

to

his Sight: For by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin.

stead of justifying any Man, it only anticipates, Sect. 7. in a more obvious and affecting Manner, the Sense of his Condemnation; as by the Law is Rom. III.20. the Knowledge of Sin (c), it discovers to us how grievous a Thing it is, and exhibits the righteous Displeasure of God against it.

21 But now the Righteoulness of God without the Law is manifested, being witneffed by the Law and the Prophets;

But yet, bleffed be God, every Door of Hope is not shut against the Sinner, convicted by the Law: For the Righteousness of GOD, that is, ness of God, which is by Faith of Jesus Christ unto all, and upon all them that believe; for there is no Difference:

22 Even the Righteouf-

the Manner of becoming righteous, which God hath ordained and appointed in his Gofpel, without that perfect Obedience which the Law requires, is now made manifest; being indeed attested by the whole Tenor of the Law and the Prophets (d), which join in leading our Eyes to the great Messiah: Even the Righ- 22: teousness of GOD, which he hath appointed us to feek, by the Exercise of a living Faith on the Power and Grace of his Son Jesus Christ; to whom he commads us to commit our Souls, with · all humble and obedient Regard. This Way of obtaining Righteousness and Life is now, I say, made manifest to all, and, like a pure, compleat and glorious Robe, is put upon all them that believe; whether they were, or were not, acquainted with, or subject to, the Mosaick Law before their Conversion to Christianity: For there is in this Respect no Difference at all between one Be-For all have finned, as we 23

23 For all have finned, liever and another.

demonstrated

to render it in your by the Law of Works; pleading βαπίσμων διδαχνις (Heb. vi. 2.) as 2 parallel Instance: But I have declined this Rendering, as (ver. 27.) the Apostle expresses the Law of Works, by Words placed in a different Order, volus tour spyon, opposed to volus TKEWS; and (ver. 28.) XWPIS EPYWY POLUS is plainly, as we render it, without the IVorks of the Law; as the Continuation of the Apostle's Argument, in Reference to Abraham shews. Nor can I see, what great End could be served by allowing this Criticism; since the Apostle elsewhere afferts Justification xupus epyww without Works, (Chap. iv. 6:) And to say that efger is put elliptically for νωμε εργων (that is Works for the Law of Works) is very arbitrary. Nor can I conceive, that any one can be justified by the Law of Works, without being juffified by the Works, or vice versa; and this is expressly Paul's Assertion, Chap. iv. 4, 5.

(c) By the Law is the Knowledge of Sin.] This strongly implies the broken and disjointed State of human Nature, in Confequence of which the Precepts, which God gives us, will on the whole only ferve to convict us of Guilt, but not to produce an Obedience by which we can finally be acquitted and accepted. Some render it, the Law takes Cognizance

(d) Attested by the Law and the Prophets.] See in this View, Gen. xv. 6. If ai. liii. ult. Dar. ix. 24.

(e) Come

Sect. 7. demonstrated above, and come short of the Glory and come short of the Gloof GOD (e); they have failed of rendering him Rom. III.23 that Glory that was fo justly his Due, and thereby have not only made themselves unworthy the Participation of Glory and Happiness with him, but stand exposed to his severe and 24 dreadful Displeasure: And if any escape it, they are fuch, as being induced to embrace the Gospel, are justified freely without pretending to plead any Merit of their own, by bis rich and sovereign Grace, proposed there by Virtue of that Redemption and Deliverance which is in Christ Je-

25 fus his well beloved Son; Whom GOD hath in his infinite Mercy proposed and exhibited to us in the Gospel (f), as a Propitiation, through whom he may honourably discover himself as propitious to us, and converse favourably with us, as he did with Moses from the Mercy-Seat: An inestimable Priviledge, which we receive by Virtue of Faith in his attoning Blood, with which the Throne of God is, as it were, sprinkled over; as the Propitiatory in the Tabernacle was, with the Blood of the Sin-offering. xvi. 15, 16.) And this is appointed for a Demonstration of his Righteousness in the Remillion of Sins, which now appears to be accomplished without any Reflection upon that awful Attribute, which might feem to have a Claim fo directly contrary to it; and this Remission extends not only to the present, but former Age, and to all the Offences which are long fince palt, according to the Forbearance of GOD, who has forborn to execute Judgment upon Sinners for their repeated Provocations, in Reference to that

ry of God;

24 Being juffified freely by his Grace, through the Redemption that is in Jesus Christ:

25 Whom God hath fet forth to be a Propitiation. through Faith in his Blood, to declare his Righteousness for the Remission of Sins that are past, through the Forbearance of God:

(e) Come short of the Glory of GOD.] Mr. Fleming, and after him, if I mistake not, Lord Barrington, explains this falling short of GOD's Glory, as fignifying, the Loss of that lucid Resemblance of the glorious Sheckinah, which they, after Mr. Joseph Mede, suppose our first Parents to have worn, in their primæval State. But if it were to be granted they had fuch a Glory in that State, I cannot think it would have been natural to have called it God's Glory, or to explain the Word usepular of lofing it, which certainly fignifies a Deficiency of what might have been attained, rather than the Loss of what is actually possessed. Compare Mat. xix. 20. 1 Cor. i. 7. Heb. iv. 1. Chap. xii. 15.

Atonement

(f) Proposed.] Some contend that apostelo here signifies to exhibit; others that it signifies to determine, intend, or fix upon. (Compare Bos in Loc. and Eph. i. 9, 11. Rom. i. 13.)

I have chose the Word propose, as having just the same Ambiguity.

(g) Just

26 To declare, I fay, at this Time his Righteousness: That he might be just, and the Justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.

Atonement which he knew should in due Time Sect. 7. He has, I say, proposed his Son be made. for a Demonstration of bis Righteousness, which Rom III.26. now, in this present ever memorable and signal Time, is so wonderfully illustrated in the great Transactions of our own Age, intended for this Purpose, that be might be, and appear just, and yet at the same Time, without impeaching in any Degree the Rights of his Government, the Justifier of him who is of the Faith of Jesus, whosoever he be (g), that is, of every one who fincerely believes in him, and acquiesces in that Method of Salvation which God hath published by him, and established in his perfect Obedience and meritorious Sufferings.

27 Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what Law? Of Works? Nay: But by the Law of Faith.

Contemplate, I beseech you, this only Way of 27 Redemption and Acceptance, and say, where then [is] Boasting in our own Righteousness, or on Account of any other peculiar Priviledges? Or what Reason can any, who partake of these Blessings, have to glory in themselves? You will easily see, that it is intirely excluded. And reflect farther, by what Law is it excluded? [By the Law] of Works? By that of Moses, or any other Law, promising Life only to perfect Obedience, and threatning all Disobedience with inevitable Death? By no Means. This would leave a Man all the little Reason for boasting he could possibly have; even that he had acted perfectly right and well, and had all that Excellence and Worth of Character, which a Being in his Circumstances could attain. But if you suppose him to have Recourse to the Gospel, by the Law of Faith it must certainly be excluded, fince the very Constitution of that requires Persons to acknowledge themselves Sinners, and as guilty and indigent, to make an humble Application to the free Mercy of God in Christ

(g) Just and the Justifier, &c.] By just, Mr. Taylor would understand merciful, and Mr. Locke, faithful to his Promises; but either of these makes but a very cold Sense, when compared with that we have here given. It is no Way wonderful, that God should be merciful, or faithful to his Promises, tho' the Justifier of believing Sinners: But that he should be just in such an Act might have seemed incredible, had we not received such an Account of the Propitiation and Atonement. But our Explication is vindicated in a most masterly and unanswerable Manner by the worthy Author of an excellent Trass, intitled, Christ the Mediator. pag. 85, &c. to which I with great Pleasure refer the Reader.

(b) A

Sect. 7. for Pardon, and every other Bleffing, which is necessary to their final Happiness.

Rom. III.28.

both (i).

We therefore are come to a Conclusion of this Part of our Argument, that a Man, of whatever Nation, Profession or Character, is justified by a true lively and effectual Faith in the Gospel, without the Works of the Law(b); that is, tho' destitute of any legal works, in Consequence of which he could claim Justification and Life.

28 Therefore we conclude, that a Man is justified by Faith without the Deeds of the Law.

And this naturally leaves Room to add, [Is GOD,] who hath established such a Method of Justification, the GOD of the Jews only, and not also of the Gentiles? Surely he is the GOD of the Gentiles too; since it is very evident, that all Claim from Works being thus universally given up, the Jews and Gentiles must in this Respect standupon a Level. So that [it is] one GOD, the same eternal and unchangeable Jehovah, that will justify the Jews who have received Circumcision, not by that, but by Faith, and will justify the Gentiles too, who are still in their Uncircumcision, through the same Faith; and therefore demands the grateful Love, and the new Obedience of 29 Is he the God of the Jews only? Is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also:

30 Sceing it is one Gon, which shall justify the Circumcision by Faith, and Uncircumcision through Faith.

Now while we maintain this Method of Juftification and Salvation, can it be faid, that we derogate from the Honour of God's Justice, or his Law? Do we set aside the Law by Faith, as if it were a faulty, or annihilate it, as if it were an useless Thing? GOD forbid, that we should ever infinuate such a Design, or entertain such a Thought. Nay, on the contrary we really establish 31 Do we then make void the Law through Faith? God forbid: Yea, we establish the Law.

(b) A lively and effectual Faith, without works, &c.] By thus guarding the Affertion we sufficiently see, how very consistent it is with that of St. James, (Chap. ii. 17, 23, 24.) who only in Effect afferts, that no Faith can suffice to our Justification, which is not in Fact productive of Obedience; and when the Matter is thus stated, there is no appearance of Contradiction.

(i) One GOD, who justifieth the Circumcission by Faith, and the Uncircumcission thro' Faith.] Mr. Locke would render it seeing GOD is one, and supposes it an Allusion to the Prediction, Zach. xiv. 9. that the Lord shall be one, and his Name one; suffilled by the Publication of the Gospel. But I think this supposed Allusion far fetched, and see not any Occasion for supposing in Aiseas, by Faith, and Dia Aiseas, thro' Faith, to signify different Things; nor can I see what different Idea can here be affixed to them. L'Enfant renders it, he will justify the Circumcission by Faith, and the Uncircumcission by the same Faith.

(k) We establish the Law (k) on a firmer Foundation than Sect. 7. ever, and place it in a juster and more beautiful Point of Light: For we shew also its Ho-Rom. III.31, nour displayed in the Atonement as well as the Obedience of Christ, and we make it of everlasting Use, for attesting the Truth and illustrating the Necessity of the Gospel, as well as for directing the Lives of Men, when they profess to have received it; as we shall abundantly shew in the Process of the Discourse.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET our whole Souls rejoice in this glorious Display of the Divine Mercy, in so beautiful an Harmony with Divine Justice, in our Redemption by Christ; to which the Apostle in this Section bears so noble a Testimony. We are all become guilty before GOD; so that if he Ver. 20. should mark Iniquity, no Flesh living could be justified before him: Let therefore us with all reverence and esteem, and with all Joy embrace, the Righteousness of GOD, as now attested by the Law and Prophets, by Ver. 21. Christ and his Apostles; which shall be upon all Believers without any Ver. 22. Difference: Humbling ourselves deeply in the Presence of God, as those Ver. 23. who have finned, and come short of his Glory; and seeking to be justified yer. 24. freely by his Grace, thro' the Redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

To him let us continually look, as the great Propitiation; exercising Faith Ver. 25. in his Blood, and rejoicing, that those, which seemed to our feeble Apprehensions the most jarring Attributes, are now reconciled and glorified. Let us readily acknowledge that, Boasting is excluded, and in the grateful Ver. 27. Overflowings of our Souls fall down before that Throne, whence Pardons are dispersed, and confess "that this Act of Grace is our only Plea;" and that we must remain humble before Gop for ever, in a Sense of the Demerit of our Sins and the Abundance of his Mercy.

Let Jews and Gentiles unite in Thanksgivings to God, and in Love to Ver. 29-30. each other, as having been all involved in the same Condemnation, and all Partakers of the same Compassion. And let Christians remember, that God intended by this illustrious Display of Grace, not to supersede, Ver. 31. but to establish his Law. May we therefore make it our Concern, that

Vol. IV.

⁽k) We establish the Law.] Some render it, Nay, but we are the Persans that observe the Law; which is a just and strong Thought, (Compare Rom. viii. 3, 4.) but I think not the proper Signification of same. For the Justice of this Inference, See Christ the Med, pag. 90---96.

Sect. 7. not only the Actions of our Lives, but the Sentiments of our Hearts, be directed and determined by it; as it is now inforced by more powerful Motives, than when it appeared in its unallayed Terrors.

SECT. VIII.

The Apostle here shews, that Abraham and David sought Justification in such a Way as the Gospel recommends, that is, by Faith. Rom. IV. 1,---12.

ROMANS IV. 1.

Sect. 8. THAVE been observing to you, that we

Rom. IV. I. Christians, by maintaining the Doctrine of Justification by Faith, instead of superseding and enervating, do indeed establish the Divine Law, and affert in the most convincing Manner both its Authority and Purity. For the Illustration of this therefore, let us confider the important Instance of Abraham, and the Manner in which he was justified. What then shall we say, that the holy Patriarch Abraham, our revered Father, according to the Flesh bath found effectual in this > if Abraham were justified by Circumcifion, or by the Merit of any other Works, rather than by the free Grace and Mercy of God, then be hath fomething in which he may glory (b): But it is certain, by Respect (a)? And to what must his Justification,

2 and Acceptance with God be ascribed?

ROMANS IV. 1.

THAT shall we say then that Abraham our Father, as pertaining to the Flesh, hath found?

2 For if Abraham were justified by Works, he hath whereof

(a) Hath found.] Some would transpose the Words, and render them "Shall we say, that " our Father Abraham hath found, that is, obtained Justification and Life, according to the " Flesh, that is, by Circumcision, and observing the carnal Rites of the Mosaick Oecono" my?" But when the natural Order and usual Import of the Phrase makes so easy and so good a Sense, I can see no Reason for admitting this Construction. Raphelius shews, that Herodotus and other authentick Greek Authors wife evploxes, for obtaining, and that by Merit. Annotat. ex Herod. in Loc.

(b) He hath something in which he may glory.] This seems to intimate, that the Yews maintained not only the Necessity, but the Merit of the Jewish Observances; else it might have been replyed, that Abraham was indeed justified upon his being circumcifed, but that it was by the Grace of God, in freely annexing the Promise of Justification and Life to such a Rite.

(c) As before God.

3 For what faith the Scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for Righteousness.

4 Now to him that worketh, is the Reward not reckoned of Grace, but of Debt.

5. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the Ungodly, his Faith is counted for Righteousness.

6 Even as David also describeth the Blessedness of the Man unto whom God imputeth whereof to glory, but not what the Sacred Oracles express, that, tho' the Sect. 8. Behaviour of this celebrated Person was indeed to innocent, fair and honourable before Men, yet Rom. IV. 2. [be bath] not any Thing to boast in the Sight of For what faith the Scripture upon this 3 Head? (Gen. xv. 6.) Abraham believed GOD, " when he made him the Promise of that mira-" culous and important Seed, and so it was im" puted to him, or placed to his Account, for " Righteousness, or in Order to his Justifica-"tion:" That is, Gop was pleased graciously to accept it, though he had not that compleat and perfect Righteousness, which might in strict Justice be demanded of every rational Creature, as the only Condition of his being acquitted at Now to him, who thus work- 4 the Divine Bar. eth to the utmost Extent of all that was required, the Reward proportioned to that Work is not charged to Account, as Matter of Grace (c), but of Debt; and he may glory, at least in having diligently carned it. (Compare Chap. But to him who in this Sense worketh 5 not, who can by no Means pretend to have wrought all Righteousness, but humbly believeth

on him, who declareth the Freeness of pardoning Grace, and by that justifieth even the Ungodly if he repent and return, the Phrase used concerning Abraham may be appiled with the strictest Propriety, and it may be faid that, his Faith is imputed to him, or placed to his Account, for Righteousness, or to the Purpose of his being accepted, and treated by GoD as righteous. And [this is] very agreeable to what we read 6 elsewhere; particularly as David (Psal. xxxii. 1, 2.) describeth the Blessedness of the Man who is accepted of God, whom he speak " of as one, to " whom GOD, according to the Method of Pro-

(c) As of Grace.] Raphelius has shewn, that under dont only signify a Reward of Debt, but also a Gift of Favour; and that the Phrase under Superv occurs in Herodotus; so that a Reward of Grace or Favour is a Classical as well as Theological Expression .--- Could we be fure, that Abraham was once an Idolater, it would be some Illustration of the Apostle's Reasoning here; but the Validity of it by no Means depends upon that Fact.

" ceeding

- (d) II befo

Sect. 8. " ceeding we now maintain, imputeth Righteouf-"ness without any Supposition of, or Regard to, a former Series of good Works, supposed to

" a former Series of good Works, supposed to "have been performed by him," For he expresses himself thus, "Blessed are they whose Ini-" quities are pardoned, and whose Sins are, as it

"were, covered (d), by the Vail of Divine Mercy: Blessed is the Man to whom the Lord imputeth not Sin." Which plainly implies, that Sin had been committed by the best and happiest of Men, and that it is Matter of Mercy and Favour, that it is not charged to account, so that he should finally be condemned for it.

Now while we are speaking of this Blessedness of the pardoned and accepted Sinner, give me leave to ask [doth it come] upon the Circumcision [only,] or also on the Uncircumcision? The celebrated Instance we have just been mentioning will fhew, how far Circumcifion is from being necesfary to a Share in it. For [when] we fay, as above, that Faith was imputed to Abraham for Righteouf-How and when was it thus imputed, ness (e); and charged to his Account, in this View? When be was in Circumcisson, or in Uncircumcisson? [Truly] the History plainly shews us, that it was not in Circumcision, but in Uncircumcision; for it relates this important Circumstance of Abraham, as taking Place many Years before Circumcifion was imputethRighteousness without Works.

7 Saying, Bleffed are they whose Iniquities are forgiven, and whose Sins are covered.

8 Bleffed is the Man to whom the Lord will not impute Sin.

9 Cometh this Bleffedness then upon the Circumcission only, or upon the Uncircumcision also? For we say that Faith was reckoned to Abraham for Rightcousness.

10 How was it then reckoned? When he was in Circumcifion, or in Uncircumcifion, but in Uncircumcifion, but in Uncircumcifion.

(d) Whose Iniquity is pardoned, and whose Sin is covered.] Archbishop Leighton has so elegantly and beautifully illustrated these Words, that I must beg leave to refer those of my Readers, that cannot use his Latin Meditations on the 32d Ptalm, to review the English Translation of it, in the 2d Volume of his Expository Discourses; printed at Edinburgh, 1748.

instituted.

(e) Imputed to him for Righteousness.] I think nothing can be easier, than to understand, how this may be said in full Consistence with our being justified by the Imputation of the Righteousness of Christ, that is, our being treated by God as righteous, for the Sake of what he has done and suffered: For the this be the meritorious Cause of our Acceptance with God, yet Faith may be said to be imputed to us us drongoum, in Order to our being justified, or becoming righteous: That is, according to the View in which I have elsewhere more largely stated it, as we are charged as Debtors, in the Book of God's Account, what Christ has done, in suffilling all Righteousness for us, is charged as the grand Balance of the Account; but that it may appear, that we are, according to the Tenor of the Gospel, intitled to the Benefit of this, it is also entered in the Book of God's Remembrance, "that we are Believers:" And, this appearing, we are graciously discharged, yea and rewarded, as if we ourselves had been perfectly innocent and obedient. See my Sermons on Salvation by Grace, pag. 14---19, which Account is perfectly agreeable to what Witsus has remarked. Ocean. Fad. Lib. iii. Chap. viii. § 36.

(f) Many

11 And he received the Sign of Circumcifion, a Seal of the Righteousness of the Faith, which he had yet being uncircumcised: That he might be the Father of all them that believe, though they be not circumcifed; that Righteouspels might be imputed unto them also:

12 And the Father of Circumcifion to them who are not of the Circumcision only, but also walk in the Steps of that Faith of our Father Abraham, which he bad being yet uncircumcifed.

And it affures us, that be re- Sect. 8. instituted (f). ceived the Sign of Circumcision, not as the Means of making him acceptable to God when he was Rom.IV.II. not before so, but as the Token of his being already accepted; and therefore as the Seal of the Righteousness of that Faith, which he had in Uncircumcision (g): That so he might he the Father of all those who believe in Uncircumcision, that Righteousness may also be imputed unto them, that they may be justified in the same Means, and that it may be written down in the Book of God's And he re-Remembrance, that they are fo. ceived this Rite by Divine Appointment, that he might also be the Father of the Circumcision, that is, to those who should afterwards practise it, and were not only Partakers of the external Ceremony of Circumcision, which in itself indeed can have no Efficacy; but shall also walk in the Footsteps of that Faith of our Father Abraham, which he had in Uncircumcision, and which rendered him. fo dear to God, while he was in that state.

IMPROVEMENT

TF there be indeed such a Thing as Happiness to be enjoyed by mortal Man, it is the Portion of that Man, of whom David speaks, even of him, whose Iniquity is pardoned, and whose Sin is covered, and who Ver. 7, 8. enjoys the Manifestation of that Pardon. Well may he endure the greatest Afflictions of Life with Chearfulness, and look forward to Death with Comfort; when the Sting of all these Evils is taken out, and the returning Tokens of the Divine Favour convert them into Bleffings. Oh let us earnestly pray that this Happiness may be ours: That the great and glorious Being whom by our Sins we have offended, and in whom alone the Right and Power of Pardon resides, would spread the Vail of his Mercy

⁽f) Many Years before Circumcifion was inflituted.] 'Tis faid this Imputation was made ch Abraham's believing the Promise, Gen. xv. 6. shout a Year before the Birth of Ishmael; but he did not receive Circumcision till Ishmael was thirteen Years old, Gen. xvii. 27. and consequently, Abraham was declared justified at least fourteen Years before he was cir-⁽g) Seal of the Righteon Inefs of Faith.] This seems an uncontestable Proof, that Circumcision was a Seal of the Covenant of Grace, and not merely of temporal Promises; and confequently obviates the most considerable Objection that hash ever been urged against Infunt Baptism.

Reflections on the Happiness of a justified State.

Sect. 8. Mercy over our Provocations, and blot them out of the Book of his Remembrance!

54

Let us on the one Hand fix it in our Mind, that it is the Character of that Man, to whom this Blessedness belongs, that in his Spirit there is no Guile; and on the other, let us often reslect, that it is in Consequence of a Righteousness which GOD imputes, and which Faith receives and embraces. We are saved by a Scheme, that allows us not to mention any Works of our own, as if we had whereof to glory before GOD, but

Ver. 1, 2. any Works of our own, as if we had whereof to glory before GOD, but teaches us to ascribe our Salvation to believing on him who justifieth the Ungodly. Nor need we be ashamed of flying to such a method, to which Ver. 5. Abraham the Father of the Faithful had Recourse himself, and on which Ver. 1, 3. he built his eternal Hope. May we share his Disposition of Mind, that

We may inherit the same Promises; walking in the Footsteps of our Father Ver. 12. Abraham. So shall we also be called the Friends and Children of GOD, and sit down with Abraham Isaac and Jacob in his heavenly Kingdom.

SECT. IX.

In Order to recommend the Scheme of Justification, by believing GOD's Promises, the Apostle shows, that it was an illustrious Act of Faith, which entailed everlasting Honours on the great Patriarch Abraham; in which he was intended for an Example to us. Rom. IV. 13, to the End.

ROMANS IV. 13.

ROMANS IV. 13.

Sect. 9.

Rom.IV.13.

I HAVE spoken of Abraham, as the Father of uncircumcifed Believers, as well as those of the Circumcision; (Ver. 11, 12.) and that with evident Propriety; for the Promise to Abraham and bis Seed, that he should be Heir of the World (a), that is, that he should inherit all the Nations of the Earth, as a Seed that should be blessed

F OR the Promise that he should be the Heir of the World, was not to Abraham,

(b) Cannot

(a) Heir of the World.] Koomos cannot here fignify, as Infometimes does, one Country, or Land, how fine or large foever. It must therefore imply his inheriting a Seed out of all Nations, whom he might be said to posses, in such a Sense, as Children are said to be an Heritage, Psal. exxvii. 3. Compare Gen. iv. 1. Prov. xvii. 6. See also Psal. lxxxii. 8. Where God is said to inherit the Nations that are taken into his Family on the Profession of the true Religion.

Digitized by Google

Abraham, or to his Seed through the Law, but through the Righteousness of Faith.

14 For if they which are of the Law be Heirs, Faith is made void, and the Promise made of none Effect.

15 Because the Law worketh Wrath: For where no Law is, there is no Transgression.

16 Therefore it is of Faith, that it might be by Grace;

blessed in him, was not, and could not be by the Sect. 9. Law of Circumcifion, or of Moses; being as we have already observed prior to both; but it was by the Righteousness of Faith. God gave him that Promise on his exerting a remarkable Act of Faith, on which Gon in the most gracious and honourable Manner declared his Acceptance of him as righteous. Now if they who are of the Law, and depend upon that alone, [are] Heirs, exclusive of all others, as (some so eagerly contend,) then that Faith, which in the Instance before us was so eminently honoured of God, is made useless, and treated as a Thing of no Value; and so the Promise made to it is in Effect abrogated, the Performance of it being put, not only on new Conditions, but on fuch as cannot be perfectly performed in this finful State (b). For the Law of God, considered in itself alone, and without any Regard to that Grace, which, tho' it was in Fact mingled with it, yet makes no Part of the legal Dispensation as such; is so extensive and difficult, and we are so weak and sinful, that in Fact, instead of securing to us the promised Blessings, it only worketh Wrath, that is, it becomes to us accidentally an Occasion of Wrath, and exposes us to Punishment as Transgressors; for where there is no Law, either revealed or intimated, [there is] no Transgression; but the Multiplication of Precepts increases the Danger of offending, and the clearer Declaration of those Precepts aggravates the Guilt attending the But therefore [it,] that is, the Pro- 16 Violation. mise, and the Inheritance to which it relates, [is] of Faith, or annexed to it, that it [might be] of Grace, that God might magnify the Riches of his Grace in proposing Justification and Life to us in a Way, that might in Multitudes of Instances

(b) Cannot be perfectly performed.] This is here said with Reserence to a moral Impossibility. It seems evident from what follows that the Law is to be considered as insisting on an Obedience absolutely perfect; so that these good Men who were justified under it, were not justified by it, but by the Dispensation of Grace under which Abraham was, which, tho not a Part of the Covenant of God by Moses, was not and could not be abrogated by it. Compare Gal. iii. 17.

- (c) Like

Rom.IV.16.

Sect. 9. stances be effectual; that so the Blessing exhibi-! ted in the Promise might be firm, and secure to all the believing Seed; not only to that Part of his Descendents which was placed under the Dispensation of the Jewish Law, who are not indeed excluded from it, if they feek it in a proper Manner; but to that which is the Seed of that holy Patriarch, to whom the Promise was made, by a nobler Relation, even by a Participation of the Faith of Abraham, who is in this View the Fa-17 ther of us all: As it is written (Gen. xvii. 16.) I have made thee a Father, not of one Family alone to descend from Isaac, or Jacob, but of many Nations; so that he is in some Degree even like GOD himself (c), who is the Father of all good Men; like that almighty Being in whom he believed, as reanimating those who are dead, and calling into Action and Enjoyment Things that are not now in Existence, with the same Ease as those that are (d).

18

And fince I have begun to touch upon it, permit me, my Brethren, to animate your Faith, by dilating a little farther upon that of this illustrious Patriarch. It was he, who against all human and probable Hope, believed with an affured and joyful Hope on the Security of the Divine Word, that, unlikely as it seemed, he should be a Father of many Nations, according to that which was spoken to him, (Gen. xv. 5.) when he was called to take a View of the Stars of Heaven, and God faid, " so numerous and ag "glorious shall thy Seed be." And having received such a Promise, not being feeble in Faith, how feeble foever he might be in his animal Constitution, be considered not his own Body, which with Regard to the Probability of begetting Children was now dead, being about an hundred Years old; nor the Deadness of 'Sarah's Womb, of whom the facred Historian tells us, "that it ceased to

Grace; to the End the Promife might be fure to all the Seed, not to that only which is of the Law, but to that also which is of the Faith of Abraham, who is the Father of us all,

17 (As it is written, I have made thee a Father of many Nations) before him whom he believed, even God, who quickeneth the Dead, and calleth those Things which be not as though they were:

18 Who against Hope believed in Hope, that he might become the Father of many Nations; according to that which was spoken, So shall thy Seed be.

119 And being not weak in Faith, he considered not his own Body now dead, when he was about an hundred Years old, neither yet the Deadness of Sara's Womb.

(c) Like GOD.] So I think xaltvarls may here fignify; and accordingly it is rendered ad instar Dei by Paraus.

(d) Calling Things that are not.] That this is to be understood of summoning them, as it were, to rife into Being, and appear before him, Elsner has well proved on this Place.

(e) Fully

20 He staggered not at the Promise of God through Unbelief; but was strong in Faith, giving Glory to GoD:

21 And being fully perswaded, that what he had promised, he was able also to perform.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for Righteouinels.

23 Now it was not written for his Sake alone, that it was imputed to him;

24 But for us also, to whom it shall be imputed; if we believe on him that from the Dead.

25 Who was delivered for our Offences, and was raised again for our Justificabe with her after the Manner of Women:" (Gen. Sect. o. xviii. 11.) Amidst all these Difficulties and ! Discouragements, be objected not to the Promise of Rom, IV. 20. GOD through Unbelief, but was strengthened by the Exercise of the most vigorous and triumphant Faith, thereby giving a due and becoming Glory to the great GOD, the Lord of universal Nature; And was confidently persuaded, that what he had 21 thus graciously promised, be was, and ever is, able to perform; tho' that Performance should to sensible View seem ever so improbable. And therefore this heroick Faith was so acceptable to the Divine Being, that it was, as we have heard again and again, imputed or accounted to him for Righteousness, that is, in Order to his Justification. Neither was it written in the Sacred Records, which are to reach the remotest Ages, with Regard to bim only, or chiefly to do a personal Honour to that illustrious Patriarch. that it was thus imputed to him; But also for our fakes, to whom it, that is, the like Faith, raised up Jesus our Lord shall also be imputed, if we steadily believe in him, who not only brought Isaac as from the dead Womb of Sarah, but, in the most literal Sense, raised Jesus our Lord from the Dead, when he lay among them flain and mangled by his cruel Even that great and glorious Re-Enemies: deemer, who was delivered up to them by the determinate Counsel of God, that by his Death and Sufferings he might atone for our many Offences, and when he had fully fatisfied the Divine Justice for them (e), was raised again for our Justification; that putting our Trust in him, who was thus apparently discharged from all farther Claim upon him, as our Surety, we might obtain, by Virtue of our Relation to him, plenary Pardon and eternal Life.

(e) Fully fatisfied the Divine Justice for them, By fatisfying the Divine Justice, I mean, "doing all that was necessary, amply and perfectly to secure the Honour of the Divine "Government, in the Pardon and Acceptance of penitent and believing Sinners;" but I do not mean " the Payment of the Debt, in such a Sense as that our Engagements to Ho-" line's should be dispensed with, or in any Degree weakened, or our Obligation to the " free Grace of the Father in our Salvation transferred, or enervated." And I defire, it may be remembered, and attended to, throughout, that this is the sense in which I would use the Phrase, wherever it occurs in any of my Writings, and I hope it will not be found, that I have ever deviated from it.

Vol. IV.

H

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us continually bear in our Mind the great and venerable Example of our Father Abraham; labour to the utmost to trace his Steps; and baving Faith in GOD, who at his Pleasure quickeneth the Dead, and calleth Things which are not as if they were. If Sense were to judge, it would pronounce many of these Difficulties invincible, which lie in the Way of the Accomplishment of his Promises; but they shall all be fulfilled in their Season. Let us therefore be frong in Faith, remembering that thus it becomes us to glorify that GOD, who condescends so far as to engage the Honour of his Word for the Support of our Souls. He who bath promised is able to perform, for with him all Things are posfible. Already hath he done that for us which we had much less Reason to expect, than we now have to hope for any Thing that remains. He delivered his Son Jesus for our Offences, to redeem us by his Blood from final and everlasting Ruin. Let it be our daily Joy that he was raised again, for our Justification; Ver. 24. and let his Resurrection be continually considered as a noble Argument to establish our Faith in him who performed this illustrious Work of Pow-Ver.22,23. er and Mercy. So shall it be imputed to us likewise for Righteousness; yea, so shall the Righteousness of our Redeemer be reckoned as ours, to all the Purposes of our Justification and Acceptance with Gop. tho', by our Transgression of the Law, we can never inherit by any Ver. 14,15. Claim from that, which only worketh Wrath and Condemnation in Consequence of our Breach of it; yet shall we, by believing and obeying the Gospel, find the Promise sure to us, as the spiritual Seed of Abraham, and be for ever happy in the Enjoyment of that better Canaan; when every earthly Inheritance shall be no more found.

SECT.

SECT. X.

The Excellency of the Gospel Dispensation is farther illustrated; Believers being hereby brought into so happy a State, as turns even the heaviest Afflictions of Life into an Occasion of Joy. Rom. V. 1,---11.

ROMANS V. I.

Romans V. 1.

T Herefore being justified by Faith, we have Peace

TE have been reviewing the Manner, in Sect. 10. which Abraham, and David, those illustrious Patriarchs, looked for Justification and Rom. V. 1. Happiness, and in which we are to seek it, if we defire to succeed. We have been speaking of our adorable Saviour, as delivered for our Offences, and raifed again for our Justification. Let us now therefore reflect a little on those invaluable Benefits, which we who have embraced this Dispenfation, whether Jews or Gentiles, enjoy in Consequence of it. And here it is in the first Place evident, that being thus justified by Means of Faith in Christ, we have Peace with GOD (a). Our guilty Fears are filenced, and we are taught to look up to him with sweet Serenity of Soul, while we no longer conceive of him as an Enemy, but under the endearing Character of a Friend,

(a) We have Peace with GOD. It feems very unreasonable to suppose, that when the Apostle wrote such Passages, as this, and Epb. i. 1, -3. he should mean to exclude himself, who was no Gentile; they are not therefore to be expounded, as spoken particularly of the Gentiles: Nor could be furely intend by these grand Descriptions and pathetick Representations, to speak only of such external Priviledges as might have been common to Simon Magus, or any other hypocritical and wicked Professor of Christianity. And if he did not intend this, he must speak of all true Christians as such, and as taking it for granted, that those to whom he addressed this, and his other Epistles, were in the general such, tho' there might be some few excepted Cases, which he does not think it necessary often to touch upon. And this is, after all, the true Key to such Passages in his Epistles; and as such, I have used it throughout my Work; and as I have more particularly stated, and vindicated it in the Postscript, which I have added to the Preface of my Sermons on Regeneration, in the fecond Edition, I must beg leave to refer my Reader thither, and hope I shall be excepted from a more particular Examination of that very different Scheme of Interpretation, which Mr. Taylor has so laboriously attempted to revive. The main Principles of it are, I think, well confuted by my pious and worthy Friend Dr. Guyse in the Preface to his Paraphrase of this Epistle. H 2 (b) W.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 10. and a Father: even thro' the Mediation, and Peace with God, through Grace of our Lord Yesus Christ; By whom we have been introduced (b) by Means of Faith into that State of Grace and Acceptance, in which we now fland, with humble Boldness in his Prefence, and chearful Confidence, that nothing shall remove us from his Favour. And by a farther Consequence, we do not only rejoice in fome considerable present Priviledges, but boast in a pleasant and affured Hope of inheriting at length the Glory of GOD; a State of perpetual Splendor and Happiness in the House and Prefence of our Heavenly Father, in which he will, as it were, adorn us with the Rays of his own Glory. And not only do we so boast in this Hope, but we also glory in our Tribulation (c) and Affliction, which far from esteeming, as the Jews are ready to do, any Token of Reprobation or Displeasure, we look upon as being, in this Connection, the Allotment of God's paternal Love to us; that we may thereby be enabled to do him a more fingular Honour, and be prepared. for a more exalted Happiness: Knowing that Tribulation, under the Influence of Divine Grace, worketh a calm, filent, humble Patience, a most beautiful and happy Disposition of Mind, which is daily strengthened by Exercise; ' And this Patience produceth such an Experience of God's supporting Goodness, and such Proof of our own fincere Faith (d), strict Integrity, and stea-

our Lord Jesus Christ,

2 By whom also we have Access by Faith into this Grace wherein we stand. and rejoice in Hope of the Glory of God.

3 And not only so, but we glory in Tribulations also, knowing that Tribulation worketh Patience;

4 And Patience, Experience:

(b) We have been introduced, In approayer in equival Raphelius has shewn from Herodetus, that moodaywyn is often used as a Sacerdotal Phrase, and signifies " being with great "Solemnity introduced, as into the more immediate Presence of a Deity in his Temple, " fo as by a supposed Interpreter, from thence called προιαχωχευς, the Introducer, to have " a Kind of Conference with fuch a Deity."

dy

(c) We glory also in Tribulation.] The Jews might object to the Persecution of Christians, (as we know they did to that of their Master,) as inconsistent with what they concluded, would be the State of the People of the Meffiah. 'Tis therefore with great Propriety, that the Apostle so often discourses on the Benefit arising from the Sufferings of true Believers, by which he lays in the strongest Answer to any such Insinuation. And this Delicacy of Address is so apparent in many Passages of the Epistles, that I should swell the Notes too much, if I were accurately to trace it.

(d) Proof of our Faith.] Monf. Saurin very justly observes, that the Word Sourun has this Signification, and in a Metaphor, taken from Gold proved by purifying Fire. Compare

1 Pet. i. 7. See Ecclus. ii. 5. Saur. Ser. Vol. vii. pag. 159.

(e) Died

rience; Hope:

5 And Hope maketh not ashamed because the Love of God is shed abroad in our Hearts, by the Holy Ghost which is given unto and Experience, dy Resolution for him, as we are sure will be Sect. 10. acceptable to him; and therefore this Experience and Proof of our Graces, which like pure Gold Rom. V. 4. brighten in the Furnace, worketh a more lively and triumphant Hope of a glorious future Re-And this Hope sublime, and confident ward; as it is, does not shame and confound [us] with Disappointment; yea we know it cannot, because we have already within ourselves the very Beginning of that Heaven, at which it aspires. For the Love of GOD, in the Perfection of which the Blessedness of that celestial World consists, is, in a plentiful Effusion, poured into our Hearts by his Holy Spirit, which is given unto us, and enables us to see his Love amidst all his Corrections, and to delight ourselves daily in him; tho for the present he appoint us Trials which may feem ever fo rigorous.

6 For when we were yet without Strength in due Time Christ died for the Ungodly.

Now all these invaluable Priviledges and 6 Hopes, which make our Lives so joyful amidst fuch various Tribulations and extreme Sufferings, are to be traced up to the Death of Christ, and resolved into his Love; for when we were yet in a weak and languishing, infirm and helpless State, destitute of all these Divine Principles and Hopes; yea incapable of delivering ourselves from the Depths of Guilt and Misery, into which we were plunged, Christ most seasonably died for us, even in the Stead of the Ungodly (e), for Jews and Gentiles, when they were, as we have proved before, all under Sin.

Now

(e) Died in the Stead of the Ungodly.] By Ungodly here Mr. Locke understands Gentiles, as also by weak, Sinners, Enemies, &c. They are undoubtedly included; but it feems very inconsistent with the whole Strain of the Apostle's Argument in the preceeding Chapters, to confine it to them. Compare Chap. iii. 9,—20, 22, 23. Chap. iv. 5. Chap. v. 20. I therefore all along explain such Passages in the most extensive Sense; and think nothing in the whole New Testament plainer, than that the Gospel supposes every human Creature, to whom it is addressed, to be in a state of Guilt and Condemnation, and incapable of being accepted with God, any otherwise than thro' the Grace and Mercy which it proclaims. Compare John iii. 16, 36. Chap. v. 24. 1 John iii. 14. Mark xvi. 15, 16. Luke xxiv. 47. and especially I John i. 10. than which no Assertion can be more positive and express. Albert (Obferv. Sacr. pag. 304.) has well proved that xala xaiper should be rendered feasonably; and Raphelius (Not. ex Acn. in ver. 8.) has abundantly demonstrated, that was nuar exodern signifies Signification, than that of rescuing the Life of another at the Expence of our own: And the very next Verse shews, independent on any other Authority, how evidently it bears that

Senfe

Now (f) this is a most memorable Thing. and worthy our frequent, attentive and affectio-Rom. V. 7. nate Consideration. For scarcely would one be willing to die in the Stead of a righteous Man, tho' we apprehended him in the most immediate Danger; [if] perhaps in the Stead of a remarkably good and benevolent Man (g), one would even dare to die: For certainly it is but here and there one, in a great Multitude, who would be willing to redeem the most eminently useful Life at the Price of his own. But GOD bath recommended bis aftonishing Love towards us, and set it off as it were with this grand Circumstance of high Embellishment, if I may so speak, that when we were yet Sinners, and therefore not only undeserving of his Favour, but justly obnoxious to Wrath and Punishment, Christ died in our Stead, that our Guilt might be cancelled, and we brought into a State of Divine Acceptance. 9 Since therefore it hath pleased the blessed God to give us fuch an unexampled Display of his Love as this, how high may our Expectations rife, and how chearfully may we conclude that much more being now justified by the Efficacy of bis most precious Blood, we shall be saved from Wrath by bim!

7 For scarcely for a right teous Man will one die: Yet peradventure for a good Man some would even dare to die.

8 But Gop commendeth his Love toward us, in that while we were yet Sinners, Christ died for us.

9 Much more then, being now justified by his Blood, we shall be saved from Wrath through him.

Sense here; as one can hardly imagine any one would die for a good Man, unless it were to redeem his Life by giving up his own. How much higher, not only Grotius, but LeClerc, carried their Explications of this great Doctrine, than some Moderns have done, may be seen by consulting Grotius's Gloss on 1 Pet. ii. 19. (de Satiss. Cap. ix.) and LeClere on John i. 29

(f) Now: yas.] It is very evident, that yas cannot have the Force of an illative Partiale here, or in the preceeding Verse; and it is hardly possible to number all the Passages in Paul's Writings, to which the like Remark may be applied.

(g) Righteous, -good.] 'Tis true, that in one Senie Righteousness must include Goodness, as we owe to every Man a benevolent Affection, and are bound in Duty to God to de all the Good we can to the whole human Species. But be may in common Speech be called a just or righteous Man, who gives to every one what is by Law his Due; and he a good or benevolent Man, who voluntarily abounds in kind and generous Actions, to which no human Laws can compel him. Tully has the like Distinction, (de Offic. Lib. I. Chap. x. Edit. Pierc.) and it is admirably illustrated by Raphelius (Not. ex Xen. in Lec.) by apposite Quotations from other ancient Writers. It may very possibly, (as Godwyn has shewn in his Jewish Antiquities, Lib. I. Cap. ix.) bear some Allusion to a Distribution of Mankind into the three Classes, חסרום, צרקים, and Sinners, which fome Rabbinical Writers mention.—All the Beauty and Grace of this Passage is lost, by reading as ne instead of swam, as the Editor of the New Verfion of 1727 does; without, as I can find, any fingle Authority: For a wicked Man no one would willingly die, the' for a Benefactor some bave readily offered to die. And exacts dont signify merely a personal Benefacter, but in general a benevolent Man.

For we can never imagine that God would pro- Sect. 10. vide at so expensive a Rate for our Justification, and then finally leave us under Wrath; tho' we Rom. V. 9. have acquiesced in the Scheme of his Grace for our Deliverance.

ro For if when we were Enemies, we were reconciled to Gop by the Death of his Son: Much more being reconciled, we shall be faved by his Life.

For if, as I have already maintained, when we 19 were Enemies, through the Perversencis of our Minds, and the Rebellion of our Lives, we were reconciled to GOD by the Death of his own dear Son, and if foreseeing we should fall into this State of Hostility, he made this wonderful Provision for our being admitted to Terms of Peace; bow much more being thus reconciled, shall we be faved from Misery, and made compleatly happy by his recovered Life, now he is risen from the Dead and ascended to Glory?

IMPROVEMENT.

JITH what Extalles of holy Joy may we justly survey these inestimable Privileges, the blessed Consequences of having embraced the Gospel, and being justified by Faith unseigned! How great a Ver. 1. Happiness to have Peace with GOD, with that omnipotent Being, who can at Pleasure arm all Nature against us, or for us! To bave access to bim Ver. by Jesus Christ, and daily converse with him as our Father in Heaven! To rejoice in an affured Hope of enjoying Glory with Christ, in his Presence; yea of enjoying the God of Glory. To see all Affliction not only difarmed, but turned into Matter of Triumph, while Tribulation work- Ver. 3, 4. eth Experience, Patience and Hope! So may all our Tribulations work, and be they ever so severe, they will be Reasons for our Joy and Praise. The Pain of them will soon be over; the happy Consequences of them will be as lasting as our immortal Souls.

Let us endeavour to dilate our Hearts, that we may receive the largest Effusions of the Love of GOD, to be shed abroad there. The Love of Yer. 5. God! That Plant of Paradife, which will spring up unto eternal Life. And to excite it, let us be daily meditating upon the rich Wonders of redeeming Love and Grace; adoring that feasinable interposition of Divine Ver. 6. Mercy, that when we were weak and guilty Creatures, when we lay for ever helpless under a Sentence of everlasting Condemnation, that is, when we appeared thus in the Eyes of him, who beholdeth Things which Ver. 7. are not as if they were, Christ died for us, and gave a Token of his Love even for the worst of Sinners, which few among the Children of Men are willing to give, with Respect to the most upright and benevolent of

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 10. their Brethren. Since the Love of God comes thus recommended, let us cordially embrace it, and awaken all the Powers of our Souls to a diligent Care to secure the happy Fruits; that we may not receive the Grace of GOD in vain. If we do indeed experience in ourselves, not only that there is a Foundation laid for our Reconciliation, but that we are actually ver. 10. reconciled to God by the Death of bis Son, our Hopes may rise high, that we skall much more obtain consummate Salvation by his Life. For surely it is infinitely more astonishing, that the Son of God should die to reconcile Enemies, than that having subdued their Hearts by his dying Love, and received them to Friendship as the Purchase of his Blood, he should imploy his recovered Life and extensive Authority for their Protection, and compleat Salvation.

SECT. XI.

The Apostle shews, that the Calamities brought by the first Adam on his Seed are repaired with glorious Advantage to all, who by Faith become interested in the second Adam. Rom. V. 11, to the End.

ROMANS V. 11.

ROMANS V. 11.

Sect. 11. I HAVE been breathing out our Hopes, and our Joys, as we are Christians, and are taught by the Principles of our Divine Religion to rejoice, not only in the Prospect of Glory, but even in Tribulation itself. And now I must add, that it is not only [fo,] but that there is another grand Consideration, which, tho' not yet mentioned, lies at the Root of all our Considence and Happiness; which is this, that we boast in GOD as invariably our covenant God, and Father thro' Jesus Christ our Lord, by whom we have now, in these late Times, received the great and important Reconciliation (a), which

AND not only fo, but we also joy in God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the Atonement.

⁽a) Received the Reconciliation.] The Word relathann here has so apparent a Reserence to relathanner and relathantels in the preceding Verse, that its surprizing it should have been rendered by so different a Word in our Version; especially as it is so improper to speak of our receiving an Atonement, which God receives as made for our Sins.

(b) Therefore.

which not only averts the Terrors of his Wrath; Sect. 11. but opens upon us all the Bleffings of his perpetual Friendship and Love.

12 Wherefore, as by one Man Sin entered into the World, and Death by Sin; and so Death passed upon all Men, for that all have sinned.

And therefore (b) we may from these Premifes infer, that the Benefit which we Believers receive from Christ (c), is equal to the Detriment we receive from Adam; yea, is on the whole greater than that; for we now obtain Righteousness and Life from one; as by one Man, that is, Adam, the common Father of the human Species, Sin entered into the new made World, and Death, before unknown in the Creation of God, entered by Sin; and so Death passed on from one Generation to another upon all Men; unto which all have finned in him (d), that is, they are fo far involved in the Consequence of his first Transgression, as by Means of it are become obnoxious And that this was indeed the Case, 13 to Death. and this Offence the Engine of Mortality in the whole human Species, we may infer from one very obvious Fact, I mean the Death of Infants, from the very Beginning; for from the Fall of Adam unto the Time when God gave the Law by Moses, as well as after it, Sin was, and appeared to be in the World, by the continual Execution of its Punishment, that is, Death.

13 For until the Law, Sin was in the World: But

(b) Therefore.] Duals certainly does often fignify in this Respect; but there are some Inflances even among the Texts collected by Mr. Taylor here, in which it may as well be rendered therefore: Particularly Mat. xiii. 13. John ix. 23. Chap. xii. 18. Chap. xiii. 2. I Cor. iv. 17. Chap. xi. 30. Epb. i. 15. In all which Places our Rendering seems preferable to what he would propose.

(c) We Believers.] As this 12th Verse is an Inference from the 11th, it seems evident that they only are spoken of; for it is plain from comparing the 9th 10th and 11th Verses with the 1st, that it is only they, who are justified by Faith, who have Peace with GOD, and who joy in him by Christ as having received the Reconciliation. And this obvious Remark clears the following Passage of Dissiputies, which would be exceeding great, if it were to to be considered without Regard to this Connection, and which have in Fact, misled many Commentators; who for Want of attending to it, have plunged themselves and their Readers into great Perplexity, and given a Sense to the Paragraph, of which it is by no Means capable.

(d) Unto which all have finned: to & nawles nuaplor.] Elsner (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 26.) would render it, on Account of whom; and he produces some remarkable Authorities for it; (Compare Phil. iii. 12. Rom. x. 19. Chap. xvi. 19. I Thest. iii. 7.) but I think those produced by Mr. Taylor (from Gal. v. 13. Eph. ii. 19. I Thest. iv. 7. 2 Tim. ii. 14.) with the Use of the Particles in some of the purest Greek Classics, sufficient to support his Rendering, which I have here followed. See his Scripture Doctrine of Original Sin, Part I.

po. 51, &c. Note. VOL. IV.

(e) Likenefs

Digitized by Google

Sect. 11. it is a self-evident Principle that Sin is not, and Sin is not imputed when cannot be, imputed, where there is no Law; fince Rom. V. 13. the very Essence of Sin is the Violation of a Law. And consequently, if we see in Fact that Sin was imputed, we must conclude that the Persons, to whose Account it appears to have been

- 14 charged, were under some Law. Nevertheless it is certain Death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over Infants as well as others, over those I say, who had not sinned, according to the Likeness of the Transgression of Adam (e), that is, who had never in their own Persons offended God, as Adam their Father did; who, with Respect to the Extent of his Actions to all his Seed, was the Figure, or Model (f), of him who was to come (g), that is, a Kind of Type of the Messiah, as being a publick Person and fæderal Head.
- 15 Yet I must observe by the Way, that with Respect to the free Gift of God in the Gospel-Dispensation, it [is] not exactly as the Offence, nor limited in all Respects as that is; for if by the Offence of one many died, if the whole human Family, numerous as it is, became obnoxious to Death and Destruction thereby; how much more hath the free Grace of GOD, and the Gift

there is no Law.

14 Nevertheless, Death reigned from Adam to Mofes, even over them that had not finned after the Similitude of Adam's Transgresfion, who is the Figure of him that was to come:

15 But not as the Offence, so also is the free Gift. For if through the Offence of one many be dead; much more the Grace of God, and the Gift by Grace,

(e) Likeness of Adam's Transgression.] Mr. Locke and several more interpret this of the Gentiles, who did not fin against a positive Law. But they might certainly have died for their Transgression against the natural Law, under which they were born, and for which the Apostle expressly affects, not only that they were in Fact liable to perish, (Chap. ii. 12, G.)

but that they knew they were worthy of Death, (Chap. i. ult.)

(f) Figure, or Model.] That the Word Turns has this Signification will appear from Acts vii. 44. Rom. vi. 17. Phil. iii. 17. I Thess. i. 7. 2 Thess. iii. 9. I Tim. iv. 12. Tit.

ii. 7. Heb. viii. 5. I Pet. v. 3.
(g) Of him who was to come: γε μελλονίος.] Here is evidently an Ellipsis. Most Commentators have explained it as referring to the great Person that was to come, or in other words the future [Adam,] that is, Christ. But Sir Norton Knatchbull would explain it of Mankind to come. He thinks that Adam cannot with any Propriety be called a Type of Christ, as the Type of a Thing is its Shape, Model, or Representation; and therefore if the Thing be good, the Type of it must be so too. Dr. Milner, in Vindication of this Interpretation, observes, that this will best agree with the Apostle's Design. For if Adam was to be confidered as a publick Person, the Type, Figure or Representation of Mankind, his Conduct will, as the Apostle fays it does, affect Infants. Dr. Milner's Fading Flowers of Life, pag. 14.---But it may be sufficient to answer, that upon the common Interpretation, there was plainly a Correspondence between Christ and Adam, as each was a publick Head, tho' the Influence of each on his respective Seed was different; so that the whole Reasoning of both these learned and ingenious Writers seems inconclusive.

(b) Thankfully

Grace, which is by one Man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.

16 And not as it was by one that finned, so is the Gift: For the Judgment was by one to Condemnation: But the free Gift is of many Offences unto Justification.

17 For if by one man's Offence Death reigned by one; much more they which receive Abundance of Grace, and of the Gift of Righteoutness, thall reign in Life by one, Jesus Christ.

[which is granted] by that Grace, as manifested Sect. 11. and displayed in that one greater and better Man Rom. V. 15. Jesus Christ, abounded to many, that is, to all the numerous Family of Believers.

And this in two very important Respects. In the first Place, the Gift [is] not merely, as the Ruin that came upon us by one that sinned, in Respect to the Number of Offences in Question; for the Sentence of but one [Offence paffed] upon us to Condemnation; and we were no farther affected by the subsequent Sins of Adam, than by those of any intermediate Parent: But the Gift of Divine Grace, exhibited in the Gospel, [is effectual] to our Justification from the Guilt of many Offences. It not only delivers us from the Sentence, to which we were from our Birth liable on Account of Adam's Sin, but from that more grievous and dreadful Sentence, which we had brought upon ourselves in adult Life by our innumerable and aggravated personal Transgressions. there is another important Article in which the Grace of the Gospel exceeds the seeming Severity, which attended the Imputation of Guilt from our first Father Adam; namely, that if by one Man's Offence Death reigned by one, over all his Posterity, as we observed above, they who thankfully and obediently receive (b) the overflowing Abundance of free Grace, and of the munificent Gift of Righteousness exhibited in the Gospel, shall much more reign in Life by the one great Restorer and Recoverer of his Seed, even Jesus Christ; that is, Believers shall by him be brought to a much nobler and more excellent Life, than that from which Adam fell, and which they lost in him.

Therefore

(b) Thankfully and chediently receive.] It is so very plain, that the abundant Reign in Life by Jesus Christ, is appropriated to Persons of a particular Character, expressed here by receiving the Gift, that it is surprizing any should have spoken of it as common to the whole human Race. And nothing is more evident, than that the Word Aaubaw has often this Sense, and signifies being active in embracing a Benefit proposed, or a Person offering himself under a Character of Importance. Compare John i. 11, 12. Chap. iii. 11, 32. Chap. v. 43. Chap. xii. 48. Chap. xiii. 20. Jam. v. 10. 1 John v. 9. 2 John 10. 3 70hn 7.

Digitized by Google

' (i) As

Therefore on the whole you fee, as I begun to observe to you before (i), that as [the Consequence] of Rom. V. 18. one Offence, on the one Hand, [extended] to all Men, to bring Condemnation upon them, so also, on the other Side, [the Consequence] of one grand Act of Righteousness [extended] to all Men, who receive and embrace it; securing to them that Justification, which will be crowned with the Enjoyment of eternal Life. For as by the Disobedience of one Man many were constituted Sinners, that is, became obnoxious to Death, as if they themselves had sinned; so by the compleat and persevering Obedience of one many shall be constituted Righteous (k), that is, they shall be treated as fuch in the Day of God's final Account; tho' they have no perfect Righteousness of their own to plead, in Consequence of which they should stand before God, and claim the Reward.

But as for the Law of Moses, that could not possibly procure this great Benefit to them; for that made a little entrance (1), that is, took Place among comparatively a very small Number of Mankind for a few Ages, that the Offence might, instead of being removed, abound much more than before; as in Consequence of it many Things became offensive to God, which were before indifferent, and the Guilt of moral Of-18 Therefore, as by the Offence of one Judgment came upon all Men to Condemnation: Even so by the Righteousness of one, the free Gift came upon all Men unto Justification of Life.

19 For as by one Man's Disobedience many were made Sinners: So by the Obedience of one shall many be made Righteous.

20 Moreover, the Law entered, that the Offence might

(i) As I begun to observe, &c.] This 18th Verse seems connected with the End of the 12th; and all the intermediate Verses do undoubtedly come in as a Parenthesis; and the Reader, by perusing the interwoven Text alone, will observe, that these Verses, viz. 12th, 18th, 19th, make one continued Sentence. But I judged it necessary here, and elsewhere, to break the Paraphrase into several Sentences, lest the excessive Length should have rendered the Sense obscure, and the Passage unwieldly and disagreeable. Many of Paul's Sentences are, as they stand in the Text, obscured by the Length. Compare 2 Cor. xii. 14. Chap. xiii.

(k) Many shall be constituted Righteous.] To become liable to Death for the Offence of another, is indeed being thereby constituted a Sinner, or treated as a Sinner; since Death is, in its primary View, to be considered as the Wages of Sin, or the Animadversion of a righteous God upon it: But simply to be raised from the Dead is not being made righteous, or treated as a righteous Person; since it is a very supposable Case, and will in Fact be the Case of Millions, that a Sinner may be raised in Order to more condign and dreadful Punishment. The whole Interpretation therefore, which Mr. Taylor has given of this Text, in this View, appears to me destitute of a sufficient Foundation.

(1) Made a little entrance.] So mapsionals properly fignifies, and is well rendered by the Vulgate, subintravit; in which Sense massionals used, Gal. ii. 4. Thus the partial and limited Entrance of the Law is distinguished from that universal Entrance of Sin, which passed on all, as Mr. Locks well observes. This I think preferable to Mr. L'Enfant's rendering it, the Law intervened, that is, between Adam and Christ.

(m) Grace

Sin abounded, Grace did much more abound:

Lord.

· 21 That as Sin hath reigned unto Death, even so might Grace reign thro' Righteousness unto eternal Life, by Jesus Christ our might abound: But where fences was aggravated by so express a Declara- Sect. 11. tion of the Rule of Duty, violated by them: Rom. V. 20. So that on the whole, it seemed intended to convince and humble, rather than to justify. on the whole, God hath taken an Occasion to glorify the Riches of his Mercy by that Dispenfation, and where Sin has abounded under the most aggravating Circumstances, Grace bath superabounded, so as thereby to gain a superior and more illustrious Triumph. That as Sin had 21 reigned in the wide and universal Devastation, which Death had made on those whom it had brought under that fatal Sentence, so Grace might reign to such a Degree, as to bestow eternal Life and Happiness, thro' the glorious and compleat Righteousness (m) which we obtain by Jesus Christ our Lord, when we fincerely believe in him as our Saviour, and give up our Souls to the Authority of his equitable and auspicious Government.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us daily remember our Relation to Gon by Christ Jesus, and Ver. 11. I glory in this Relation; saying frequently, " He is indeed our Fa-"ther. This God with all his adorable, unfathomable, immutable " Perfections is our God. He will be our Guide unto Death, and our " Portion for ever. My Soul shall make ker Boast in the Lord. What "Relation can be so honourable, what can afford such an unfailing

" Spring of perpetual Joy!"

Let us honour him in all his Dispensations; even those which may appear the most mysterious. In this Number we are undoubtedly to reckon his constituting Adam the Covenant-Head of his Posterity, and involving our Life or Death in him; yea, adjusting the Relation so, that our spiritual State should be greatly affected by his Conduct, and we should. by his Transgression become the Heirs, not only of Death but of moral Pollution, and ultimately by Virtue of our Descent from him, be shapen in Iniquity and conceived in Sin.

It is a Consideration which must earry Awe and Solemnity, Grief and Lamentation throughout all Ages, that by one Man Sin entered into the Ver. 12.

World.

[m] Grace might reign to eternal Life thro' Righteousness, &c.] This Trajection the Sense absolutely requires.

Digitized by Google

Reslections on the Sin of Adam and the Grace of Christ.

Sect. 11. World, and Death made such a Progress by the Entrance of Sin, as to pass upon all Men in Consequence of that Act. Oh God how terrible are thy Judgments! And yet how rich thy Compassion, in appointing the second Adam, to repair the Ruin and Desolations of the First! Yea, more than to repair them; to deliver us from all our most aggravated Trasgresgressions, if we believe in him, and receive the Gift of Righteousness!

70

Ver. 17. To cause us to reign in Life by him! To bring us to a more exalted, and secure Happiness, than Adam himself enjoyed in the Day in which he was created, or than Eden, the Garden of God, could afford!

Ver. 20. Let us adore these Superaboundings of Divine Grace, and its Reign unto eternal Life. And let all our Knowledge of the Law of GOD, our Distress under a Sense of having broken it, and being thereby exposed to its condemning Sentence, be considered as illustrating the Riches of that Grace, whereby we are saved, and so animate us to Returns of the humblest Gratitude, and a persevering Obedience. Amen.

SECT. XII.

The Apostle shews, that the Gospel, far from dissolving our Obligations to practical Holiness, does strongly increase them; which is a Consideration tending highly to recommend it to the Esteem and Acceptance of all. Rom. VI. 1,---14.

Romans VI. 1.

Sect. 12.

HUS we have asserted the Doctrine of Justification by Faith, or in other Words, of Salvation by Grace. And now let us consider, how it is to be improved. What shall we say then, concerning the practical Inferences to be drawn from it (a)? Shall we say, let us continue in the habitual Practice of Sin, that Grace may abound so much the more, in pardoning and saving us?

God forbid, that such an unworthy Thought should ever arise in our Hearts. We have

Romans VI. 1.

WHAT shall we say then? Shall we continue in Sin, that Grace may abound?

2 Gop forbid: How shall

(b) Dead

⁽a) What shall we say then, &c.] The Aposse here sets himself more fully to clear and vindicate the Doctrine he taught, from the Consequence suggested before, Chap. iii. 7, 8. He had then only in strong Terms denied, and renounced it, but here removes the very Foundation of it.

shall we that are dead to Sin, live any longer therein?

have disclaimed the consequence above, (Chap. Sect. 12. iii. 7, 8.) and we most solemnly disclaim it . again. We, who are dead to Sin (b), we, who Rom. VI. 2. by our Profession are under such sacred Engagements to mortify it with the greatest Care, how shall we yet live in it? Surely it were the grossest Contradiction that can be imagined. On the contrary it is apparent, that nothing has fo great a Tendency to animate us to avoid Sin, and to enable us to conquer it, as this Doctrine of Gospel Grace.

3 Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ, were baptized into his Death?

4 Therefore we are buried with him by Baptism into Death: That like as Christ was raised up from the Dead by the Glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in Newness of Life.

What, Sirs, know ye not, and is it possible, that 3 any of you should be ignorant of this great and obvious Truth, that as many of us as have been baptized into Jesus Christ(c), that is, into the Profession of the Christian Faith; which is the Case of us all; have been baptized into his Death, and engaged to conform to the great Purposes of it; which we know were to abolish Sin? (1 Pet iv. Therefore, as this is 4 I John iii. 5.) the known Obligation of this folemn initiatory Ordinance, it may be faid, that we are buried with him in that Baptism (d) which we received, as bringing us into a Kind of Fellowship in [bis] Death; most evidently for this Purpose, that as Christ was raised from the Dead by the Glory of the Father, and the Operation of his illustrious, tho' mysterious Power; so we also should continue, during the Remainder of our Days, to walk in Newness of Life; maintaining a Course

(b) Dead to Sin.] Elsner shews, how frequently moral Writers among the Heathers speak of wise and good Men, as dead to Sensualities and animal Pleasures. Elsner, Ob*ferv. Vol.* ii. pag. 28.

(c) Baptized into Jesus Christ.] As the Church at Rome scems to have been planted about the Year 43, and this Epistle was written in the Year 58, that is 15 Years after, and yet the Apostle speaks of the converted Romans in general as baptized, it must be supposed, as Dr. Gale well argues, that Baptism was administred to those, whose Parents had been Christians at the Time of their Birth. Compare Col. ii. 12. See Gale's Sermons, Vol. ii. pag. 202, 203.

(d) Buried with him in Baptism.] It seems the Part of Candor to confess, that here is an Allusion to the Manner of baptizing by Immersion, as most usual in these early Times; but that will not prove this particular Circumstance to be effential to the Ordinance; and, in whatever Manner it was administred, if it were intended as a Declaration of Faith in the Death and Resurrection of Christ; as it is well known Christ died for Sin; it would inter an Obligation to die to it, and rise again to a holy Life, which is the main Point the Apottle labours.

(r) Made

Sect. 12. of Conduct and Actions intirely different from the former. For furely these two must go to-Rom. VI.5 gether; and we may conclude, that if we are thus made to grow together in the Likeness of his Death (e), so also shall we be united [in the Likeness] of [his] Resurrection, and shall rise up to a Life spiritually new, as he rose to immortal Life As we know this, that our old 6 and Vigour; Man, that is, the whole System of our former Inclinations and Dispositions, which did by a fatal Contagion spread themselves over the whole Man, and were incorporated with it, bath now, as it were, been crucified together [with Christ,] the Remembrance and Confideration of his Cross co-operating in the most powerful Manner with all the other Motives, which the Gospel suggests, to destroy the former Habits of Sin, and to infpire us with an Aversion to it; that so the Body of Sin, of which this old Man did as it were confift, might be encryated, deposed and destroyed (f); that we might no longer be in Bondage to Sin; as we were, before we were so happy, as to know the Gospel, and the Efficacy of this great 7 Doctrine of a crucified Saviour. For he that is thus dead with Christ is fet at Liberty from Sin(g); Sin being crucified to him and he to Sin, on the

- 5 For if we have been planted together in the Likeness of his Death: We shall be also in the Likeness of his Resurrection:
- 6 Knowing this, that our old Man is crucified with him, that the Body of Sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve Sin.

- 7 For he that is dead, is freed from Sin.
- (e) Made to grow together.] Dr. Wells observes, that this is the most exact Import of συμφυίοι, and that it dont signify merely being planted together.—As there is something harsh in the Construction of ει and αλλα here, Beza would for αλλα read αμα; but Raphelius in his Notes from Herodotus has produced many parallel Constructions, in which αλλα signifies, fo. As for the Future εσομεθα, he shews that it fignifies a necessary Consequence from the Premises.

Principles

- (f) Enervated, deposed and destroyed: xalapynon.] We render it destroyed, not only tormented, or enseebled, but utterly slain; and so the same Word is rendered 2 Thess. ii. 18. and 1 Cor. xv. 26. perhaps not with exact Propriety, Heb. ii. 14. The utter Destruction of the Body of Sin in us is certainly intended in the Gospel, but the particular Import of this Word is to make void, debilitate, enervate, disanul, abolish, or depose. Compare Rom. iii. 31. Chap. iv. 14. 1 Cor. ii. 6. Chap. xiii. 8. Chap. xv. 24. Eph. ii. 15. 2 Tim. i. 10. I have joined the Significations in the Paraphrase, and given the Version, which appears to me most exactly to answer the Import of the Original. The Body of Sin in Believers is indeed an enseebled, conquered and deposed Tyrant, and the Stroke of Death sinishes its Destruction.
- (g) Set at Liberty.] Described fignifies to be justified, or vindicated; and here it seems to import being delivered from future Claims of Subjection. But this Sense is so uncommon, that I am much in Doubt, whether it might not be rendered justified here, to intimate that a Sense of Justification by the Cross of Christ is the great Means of our Delivery from the Bondage of Sin, as it animates and excites us to shake off its Yoke.

(b) Instrument

8 Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him:

9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the Dead, dieth no more; Death hath no more Dominion over him.

to For in that he died, he died unto Sin once: But in that he liveth, he liveth unto God.

11 Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto Sin; but alive unto God, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

12 Let not Sin therefore reign in your mortal Body, and destroys the oppressive Power which might before be exercised. And let me farther remind you, that, as we are Christians, we believe that if we be thus dead with Christ, we shall also live together with him. We expect ere long to share with Christ in the compleat Holiness and Glory of the Heavenly World; and you will eafily understand, and I hope, easily feel the Obligation, which that Hope lays upon us, not only to cease from Sin, but thro' his Grace to culti-We should ever be q vate universal Holiness. under the Influence of these Views, even to the very End of our Course, as we know that Christ being raised from the Dead, dies no more; Death no more reigneth over him, as it seemed for a while to do. And thus your immortal Life and Happiness, if you pursue it according to his Direction and Intention, is secure. For whereas be died, be died once for all, as a Sacrifice for fin, to atone the injured Justice of God, and repair the Honours of his violated Law. And as he liveth, he liveth to GOD for ever: His immortal Life is intirely appropriated and devoted to his Service, wherein we ought to make it our constant Care Suffer therefore the to imitate his Example. Word of Exhortation, grounded on this important Principle, and so do ye also reckon yourselves to be once for all dead unto Sin, never to return under its Power any more; and being thus made alive, let it be your Care, in Imitation of your Divine Master, to devote your recovered Life to the Honour and Service of GOD in Christ Jesus our Lord, whose Pattern and Authority, in such a Relation, concur to demand it of us. Therefore let not Sin reign as an uncontroulable Sovereign, now you have another Lord, fo much greater and better; let not the irregular Inclinations of your Minds, when they may move in your mortal Bodies, give Law to them. The early Conquest of Sin over human Nature hath, alas, reduced them to the fad State of Mortality: But Principles mentioned before: Just as the Death Sect. 12. either of the Master or the Slave, and much Rom. VI. 7. more evidently of both, dissolves the Relation,

8

- -

•

12

Vol. IV.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 12. do not go on, after such a Deliverance hath been wrought out for you, in a servile and wretched Rom. VI.13. Manner, to obey it in its licentious Desires and Manner, to obey it in its licentious Desires and Demands: Neither present your Members to Sin [as] Weapons, and Instruments of Unrighte-ousness; but with all devout Affection and holy Zeal, present yourselves to GOD as those who by his rich Mercy and almighty Power, are now made spiritually alive, and called out from that wretched State, in which you lay as among the Dead. Conscious therefore of the Obligations you lie under to him, who hath raised you to this new and glorious Life, present all your Members and Powers to GOD, as Weapons and Instruments of Righteousness, to fight his Battles (b) and to be for ever devoted to his Service. Do it boldly and resolutely, and not as if you feared that your former Master should recover his Power and prove a severer Tyrant, after you had thus attempted to revolt; for you may on the contrary be assured that Sin shall not bave any more Dominion over you, as you are not under the Law (i), a Dispensation of Bondage and Terror, but under Grace, under the merciful Dispensation of the Gospel; which affords such Consolations, and inspires such Hopes, as may animate the Soul to a much more successful Combat with Sin, than the Law could do, and give a much nobler Assurance of a compleat Victory over it. Rom. viii. 1—4.

that ye should obey it in the in the Luss thereof.

13 Neither yield ye your Members as Instruments of Unrighteousness unto Sin: But yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the Dead; and your Members as Instruments of Righteousness unto God.

14. For Sin shall not have Dominion over you: For ye are not under the Law, but under Grace.

(b) Instruments to fight his Battles.] The Word οπλα properly signifies Weatons, and in this Sense it has a beautiful Propriety.

(i) Under the Law.] The Mosaick Law may be particularly intended; and the Propriety of what is here said, when considered in Reservence to that, is illustrated by that excellent Discourse of the Apostle in the vii. Chapter: But it may very well imply that we are not so under any Law, as to be utterly condemned for Want of a legal, that is, a perfect Righteousness: An Apprehension of which would tend utterly to discourage the Soul, in all its Attempts to free itself for the suture from the Dominion of Sin.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

ET our Hearts rise with Indignation at the Thoughts of so ungrate- Sect. 12. ful an Abuse of the Divine Goodness, as to take Encouragement from the Aboundings of Grace to continue in Sin. Are not we likewise by Ver. 1. Profession dead to it? Are not we bound by our baptismal Vow, as the an- Ver. 2. cient Christians, to whom Paul addresses himself, were? Or has the Use and Purpose of Baptism been since altered, so as to allow a Covenant with Sin, and an Agreement with Hell, even to those who are listed under the Banners of a Saviour? Is Christ then become the Minister of Sin, or shall his Death lose all its Effect, while we profess to honour the solemn Memorials of it? Recollecting that we are not under the Law, but un- Ver. 14. der Grace, let so glorious a Dispensation animate us to Resolutions proportionably heroick; and may the Remembrance of the Death of the Son Ver. 4. of God, in Concurrence with that of his Refurrection, engage us to Ver. 5. walk in Newness of Life, if we desire another Day to be planted into the Likeness of that Resurrection, and to rise victorious and triumphant from the Grave.

No more let us return under the Power of that spiritual Death, from which Christ, at the Price of his own Life, hath delivered us; but let us live Ver. 10,13. to GOD; folemnly presenting our Bodies, and our Souls to bim, to be hohoured as the Instruments of his Service, and employing each of our Members, according to its proper Office, for his Glory. We are alive from the Dead, we are raised by a Divine Power. Let us therefore daily fet ourselves as in the Presence of the God of our renewed Lives, and account that time lost, in which we are not acting for him. Without this, in vain do we know the vital Truths of his Gospel, in vain do we plead for them, and amuse ourselves with a sanguine Hope of bearing the Image of Christ in Glory, if all these powerful Arguments cannot now engage us to bear it in Holinefs.

SECT. XIII.

The Apostle takes this Opportunity of urging on the Christians at Rome, that Holiness, to which they were so strongly obliged by the Gospel. Rom. VI. 15, to the End.

ROMANS VI. 15.

Sect. 13. THAVE just been reminding you, Christians, of your great Priviledges; that you are Rom. VI. 15. now under a Dispensation of the most glorious Grace in the Gospel, and not under the Restraints, nor under the Terrors, of the Mosaick And what then are we to infer? Shall we take Encouragement from thence to offend him, to whose distinguishing Goodness we are so much obliged, and fin fecurely and prefumptuously, because we are not under the Law, but under the Grace of the Gospel? GOD forbid! The Inference would be fo odious, and fo dangerous, that tho' I disclaimed it before, (Ver. 1.) I cannot too frequently guard you against it. And should you allow yourselves to argue thus, it would fufficiently prove, that you do not belong to Christ; however you may glory in a preten-16 ded external Relation. Know ye not, that to whomsoever ye present yourselves [as] Servants, actually to obey his Commands, bis Servants you are? Not his, whose Name ye may bear without practically acknowledging his Authority, but his, whom you in Fact obey. Least of all can you divide yourselves between two contrary Masters, but must either be intirely the Servants of Sin, which you know by a certain Consequence leads to eternal Death, or intirely the Servants of God, by a Course of resolute and persevering Obedience; which, notwithstanding your former Failures, will fecurely lead to Righteousness and But Thanks be to GOD, that whereas you were once the Servants of Sin, this is to be spokROMANS VI. 15.

WHAT then? Shall we fin, because we are not under the Law, but under Grace? Gop forbid.

16 Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves Servants to obey, his Servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of Sin unto Death, or of Obedience unto Righteousness?

Life. But Thanks be to GOD, that whereas you were once the Servants of Sin, this is to be spoken of Sin; but ye have obeyed

bave

Form of Doctrine which was delivered you.

18 Being then made free from Sin, ye became the Servants of Righteoulness.

19 I speak after the Manner of Men, because of the Infirmity of your Flesh: For as ye have yielded your Members Servants to Undeanness, and to Iniquity, unto Iniquity; even so now yield your Members Servants to Righteousness, unto Holine's.

20 For when ye were the Servants of Sin, ye were free from Righteousness.

obeyed from the Heart that bave now obeyed, not in Profession alone, but Sect. 13. from the Heart, the Model of Doctrine into which ye were delivered, as into a Mold (a); that your Rom. VI. 17. whole Temper and Life might be formed and fashioned into an amiable and glorious Correspondence with it. And therefore being thus made free from Sin, ye are become the Servants of Righteousness, and are at once enabled, and obliged to lead a Life of true Piety and exemplary Goodness.

> I speak as a Man, and upon the common Principle of human Equity and Justice, as well as with a Reference to civil Customs, with which you Romans are so familiarly acquainted. I reason thus with you, because of the Weakness of your Flesh, because of those Infirmities and Temptations arifing from it; against which I would endeavour to fortify you by every Consideration, that may render you victorious over it. As ye bave (b) in Time past, while ignorant of the Gospel, and many of you the Slaves of Heathen Vice and Idolatry, presented your Members Servants to Uncleanness, and to other Kinds of Iniquity, into which that Debauchery too naturally leads; so let it now be your Care to present your Members Servants of Righteousness, in Order to the Practice of universal Holiness.

> And it is very fit, that this should be your intire Emploment; for when ye were Servants of Sin, ye were free from Righteousness, you never did any fingle Action that was truly good, and on the whole acceptable to God, because none was performed from such Principles, as could intitle

(a) Model of Doctrine, &c. εις οι παίεδωθη είνποι διδαχης.] That Ιυπος may properly be rendered Model, see Note on Rom. v. 14. and add to the Instances there given Elsner's Note on this Place; and see Dr. Sykes of Christianity, pag. 178.—Mr. Locke thinks 'tis an elegant Metapher, to represent the Delivery of a Servant over from one Master to another, and that the Gospel, expressed by the Form of sound Words, is the Master succeeding to the Law. But it seems more probable, that it may allude to melted Metal being formed by the Mold, into which it is poured; and it finely expresses that Pliancy of Temper with Respect to the Gospel, which constitutes so lovely a Part of the true Christian's Character.

(b) As ye have.] It is in the Original worms yap: But yap is here most evidently an Expletive, as, in Greek it often is. It is of some Moment to observe this; and I think it had been better, if our Translators had more frequently attended to it.

(c) Eternal

Sect, 13. title it to his compleat Approbation. Now furely you should be as ready to obey Righteousness, as you have been to obey Sin, and shew as much Zeal in the best, as you have done in the worst of Causes. To engage you therefore to this, consider, what Fruit or Advantage did you then derive from those Things, of the very Remembrance of which you are now heartily askamed; which you would not be, if you had indeed obtained any solid Advantage by them; whereas this is far from being the Case, for the certain

22 End of those Things [is] Death. But remember, you have now what is most honourable and most advantageous in your View; for being set free from Sin, and engaged to GOD as his Servants and property, you have your Fruit unto Holiness, in which you find a present, and most solid Advantage; and the End you have in View is nothing less than eternal Life: Such is the infinite Difference, and so advantageous the Exchange you have made. For eternal Death [is] the proper have made. For eternal Death [is] the proper Wages and Defert of Sin, and is all the Gain, which its wretched Slave will have to shew from the Hand of his tyrannical Master in the great Day of suture Account (c): But eternal Life [is,] not as in the former Instance, the justly deserved Retribution of the Action, but the Gift of a gracious and bountiful GOD in Christ Jesus our Lord, to whom we are to ascribe it, that any of our Services are accepted, and much more that they are recompensed with a Munisicence worthy the Lord of all.

21 What Fruit had ye then in those Things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the End of those Things is Death.

22 But now being made free from Sin, and become Servants to God, ye have your Fruit unto Holiness, and the End everlasting Life.

23 For the Wages of Sin is Death: But the Gift of God is eternal Life, thro' Jesus Christ our Lord,

(c) Eternal Death—in the great Day of future Account.] I fee no imaginable Reason to believe, as some late Writers have intimated, in their Paraphrase on this Verse, that Death here signifies being cast out of Existence. See Chap. ii. 12. Note (i). If this could be inferred with Relation to wicked Heathens from the Places before us, it might also, contrary to the Opinion of these Authors, be concluded to be the Case of wicked Christians from Chap. viii. 13. The Truth is, that to die signifies to fall under the Capital Sentence of the Divine Law; and 'tis well known, that being cast into the everburning Lake is in this View called Death, Rev. xxi. 8.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

DEING set at Liberty from the condemning Sentence of God's Sect. 13. Law, let us charge our Souls, by all the Ties of Gratitude, that we do not turn his Grace into Wantonness; or deceive ourselves with Ver. 15. vain Words in a Matter of infinite Importance. We cannot be at the fame Time the Servants of GOD, and the Servants of Sin; and certainly Ver. 17. our Understandings must be darkened to Infatuation, if we can long doubt whose Service we should prefer. The Work of Righteousness is Peace, the Effect of it Quietness and Assurance for ever; (Isai. xxxii. 17.) but Death Ver. 23. is the Wages of Sin, and it shall be repayed to all that go on in it. And Oh what, and how terrible a Death! To be cast into the Lake which burneth with Fire and Brimstone, which is the second Death. How merciful are all the repeated Admonitions which warn us to flee from it! Let us all judge, that it is already too long that we have yielded ourselves the Ver. 18, 19. Servants of Sin: Too long that our Members, made for the Service of their Creator, devoted perhaps with great Solemnity to our Redeemer, have been abused and prostituted as the Instruments of Unrighteousness. Ver. 22. Surely it is too much Time that we have already fpent, too much Vigour that we have already exerted, in so base a Servitude. For the suture let us act, as those who are made free from Sin.

And to animate us to it, let us often reflect, how unfruitful the Ver. 21. Works of Darkness have been found; in what Shame they have already ended; in what Shame and everlasting Contempt they must end, if they be finally pursued. And let us daily direct our Eye to that everlasting Life; that crowns the happy Prospect of those who bave their Fruit unto Holiness. Blessed Effect of serving God now, to serve and enjoy him for ever! To enjoy, thro' eternal Ages, the Pleasures of a Nature throughly sanctified, and the Sight and Favour of that God, who is the original Source and Pattern of Sanctification! "Tis the glorious Mark, at which we are aiming. Let us pursue it steadily and resolutely; yet always remembering, that it is the Gift of GOD, and never presuming to think of so glorious a Remuneration, as the Wages of any Duty we can perform. Alas! The Impersections of our best Services daily forseit the Blessings of Time: How impossible then is it, that the Sincerity of them, amidst so many Frailties and Desects, should purchase the Glories of Eternity!

and the steep Sole C T.

SECT. XIV.

The Apostle enters upon his Design of taking off the believing Jews from their fond Attatchment to the Mosaick Law, now they were, in a spiritual Sense, married to Christ by the Go/pel. Rom. VII. 1,---6.

ROMANS VII. 1.

Sect. 14. THAVE been endeavouring to direct your Regards to the Gospel, and to Christ as there exhibited, in Order to your Justification and Sal-Now you may perhaps be ready to object, that you, who are Jews, will certainly be out of the Way of obtaining those Priviledges, if you should neglect the Mosaick Law, the Divine Authority of which none can reasonably question. But know ye not Brethren, (for I am now speaking to those, that are supposed to be familiarly acquainted with the Contents of that Law, for which they are so zealous;) that, on the Principles which the Law itself lays down, it ruleth over a Man, only so long as it liveth (a): Its Dominion over particular Persons can, at the utmost, last no longer, than till it is itself abrogated; for that is as it were its Death, fince the Divine Authority going along with it was the very Life and Soul of the Law. Suppose that to cease, and the Letter of the Precept is but a dead Corpse, and with Respect to its Obligation

ROMANS VII. I.

KNOW ye not, Brethren (for I speak to them that know the Law) how that the Law hath Dominion over a Man, as long as he liveth?

(a) So long as it liveth: to oron xpower (n.) It would be contrary to the Apostle's Design, to suppose the Sense of this to be, as our Translation renders it, as long as he, that is, the Man in Question liveth; for he profestedly endeavours to prove, that they had out-lived their Obligations to the Law. Elsner would connect ανθρωπε with νομος, and render it, the Law and Authority of the Husband continues in Force, as long as he, that is, the Husband liveth, and produces Authorities to prove that xupuw is often applied to the obliging Force of a Law, or that matrimonial Cultoms are sometimes called Laws. (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 31.) But this, if it avoid, as he pleads, one Tautology, certainly occasions another, for the 2d Verse plainly expresses this Sense; and it would require a Transposition not to be allowed without more apparent Reason. Our Rendering is more natural, and suits the Connection with the following Verses, in which the Law is represented as the first Husband, whose Decease leaves them free to be married to Christ.

Digitized by Google

2 For the Woman which hath an Husband, is bound by the Law to her Husband so long as he liveth: But if the Husband be dead, she is loofed from the Law of her Husband.

3 So then, if while ber Husband liveth, she be married to another Man, she shall be called an Adulterefs: But if her Husband be dead, she is free from that Law; so that she is no Adulteress, though she be married to another Man.

4 Wherefore, my Brethren, ye also are become dead to the Law by the Body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raifed from the Dead, that we should bring forth Fruit unto God.

5 For when we were in the Flesh, the Motions of

Just as it is, accor- Sect. 14. as if it had never been. ding to the Law itself, with Respect to the Power of an Husband over his Wife, which Death Rom.VII. 2. intirely diffolves: For the married Woman is indeed bound and confined by the Law to [her] Hufband, while he is alive; but if [her] Husband be dead, she is set at Liberty from any farther Subjection to the Law of [her] Husband, that is, from that Law, which had given him a peculiar Property in her, and Authority over her. fore if the become the Property of another Man (b), whilft her Husband liveth, she carries the infamous Name of an Adulteress; but if her Husband be dead, she is set at Liberty from the Obligation of the Law that bound her to him, so as to be no more subject to the Shame and Punishment of an Adulteress; the she become the Property of another Man: For Death having interposed between them, hath dissolved the former Relation; he is dead to her, and she to him. Thus ye also, my 4 dear Brethren, are in Effect dead to the Mosaick Law by the Body of Christ (c); his Death and Sufferings having now accomplished its Design, and abrogated its Authority: And this, with a gracious Intent, that ye might be, as it were, married to another, [that is,] to him who was in so glorious and triumphant a Manner raised from the Dead, no more to die; that, in Consequence of this new Marriage, we might bring forth Fruit unto GOD in all the Ways of holy Obedience.

And ye should do it with the greatest Zeal; for 5 when we were in the Flesh, that is, under the comparatively carnal Dispensation of Moses, a Variety of finful Passions, accidentally occasioned

(b) If the become the Property of another, (ear yenflas and ps elepa,) while her Husband brush, &c.] The Apostle here speaks in the general, not entering exactly into every excepted Case, that might be imagined; to infer therefore, contrary to our Lord's express Decision elsewhere, that Adultery is not a sufficient Foundation for Divorce, seems very unreasonable; tho' Bishop Burnet assures us that great Stress was once laid on the Argument.

Burn. Hist. of the Reformation, Vol. ii. pag. 57.

(c) By the Body of Christ.] He is to be considered here, as testifying by the Authority of a Christian Apostle, that this was the Design of Christ's Death; so that all he does in his Argument here is to shew, that allowing it to have been thus, (as Jewish Believers all did) their Freedom from the Mosaick Law followed on the very Principles of that Law itself.

Vol. IV.

(d) Newness

Digitized by Google

Sect. 14. ned and irritated by the Law, were active in our Members, so as to produce visible sinful Actions, Rom. VII. 5. and in them to bring forth a very different Fruit from that which I have just been mentioning; even as I observed before, (Chap. vi. 21, 23.) fuch Fruit as would expose you to eternal Death, if God were to be strict to mark your Offences, and if his Mercy did not interpose to break the fatal Connection: A Circumstance which it is of the utmost Importance seriously to reflect up-But now we are set at Liberty from our Obligation to the Law, that Obligation in which we were held, being in Effect dead, or abrogated, as I told you above, (Ver. 1,—4.) so as that now you are, in a more liberal Manner, and from nobler Principles, to serve God as your Master and Father in Christ, in the Newness of the Spirit, and not [in] the Oldness of the Letter (d): That is, you are to live as those, that are renewed by the Holy Spirit of God, in a rich Abundance poured out upon you under this new and better Difpensation, whereby you are brought to observe the spiritual Meaning and Design of the Law; being no longer bound by these literal and ceremonial Precepts, which were indeed obligatory long fince, but now begin to be antiquated, and out of Date. (Heb. viii. 13.)

Sins which were by the Law, did work in our Members to bring forth Fruit unto Death.

6 But now we are delivered from the Law, that being dead wherein we were held; that we should serve in Newness of Spirit, and not in the Oldness of the Letter

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 4. O D hath conferred upon all Christians this singular Honour, that the whole Body of them should be represented as espoused to Christ. Let us always remember, how we are engaged by that Sacred Relation, to bring forth Fruit unto GOD. And may the Remembrance of the Resurrection of Christ put continual Vigour into our Obedience, while we regard him as the ever living Lord, to whom our Obligations are indissoluble and everlasting.

Ver. 5. Too much have finful Passions reigned in our Flesh, during our unconverted State. In too many Instances have they wrought effectually to bring forth Fruit unto Death. And we owe it to the wonderful Mercy and Forbearance

⁽d) Newness of the Spirit, not [in] the Oldness of the Letter.] This is the literal Version; but new Spirit, and old Letter, are tantamount Expressions, and are more agreeable to the Turn of our Language.

Forbearance of God that Death, eternal Death, hath not long fince Sect. 14.

been the Consequence.

Being freed from the Yoke of the ceremonial Law, being freed also Ver. 6. from the condemning Sentence of that moral Law, under the Obligations of which by the Constitution of our intelligent and rational Nature we are all born; let us thankfully acknowledge the Favour, and charge it upon our grateful Hearts, that we ferve GOD in Newness of Spirit and of Life. To engage us to this, may we experience more abundantly the Renewings of the Holy Ghost; and the Actions of our Lives will be eafily and delightfully reduced to the obedience of these Precepts, which his omnipotent and gracious Hand hath inscribed on our Hearts!

S E C T. XV.

To wean the believing Jews from their undue Attachment to the Law of Moses, the Apostle represents at large, how comparatively ineffectual its Motives were, to produce that Holiness, which, by a lively Faith in the Gospel, we may so happily obtain. Rom. VII. 7, to the End. VIII. 1,---4.

ROMANS VII. 7.

ROMANS VII. 7.

THAT shall we say then? Is the Law Sin? God forbid. Nay, I

THAVE been observing above, to those of Sect. 15. my Christian Brethren, who were educated 🐸 in the Jewish Religion, that irregular Passions, Rom. VII.7. while we were under the Law of Moses, and were acquainted with no superior Dispensation, did in some Instances, by Means of the Law, operate so as to bring forth Fruit unto Death. And it is necessary, that I should not only farther illustrate that important Remark, but expressly caution against any Mistake with Relation to it. What shall we say then, or what do we intend by that Affertion? [that] the Law itself [is] Sin, that there is any moral Evil in it, or that it is intended by God, or adapted in its own Nature, to lead Men into Sin? GOD forbid! We revere the high Authority by which it was given, too humbly, to infinuate any Thing of that Kind. And indeed there are many Particulars, in which I should not. L 2 bave

Sect. 15. bave known Sin, but by the Law (a). I should had not known Sin, but by not, in a mere State of Nature, have apprehen-Rom. VII. 7. ded the Evil of them; which I now learn from finding them so expressly prohibited. not for Instance known the Sinfulness of $Lu\beta$, or irregular Desires, unless the Law bad said, " thou shall not covet (b)"; from whence it was easy to infer, that this Law takes Cognizance of 8 the Heart, as well as of external Actions. as foon as I had Understanding enough to perceive, that the Law forbad the Indulgence of irregular Defires, I found that I had in Fact broken it; and thereby incurred the Penalty without any Hope of Help and Deliverance from the Law. And this, while I looked no farther, naturally tended to throw my Mind into a State of Dejection and Despair. So that I may say, that Sin taking Occasion from the awful Sanction of the Commandment (c), the Wrath and Ruin which it denounced, brought me into so sad a Situation of Mind, and left me so little Strength and Spirit the Law: For I had not known Lust, except the Law had faid, Thou shalt not covet.

8 But Sin taking Occafion by the Command-

(a) I should not have known Sin, &c.] The Apostle here, by a very dexterous Turn, changes the Person, and speaks as of himself. This he elsewhere does, (Rom. iii. 6. I Cor. x. 30. Chap. iv. 6.) when he is only personating another Character. And the Character assumed here is that of a Man, first ignorant of the Law, then under it, and sincerely defiring to please God, but finding to his Sorrow, the Weakness of the Motives it suggested, and the sad Discouragement under which it left him; and last of all, with Transport discovering the Gospel, and gaining Pardon, and Strength, Peace and Joy by it. But to suppose he speaks all these Things of himself, as the consirmed Christian, that he really was, when he wrote this Epifle, is not only foreign, but contrary to the whole Scope of his Discourse, as well as to what is expressly afferted, Chap. viii. 2.

(b) Thou shalt not covet.] This by the Way proves, that Paul thought the Covetousness, forbidden in the Tenth Commandment, related to the Heart, and not merely, as some have represented it, to any overt AA, to an Attempt to take away what belongs to another. And this might be a Hint to all thinking Men, that the fecret Powers of their Souls were under a Divine Inspection, and that much Guilt might be contracted, which did not appear to

(c) Sin taking Occasion from the Commandment.] Most Commentators have explained this, as fignifying, that Sin was quickened by the Prohibition; the Inclination of human Nature in general being like that of a froward Child, who will do a Thing, because it is forbidden, and perhaps is, as it were, reminded of an Evil, on hearing it mentioned in a Prohibition. But, not to examine how far this is a universal Case, it must surely be acknowledged, that all Lust does not arise from hence, much being previous to any possible Knowledge of Gon's Law, whether revealed or natural. I therefore incline to the Interpretation which Mr. Dunlope has given, in his excellent Sermon on this Passage, the Tenor of whose Thoughts I have followed in the Whole of my Paraphrase upon it, begging leave to refer my Reader to his Discourse, for the Reasons that have determined me to it. Compare Jerem. ii. 25. See Dunl. Serm. Vol. ii. pag. 46, 47.

(d) Wrought

ment, wrought in me all Manner of Concupiscence. For without the Law Sin

q For I was alive without the Law once: But when the Commandment came, Sin revived, and I

10 And the Commandment which was ordained to Life, I found to be unto Death.

Spirit to resist future Temptation, when I seemed Sect. 15. already undone; that it might in a Manner be faid to have wrought powerfully in me all Manner Rom.VII.8. of Concupiscence (d): Such Advantage did Sin gain against me. And I mention this, as the Effect of my becoming acquainted with the Law, because while I was ignorant of the Sentence and considered myself as without the Law of God, Sin [was] dead. I was no more aware of any Danger from it, or any Power it had to hurt me, than if it had been a dead Ene-For I once was, as it were, alive without 9 the Law (e), confidering myself as a Man unacquainted with it, I may lay I was comparatively chearful, and happy; but when the Commandment came, and I became acquainted with it in its wide Extent, unspotted Purity and awful Sanctions, then Sin immediately came to Life again; it fprung up against me as a living Enemy, armed with Instruments of Destruction; and I, as incapable of refisting it, fell down, and died; finding myself unable to resist my miserable Doom. And thus the Commandment which [was] in its original 10 Constitution [intended] for Life (f), and calculated fo to regulate Mens Temper and Conduct, as if perfectly obeyed, to give them a legal Claim to Life and Happiness, was quite changed in this Respect. For I having thus broken it, and by fuch Breach brought its condemning Sentence upon me, really found it [to be] unto Death. I found it attended with deadly Consequences, both as it configued me over to Destruction for past Sin,

(d) Wrought in me.] The Word xaleeyalouas in many Places signifies to operate in a powerful and efficacious Manner; (Compare 2 Cor. iv. 17. Chap. v. 5. Chap. vii. 11. Chap. xii. 12.) and may well here fignify a firong Irritation of what might, without it, have been in some Degree natural.

(e) I was once alive without the Law.] The Apostle cannot, as Mr. Locke supposes here, speak in the Person of the whole Jewish People, and in this Clause, refer to the Time between Abraham and Moses; for, not to examine how far this Description would suit them then, we must on that Principle of Interpretation suppose, they are all represented in the Close of the Chapter, as believing in Christ; which alas! we know to have been very far from being their Case.

(f) Intended for Life.] The Law may be faid to have been intended for Life, tho' by Sin made the Occasion of Death; as Medicines, which not being rightly applied prove fatal, may nevertheless be said to have been intended for Cure.

(g) So

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 15. Sin, and occasionally, tho' not intentionally, proved productive of new Guilt and Misery.

For Sin, as I before said, taking Occasion by the Terror and Curse of the violated Commandment, and representing the great Lawgiver, as now become my irreconcileable Enemy, deceived me into a Persuasion, that I could be no worse than I was, and thereby it slew me; it multiplied my mortal Wounds, and rendered my Case still more desperate.

fion by the Commandment, deceived me, and by it flew me.

So that you see, upon the whole, the Law in the general [is] acknowledged to be holy, and the particular Commandment in Question is acknowledged to be agreeable to the holy Nature of God, just in Reference to the Reason of Things, and on the whole, in its Consequences good, and subservient to Mens Happiness, if they continue in 12 Wherefore the Law is holy; and the Commandment holy, and just, and good.

13 a State of Rectitude. Was then that, which was good in itself, made Death to me? Shall I charge my Ruin on this holy and good Law of God? By no Means. GOD forbid, I should ever utter any Thing like that. But I must rather charge it upon Sin, which by Means of fo holy an Instrument undid me. I say it again, Sin was made Death to me, so that it appeared to be Sin indeed (g), (that odious dreadful Thing, of which nothing can be faid worse, than that it is itself,) which working Death in me, by the Occasion of that which is so eminently good: That so Sin might by the Commandment thus perverted, appear exceeding finful, and stand forth in all its native and detestable Colours; capable of turning the Law itself into a Means of producing the Guilt it so solemnly forbad, and the Ruin it was intended to prevent.

13 Was then that which is good made Death unto me? God forbid. But Sin that it might appear Sin, working Death in me by that which is good; that Sin by the Commandment might become exceeding finful.

Tis on this therefore that I lay all the Blame; for we well know, that the Law is spiritual, and as it extends to the Spirit, was intended to purify and exalt it, and to affert its Superiority over the meaner Part of our Nature. But, alas, may 14 For we know, that the Law is spiritual: But

(g) So that it appeared: no parn.] Elsner contends that parn is an Expletive here; but I choose not to allow any Word in Scripture to be an Expletive, that may fairly and naturally be expounded into any fignificant Sense; as it is plain this may here be. See Elsner, Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 37.

(b) Sold

I am carnal, fold under the Man, I have been describing and representing Sect. 15. above, be ready to say, I am in a great Measure Rom. VII.

15 For that which I do, I allow not: For that I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I.

16 If then I do that which I would not, I'confent unto the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I that do it, but Sin that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in me (that is in my Flesh) dwelleth no good Thing:

carnal, and in so many Instances subdued by the remaining Infirmities of my Nature, that I am ready passionately to cry out, I am even sold under Sin (b); which often rifes with an almost irreliftible Strength, to assume a tyrannical Dominion over me, as if I were its Slave and Property. For that which I actually do, I allow, or approve not (i) in many Instances; for too often, thro' the Strength of Passion and Surprize of Temptation, I practife not that, which in the general Tenor of my Mind I habitually will; but the Things which I even hate, which I think of with the greatest Abhorrence, those Things in many. Respects I am so unhappy to do; which indeed Now if I do makes me a Burthen to myself. that, which I would not, in willing not to do it, I do so far, tho' to my own Condemnation, consent to the Law, and bear my Testimony to it, that it is good, an I do indeed defire to fulfil it; tho' when a preffing Hour of Temptation comes, contrary to my Resolution, I fail in obferving it. But now, in these Circumstances, it is no more I myfelf, that can properly be said to do it; but rather Sin, which dwelleth in me, and which makes, as it were, another Person having Defires, and Motions, and Interests, intirely contrary to these of the renewed Part within; which I would call my better-felf. For I 18 well know, that in me, that is, in my Flesh, the corrupt and degenerate felf, nothing that is good

(b) Sold under Sin.] This is often urged as an Argument, that the Apostle here speaks in the Person of a wicked Man, and is represented as a Phrase parallel to 1 Kings xxi. 20. 2 Kings xvii. 17. where some of the worst of Men are described, as having sold themselves to do Evil. But the Diversity of the Expression is very obvious; and yet, had this Person been represented, as lamenting that he had fold himself to Sin, it might have been underflood as the Language of penitent Remorfe for past Guilt, and so very consistent with a good Man's Character. And the many Instances, in which very excellent Persons, in the Distress of their Hearts for the Remainder of Imperfection in their Character, adopt this very Phrase, plainly shew, with what Propriety Paul might put it into the Mouth of one, whom he did not consider as an abandoned Sinner, and destitute of every Principle of real Piety.

(i) I approve not.] Gataker (de Styl. Nov. Testam. Cap. iv. Advers. Miscell. Lib. I. Cap. 6. and Raphelius in Loc.) bring appointe Instances of such a Use of the Word yearner.

14.

Sect. 15. dwelleth. I find my animal Powers sadly debased and enslaved: For to will is indeed present with me, I form many good Purposes and Resolutions; but when the Time comes, in which I should bring them into Effect, I find not in my Heart a sufficient [Ability] strenuously to perform that, which I know is good, and which I acknowledge 19 to be most amiable and desirable. 'Tis indeed so grievous a Reslection to me, that I cannot forbear repeating it again and again; for it is really so, that I do not the good, that I often will, and resolve to do; but the Evil which I will not to do, which I form the strongest Purposes against, that I do (k) in repeated Instances. If therefore.

20 I do (k) in repeated Instances. If therefore, as I said before, I do that which I would not, and am, as it were, overpowered in some Cases and Circumstances, contrary to the settled and prevailing Bent and Inclination of my Soul; it is no more I that do it, but Sin which, as another Person, dwelleth in me (l), and, like an evil Dæmon, when it has taken Possession of a Man, uses my Faculties and Powers, over which it usurps an abhorred Dominion, to carry on its own contrary and destructive Interests. I find then, upon the whole, a Sort of constraining Law, which so influences me, that when I would do good, Evil is in Fact

22 present with me. For with Regard to the inner Man, that is, my Mind, the better and nobler Powers of my intellectual Nature, I delight in the Law of GOD (m), I most heartily approve

For to will is present with me, but how to perform that which is good, I find not.

19 For the Good that I would, I do not: But the Evil which I would not, that I do.

20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but Sin that dwelleth in me.

21 I find then a Law, that when I would do good, Evil is present with me.

22 For I delight in the Law of God, after the inward Man.

(k) The Evil which I will not, that I do.] If the Meaning of such Expressions as these were, that upon the whole, the Person using them went on in a prevailing Course of habitual Wickedness, against the Convictions and Dictates of his own Conscience, one would imagine Paul would have rebuked such an one with great Severity, and answered these vain and hypocritical Pleas; whereas he represents this Person afterwards, as with Joy embracing the Gospel, and so obtaining superior Strength upon the full Manisestation of pardoning Grace there.

(1) Sin that dwelleth, &c.] This feems indeed no more than a Repetition of Verse 17. but it is a graceful and expressive Repetition; and shews, how near the Affair lay to the Heart of the Person thus complaining, and in what sad and frequent Successions the Complaint was removed. The beautiful Passage in the 6th Book of Xenophon's Cyropadia, pag. 328. Edit. Hutchin. 1738. 8vo.) where Araspas complains of two Souls contending within him, (a Passage which it is very possible St. Paul might have read,) contains an agreeable Illustration of this Paragraph.

(m) I delight in the Law of GOD after the inner Man.] This is so sure a Trace of real Piety, and is represented in Scripture as, in this View, so decisive; that if it be supposed a true

23.

23 But I see another Law in my Members, warring against the Law of my Mind, and bringing me into Captivity to the Law of Sin, which is in my Mem-

24 Owretched Manthat I am, who shall deliver me from the Body of this Death!

25 I thank GoD, thro' Jesus Christ our Lord. So then, with the Mind I my-it, and look upon its whole System with Com- Sect. 15. placency, as what I could rejoice to be conformed to in the compleatest Manner, and highest Rom. VII. But alas, I see another and quite ap-Degree. posite Law, of vicious and irregular Inclinations, feated in my Members, which, taking its Rife from a lower and meaner Principle, is continually making War against the better Law of my Mind, and too frequently captivating me to the Law of Sin, which is, as I faid, feated in my corporeal Wretched Man that I am! Do I often cry out in fuch a Circumstance, with no better Supports and Incitements than the Law can give; who shall rescue me miserable Captive as I am, from the Body of this Death? From this continual Burthen, which I carry about with me, and which is cumbersome and odious, as a dead Carcass, tied to a living Body, to be dragged along with it wherever it goes (n).

Thus I bemoan myself, when I think only of the Mosaick Law, the Discoveries it makes, the Motives it suggests, and the Circumstances in which it leaves the Offender: But in the Midst of this glorious Prospect, a Sight of the Gospel revives my Heart; and I cry out, as in a Kind of Rapture, as foon as I turn mine Eyes to it, I thank GOD thro' Jesus Christ (o), in whom he now reveals himself to me, and by whom he delivereth me from this Bondage and Misery. So then, whereas I myself (p), with the nobler Powers of true Representation of the Character, we must furely allow it to have been that of a truly good Man; whatever lamented Imperfections might attend it.—Plato uses the Phrase o evilas ardiates for the rational Part of our Nature.

(n) Dead Carcafs, &c.] It is well known, that fome ancient Writers mention this, as a Cruelty, practifed by fome Tyrants on miferable Captives, who fell into their Hands; and a more forcible and expressive Image of the sad Case represented, cannot surely enter into the Mind of Man.

(0) I thank GOD thro' Jefus Chrift.] For ευχαρις ω θεω fome Copies read n χαρις la Θεω, the Grace of GOD, which to be fure makes a noble Sense; but that of the received, and much more authentick Copies comes very near it, and in the Main coincides with it.

(p) Whereas I ferve, Ge.—there is now no Condemnation, Ge. I think, there is not in the whole New Testament a more unhappy Division between two Chapters, than what has been made here, not only in the Midft of an Argument, but even of a Sentence. Apa we, and are not answer so evidently to each other, that I think it plain, the former should be rendered, whereas, and then the Sense appears plain and strong. I must consess this to be an uncommon Use of $\alpha p \alpha$, but if it be, as it often is, an Expletive, it will come to much the same.

Vol. IV.

M

(q) To

Digitized by GOOS

25. ROMANS VШ. г.

Sect. 15. my Spirit serve the Law of GOD; the' in too many Instances I am so oppressed with the Infirmity of my Flesh, that I am subdued by the Law of Sin; [There is] now, under the Gospel-Dispensation, no Condemnation to those in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit (q); that is, to those, who making a Profesfion of the Christian Faith, do in the main Course of their Lives verify that Profession; governing themselves by spiritual Views, and Maxims, and 2 not by carnal Appetites and Interests. it again, I thank God for this Dispensation with all the Powers of my Soul; for tho', when confidering myself as only under the Law, I made fuch melancholy Complaints, the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus, that glorious Gospel, which is attended with an abundant Effusion of the vivifying and animating Spirit, has now recovered me, mortally wounded as I feemed to have been, and fet me at Liberty from that lamented Captivity to the Law of Sin and Death (r). 3 For GOD bath now, by a gracious and most wonderful Appearance [done] what it was impossible for the Law to do, in that it was comparatively weak thro' the great Infirmity of the Flesh (s), against which in so corrupt a State it could not, merely by its own Principles, fufficiently profelf serve the Law of Gop: but with the Flesh, the Law of Sin.

Romans VIII. 1. There is therefore now no Condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 For the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jefus, hath made me free from the Law of Sin and Death.

3 For what the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the Flesh, God

(r) Hath set me at Liberty, &c.] It is to be observed, that the same Person, who spoke before, is here represented, as continuing the Discourse, and speaks of himself, as delivered from the Bondage so bitterly complained of.

(t) Merely

⁽⁹⁾ To those in Christ Jesus who walk, &c.] It is certain, that to be in Christ, though it fometimes imports a true and fanctifying Faith, (2 Cor. v. 17.) at other Times expresses only an external Profession, (John xv. 2.) and as the Article Jois is not repeated, I think 'tis plain the latter Clause limits the former, which justifies our Rendering. Compare Psal. lxxiii. 1

⁽s) What it was impossible for the Law to do, &c.] It is indeed true in the general, as the pious Professor Zimmerman justly observes (in his excellent Comment. de Emin. Cognit. Christia, pag. 6, 7. and 34.) " that the Strength of the Law is not adequate to that of corrupt Nature; and it is by Evangelical Confiderations, that we are most effectually animated to fubdue Sin." But that is to be considered as a Consequence of what the Apostle here afferts concerning the Law of Moses, rather than the Affertion itself. And indeed whoever considers the awful Nature and Sanctions of that Law, must acknowledge, that it was calculated to be a much more efficacious Restraint from Sin, than the unaffished Light of Nature, or than any other Dispensation revealing Gon's Law, prior to the Gospel. So that the above-mentioned Consequence is very strong.

Gop fending his own Son in the Likeness of sinful Flesh, and for Sin condemned Sin in the Flesh:

4. That the Righteoufness of the Law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit. vide (t): [He,] I say, the great Father of Mercies, Sect. 15. by fending his own well beloved Son, in the Like-Rom.VIII. ness of sinful Flesh (u), with all those innocent Infirmities, which the first Apostacy of our Nature brought upon human Flesh, and by appointing him to be a Sacrifice to make Expiation for Sin (w), bath condemned Sin in the Flesh. Instead of being victorious, it is now brought under a Sentence of Death and Destruction, which we, animated by these glorious Motives of the Gospel, are enabled to put into Execution: That the Righteousness of the Law, in all its 4 fundamental Branches, may with greater Ardor of holy Zeal be fulfilled in us, who answer the Engagements of our Christian Profession, and, in the Tenor of our Lives, walk not after the Flesh to indulge its Desires and Demands, but after the Spirit; that is, who under the Influences of the Spirit of God abound in the Sentiments and Duties of a truly spiritual Life. You fee therefore, my dear Brethren, by the whole Series of this Discourse, not only how safely you may cease the Observation of the Mosaick Law, but how absolutely necessary it is, that you should look beyond that, and consequently beyond any other Law, natural or revealed; as ever you expect Justification before God, and defire to be animated to ferve him in an acceptable Manner.

(t) Merely by its own Principles, sufficiently provide.] By this Clause I endeavour to lay in an effectual Answer to that Objection, which might lie against the Apostle's Argument, and our Explication of it, from the eminent Heights of Goodness, attained by some holy Men under the Law. It was not by the Law, tho' under it, that they obtained them; but by those Evangelical Promises, which mingled with the Law, tho' they did not make a Part of it, but sprang from the Abrahamick Covenant, which, as the Apostle elsewhere urges, was unrepealed by the Law; and this, which the Jews were so ready to forget, (Rom. x. 3.) is the Point that he so particularly labours, both in this Epistle, and that to the Galatians, to inculcate.

(u) The Likeness of sinful Flesh.] Those Writers, who imagine, that our first Parents were, in their original State, cloathed with a visible Lustre, which was lost by their Transgression, in Reference to which it is said, that they knew they were naked, naturally explain this Clause by that Hypothesis.

(w) For Sin.] That a marfine fignifies a Sacrifice for Sin, is very apparent, from Heb. x.

6. 2 Cor. v. ult. and a vast many other Passages. The Reader will observe, how very easy this little Transposition, on Account of what is so plainly a Parenthesis, makes this. Passage, which is generally thought so obscure.

IMPROVE.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ner. 3. DMIRABLE and adorable indeed were the Condescensions of the blessed God, in sending his own Son in the Likeness of our sinful Plass, stript of its original Glories, that he might become an expiatory Sacrifice for Sin. Let us remember the grand Purpose for which he did it; that he might condemn Sin in our Flesh, that he might enable us to do Execution on Sin as a condemned Malesactor. In his Name therefore let us pursue the Victory, and rejecting every Overture of Accommodation, with determined Zeal do Justice upon it. And may what we have been reading, establish our Resolution of walking, not after the Itess, but after the Spirit, since we are now delivered from the Curse of a broken Law, and blessed with a Dispensation, so properly called the Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus: A Dispensation, by attending

Law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus: A Dispensation, by attending to the Peculiarities of which, we may be enabled to extend our Conquests over Sin in the most effectual Manner, and to attain Heights of Virtue and Piety, to which no legal Considerations and Motives alone could raise us.

But Oh, what Reason of Humiliation is there, that we improve it no better, and that these melancholy Strains should so well become us! That instead of pressing forward daily to fresh Victories, and making new Improvements in the Divine Life, we should so often complain, and have so much Cause to complain, of a Lagrain our Members not only

Ver. 23, 24. and have so much Cause to complain, of a Law in our Members not only warring against the Law of our Minds, but even, in many Instances, bringing us into Captivity to the Law of Sin and Death; so that we Christians should cry out, like those under the Mosaick Occonomy, 'Oh wretched Men, that we are, who shall deliver us! Let renewed Views of

Ver. 25. Christ Jesus animate us to renewed Vigour in this Warfare; lest when we are delivered from those service Terrors, which the legal Dispensa-

Ver. 8, 11. tion, under a Consciousness of Guilt, might have awakened, Sin, no Ver. 13. longer able to take this Occasion from the Law, should appear yet more exceeding sinful, by taking Occasion, in another View, even from the Gospel itself; which in many Instances it seems to do.

Ver. 12. Let us remember, that the Law of God is koly, just and good; delightver. 22. ing in it more and more after our inner Man, and taking Heed, that we do not deceive ourselves by such a Passage as this, into a secret, but vain and fatal Hope, that because we are convinced of our Duty, and feel in our Conscience a Sense of the Evil of Sin, we might be said to serve the Law of God, while by abandoning ourselves to known Acts of wilful Transgression, we are in our Flesh serving the Law of Sin. Habitually to allow ourselves in neglecting the Good we approve, and committing the Evils we condemn, is the readiest Way, that Hell itself can point

out, for the Ruin of immortal Souls; in such a Case, all that we know, Sect. 15. and all that we feel, concerning the Obligations of Duty, and the Excellence of Holiness, aggravate, rather than extenuate, our Failures; and tho' the fublime Views, which eminently good Men under the Gospel have of Religion, may sometimes incline them to adopt such Complaints as these, in Reference to the unallowed and lamented Deficiencies and Infirmities of a truly upright and pious Life; it remains an eternal Truth, which instead of being abrogated under the New Testament, is most expressly confirmed, that be who doth Righteousness is righteous, and not he that merely wishes to do it: And he, who committeth Sin, is of the Devil, even though he should speak against it like an Apostle, or an Angel.

It is indeed impossible, exactly to lay the Line, that separates the Boundaries of the Kingdom of Christ and of Satan; nor is it by any Means a defirable Thing, that we should know the lowest State of Weakness and Degeneracy, into which a Christian may fall, while he continues in the main a Christian. We have great Reason to doubt, whether we be really Christians ourselves, if for our own Sakes we wish to know it. Our Calling obliges us to aspire after the most eminent Attainments in Religion; it obliges us never to rest till we find ourselves dead indeed unto Sin, and alive to GOD thro' Jesus Christ; so as to abound in all the vital Fruits of Rightcousness unto his Praise and Glory.

SECT. XVI.

The Obligations, which the Gospel lays upon us, to a holy Life, are farther urged, and especially those arising from the Communication of the Spirit of GOD to Believers. Rom. VIII. 5,---17.

Romans VIII. 5.

FOR they that are after the Flesh, do mind the Things. ROMANS VIII. 5.

THAVE, in the preceeding Discourse, urged Sect. 16. L it again and again, that we who profess ourfelves Christians should walk, not after the Flesh but after the Spirit, as ever we defire to rejoice in the glorious Deliverance which the Gospel brings; and with the greatest Reason: For this is indeed the most important Distinction in the Character of Men, and not any Form of outward Profesfion

Rom. VIII.

Sect. 16. fion or Rite of Worship and Devotion. They Things of the Fleth: But who are after the Flesh, that is, who remain un-Rom. VIII. der the Influence of a corrupt and degenerate 5. Nature, do mind the Things of the Flesh; they prefer and pursue carnal and animal Gratifications: But they who are after the Spirit, that is, who know any Thing experimentally of that Spirit of Life which I mentioned above, (Ver. 2.) [do mind] and pursue the Things of the Spirit: Their Minds are formed to a superior Relish of spiritual, intellectual and facred Pleasures, suited to that nobler and immortal Part of their Nature.

6 Now as the Character of these Persons is so widely different, their End will be proportionably so; for the Minding of the Flesh (a), the Preferring and Pursuing its Interests [is] Death; it is the greatest Misery that can be imagined, and that which leads to everlasting Death and Ruin: Whereas the Minding, Preferring and Pursuing the Interests of the Spirit [is] Life and Peace; the greatest present Good and Happiness, which leads to Life and Glory everlasting. And it must needs be so, because the carnal Mind, as I have described it above, [is] in the very Essence of it an absolute quently it brings us into a State of Hostility against him. For it is impossible his Creatures should be in a State of Friendship with him, unless they are in a State of willing Subjection to him. Now as for the carnal Mind it is not subjest to the Law of GOD, neither indeed can it possibly be [fo.] For, however you may suppose any Law of God to vary, as to ritual and ceremonial Institutions, while the Nature of God continues pure and holy, as it must eternally and immutably do; he cannot but require the Observation of the grand Branches of moral Virtue, founded on the unalterable Nature, and Relation of Things; he therefore must require and Peace and Happiness proceed; and conse-

Enmity to the bleffed GOD; from whom all Life

they that are after the Spirit, the Things of the Spi-

6 For to be carnally minded is Death; but to be spiritually minded is Life and Peace:

7 Because the carnal Mind is Enmity against God: For it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be.

(a) Now the Minding, &c.] It is plain, yes must here signify now, for nothing could be more absurd, than to say, that some minded the Things of the Flesh, because it is Death to do it. (b) The

Rom. VIII.

8 So then they that are in the Flesh, cannot please Gop.

9 But ye are not in the-Flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any Man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his.

10 And if Christ be in you, the Body is dead because of Sin; but the Spirit is Life, because of Righteoulnels.

11 But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the Dead, dwell in you; he that raised up Christ from the Dead, shall also quicken your mortal Bodies, us to be spiritually minded, and to prefer the In- Sect. 16. terest of the Soul to that of the Body. that they who are in the Flesh, that is, under the Government of a fleshly Principle, whatever ceremonial Precepts they may observe, or whatever orthodox Principles of Faith they may profess and maintain, yet cannot possibly please GOD. He must either abhor and punish them, or dishonour his own Law, and contradict his pure, holy and unchangeable Nature. But blessed 9 be God, you Christians are not in the Flesh, in that carnal enflaved State described above, but in the Spirit, and under his Influence; ye, my Brethren, are certainly so, if that the Spirit of GOD dwelleth in you; for where-ever he dwells he reigns, and makes the Soul throughly holy. And if any Man have not the Spirit of Christ, thus refiding and governing in him, then, whatever he may pretend, he is none of his: He is not to be reckoned as a Disciple of Christ, and Christ will disown him another Day, as having only abused his Name, while he wore it.

And by the Way, to animate your Hopes, and all your Graces, remember, that if Christ [be] thus refident in you, by his fanctifying Spirit, though the Body [is] indeed dead because of the first Sin, that ever entered into the World (b), which as I shewed above, has brought on a Sentence of universal Death; yet the Spirit [is] Life, and shall after Death continue living, active and happy, because of that Righteousness, of which our great Head, the fecond Adam, is the Author, as I have And we have this farther inculcated at large. joyful Hope, that if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus, our great Covenant-Head, from the Dead, dwell in you, he that so powerfully and gloriously raised up Christ from the Dead, will also, in due Time, quicken your mortal Bodies,

(b) The Body is dead because of Sin, &c.] Some would render it, with Respect to Sin; but as there is no feeming Opposition between a Death with Respect to Sin, and a Life with Respect to Righteousness, I think the Version here retained much preservable; and if this be admitted, it will certainly determine the Sense of the next Verse quite contrary to Mr. Locke's unnatural Gloss, which explains, quickening the mortal Body, by sanctifying the immortal Spirit.

Sect. 16. tho corrupted and confumed in the Grave, by the Agency of that great and powerful Spirit, which now dwelleth in you, and acts to quicken you in the Divine Life.

by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

the Gratifications of the Flesh can do nothing for us, like that which will be done for us at the Resurrection, and since all present Enjoyments are mean and worthless, when compared with that; here is a most substantial Argument for that Mortification and Sanctity, which the Gospel requires. And it necessarily follows, that we are Debtors to the Spirit, which gives us such exalted Hopes, and not unto the Flesh, that we should live after the 12 Therefore, Brethren, we are Debtors, not to the Flesh, to live after the Flesh, Dictates, Defires and Appetites of the Flesh. 13 For I must plainly and faithfully tell you, and must repeat and inculcate it upon you, as a Matter of infinite Importance, that if you tho's professing Christians, and some of you eminent for fo high and diffinguishing a Profession, (Compare Chap. i. 8.) do live after the Flesh, and mind nothing superior to its Interests, ye shall assuredly die, that is, shall perish by the Sentence of an holy God, no less than if you were Jews or Heathens. But if you, thro' the Influence and Affistance of God's Holy Spirit, and the Exercise of these Graces which he by Regeneration has implanted in your Souls, do mortify and subdue the Deeds of the Body, those carnal Inclinations from whence all criminal Indulgences of the Body arise, ye shall live; ye shall sinally obtain a State of compleat Felicity, in Spight of all that Death can do to dissolve these animal Bodies: Not now to infift on that true rational Delight, which is only to be found here in such a Course, and without which our Abode on Earth scarce deserves the Name of Life.

13 For if ye live after the Flesh, ye shall die: But if ye through the Spirit do mortify the Deeds of the Body, ye shall live,

14 Well may it be expected, that in this Case, you shall live for ever; since hereby your Adoption of God, which must intitle you to a blissful Immortality, will be approved. For as many as are led by the Spirit of GOD, and humbly resign themselves to be guided whither-soever he will, by his sweet and secret Insluence on the Soul, they led by the Spirit of God, they Gón.

15 For ye have not received the Spirit of Bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of Adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 The Spirit itself beareth witness with our Spirit, that we are the Children of God.

17 And if Children, then Heirs; Heirs of God, and Joint-they are the Sons of they are indeed the Sons and Daughters of GOD, Sect. 16. and shall inherit eternal Life with their heavenly Father: Of which indeed, if we are obedient to his holy Dictates and Motions, we already receive the Earnest and Foretastes. who are real Christians, have not received the Spirit of Bondage again unto Fear (c), ye are not come under another Dispensation like that of Moses, which was much more adapted to strike the Mind with Terror, and often produces a fervile Disposition; but, on the contrary, ye have received the Spirit of Adoption, the Confidence of Children in approaching to GoD; by which Spirit, whatever our different Nations and Languages may be, we can, with equal Joy and Freedom, present our Addresses to his Throne, and cry, with the Overflowings of filial Affection to him, and fraternal Love to each other, Abba, Father (d). For as the Communication of the visible and extraordinary Gifts of the Spirit both to Jews and Gentiles witnesses that we are, without Distinction, in this Respect accepted and owned by God as his People; fo also he bimself, by his internal and gracious Operations, beareth Witness with the Answer of our Spirits, when feriously examined and interrogated, and gives us an inward and joyful Affurance, that we are the Children of GOD, and personally interested in his paternal Love. And from 17 hence arises a most joyful and triumphant Hope; for if we are his Children, then we are undoubtedly Heirs of a glorious and immortal Inheritance: We are then Heirs of GOD, and shall for ever enjoy him, as our gracious Father, whose Presence and Love is the very Heaven of Heaven.

(c) The Spirit of Bondage.] Both Mr. Locke and Mr. Pierce understand this, of the Fear of Death, under which the legal Dispensation left the Jews; but I rather understand it of that comparatively fervile Spirit, which run thro' the whole Mosaick Oeconomy, and which is finely illustrated by Dr. Evans, in his Sermon on this Text. Evan's Christian Temp. Vol. 1. Serm. xvii. Serm. xviii.

(d) Abba, Father.] I suppose, sew of my Readers will need to be informed, that the Word Abba signifies Father, in the Jewish Language, that is, the Syro-Chaldaick; and the Insertion of it here beautifully represents the Union of Fewish and Gentile Believers, in those Devotions, which were dictated by a filial Spirit.

Vol. IV.

Rom. VIII. 17.

Sect. 16. And we are also Joint-Heirs of Christ, we shall Joint-Heirs with Christ: If enjoy this Happiness, as with him, in his Sight, and shall be formed to a Resemblance of him, as the great Foundation of that Enjoyment. But then let it ever be remembered, that this is to be taken in Connection. It is provided that we are willing, not only to deny ourselves in prohibited carnal Gratifications, and to govern our Lives by his Precepts, but also to fuffer with [bim], that is, in Conformity to him, if called out to it for the Honour of God, and for the Testimony of a good Conscience; that so we may also be glorified together with him, in that World where he now triumphs, and where all the Infamy and Pain we endure for his Sake, shall be amply repaid with Honours and Joys everlasting.

so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together.

IMPROVEMENT.

ELL may we rejoice in Priviledges like these; well may we be V astonished to think, that they should be bestowed on any of the Chil-Ver. 17. dren of Men! That any of them should be Heirs of GOD, and Joint-Heirs with Christ; the adopted Children of an heavenly Father, and marked out by the Communications of his Spirit for an Inheritance, which he hath prepared! That they should be fitted, and enabled, to approach Ver. 15. him with that endearing Compellation, Abba, Father, in their Mouths!

Oh that every one of us may know by Experience, which alone can *teach us, how fweet it is! And if we would obtain and fecure this Wit-

Ver. 14. nefs, let us fee to it, that we be obediently led by the Spirit of GOD; for that Spirit is not, where he does not effectually govern; and if any Man

Ver. 9. have not that Spirit of Christ, he is none of Christ's Disciples, nor is he intitled to any of the Priviledges of his People.

> Let the Matter therefore be seriously examined: And let it be determined by inquiring, whether we do on the whole walk after the

Ver. 1. Flesh, or the Spirit. Let us guard more and more against that carnal Ver. 7. Mind, which is Enmity against GOD, and cannot be subject to his Law, nor leave Room for us to please GOD, while it presides and governs in Let us often reflect upon that Death, which would be the

Ver. 6. Consequence of our living after the Flesh; and never conceive of ourselves upon any Occasion as Persons, who, in Consequence of something that has already passed, have found out a Way to break the Connection here established, and in the Nature of Things essentially established, between a carnal Mind, and Death. May our Spirits be more and more enlivened

Digitized by Google

by

by that vital Union with a Redeemer, which may give us a Part in the Sect. 16. Merits of his Righteousness, and in the Life it has secured for all true Believers; and may the Esticacy of his Spirit to raise our Souls from a Death of Sin to a Life of Holiness, be in us a blessed Earnest, that he will compleat the Work, and at length quicken our mortal Bodies by bis Spirit which dwelleth in us. When Flesh and Sense can administer a Consolation like this, let us hearken to them: In the Mean Time let us remember, let us always remember, how much we are Debtors to the Spirit; and let us endeavour to act according to these immense Obligations.

S E C T. XVII.

The glorious Prospects, which the Gospel sets before us, are represented and urged as a further Advantage, which it gives us for Holiness; even that consummate Glory, the Discovery of which the whole Creation, now subject to Vanity, seems to wait and call for. The Apostle then mentions Consolations, which are derived from the Assistances of the Spirit in Prayer, as further illustrating his main Design. Rom. VIII. 18,---27.

ROMANS VIII. 18.

ROMANS VIII. 18.

FOR I reckon, that the Sufferings of this prefent Time, are not worthy

IN representing the high Priviledges of our Adop- Sect. 17. tion, I have been observing, that if, in Consequence of our Fidelity to our Saviour, we should Rom. VIII. fuffer with him, we shall also be glorified together with him: And in this persecuted State, in which, as Christians, we now are, I beseech you attentively to enter into this Thought, that your Hearts may be duely quickened and fortified by it. I have for my own Part been obliged, amidst the peculiar Hazards of my Apostolick Office, frequently to weigh and exactly to examine the Matter; and I find upon the most deliberate Computation, that the Sufferings of the present Time, how extream foever they may be, [are] not worthy [of any Account at all, nor so much as worthy of a Mention, Sect. 17. tion, when fet against that great and unalterable to be compared with the Glo-I Glory, that shall in due Time be revealed to us; Rom. VIII. but which at present exceeds even our most ele-18. vated Conceptions, and can never be fully known, till we fee each other wear it, and by Consciousness feel it in our selves.

ry which shall be revealed

These, my dear Brethren, are the Views, 19 with which I would animate your Minds: And furely no Object can give them more noble, or more delightful Employment. For methinks, when I look round upon the blasted and wretched State of this World of ours, it seems that all Nature does, as it were, call aloud, in pathetick Language, for that bleffed Change, which the Gospel was intended to introduce. The earnest Expectation of the whole Creation (a), so far as it now lies open to our View, is waiting for the Revelation of the Sons of GOD; for the happy Time when he shall appear more openly to avow them, and that Reproach and Distress shall be rolled away, under which they are now disguised For the Creation foon lost its 20 and concealed. original Beauty and Felicity; a sad Change passed on Man and his Abode, so that all the visible Face of Nature was made subject to Vanity and Wretchedness in a Variety of Forms; and this not willingly, not by the personal Misbehaviour of those who are now most deeply affected without, but by him who subjected [it,] that is, by Adam, 19 For the earnest Expectation of the Creature waiteth for the Manifestation of the Sons of God.

20 For the Creature was made subject to Vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the fame in Hope:

(a) The earnest Expectation of the Creation, &c.] This and the following Verses have been generally, and not without Reason, accounted as difficult, as any Part of this Epistle. The Difficulty has perhaps been fomething increased by rendering alious, Creation in one Clause, and Creature in another. To explain it as chiefly referring to the brutal, or inanimate Creation, is infufferable; fince the Day of the Redemption of our Bodies will be attended with the Conflagration, which will put an End to them. The Interpretation therefore, by which Dr. Whithy and Mr. Grove refer it to the Gentile World, is much preferable to this. But on the whole, I think, it gives a much sublimer and nobler Sense, to suppose it a bold Prosopopæia, by which on Account of the Calamity Sin brought and continued on the whole unevangelized World, (tho' few of its Inhabitants saw so much of their Misery, as actually to defire the Remedy,) it is represented as looking out with eager Expetiation, (as the Word amorapa Sonia exactly fignifies,) for such a Remedy and Relief as the Gospel brings, by the Prevalency of which human Nature would be rescued from Vanity and Corruption, and inferior Creatures from Tyranny and Abuse. Nothing is more common, than to represent a Land as mourning or rejoicing, as valling for Rain, &c. And if this be allowed to be the Meaning of these three Verses, the Gradation in the 23d will be much more intelligible, than on any other Scheme that I know. See Note (b) below. (b) Bring

Rom. VIII.

21.

21 Because the Creature itself also shall be delivered from the Bondage of Corruption, into the glorious Liberty of the Children of Goo.

Race, as a publick Person, and by his Transgresfion brought us into so deplorable a State. plorable indeed! but bleffed be God not intirely abandoned; fince it is still in Hope, that the Salvation so happily begun, shall at length be much more widely extended; that the Creation shall, at least in Ages to come, be set free from the Bondage of Corruption, by which Men are now abusing themselves and the inferior Creatures; and that they shall even be brought into the glorious Liberty, of which we Christians are possessed, in Consequence of our being the Sons of GOD: As it is certain the Creation would be made inconceivably happier, than it is, if this bleffed Dispensation, by which we are introduced into God's Family, and taught to do our utmost to diffuse Good to all around us, were universally to prevail. In the mean Time, such is the 22: State of the whole World, that it feems to call in the most importunate Manner for this great Interpolition of Divine Power and Mercy in its Favour; yea, I may fay in Reference to it, we know that the whole Creation, ever fince the first Apostacy of our Nature from God, groaneth together, and travaileth together until now; it laboureth in strong Pangs to bring on this important Birth of Sons and Daughters unto the most high (b). And not only doth the whole Creation feem [fo] to travail in Pangs around us, when we survey these Parts of it where the Gospel is Adam, when he stood at the Head of our Sect. 17.

22 For we know that the whole Creation groaneth, and travaileth in Pain together until now:

23 And not only they,

(b) Bring on this important Birth, &c.] It is indeed true, that to be in Pangs like a Woman in Travail sometimes only signifies being in great Distress, where there is no Reference to any expected Birth; but it seems to me very probable, that the Aposle in these Metaphors here alludes to what he had been faying before, (Verses 14,—17, 19, 21.) In all which Places he describes Christians as the Children of GOD, and so here expresses the general Prevalency of the Gospel by the Birth of many more, with which Nature was pregnant, and of which it longed, as it were, to be delivered: Thereby beautifully representing the sad Condition of those, who while they have Faculties fitting them for standing in such a Relation to God, as his Children, are lost in Darkness and Vanity, while ignorant of God and the Way of Salvation; during which Time they were even pained by the Excellency of their Nature, it having no suitable Object to act upon. And this is the well adjusted, but generally unobserved Gradation I referred to above, Note (a): The World seems to wait and call and groan, for the Spreading of the Gospel, and those, among whom it prevails, are still travailing, as it were, with the Hope and Desire of a yet more exalted State after the Resurrection. (A)

Digitized by Google

(c) The

23.

Sect. 17. yet unknown, but even we Christians ourselves, who have received the first Fruits of the Spirit, and thereby have attained no inconfiderable Degrees of Liberty and Deliverance, even we groan within ourselves under many remaining Imperfections and Burthens; while we are yet waiting with strong Defire for the great Event, which may, by Way of Eminence, be called our Adoption (c), as it shall be the publick Declaration of it, when, our heavenly Father shall produce us before the Eyes of the whole World, habited and adorned as becomes his Children. eafily perceive, I now refer to the Redemption of our Bodies, their final Deliverance from the Power of the Grave at the general Refurrection (d), which shall introduce us to a Happiness, incomparably exceeding the freest and most glorious State, into which the Earth shall ever be brought, even by the greatest Triumph and Prevalency of the Gospel.

but ourielves also, which have the First-fruits of the Spirit, even we ourtelves groan within ourselves, waiting for the Adoption, to wit, the Redemption of our Body.

This, I say, we are longing and breathing af-24 ter, and we shall still be so, while we continue here: For we are faved by Hope; the firm Belief and chearful View of this compleat Salvation is our great Security amidst so many Evils, Temptations and Dangers. But Hope, which is feen, that Hope, which relates merely to Objects now visible, is not worthy the Name of Hope. For what a Man sees, how doth he yet hope for? the more we know of these worldly Things, the less shall we amuse ourselves with any high Hopes and 24 For we are faved by Hope: But Hope that is feen, is not Hope: For what a Man feeth, why doth he yet hope for?

25 Expectations concerning them. But fince we hope for what we see not, for a Happiness far exceeding any Thing we have ever seen, or can see, we patiently wait for it, and find something in the Greatness of the Prospect, to repay the Tediousness of the most afflicted Circumstances, and 25 But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with Patience wait for it.

(c) The Adoption, &c.] I intirely agree with Mr. Howe, (Works Vol. i. pag. 680. 681.) that here is an Allusion to the two Kinds of Adoption among the Romans; the first of which was private; the second, publick in the Forum, when the adopted Person was solemnly declared and avowed to be the Son of the Adopter. Compare Luke xx. 36.

(d) Deliverance, &c.] That Redemption fometimes fignifies Deliverance, is very certain. Compare Luke xxi. 28. Eph. i. 14. Heb. xi. 35.

(e) Lendetb

to

to excite us to prepare for it by cultivating a fui- Sect. 17. table Temper in all its Branches.

26 Likewise the 'Spirit also helpeth our Infirmities: For we know not what we should pray for as we ought: But the Spirit itself maketh Intercession for us with Groanings which cannot be uttered.

Rom. VIII. Such Hope doth our holy Profession administer to us, for our Support amidst all the Difficulties of our Christian Course; and we have moreover this important Priviledge, that the Holy Spirit of God graciously lendeth us his helping Hand(e) under all our Burthens and Infirmities; so that we are not left to fusiain them alone: Which is of vast Moment in many Respects, and particularly in the Conduct of our Devotions, for we are furrounded with fo much Ignorance and Prejudice, that in many Instances we do not know what we should pray for as we ought, because we know not on the whole what may be best for us: But the Spirit itself manages these Affairs for us, guiding our Minds to fuitable Petitions, and exciting in them correspondent Affections, and fometimes inspiring us with that intense Ardor of holy Defire, which no Words can express, but must therefore vent themselves in unutterable Groanings. But tho' we are not able to speak these Desires, they are not concealed from GoD: He who fearcheth the inmost Recesses of human Hearts, knoweth what [is] the Mind of the Spirit (f); he reads all these secret Agitations of our Spirits which answer to the Emotions of his; for he manages Affairs for the Saints according to [the] gracious [Will] and Appointment [of] GOD(g): A Circumstance which we cannot recollect with-27 And he that searcheth the Hearts, knoweth what is the Mind of the Spirit, because he maketh Intercesfion for the Saints according to the Will of GoD.

(e) Lendeth us his helping Hand.] I know not how better to render that expressive Phrase, συναι Ιιλαμβετεί αι ημιν, which literally expresses the Action of one who helps another to raife or bear a Burthen, by taking Hold of it on one Side, and lifting it or bearing it with him; and so it seems to intimate the Obligation on us, to exert our little Strength, feeble as it is, in Concurrence with this almighty Aid.

(f) The Mind of the Spirit.] The Phrase is here occumuals resumalos, the very same, that was used Verse 6. and expresses not merely the Meaning, but the Temper and Disposition, of the Mind, as, under the Influences of the Divine Spirit, pursuing and breathing after such Bleffings, as fuit its rational and immortal Nature.

(g) Manages Affairs for the Saints, &c.] I agree with a late ingenious Writer, several Times mentioned before, in rendering EDUY X avers unter aylar, manages Affairs for the Saints, as the Office of an Interceffor with God is so peculiarly that of Christ, our Advocate with the Father. I John ii. I. As for the Phrase rala Ocor, it is capable of many different Significations; but I don't think it here fignifies the same with eventor Is Ges, in the Presence of GOD, but rather on the Part of GOD, that is, by his Appointment, or perhaps, as we render it, according to the Will of GOD. I have therefore retained our Version, and included both the Senses in the Paraphrase.

Ver. 18.

Sect. 17. out the greatest Pleasure, and the most chearful Expectations of receiving every suitable Blessing in Consequence of it, and in Answer to these Prayers, which are presented to God under such Influence.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 26. POR ever adored be the Divine Goodness, in sending down his Spirit on such sinful Creatures, to belp our Instrmities; to implant, and to excite Graces in our Hearts, to be a Source of present Delights, and of eternal Happiness. May we feel him helping our Instrmities, and improving our Joy in the Lord, to such a Degree, that all our Devotions may be animated Sacrifices. Let not the Want of Expression in that Ver. 27. Case trouble us; these unutterable Groanings are sometimes the sweetest Musick in the Ear of God.

Well may such fervent Groanings be excited, when we view that great and glorious Object, which the Gospel proposes to our Hope. Let us encounter the Sufferings of the present Time, with a Fortitude becoming those, that see them so short, and so far overballanced by the immense and boundless Prospects, which lie beyond them: Prospects of un-

Ver. 19. clouded Lustre, and unmingled Felicity.

When we consider the State of that Part of the World, in which Christianity is unknown, or of those, among whom it is a mere empty Form; when we consider the Vanity, to which that Part of God's Crea-

Ver. 20. tion is subject, let it move our Compassion, and our Prayers, that the State of glorious Liberty into which God has already brought those,

Ver. 21. who by Faith in Christ are his Children, may become more univerfally prevalent; and the Knowledge of the Lord cover the Earth, as the Waters cover the Channel of the Seas. Oh that Divine and omni-

Ver. 22. potent Grace may give a Birth to that grand Event, in the Expectation of which Nature seems in Pangs; such a Birth, that Nations might be born in a Day; and where the Children are born, may it give a more abundant Growth and more happy Increase.

We have received what the travailing Creation has not, the first Fruits of the Spirit, and they must surely excite us to groan after the Redemption of our Bodies: Yet still with humble Submission to the Will of God, waiting his wisely appointed Hour for the Dissolution, and for the Restoration of them. That God, in whose Hand these Important Events are, best knows, how long to exercise our Faith, whether in this mortal World, or in the intermediate State; nor should any Delay be esteemed long by those, who have so chearful an Hope of enjoying God for ever.

SECT.

S E C T. XVIII.

The Apostle represents other Advantages for Holiness, which the Gospel gives us; particularly those, which arise from an Assurance, that all Things shall work together for our Good; and from the View we have, as true Christians, of an eternally gracious Plan, which GOD has laid for our Happiness, in Pursuance of which he hath already done such great Things for us, especially in sending his Son for our Redemption; whence his People may be assured, that no Accusation shall prevail against them, and no Temptations separate them from his Love. Rom. VIII. 28, to the End.

ROMANS VIII. 28.

ND we know that all Things work together for Good, to them that love God, to them who are the Called according to his Purpose.

HAVE taken Occasion to hint at many Sect. 18. Priviledges, which, in Consequence of participating of the Gospel, you enjoy: And now I must add this to the rest, that though our Afflictions may lie heavy upon us, and tho' our Burthens may continue long; yet we affuredly know, that all Things, which occur in the Course of Divine Providence, either in their present and immediate, or future and more remote Consequences, do and shall work together for real and everlasting Good to them that fincerely and prevalently love the bleffed GOD (a), and are by Divine Grace called, and formed to this happy Principle, according to [bis] gracious and effectual We have this Confidence I say, be- 29 cause God in his eternal Counsels designed this,

ROMANS VIII. 28.

29 For whom he did Purpose.

Rom. VIII.

28.

(a) All Things, which occur in the Course of Divine Providence &c.] It is so plain, from the whole Context, that the Apostle only speaks of providential Events, and it is so evident, that the universal Expression all is sometimes to be taken in Mimited Sense, that it must argue, I fear, something worse than Weakness, to pretend that Sin is comprehended in the Apostle's Assertion. Plato's Sentence so nearly parallel to this, is a Commentary infinitely preferable to such an Explication, " Whether a righteous Man be in Poverty, Sickness, or any other Calamity, we must conclude that it will turn to his Advantage, either in Life, or Death." See Plato de Rep. Lib. IX.

Vol. IV.

. (b) Whom

Sect. 18. and appointed a proper Series of subordinate Cau-Rom. VIII. 29.

fes to make Way for that bleffed Event, in which all is to terminate; establishing a certain Connection between the one and the other; a. Connection, which in the greatest Distress is our Confidence and our Joy. For whom he foreknew, as the Objects of his peculiarly favourable Regards (b), knowing with everlasting Complacency his own Thoughts of Peace towards them, (Compare Jer. xxix. 2.) be did also predestinate [to] stand in a peculiar Relation to the great Redeemer, and [be] made in due Time conformable to the Image of that glorious and bleffed Person, even Jesus bis only begotten and best beloved Son, who is now exalted high above all Heavens. He appointed, I say, such a Conformity between him and them, that he might be, and appear to be, the First-born. among many Bretbren; and might at length see many of his Brethren by his Means sharing with him in that Happiness, to which he is now received, and in which he shall for ever shine, distinguished from them all in Rays of peculiar 30 Glory. To this Felicity did the Father of Mercy decree to raise a Part of our fallen and miserable Race; and those whom he thus predestinated, he in due Time bath called, or will hereafter in their succeeding Generations call, by the Invitations of the Gospel and Operations of his-Spirit, to repent and believe, that so they might claim the promised Blessings, in Virtue of that everlasting Covenant which they cordially embrace; and whom be hath thus called, he hath, on their Compliance with that Call, justified (c), foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the Image of his Son, that he might be the First-born. among many Brethren.

30 Moreover, whom he did predestinate, them he also called: And whom he called, them he also justifi-

(b) Whom he foreknew, as the Objects of his peculiar favourable Regards. To know, sometimes signifies to favour, Amos iii. 2. 2 Tim. ii. 19. Exod. xxxiii. 12, 17. Pfal. i. 6. Jer. x. 14. Rom. xi. 2. 1 Pet. i. 2. Hof. xiii. 5. and they who interpret these Verses, as Mr. Locke, and many others do, of God's intending to bring the Gentiles into the Church, on a Footing of equal Priviledges with the Jews, must certainly take the Word in this Sense. But the Reader will easily perceive, by my Paraphrase, that I consider them as applicable to all true Christians, whether originally of Jewish or Gentile Descent; as the Priviledges themselves relate not to Communities, as such, but to Individuals.

(c) Whom he hath called, he hath justified.] Barclay pleads, that this Justification must include Holinest, or it is left out of the Chain. Barcl. Apol. pag. 221. But the Apolle had so plainly declared in the Beginning of the Chapter, that a Freedom from Condemnation was the peculiar Priviledge of those, who walk after the Spirit; that it was the less necessary for him here distinctly to mention Sanctification.

(d) Whom-

Rom. VIII.

30.

ed: And whom he justified, them he also glorinfreed them from the condemning Sentence of Sect. 18. his Law, and given them a pleadable Right to S a full Acquittal at his Bar; and those whom he bath thus justified, be bath also glorified (d), that is, he hath appointed they should ere long attain to compleat Glory and Happiness, to which, by Virtue of their Union with him, they may be faid even now to arrive. (Eph. iii. 4.)

31 What shall we then fay to these Things? If God be for us, who can be against us?

32 He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all Things?

On the whole, what shall we therefore say to these Things, or conclude upon this Review? Surely we may couragiously defy all our Enemies, and fay, if that GOD, who hath all Power in himself, and all the Events of Time and Eternity under his Direction, [be,] as we have heard, for us, who [can] presume to [be] against us, or be able to do us any Hurt by the fiercest Opposition, while we are guarded by such a Protector? Yea, I may add, not only what have we to fear, but what have we not to hope and expect, in Connection with fuch Views as these? He that spared not his own, his proper and only begotten Son, when even his Blood and Life came into Question, but willingly delivered bim up to Agony and Death, that he might be a Sacrifice for us all, how shall be not with him freely grant us all other Things, subservient to our truest Happiness; which may now be regarded as the Purchase of his Blood? We may reasonably conclude that what is now with-held, would be detrimental, rather than advantageous to us.

(d) Whom-be-justified-he glorified.] 'Tis plain, that Justification is here considered as distinct from, and prior to, Glorification; and consequently, that there is a Sense in which Believers may be said to be justified now, (as they often are, Compare Luke xviii. 14. Acts xiii. 39. Rom. v. 9. 1 Cor. vi. 11.) tho' it is at the great Day, that their compleat Justifeation will be declared, and there seems generally to be an ultimate Reservence to that great Transaction, in the Use of this forensick Term. (Mat. xii. 37. Rom. ii. 13. Chap. iii. 30.) To suppose that Christians are said to be glorified merely in Reference to the Spirit of Glory new resting upon them, (I Pet. iv. 14.) is limiting the Phrase to a Sense less sublime and extensive, than it generally has, particularly, Ver. 17, 18. 2 Cor. iv. 17. Col. i. 27. Chap. iii. 4. 1 Theff. ii. 12. 1 Pet. v. 10. to which a Multitude of other Texts might be added, where Glory refers to the Exaltation and Blessedness of the future State. — This is a memorable Instance, and there are Scores, and perhaps Hundreds more, in which Things, that shall certainly and speedily be done, are spoken of as done already. Moses gave a reemarkable Example of this noble Language of Faith, in his Song, (Exod. xv. 13, &c.) on the Destruction of Pharaoh in the Red Sea, and the Prophets and Apostles have continued it, in a Variety of triumphant Passages, which it will be a great Pleasure to the pious Reader to observe for himself.

(e) Who

Nothing therefore shall separate us from the Love of Christ: 108

Sect. 18. 33.

35

Upon the whole then, we may take Courage, and fay, who shall lodge any Accusation against the Elect of GOD (e), against those who love him, and have been, as we before observed, predestinated and called according to his eternal Purpose? [Is it] GOD? What! he who himself justifieth (f)? as the Prophet in his own Case expresses it. (Isai. 1.8, q.) He is ready to answer all Objections, and folemnly to pronounce us abfol-Who [is] he then, that condemneth? [Isit] the Lord Jesus Christ, whom we know to be appointed as the final Judge? What! doth he condemn, who bath died to expiate our Guilt, and rescue us from Condemnation? Yea'rather, (which is the most delightful Confideration of all) who is rifen again? Shall he undo the Purposes of his Death and Resurrection? He who is now fitting at the right Hand of GOD, where he appears under a quite contrary Character, and is also making Intercession for us; undertaking the Management of our Affairs, and, far from accusing us, appears ready to answer all Accusations brought against us, and to frustrate all the Defigns of our Enemies?

33 Who shall lay any Thing to the Charge of God's Elect? It is God that justifieth:

34 Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather that is rifen again, who is even at the right Hand of God, who also maketh Intercession for Confident therefore in his Protection and Favour, we defy them all; and fay in Strains of yet sublimer Triumph, who shall separate us from the Love of Christ? Who or what shall dissolve that Union to him, which is our great Security, and be able to alienate our Hearts from him, who is the Source of fuch invaluable Bleffings, and hath displayed such incomparable Riches of Grace? [Shall] the severest Affliction (g), or the 35 Who shall separate us from the Love of Christ? Shall Tribulation, or Diftrefs.

(e) Who shall lodge an Accusation, &c.] This executes plainly fignifies.—By the elect of GOD many understand the Gentiles; but as it is certain, the Phrase, whatever it imports, is not to be confined to them, and is presently after used of believing Jews, (Rom. xi. 5, 7, 28.) it feems highly reasonable, to consider it here, as including them also; especially as their unbelieving Brethren might be ready to lodge the heaviest Accusations against them, as Deferters and Apostates from their own Law, if they acted on the Principles the Apostle had been laying down in the former Chapter.

(f) GOD who justifieth, &c.] I here follow the Pointing, proposed by the learned and ingenious Dr. Sam. Harris, in his Observations, (pag. 54, 55.) which greatly illustrates the Spirit of this Passage, and shews, how justly that Author adds, that it is remarkably in the grand Manner of Demosthenes.

(g) Shall Affliction, &c.] None can imagine, that Christ would love a good Christian the less for enduring such Extremities for his Sake. The Text must therefore be intended to express tress, or Persecution, Famine, or Nakedness, or Peril, or Sword?

26 (As it is written, For thy Sake we are killed all the Day long; we are accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter)

37 Nay in all these Things we are more than Conquerors, through him that loved us.

38 For I am persuaded, that neither Death, nor. Life, nor Angels, nor Principalities, nor Powers, nor Things most pressing Straits, or the most cruel Persecu- Sect. 18. tion, to the Inconveniencies and Extremities of which we may indeed be exposed in our Christian Rom. VIII. Warfare, or bunger, if we be starving in desolate Places (b), or Nakedness, if it had not so much as Sheep-skins or Goat-skins to cover it, or in a Word, any other Peril, to which in our different Situations we may be exposed, or even the drawn Sword of our blood-thirsty Enemies ready to be plunged into our defenceles Bosoms? It may indeed cut short the Residue of our mor- 36 tal Days; as it is written, in Words which may justly be applied to us, (Psal. xliv. 22.) " for thy " Sake we are without Remorfe killed all the " Day long, we are accounted as fo many Sheep " destined to the Slaughter, and delivered over to " it without Resistance on our Part, or Mercy " on that of our Enemies." Nevertheless, 37 while we appear in so weak and helpless a State, we do in all these Things more than conquer, we triumph in certain and illustrious Victory, thro' bim who bath loved us, and, having redeemed us to God by his own Blood, will fecure us amidst all these Temptations, and finally shew that our Sufferings and Death have been precious in his Sight, and have made a Part in his merciful. Scheme for our more exalted Happiness.

Well may I thus boast of the securest and 38 compleatest Victory, even amidst the Combat; for I am persuaded, that neither the Fear of Death, in any imaginable Form of Terror, nor the Hope and Defire of Life, in the most agreeable Circumstances that can be imagined, nor all the Efforts of infernal Angels, nor of Principalities, nor of Powers(i), however various their Rank, how-express the Apostle's Confidence, that God's invariable Love to his People, illustrated already in so glorious a Manner, would engage him to support them under all their Trials,, by vital Communications of Divine Strength.

(h) Hunger.] The Word \(\lambda\) is more extensive than Famine, and may be applied to personal, as well as publick Necessity. (i) Angels, Principalities and Powers.] Elsner, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 42.) has sufficiently shewn that good Angels are sometimes called Powers, to express their being used as Instruments of the Divine Power, (Compare Eph. i. 21. Chap. i. 10. Col. i. 16. Chap. ii. 10.) as likewise that apxas may signify Magistrates, Compare Tit. iii. 1. But as it is certain that

. 14

Sect. 18. ever subtle their Artifices, however surious and malignant their Rage may be, nor Things present, difficult as they are, nor Things future, extream as they may possibly prove, Nor the Height of Prosperity, nor the Depth of Adversity, nor any other Creature, above or beneath, in Heaven, Earth or Hell, shall be able to separate any of us, who are Christians indeed, from the Love of the almighty and ever-blessed GOD, which is graciously given us in Christ Jesus our Lord (k) by a Tenure, so certain, that it shall never be lost: And being thus secure that nothing shall separate which nothing can difinay.

us from that, we assuredly know that nothing can on the whole hurt us; and feel a Courage,

Things present, nor Things to come.

39 Nor Height, nor Depth, nor any other Creature, shall be able to separate us from the Love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver.29,30. O H blessed Souls indeed, who having been in the eternal Counsels of the Divine Love foreknown and predestinated, are, in Consequence thereof, called and justified, as the earnest of being ere long glorified! Who would not defire to see his own Title to Priviledges so inestimable, as these? And how shall we know that we have our Part in them? How

Ver. 28. but by securing an Evidence, that we love GOD? Then may we be assured, that all Things shall work together for our Good, and glory in it, that

Ver. 33. we are the Elect of God; to whose Charge therefore nothing shall be al-

Ver. 34. ledged, fince GOD justifieth; whom none shall condemn, since Christ died to expiate our Sins, and is ascended into Heaven continually to intercede for us. In chearful Dependence on his Patronage and Care, let us bid Defiance to all our Enemies, and be willing to submit to the greatest Ex-

Ver. 35. tremities, fince they shall not be able to feparate us from the Love of Ver. 36. Christ, even the for his Sake we should be killed all the Day long, and accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter.

Ver.38,39. Oh blessed Souls, whom neither Death, nor Life, nor Angels, nor any other Creature, shall be able to divide and cut off from the Love of GOD! What then can harm us? What Evil can we then suffer? What Good evil Angels are called Principalities and Powers, (Eph. vi. 12. Col. ii. 15.) and as that Interpretation of the Words best suits the Context, (for it is not to be thought that good Angels would attempt to separate Men from Christ's Love,) I must adhere to it.

(k) Shall separate us, &c.] Archbishop Tillotson thinks (Vol. i. pag. 491.) Paul speaks thus considerately in Reference to himself, and the Experience he had passed through of so peculiar a Nature, but he seems to me to found the Argument on Considerations common to all Christians, Ver. 28. and the Connection is such, that if these latter Clauses are limited to St. Paul, I dont see how the preceeding can be extended farther.

tean we want? When GOD is for us, and when we are sensible of his Sect. 18. Love in giving us his Son, how can we allow ourselves to suspect his Readiness, with him, to give us all Things truly reasonable or desirable? All Ver. 32. other Blessings, when compared with these, will appear unworthy of a Mention: And we should have great Reason to suspect, that they were not ours, if we did not find a Heart superlatively to value them above every Thing else.

SECT. XIX.

The Apostle now, finding it necessary to speak more expressly of the Rejection of the Jews, and the Calling of the Gentiles, introduces the Subject with very tender Expressions of his Regard to his Jewish Brethren; and then shews, that the Rejection of a considerable Part of the Seed of Abraham, and even of the Posterity of Isaac, from the peculiar Priviledges of GOD's chosen People, was an incontestible Fact, which the Jews could not but grant to have happened, that is, with Regard to the Descendents of Ishmael and of Esau. Rom. IX. 1,---13.

ROMANS IX. T.

ROMANS IX. 1.

I Say the Truth in Christ, I lyenot, my Conscience

Thus, my Brethren, I have endeavoured Sect. 19. to animate you by leading your Meditations to those inestimable Priviledges, which we Rom. IX. 1. receive in Virtue of the Gospel, which renders us so far superior totall the Hardships we can endure; and I hope the Thought of them will be abundantly sufficient to establish your Adherence to it. Faithfulness will also oblige me totadd, that as all who embrace and obey this Gospel, whether Jews or Gentiles, are accepted of God, so all, who reject it, are rejected by him (a).

(a) As all who embrace, &cc.] This the Apostle had intimated all along in the preceeding Discourse, which is addressed to Christians, as Christians, without any Regard to their having been Jews or Gentiles; nay he had expressly declared in the 2d and 3d Chapters, that their ...

Sect. 19. And lest, while I maintain this important Truth, any should imagine that I bear hard upon my Rom. IX. 1. dear Countrymen the Jews, on Account of any personal Injury, which I, or my Christian Brethren, of whose Sufferings I have been speaking, (Chap. viii. 35,—39.) have received from them, or by their Means; I begin this Discourse with the most solemn Assurance, I can give you, to the contrary. And herein I fay the Truth in Christ, I speak with that Candor and Integrity, which becomes a Christian, and as in the Presence of that bleffed Redeemer, who fearches all Hearts. He knows that I lye not; my Conscience also bearing me witness, as to the Truth of what I say, in the Holy Ghost, as under his Influence, who so thoroughly discerns the Soul, on which he ope-With all this Solemnity, on fo great 2 rates. an Occasion, do I declare to you, that I have great Grief, and incessant Anguish in my Heart, when I think of what hath happened, and will happen unto them, in Confequence of their Oppofition to the Gospel. For methinks, if I may be allowed to express myself so, I could even wish that as Christ subjected himself to the Curse, that he might deliver us from it, so I myself likewise were made an Anathema after the Example of Christ (b); like him exposed to all the Execrations of an enraged People, and even to the infaalso bearing me witness in the Holy Ghost,

2 That I have great Heaviness and continual Sorrow in my Heart.

3 For I could wish that myself were accursed from Christ, their having been Gentiles would be no Obstruction. And it is certain, the peculiar Oppofitions and Persecutions, which the believing Jews met with from their obstinate Countrymen, would make Encouragements and Consolations like those suggested in the eight Chapter, as necessary for them, as for any Christians in the World. So very much mistaken have some learned Commentators been, in the peculiar Turn they have given to that Chapter, and several Passages in those preceeding it.

(b) Made an Anathema after the Example of Christ.] This Sense is given by the learned Dr. Waterland, (Serm. Vol. i. pag. 77, 78.) who urges the Manner in which are is used, 2 Tim. i. 3. are law approved, after the Example of my Forefathers. Compare I John iii. 16. Next to this, I should incline to the Interpretation, given by Dr. Clarke, (Seventeen Serm. pag. 340.) who supposes the Apostle means, that he could be content that Christ should give nim up to such Calamities, as these, to which the Jewish People were doomed for rejecting him; so that if they could all be centered in one Person, he could be willing they should unite in him, could he thereby be a Means of saving his Countrymen. Compare Deut. vii. 26. Josh. vi. 17. Chap. vii. 12.—Grotius understands it of a Separation from the Church of Christ, (which is sometimes called by the Name, Christ, I Cor. xii. 12. Gal. iii. 27.) or of Excommunication.—Elsner, (who, agreeably to the last Interpretation, joins are is xpisse with huxqund,) shews very well, as many other Commentators have done, how very absurd it would be to suppose he meant, that he could be content to be delivered over to everlasting Misery for the good of others.

(c) Who

my Kinimen according to the Flesh:

4 Who are Israelites; to whom pertaineth the Adoption, and the Glory, and the Covenants, and the giving of the Law, and the Service of GOD, and the Promises;

5 Whose are the Fathers, and of whom, as concer-

Vol. IV.

Christ, for my Brethren, mous and accursed Death of Crucifixion itself, Sect. 19. for the Sake of my Brethren, and Kinsmen accordto the Flesh, that they might thereby be delivered Rom. IX. 3. from the Guilt they have brought upon their own Heads, and become intitled to the forfeited and rejected Blessings of the Messiah's Kingdom. So cordial and difinterested a Regard have I for my dear Nation, who are Israelites (c), the Seed of Jacob, that eminent Patriarch, who as a Prince had Power with God and prevailed; whose the spiritual Adoption [is] (d), in Consequence of which, as a People, they were called the Sons and Daughters of the most high GoD; and the Glory, which in the Shechinah resided visibly among them on the Mercy-feat (e); and the Covenants, made successively first with Abraham and then with Moses, and with the whole Jewish People in him; who were honoured with the giving of the Law in such solemn Pomp, and received with the Precepts of that excellent Polity an exact Ritual for the Service [of GOD] in their Tabernacles, afterward practifed in their Temple with unequalled Solemnity and Magnificence; who were also the Heirs of such peculiar and important Promises, relating not only to their Abode in Canaan, under the Administration of an equal and miraculous Providence, but likewise including and centering in the spiritual Kingdom of the Messiah, who was to arise among them. I cannot but have a respectful and tender Regard for a Nation thus dignified and distinguished; a Nation, whose Priviledges [are] handed down to them from so many illustrious Ancestors, in a long Descent, who were in their respective Ages the great Fathers of the World and Church; and from

(c) Who are Ifraelites.] The Apostle, with great Address, enumerates these Priviledges of the Jews; both that he might shew how honourably he thought of them, and that he might awaken their Solicitude not to facrifice that Divine Favour, by which they had been so eminently, and so long distinguished.

(d) The spiritual Adoption is. That is, whom God hath taken into a special Covenant with himself, whereby he stands engaged ever to act the Part of a God and Father to them, and to own them as his Children. Deut. xiv. 1. Jer. xxxi. 9. Exod. iv. 22. Hof. xi. 1.
(e) Refided on the Mercy-seat.] Hence the Ark was called the Glory. Pfal. lxxviii. 61.

1 Sam. iv. 21, 22. to which some add Pfal. lxiii. 2.

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 19. from whom, to crown the whole, according to the Flesh Christ himself is [descended;] who, tho' found Rom. IX. 5. in Fashion like a Man, and truly Partaker of our Nature in all its finless Infirmities, is also possesfed of a Divine Nature, by Virtue of which he is above all our Conceptions and Praises, above Creatures of the highest Order, and indeed GOD bleffed for ever (f), the worthy Object of our humblest Adoration, as well as unreserved Dependence, Love and Obedience. Amen: Divine Glories be ever proclaimed and confessed! May all the House of Israel know this assuredly, and fall down before him, as in and with the Father of all, their Lord and their GoD! Yet, notwithstanding all these tender Prejudices in Favour of my own dear Countrymen, I cannot defend or excuse their Conduct; nor must I conceal the ungrateful Truth afferted above, that by rejecting the Gospel, they bring upon themselves Rejection from Gon. But to prevent Mistakes, let me in the first Place observe, that it is not to be supposed, I would by any Means infinuate, that the Word of GOD hath fallen ineffectual to the Ground, even all that glorious System of Promises, by which he engaged to bestow Protection, Favour and Happiness upon his People. Order to provide against any such Allegation, I must insist upon it, as a very certain and apparent Truth, that all [are] not reckoned to be the Israel of God, so as to be the Heirs of the Promises made to his People, who are descended of 7 Israel by natural Generation. Neither because they are the Seed of Abraham, the Head of the Holy Family according to the Flesh, [are they] all ning the Flesh, Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever. Amen.

6 Not as though the Word of God hath taken none Effeet. For they are not all Israel, which are of Israel:

7 Neither because they are the Seed of Abraham, are they all Children: But Children

(g) Greatly

⁽f) Above all GOD bleffed for ever.] How ingenious soever that Conjecture may be thought, by which some would read this, we o Geo; o sat aciden, to answer to, we or relieves, (whose are the Fathers, and whose is the supream GOD;) I think it would be extreamly dangerous to follow this Reading, unsupported as it is by any critical Authority of Manuscripts, or ancient Quotations.—Nor can I find any Authority for rendering Otos sudoy flos sus les autores, GOD be bleffed for ever. I must therefore render, and paraphrase, and improve this memorable Text, as a Proof of Christ's proper Deity, which I think, the Opposers of that Destrine have never been able, nor will ever be able, to answer. Tho' common Sense must teach, what Christians have always believed, that it is not with Respect to the Father, but to the created World, that this august Title is given him. Compare 1 Cor. xv. 27, &c.

called.

8 That is, They which are the Children of the Flesh, these are not the Children of Gon: but the Children of the Promise are counted for the Seed.

9 For this is the Word of Promise, At this Time will I come, and Sara shall have a Son.

10 And not only this, but when Rebecca also had conceived by one, even by our Father Isaac,

II (For the Children being not yet born, neither having done any Good or Evil, that the Purpose of God according to Election might stand, not of Works, but of him that calleth) 12 It was faid unto her, The Elder shall serve the Younger.

13 As it is written, Jacob have I loved, but Esau have I hated.

in Isaac shall thy seed be Children of the Promise; but you know it is said, Sect. 19. (Gen. xxi. 12.) tho' Ishmael were the Son of ! Abraham long before, "In Isaac, then unborn, " shall thy Seed be called: the Descendents of "Isaac shall be spoken of as thy Seed, by Way " of Eminence, to the Exclusion of those who " may fpring from thee by thine other Children." That is on the whole, not the Children of the Flesh alone, nor any of them merely as fuch, [are] the Children of GOD, but the Children of the Promise, in one peculiar Line, are accounted as the Seed of Abraham, and honoured with the Adop-For this [is] the Word of the Promise, (Gen. xviii. 10, 14.) " according to this Time, " that is, reckoning the Conception of the Child " from hence, I will come [to thee,] in a Way of " gracious and merciful Interposition, and Sarah " Shall bave a Son:" which was faid, when Hagar had many Years been Abraham's Wife, and had long fince born a Son to him.

> Nor was [this] the only Instance of the Kind; but in the Case of Rebeccah, when she was with Child of Twins by one Man, that is, our Father Isaac; While [the Children] were not yet born, and had done neither Good to merit, nor Evil to forfeit, the Divine Favour, that the fovereign Purpose of GOD, according to his free Election, might stand stedfast, and appear not to be formed in Respect of the Works done by either, but according to the mere good Pleasure of him who calleth Things that do not yet exist into Being, and disposeth of all according to his own Will: It was said to her, when consulting the Divine Oracle on the unusual Commotion she felt in her Womb, that two different People should proceed from the Birth then approaching, (Gen. xxv. 23.) and " that the Elder of them, that is, the Posterity " of Esau, should serve the Younger, that is, " the Descendents of Jacob." As it is also written, (Mal. i. 2, 3.) "I have loved Jacob, and " hated Esau, that is, I have greatly preferred " the former to the latter (g); bestowing many " peculiar

(g) Greatly preferred the former to the latter. That to love and hate have this Sense in

Sect. 19. "peculiar Priviledges and Favours upon the Posterity of Jacob, which I have denied to that of Esau, whose Habitation I have laid waste, for the Dragons of the Wilderness, while that of his Brother slourished in the richest Abundance of all Things." We see then, to close this Branch of the Argument, that the Exclusion of a considerable Part of the Seed of Abraham, and even of the Descendents of Isaac, from the special Promises of God, is not only a Case, which may be supposed possible, but a Case, which according to the Jewish Scriptures themselves hath actually happened.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 1, 2. Le T that Affection, which the Apostle expresses for the Jews, bis Countrymen and Brethren according to the Flesh, and the tender and pathetick Representation which he makes of the Priviledges which they once enjoyed, awaken in our Hearts an earnest Solicitude, that they may by divine Grace be brought back; that they may again be adopted into the Family, from which they have been cut off, again cloathed with the Glory which is departed from them; that, thro' him who was given for a Covenant to the People, they may receive the Law of Life and Grace, be formed to that spiritual Service which it introduces, instead of their ver. 5. pompous Ritual, and embrace the Promises, on which the Faith and Hope of their illustrious Fathers was fixed.

Ver. 3. Let it likewise teach us spiritual Compassion for our Kindred, who are Strangers to Christ, and let us be willing to submit to the greatest Difficulties, Scripture, is evident. Compare Gen. xxix. 31. Luke xiv. 26. John xii. 25. and the Notes there. These Words in their Connection with the preceeding and following, do indeed prove, that God acts with a fovereign and unaccountable Freedom in the Difpensation of his Favours; and do I think, consequentially prove, that it was not upon the Foresight of the Obedience and Piety of Jacob on the one Hand, or the Profaneness of Esau on the other, that this Preference was given; for then the Argument taken from their having actually done neither Good nor Evil would be very weak, fince, to an omniscient God, that which he certainly foreknew would be, is with Regard to his Purpose of Events to succeed it, as if it already were. Nevertheless it is certain, the Apostle does not here speak of the eternal State of Jacob and E (au, (whatever fome may suppose deducible from what he says,) nor does he indeed so much speak of their Persons, as of their Posterity; since 'tis plainly to that Posterity that both the Prophecies, which he quotes in Support of his Argument, refer. Gen. xxv. 23. Mal. i. 2, 3. His laying waste the Heritage of the Edomites for the Dragons of the Wilderness, is so different a Thing from his appointing the Person of Esau to eternal Mifery by a mere Act of Sovereignty, without Regard to any Thing done or to be done by him to deserve it; that I will rather submit to any Censure from my Fellow-Servants, than deal so freely with my Maker, as to conclude the one from the other.

culties, and think nothing too much to be done or borne, for their Recovery. Sect. 19.

Let our Souls pay an humble Homage to him, who is, in fuch an incommunicable and sublime Sense, the Son of God, as to be himself over all GOD blessed for ever more. With prostrate Reverence let us adore him, as our Lord and our GOD, and repose that unbounded Confidence in him, which such an Assemblage of Divine Perfections will warrant, putting our most hearty Amen to every Ascription of Glory, to every Anthem of Praise, addressed to him.

Ver. 3.

And, to conclude, fince we see that many of the Children of Abra- Ver. 6, 7. bam, and of Isaac, failed of any Share in the special Promises of God, let us learn to depend on no Priviledge of Birth, on no Relation to the greatest and best of Men. May we seek to be inserted into the Family of Ver. 10,-13. Gop, by his adopting Love in Christ Jesus, and to maintain the lively Exercise of Faith; without which no Child of Abraham was ever acceptable to God, and with which none of the Children of Strangers have ever failed of a Share in his Mercy and Favour.

XX. SECT.

The Apostle shews, that the sovereign Choice of some Individuals to peculiar Priviledges, to which none had any Claim, and the sovereign Appointment, from among many Criminals, of some to peculiar and exemplary Punishments, was perfectly consistent both with Reason and Scripture. IX. 14,---24.

ROMANS IX. 14.

ROMANS IX. 14.

WHAT shall we say then? Is there Unrighteousness with Gon? Gop forbid.

THAVE already shewn you, how possible it is, Sect. 20. that Persons descended from Abraham, and even from Isaac, may be cut off from the special Rom. IX. 14. Promises of GoD; as the Posterity, first of Ishmael, and then of Esau, evidently were. therefore shall we say to this? [Is there] Unrighteousness with GOD in the Proceedings and Distributions of his Providence, in this or any other Instance to be produced? GOD forbid, we should infinuate any Thing of that Nature. is, in the highest Consistence with Justice, Mat-

Sect. 20. ter of the freest Choice, to whom such Favours For he saith to Moses, (Exod. shall be granted. Rom. IX.15. xxxiii. 19.) when intimating a gracious Purpose toward Israel, tho' they had broke his Covenant fo foon after the first Confirmation of it, and by an Act of flagrant Idolatry had just merited immediate Destruction, I will bave Mercy on whomfoever I will have Mercy, and will compassionate whomsoever I please to compassionate, so as to dispense Acts of Pardon according to my own sovereign Pleasure.

Jacob and Esau, of whom I was speaking just above, may be farther confidered as an Illustration of the Sovereignty of the Divine Dispensations in such Cases: The latter of them, after he had foolishly fold his Birth-right, was exceedingly defirous of obtaining his Father's Bleffing, and run out eagerly to hunt Venison for him; (Gen. xxvii. 5,—30.) nevertheless it was bestowed upon Jacob. [It is] not therefore, you see, to be referred into the Forwardness of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth; but it is of GOD, that sheweth Mercy, to one rather than another, on sovereign Reasons, which we cannot penetrate, but must always believe to be worthy of himself.

And moreover we may add, that fuch is the Conduct of Gop in other Instances, when of various Sinners he appoints one, rather than another to be a Monument of special Vengeance. For the Scripture says to Pharoah (a), (Exod. ix. 16.) " For this Cause have I raised thee up, to that " Height of Eminence in which thou gloriest(b), 15 For he faith to Moses, I will have Mercy on whom I will have Mercy, and I will have Compassion on whom I will have Compas-

16 So then it is not of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth, but of God that sheweth Mercy.

17 For the Scripture faith unto Pharoah, Even for this same Purpose have I raised thee up, that

(a) Moreover the Scripture says, &c.] 'Tis plain, that this is no Proof of what immediately goes before; I therefore choose to render yap by moreover, which is consistent with making it introductory to what proves something afferted at some Distance, if it come in as a co-ordinate Proof. This is so important a Remark in the Illustration of Scripture, and clears an attentive Reader of so many Embarrassiments, that I hope I shall be excused repeating it on different Occasions. The Reader will observe, the Apostle does not produce an Instance of an innocent Person being made an Object of Divine Displeasure, out of mere Sovereignty, but one of the most insolent Sinners that the World ever knew.

(b) I have raised thee up.] Some would render it, I have made thee to stand, that is, I have supported thee during the former Plagues, that I might make thee a more remarkable Example of Vengeance; but tho' (as Dr. Shuckford, Connect. Vol. ii. pag. 433. and many others observe,) that agree with Sidnpulus, the Word used by the Lxx. in their Version of the Text in Question, and with the Orignal העמרתין; yet it does not answer to the

I might shew my Power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout all the Earth.

18 Therefore hath he Mercy on whom he will bave Mercy, and whom he will, he hardeneth:

19 Thou wilt say then unto me, Why doth he yet find Fault? For who hath resisted his Will?

20 Nay but, O Man, who art thou that repliest against God? Shall the Thing " that I may remarkably shew forth my Power Sect. 20. " in thee, and that my Name, in Consequence of " distinguished Judgments to be righteously in-" flicted upon thee, may be celebrated through " all the Earth, in the most distant Nations and " remotest Ages." And accordingly he hardened his Heart, that he should not let Israel go, that is, he took Measures, which he knew would be attended with that Effect, and at last brought the Extremity of his Wrath upon him. then we must, after all our Objections, rest the Matter here, that the bleffed God, as he is uncontroulable, fo he is also unaccountable in his Dispensations: That in choosing this or that Creature to distinguished Favours, or appointing this or that Sinner to deserved Punishment, he hath Mercy on whom he will have Mercy, and he "bardeneth and destroyeth whom he will.

But thou wilt perhaps be ready, while thou readest this Declaration, to raise an Objection against it, and fay to me, if "God acts thus, why doth he " then find Fault, and blame his Creatures for their " Obstinacy, when he determines to give, what he " knows will in Fact prove a prevailing Occasion to " it? Whohath ever, in any Instance, refisted, or who " can ever be able to refift, bis Will? If he hath " determined by fuch Methods to destroy a Na-" tion, or a Person, who can prevent it, or pre-" vent those Evils, which shall, according to his " high Appointments of Providence, be in Fact " the Means of bringing on that Destruction?"

Nay but let me rather reply, who art thou, Oh vain, weak and ignorant Man, with all thy boasted Wisdom and Penetration, who art thou, who thus arrogantly enterest into a Debate with the all-wise, almighty and all gracious GOD, and chargest his Proceedings as arbitrary and unjust? Surely Greek Word used by St. Paul, Etnyeipa. If, as some Writers suppose, the Pharoah here spoken of were an Egyptian King, (Ithink Apophis,) who made his Way to the Throne by Treason, Incest and Murther, the Words had a singular Weight, in the Sense we have here given them. Mr. Taylor explains it of his having been recovered from the Plague of Blains, which was indeed faid to have been upon Pharaoh, Exod. ix. 15, 16. and this may possibly be the true Sense; but I think the other stronger and nobler.

Rom.IX.17.

Sect. 20. Surely it becomes us, whenever we treat such a Subject, to do it with the humblest Reverence. Rom. IX.20. and thro' the whole to remember the infinite Distance between him and us. Shall the Thing formed say unto him that formed [it,] why hast thou made me thus? Let us remember he is our almighty Creator, and not imagine we can ever have any Room or Right to expostulate with him, or in any Circumstance to complain of him. Hath not the Potter Power over [his] Clay (c), as

God himself represents the Case, (Jer. xviii. 4,-6.) out of the same Mass to make one Vessel to Uses of Honour, and another to the basest Offices of Dishonour, and to break, and renew it at

[What] then is it to thee, or his Pleasure? what Right hast thou to find Fault, if GOD, refolving at last to manifest the Terrors of [his] Wrath, and to make known his awful and tremendous Power, in their aggravated Destruction, bath in the mean Time, endured with much Long-suffering those, who shall finally appear to be Vessels of Wrath, which are fitted to Destruction(d)? Is he to account to thee for punishing them, who justly deserve Punishment, at what Time, and in what Manner, he pleases, and to ask thy Leave to delay or to execute the Stroke of his righteous Ven-

And [what if,] on the other Hand, geance? that he may make known in the most affecting and endearing Manner the Riches of his Glory, and display his Compassions in those, whom he will make the Veffels of Mercy, he graciously waits upon them, and [long endures] them (e), even

[those]

Thing formed fay to him that formed it. Why haft thou made me thus?

A

Mercy

prepar

21 Hath not the Potter Power over the Clay, of the fame Lump to make one Veffel unto Honour, and another unto Dishonour?

22 What if Gop, willing to shew his Wrath, and to make his Power known. endured with much Longfuffering the Vessels of Wrath fitted to Destruction:

23 And that he might make known the Riches of his Glory on the Vessels of Mercy,

(c) Potter Power over [his] Clay.] 'Tis observable, that Plutarch uses the very same Similitude with this before us, and Aristophanes, among other contemptuous Expressions, by which he describes the Frailty of human Creatures, calls them πλασμαθα πηλε, Vessels of Clay. See Bos in Loc.

(d) Endures with much Long-suffering the Vessels of Wrath, &c.] The Apostle seems here to have had the impenitent Jews in his Thought, tho' he did not think it proper expressly to name them. 'Tis certain, they were Vessels of Wrath, and that they were long borne with, under many Advantages, which they ungratefully abused.

(e) He waits and endures.] As it is certain, there is an Ellipsis in these Words, and that fomething must be supplied, it seems most natural to borrow a Word or two from the preceeding Verse, to compleat the Sense. Every attentive Reader will, I doubt not, infer for himself the great Difference of Phrase, in which, they, who are Vessels of Wrath, and they, who are Vessels of Mercy, are spoken of: It being said simply of the former, that they were fitted for Destruction. Mercy, which he had afore prepared unto Glory!?

24 Even us whom he hath called, not of the Jews only, but also of the Gentiles.

[those,] whom he hath, by the Power of his own Sect. 20. Grace, previously prepared to Glory, that they might in the most honourable Manner be at length cal-Rom.IX.23. Even us, whom he hath 24 led to partake of it? already called into the happy Number of his People, not only of the Jews, but of the Gentiles too. Shall he make an Apology to thee, Oh Man, that he hath appointed some of our finful Race to fuch Mercy, that he hath exercised much Longfuffering towards them, that he hath at length wrought upon them by his effectual Grace; or that, determining to deal thus mercifully with fome of Jacob's Race, he hath added to their Number others, whom he hath taken from Gentile Nations? Know thy Place, and acquiesce in humble Silence. Allow the blessed God to do what he will with his own, and let not thine Eye be evil, because he is good.

IMPROVEMENT.

F ET us learn from the memorable Section, which we have now been reading, humbly to adore the Righteousness and Holiness of Ver. 14-God, in all the most amazing Displays of his Sovereignty, which we are sure are always consistent with it. Let us own his Right to confer on whom he pleaseth, those Favours which none of us can pretend to have deserved; and adore his wonderful Goodness, in choosing to exercise Mercy and Compassion on any of the Children of Men, yea, on ma- Ver. 15. ny, who must own themselves in the Number of those, who had the least Claim to it. He hath of his mere Goodness given us those Priviledges, as Christians, and as Protestants, which he hath withheld from most Nations under Heaven. And if we improve them aright, we have undoubtedly Reason to look upon our selves, as Vessels of Mercy, whom he is Ver. 23. preparing for eternal Glory. Let us adore his distinguishing Favour to us, and arrogate nothing to ourselves. It is neither of him that willeth, nor Ver. 16. of bim that runneth, but of GOD that sheweth Mercy, and worketh in us both to will, and to do, of his own good Pleasure.

Long

Destruction, but of the latter, that GOD prepared them for Glory. A Distinction of so great Importance, that I heartily wish we may ever keep it in View, to guard us against Errors, on the Right-hand, or on the Lest. Compare Mat. xxv. 34, 41. and the Note there.

Digitized by Google

Vol. IV.

Reflections on the Righteousness of GOD in his Dispensations.

Sect. 20. Long did his Patience wait on us; and let that Patience be for ever adored! It shall be glorified even in those that perish: For he is so far from destroying innocent Creatures, by a mere arbitrary Act of Power and Terror, that he endureth with much Long-suffering those, who by their own incorrigible Wickedness prove Vessels of Wrath, and whom

122

Ver. 18. the whole assembled World shall confess fitted for the Destruction, to which they shall finally be consigned. That after long Abuse of Mercy they are hardened, and perhaps after long Hardness are at length destroyed; yea that some of the vilest of Men are exalted by Providence to a Station, that makes their Crimes conspicuous, as those of Pharoah, till

Ver. 17. at length he shews forth bis Power the more awfully, and maketh his Name the more illustrious, by their Ruin, is certainly confistent with that Justice, which the Judge of the whole Earth will never violate.

But if in tracing Subjects of this Kind Difficulties arise, beyond the Ver. 20. Stretch of our feeble Thought, let us remember that we are Men, and let us not dare to reply against GOD. Retiring into our own Ignorance and Weakness, as those that are less than Nothing, and Vanity, before him, let us dread by any arrogant Censure to offend him, who has so

Ver. 21. uncontroulable a Power over us. As Clay in the Hand of the Potter, so are we in the Hand of the Lord our GOD. Let us acquiesce in the Form he has given us, in the Rank he has affigned us; and instead of perplexing ourselves about those Secrets of his Counsels, which it is impossible for us to penetrate, let us endeavour to purify ourselves from whatever would displease him; that so we may, in our respective Stations, be Vessels of Honour, sit for the Use of our Master now, and intitled to the Promise of being acknowledged as his, in that glorious Day, when he shall make up his Jewels.

SECT.

SECT. XXI.

The Apostle shews, that the Admission of the Gentiles to the Priviledges of GOD's peculiar People, when Israel should be rejected, was so far from being inconsistent with Scripture, that it had been actually foretold, both by Hosea and Isaiah. Rom. IX. 25, to the End.

ROMANS IX. 25.

S he faith also in Osee, A I will call them my People, which were not my People; and her, beloved, which was not beloved.

ROMANS IX. 25.

THAVE been remonstrating as to the Un- Sect. 21. reasonableness of quarrelling with the Divine Dispensations, in distinguishing one Creature Rom.IX.25. from another, by his Favours, or one Sinner from another, by appointing him to peculiar Severities of Punishment, not exceeding the Demerit of his Offence. I will now venture, without farther Reserve, to say, that in what I have been writing, I had some peculiar Reference to God's calling fo many of the Gentiles by the Grace of his Gospel, and his appointing the impenitent Iews to be Monuments of Wrath. And let me now address myself to the latter, and say, who gave thee, Oh Jew, an Authority to question and dispute with thy God on this Occasion? Yea, is there on the whole any Reason for thee, who hast the Scriptures of the Old Testament in thine Hands, and professest such a Regard for them, fo much as to be furprized at this, when there are so many Hints of it in these Divine Oracles? As particularly in Hosea, where be hath spoken of calling Israel Loammi, as disowning them for their Wickedness, and hath also said, (Hos. i. 10.) "I will call them my People, who were not my 26 And it shall come to pass,

" People before, and her beloved, which was not " for a long Time beloved (a); And it shall 26 " come

(a) Call them my People, who were not my People. It seems very evident from the Conmection of these Words in Hosea, that they refer to God's Purpose of restoring the Jews to the Priviledges of his People, after they had been a while fejected of him. But it is obvious, they might with great Propriety be accommodated to the Calling of the Gentiles; and inideed

Sect. 21. " come to pass, [that] in the Place where it was " most expressly said to them, ye [are] not my Rom.IX.26. " People, there shall they be called, not only the " People, but the Sons and Daughters of the li-" ving GOD, by special Adoption and Favour." As he is the living God, he can eafily bring it into Execution, and the more you reflect on the whole Tenor of his Word, the more you will be fensible of the Propriety with which I apply this Passage, whatever its original Sense might be, 27 to the Purpose in View. I must also observe, that Isaab crieth concerning Israel with great Earnestness and Affection, (Isai. x. 22, 23.) " Tho' the whole Number of the Children of Is-" rael be as the Sand of the Sea, [yet] only a Rem-" nant shall be saved, and the Bulk of the People 28 " cut off. For the Lord is finishing and cut-" ting short bis Account in Righteousness; for the " Lord will make a short Account upon the " Earth (b): There shall be such a Consump-"tion of them, that when Accounts come to be " balanced, there will be found but a very " fmall Overplus." As the same Isaiab bath formerly said, in a Passage very much resembling that which I just now referred to, (Isai. i. 9.) " Except the Lord of Hosts had left us a Seed, we " should have been as Sodom, we should have been " made like to Gomorrab." There was then you fee but a little Remnant, which preserved the whole People from being utterly confumed: So that it is no unexampled Thing that the main Body of the Jewish Nation should fall into a Revolt from God, and become the Object of his Displeasure to the most dreadful Degree. shall we then say, in the Conclusion of the whole pass, that in the Place where it was faid unto them, Ye are not my People; there shall they be called the Children of the living God.

27 Efaias also crieth concerning Israel, Though the Number of the Children of Israel be as the Sand of the Sea, a Remnant shall be saved.

28 For he will finish the Work, and cut it short in Righteousness: Because a short Work will the Lord make upon the Earth.

29 And as Esaias said before, Except the Lord of Sabbaoth had left us a Seed, we had been as Sodoma, and been made like unto Gomorrha.

30 What shall we say then? That the Gentiles which indeed that great Event might with some Probability be inferred, partly from the temporary Rejection of the Jews, of which this Text spake, (for it was not to be imagined, God would have no People in the World;) and partly, as it was in the Nature of Things more probable that he should call the Heathen, than that he should restore the Jews, when he had cast them off for such Ingratitude, as rendered them less worthy of his Favour, than the most idolatrous Nations. Compare Jesser, True Grounds, pag. 149.

pursued

(b) Cutting short his Account in Righteousness.] Mr. Locke would translate it, for the Lord, finishing or cutting short his Work in Righteousness, shall make a short or small Remnant in the Earth. This is undoubtedly the Scafe, but the Version is not exact.

Argument? Surely this; that the Gentiles, who which followed not after Righteoufness, have attained to Righteoufness, even the Righteoufness which is of Fath:

31 But Irrael, which followed after the Law of Righteouineis, hath not attained to the Law of Righteouineis.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by Faith, but as it were by the Works of the Law: For they stumbled at that Stumbling-stone;

33 As it is written, Behold, I lay in Sion a Stumbling-stone, and Rock of Offence: And whosoever believeth on him, shall not be ashamed.

pursued not after Righteousness, who had a little Sect. 21. while ago no Knowledge or Expectation of it, and no Defire after it, bave now, to their own Rom.IX.30. unspeakable Surprize, and that of the whole World, attained to Righteousness, that is, to the Profession of a Religion, whereby they may be justified and saved; even the Righteousness, which is by Faith in the Gospel, and consists in humbly committing the Soul to Christ in the Way that he hath appointed. But while Israel was purfuing the Law of Righteousness, and expecting to obtain Righteousness by legal Observances, it hath not attained to that, which is indeed most properly to be called the Law of Righteousness, that is, to the Bleffings of that Dispensation, by which alone Righteousness and Life is to be se-And wherefore did they miss those Blescured. fings? Because they never heard of the Way to Divine Favour and Acceptance? Nay: but because [they did] not [pursue it] by Faith, whereby alone in this fallen State of our Nature it is to be obtained; but merely, as if it was to be gained by the Works of the Law. For they in Fact stumbled and fell at that Stone of Offence, which lay in their Way. As it is written in these ever 33. memorable Words, (Isai. viii. 14. Chap. xxviii. 16.) " Behold I lay in Zion, that is, I exhibit " in my Church, what, tho' fo well fitted to be " a Foundation of their Happiness, shall in Fact " prove a Stone of stumbling, and a Rock of Of-" fence, that is, an Occasion of Sin and Ruin to " many, thro' their own Prejudice and Perverse-" ness: And every one who believeth in him shall " not be assamed, shall not be brought under a " Necessity of seeking his Refuge elsewhere, in helpless and hasty Confusion, to which all they

" who flight him shall at last be reduced."

IMPROVEMENT

HOW can we Sinners of the Gentiles ever sufficiently acknowledge the Goodness of God to us, in calling us to that full Participation of Gospel-blessings, which we enjoy! That in our native Lands, where

Sect. 21. the Name of the true God was so long unknown, we should have the Honour of being called bis Children! Oh that we may indeed be so, not only by an external Profession, but by regenerating Grace! May we be

Ver. 27. of that Remnant, that little Remnant, which shall be faved, when Numbers countless as the Sand of the Sea, which had only the Name of

Ver. 28. God's Ifrael, shall perish, even in the Day, when his Work shall be cut short in Righteousness!

Ver. 29. Bleffed be God, that there is a Seed remaining. It is the Preservation of the People, among which it is found; and had it not been found among us, we had probably long since been made a Seat of Desolation. May it increase in the rising Age, that the Pledges of our continued Peace and Prosperity may be more assured, till our Peace be like a River, and our Salvation like the Waves of the Sea.

It will be so, if we be awakened seriously to inquire, how we may be justified before GOD, and seek that invaluable Blessing in the Way here Ver. 31,32. pointed out; if we seek it, not as by the Works of the Law, but by Faith in Christ, as the Lord our Righteousness. He hath, in this Respect, been Ver. 33. to many a Stone of stumbling and a Rock of Offence. May Divine Grace to many a Stone of stumbling and a Rock of Offence. Whay Divine Grace teach us the Necessity of building upon him, of resting upon him the whole Stress of our eternal Hopes. Then shall they not sink into Disappointment and Ruin; then shall we not slee away ashamed in that awful Day, when the Hail shall sweep away the Refuge of Lies, and the Waters of that final Deluge of Divine Wrath shall overflow every Hiding-place, but that which God hath prepared for us in his own Son.

S E C T. XXII.

The Apostle shews, that GOD hath offered Pardon and Salvation on the same equitable, gracious and easy Terms to all, tho' Israel by a bigotted Attachment to their own Law, rejected it. Rom. X. 1,---13.

ROMANS X. I.

OU see, my Brethren, to what this Discourse of mine tends, in which I have, been representing Faith in Christ, as the only Method to prevent our Shame and Ruin, without the Exception of any, whether Jews or Gentiles, who should reject him. I know, how unkind

ROMANS X. I.

BRethren, my Heart's Desire and Prayer to might be saved.

Gon for Israel is, that they kind and unjust an Interpretation may be put on Sect. 22. fuch an Affertion, tho' thus supported by the Sacred Oracles themselves; and therefore I think it proper to renew the Assurances I before gave, that the most affectionate Desire of my Heart, in the Accomplishment of which I should find the greatest Complacency, and [my] Supplication, which I am with daily Importunity repeating before GOD concerning Ifrael, is, for its present and eternal Salvation and Happiness; which I wish as fincerely as my own. For I am ready 2 to testify, from what I well know of them by my own Observation and Experience, that they have a very ardent Zeal for GOD; but I lament that it is a Zeal not regulated according to Knowledge, or directed into a right Channel, in Consequence of which it leads them into the most fatal Mis-For they being ignorant of 3 takes and Excesses. the Righteousness of GOD, of the Purity of his Nature, the Extent of his Law, and the Method, which in Consequence thereof he hath established, for the Justification of a Sinner; and feeking with great Diligence to establish, and shoar up, as it were, by the most insufficient Props, the ruinous Edifice of their own Righteousness, by the Observation of the Precepts or Expiations of their Law (a), bave not submitted with duo Humility to the Righteousness of GOD exhibited

2 For I bear them Record, that they have a Zeal of God, but not according to Knowledge.

3 For they being ignorant of Gon's Righteousness, and going about to establish their own Righteousness, have not submitted themfelves unto the Righteoulness of Gop.

4 For Christ is the End of the Law for RighteoufObedience in a due Subordination to that. This is the most fatal Error that can be imagined; for how insensible soever Israel in general may be of it, 'tis on the whole most certain, that Christ [is] the End of the Law for Righteous-in his Son, nor placed their own Attempts of

(a) Observation of the Precepts or Expiations of their Law.] Many Writers, and especially the late Dr. Sherlock, in his Book of the Knowledge of Christ, have been much mistaken in the Representation they have made of the Pharifaical Rightronsness, as if it consisted merely in substituting ceremonial Observances instead of moral Duties. The Pharifaical Rightronsness, as if it rifees certainly inculcated the external Duties of Morality, how much foever they might themselves sail in observing them, or rest merely in outward Acts; but they trusted in legal Expiations to procure the Pardon of those Evils which might happen; and the Composition of these, if I may be allowed the Expression, constituted the Righteoniness, which they went about snows, to establish, or prop up, decrepit as it was.

Sect. 22. ness to every one that believeth (b), that is, it is the ness to every one that begreat Scope and Defign of the Law to bring Rom. X. 4. Men to believe in Christ for Righteousness and Life, and its ceremonial and moral Precepts and Constitutions most harmoniously center in this.

5 For Moses most exactly describeth the only Way of Righteousness, which is attainable by the I aw, [when he faith] again and again, (Lev. xviii. 5. compared with Deut. xxvii. 26.) the Man who doth them shall live in and by them(c); that is, the Man who perfectly observes these Precepts in every Particular, and in every Punctilio, he and he alone, if such a Person there be, may claim Life and Salvation by them. Now this is a Way of Justification, which, when the Law has once been broken, becomes absolutely impossible to 6 the Transgressor. But the Righteousness, which is by Faith, speaketh a very different Language, and may be confidered as expressing itself thus, (if I may be allowed to borrow the Words of the great Jewish Legislator, when representing the Plainness and Perspicuity of his Law; Deut. xxx. 11,-14.) " Say not in thine Heart who " shall ascend into Heaven, that is, as I may in

" this View accommodate the Passage, to conduct " Christ down with him [from thence,] to teach " and instruct us, or to atone for our Offences:

" Or who shall descend into the deep Abyss, that " is, to bring Christ again from his Abode

" among the Dead, in the Bowels of the Earth." No; bleffed be God, Christ hath already descended from Heaven to bring down the Gospel, and he hath in a triumphant Manner arisen from the Dead to set an everlasting Seal to its Divine Authority;

5 For Moses describeth the Righteousness which is of the Law, That the Man which doeth those Things, shall live by them.

6 But the Righteousness which is of Faith, speaketh on this wife, Say not in thine Heart, Who shall ascend into Heaven? (that is, to bring Christ down from above)

7 Or, who shall descend into the Deep? (that is, to bring up Christ again from the Dead)

(b) The End of the Law.] The Scope of it; as Elfner shows on this Place, that Team fignifies, he paraphrases the Words, no one can fulfil the Law, till he believe in Christ. But that, how true soever, (Compare Chap. viii. 2,-4.) seems not the chief View of the Apostle

(c) The Man, that doth them, shall live by them.] The Sinai-Covenant made no express Provision for the Pardon of any Sin, deliberately and wickedly committed against it; and so was indeed a Covenant of Works: Tho' the Dispensation of Moses contained some surther Intimation of the Covenant of Grace, which was made with Abraham, and was quite a diftinct Thing from the Law. And the Apostle builds so much on these Thoughts here, and elsewhere, that it will be of Importance to render them familiar to the Mind, and to trace the Evidence and Illustration of them in the Mosaick Writings.

8 But what faith it? The Word is night hee, even in thy Mouth, and in thy Heart: That is the Word of Faith which we preach, 9 That if thou shalt confess with thy Mouth the Lord Josus, and shalt believe in thine Heart, that God hath raised him from the Dead, thou shalt be saved.

10 For with the Heart Man believeth unto Righteouineis, and with the Mouth Confession is made unto Salvation.

11 For the Scripture faith, Whofoever believeth on him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no Difference between the Jew and the Greek: For the same Lord over all, is rich unto all that call upon him.

thority; so that there is no more Room to puzzle Sect. 22. ourselves about Difficulties, or to wish for a Power of doing, what to human Skill or Strength is But what saith he afterwards? impossible. even these Words, so remarkably applicable to the Subject before us; "the Word is nigh to thee, " [even] in thy Mouth, and in thine Heart; easy " to be understood, easy to be remembered, and " if thine Heart be rightly disposed, easy to be " practifed too." And that is eminently the Case with Relation to the Word of Christian Faith, For God hath given a very o which we preach: plain and intelligible Revelation in his Gospel; and the Substance of it is this, that if thou dost courageously confess with thy Mouth, that Jesus is the Lord, and at the same Time believe in thy Heart, with a vital and influential Faith, that GOD hath raised him from the Dead, in Proof of his Divine Mission; thou shalt assuredly be saved, whoever thou art, and how heinous and aggravated soever thy past Sins may have been. For 'tis with the Heart that a Man believeth to Righteousness, or so as to obtain Justification, nor can any Thing but a cordial Affent secure that; and with the Mouth Confession is made to Salvation, and that publick Profession of Christianity is maintained, without which a fecret Conviction of its Truth would only condemn. Let therefore the Heart and the Tongue do their respective Parts on this Occasion, and your Salvation and Happiness will be secure; tho your Obedience to the Law of God may have been very defective, and you could have no Claim to Reward, or Forgiveness from thence. For the Scripture in Reference to Christ, as in the forecited Text, (Ifai. xxviii. 16.) faith, " Every one that believ-" eth in him shall not be in Danger of being " ashamed, and put to Confusion, in any imagi-" nable Circumstance:" Every one without Distinction, for, you see, there is no Difference between Jew and Greek. For the same Lord of all, the Creator, Governor, Preserver, and Benefactor of the whole human Species, displays bis Riches, and magnifies his Bounty, to all that call upon

Digitized by GOOGIC

Vol. IV.

R

Sect. 22. upon him, imparting to them all the same Blesfings of his Providence and Grace. For whoRom. X. 13. soever shall invoke the Name of the Lord shall be faved(d), as the Prophet Joel testifies, (Joel ii. 32.)
when he had been speaking of those great Events, which have in Part, been so wonderfully accomplished in the Effusion of the Spirit, and shall be farther sulfilled in those Scenes of Providence, which are shortly to open on the Jewish Nation.

13 For whofoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

Thi

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 1. ET our Hearts, after the Example of St. Paul here before us, be overflowing with Love and Compassion to our Brethren; and let us be earnestly interceding with God for their Salvation. Where we

Ver. 2. fee a Zeal for GOD, let us pay all due Regard to it, and compassionate that Ignorance, which may sometimes be mingled with it; especially if it affect so important an Article, as that of our becoming righteous before

Ver. 3. God by a better Righteousness than our own. Let us pray that God would teach us, and would enable us, according to our respective Situa-

Ver. 4. tions, in a proper Manner to teach others, that Christ is indeed the End of the Law, of all the Laws which God ever gave to fallen Man, for Righteousness; all were intended to convince Men of their Need of coming to him, that Righteousness and Life may be obtained.

Great Reason have we to adore the Divine Goodness, and to congratulate ourselves, and one another, upon our great Happiness in this Respect, that God hath given us a Revelation, so obvious and intelligible in all the grand Points of it. We have indeed no Necessity, no Temptation of the state of the stat

Ver. 6, 7. tion, to fay, who shall go up into Heaven? Or who shall descend into the Deep? Or who, like the industrious, but bewildered, Sages of Antiquity, shall cross the Seas, to bring that Knowledge from distant Countries, which is wanting in our own? The Word is nighto'us. It is indeed in our Mouth: Oh that it may be in our Heart too. We know a descending, a risen Redeemer. He still visits us in his Gospel, still preaches in our Assemblies, and stretches out a gentle and compassionate Hand, to lead us in the Way to Happiness. May our Profession of Faith in him be cordial; and then it will be open and couragious, whatever Sacrifices

Ver. 9, 10. we may be called to make. Believing on him we skall not be askamed; calling on his Name we skall be saved; tho' we can meet with nothing but

Ver. 5. Despair from a Dispensation, that saith, the Man, who persectly doth these Precepts, shall live by them.

(d) Invoke the Name of the Lord, &c.] Bishop Pearson argues at large from hence, that if Christ be not here called Jehovah, the Ajostle's Argument is quite inconclusive. Pearson on the Creed, pag. 149.

SECT.

SECT. XXIII.

The Apostle pursues the View, given in the last Section, and shews that the Gospel had been diffused widely thro' the World; the according to other Prophecies, which he here mentions, from Moses, and Isaiah, the Jews had rejected it, while the Gentiles embraced it. Rom. X. 14, to the End.

ROMANS X. 14.

ROMANS X. 14.

TOW then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a Preacher?

ROM the Promise of Salvation to them Sect. 23. I have just been inferring, (Ver. 12, 13.) that there is no Difference between Jews and Gentiles, as to the Possibility of obtaining Salvation from God. And from hence we may farther infer, what is very sufficient to justify me, and my Brethren, in preaching the Gospel to the Gentiles, tho' we are the Objects of so much Reproach and Persecution on that Account. Let us therefore attend to the Inference. For how shall they call on him, on whom they have not believed, as worthy to be invoked with Divine Honours and Adoration? And how shall they believe on him, of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear of him, without a Preacher, to carry these important Tidings, which the Light of Nature could never be able to discover. And, as for the Ministers of the Gospel, how should they preach, except they be fent expressly for that Purpose? For, as we were originally Jews, our own Prejudices on this Head were so strong, that we should never have thought of carrying the Gospel to the Gentiles, if God had not particularly charged us to do it. But bleffed be God, that the Charge has been given, and the Embassy sent; and most welcome should it be to all that receive it, as it is written and described in that lively Prophecy (a), (Hai.

15 And how shall they preach, except they be written, fent? As it is How

(a) In that lively Prophecy.] Most Commentators think, that the 52 Chapter of Isaiah is to

Sect. 23. (Isai. lii. 7, 8.) "Oh how beautiful are the Feet, the very Footsteps, of those who bring the good Rom. X. 15. "Tidings of Peace, who bring the good Tidings of those various good Things, which Cop hash

" of those various good Things, which God hath now been pleased to bestow on his Church.

"Tis pleasant to see and hear the Messengers, pleasant to view the very Tract of Ground, over which they have passed, on the Moun" tains which furround Jerusalem (b)."

But alas, all have not obeyed the Gospel, glori-16 ous as its Tidings are, nor given it that cordial Reception, which its happy Contents might well have demanded. And they, who are well acquainted with the Oracles of the Old Testament. and study them impartially, will not be surprized at it. For Isaiah saith, in that very Context, which contains fo many illustrious Testimonies to the Cause, in which we are engaged; (Isai. liii. 1.) " Who hath believed our Report, and to whom " is the Arm of the Lord revealed, and made Faith indeed[cometh] by Hearing, and 17 " bare." Hearing in the Case now before us by the Word, the express Command of GOD, to make the Declaration (c). 'Tis therefore our Duty to deliver the Message, wheresoever we come, whether to Jews or Gentiles, in humble Hope, that fome will believe; tho' we have so much Reason to fear, that many will reject it.

beautiful are the Feet of them that preach the Gofpel of Peace, and bring glad Tidings of good Things!

16 But they have not all obeyed the Gospel. For Esaias faith, Lord who hath believed our Report?

17 So then, Faith cometh by Hearing, and Hearing by the Word of GoD.

This

be explained, as a Prophecy of the Return of the Jews from Babylon, and that the Text here quoted refers to the joyful Welcome, that should be given to the Messengers, who brought the first Tidings of Cyrus's Decree for their Dismission. And if it were so, the Apostle might very justly infer from thence the superior Joy, with which the Messengers of the Gospel should be received. But, I think, a great Deal may be said to shew it probable, that the Context in Question has in its original Sense a farther Reserence. Compare Isai. 1. 4,—6. But not judging it necessary, in the Paraphrase, to build upon it as an Argument, I shall not by any Means discuss the Matter here.

(b) The very Footsteps.] L'Enfant thinks the Feet are put for the Arrival. Compare Gen. xxv. 30. in the Original. But I think the Turn, given in the Paraphrase, illustrates it much better. Bos observes, that in Sophocles, the Hands and Feet of those, who come upon a kind Design, are represented as beautiful to those, who received Benefit by their Arrival.

(c) Faith indeed [cometh.] Mr. L'Enfant would transpose the 16th and 17th Verses; and it is certain, as any one may easily perceive, that the Connection of all from the 15th to the 18th, would in that View be clearer; but as no Copies warrant it, I think it is by no Means to be presumed upon. I have therefore translated αρα, which is often a Sort of an Expletive, by the Word indeed, which throws this Verse into some Kind of Connection with the Next, and if referred to αλλα there, will I hope be thought agreeable enough to the Greek Idiom.

18 But I say, Have they not heard? Yes verily, their Sound went into all the Earth, and their Words unto the Ends of the World.

This is our Duty; but a Duty, which we can- Sect. 23. not perform without some Discouragements; yet I may confidently fay, it hath in the Main been Rom. X. 18. practifed, and I may appeal to what you at Rome knew of the Matter, in Consequence of your Correspondence with all Parts of the Empire. Have they not heard of the Gospel all Abroad, so that I may take up the Words of David, (Pfal. xix. 4.) when describing the Course of the celestial Luminaries, and apply them to the Zeal, and in some Measure to the Success, with which the Missionaries of this holy Religion have exerted themselves, assisted by the blessed Spirit of God, and animated by the Hope of that glorious Immortality, to which they have taught others to aspire. Of them may I say, that "verily " their Voice is gone out thro' all the Earth, and " their Words to the End of the World:" Many distant Nations have already heard these glad Tidings, which GoD will at length render univerfal. (Col. i. 6, 23.)

19 But I say, Did not Israel know? First, Moses saith, I will provoke you to Jealousy by them that are no People, and by a foolish Nation I will anger you.

But I may farther fay, bath not Israel known, or had an Opportunity not only of knowing that the Gospel should be preached, but that it should be carried to the Gentiles too? For first, Moses faith, in that celebrated Song of his, which the Children in all Generations were to learn. (Deut. xxxii. 21.) " I will raise their Jealousy by [those, " who were] not a Nation, [and] their Anger with " a foolish People;" which may well be understood as ultimately referring to this great Scheme. And Isaiah bath the Boldness to say, in a Context, where fo many Things evidently refer to the Gofpel, (Isai. lxv. 1, 2.) " I was found of them, that " fought me not; I was made manifest to them, that " inquired not for me, nor discovered any Concern "to be informed of my Nature, or my Will;" Whereas, invidious as he knew it would be to a Nation so impatient of Rebuke, with Relation to Israel he saith, in the very next Verse, " All the "Day long have I stretched out mine Hands, in the "most importunate and affectionate Addresses, " to a disobedient and gainsaying People, who are " continually objecting and cavilling; whom no 20 But Esaias is very bold, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not; I was made manisest that them that asked not after me.

21 But to Ifrael he faith, All Daylong I have stretched forth may Hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying People.

Digitized by Google

· " Persuasion

Reflections on the Preaching, and Spread, of the Gospel.

134

Sect. 23. "Perfuasion can win to regard their own Hap"Perfuasion can win to admit the Evi"Perfusion can win the Evi"Per

IMPROVEMENT.

DLESSED be God for the preaching of the Gospel, so absolutely necessary to that Faith, without which we can have no well grounded Hope of Salvation. Blessed be God therefore for the Mission of his Ministers, and for his abundant Goodness, in sending them to us Sinners of the Gentiles. Let us give them a respectful and attentive Hearing, and say, how beautiful upon the Mountains are the Feet of those, that preach Salvation, that publick Peace! And let us take great Care, that we do not only speak respectfully of their Doctrine, but that we comply with the Purposes of their Embassy.

It is Matter of continual Joy to reflect, not only that God hath afforded to all Men such Means of attaining Divine Knowledge, by the Intimations of it, which he hath given in the Constitutions of the Heavenly Bodies, and in the whole Frame of visible Nature; but also, that he hath sent the express Messages of Grace to so many Millions, in the extensive Publication of his Gospel. Let us rejoice in the Spread it hath already had, and let us earnestly and daily pray, that the Voice of those Divine Messengers, that proclaim it, may go forth unto all the Earth, and their Words reach in a literal Sense to the remotest Ends of our habitable World. Let us pray, that wherever the Word of God hath a free Course, it may be more abundantly glorified; and that its Ministers may not have so

Ver. 16,21. much Reason to say, who hath believed our Report? and to complain of firetching out their Hands all the Day long to a disobedient and gainsaying People. Exert, Oh Lord God, thine almighty Arm, make it bare in the Sight of all the Nations. Shed abroad thy saving Influences on the Hearts of Multitudes, that they may believe, and turn unto the Lord!

Ver. 20. May the great Saviour of his Israel be found of those that seek him not, and by the surprizing Condescensions of his Grace, may he manifest himself to those, that do not inquire after him. And may his ancient People not

Ver. 19. only be provoked to Anger, but awakened to Emulation too; and put in their Claim for those Blessings, which God has by his Son vouchsafed to offer to all the Gentiles.

SECT.

S E C T. XXIV.

The Apostle shews, that tho' the Rejection of Israel be for the present general, according to their own Prophecies, and attended with astonishing Blindness and Obstinacy, yet it is not total; there being still a Number of happy Believers among them. Rom. XI. 1,---10.

ROMANS XI. I.

I Say then, Hath God cast away his People? God forbid. For I am also an Israelite, of the Seed of Abraham, of the Tribe of Benjamin.

2 God hath not cast away his People which he foreknew. Wot ye not what the Scripture saith of Elias? How he maketh Intercession to God against Israel, saying,

3 Lord, they have killed thy Prophets, and digged down thine Altars; and I am left alone, and they feek my Life.

ROMANS XI. 1.

TE have seen, my Brethren, how the Per- Sect. 24. verseness of the Jews, and the Calling of the Gentiles, hath been foretold; but do I Rom. XI.1. fay then, that GOD hath intirely rejected his whole People, fo as to have Mercy on none of them? GOD forbid! I should then pronounce a Sentence of Reprobation upon myself; for I also am an Israelite, as it is well known; I am of the Seed of Abraham, and can trace my Genealogy, and shew particularly, that I am [of] the Tribe No, bleffed be his Name, GOD 2 of Benjamin. hath not rejected those of his People, whom he foreknew; but hath still, as in the most degenerate Ages, a Seed, whom he hath chosen to Faith and Salvation. Know you not what the Scripture faith to this Purpose, in the Story of Elijah? (Compare 1 Kings xix. 14.) when he pleads with GOD against Israel, saying, " they have cruelly flain all thy faithful Prophets, " and they have digged up the very Foundations " of thine Altars(a), and I am left alone, after " the Slaughter of all thine other Servants; and " they feek my Life too, and fend Murtherers in " Pursuit of me from Place to Place, that there " may not be one Worshipper of Jehovah left

(a) Digged up thine Altars.] It feems from hence, that, the according to the Law there was only one Altar for Sacrifice, and that in the Place, where God had fixed his peculiar Residence; yet, by some special Dispensation, pious Persons in the Ten Tribes built Altars elsewhere. 'Tis well known, at least, that Samuel, and Elijah, had done it, and perhaps, they were either kept up, or others raised on the same Spots of Ground.

(b) The

Sect. 24. " in their whole Land." But recollect, what Rom. XI. 4. Says the Divine Oracle to him, in answer to this dolleful Complaint? " I have reserved unto my-" felf, by my Grace and Providence, no less than " seven thousand Men, who have not bowed the

" Knee before the Image of Baal, nor com-" plied with any of these idolatrous Rites, which " are established by these iniquitous Laws."

5 And so also in the present Time, bad as this Generation of Israelites is, and sure they were never worse; yet there is a Remnant, who continues faithful to God, according to the free Election of his Grace, whereby God hath referved them to himself, and made them to differ from others (b).

And by the Way, I cannot forbear observing, and intreating you to reflect, that if it be, as I have faid, according to the Election of Grace, then [it is] no more, as some have maintained, of Works, whether of the Mosaick, or any other Law; else Grace is no longer Grace (c), if the Glory of our Acceptance with Gop is not on the whole to be ascribed to that. But on the other Side, if [it be] of Works, then it is no more of Grace; else Work is no longer Work. There is fomething so absolutely inconsistent between being faved by Grace, and by Works, that if you lay down either, you do of Necessity exclude the other from being the Cause of it.

But, to return from this short Digression, what then do we conclude? What, but this, that Israel hath not obtained that Justification and Righteouf-

4 But what faith the Anfwer of God unto him? I have referved to myself seven thousand Men, who have not bowed the Knee to the Image of Baal.

5 Even so then at this present Time also there is a Remnant according to the Election of Grace.

6 And if by Grace, then is it no more of Works: Otherwise Grace is no more Grace. But if it be of Works, then is it no more Grace: Otherwise Work is no more Work.

7 What then? Israel hath not obtained that which

(b) The Election of Grace.] Some explain this of their having chosen Grace, that is, the Gossiel; but that Turn is very unnatural, and neither suits the Phrase, nor the Connection with the former Clause, or with the next Verse, in which the Apostle comments on his own Words.

(c) Else Grace is no longer Grace, &c.] Some interpret this, " The Gospel would not de-" serve the Name of Grace, if the Observation of the Mosaick Law were to be taken in, " as a Part of the Terms of our Acceptance with God." But this would have been a strange Position. Who, that in any Degree knew the Terrors of God's Anger, would not most gladly have accepted of the full Pardon the Gospel offers, on much more rigorous Terms, than Obedience to the Mosaick Ritual. The Meaning rather seems to be, "what " is given to Works is the Payment of a Debt, whereas the Notion of Grace implies an " unmerited Favour; so that the same Benefit cannot, at the same Time, be derived from " both." This seems to be a Reslection on the Riches of Divine Grace, which the Apostle makes by the Way, and which well agrees with the Fullness of his Heart on this Subject.

which he seeketh for; but the Election hath obtained it, and the Rest were blind-

8 According as it is written, God hath given them the Spirit of Slumber, Eyes that they should not see, and Ears that they should not hear, unto this Day.

9 And David saith, Let their Table be made a Snare, and a Trap, and a Stumbling-block, and a Recompenie unto them.

10 Let their Eyes be darkened, that they may not fee, and bow down their Back alway.

ness, which it has fought, nor retained these par- Sect. 24. ticular Priviledges of the Church of God, which they pretend intirely to engross: But the Election, the chosen Remnant, bath obtained it, having been by Divine Grace engaged to embrace the Gospel; whereas the Rest were blinded by their own fatal Prejudices, to which God hath, in righte-According as ous Judgment, given them up. it is written, (Isai. xxix. 10. Compare Deut. xxix. 4. and Isai. vi. 10.) GOD hath given them a Spirit of Slumber; Eyes that they should not see, and Ears that they should not hear. He threatened, you see, to punish their Perverseness, when it should come to a certain Degree, by abandoning them to increasing Stupidity and Obstinacy, and he hath done it even unto this Day: For their Blindness continues, notwithstanding all the extraordinary Things which have been done, even in our own Age of Wonders, for their Conviction. And this is agreeable to what David hath said, in that prophetical Imprecation, which is applicable to them, as well as to Judas, (Pfal. lxix. 22, 23. Compare Acts i. 20.) Let all the Bleffings of their most plentiful Table become a Snare to them, and that which should, according to its original Use and Intention, have been for their Welfare, a Thus the Gospel, which should have been the Means of their Salvation, is now become an Instrument of Ruin and Destruction to them, and an Occasion of slumbling in the most fatal Manner. And it must be acknowledged to be a just Recompense for their Wickedness; that the best of Blessings should thus be turned into a Curse, to them, that so ungratefully rejected and despised it. And in them the following Words are also fulfilled, Let their Eyes be darkened, that they may not see, and keep their Back continually bent down, under a perpetual Weight of Sorrows, which they may not be able to support, and which may be a just Punishment upon them for having rejected so easy a Yoke. (Compare Lev. xxvi. 13.)

Vor. IV.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

Sect. 24. Ver. 3, 4.

ET us learn, from the Answer of GOD to Elijah, when he thought himself lest alone, and knew nothing of the seven Thousand, which God had reserved; to encourage ourselves in a secret Hope, that there may be much more Goodness in the World, that we are particularly aware of. The Numbers of those, that constitute the invisible Church, are unknown to us, but they are known to God. They are all registered in the Book of his Rememberance, as they are all reserved water himself by his Graces, nor shall his Partie guller has been her health for charges.

Ver. 2.

unto himself by his Grace; nor shall his People whom he hath for eknown be cast away. May we be of that blessed Number, and may the Degeneracy, which we see so prevalent around us, animate us to a holy Zeal, to hold fast our own Integrity; yea, to seize the Occasion of approving it in a more acceptable Manner, from a Circumstance, in every other View, greatly to be lamented.

Let us often reflect upon this great and important Truth, so frequently inculcated upon us in the Word of God, that it is to his Grace, and not to any Works of our own, that we are to ascribe our Acceptance with him. And let the Ministers of Christ be ready, after the Example of the Apostle, sometimes to turn, as it were, out of the Way, to dwell a little on a Thought, at once so humbling, and so reviving.

We see the miserable Circumstances of God's ancient Israel, given up to a Spirit of Slumber, to blind Eyes, and to deaf Ears. Oh let us take Heed, that we do not imitate their Obstinacy and Folly; less God make our own Wickedness our Destruction; lest he send a Curse upon us, and curse our Blessings, so that our Table should become a Snare to us, our temporal Enjoyments, or our spiritual Priviledges. Lord, let us often say, Ver. 10. Give us any Plague, rather than the Plague of the Heart; and bow down our Backs under any Load of Affliction, rather than that, which shall at last crush those, who have refused to accept of thy Gospel, and to take upon their Shoulders the light Burthen, which a gracious Saviour would lay upon them.

SECT.

Thi

S E C T. XXV.

The Apostle shews in this, and the next Section, that the Rejection of Israel is not final; but that the Time shall come, when to the unspeakable Joy of the Christian World, the Jewish Nation shall be brought into the Church of Christ. Rom. XI. 11,---24.

ROMANS XI. 11.

Say then, Have they stumbled that they should fall? God forbid: But rather through their Fall Salvation is come unto the Gentiles, for to provoke them to Jealousy.

12 Now if the Fall of them be the Riches of the World, and the Diminishing of them the Riches of the Gentiles: How much more their Fulnes?

ROMANS XI. 11.

Jewish Nation in general; yet I have observed, that it is not total, so that none of them should remain Objects of Mercy. And do I affert it to be final? Do I then say, they have so stumbled, as that, as a Nation, they should fall into irrecoverable Ruin, and never more be owned by God, as his People? GOD forbid! But I affert, that by this Fall of theirs, Salvation [is] at the present [come] to the Gentiles; the future Consequence of which shall be to provoke them to a holy Emulation of sharing the Blessings and Benefits to be expected from their own Messiah, when they shall see so many Heathen Nations enjoy them.

But these should be no unwelcome Tidings to you Gentiles: For if their Fall [be] by Accident the Riches of the World, and their Diminution, the Riches of the Gentiles, by scattering the Preachers of the Gospel among them, by proving our Veracity and Integrity, and in some Measure exciting Compassion too; tho' their rejecting us, in itself considered, might rather appear as an Argument against it; how much more shall the bringing in their whole Fulness, that is, the whole Body of the Jewish Nation, be a Means of propagating the Gospel much farther, and recovering Multitudes, by whom it hath been rejected, from their Scepticism and Insidelity, when so great an Event appears in Accomplishment of its known

Predic-

Sect. 24. " in their whole Land." But recollect, what Rom. XI. 4. Says the Divine Oracle to him, in answer to this doleful Complaint? " I have reserved unto my-

" felf, by my Grace and Providence, no less than " feven thousand Men, who have not bowed the "Knee before the Image of Baal, nor com-"plied with any of these idolatrous Rites, which " are established by these iniquitous Laws."

5 And so also in the present Time, bad as this Generation of Israelites is, and sure they were never worse; yet there is a Remnant, who continues faithful to God, according to the free Election of his Grace, whereby God hath reserved them to himself, and made them to differ from others (b).

And by the Way, I cannot forbear observing, and intreating you to reflect, that if it be, as I have said, according to the Election of Grace, then sit is no more, as some have maintained, of Works, whether of the Mosaick, or any other Law; else Grace is no longer Grace (c), if the Glory of our Acceptance with God is not on the whole to be ascribed to that. But on the other Side, if [it be] of Works, then it is no more of Grace; else Work is no longer Work. There is something so absolutely inconsistent between being saved by Grace, and by Works, that if you lay down either, you do of Necessity exclude the other from being the Cause of it.

But, to return from this short Digression, what then do we conclude? What, but this, that Israel hath not obtained that Justification and Righteous-

4 But what faith the Anfwer of God unto him? I have referved to myself seven thousand Men, who have not bowed the Knee to the Image of Baal.

5 Even so then at this present Time also there is a Remnant according to the Election of Grace.

6 And if by Grace, then is it no more of Works: Otherwise Grace is no more Grace. But if it be of Works, then is it no more Grace: Otherwise Work is no more Work.

7 What then? Israel hath not obtained that which

(b) The Election of Grace.] Some explain this of their having chosen Grace, that is, the Gospel; but that Turn is very unnatural, and neither suits the Phrase, nor the Connection with the former Clause, or with the next Verse, in which the Apostle comments on his own Words.

⁽c) Else Grace is no longer Grace, &c.] Some interpret this, "The Gospel would not de"ferve the Name of Grace, if the Observation of the Mosaick Law were to be taken in,
"as a Part of the Terms of our Acceptance with God." But this would have been a strange Position. Who, that in any Degree knew the Terrors of God's Anger, would not most gladly have accepted of the full Pardon the Gospel offers, on much more rigorous Terms, than Obedience to the Mosaick Ritual. The Meaning rather seems to be, "what "is given to Works is the Payment of a Debt, whereas the Notion of Grace implies an "unmerited Favour; so that the same Benefit cannot, at the same Time, be derived from both." This seems to be a Resection on the Riches of Divine Grace, which the Apostle neakes by the Way, and which well agrees with the Fullness of his Heart on this Subject.

which he seeketh for; but the Election hath obtained it, and the Rest were blinded.

8 According as it is written, God hath given them the Spirit of Slumber, Eyes that they should not see, and Ears that they should not hear, unto this Day.

9 And David faith, Let their Table be made a Snare, and a Trap, and a Stumbling-block, and a Recompenie unto them.

10 Let their Eyes be darkened, that they may not see, and bow down their Back alway.

ness, which it has fought, nor retained these par- Sect. 24. ticular Priviledges of the Church of God, which they pretend intirely to engross: But the Election, the chosen Remnant, bath obtained it, having been by Divine Grace engaged to embrace the Gospel; whereas the Rest were blinded by their own fatal Prejudices, to which God hath, in righteous Judgment, given them up. According as it is written, (Isai. xxix. 10. Compare Deut. xxix. 4. and Isai. vi. 10.) GOD hath given them a Spirit of Slumber; Eyes that they should not see, and Ears that they should not bear. He threatened, you see, to punish their Perverseness, when it should come to a certain Degree, by abandoning them to increasing Stupidity and Obstinacy, and he hath done it even unto this Day: For their Blindness continues, notwithstanding all the extraordinary Things which have been done, even in our own Age of Wonders, for their Conviction. And this is agreeable to what David hath faid, in that prophetical Imprecation, which is applicable to them, as well as to Judas, (Pfal. lxix. 22, 23. Compare Acts i. 20.) Let all the Bleffings of their most plentiful Table become a Snare to them, and that which should, according to its original Use and Intention, have been for their Welfare, a Thus the Gospel, which should have been the Means of their Salvation, is now become an Instrument of Ruin and Destruction to them, and an Occasion of stumbling in the most fatal Manner. And it must be acknowledged to be a just Recompense for their Wickedness; that the best of Blessings should thus be turned into a Curfe, to them, that so ungratefully rejected and despised it. And in them the following Words are also fulfilled, Let their Eyes be darkened, that they may not see, and keep their Back continually bent down, under a perpetual Weight of Sorrows, which they may not be able to support, and which may be a just Punishment upon them for having rejected so easy a Yoke. (Compare Lev. xxvi. 13.)

Vol. IV.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us learn, from the Answer of GOD to Elijah, when he thought himself left alone, and knew nothing of the seven Thoufand, which God had referved; to encourage ourselves in a secret Hope. that there may be much more Goodness in the World, that we are particularly aware of. The Numbers of those, that constitute the invisible Church, are unknown to us, but they are known to Gon. all registered in the Book of his Rememberance, as they are all reserved Ver. 2. unto himself by his Grace; nor shall his People whom he hath foreknown be cast away. May we be of that blessed Number, and may the Degeneracy, which we see so prevalent around us, animate us to a holy Zeal, to hold fast our own Integrity; yea, to seize the Occasion of approving > it in a more acceptable Manner, from a Circumstance, in every other View, greatly to be lamented.

Let us often reflect upon this great and important Truth, so frequently inculcated upon us in the Word of God, that it is to his Grace, and not to any Works of our own, that we are to ascribe our Acceptance with him. And let the Ministers of Christ be ready, after the Example of the Apostle, sometimes to turn, as it were, out of the Way, to dwell a little on a Thought, at once so humbling, and so reviving.

We see the miserable Circumstances of God's ancient Israel, given up Ver. 7, 8. to a Spirit of Slumber, to blind Eyes, and to deaf Ears. Oh let us take Heed, that we do not imitate their Obstinacy and Folly; lest God make Ver. 9.

our own Wickedness our Destruction; lest he fend a Curse upon us, and curse our Blessings, so that our Table should become a Snare to us, our temporal Enjoyments, or our spiritual Priviledges. Lord, let us often say,

Give us any Plague, rather than the Plague of the Heart; and bow down our Backs under any Load of Affliction, rather than that, which shall at last crush those, who have refused to accept of thy Gospel, and to take upon their Shoulders the light Burthen, which a gracious Saviour would lay upon them.

SECT.

S E C T. XXV.

The Apostle shews in this, and the next Section, that the Rejection of Israel is not final; but that the Time shall come, when to the unspeakable Joy of the Christian World, the Jewish Nation shall be brought into the Church of Christ. Rom. XI. 11,---24.

ROMANS XI. 11.

Say then, Have they stumbled that they should fall? God forbid: But rather through their Fall Salvation is come unto the Gentiles, for to provoke them to Jealousy.

12 Now if the Fall of them be the Riches of the World, and the Diminishing of them the Riches of the Gentiles: How much more their Fulness?

ROMANS XI. 11.

Jewish Nation in general; yet I have observed, that it is not total, so that none of them fhould remain Objects of Mercy. And do I affert it to be final? Do I then say, they have so stumbled, as that, as a Nation, they should fall into irrecoverable Ruin, and never more be owned by God, as his People? GOD forbid! But I affert, that by this Fall of theirs, Salvation [is] at the present [come] to the Gentiles; the future Consequence of which shall be to provoke them to a holy Emulation of sharing the Blessings and Benefits to be expected from their own Messiah, when they shall see so many Heathen Nations enjoy them.

But these should be no unwelcome Tidings to you Gentiles: For if their Fall [be] by Accident the Riches of the World, and their Diminution, the Riches of the Gentiles, by scattering the Preachers of the Gospel among them, by proving our Veracity and Integrity, and in some Measure exciting Compassion too; tho' their rejecting us, in itself considered, might rather appear as an Argument against it; how much more shall the bringing in their whole Fulness, that is, the whole Body of the Jewish Nation, be a Means of propagating the Gospel much farther, and recovering Multitudes, by whom it hath been rejected, from their Scepticism and Insidelity, when so great an Event appears in Accomplishment of its known

2 Predic-

Sect. 25. Predictions (a). For I now speak to you Gentiles, and I do it with Tenderness and Respect, Rom.XI.13. as I am, by a special Designation of Providence, the Apostle of the Gentiles; I therein extol my Office, and esteem it the most signal Honour of my 14 Life to be employed in it. And while I thus address you, it is also with a Desire, that I may, if possible, excite to Emulation [them, who are] my Brethren according to the Flesh, and who are dear to me as the Members of my own Body; that, if I may not prevail for the Recovery of their Nation in general, I may at least fave some of them; while I speak of these kind Purposes, which I assuredly know, God will accomplish towards the whole Jewish People in his appointed Time. And this Thought gives new Spirit to my Address to you, as I hope it may not only > to theirs (b). In like Manner, when I wish their Recovery, it is not for their Sakes alone; but also with Respect to these happy Consequences, which I know, it will have upon the Spread of the Gospel among the Gentiles. For, as I hinted above, if their Rejection [were] the Reconciliation of so great a Part tend to your Edification and Salvation, but also 13 For I speak to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I magnify mine Office:

14 If by any Means I may provoke to Emulation them which are my Flesh, and might fave fome of 15 For if the casting away of them be the Reconciling

(a) Accomplishment of its known Predictions.] So many of the Prophecies of the Old' Testament, do evidently refer to the Reduction of the Jews into their own Land, as the People of the Meffiah, that I can by no Means doubt of the Certainty of that Event. Compare Ifai. xxvii. 12, 13. Ezek. xi. 17,—21. Chap. xx. 34,—44. Chap. xxxiv. 13, 14. Chap. xxxv. 25,—29. Chap. xxxvi. 24,—28. Chap. xxxvii. 21,—28. Amos ix. 14, 15. Obed. ver. 17. Mich. vii. 14, 15. Zech. xiv. 10, 11. Hof. i. 10, 11. And the wonderful Preservation of them as a distinct People, thus far, not only leaves a Possibility of this great Event, but encourages our Hope of it. When it shall be accomplished, it will be so unparallelled, as necessarily to excite a general Attention, and to fix upon Mens Minds, such an almost irresistible Demonstration, both of the Old and New Testament Revelation, as will probably captivate the Minds of many thousands of Deists, in Countries professedly Christian, (of which, under fuch corrupt Eflablishments as generally prevail, there will of Course be increasing Multitudes;) nor will this only captivate their Understanding, but will have the greatest Tendency to awaken a Sense of true Religion in their Hearts; and this will be a Means of propagating the Gofpel with an amazing Velocity in Pagan and Mahometan Countries; which probably had been evangelized long ago, had genuine Christianity prevailed in those, who have made a Profession, and God knows, for the most Part, a very scandalous Profession, of its Forms.—The 15th Verse has so natural a Connection with the 12th, that Elsner includes the 13th and 14th in a Parenthesis.

(b) Also to theirs.] Perhaps we can no where find an Instance, of a more popular and affectionate Turn than this, in which the Apollo feems to find a Reason for his Zeal to convert the Gentiles, in his Love to his own Countrymen, the Jews.

shall the receiving of them be, but Life from the Dead?

ciling of the World; What of the Heathen World to God, as it was the Means Sect, 25. of sending the Gospel of Peace among them; what [will] the Reception [of them be,] but Life Rom.XI.15. from the Dead? What Joy will it necessarily give, and what a general Spread of the Gospel will it naturally produce?

16 For if the First-fruit be holy, the Lump is also boly: And if the Root be holy, so are the Branches.

17 And if some of the Branches be broken off, and thou being a wild Olivetree, wert grafted in amongst them, and with them partakest of the Root and Fatness of the Olive-tree;

18 Boast not against the Branches: But if thou boast, thou bearest not the Root, but the Root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The Branches were broken off, that I might be grafted in.

And this bleffed Event we may affuredly expect: For if the First-fruits [be] holy, so [is] the Lump. The Confectation of them was looked upon as, in Effect, the Confectation of all. And fo would I look upon the Conversion of some few of the Jewish Nation, as an Earnest of the Conversion of all the Rest. And so much the rather, when I consider, how eminently dear to God these pious Patriarchs were, from whom they have descended: For if the Root [be] holy, the Branches [are likewife] fo, and will furely at length be regarded as fuch. And this, though fome of them be at present in so melancholy a State; for if some of the Branches were broken off, and thou, Oh Gentile, being, as it were, a Scion of a wild Olive, wert grafted in among them that remained (c), and art with them Partaker of, and nourished by, the Root and Fatness of the good Olive; being not only a Graft upon another Stock, but a meaner Graft on a Stock originally nobler and more excellent; Boast not thyself prefumptuously and ungratefully against the natural Branches; and if thou boastest, [remember] to thy Humiliation, [that] thou bearest not the Root, but the Root thee. Thou hast received many Benefits from Abraham's Seed, and the Covenant made with him, but they have received none from thee. Wilt thou therefore object, and fay, " the natural " Branches were broken off, that I might be graf-" ted in; and therefore we may glory over them, as " they

(c) Wild Olive grafted in among them.] It is very improper to object, that it is unnatural to suppose an ignoble Branch grafted on a rich Stock; for it was not necessary, that the Simila taken from Inoculation should hold in all its Particulars; and the Engagement to Humility arises in a considerable Degree from the Circumstance objected against. Had the Scion been mobler than the Stock, its Dependance on it for Life and Nourishment, would render it unfit that it should boast against it; how much more, when the Case was the reverse of what in human Utage is practifed, and the wild Olive is ingrafted on the good...

For the Jews, the natural Branches, shall be again grafted in.

Sect. 25. "they once did over us:" Well, take this Thought is at least along with thee, they were broken off for

Rom. XI. 20. [their] Infidelity, and thou hitherto standest in their Place thro' Faith. Therefore be not High-minded and arrogant, but fear (d), lest thou by thy Sins forfeit the Priviledges, to which thou art so won-

For if GOD spared not the 21 derfully raised. Branches, which were according to Nature, neither will he by any Means spare thee, if thine Unbelief make thee, after all thy peculiar Obligations, as bad, and in that Respect, even worse, than they.

22 Behold therefore on the whole, a remarkable Difplay of the intermingled Goodness and Severity of GOD, and endeavour to improve both well! Towards them that fell, thou indeed feest a memorable Instance of his Severity; but to thee, a Display of Gentleness and Goodness, if thou wilt be careful to continue in [his] Goodness, and endeavour gratefully and dutifully to improve it: Else, thou also shalt be cut off; for the blessed God will not bear always to be infulted with the Pe-

23 tulancy of Sinners. And I would have you farther to confider, as a Motive to think of the Jews with Respect, rather than Contempt, that they also, if they do not continue in their Unbelief, shall be grafted on again, and restored to their former Priviledges. For it is certain, GOD is able again to ingraft them: Hopeless as their State may feem, both with Respect to their Obstinacy and their Misery, his powerful Access to their Mind can subdue their Prejudices against the Gospel, as thou mayest easily argue from what 24 thou hast thyself experienced. For if thou wert, as I may properly enough express it, cut off from the Olive-tree, which was naturally wild, and contrary to the Course and Process of Nature, wert grafted on the good Olive-tree; if thou wert admitted into Covenant with God, tho' descended from Parents that were Strangers and Enemies, how much more shall they who are the natural[Branches,] to whom the Promises do origi-

20 Well; because of Unbelief they were broken off, and thou standest by Faith. Be not High-minded, but 21 For if God spared not the natural Branches, take Heed lest he also spare not thee.

22 Behold therefore the Goodness, and Severity of God: On them which fell, Severity; but towards thee, Goodness, if thou continue in bis Goodness: Otherwise thou also shalt be cut off.

23 And they also, if they bide not still in Unbelief, shall be grafted in: For God is able to graft them inagain.

24 For if thou wert cut out of the Olive-tree, which is wild by Nature, and wert grafted contrary to Nature into a good Olive-tree; how much more shall these which be the natural Branches, be grafted

(d) Be not high-minded, &c.] Archbishop Tillotson well observes, that this Caution ill suits the Claim to Infallibility, which the modern Church of Rome so arrogantly makes, amidst all the Absurdities with which her Doctrine, and her Ritual are loaded,

Digitized by Google

nally

grafted into their own Olive- nally belong, be grafted on their own Olive? God Sect. 25. will not feem to do fo wonderful a Thing, in restoring them to what might seem the Priviledge Rom. XI.24. of their Birth-right and Descent, and saving the Seed of Abraham his Friend; as he hath done, in calling you Sinners of the Gentiles, to participate the Blessings, of which you had not the least Notion, and to which you cannot be supposed to have had any imaginable Claim.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us set ourselves seriously to pause upon the Conduct of God. towards the Yews and Gentiles, in that Part of it, which the Apollle here describes; and rejoice with Trembling in it. Let us reflect on the Divine Severity to them, and the Divine Goodness to us. What Vcr. 22. immense Goodness! That we should be taken from that wretched Condition, in which we were utterly ignorant of the great Author and End of our Being, of the Nature of true Happiness, and the Way of obtaining it; that we and our Off-spring might be grafted on the good Stock, be Ver. 24. called to the most important of those Priviledges and Hopes, with which the Seed of Abraham were honoured, and inriched. We partake of the Ver. 17. Fatness of the good Olive: May our Fruit abound to the Honour of God, to the Benefit of Mankind.

Let us cherish the most benevolent and tender Disposition towards the House of Israel, to whose spiritual Priviledges we are raised; and let us earnestly pray that they may be awakened to Emulation; especially as their Ver. 11. Fulness is to be the Riches of the Gentiles, and the receiving them again, as Life from the Dead to the languishing and decaying Church.

In the mean Time, as the Gospel comes to us in so awful a Manner, vindicated from the Contempt of former Despisers, let us solemnly charge upon our Souls this Lesson of holy Caution, these falutary Words, (Oh that they may be continually present to our Thoughts!) Be not Highminded but fear: Whatever our Priviledges, whatever our Experiences are, whatever our Confidence may be, let us dwell upon the Thought; for there is no Christian upon Earth that hath not Reason to sear, in Proportion to the Degree in which he feels his Thoughts lowering on High, and grows into any Conceit of himself. Daily let us recollect, what we were in our natural Estate, and what, with all our Improvements and Attainments, we should immediately be, if God should forfake us.

Let us pray therefore, that we may continue in GOD's Goodness; and Ver. 22. whoever may appear to fall from it, let us not glory; but rather mourn over them, and pray for their Recovery and Salvation, to that God, who 146 Blindness is to Israel, till the Fulness of the Gentiles come in.

Sect. 25. is able to recover from the most obstinate Insidelity and Impenitence, and to graft on not only foreign Branches, but what may seem yet more wonderful, those that have appeared more than twice dead.

S E C T. XXVI.

The Apostle farther illustrates the future Conversion of the Jews to the Gospel; and concludes the Argument, with observing, that in the mean Time, their Obstinacy is over-ruled to such happy Purposes, as make the whole Scene a most glorious Display of the unsearchable Wisdom of GOD. Rom. XI. 25, to the End.

ROMANS XI. 25.

Sect. 26. Rom.XI.25.

ND now, my Brethren, upon the whole I will conclude what I have to fay, upon this interesting and affecting Subject, which I have indeed enlarged upon pretty copiously; for it lies with great Weight upon my Heart. And therefore I would not have you to be ignorant of this material Circumstance relating to the great My/tery, in the Dispensation before us, which, on the first Views of it, may appear very unaccountable; lest you should have too high an Opinion of yourselves, when you see the Jews rejected for their fatal Error. I would not, I fay, have you ignorant of this, that the lamentable Blindness and Infatuation we have been speaking of, is in Part happened unto Israel, and has spread itself over by far the greatest Part of the Jewish People, not that they may utterly perish, and be for ever cut off; but that they may continue in this humbled and rejected State, till a certain Period arrive, when the Fulness of the Gentiles, the appointed Harvest of them, shall be brought in (a),

Romans XI. 25.

FOR I would not, Brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this Mystery (lest ye should be wife in your own Conceits) that Blindness in Part is happened to Israel, until the Fulness of the Gentiles be come in.

(a) Till the Fulness of the Gentiles shall be brought in, &c.] It is well remarked, by my late learned, pious and candid Friend, Dr. William Harris, that as this Epistle was written about 26 And so all Israel shall be faved: As it is written, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away Ungodliness from Jacob.

27 For this is my Covenant unto them, when I shall take away their Sins.

28 As concerning the Gospel, they are Enemies for your Sake: But as touchand incorporated with those already affociated to Sect. 26. the Church of Christ. And so, when this Rom.XI.26. happy Season marked out in the Divine Decrees, tho' to us unknown, shall be come, that blessed Event shall make Way for it, and all the Seed of Israel shall, by a general Conversion, be saved from its Dispersion and Misery, and fixed in a State of Covenant-favour and Acceptance with God again. As it is written, (Isai. lix. 20.) a Deliverer shall come out of Sion, and he shall turn away the Punishment of their former Impiety from Jacob, when he hath brought them to true Repentance (b). As it is added, and 27 this [is] my Covenant, which I shall make with them, when I shall take away their Sins, that is, when their Sins as a Nation are remitted, it shall be to bring them again into Covenant with myself. And thus, on the whole, with Respect to the Gospel, 28 [they are] indeed regarded as Enemies for your Sakes, that is, for their obstinate rejecting the Gospel, God hath rejected them, in Favour of you, and that he might receive you into his Church as in their Stead (c): But as for the Elec-about the Year 57, that is, long after the most remarkable Conversion of the Jews, by the first Preaching of the Apostles, and after Paul had been about 30 Years engaged in his Work, it appears, that the Prophecies relating to the Calling of the Jews were not accomplished then, and consequently are not yet accomplished. Harris's practical Discourses on the Messiah, pag. 91. Dr. Whithy very justly observes, that there is a double Harvest of the Gentiles, spoken of by Paul, in this Chapter; the sirst, called their Riches, Verse 12. as confishing in the Preaching the Gospel to all Nations, whereby indeed they were happily inriched with Divine Knowledge and Grace; the fecond, the Bringing in their Fulness, which expresses a more glorious Conversion of many to the true Faith of Christians, in the latter Age of the World, which is to be occasioned by the Conversion of the Jews. Whit. in Loc. This answers Orobio's Objection, (Limb. Collat. pag. 94.) that Paul's Account is contrary to the Prophecies of the Old Testament, which represent the Recovery of the Gentile Nations, as consequent on the Redemption of Israel.

(b) As it is written, (Isai. lix. 20, &c.)] This Text, as it stands in the Hebrew, seems different from the Sense in which it is here quoted. A Deliverer shall come—to those that turn from Iniquity. But if Christ be here foretold as a Deliverer to the Jews, it is all that the Apostle's Purpose requires. Yet it is observable the lxx. agrees better with the Words of the Quotation, as it possibly might with the original Reading; and it is certain, that the general Tenor of God's Covenant with Ifrael gave no Hope of Deliverance after Rejection and Chastiscment, but in a Way of Repentance, and Reformation. Compare Lev. xxvi.

39,—45. Deut. xxx. 1,—10.

(c) Enemies for your Sakes.] The most natural Sense of these Words, were they considered alone, might feem, that the Calling the Gentiles prejudiced the Jews against the Gofpel: But as they generally rejected it, before the Gentiles were called, I, on the whole, prefer the Sense given in the Paraphrase. The different Sense of Im here supposed, may Vol. IV. feem

Sect. 26. tion, that Remnant of them which God hath graciously chosen, to be subdued by the Grace of the Gospel, [they are] beloved for their Fathers Sakes.

God's gracious Regard to the Memory of their pi-the Gospel, [they are] beloved for their Fathers Sakes.

God's gracious Regard to the Memory of their pious Ancestors engages him to take Care, that some of their Seed shall always continue in Covenant with him, till at length he recovers them as nant with him, till at length he recovers them as a Nation, and aftonish the World with their unequalled Glory and Felicity. And this shall most assured be, for the Gifts and Calling of GOD [are] not to be repented of (d): He doth not resume the Gifts he hath once bestowed, nor retract the Calls he hath once given, but will maintain a Remembrance of them, and act in perfect Harmony with them, in all his Dispensations; according to that wise Plan which he hath laid in his eternal Counsels, and from which no unforeseen Contingency can ever cause him to vary.

30

As then ye Gentiles were once, and for a long Time, disobedient to GOD, and buried in Ignorance and Superstition, but now bave obtained Mercy, by Means of their Disobedience; God having taken you to be his People instead of the Jews; So they also, having been disobedient to the Gospel, and the more prejudiced against it on Occasion of your Admittance to such distinguishing Mercy, yet shall not be utterly and finally ruined, but shall also to the Glory of Divine Grace at length, themselves, obtain the Mercy they have envied you. And thus the Divine Good-have envied you. And thus the Divine Goodness is illustrated, even by that which might seem most contrary to it: For it appears, that GOD bath, for a certain Time, shut up all under Obstinacy and Disobedience (e), suffering each in their Turn ing the Election, they are beloved for the Father's Sakes.

29 For the Gifts and Calling of God are without Repentance.

30 For as ye in Times part have not believed God, yet have now obtained Mercy through their Unbelief.

31 Even fo have these also now not believed, that through your Mercy they also may obtain Mercy.

32 For Gop hath concluded them all in Unbelief, that feem a strong Objection against it; but if Isa be rendered with a Regard to, it may be applicable to both,

(d) Not to be repented of.] Elfaer has produced many Passages from approved Greek Clafficks, in which the Word authauthos, is used exactly in this Sense: and has collected in his curious Note on this Verse, many Testimonies of Pagan Authors relating to the Divine Perfections, which might have taught some Christian Divines to speak more honourably of them, than they do in some of their Writings.

(e) Shut up all under Disobedience, &c.] It is of great Importance to observe, that this refers to different Periods. First, God suffered the Gentiles, in the early Ages of the World upon all.

that he might have Mercy Turn to revolt, under different Degrees of Light, Sect. 26. that he might in a more remarkable Manner have Mercy on all, and glorify the Riches of his Grace, in Favours bestowed on those, who evidently appeared fo undeferving.

33 O the Depth of the Riches both of the Wisdom and Knowledge of Gop! How unsearchable are his Judgements, and his Ways past finding out!

And now, to conclude this Article, who in the View of such a Series of Events must not cry out, Ob the awful and unfathomable Depths of the Riches, and Wisdom, and Knowledge of GOD! How rich are the Treasures of his Mercy, how deep the Contrivances of his Wisdom, how boundless the Stretch of his Knowledge! How unsearchable, and yet how unquestionable, [are] bis Judgments! and his Ways such as cannot be traced For who bath compleatly known the Mind of the Lord in these Things, or who hath been his Councellor, in forming the Plan of them? whether Jew or Greek, can pretend, that he bath first given any Thing to him, or conferred any Obligation upon him? Let him make out the Claim, and we may answer for it, that it shall be exactly repaid bim again. For on the whole, of him, as the original Author, and through kim, as the gracious Preserver, and for him, as the ultimate End, [are] all Things (f). To him therefore [be] glory for ever, and ever; and let all the Creation join their utmost Force to advance it to the highest Degrees, and unite their Voices in 34 For who hath known the Mind of the Lord, or who hath been his Counsel-

35 Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again?

36 For of him, and through him, and to him, are all Things: To whom be Glory for ever. Amen.

IMPROVEMENT.

faying, Amen.

TET our whole Souls be engaged to glorify this great and bleffed J God, from whom, and through whom we, and all the Creatures, ex- Ver. 36. ift. Oh that it may be our eternal Employment to render Adoration, and World to revolt, and then took the Abrahamick Family as a peculiar Seed to himself, and bestowed extraordinary Favours upon them. Afterwards, he permitted them, by Unbelief and Disobedience to fall, and took in the Gentiles on their Believing; and he did even this, with an Intent to make that very Mercy to the Gentiles, a Means of provoking the Jews to Jealousy, and so bring them to Faith, by that which had at first been an Offence in the Way to it. This was truly a Mystery in the Divine Conduct, which the Apostle most rationally, as well as respectfully, adores, in the concluding Words of the Chapter.

(f) Uf him, thro' him, for him, &c.] Antoninus, speaking of Nature, that is, of God, has an Expression, which one would imagine, he had borrowed from this of Paul, ex ou menla, w que navla, sis se navla, all Things are of thee, in thee, and to thee.

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 26. Bleffing, and Glory to him! To him, whose Counsels none can trace: To him, who hath prevented us all with the Bleffings of his Goodness; so that far from being able to confer any Obligation on him, for which we should pretend to demand a Recompence, on the contrary, we must own, that the more we are enabled and animated to do for him, the

Ver. 34. more indeed are we obliged to him. We cannot pretend to have known the Mind of the Lord in all its Extent, or to have been admitted into his fecret Counfels. He is continually doing marvellous Things, which we know not: Yet surely we know enough to admire and adore. We know Ver. 33. enough to cry out in Raptures of delightful Surprize, Oh the Depths of the Riches, both of his Wisdom and Goodness!

One Instance, tho' but one of many, we have here before us, in his mysterious Conduct towards Jews and Gentiles; in which, Occurrences that seem the most unaccountable, and indeed the most lamentable, are over-ruled by God to answer most benevolent Purposes. That the Sin of the Jews should be the Salvation of the Gentiles, and yet the Mercy shewn to the Gentiles, in its Consequences the Salvation of the Jews, and so both should be concluded under Sin, that GOD might more illustriously have

Ver. 32. both should be concluded under Sin, that GOD might more illustriously have Mercy on both!

Ver. 26. Oh that the blessed Time were come, when all Israel shall be saved: When the Deliverer, who is long since come out of Sion, shall turn away

Ver. 25. Iniquity from Jacob: and the Fulness of the Gentiles come in, so that from the Rising to the going down of the Sun, the Lord shall be one, and his Name one. Our Faith waits the glorious Event, and may perhaps wait it even to the End of Life. But a Generation to be born shall see it:

Ver. 29. For the Gifts and Callings of GOD are without Repentance. Let our affured Confidence in the Divine Promise, travel on, as it were, to the Accomplishment over Mountains of Difficulty, that may lie in our Way; and let our Hearts be cheared with this happy Prospect, under all the Grief which they feel, when we see how sew now believe the Report of the Gospel, and to how sew Gon hath revealed his Arm.

While the glorious expected Event is delayed, let us add our fervent Intercessions with God, to these Prayers, by which the Church has in every Age been endeavouring to hasten it on. They are all written in the Book of God's Remembrance, and shall all be reviewed and answered in their Season. Let us in the mean Time comfort ourselves with this reviving Thought, that the Covenant which GOD will make with Is-this reviving Thought, that the Covenant which GOD will make with If-rael in that Day, is in the main the same he has made with us, to take away Sin. Eased of such an insupportable Burthen, that would sink us into final Ruin and Despair, let us bear up chearfully against all Discouragements, and glory in the Gospel, which brings us this invaluable Blessing; how long, and how generally soever, it may be, to the Jews a stumbling Block, and to the Greeks Foolishness.

S E C T. XXVII.

The Apostle enters on a Series of most admirable practical Exhortations and Directions; in which he labours to persuade Christians to act in a Manner worthy of that Gospel, the Excellency of which he had been illustrating. And here particularly, urges an intire Consecration to GOD, and a Care to glorify him, in their respective Stations, by a faithful Improvement of their various Talents. Rom. XII. 1,---11.

ROMANS XII. I.

Befeech you therefore, Brethren, by the Mercies of God, that ye present your Bodies a living Sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God,

ROMANS XII. 1.

TAVING thus dispatched what I proposed Sect. 27. in the argumentative Part of the Epistle, Rom. XII.1. and suggested a Variety of Considerations, which may convince you of the great Excellency of the Gospel, and the fingular Favour, which Gop has shewn to those Gentiles whom he hath called into the Christian Church, and to that Remnant of the Jews who are kept in fo happy a Relation to them, while the Bulk of their Nation are fallen into a State of Rejection; let me now endeavour to animate you all to behave in a fuitable Manner. I intreat you therefore (a), my dear Brethren, Partakers with me in this holy Calling, by all the tender Mercies of our most compassionate GOD, that instead of the animal Victims, whose slaughtered Bodies you have been accustomed to offer, either to the true God, or to Idols, you would now present, as it were, at his spiritual Altar, your own Bodies, as a living Sacrifice, holy and well pleafing to GOD. Let all the Members of your Bodies, and all the

(b) Bodies.

⁽a) Intreat you therefore.] Some apply this to the Gentiles; and as most of the Members of the Church at Rome were originally so, it is reasonable to believe the Apostle had them principally in View: But not excluding the converted Jews, who, as he had just before expressed it, remained as a Remnant according to the Election of Grace, when the Rest were hardened, and therefore had surely Reason to acknowledge the tender Mercies of GOD to them, and were under strong Obligations to devote themselves to him. I have accordingly in the Paraphrase applied it to both.

Sect. 27. Faculties of your Souls (b), being fanctified and God, which is your reaso-I animated by Divine Grace, be employed in the Service of him, to whom you are under fuch This he requires of you, immense Obligations. [as] your rational Service; and it will be much more acceptable to him, than any ceremonial Forms, tho' most exactly prescribed in a Ritual And as you defire 2 of his own Appointment. to engage his Approbation and Favour, be not, in the general Course of your Temper and Actions, conformed to the Sentiments and Customs of this vain and finful World; but rather be ye transformed, in the renewing of your Mind: Endeavour to become new Creatures, contracting new Habits and engaging in new Pursuits, under the Influence of the Divine Spirit on your Hearts; that you may not only be speculatively acquainted with the Doctrines, Precepts, and Design of the Gospel, but may experimentally know that Will of GOD, [which is] in itself so excellently good, and which, as it is most acceptable to him, has the most apparent Tendency to purify and perfect our

> And I particularly fay, and give it in Charge (d), according to that Grace which is given to me as an inspired Apostle, to every one that is among you, as if personally named, to take the greatest Heed, that he be not exalted into spiritual Pride, by the Gifts and Priviledges which God hath conferred upon you. Icharge each not to arrogate [to bimfelf] above what he ought to think (e), but that he think nable Service.

Natures (c).

2 And be not conformed to this World: But be ye transformed by the renewing of your Mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect Will of Gog.

3 For I say, through the Grace given unto me, to every Man that is among. you, not to think of bimself more highly than he ought to think, but to think foberly

(f) According

(b) Bodies and Souls. The Body is here by a usual Figure put for the whole Person, nor can the Soul be now presented to God otherwise than as dwelling in the Body, or truly confecrated to him, unless the Body be employed in his Service; nor on the other Hand, can the Body be presented, as a living Sacrifice, otherwise than as acted and animated by the Soul .- For the Propriety of the Word Tagaswas, which properly fignifies, placing the Victim before the Altar, see Elsner in Loc.

(c) Good, acceptable, and perfect.] L'Enfant explains each of these as opposed to the Yewish Ritual; this Christian Sacrifice being more excellent in itself, Ezek. xx. 25. more pleasing to God, Pfal. xl. 7, 8. and tending more to make us perfect, Heb. vii. 19. I understand it as referring to all the preceptive Part of Christianity, the Excellency of which they will best understand, who set themselves most exactly to practise upon it.

(d) Say, and give it in Charge. So λεγειν fignifies, Acts xv. 24. See Rappel. Annot. ex Herodot. in Loc.

(e) Not to arrogate, &c.] Rapbelius, (Annot. ex Hered. in Lec.) has shewn, that vaspepehas properly this Signification.

Digitized by Google

foberly, according as God hath dealt to every Man the Measure of Faith.

4 For as we have many Members in one Body, and all Members have not the same Office:

5 So we being many are one Body in Christ, and every one Members one of another

6 Having then Gifts, differing according to the Grace that is given to us, whether Prophecy, let us prophely according to the Proportion of Faith:

of himself with Modesty, Sobriety and Humility; Sect. 27. according to the Measure of that Faith, and in correspondent Proportion to those Gifts, which GOD Rom. XII.3. bath distributed to every Man among you. And furely when you consider, it is God who hath given all, there will appear little Reason to magnify yourselves on any distinguishing Share of his Bounty, which any one may have received. Especially, when you remember, that this Distribution is made, not only, or chiefly, for your own Sake, but out of Regard to the Good of the Whole: For as in one Body we have many Members, but all the Members have not the same Use, but each its proper Function and Service, appointed by the wife Former, and gracious Preserver of the So we, tho many, are one Body in 5 Christ, and every one Members of each other: We should therefore endeavour each of us to know his own Place and Condition, and mutually to make our various Capacities as serviceable as we can.

Having therefore Gifts, all proceeding from 6 God, the great Fountain of every good Thing, and different according to the Diversity of the Grace, that is given unto us: Whether [it be] Prophecy, as enabling us to foretel future Events, or to make Discourses for the Edification and Direction of the Church, [let us be employed in it] according to the Degree of our Gift, which is in Proportion to the Degree of Faith, that is res-7 Or Ministry, let us pectively in us (f): Or [baving] the Office of 7 Ministry,

(f) According to the Proportion of Faith.] Many interpret this, "Do it according to the " general Scheme of Divine Revelation, not setting up any novel Interpretations of Scrip" ture, injurious to it." But Raphelius, (Annot. ex Xen. in Loc.) objects that $\lambda 07 06$, not analogia, would be the proper Word to express that. Dr. Sam. Clarke, (Posthum. Serm. Vol. i. pag. 6.) by Faith understands the Trust reposed in them, or the Nature and Use of the Gift they had; which is a very unusual Sense of the Word misis. The Rhemish Je-Juits suppose, it was a Confession, or Summary, of Faith, drawn up by all the Apostles in Conjunction; to which they refer, Rom. vi. 17. Chap. xvi. 17. 1 Tim. vi. 20. Gal. i. 6. Als xv. 6. none of which Texts seem to imply any Thing like it; nor is it pretended, that fuch a Creed was ever quoted in Antiquity, by the Name of αναλογια πις εως, or indeed that I can find, by any other. If we suppose the prophetick Gift to be given in Proportion to the Exercise of Faith, that is, of Dependance on God, when he signified a Disposition in general to impart it, we have I think the clearest Explication the Phrase will admit. See Vol. ii. pag. 322. Note (b) on Mark xi. 22.

(g) Emplay

Sect. 27. Ministry, as Deacons, let a Man employ himself actively and faithfully in his Ministration (g):

Or if he be an Instructor of Catechumens, who are to be fitted for the Communion of the Church, let him continue humbly, tenderly and patiently 8 in the Work of Teaching: Or if he be an Exhorter, whose peculiar Business it is, to urge Christians to Duty, or to comfort them in the Discharge of it, let him continue in his Exhortation: He that giveth any Thing to a charitable Use, [let him do it] with true Simplicity, and unfeigned Liberality of Heart; neither feeking the Applause of Men, nor any other sinister End, which he could defire to conceal: He that presdeth in the Distribution of Charities; so collected, let him do it with Diligence (b); that he may know the Care proposed, and that he may see, that nothing be wanting to make the Charity as effectual, as possible: And as for him, that sheweth Mercy, that is, who has the Care of those, who on Account of peculiarly grievous Calamities are the Objects of particular Compassion, let him do it with an obliging Chearfulness of Temper, cautiously guarding against any Disgust at what may feem mean and disagreeable, in the Offices, which must necessarily be performed for fuch.

On the whole, [let] Love [be] undissembled, and all your Expressions of mutual Friendship, as free as possible from base Flattery, and from vain Compliment. Abbor that which is Evil, in every Instance, and adhere resolutely to that which is good. Practise Benevolence in all its Branches, and every other Virtue, with the greatest Determination wait on our Ministering; or he that teacheth, on Teaching;

8 Or he that exhorteth, on Exhortation: He that giveth, let him da it with Simplicity; he that ruleth, with Diligence; he that sheweth Mercy with Chearfulness.

9 Let Love be without Diffimulation. Abhor that which is Evil, cleave to that which is good.

(i) In

(g) Employ himself in Ministration.] It seems the Word see is understood. Compare I Pet. iv. 10, 11.—'The Word Staxona properly signifies the Ministration of a Deacon; and so interpreted, gives the distinctest Sense.

⁽h) He that presideth with Diligence.] In this and the following Clause, I follow the Interpretation of Lord Barrington, (Misc. Sacra Vol. i. pag. 77,—80.) and refer to him for the Reasons, which I think sufficient to justify it; only mentioning the Application of the Word προσαλιο, in the same Sense to Phaehe, Rom. xvi. 2. who could not be supposed a Ruler in the Church. Προσαμενος, properly signifies one who presides, but, in what, the Connection must determine. For the extraordinary Mercy exercised among the ancient Christians, see Lucian de Morte Peregrin. apud Opera, Vol. ii. pag. 764. Edit. Salmur. 1619. and Julian. Epist. xlix.

10 Be kindly affectioned one to another, with brotherly Love, in Honour preferring one another:

11 Not set'iful in Business: fervent in Spirit: serving the Lord:

mination and Perseverance of Mind; whatever Sect. 27. Discouragements may for the present arise. not only abound in the Exercises of common Humanity; but in brotherly Love, as Christians. [be] mutually full of tender Affection (i), yea, cultivate those gentle Dispositions of Mind with Delight; and endeavour to think so modestly of yourselves, that you may still be in Honour preferring one another. Let each, in his Turn, be ready to think better of his Brethren, than of himself; and so to prevent them in every Office of Respect (k), and out of Regard to their Advantage, to give up with as good a Grace as posfible, any Thing, in which his own Honour or personal Interest may be concerned. When you are actually engaged, be not flothful and fluggish in the Prosecution of your proper Business in Life, but endeavour to rouze your Spirits; so that it may be dispatched with Vigour and Alacrity, and without an unnecessary Expence of Time. For this Purpose be fervent, warm and active in Spirit; and certainly you will fee the greatest Obligation and Encouragement to be fo, when you consider, that you are ferving the Lord Jesus Christ (1), to whose Condescension and Love you

Rom. XII. 10.

(i) In brotherly Love, [be] mutually full of tender Affection.] Perhaps the extreamly expreffive Words of the Original, τη οιλαθελφια εις αλληλις φιλος οργοι, might justly be rendered, delight in the tenderest fraternal Affection to each other. The Word orderopy as, not only signifying a strong Affection, like that of parent Animals to their Off-spring, but a Delight in it, as the ingenious Dr. Balguy has justly observed in his excellent Sermon on this Text.

(k) Preventing them in every Office of Respect.] Archbishop Leighton, well observes, (Expository Works, Vol. ii. pag. 429.) that the original Words, τη Ίιμη αλληλες προηγεμενοι, are very expressive, and might literally be rendered, leading on each other with Respect, or in giving Honour going before each other. This I have endeavoured to express in this Clause of the Paraphrale, but have retained our Version, as expressing something of the Esteem, from which this respectful Behaviour should proceed. L'Enfant renders it, mutually prevent one another with Honour. (1) Serving the Lord.] Several Copies for xup w read xa ea, ferving the Time, that is, hufbanding your Opportunities; and Dr. Mill, trusting chiefly to the Authority of Jerome, and some other Latin Translations, admits this as the true Reading. But is is by no Means supported by an adequate Number of Greek Manuscripts; and besides, that it would be an unnatural and inelegant Expression in that Sense, it sinks the noble Sense of the commonly received Reading so much, that I could by no Means persuade myself to follow it. It is a lively Exhortation to Christians to be always serving Christ, and to cultivate the Temper, which the Apostle expresses, when he says euos To Com xpisos, Phil. i. 21. to me to live is Christ. It also suggests a Motive, to inforce the former Exhortation; as I have hinted in the Paraphrafe.

Vol. IV.

Reflections on our Obligation to Piety, Humility, &c.

154

Sect. 27. are infinitely indebted. May you always attend Rom. XII. and may service with the greatest Zeal and Delight, and may every Action of Life be brought into a due Subordination to that great End!

IMPROVEMENT.

OW rich were a Christian in practical Directions for the Conduct of Life, even if this excellent Chapter were his only Treasure of this Kind. Let fuch Scriptures as these be welcome to us; the Scriptures, that teach us our Duty; as well as those, that display before our Eves the richest Variety of spiritual Priviledges. Indeed it is one of our greatest Priviledges, to be taught our Duty, if at the same Time we are inclined by Divine Grace to perform it; and if we are not, we have no Priviledges, that will prevent, none that will not encrease, our . Ruin.

Ver. 1.

Wisely does the great Apostle lay the Foundation of all Virtue in a Principle of unfeigned Piety towards GOD; in presenting before him our Bodies, as living Sacrifices. How great an Honour and Happiness will it be to us. to do it.—That we may be engaged to this, let us often think of his tender Mercies, so many and so great, and especially, of that most illustrious of all Mercies, his redeeming us by the Blood of his Son, and calling us into the Christian Covenant. Can there be a more reafonable Service than this? That we should be consecrated to our Creator, to our Redeemer, to our Sanctifier, to our constant Benefactor, to our supream End and Happiness?——The World indeed neglects him, yea, even what is called the Christian World, neglects him, to such a Degree, as, if we did not continually see it, we should not suppose to be possible. But let us not in this Instance be conformed to it. Oh that Divine Grace may so transform and renew our Hearts, that we may not! Nothing but Experience can teach us, how good, and perfect, and acceptable the Will of GOD is, and how happy a Thing it is to be governed, in every Respect, by its unerring Declarations. Let us remember, that as our Sanctification, so also our Humility, and

Ver. 2.

Ver. 3.

Ver. 4.

our Usefulness, are his Will; and therefore let us endeavour to conquer every high Conceit of ourselves, and every fordid and selfish Sentiment. Let us often reflect, that we are all Members of each other; and being so happily united in Christ, have all but one Interest, which is that of the Ver. 7, &c. Body, and of its glorified Head. Whether our Station in the Church be more publick, or private; whether our Capacities and Endowments be more or less distinguished; let us all be faithful, be affectionate, be difinterested, be active, endeavouring to serve Christ, and even the poorest of his People, with Simplicity, with Diligence, with Chearfulness; preferring

Digitized by Google

ring others to ourselves; abborring that Love, which is spent in hypocri- Sect. 27. tical Words, and unmeaning Forms; cultivating that, which gives to the Soul Tenderness, Condescension and Vigour. In one Word, let us remember, we are serving the Lord, the Lord Christ; and doing all in Ver. 11. his Name, and for his Sake, let this add Fervour to our Spirit, Zeal to our Diligence, and Abasement to our Humility; for nothing surely can be so animating, nothing so melting, nothing so humbling, as to recollect, on the one Hand, how much we owe him, and on the other, how little we are able, how much less we are careful, to do for his Service.

S E C T. XXVIII.

The Apostle pursues his practical Exhortations, and particu-. larly recommends Devotion, Patience, Hospitality, mutual Sympathy, Humility, a peaceful Temper, and a Readiness to forgive Injuries. Rom. XII. 12, to the End.

ROMANS XII. 12.

ROMANS XII. 12.

R Ejoicing in Hope; patient in Tribulation; continuing instant in Pray-

THAVE been exhorting you, my Brethren, Sect. 28. to many Christian Duties and Graces, and S among the rest to the greatest Activity and Zeal in the Service of Christ. Let me also exhort you to guard against such a Dejection of Spirit, as would enervate that holy Activity and Zeal. On the contrary, [be] you, that are the Servants of Christ, always rejoicing in the Hope of those glorious Rewards, which your Divine Master, in the Riches of his Grace, hath fet before you, and in that Support, which he gives you in the Way to that eternal Glory. And animated by that Hope, be patient in all the Tribulation, which you may bear in his Cause, or from his Hands, in the wife Disposals of his gracious Providence. And while under these Pressures, continuing instant in Prayer, draw down those neceffary Supplies of his Holy Spirit, which may carry you honourably thro' all your Trials: Liberally communicating to the Necessities of the 13 Distributing to the Neces-

U. 2 Saints,

Digitized by Google

Rom. XII.

Rom. XII.

Sect. 28. Saints, and accounting nothing your own, which Necessity of the Saints; their Relief requires you to furnish out: Particularly pursuing that Hospitality, which present Circumstances so peculiarly demand (a), especially towards those Strangers that are Exiles, or Travellers, in the Cause of Christianity. Stay not till Occasions of this Kind force themselves upon you, and much less, till Importunity extort the Favour, as it were, against your Will; but like Abraham look out for proper Objects of such a Bounty, and follow after them, to bring them

14 back to your Houses. On the other Hand, bless them, who are pursuing you with evil Intentions and persecute you with the greatest Severity: for Conscience Sake. Wish them well, and pray for their Conversion; yea, if they should go on to revile you, for all the Expressions of your Love, go on to bless; and curse them not, the provoked by their bitterest Imprecations against you.

15 Make it a constant Maxim with yourselves, to maintain a constant Sympathy with your Brethren of Mankind, which may lead you to rejoice with them that rejoice, and to weep with them that weep; to congratulate others on their Felicity, and to bear your Part with them in their Sorrows, as Members of one Body, who have all, as it were,

16 one common Feeling. [Be] intirely united in your Regards for each other (b). Let each condescend to the rest, and agree with them, as far as he fairly and honourably can; and where you must differ, do not, by any Means, quarrel about it, but allow the same Liberty of Sentigiven to Hospitality.

14 Bless them which perfecute you: Bless, and curfe

15 Rejoice with thema that do rejoice, and weep. with them that weep.

16 Be of the same Mind one towards another... Mind

(a) Pursuing Hospitality.] It was the more proper for the Apostles so frequently to inforcethis Duty, as the Want of publick Inns (much less common, than among us, tho not quite unknown, Luke x. 34, 35.) rendered it difficult for Strangers to get Accommodations, and as many Christians might be banished their native Country for Religion, and perhaps laid under a Kind of Bann of Excommunication, both among Jews and Heathens, which would make it a high Crime, for any of their former Brethren to receive them into their Houses. —For the Illustration, which the Paraphrase gives of the Energy of this Text, I am obliged to Mr. Blackwall, Sacred Class. Vol. i. pag. 232.

(b) Be intirely united in your Regards for each other.] This on the whole, seemed the most proper Version of, To and one addudus opposelles; and the Dr. Whithy paraphrases it, " Desire "the same Things for others, that you do for yourselves, and would have them defire for " you;" I think the Sense given above preferable, as it supposes less of an Bilipsis, which I would not suppose without apparent Necessity.

(c) Greeks

Mind not high Things, but condescend to Men of low Estate. Be not wise in your own Conceits.

ments you would claim. Affect not bigh Things; Sect. 28. either to possess exalted Stations of Life, or to converse with those that bear them; but rather condescend, and accommodate yourselves, to Men of low Rank; for it is chiefly among the poorer Part of Mankind, that the Gospel is like to prevail: And all Christians ought, in this Respect, to bear the Image of their great Master, who fpent most of his Time in conversing with such. Be not so wife in your own Conceit, as to think yourselves above the Divine Direction, or that of your Fellow-christians, in this Respect, or in any Render to none Evil for Evil; nor imagine that any Man's injurious Treatment of you will warrant your returning the Injury; but act in such a cautious and circumspect Manner, that it may evidently appear, you provide against the Malignity, which will lead many to put the worst Constructions upon your Actions. And do only those Things, which may be above the Need of Excuse, and may appear, at the first View, fair and reputable in the Sight of all Men. If it be possible, and at least to the utmost of your 17 Recompense to no Man Evil for Evil. Provide Things honest in the Sight of all Men.

18 If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live. peaceably with all Men.

19 Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give Place unto Wrath:

barians (c)... Upon the whole, my dearly beloved Brethren, whatever Wrongs you may receive, revenge not yourselves on those, that have injured you; but rather yield, and give Place to the Wrath of the Enemy (d); for God hath forbidden us to indulge:

Power, as far as it is confiftent with Duty, Honour, and Conscience, live peaceably with all Men; not only your own Countrymen, or Fellow-christians, but Jews, and Gentiles, Greeks, and Bar-

(c) Greeks and Barbarians.] 'Tis remarkable that Dr. Barrow adds, this must include living peaceably with Hereticks and Schismaticks, Barrow's Works, Vol. i. pag. 278. however, the Ill-treatment, which must be expected, under these hard Names, from Men of unpeaceable Tempers, should never lead any to deny, or slight, what they in their Consciences judge the Truth of Doctrine, or Purity of Worship.

(d) Give Place to Wrath.] L'Enfant and others explain this of giving Way to the Wrath: of GOD, and quote the Phrase of giving Place to the Physician, (Ecclus. xxxviii. 12.) and giving Place to the Law, (Chap. xix. 17.) as authorizing that interpretation. But I think, in both those Passages, to give Place signifies to yield without opposing; in which Sense it best suits the Interpretation given in the Paraphrase, which seems most natural. The ingenious and learned Dr. Balguy determines in Favour of the other Interpretation, (Balguy's

Rom. XII. 16

Rom. XII. 19,

Sect. 28. dulge any of the vindictive Passions: As it is written, (Deut. xxxii. 35.) Vengeance [is] mine, that is, it properly belongs to me, and I will recompense the deserved Punishment, saith the Lord. And indeed it requires the Wisdom, as well as the Dignity and Majesty, of a God, to claim, Therefore, instead of and manage it aright. bearing any Thoughts of hurting them, that have used you most unkindly and unjustly, if thine Enemy hunger, feed him, and if he thirst, give him Drink; and on the whole, do him all the Good in thy Power, as Solomon urgeth; (Prov. xxv. 21.) for by doing this thou shalt, as it were, heap Coals of Fire on bis Head (e): Thou wilt touch him so sensibly, that he will no more be able to stand against such a Conduct, than to bear on his Head burning Coals; but will rather > by future Kindness to overbalance the Injury. On all Occasions, act on this, as an inviolable Maxim; and if you dont find the immediate good Effect, perfift in such a Conduct; be not overcome with Evil, where it feems most obstinate: but overcome Evil with Good: For that is the most glorious Victory, and a Victory, which may certainly be obtained, if you will have the Courage to adhere to that, which being good, is always in its own Nature, on the whole, invincible, to whatever present Disadvantage it may seem ob-

> fubmit and feek thy Friendship, and endeavour

Wrath: For it is written. Vengeance is mine; I will repay, faith the Lord.

20 Therefore if thine Enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him Drink: For in fo doing thou shalt heap Coals of Fire on his Head.

21 Be not overcome of Evil, but overcome Evil with Good.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 12.

noxious.

CURELY if any Thing, confistent with the Burthens and Sorrows of mortal Life, can inspire constant Joy, it must the Christian Hope; the Hope of our high Calling. Surely with a Joy thus supported, no Tribulation can be too great to be endured with Patience; yea, with Chearfulness: Since, Serm. Vol. ii. pag. 222, 223.) tho' the Force of the Reason, that follows, is not at all impaired by ours.

(e) Thou shalt heap, &c.] The Sense cannot be, thou shalt consume him, and bring Judgments upon him; for that would be applying to Revenge, and building upon it, while it is most expressly forbidden. It must therefore intimate, in how tender a Manner human Nature is affected, with Favours received from one who has been confidered as an Enemy.

Since, whatever it be, the glorious Object of our Hope, far from being Sect. 28. endangered or diminished by it, shall rather be secured and encreased. Let us therefore continue instant in Prayer, that our Minds may be so fortified, and ennobled, that we may dwell upon these Views.

Well may they keep the Heart in to ferene and pleasant a State, as to make us ready to every Act of Kindness to our Fellow-creatures; but especially to those, who are Heirs with us of this Hope; whom we ought to esteem it our great Honour and Priviledge to be able in any Measure to Ver. 13. affift and accommodate, while they are travelling thro' this too often inhospitable Wilderness, in the Way to that Kingdom, they are going to receive. It is no Wonder, that as we are not of this World, but are chofen and called out of the World to so glorious a Prospect, the World should bate and persecute us: But let us neither be dismayed, nor in any Degree exasperated, with this ill Usage we may meet with. Rather, with unfeigned Compassion and good Will to the most injurious of our Enemies, let us not only refrain from repaying Evil with Evil, but render them Ver. 17. Blessing for Curses, and Benefits for Wrongs: Since we have ourselves found fuch Mercy, and are called to inherit such a Blessing.

Let us cultivate those kind and focial Affections, which this great Proficient in them all so forcibly inculcates;—that tender Sympathy which may Ver. 15. teach us to share in the Joys and Sorrows of all about us,—that candid Humility, which shall, with graceful unaffected Freedom, stoop to the Ver. 16. lowest and the meanest, and while it stoops, rise in unsought Honours, -that Distrust of ourselves, which shall cause us to cease from our own Wisdom, that we may repose ourselves upon the unerring Guidance of our heavenly Father,—this kindly obstinate Attachment to Peace, this Ver. 18,&c. heroick Superiority, which melts down with Kindness the Heart, that but a little before was glowing with Rage.—And on the whole, this resolute Perseverance in Goodness, which must be finally victorious, and will as- Ver. 21. furedly rife with a new Accession of Strength and of Glory, from every seeming Defect.

SECT.

SECT. XXIX.

The Apostle urges Obedience to Magistrates, Justice in all its Branches, and Love, as the Fulfilling of the Law; concluding the Chapter with a warm Exhortation to that universal Sanctity, which might become, and adorn, the excellent Difpensation of the Gospel. Rom. XIII. 1, to the End.

ROMANS XIII. 1.

MONG the many Exhortations I am now giving you, my Christian Brethren, to a Rom. XIII. Life worthy of the Gospel, that of Obedience to Magistrates, to which I now proceed, must be acknowledged of distinguished Importance. know the Jews are strongly prejudiced against the Thoughts of submitting to Heathen Governours; but let me strictly charge and enjoin it upon every Soul among you, without Exception, how holy foever his Profession be, and however honourable his Station in the Church, that he be in all regular and orderly Subjection to the Superior civil Authorities, which Divine Providence hath established in the Places where you live. is no fuch legal Authority, but may, in one Sense or another, be faid to be from GOD. It is his Will, that there should be Magistrates to guard the Peace of Societies; and the Hand of his Providence in directing to the Persons of particular Governors, ought to be feriously considered and revered. The Authorities, that exist under one Form or another, are in their different Places, ranged, disposed and established by GOD (a), the original

ROMANS XIII. 1.

ET every Soul be subject unto the higher -Powers. For there is no Power but of God: The Powers that be, are ordained of GoD.

(a) Disposed and established.] So I render the Word Islayusras, thinking the English Word ordained rather too strong. Compare Asts xiii. 48. and the Note there. Divine Providence ranges, and in Fact establishes, the various Governments of the World; they are therefore, under the Character of Governments, in the general to be revered: But this cannot make what is wrong and pernicious in any particular Forms, Sacred, Divine and immutable, any more than the Hand of God in a Famine or Pestilence, is an Argument against seeking proper Means to remove it.

(b) Sets

2 Whosever therefore resistes the Power, resistes the Ordinance of God: And they that resist, shall receive to themselves Damnation.

original and universal Governor. He therefore Sect. 29. who, by an unjust Resistance, endeavours to confound these Ranks, and sets bimself, as it were, in array (b) against the Authority, of which Magistrates are possessed (c), withstands the Disposition of GOD for the publick Peace and Order:

And they who withstand so wise and beneficial an Appointment, shall receive to themselves Condemnation, not only from the civil Powers they injure, but from the supream Sovereign whose Laws they break, and whose Order they endeavour to reverse.

3 For Rulers are not a Terror to good Works, but

And indeed the good Purposes, to which Magistracy is subservient, make it very apparent, that God must be displeased, when that is despised: For Rulers, in their several Offices, are not on the whole a Terror to good Works, but to such as are evil (d), being intended to encourage the former,

(b) Sets himself, &c.] This seems the most direct Import of allowousses, which may allude to the Word Islayussa, ranged or marshalled by God, used above with Respect to the Magistrate, Ver. 1.

(c) Authority of which Magistrates are possessed. Bishop Hopkins lays great Stress on the Word exec.a, here used, as signifying a lawful Authority, and incapable of being applied to a Usurper; and in Pursuance of this, has taken some Pains to shew, that the Power of the Roman Emperors in the Apostle's Time was not usurped, the People having given up their original Rights to the Senate, and the Senate to the Emperors. But as this is a very abstructe Question and the pretended Evidence for it very slender and exceptionable, and so far as I can judge, quite unsatisfactory; so it is certain, that execute is sometimes applied to a usurped Authority, being applied to the Power of Satan. Acts xxvi. 18. Eph. ii. 2. Compare Eph. vi. 12. Col. i. 13. Chap. ii. 15. Rev. xiii. 2, 4, 5. to which several other Instances might be added. But the natural and candid Interpretation, proposed above, needs not the Support of such a Criticism, and frees us from the endless Embarrassiment of the Question of a King de Jure, and de Fasto. I should think it unlawful to resist the most unjust Power, that can be imagined, if there was a Probability only of doing Mischief by it.

(d) Are not a Terror to good Works, &c.] If Circumstances arise in which this Argument is not applicable, it is reasonably to be taken for granted, that the Apostle did not intend here to pronounce concerning such Cases. Nothing can be said for interpreting these Passages in Favour of unlimited passive Obedience, which will not prove any Resistance of a private Injury unlawful, by the Authority of our Lord's Decision, Mat. v. 39, 40. And this would subvert the great Foundation of Magistracy itself, which is appointed by Force to ward off and prevent, or avenge, such Injuries. But it was very prudent in the Apostle, not to enter into any Question relating to the Right of Resistance in some extraordinary Cases; as those Cases are comparatively sew, and as the just Decisions which could have been given on that Subject, nnight possibly have been misrepresented, to his own Detriment, and that of the Gospel. The general Laws of Benevolence to the whole, so strongly asserted in this Context, are in particular Cases to determine; and all particular Precepts, in whatever universal Terms they are delivered, are always to give Way to them.

Vol. IV.

(e) In

3.

Sect. 29. former, by punishing the latter. Wouldst thou not therefore be afraid of the high Authority, with which they are invested? Do that which is good, and thou shelt, according to the general Course of Administration, have not only Protection but Praise and Respect from it (e). This, I say, may reasonably be expected, and will be the Case, where the Magistrate understands himself, and his Office: For he is, according to the original Appointment, to be confidered as elevated above his Fellow-men, not for his own Indulgence, Dominion and Advantage, but that he might be to thee, and to all the rest of his Subjects, as the Servant and Instrument of GOD for 4 thine and the publick Good. But if thou dost that, which is Evil, and so makest thyself the Enemy of that Society, of which he is the Guardian, thou hast indeed Reason to be afraid: For he holdeth not the Sword of Justice, which God hath put into his Hand, in vain (f). It was given him for this very Purpose, that he might fmite Malefactors, and thereby preserve Peace and Order in his Dominions. And in doing it, he is to be regarded, not as acting a fevere and oppressive Part, but as the Servant and Substitute of GOD; an Avenger appointed, in his Name, to [execute,] not his own personal Resentment, but the Wrath of a righteous Providence, against him that doth Evil, in Instances wherein it would be highly improper to leave that avenging Power in the Hands of private, injured Per-Therefore, when this is considered, Piety, as well as Prudence, and human Virtue, to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the Power? Do that which is good, and thou shalt have Praise of the 4 For he is the Minister of God to thee for Good. But if thou do that which is Evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the Sword in vain: For he is the Minifter of God, a Revenger to execute Wrath upon him that doeth Evil.

> 5 Wherefore ve must nceds will

(f) Holdeth not the Sword in vain.] This strongly intimates the Lawfulness of inflicting capital Punishment, which to deny is subverting the chief Use of Magistracy.

(g) Tribute

⁽e) In the general Course of Administration, &c.] As it is certain, the Case often is otherwife, and was particularly so with Respect to Nero, under whom this Epistle was written; it is necessary to interpret the Words with this Latitude. And there is great Reason to conclude, that Magistrates in general are in Fast much more beneficial, than hurtful, to Society; which is a good Argument for a general Submission, and that was, as we observed above, all the Apolle could intend to enforce. Compare Prov. xviii. 22. where, if I miftake not, the Senie is fimilar, and is to be understood thus, "generally speaking, a Wife is a Felicity, rather than a Detriment to her Husband; tho' to be sure there are many " excepted Inflances."

Rom.XIII.

needs be subject, not only for Wrath, but also for Conscience Sake.

will teach thee, that it is necessary to be in a regu- Sect. 29. lar Subjection, not only out of Regard to the Dread thou mayest reasonably have, of that Wrath and Punishment, which Man can exccute; but also, for the Sake of Conscience, which will be violated and armed with Reproaches against you, if you disturb the publick Peace, and refift the kind Purposes of God, by opposing Governors, while they act under his Commission. This is in Effect, what all Subjects profess to own, 6 as on this Account you also pay Tribute; which Magistrates every where receive, and is levied for this apparent Reason, that they are to be confidered as the Ministers of the good Providence of GOD, who give to the Publick the whole of their Time, Care and Labour, and continually applying themselves to this one Affair, the Exocution of their high Office, have a Right to be honourably maintained out of the publick Revenues, on the most obvious Principles of Equity and Justice.

6 For, for this Cause pay vou Tribute also: For they are God's Ministers, attending continually upon this very Thing.

> On this Principle therefore, be careful that 7 you render to all, what is justly their Due; even tho' you may have Opportunities of defrauding them of it, to your own immediate and temporal Advantage. To whom Tribute [is due,] for your Persons or Estates, [render] such Tribute, or Taxes (g); and to whom Custom is due, for any Commodity exported, or imported, render that Cuftom; and feek not clandestinely to convey such Commodities away, without paying it. To whom Reverence is due (b), on Account of their Worth and Character, render Reverence; and to whom any external Form of civil Honour and Respect is due, by Virtue of their Office and Rank of Life, tho' it should so happen that they have no pe-

7 Render therefore to all their Dues: Tribute to whom Tribute is due, Cuftom to whom Custom, Fear to whom Fear, Honour to whom Honour.

(g) Tribute to whom Tribute.] It is well known, that the Jews had a favourite Notion among them, that they, as the peculiar People of God, were exempted from Obligations to pay Tribute to Gentiles; (Joseph. Antiq. Lib. xviii. Cap. 1. Bell. Jud. Lib. ii. Cap. 1. §. 2. Gap. 8. (al. 7.) §. 1.) against which this Passage is directly levelled, the without pointing them out in any invidious Manner.

(b) Reverence.] This must certainly be the Import of φοβον here, as also, of φοβητα, Eph. v. ult. and it expresses the inward Disposition, as Juan, Honour, expresses the Conduct and external Behaviour, proceeding from it.

(i) Let Digitized by GOOGLE

Rom. XIII. 7.

Sect. 29. culiar Merit to recommend them to your Regard, foruple not to pay all proper Marks of Honour; and guard against that Stiffness, which under Pretence of Christian Simplicity, by disputing fuch common Forms, may rather indulge Pride, and occasion Reproach. On the whole, owe nothing to any, but endeavour to manage your Affairs with that Oeconomy and prudent Attention, that you may as foon as possible, balance Accounts with all, who have any Demands upon you, except it be with Respect to that Debt, which, while you pay, you will be renewing; I mean, the Obligation you will ever be under, to love one another. That I would recommend to your constant Care; for he that leveth another, bath in a compendious manner fulfilled every Thing that the Law requireth with Respect to 9 him. For that [Precept,] Thou shalt not commit Adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false Witness against thy Neighbour, Thou shalt not covet any Thing that is thy Neighbour's, and any other Command refpecting our Fellow-creatures, if fuch [there be,] is summed up in this one excellent and comprehensive Precept, which I wish may be ingraven on all our Hearts, so as to regulate every Affection and Action; Thou shalt love thy Neighbour as thyself. Thou shalt learn to put thyself, as it were, in his Place, and to act as, in a supposed Change of Circumstances, thou couldest reasona-

10 bly defire to be treated. Now it is very obvious, that Love worketh no Evil to one's Neighbour; nay, where-ever that noble Principle governs, it will put Men upon doing all they can, to ward off Injury from one another, and to make the Life of each as comfortable and happy, as possible: Therefore it may well be said, as it is afferted above, that Love [is] the Accomplishment of the whole Law. And let me urge you to attend to this, and to the other Precepts I have given, with so much the greater Diligence, knowing the Circumstances of the present Season; which if you consider, you will 8 Owe no Man any Thing, but to love one another: For he that loveth another, hath fulfilled the Law.

9 For this, Thou shalt not commit Adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false Witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other Commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this Saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy Neighbour as thyself.

10 Love worketh no Ill to his Neighbour: Therefore Love is the Fulfilling of the Law.

11 And that, knowing the Time,

Christians are to put off the Works of Darkness,

Time, that now it is high Time to awake out of Sleep: For now is our Salvation nearer than when we believed.

12 The Night is far spent, the Day is at Hand: Let us therefore cast off the Works of Darkness, and let us put on the Armour of Light.

13 Let us walk honestly as in the Day; not in rioting and Drunkenness, not in Chambering and Wantonness.

will see, that [it is] high Time now, to awake Sect. 29. out of Sleep, and vigorously to improve every Opportunity of doing Good, and profecuting the great Business of Life, which is to secure the Divine Favour and your final Happiness: For our great expected Salvation [is] now confiderably nearer than when we at first believed. We have compleat Salvation in View, it is continually advancing upon us, flying forwards, as it were, on the swiftest Wings of Time; and that, which remains, interposed between the present Moment, and our Entering on the promised Reward, is comparatively but a very small Span. therefore, at all Times, in a holy Subordination to fuch a Circumstance! And fince the Night is far advanced, fince the dark State of the present Life, in which we often confound Good and Bad, is almost over, and the Day is drawing near, eventhat Day which will shew every Thing in its proper Colours and Forms; let us therefore put off the Works, which suit only a State of Darkness, and let us put on the compleat Armour of Light. Let us be cloathed with all the Christian Graces, which like burnished and beautiful Armour, will be at once an Ornament and Defence, and which will reflect the bright Beams, that are so gloriously rising upon us. And as [being] now in the clear and open Day, let us take Care to walk decently, honourably and gracefully (i); fince the Lustre, already shining about us, requires great Reformation and exemplary Holiness: Not in Rioting and drunken Dehauches, not in Chambering (k), Esteminacy and Lasciviousness (1); the Vices in which.

II.

(i) Let us walk honourably and gracefully.] So evanuorase exactly fignifies. Dr. Milner renders it, let us walk with a Grace. Fading Flowers of Life, pag. 38.

(k) Chambering: Kollass.] This Leigh explains of lying long in Bed. I will not defend that Sense of the Word; but I will here record the Observation, which I have found of great. Use to myself, and to which I may say, that the Production of this Work, and most of my other Writings, is owing; viz. that the Difference between rifing at 5, and at 7 of the Clock in the Morning, for the Space of forty Years, supposing a Man to go to Bed at the same Hour at Night, is nearly equivalent to the Addition of ten Years to a Man's Life, of which, (supposing the 2 Hours in Question to be so spent,) 8 Hours every Day should be employed in Study and Devotion.

(1) Effeminacy and Lasciviousness.] I think areayera, properly signifies a soft, luxurious, and effeminate Manner of Life, attended with an affected Delicacy, very detrimental to that. Refolution, Scct. 29. which so many are wasting and polluting the ' Hours, which Nature has destined to necessary Rom.XIII. Repose: Not in the Contention and Emulation, which the Indulgence of fuch irregular Defires But laying aside all these A-14 often occasion. bominations and Enormities, let us put on the Lord Jesus Christ (m), our great Sovereign and Saviour. Endeavour, my Brethren, to obtain the greatest Conformity to his Temper, and to appear as like him as possible, in every Particular, in which he can be the Object of our Imitation: For that short Precept will contain all, that is necessary to adorn our Profession to its greatest Height. And while so many are spending their Time and Thoughts and Substance, in those low Pursuits, which regard only the meaner Part of their Nature; make not a folicitous Provision for the Flesh, to [fulfil its] irregular Desires, nor be intent in pleasing any of the Senses, even where their Demands may not appear directly criminal: But labour to preserve the Superiority of the immortal Spirit, and to keep it continually under the Discipline of so holy, and so noble a Religion.

ness, not in Strife and En-

14 But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not Provision for the Flesh, to fulfil the Lusts thereof.

IMPROVEMENT.

THILE Subjects learn Reverence and Obedience to their Magistrates, not only for Wrath, but for Conscience Sake, may Magistrates learn a correspondent Care, to answer that End of their Office. which the Apostle makes the Foundation of such Precepts as these, and Ver. 3, 4. to be indeed the Ministers of GOD for Good, a Terror not to good but to evil Works.

GREAT-

Resolution, which is so necessary an Ingredient in the Character of one, who would approve himself a good Soldier of Jesus Christ.

(m) Put on the Lord Jesus Christ.] A strong Expression, for endeavouring to be cloathed with all the Virtues and Graces, which composed his Character. Which reminds me of what Plutarch tells us concerning the Kings of Persia; that on their Coronation Day, they put on a Robe, which the first Cyrus wore before he was King, to remind them of imitating his exemplary Temper and Behaviour. Plutarch. Artoxerx. apud Opera, Tom. vi. pag. 1851. Edit. Steph. 1572. 'Tis observable, the Apostle does not say, " put on Purity, and Sobriety, Peacefulness, and Benevolence;" but he in Effect, says all at once, in saying, put on the Lord Jesus Christ.

GREAT-BRITAIN, while I write this, is * happy in a Government, Sect. 29. to which this Character may justly be applied. It's Subjects are under the greatest Obligations to the Divine Goodness, in having so remarkably overthrown the Attempts of those, who would have left us little Use of the Scripture; but would themselves have abused it, to have rivetted on the heaviest Fetters, by perverting this Passage of St. Paul, as if he had intended to subvert every free Constitution under Heaven, and to put a Sword into the Hand of merciles Tyrants, to kill, and take Possession of the Heritage of the Lord, counting his People, but as Sheep for the Slaughter.

While we are thus happy, we shall be doubly inexcusable, if we fail in Rendering both Honour and Tribute, where they are so justly due. Ver. 7.

May we extend our Care to the universal Law of Love; and may it be Ver. 8,-10. so deeply engraven on our Hearts, that the Practice of every social Virtue may become easy and delightful.

And on the whole, being animated by the Approach of Salvation, may Ver. 11,12. we awake to the vigorous Discharge of our Duty, and while the Light of the Gospel scatters about us so bright a Ray, may we walk, in every Respect, worthy of it, that we may have no Reason to wish for the Vail of Darkness to cover our Shame. May we not only abstain from the Vi- Ver. 13. ces, which are here branded with the Infamy they deserve; but distinguish ourselves in cultivating the contrary Virtues. And that we may do it effectually, may we put on the Lord Jesus Christ, remembering con- Ver. 14. tinually the Obligations we are under, to confider his Life as the Model of our own. So shall we make the Gospel Day yet brighter in the Eyes of all around us, and anticipate, while we are here in this World of comparative Darkness, the Lustre, with which we hope, thro' his Influence and Grace, to shine forth in the celestial Kingdom of our Father.

* Anno Domini, 1749.

SECT.

SECT. XXX.

The Apostle recommends mutual Candor; especially, between those Christians who did, and those who did not, think themselves obliged in Conscience to observe the Ceremonies enjoined by Moses: And strenuously attempts to turn their Zeal for, or against, these Observances, into a Concern to prepare for their final Appearance before the great Tribunal. Rom. XIV. 1,---12.

ROMANS XIV. 1.

Sect. 30. TKNOW there are different Opinions among you Christians at Rome, with Regard to the Rom. XIV. Obligations of the Mosaick Ritual. Now here, I would be folicitous to fuggest the most peaceful Counsels, and to persuade you to mutual Forbearance, and mutual Love. As for bim that is so weak in the Christian Faith, as still to retain the Prejudices of a Jewish Education on this Head, let me prevail on you, Gentile Believers, in this Respect better instructed in the Nature and Extent of Christian Liberty, to receive and converse with him, in a friendly and respectful Manner: And do not indulge yourselves in the Inclination which you may fometimes find, to run into Debates, and Distinctions about Matters in Doubt be-For one, that is, the conver-2 tween you (a).

ROMANS XIV. 1.

IM that is weak in 1 the Faith receive you, but not to doubtful Difputations.

2 For one believeth that

(a) Debates, or Distinctions, about Matters in Doubt.] Dr. Whitby explains Sunpreses, of discriminating Persons according to their inward Thoughts and Reasonings on these Heads. The Force of the Apostle's admirable Reasoning in Favour of Candor, and mutual Condescension, cannot be enervated, by faying, as some have unhappely done, that here was no Separation between Jewish and Gentile Christians. Had the Things judged indifferent by the latter, and apprehended finful by the former, been imposed, a Separation of Communion must have ensued, and the Schisson on the Apostle's Principles would have been chargeable on the Imposers. When it shall please God to awaken in the Governors of established Protestant Churches, such a Spirit of Moderation and Goodness, joined with a true Zeal for Religion, as to leave such Things in that natural state of Indisference, in which almost all sensible Men confess it is best they should be left; many Separations will cease of Course, and the Healers of such Breaches will do a noble Service to their Country, be honoured by all that love Christianity, and amply rewarded by the great Head of the Church.

(b) Eateth

ted

he may eat all Things : Another who is weak eateth

3 Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not? And let not him which eateth not, judge him that eateth: For God hath received him.

4 Who art thou that judgest another Man's Servant? To his own Master tandeth, or falleth: Yea, ted Gentile, believeth very truly and rightly, that Sect. 30. be may eat all Things indifferently that are good & for Food; but another, who is in this Respect weak, eateth nothing but Herbs, and other Vegetables (b) to express his Humility and Self-denial, and to guard against the Pollution that might attend even the Use of clean Animals for Food, if they are not killed and prepared after the Jewish Manner. Now in this Diversity of Opinion and Practice, exercise Candor and Forbearance to each other, and all will be well. Let not him that eateth all Kinds of Flesh freely, despise and fet at nought him that eateth not these prohibited or fuspicious Things, as if he were a weak and superstitious Bigot: And let not him that eateth them not, but conscientiously abstains from them, judge and condemn him that eateth them, as a profane, unclean, and intemperate Person. GOD bath received him into the Number of his Children and People, without laying him under fuch Restraints, and surely where God receives, we should not presume to reject.

Let me ask thee seriously on this Occasion, whoever thou mayest be, and how wife and holy soever thou mayest think thyself. Who art thou that judgest the Servant of another? Wouldst thou think it an indecent Thing to meddle with the domestick Servant of thy Neighbour, or of thy Friend, and wilt thou pretend to govern Christ's Family, and judge of his Administration towards the Members of it? Know, that not to thee, but to his own Master he standeth or falleth:

(b) Eateth Herbs.] Dr. Whitby demonstrates, by many learned Quotations here, that some of the Yews used to eat no Flesh at all, and others looked upon it as a very high Pitch of Virtue, to abstain from it in Gentile Countries, and to subsist intirely on Vegetables; because they did not know, but any Flesh sold in the Shambles might have been offered to Idols, or at least contracted some other ceremonial Pollutions. Mr. Baxter thinks, here is a Reference to such Christians, as might have been Pythagoreans before their Conversion, and might retain their old Prejudices against animal Food. Baxter's Works, Vol. iv. pag. 614. But as that Aversion to animal Food depended on their Doctrine of the Transmigration of Souls, which no Christian could retain, I think, that Interpretation is much preferable, which refers it to Jewish Converts, who were also much more numerous in the Church, and possibly might some of them come from the Essenes, a Jewish Sect peculiarly strict on this Head, so that they abstained, not only from Flesh, but from Fruit.

Rom. XIV. 2.

Digitized by Google

Rom.XIV.

Sect. 30. falleth: 'Tis by Christ he is to be finally acquitted or condemned. Yea, if he offends in no greater Points than these in Debate amongst you, be shall be upheld in his Christian Profession, and established to eternal Salvation; for GOD is able to establish kim (c), and his Promises assure us that he will do it.

> What I have faid with Relation to the Distinction of Meats, may also be applied to that of Days. One Man, that is, the Jewish Convert efteemeth one Day above another (d). He thinks their Sabbaths and New-moons, and yearly Fast or Feafts have fomething inviolably facred, and that the Observation of them is Matter of perpetual and universal Obligation. Another, educated among the Gentiles, or more throughly instructed in the Design and Genius of Christianity, esteemeth every Day [alike,] without any Regard at all to the Jewish Institution. Let every Man freely enjoy his own Sentiment (e), and go on in his own Way, without Impediment or Censure. 6 For we may reasonably hope, that Christians are acted, in the Main, by the same Principles, when their Practices differ according to the Difference of their Judgments; so that he that regardeth a Day in this peculiar Manner, regardeth [it] to the Lord, and takes this diffinguishing Notice of it, because he thinks it is the Will of Christ that an Honour should still be done to these Mosaick Institutions: And on the other Hand, he that regards not a Day, 'tis to the Lord, we hope, that he doth Yea, he shall be holden up: For God is able to make him stand.

5 One Man esteemeth one Day above another: Another esteemeth every Day alike. Let every Man be fully perfuaded in his own

6 He that regardeth the Day, regardeth it unto the Lord; and he that regardeth not the Day, to the

(c) GOD is able to establish him.] Dr. Whithy explains this, of God's convincing the Jewish Converts in general, of the Indifferency of the Mosaick Ritual, by putting a speedy Peried to the very Possibility of observing it, in the Destruction of the Temple at Jerusalem; which would have a peculiar Efficacy to wean Men's Minds from an Attachment to it, when confidered in Connection with Christ's Predictions of that Event. But I choose the more extensive Interpretation, as more obvious, and less liable to Objection.

(d) Effeemeth one Day above another.] Raphelius here produces some apposite Passages to shew that xeiver in such a Construction signifies to prefer.

(e) Let every Man freely enjoy his own Sentiment. Criticks have observed that the Word This cooses as is most properly applied to a Ship, which is carried on by the Wind and Tide, with all its Sails spread, to forward it, and nothing to obstruct it; and so the Meaning is, let him go on in his own Way, without Impediment. How strong a Text this is for the Right of private Judgment I need take no Pains to shew; but the Reader may see it vindicated from the Evafions of a very celebrated Writer, in Mr. Bennet's Appendix to his Irenicum, pag. 120,-124.

Lord he doth not regard it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lord, for he giveth God Thanks; and he that eateth not, to the Lord he eateth not, and giveth God Thanks.

not regard [it;] 'tis because he thinks Christ will Sect. 30. be honoured, by afferting the Liberty of his Followers in this Respect. He that eateth freely of Rom. XIV. whatever comes before him, eateth to the Lord, endeavours to glorify him for it, as becomes a good Christian, and giveth GOD Thanks for the various Provision of his liberal Providence; and he that eateth not the Food which the Law forbids, may act on the same pious Principles, and we ought charitably to conclude that it is out of a Regard to what he apprehends the Will of the Lord, that he eateth it not; he chearfully denies himself what he supposes Christ would have him forbear; and be likewise giveth GOD Thanks, that other Food is provided, on which he may conveniently subsist, and that he is not forced to eat, what he thinks unclean, out of absolute Necessity. Now where is the Damage of all this, and while fuch a religious Temper towards God prevails, how little does it comparatively fignify, whether it acts by the Use of these Things, or by a conscientious Abstinence from them?

7 For none of us liveth to himself, and no Man dieth to himself.

8 For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: Whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's

It may well be supposed, that this is a just Representation of the Case; for it is certainly what every Christian is obliged to, by Virtue of our common Profession; as none of us, who understands and answers that Engagement, liveth to bimself; and none of us, so far as the Circumstances of his Death are under the Direction of his own Choice, dieth to himself, nor determines the most important Affairs by his own Humour, or present Interest. But from the Time of our giving up our Names to Christ, as our Divine Master, to the last Day and Hour of our Continuance in Life, if we live, it is our concern that we may live to the Lord, and strenuously pursue the great Purposes of his Glory; or that if we die, we may die unto the Lord, either by facrificing our Lives to his Gospel, if he demands it of us; or, if we expire in a natural Way, by behaving to the last, as those who have his Love ruling in our Hearts, and his Sacred Cause still in our Eye: So that whether we live, or die, we are the Lord's; in Consequence of being thus faithfully

Digitized by Google

Rom. XIV.

Sect. 30. fully devoted to Christ, both in Life and Death, we have the Pleasure to think that living or dying, we are the Objects of his Care and Favour. For to this Purpose, Christ both died, and rose again from the Dead, and still continues alive, that be might be the Sovereign Lord, both of the Dead, and of the Living. This is the Reward Living. bestowed upon him for all his Services, as Mediator; that he should be exalted to such a Kingdom, and that all Christians, should thus own themselves his Servants; not only in this present World, but in that unchangeable State into which they pass by Death; yea, that all the Inhabitants of both Worlds, should be ever subject to his Disposal and Command.

9 For to this End Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the Dead and

But the Thought of Christ's Exaltation furnishes another Argument for the candid Temper I am now recommending, as it implies his future Appearance to the universal Judgment, where our Temper, in this Respect, will be strictly reviewed. In this Light then, let me seriously ask, why doft thou, Oh Jewish Convert, judge thy Gentile Brother, for the Non-observation of those Precepts, by which thou thinkest thyself bound? Or why dost thou, Oh Gentile Believer, set at nought and deride, as weak or superstitious, thy Jewish Brother, who conscientiously observes that burthensome Ritual, from which thou art so happy as to apprehend thyself free? This Censoriousness or Contempt is greatly to be blamed, and either must very ill become the State in which we are, and must quickly be: For no Principle of our common Faith is more certain than this, that we must all at length appear, and be solemnly presented, before the Tribunal of Christ: And as it is there, that we are all to take our final Trial, it must be dangerous Presumption to anti-11 cipate that Judgment. Remember it, my Brethren, and ponder seriously upon that awful Day; for it will affuredly come, as it is written, (Isai. xlv. 23.) "[As] I live faith the Lord, furely every " Knee shall bow unto me, and every Tongue shall

" confess to GOD;" and it is then only, that such 10 But why dost thou judge thy Brother? Or why dost thou set at nought the Brother? For we shall alk stand before the Judgmentfeat of Christ.

11 For it is written, As I live, faith the Lord, every Knee shall bow to me, and every Tongue shall confels to GoD.

12 So then, every one of us shall give Account of himself to God.

a great and extensive Prophecy shall be compleat- Sect. 30. ly accomplished: So that every one of us shall render an Account of himself to GOD. Let each Rom. XIV. of us therefore apply it to his own Case, and say to his Heart, "this Account must be mine." And we shall then be too intent on regulating our . own Conduct, to have either Leisure, or Inclination, to be fevere, or pragmatical, in censuring that of our Brethren.

IMPROVEMENT.

T E T all the different Sects and Parties of Christians study to imbibe Ver. 1, &c. more of the equitable and lovely Temper, which the Apostle here The Divisions of the Church are expresses in so genuine a Manner. not to be healed by imposing our own Sentiments, Phrases and Forms, and censuring and harraffing those that will not acquiesce in them. a Temper will only ingender Strife, and mutual Provocations will produce mutual increasing Resentment.

Let us receive our weaker Bretbren, with Tenderness and Respect; not despising those who scruple what we practise, nor judging those who practife what we scruple. GOD may receive the one and the other: Yea, the different Practices of both may proceed from the same general Principles, a Defire to please him, and to approve ourselves in his Sight.

In this may we all unite, in a Concern that we may not live, or die, to our- Ver. 7. selves, but to Christ. His dying Love, his living Care, may surely challenge this. Worthy is he who died, and rose again, and revived, to be adored Ver. 8, 9. and obeyed, as the Lord, both of the Dead and of the Living, And such, in one View or another he will finally appear. We shall know it in that Day, when we shall be called before his Judgment-feat. Conscious of so Ver. 10. many Crimes, and even in our best Days, of so many Imperfections, how shall we dare to appear before him; especially, if we should then receive Judgment without Mercy. Let us not tempt it, to our own everlasting Confusion, by shewing no Mercy.

Let us not add, to all the Offences which may justly cause us to tremble before his Tribunal, the criminal Arrogance of usurping the Place and Prerogative of our Judge. Let us remember our Relation to him, and to each other, and act in a Manner becoming it. Let us diligently judge ourselves, as those who must be judged of the Lord; so thinking Ver. 12. of that grand Account, as with an increasing Solicitude to prepare for it. The Lord grant, that we may find Mercy of the Lord in that Day! Lord grant, that it may also be imparted to many of our Brethren, who have differed most from us; yea, and thro' the Indulgence of our compassionate

Sect. 30. passionate Saviour, to many who have been prone to censure and condemn us, for those Things, which he knows we have done from a Desire to please him, or refused to do from a Fear of offending him!

SECT. XXXI.

The Apostle farther urges the mutual Tenderness, and Candor, he had recommended above, by representing the Love of Christ, to all Christians, the Nature and Design of his Religion, and the Danger of a contrary Temper. Rom. XIV. 13, to the End.

ROMANS XIV. 13.

Rom. XIV. 13.

Sect. 31. THAVE just been reminding you of our Appearance before the Tribunal of Christ, and the Account, which every Man must render of himself there: And now, give me Leave a little farther to pursue the Consequence which so naturally follows. Let us not therefore any longer judge one another (a), but rather judge ye, and determine this, as Matter of undoubted and important Duty, not to lay any stumbling Block or Scandal before a Brother (b): To do nothing, how indifferent foever it may be in itself, which may tend to prejudice, discourage, or mislead any other Christian.

14

I know, for Instance, and am at length persuaded, by the powerful Teaching of the Lord Jefus Christ, tho' it be so contrary to the Principles I imbibed in my Education, and so strenuously maintained in my Pharifaical State, that nothing ROMANS XIV. 13.

ET us not therefore more: But judge this rather, that no Man put a Stunibling-block, or any Occafion to fall in his Brothers Way.

14 I know, and am perfuaded by the Lord Jesus, that there is nothing unclean

25

(a) Let us not therefore any longer judge one another.] 'Tis very plain that the Word xpevery, is here used in two very different Senses, as Raphelius on this Text, shews sacrager is used in the same Sentence by Herodotus.

(b) A Stumbling-block.] Some fay that σκανδαλου, properly fignifies " a Piece of Wood that supports a Trap, which falls, on its being moved," and so may with peculiar Propriety fignify whatever may be the Occasion of ensnaring another, and drawing him into Sin and Mis-of itself: But to him that esteemeth any Thing to be unclean, it is unclean.

(c) If

14,.

15 But if thy Brother be grieved with thy Meat, now walkest thou not charitably. Destroy not him with thy Meat, for whom Christ di-

[is] unclean of itself: That there is no moral Sect. 31. Turpitude, in any Kind of Food, by which the human Body may be nourished; but that, separate from particular Circumstances which may arise, it may lawfully be eaten: There is nothing, I say, unclean, unless [it be] to him that in his Conscience accounteth any Thing to be unclean; [and to bim, while he retaineth that Opinion; [it is] indeed unclean, how indifferent foever it is in itself; and he will contract Guilt before God, by allowing himself in it, whether it be to indulge his own Taste, or to engage the Favour of others, whilst he hath this inward Apprehension of its But if there should not be being unlawful. fuch an Apprehention concerning the Thing, in itself considered, yet it may be in Effect prohibited to thee, as injurious to others; for if thy Brother be grieved (c), wounded and led into Sin, by [thy] Use of Meat, how dost thou any longer avalk according to that noble Principle of Love, which I have just now been so earnestly recommending? How innocent soever it may in itself feem, Oh do not, if thou hast any Bowels for him, or any Regard for thy great Master, destroy bim by thy rash and unkind Use of such particular Meat, for whom Christ, not only submitted to fmaller Instances of Self-denial, but died in the Agonies of the Cross. Is a Morsel of Meat indeed, so great a Thing to a Christian, that for the Sake of it an immortal Soul should be endangered, and the Blood of a 'Redeemer Let not your Liberty then, which is in injured? itself good, be slandered and blamed, for being the Occasion of so much Mischief, as such an ill Use of it may probably produce. you can pretend to object any Thing from Conscience, against abstaining from these Things. For the Kingdom of GOD, into which we are entered by believing in Christ, and becoming his Subjects, 16 Let not then your Good be evil spoken of.

17 For the Kingdom of God

And furely none of

(c) If thy Brother be grieved.] Hence it appears, that grieving a Person, does not fignify merely putting him out of Humour, but leading him into Sin. The Grief therefore is that, which arises from a Consciousness of having acted amiss, in Conformity to the Example of a Person, considered as superior, whether in Rank, or Genius, Knowledge, or Piety.

(d) A chearful

Digitized by Google.

Rom. XIV. 17.

Sect. 31. Subjects, consists not in Meat and Drink; it neither prohibits nor enjoins fuch Things as these, nor is taken up with fuch little Matters; but the great Design of it is to regulate the Temper of its Professors, and in the most effectual Manner to cultivate and promote Righteousness and Peace and Joy in the Holy Ghost, that is, a chearful Temper, supported by a Consciousness of strict Integrity, established on Principles of universal Love, and inspired by the blessed Spirit of God (d). And he, that in these Things faithfully serveth Christ, and acts upon the great Maxims of his Religion, [is] acceptable to GOD, whether he abstains from the Liberties in Question, or allows himself in them: And he will also be in the Main approved by Men too; for bad as the World is, upright and benevolent Men, who put on no affected Rigor and Severities in Religion, are generally esteemed Thus let us therefore act, and beloved in it.

and with all possible Diligence pursue the Things which tend to Peace, and may promote our mutual Edification in our common Faith. whoever thou art, that mayest disrelish the Exhortation, in this Connection, do not indulge to so mean a Taste, as for the Sake of this or that particular Kind of Meat, to destroy thy Brother; who, as a Man, would appear the noblest Work of GOD, in this lower World, if all the peculiar Considerations of Christianity were out of the 'Tis true indeed, and I hinted above, Question. that in themselves all Things [are] pure; yet [that is] morally evil to a Man, that be eateth with Ofence and Scandal; contrary to the Rule of his own Conscience, and ensuring to that of others. In this View I may venture to fay, [it is] good neither to eat any Kind of Flesh, tho' that would be a much more rigorous Self-denial than I am now pleading for; nor even to drink Wine, tho' in the most moderate Degree; nor indeed to indulge to [any Thing] else, by which thy Brother is fcandalized or weakened, that is, by which he

God is not Meat and Drink, but Righteousness and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghost.

18 For he that in these Things serveth Christ, is acceptable to God, and approved of Men.

19 Let us therefore follow after these Things which make for Peace, and Things wherewith one may edify another.

20 For Meat destroy not the Work of God. All Things indeed are pure; but it is Evil for that Man who eateth with Offence.

21 It is Good neither to eat Flesh, nor to drink Wine, nor any Thing whereby thy Brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak.

(d) A chearful Temper, &c.] This is the Interpretation, which Dr. Scott has given, in his Christian Life, Vol. i. pag. 285. and I think it, on the whole, preferable to any other.

177

may either be ensnared, or discouraged, in his reli- Sect. 31. gious Courle.

Rom. XIV. . 22.

22 Hast thou Faith? Have it to thyself before God. Happy is he that condemneth not himself in that Thing which he alloweth.

Thou wilt perhaps plead, that thou hast Faith in a superior Exercise, and beholdest Christianity in a more extensive and generous View. well; and I could not wish thy Views should be more contracted. But if thou hast such a just Persuasion of the Indifference of these Things, which others scruple; yet in Circumstances like these, which I here suppose, have it to thyself before GOD: Content thyself that he is Witness to it, and conceal those Apprehensions, just as they may be, in thine own Breast, when they cannot be published with Advantage, or without Offence. But permit me to add, upon this Occasion, bappy [is] he who doth not condemn himself in the Thing which he alloweth: It is a happy Thing for a Man, to be quite easy in what he does, and free, not only from the Reproaches, but the Suspicions of his Conscience, and to use even lawful Enjoyments only in a lawful and regular But be that really in his Conscience maketh a Difference between one Sort of Food, and another, is condemned by God as a Sinner, if be eat out of unbridled Appetite, vain Complaifance, or weak Shame. It must in such a Case be criminal, because [he eateth] not with Faith, that is, with a full Satisfaction in his own Mind, that God allows and approves the Action. it may be laid down as a general Maxim in all these Cases, that what sever [is] not of Faith, is Sin; fince the Divine Authority ought to be for facred with every Man, as to engage him, not only to avoid what is plainly and directly contrary. to it, but what he apprehends, or even suspects, to be so; tho' that Apprehension, or Suspicion, should chance to be founded on his own Igno-

23 And he that doubteth, is damned if he eat, because be eateth not of Faith: For what soever is not of Faith, is Sin.

Vol. IV.

IMPROVE-

 \mathbf{Z}

rance, or Mistake.

Ver. 19.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 12. STILL let that great and final Account, which each must render of bimself to GOD, be kept in our Mind; that we may learn Obedience to him, Candor to each other, and a tender Care to avoid every Thing, that might give unnecessary Offence to our Brethren. And in the Views of it, let us learn always to reverence our own Consciences, so as never to be engaged to do what we suspect to be unlawful: Since no Consideration can ever balance the infinite Evil of offending God,

Ver. 14,-23. and bringing Guilt on our own Souls. That is to us unclean, which we effects to be so, and what is not of Faith, is Sin.

Let us also be cautious, that we do not incur Guilt and Condemnation, even by Things which we allow, as in the Main lawful; solicitously attending, not only to the general Nature, but the probable Consequences of our Actions. And where there is Danger of injuring the Souls of others,

Ver. 15. let us often reflect, that Christ died for them; and estimate, so far as we can conceive it, the Value of Souls, by the Value of that Blood, by which they were redeemed.

Ver. 16. Let us also take great Heed, that we do not give Occasion to others, by our imprudent Conduct, to speak Evil of that which is in itself Good. And that we may not do it, let us study those great and generous Notions of Religion, which this excellent Passage of Scripture gives us.

Ver. 17. Let it be written upon our Hearts, that the Kingdom of GOD, is not Meat or Drink, that it doth not confist in a Zeal for, or against, any of the little Distinctions, by which Christians have been so often divided, and which have been too frequently the Occasion of mutual Alienation in their Affections. Let us study, and practise more Righteousness, and

Ver. 18. Peace, and foy in the Holy Ghost. The Approbation of GOD, consequent on this, may well support us, tho' Men should censure us as lukewarm; yea, perhaps as hypocritical, and interested too, in the candid Regards we shew to those which differ from each other, and from us. God will remember their Rashness, and Forwardness to these uncharitable Censures; but let us rather say, "may he cure, and forgive them."

Yet while we cultivate the amiable Temper here set before us, bad as the World is, we may hope that we shall be accepted by many; and indeed, in Proportion to this Knowledge of our real Character, by all, whose Acceptance and Friendship is most to be valued. Let us not therefore be discouraged at any ill Usage, which in particular Instances we may meet with; but still follow the Things that make for Peace, and conduce to mutual Edification: And the GOD of Peace will be with us, and Jesus, the great Lord of the Church, which is his House, will smile on our Attempts

Digitized by Google

Attempts to build it up into one united and beauteous Edifice, till he Sect. 31. call us to his Temple above, where all is Order, and Harmony, and Love for ever.

S E C T. XXXII.

The Apostle farther urges mutual Condescension by new Motives; particularly, the Example of Christ, and the Goodness of GOD to us all, and the Regard which Christ had shewn to Jews and Gentiles, in bringing or sending the Gospel to them, according to the Tenor of Prophecies, which he adds to the List of those produced above. I,---I7.

ROMANS XV. I.

TE then that are strong, ought to bear the Infirmities of the Weak, and not to please ourselves.

ROMANS XV. 1.

CEEING therefore, my Brethren, it is so Sect. 32. dangerous for any to do that, concerning Rom. XV.1. which they are not in their Consciences satisfied, that it is affuredly lawful; we ought to take great Care, that we do not, by our uncharitable Impositions or irregular Examples, lay a Temptation in their Way to do it. And we who are firong, that is, who perfectly understand the Liberty, which Christianity gives to its Professors, ought, with all tender Sympathy and Compaffion, to bear the Infirmities of the Weak, not only tolerating them, but in some Instances restraining our own Inclinations, out of a Regard to their Advantage, and not, as too many do, to please ourfelves, to gratify our own Inclinations and Humours, whether others be comforted or grieved, edified or infnared. On the contrary, let every one of us rather make it his Care, so far as he lawfully and conveniently can, to please [bis] Neighbour, where it may be, for [bis] real Good, and condescend even to his Ignorance and Prejudices, where there is Reason to hope it may conduce to his Edification, and that of the Church; which

 \mathbf{Z}_{2}

2 Let every one of us please his Neighbour for his Good to Edification.

تنا

్త

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 32: is nearly interested in the mutual Tenderness of its Members for each other.

And Greeky we must be disposed to act such a

And furely we must be disposed to act such a Part towards our Brethren; for we all well know, that the Lord Jesus Christ, our great and Divine Master, tho' so infinitely exalted above us, pleased not bimself; but, when he vouchsafed in Mercy to visit this low world of ours, instead of studying his own Ease and Pleasure, he submitted to an almost continual Series of Self-denial, Mortification and Trouble for our Sakes. He confidered the Weakness and Infirmities of those about him, that he might teach them, and train them up for Service, as they were able to bear it. (Mark iv. 33.) Yea, he even submitted, with the greatest Gentleness, to much Reproach and Contempt; as it is written, (Pfal. lxix. 9.) in Words, which may well be applied to him; "the Re-" proaches of those who reproached thee, are fallen " upon me (a). I have placed myself in a World, " where I have been afflicted with the Wicked-" ness of Mankind, which I have continually " feen and heard about me, and which has been "thro' the whole Course of my Life my conti-" nual Grief and Burthen."

3 For even Christ pleased not himself; but as it is written, The Reproaches of them that reproached thee, fell on me.

y N E sonet

Now, by the Way, I accommodate this Text to the Purpose before me, because I think, we may make the best we can of every Scripture, to produce and cherish good Dispositions, and pious Sentiments in our Hearts. For whatever Things were formerly written, were written for our Instruction, that we thro' Patience and Consolation of 4 For whatfoever Things were written aforetime, were written for our Learning; that we through Patience and Comfort of the Scrip-

(a) The Reproaches of those, &c.] Some Expositors refer this to Christ's having undertaken by his Sufferings to expiate the Guilt of Sin, every Species of which may be considered as a Reproach cast on the Law and Government of God. See Cradock in Loc. I have given what seemed to me the more direct and natural Sense, but will not say, this other should be excluded, which may well agree both with the Words and Connection. It must, on the Principle, on which the Apostle goes in many of his Quotations, be very pleasant to observe, how all the Expressions of the highest Piety and Devotion, to be found in the Writings or Discourses of Good-men of Old, are applicable to Christ. But many learned Criticks maintain, that the lxix Psalm may, in its original Sense, be interpreted as a Prophecy of the Messiah. How inexpressible a Grief and Burthen the Sight of so much Wickedness must have been to so pure and holy a Mind, as that of our Lord, it is impossible for us fully to conceive; but were we more like him, we might, and we certainly should, enter more into it, than we generally do.

(b) The

Digitized by Google

Scriptures might have

of that Patience, which the Consolations administered in Scripture so powerfully support, might have an affured and joyful Hope in the midst of all our Tribulation.

5 Now the God of Patience and Confolation grant you to be like-minded one towards another, according to Christ Jesus.

6 That ye may with one Mind and one Mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

7 Wherefore receive ye one another, as Christ also received us, to the Glory of Gop.

8 Now I say, that Jesus Christ was a Minister of the Circumcision.

Now may the GOD of Patience and Confolation; from whom all this gracious and seasonable Provisions proceed, give you more of this blessed Temper; that ye may have the fame mutual Affection, according to the Example of Jesus Christ (b); That with one Mind [and] one Mouth, with united Hearts and Voices, ye may glorify the GOD and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath fent his beloved Son into the World, to unite our Hearts in Love to each other, and to tune them to those devout Praises which we address to his bleffed Self thro' him. Therefore, whe- 7. ther ye were before your Conversion to Christianity Jews or Gentiles, confidering it now as an endearing Bond, which causes every Difference to be forgot, receive ye one another, and embrace one another, with mutual Love; as Christ hath, without any Distinction, received us all, to the Glory of GOD. And greatly will that fublime End, at which he aimed in all, even the Glory of his Heavenly Father, be promoted, by fuch: endeared Affection in his People towards each. other.

Now I fay this, with peculiar Regard to those Differences in Judgment, which, I know, are so ready to prevail among Christians of different Educations, as to the Obligations of the Mosaick Law. And I would remind you Gentiles, that you ought not to suffer your Hearts to be alienated from your Jewish Brethren, for their Attachment to it; because Jesus Christ was [made] a Minister of the Circumcission; as he was a Jew by Birth, he received Circumcission himself, in Token of his Obligation to observe the Law; and confined

(b) The same mutual Affection, according to the Example of Jesus Christ.] Raphelius has evidently shewn, that also opposes, significs to agree in an harmonious and affectionate Manner, and that the Preposition xala, may be rendered according to the Example of. Compare Gal. iv. 28. I Pet. 1. 15. Eph. iv. 24. See Raphel, Annot. ex Herod. in Loc.

(c) I will :

Sect. 32. confined his personal Ministry, according to what Circumcision, for the Truth he himself declared concerning the Limitation of Rom.XV. 8. his Embassy (Mat. xv. 24.) to the lost Sheep of the House of Israel. And this was for the Illustration of the Truth and Fidelity of GOD, to confirm and verify the Promises so long since [made] to Abraham, and the other Fathers of that Na-And I would remind Jewish Believers, that he also came that he might gather together all the Children of God scattered abroad among the Gentiles, that they might glorify GOD for [bis] Mercy, in granting them a Participation of the same Priviledges; and gave it in Charge to his Apostles, that they should raise Disciples to him among all Nations, (Mat. xxviii. 19.) So that it is a Failure of Love and Duty to Christ, not to receive them. And accordingly the Gentiles are often spoken of in the Old Testament, as called to join with the Jews, in worshipping the God of Israel: As it is written, (Psal. xviii. 49.) " For this Cause will I confess to thee among the "Gentiles, and fing Praises unto thy Name (c)." 10 And again be, that is, Moses saith, (Deut. xxxii. 43.) " Rejoice ye Gentiles with his People;" which may intimate their being called to particia pate the Bleffings once peculiar to Ifrael. again, David saith, (Psal. cxvii. 1.) " Praise the " Lord, all ye distant Nations, and repeat his Praise, " all ye People." Now furely this glorious Priviledge of an Admission into the Church, may justly engage the Gentile Nations to praise God, in fublimer Strains, than any other Occasion, to which we can suppose either Moses or David to of God, to confirm the Promises made unto the Fa-

9 And that the Gentiles might glorify God for his Mercy; as it is written, For this Cause I will confess to thee among the Gentiles, and fing unto thy Name.

10 And again he saith, Rejoice, ye Gentiles, with his People.

11 And again, Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles and laud him, all ye People.

(c) I will confess to thee, &c.] Diodati, and many others, suppose this to be only an Allusion to the Words of David in the Place referred to. Mr. Peirce has taken great Pains to prove, that the whole xviiith Pfalm is a direct Prophecy of Christ, who is, according to his Interpretation, to be considered as speaking throughout the whole of it. In which View he would render the Title, "The Song which David, fang when God delivered him " from the Hand of Sheol, (instead of Saul,) that is, the Grave." But I cannot think his Reasoning conclusive, and the 23d Verse of that Psalm seems an invincible Objection against this Solution. I have taken a middle Way, which I hope the attentive Reader will see Reason to approve. Compare Chap. ii. 24. where the same Method of quoting seems evidently to be taken.

(d) Sanctified

12 And again Esaias faith; There shall be a Root of Jesse, and he that shall rise to reign over the Gentiles; in him thall the Gentiles trust.

13 Now the God of Hope fill you with all Joy and Peace in believing, that ye may abound in Hope thro' the Power of the Holy Ghoft.

14 And I myself also am perfuaded of you, my Brethren, that ye also are full of Goodness, filled with all Knowledge, able also to admonifi one another.

15 Nevertheless, Brethren, I have written the more boldly unto you, in fonce Sort, as putting you refer. And again Isaiab says, expressly in Sect. 32. this View, (Isai. xi. 10.) " There shall be a Root of " from the Stock of Jesse, and one arising to rule " over the Gentiles, [and | in him shall the Gentiles " hope and trust: not dreading Destruction, but " chearfully expecting Protection and Salvation " from thence." It is evident therefore, how unreasonable it would be to despise them, and how fit it is affectionately to receive, esteem, and embrace them.

I am willing therefore, to persuade myself, that this mutually candid Temper will prevail among you, and in the Confidence of it, I commend you all, without any Distinction, to the Divine Grace and Bleffing. And accordingly, may the GOD of hope, from whose Mercy all. the Hopes both of Jews and Gentiles are derived, fill you with all sacred Joy and Peace in Believing. May he give you a well-grounded Complacency and Comfort, in Consequence of the growing Strength of your Faith, that you may abound in a. more chearful and lively Hope of eternal Glory, thro' the Power of the Holy Spirit, confirming all those Habits of Grace which you experience, as planted and rooted in your Souls by his Agency. And chearfully do I expect this, when I reflect on what he has already done; for I am indeed myfelf persuaded concerning you, my Brethren, that ye are already full of Goodness, and of unfeigned Benevolence to each other, being filled, through these illuminating Influences which you have received with all spiritual Knowledge, and so well acquainted with the whole Nature and Genius of the Christian Religion, as to be both able and inclined to admonish and encourage one another, as to this meek and peaceable Disposition, which I have been recommending, and every other Part of an amiable and valuable Character. Nevertheless, Brethren, I have written the more 15 boldly to you, and enlarged with the greater Freedom, in this Part of my Epistle, on the Priviledge to which God hath called Gentile Believers, in some Measure as stirring up your grate-

Rom. XV.. 12.

Rom. XV.

Ver. 4.

Sect. 32. ful and pious Remembrance of them, because of in Mind, because of the that great Grace and Favour which is given to Even that I should be the mime of GOD; nistring Servant of Jesus Christ unto the Gentiles, administring to them in his Name, and by his Authority, the infinitely valuable Gospel of GOD: That the Offering the Gentiles to him, as a holy Sacrifice, by my Hands, may be acceptable to GOD, being fanctified and set apart by the Holy Spirit, so plentifully communicated to them in a 77 rich Variety of Gifts and of Graces (d). therefore, in this Respect, considerable Matter of boasting in Christ Jesus, with Respect to the Things of GOD (e), and the Office which I bear in his Church; which I esteem far more honourable than any Services of the Jewish State or Priest-

Grace that is given to me of God,

16 That I should be the Minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministring the Gospel of God, that the Offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being fanctified by the Holy Ghoft.

17 I have therefore whereof I may glory thro' Jesus Christ, in those Things which pertain to God.

IMPROVEMENT.

AY the abundant Communication of the Spirit, that is in Yesus L Christ, form us more to the amiable Temper here recommended! That we may prove the diffinguished Strength of our Minds, by the su-Ver. 1. perior Fortitude with which we bear the Infirmities of our weaker Brethren, and may feek the noble Pleasure of pleasing our Neighbours for Ver. 2. their Good, and to their Edification. Let the generous Self-denial of our great Lord be in this View ever before our Eyes; and let us endeavour to feel the Reproaches which are cast upon GOD, much more sensibly, than Ver. 3. those which immediately fall upon ourselves.

Happy are we in the Scriptures, which thro' Divine Providence and Grace have been written for our Instruction. May they inspire us with Patience and Consolation, and establish our Souls in humble Hope! May our

(d) Sanctified by the Holy Spirit, &c.] To explain this of the miraculous Descent of the Holy Spirit, supposed to have happened at Antioch in Pisidia, on Converts, who might be called the First-fruits of the idolatrous Gentiles, Acts xiii. 52. which is the Interpretation advanced by the Author of Miscell. Sacra (Vol. i. pag. 112.) and his Followers, is not only a needless Limitation of the more noble and natural Sense here given, but in my Judgment, for Reasons in Part given in my Notes on the Acts, an Explication which goes upon various Principles, precarious, or rather utterly incredible.

(e) With Respect to the Things of GOD, &c. Ja προς Jou Θεον.] Raphelius very justly obferves, that this Phrase has a peculiar Propriety, when applied to sacerdotal Affairs, and especially Victims presented to God; of which the Apostle is here speaking. Other Texts are illustrated by this Remark, and particularly, Heb. ii. 17. See Raphel. Not. ex Xen.

in Loca.

hood.

The Apostle would not boast of what Christ had not wrought by him;

our Hearts be cemented in the Bond of mutual Love, that with one Mind Sect. 32. and one Mouth we may glorify GOD, and receive each other, with an Endearment like that, with which, if we are true Believers, notwithstanding our smaller Differences, we are received by bim.

fenting Praises and Services to God through him.

Mercy is communicated by Christ to Yews and Gentiles, who there- Ver. 8,-12. fore are justly required to unite their Praises to the Root of Jesse. Let us all trust under the Shadow of this pleasant Plant, and may we be filled with all Joy and Peace in believing. What can furnish out so calm a Peace, Ver. 13. fo sublime a Joy, as the Christian Hope? May we all abound in it by the Power of the Holy Ghost. And furely, if we are filled with such Joy and Hope, we must be filled with all Goodness too, with a truly benevo- Ver. 14. lent Temper towards others, which a Sense of our own Happiness tends most powerfully to promote. We Gentiles have been presented to GOD Ver. 16. as a holy Offering: May we be sanctified more and more by bis Spirit; and established in a firm Confidence in Christ, that he will transact all our Concerns with God, under the Character of the great Mediator: Esteeming that the most happy and glorious Circumstance in the Station, which Providence may have affigned to us, which gives us the greatest Opportunity of spreading the Honour of so dear a Name, and of pre-

S E C T. XXXIII.

The Apostle takes Occasion from what he had been saying, to mention the Extent of his own Labours, and his Purposes of further Journies, in which he hoped to visit the Romans; in the mean Time, earnestly recommending himself to their Prayers. Rom. XV. 18, to the End.

ROMANS XV. 18.

ROMANS XV. 18.

POR I will not dare to fpeak of any of those speak of any of those Things, which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient, by Word and Deed,

THAVE hinted above at the Cause I have to Sect. 33. rejoice and boast in Christ, as to what relates to God, and the Office of my Christian Ministry. For I will not dare to boast falsely, nor even speak any Thing, of what Christ hath not indeed wrought by me, to bring the Gentiles into Obedience. No; God forbid! that I should either exceed the Bounds of Truth, in making the Report, or ar-Aa rogate

Vol. IV.

Digitized by GOOGIC

Rom. XV₂

Sect. 33. rogate any Thing to myself, as my own Work, when speaking of the Conversions that have in-Rom. XV. deed been made. I humbly confess, that it is Christ, who hath wrought whatever is done: Yet I boldly declare, that his Grace and Mercy hath, in this Respect, distinguished me both in Word and Deed, by the Manner in which he hath enabled me to speak, and the Things which He hath he has strengthened me to perform. wrought by the miraculous Energy of Signs and Wonders, accomplished in and by the amazing Power of the Spirit of GOD, which hath not only been plentifully imparted to me, but bestowed on others by the laying on of my Hands; so that thus supported, I have with the happiest Effect fully preached and explained the Go'pel of Christ, from Jerusalem, Antioch, and Arabia, in the East, round about thro' all the lesser Asia, and Greece, even as far as the western Shores of Illyricum, which so nearly borders on your own 20 celebrated Italy (a). For it has still been the Object of my Ambition, so far as Providence would permit me to indulge it, to preach the Gofpel, not where Christ was [already] named, lest I should seem desirous to build upon another Man's Foundation (b), and so decline the Difficulties

. 19 Through mighty Signs and Wonders, by the Power of the Spirit of God; fo that from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I have fully preached the Gospel of Christ.

20 Yea, so have I strived to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build upon another Man's Foundation:

(a) As far as the western Shores of Illyricum.] Tho' it is evident from hence, that St. Paul before the Date of this Epifile, which was in the Year 58, had preached the Gospel in these Regions, it is observable, that Luke takes no Notice of this, in the History of the Acts; where he also omits to mention the Journey he took to Arabia, on his first Conversion, and several other very remarkable Facts, referred to in the xith Chapter of the second Epifile to the Corinthians, and essewhere: And it is very possible, that the Visit to Crete, when Titus was left behind to ordain Elders, Tit. i. 5. might be of this Number.

which

(b) Object of my Ambition, so far as Providence would permit me to include it, to preach the Gespel, not where Christ was already named, &c.] The Meaning to be sure cannot be, that Paul scorned to come after any other Christian Minister; which would have argued a Height of Temper very inconsistent with the Humility of this blessed Apostle; and does not agree with what we read in the History of the Acts, of his going to preach the Gospel at Damas-cus, Antioch and Jerusalem; to which it seems probable, Treas, if not Corinth, or Ephesias, may be added. It may fignify that, far from declining Dangers and Oppositions, which might, especially be expected in first breaking up, as it were, the Fallow-ground of Heathen and Unevangelized Countries, he rather telt a sublime Ambition, as operations, (See Elsner Vol. ii. pag. 64.) to make the first Proclamation of a Redeemer's Name, in Places, where it had before been quite unheard of. And probably, in mentioning this, he may glance upon those fulle Apostles, who crept into Churches which he had planted, and endea-voured to oftablish their own Reputation and Influence there, by alienating the Hearts of

21

21 But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: And they that have not heard, shall understand.

22 For which Cause also I have been much hindered from coming to you.

23 But now having no more Place in these Parts, and having a great Defire these many Years to come unto you;

24 Whenfoever I take my Journey into Spain, I will come to you: For I trust to see you in my Journcy, and to be brought on my Way thitherward by you, if first I be somewhat filled with your Company.

which attend the Settlement of new Churches. Sect. 33. Others indeed have done this, and little else; but I have chosen a different Manner of acting; as it is written, in Words well applicable to the Series of my Labours, (Isai, lii. 15.) "They to " whom nothing was declared concerning him, " shall fee, and they who have not heard, shall " understand." Thus have many received from my Mouth, the first Notices they have ever had of true Religion, and of the Method of Salvation by the great Redeemer. The Confequence therefore was, that I have been long kindered from coming to you; which, out of my fingular Affection for you, I was very defirous of doing: Tho' it be fomething contrary to the Method of proceeding which I generally choose, as you have the Christian Religion already, by the Divine Grace, most happily planted among you. now having no longer Place, either at Corinth, or elsewhere in these Grecian Climates, no more Work of this Kind remaining to be done here, of which Providence feems to open any probable Profpect, and having also on various Accounts, a great Defire for many Years to come to you; I will attempt to put it into Execution. If I go into Spain, I will endeavour, if possible, to come to you (c); for I hope quickly to have an Opportunity of going thither, and as I pass by, will contrive, if I can, to fee you, and shall expect to be brought forward by you in my Way thither, by the kind Attendance of some of my Friends at Rome, and the Refreshment which my Spirit may receive from others; if I may first, not only have a short Interview in passing, but make such an Abode with you as to be in some Degree satisfied bis own Converts from him, their spiritual Father; while, like some in our own Days, who have trod most exactly in their Footsteps, they built on his grand and noble Foundations, an Edifice of Wood, and Hay, and Stubble, I Cor. iii. 12.

(c) If I go to Spain, &c.] It appears probable from hence, confidering the Principle which St. Paul choice to govern himself by, of not building on another Man's Foundation, that no Apostle had yet planted any Church in Spain: Which, as Dr. Geddes justly observes, very ill agrees with the Legend of St. James; for, according to that, he had now been 15 Years in Spain, and had erected leveral Bishopricks there. Geld. Misc. Vol. ii. pag. 221.

(d) Churches

Rom. XV.

Rom. XV.

Rom. XV.

Rom. that if I were to indulge my own Affection to you, my Vifit would be much longer, than the Views of Duty elsewhere will permit.

This I speak with Relation to my suture Designs: But I am now going to Jerusalem, ministering to the Necessities of the Saints there, by such Contributions, as I have raised for their Subsistence, or may farther collect, as I prosecute my Journey. For it bath pleased [the Churches of] Macedonia and Achaia (d), to make a certain Collection for the poor Saints, their believing Brethren, that are in Jerusalem, who are exposed to fuch peculiar Persecution and Affliction. I say, it bath pleased them to do this; and, tho' I acknowledge their free Love and Generosity in it, yet I may say, that in a Sense, they are their Debtors: For if the Gentiles have been brought into so happy a Union with God's once peculiar People, and are made Partakers of their spiritual Things, the invaluable Blessings of the Gospel, first brought to them from Jerusalem, and by Persons of the Jewish Nation too; they ought certainly to be ready, with all religious Gratitude and Respect, to minister to them in their carnal Things, and impart the inferior Blessings of Providence, in which they so much more abound.

28 Having therefore dispatched this Affair, and sealed to them, that is, safely delivered as under Seal, this Present, which is the Fruit of that Love and Care which their Gentile Brethren so justly express towards them, I will, if it please God to give me a favourable Opportunity, come by you into Spain.

29 And as I doubt not, but you will pray for me, that my Coming may be comfortable, and useful for your Confirmation in Religion; so I have a chearful Confidence, that God will hear your Prayers, and may say, that I know that when I

25 But now I go unto Jerusalem, to minister unto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleafed them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certain Contribution for the poor Saints which are at Jerusalem.

27 It hath pleafed them verily, and their Debtors they are. For if the Gentiles have been made Partakers of their spiritual Things, their Duty is also to minister unto them in carnal Things.

28 When therefore I have performed this, and have fealed to them this Fruit, I will come by you into Spain.

29 And I am fure that when I come unto you.

(d) Churches of Macedonia, &c.] As we read of no more than one Collection of the Macedonian Churches, which was that directed by Paul, when he went from Ephesus to Macedonia, (Ass xx. 1.) in the Year of Christ 57; this Circumstance seems to fix the Date of this Epistle pretty early in 58; as was observed in the Introduction, and the sormer Note there referred to.

Ishall come in the Fulness of the Bleffing of the Gofpel of Christ.

30 Now I beseech you, Brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ's Sake, and for the Love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your Prayers to God for me;

31 That I may be delivered from them that do not believe in Judea; and that my Service which I have for Jerusalem, may be accepted of the Saints:

32 That I may come unto you with Joy by the Will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Now the God of Peace come among you, I shall come in the Fulness of the Sect. 33. Blessing of the Gospel of Christ, that is, with a full and abundant Bleffing, attending my minifterial and evangelical Labours. Yet when I write thus, it is not from any particular Revelation, to assure me, that I shall be enabled to fulfil this Purpose. I know, that in this Journey to Jerusalem I have, humanly speaking, a very dangerous Scene before me, having fome of my most mortal and implacable Enemies to contend And therefore, as I cannot but apprehend the Interest of the Gospel to be concerned in my Life and Liberty; I befeech you Brethren, by our Lord Jesus Christ, and by the Love which is the genuine Fruit of the Spirit (e), that you join your utmost Strength and Fervency with mine (f), in [your] daily Prayers to GOD for me, That I may be rescued from the Unbelievers in Judea (g): who are so full of Rancor against me, as a Deferter from their Cause; and will, I am fure, spare no Force or Fraud to destroy me: And also that my Ministration at Jerusalem, in the charitable Affair which I mentioned above, may be acceptable to the Saints, for whose Use it is intended; so that no Prejudices in our Christian Brethren there, against the believing Gentiles, may prevail so far as to prevent their receiving it with a becoming Candor and Gratitude: That so, in Consequence of all, I may come to you with Joy, by the Will of GOD, and that I may be refreshed [together] with you, in our intended Interview. And in the mean Time, may the GOD of Peace, who has graciously given us that Peace with himself, which we esteem the first, and greatest of.

Rom. XV. 30.

(e) By the Love of the Spirit.] Some would explain this of the Love, which the Spirit of God hears to us, or the Affection, which we owe to that gracious Agent; and were we certain, that either of these were the genuine Sense, important Consequences would follow.

(f) Join your utmost Strength with mine.] Elsner, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 65.) has a beautiful Note on this Word ouray auroadas, to shew how exactly that is the Import of it.

(g) That I may be rescued from the Unbelievers in Judea.] How extream their Bigoty. and Rage was, appears from their Behaviour to him at the very Time here referred to, Alls xxis—xxiv. It was from a Sense of the great Importance of his Life to the Cause of Christianity, that he is thus urgent; else we may be assured, he would gladly have given it up. Phil. i. 21, &c.

Reflections on the Apostle's Humility and Zeal.

190

Ver. 29.

Sect. 33. of Bleffings, and hath cemented our Hearts in Peace be with you all. Athose Christian Bonds of Peace and Love to each other, [be] with you all, whether I am present or absent. Amen!

IMPROVEMENT.

ET us behold with Pleasure the Modesty and Humility, which is Ver.18,19. joined with all the Zeal of this holy Apostle, while he thus obliquely owns, in a Manner, which shews how familiar the Thought was to his Mind, that all he had done, in the Christian Ministry, and for the Propagation and Advancement of the Gospel, was only what Christ had done by him, to procure such Obedience of the Gentiles, both in Word, and in Deed.

> Adored be the Grace that made his Labours fo successful, and sowed the bleffed Seed fo wide by his diligent Hand, from Jerusalem unto Illyricum. Most Divine Instructions did he give them in Matters of Faith, and he taught them to express that Faith by their Works. While he was dead to all Thoughts of inriching himself, and in some Instances, chose rather to maintain himself by his own Labours, than to subsist on the

Ver. 25, &c. Bounty of others, his liberal Soul devised liberal Things for his necessitous Brethren. He raised a noble Collection, and was much concerned, not only that it might be fafely, but acceptably, delivered.

Well may our Souls be edified, by observing the Things which lay nearest the Heart of this generous Apostle, that coming to his Christian Friends at Rome, he might come in the Fulness of the Blessing of the Gospel of Christ, and that if he was spared thro' their Prayers, it might be for publick Use-St. Paul, dead as he was to human Applause, was, from much nobler Motives, solicitous about his Acceptance; and he shews, by his Manner of speaking, what a Sense he had of the Degree, in which it depended upon the Turn and Disposition which God should be pleased to give to the Spirits of Men: May this just and pious Thought frequently dwell upon the Hearts of the Ministers of Christ!

Some of the Prayers, which the Apolitie so affectionately bespeaks, were answered; and some seemed to be forgotten: Yet did Gop make, what feemed the Rejection of some, the Means of answering the Rest. He was for a while delivered into the Hands of those in Judea, who believed not; and this Providence, which might have seemed an invincible Obstacle to his Design, proved the Occasion of bringing him to Rome, and promoted the Success of his Ministry there.

Let us adore the GOD of Grace and Peace, who works the most impor-Ver. 33. tant Ends, by Methods to us unthought of; and let us be greatly cautious, that

that we do not rashly judge that he hath rejected our Prayers, because Sect. 33. we do not see them answered in that particular Way, which might have been more agreeable to our own Wishes.

S E C T. XXXIV.

The Apostle after recommending Phoebe to the Romans, particularly salutes several of his Friends then resident among them. Rom. XVI. 1---16.

ROMANS XVI. I.

ROMANS XVI. 1.

I Commend unto you Phebe our Sister, which is a Servant of the Church which is in Cenchrea:

AVING thus dispatched the Substance Sect. 34. of my Epistle, I would add, by Way of Postscript, something relating to a few particular Rom.XVI. Christian Friends, with us, or with you: And first would recommend to you the Bearer of this Epistle, Phabe, our Sister, who is not only Partaker with us in the Profession of the Gospel, but in the Office of a stated Servant, or Deaconness(a), of the Church in Cenchrea (b); in the Neighbourhood of which I write to you. I desire that you would entertain her, in Regard to her Relation to the Lord Jefus Christ, our common Saviour, with all Christian Affection, and in a Manner becoming those that profess themfelves Saints, separated from the World, to the Honour of his Name; and that you would affift herin any Thing, in which she may need it of you; for I can affure you, she has been, in her Office, an-

Helper of many, and of myself in particular; on:

2 That ye receive her in the Lord, as becometh Saints, and that ye affift her in whatfoever Business she hath need of you: For she hath been a Succourer of many, and of myself also.

(a) Is stated Servant, or Deaconness.] Compare I Tim. v. 9. That there were some grave and pious Matrons engaged in such an Office, in the Primitive Church, is I think very apparent from these Places: But it is obvious, there were Circumstances which rendered such Sort of Servants much more usual and necessary in the Churches at that Time, than they would now generally be.

(b) The Church in Cenchrea.] As Paul mentions the Church in Cenchrea, as distinct from that at Corinth, tho' Cenchrea lay in the Suburbs of it; I must submit it to the candid Reader, whether it be not probable, that it had a diffinet Poster, or Bishop of its own.

(c) Priscilla:

which.

Sect. 34. which Account she is well worthy of your Re-Roin. XVI. Reception from all that love me, or have any Concern for the common Cause.

I desire you would also salute the pious Priscilla, and her worthy Consort Aquila (c); who have both deserved the Name of my Fellow-labourers in Christ Jesus, as they have each of them, according to their different Stations and Characters, been ready to do their utmost to promote the Interest of the Gospel amongst us. 4 And indeed they are Persons, who for the Prefervation of my Life, exposed to so many tumultuous Dangers, (Acts xviii. 6, 7, 12, 13.) bave, as it were, laid down their own Necks, that is, offered themselves to the extreamest Dangers: to whom therefore, I do not only owe my own perfonal Thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles, whose Apostle I peculiarly am, and for whose spiritual Liberties and Priviledges I am always fo strenuous an Advocate. You will also, I hope, present my sincere and affectionate Salutation to the Church that is in their House; as I know there are several other Christians with them, resident in the Family, or meeting them for focial Worship there. Salute also my beloved Epenetus, who is one of the First-fruits of Achaia (d) to Christ, in the Number of the first Christian Converts of these Regions, and therefore worthy my particular Remembrance. Salute Mary, who has taken a great deal of Pains on our Account, to accommodate me, and my Companions, when we were in her Neighbour-

3 Greet Priscilla and Aquila my Helpers in Christ Jesus:

4 (Who have for my Life laid down their own Necks: Unto whom not only I give Thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.

5 Likewise greet the Church that is in their House. Salute my well-beloved Epenetus, who is the First-fruits of Achaia unto Christ.

6 Greet Mary, who beflowed much Labour on us.

(c) Priscilla and Aquila.] This excellent Couple appear, by this Passage, to be returned to Rome, on the ceasing of that Edist against the Jews, which had driven them from thence, in the Reign of Claudius, Asts xviii. 2. Priscilla seems to have been a Woman of great Note, and probably, of distinguished Genius, and Instuence; which appears, not only from the Manner in which she is here named, but also from the Ediscation, which the eloquent Apollos received from her Instructions, in Concurrence with those of her Husband.

hood.

(d) The First-fruits, &c.] 'Tis very probable he might be converted at the same Time with Stephanas, called also the First-fruits of Achaia, (I Cor. xvi. 15.) for there is no Manner of Necessity to understand by that Expression, the very first Christian Convert. Indeed it is possible, Epenetus might be one of that happy Family, to which this Appellation is given.

(e) Andrevicus,

7 Salute Andronicus and Junia my Kinsmen, and my Fellow-prisoners, who are of Note among the Apostles, who also were in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias my beloved in the Lord.

. o Salute Urbane our Helper in Christ, and Stachys my belovèd.

10 Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus's Housbold.

hood. Salute Andronicus (e), and Junias, my Kinf- Sect. 34. men, and dear in the Bond of Christian Fellowship, and united Sufferings too; having once Rom.XVI. been my Fellow-prisoners; who were early in great Reputation among the Apostles (f), and were also happy in being joined to the Church of Christ before me; and therefore, tho' once the Object of my furious persecuting Zeal, are now honoured and beloved as my elder Brethren in the Lord. Salute Amplias, my beloved in the Lord, for whom I have a most affectionate Friendship, cemented in the Bonds of mutual Faith and Love. lute also Urbanus, my Fellow-labourer in the Gospel of Christ, to the Service of which he is so faithfully devoted, and with him my beloved Stachys, of whose Friendship I cannot but retain an affectionate Remembrance. Salute Apelles, whose long experienced Worth renders him thoroughly approved in the Cause of Christ, as a Disciple of a Character undoubtedly honourable. Salute also those [of the Family] of Aristobulus (g), and affure the Christians that hold the lowest Station in it, that they are not forgotten by me.

(e) Andronicus, &c.] Dr. Jenkins very justly observes, that this List of Names can be no Objection at all to the Authority of this Epifle; for it might be an Encouragement to the Persons thus particularly mentioned, might conciliate some additional Respect to them, whereby their Usefulness might be promoted, and would render each of these Persons a kind of Witness to the Genuineness of the Epistle, as we may naturally suppose it was shewed to each of them. Jenk. of Christianity, Vol. 11. pag. 37.

(f) In Reputation among the Apostles.] Diodati thinks, that Apostles here signifies Evangelists; and that the Meaning is, that these Persons were noted Messengers of the Churches, 2 Cor. viii. 23. Phil. ii. 25. But I rather apprehend with Mr. Cradock, (Apoft. Hift. pag. 43.) that they were some early Converts, who had been known and much esteemed by the Apostles, before the Dispersion occasioned by the Death of Stephen, (Acts viii 2.) and if so, perhaps Paul might once have been active in perfecuting them, and have learned their Names at first, with an hostile Intent of hunting them down to Destruction.

(g) Those [of the Family] of Aristobulus.] The Roman Church hath consecrated Days to the Honour of many of the Saints, mentioned in this Chapter, whom they declare, I know not on what sufficient Authority, to have been Martyrs. See L'Enf. Pref. to the Romans, pag. 6, 7. To these they have added Aristobulus, and Narcissus, the there is no certain Evidence, that they were Christians. It feems most probable, they were Persons of high Rank, who had each a great Family of Slaves; and some of them being Christian Converts, the Apostle would not forget them, low as their Rank in Life was, when he was faluting his Brethren, in so particular a Manner. We may observe, what a Regard the Apostle had for foreign Churches, when he had informed himself of the Names, Circumstances, and Abodes, of to many then in Rome. Bb

Vol. IV.

A(b) His

Rom, XVI. 11.

Scot. 34. Salute my Coufin Herodion, still dearer to me in the Ties of Grace, than in those of Nature; and those belonging to [the Houshold of] Narcissus, who are Believers in the Lord Jesus Christ.

12 Salute those excellent Women Tryphana and Tryphosa, who according to their Stations, have laboured with great Diligence in the Service of .the Lord. Salute the beloved Perfis, who distinguished herself among many who were faithful and diligent; so that it may properly be said, she la-

13 boured much in the Lord, Salute Rufus, chosen in the Lord, whom I esteem as a Christian of a most excellent Character; and pay the most affectionate Respects, in my Name, to bis Mother and mine (b): For so I may call her, on Acount of that maternal Tenderness and Care, which

14 she has often shewn towards me. fyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and all the Brethren with them, as if every one of them

15 had been particularly named. Salute Philologus, and Julias, Nereus, and his Sister, and Olympas, and all the other fincere Saints and Christians (i), that are with them; whom, with the rest of the Persons that I have mentioned, I most fincerely honour and

In a word, whether you be Jews, or Gentiles, when you meet at your Assemblies, salute one another with a boly Kiss (k); and take Care, that the Kifs which you give to each other, at the Conclusion of your Worship, be expressive of a pure and undiffembled Affection, and conducted with the gravest and most decent Circum-

11 -Salute Herodion my Kiniman. Greet them that be of the Housbold of Narcissus, which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphofa, who labur in the Lord. Salute the beloved Persis, which laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his Mother and mine.

14 Salute Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the Brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus, and Julia, Nereus, and his Sifter, and Olympas, and all the Saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy Kiss. The

(h) His Mother and mine.] Hence some have thought that Rusus was at least Half-brother to Paul; but perhaps he might in this Expression refer to the Maternal Care this good Woman had taken of him.

(i) All the Saints, &c.] Calvin, and others, very justly observe, that had Peter been now at Rome, he would undoubtedly have been named; fince no one in this numerous Catalogue, was of a Dignity and Eminence, by any Means comparable to him; and yet, if he were not there at this Time, the whole Tradition of the Roman Bishops, as the Roman Church delivers it, fails in the most fundamental Article of all.

(k) Aholy Kifs.] The Custom of thus faluting each other, was borrowed from the Jewish Synagogue; and as chaftly and prudently as it was managed, it seems to have been the Occasion of those false and scandalous Reports, which were so industriously propagated among the Heathen, of the adulterous and incestuous Practices, in Christian Assemblies; on which Account, it seems to have been laid aside very early.

you.

Churches of Christ salute stances. All the Churches of Christ in these Parts, Sect. 34. salute you; as they, with me, have heard of the eminent Figure you make in Religion, and the Rom.XVI. many excellent Persons who are resident among

IMPROVEMENT.

HOUGH so much of this Section be a mere Catalogue of Names. it is not without its moral and religious Instruction. We see in it the good Heart of the Apostle; how full he was of the Sentiments of Christian Friendship; how solicitous he was to express his Esteem and Love, for his Brethren in the Lord. And God hath made him, the Means of transmitting to Posterity, the Memorials of many excellent Persons, of whom we no where else read, or hear, any Thing: Of whom all that we know, is, that they were fuch, as deferved the particular Affection of St. Paul, and were Professors of the Gospel at Rome, in the Reign of a very worthless, and wicked Prince, under whom it is highly probable, that some of them suffered Martyrdom for Christ.

His large Heart opened to embrace them all, whether by Birth Yews or Gentiles; and as they shared in his Salutations, we cannot doubt, but they shared in his Prayers too. We find some of these pious, and much esteemed Friends of the Apostle were Women, of whom he speaks with Ver. 1, 2. great Regard, as of Persons, whom Divine Grace had made very useful in the Church; who had been Helpers of many, and particularly of him; who had laboured, yea, had laboured much, in the Lord. Let not that Sex Ver. 12. therefore think, that it is cut off from the Service of Christ, because the Ministry is appropriated to Men. Eminently useful have many of them been. The most valuable Ministers have often been affisted by them, in the Success of their Work, while their pious Care, under the Restraint of the strictest Modesty and Decorum, has happily and effectually influenced Children, Servants and young Friends; yea, has been the Means of sowing the Seeds of Religion in tender Minds, before they have been capable of coming under ministerial Care. Generous was the Zeal, which Aquila and Priscilla shewed in expo- Ver. 3. fing even their own Lives, in the Defence of this holy Apostle. Great Obligations did they, thereby, lay upon all the Churches of the Gentiles, and on us, who, at this Distance of Time, receive so many Blessings from the longer Continuance of St. Paul's Life, which they were ready so Ver. 4. heroically to defend at the Hazard of their own.

Truly valuable were these mutual Friendships, of which, Zeal for Christ was the common Bond; lasting, and indeed everlasting. These excellent Persons are doubtless the Companions of Paul in Glory now, and will B b 2 many

The Apostle cautions against those that cause Divisions;

196 Sect. 34.

Sect. 34. Ver. 7. many of them be his Crown in the Day of the Lord. Some of them indeed were in Christ before him; and he speaks of it as peculiarly to their Honour. Let those, who were early in Christ, rejoice in the Thought. Let those, who came later into his Church, be exhorted to exert themselves with the greater Vigor in his Service, that they may recover the Time they have lost: And let us all learn to esteem it, as the most substantial Proof of our Love to those, who are peculiarly dear to us, to shew, upon all Occasions, how sincerely we wish, that they may early form an Acquaintance with Christ; that they may constantly walk in him, and grow up in all Things in him, as our common Head.

SECT. XXXV.

The Apostle concludes with other Salutations, and a necessary Caution against those who would divide the Church, together with a Doxology, suited to the general Purport of what he had been writing. Rom. XVI. 17, to the End.

ROMANS XVI. 17.

Sect. 35.

١

N D now, having dispatched these Salutations, which Christian Friendship has largely dictated, let me conclude my Epistle to you, with a few Words of additional Advice. And I would particularly, exhort you, Brethren, to have your Eyes upon, and to mark out for the . Caution of others, those Persons, whether in publick or private Life, which cause Divisions and Offences [among you,] by false Doctrines, factious Tempers, and scandalous Lives: therein doing contrary to that pure, certain and uniting Doctrine which you have learned of us, the Apostles of Jefus Christ, who have been commissioned by him, as the authentick Teachers of his Gospel. And when you have discovered such pernicious Seducers, avoid them, so as to have no intimate Converse with them; nor even to permit them to continue in your Communion, if they will not be reclaimed by the milder Methods of brotherly Admonition.

ROMANS XVI. 17.

Doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them.

18 For they that are such, serve not the Lord Jesus Christ, but their own Belly; and by good. Words and Hearts of the Simple.

For you may be affured, that fuch, Sect. 35. nition. whatever they may pretend, ferve not the Lord Jesus Christ; under whose Commission we so ap- Rom XVI. fair Speeches deceive the parently act, and the Nature of whose Religion, is so holy and benevolent: But on the contrary, 'tis plain, they serve their own Belly; they have: only their own fecular Interest in View, and hope to gain some temporal Advantage, by setting themselves up as Heads of Parties among you; and by fair Speeches, and flattering Forms of Address (a), they deceive the Hearts of the Innocent and Well-meaning, and lead them into Snares of which they are little aware.

19 For your Obedience is come abroad unto all Men. I am glad therefore on your Behalf: But yet I would have you wife unto that which is Good, and simple concerning Evil.

It is very possible, that having done so much 19. Mischief here at Corinth, and at other Places, they may also make some Attempts upon you; especially considering the Figure you make in the Christian World: But I trust, their Endeavours will be unsuccessful; for the Report of your exemplary Obedience to the Dictates of our holy Religion, is come abroad unto all: Therefore I rejoice on your Account, in hope you will overcome this, and every other Danger, and maintain the good Character you have already gained. But I give you this Caution out of my abundant Tenderness and Care; because I am desirous you may be wise, and sagacious, with Respect to every Opportunity of practifing and maintaining that which is good, and as fimple as possible, with Regard to that which is evil: Perfectly free from all ill-Views, and Designs of every Kind. And I know, how much the Infinuations of those Men tendto destroy those benevolent Dispositions, which should ever reign in the Hearts of Christians, and to fill them with fuch Prejudices against each other, as may produce mutual injuries.

20 And the God of Peace

And I have an agreeable Persuasion, that you will take Care to maintain this happy Mixture of Innocence and Prudence, and will succeed in that Care. Yes, my Brethren, I am well affured,

(a) Flattering Forant of Address.] Europea, in this Connection, has a Force, which I knew not how to express, but by this Periphrasis. We see here what these Weapons are, . which these false Apostles opposed to the Miracles of the true.

(b) Sosipater.]

Rom. XVI.

Sect. 35. that the GOD of Peace, from whom we derive all our Peace and Happiness, and who delights in seeing this peaceful Temper prevail among his Servants, will quickly bruise Satan under your Feet; will defeat the Artifices, by which the great Enemy of God and Men, is endeavouring to infinuate himself into the Church, and to insuse his own malignant Spirit into its Members. God will enable you, animated by the first great Promise, (Gen. iii. 15.) which you have seen so illustriously fulfilled, to trample on the fly Deceiver; as on a wounded Serpent, whose Head your great Leader hath already crushed. And for this Purpose, may the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, which hath already been in so considerable a Degree imparted to you, [be] still more constantly and abundantly with you! Amen.

I add, by Way of Postscript, that Timothy, 21 my pious and zealous Fellow-labourer, to whose Affection I am so much obliged, and Lucius, and Jason, and Sospater, the Messengers of the Chruch at Berœa (b), and both of them my Kinfmen, salute you with fincere Christian Friendship.

22 I Tertius, or Silas, who wrote [this] Epistle, while the Apostle Paul dictated it to me (c), as his Secretary, do also most affectionately salute you in the Lord.

The generous Gaius, who is my Hoft, and in-23 deed, I may fay, that of the whole Church, fo ready is he to every Act of Hospitality and Goodness, salutes you, [and] Erastus the Steward of the City, [also] salutes you; and so doth one Quartus, Peace shall bruise Satan under your Feet shortly. The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

21 Timotheus my Workfellow, and Lucius, and Jafon, and Sofipater, my Kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, who wrote this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine Hoft, and of the whole Church, faluteth you. Erastus the Chamberlain of the City faluteth you, and Quartus a Brother.

(b) Sofipater.] As it appears, from Acts xx. 4. that Sofipater was with St. Paul, when he travelled in Greece, in the Year 58, this is one Argument for fixing the Date of this Epistle to that Year.

who

(c) Who wrote this Epistle, &c.] St. Paul feems not himself to have been very well versed in the Greek Characters, Gal. vi. 11. Compare 1 Cor. xvi. 21. He therefore made Use of the Hand of Silas, or as the Latin would express his Name, Tertius, who wrote what the Apostle dictated; and I submit to Consideration, whether some of the intricate, and some of the unfinished Sentences, which we meet with in these Epistles, might not be owing to this Method of writing by an Amanuensis. They, whose Variety of Business has obliged them to dictate to others, and use their Pens in such a Manner, will be very sensible, this is no absurd, or very improbable Conjecture. Compare Jerem. xxxvi. 17, 18. as an Instance of a similar Nature.

(d) ABre-

who, tho' you may not particularly know him, Sect. 35. is a Christian Brother (d), whose Name I think Rom. XVI. worthy of being inferted.

24.

24 The Grace of our Lord Jofus Christ be with you all. Amen.

Once more receive my repeated good Wishes, that the best of all Blessings may attend you; even that the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ may be with you all; to which I again put my cordial Amen.

25 Now to him that is of Power to stablish you according to my Gospel, and the Preaching of Jesus Christ (according to the Revelation of the Mystery, which was kept fecret fince the World began,

Now, let me fum up all, with ascribing Praise to the great Author of all the Blessings, of which I have been writing; even to him who, as he has called you to participate these invaluable Bleffings, is able to strengthen you (e) in every virtuous Disposition, and good Resolution; according to the Tenor of my Gospel, even the Preaching of Jesus Christ, as our only and Almighty Saviour, whom I proclaim, where-ever-I come, to Gentiles, as well as to Jews: A Gospel which, however it is opposed as contrary, is indeed most exactly agreeable, to the Revelation, which Gop has now been pleased to make of that Mystery, in ancient Times kept in Silence (f), and never before so fully exhibited. But, ado- 26 red be his Goodness, it is now made manifest according to the Tenor of the Prophetick Scriptures, according to the Commandment of the Eternal GOD. And it is not only discovered to us by the Spirit, but publickly made known to all the Gentile Nations, as well as the People of Israel, for the Obedience of Faith; that they, firmly believing it,, 26 But now is made manifest, and by the Scriptures of the Prophets, according to the Commandment of the everlasting God, made known to all Nations for the Obedience of Faith)

(d) A Brother.] Mr. Pierce thinks this Expression intimates, that he was a Christian Minister. Compare Phil. iv. 21, 22. but I cannot say, it appears sufficiently evident.

(e) Now to him, &c. This Doxology is found, in many Copies, at the End of the xivth. Chapter, and in the Alexandrian MS. is inserted both there and here. Ferome says, that Mar-cion rejected the two last Chapters, as contrary to his Opinion; and Sir Norton Knatchbull. conjectures, that in Order to prevent any Suspicion, as if the Epistle ended with the xivth Chapter, some orthodox Christian transferred this Passage from thence, which he supposes to have been its true Place. Dr. Mills is of the fame Opinion; and supposes the two last Ghapters to have been added by Way of Postscript, as the Apostle had Time, before he fent it away. All the other Epifles of Paul end with the Benediction.

(f) Mystery, &c.] Many Commentators explain these Verses, as referring to the Calling of the Gentiles into the Church; and then some of them suppose the xporous awayas to refer. to the Division of Time by Jubilees; but it is certain, the Words will make good and weighty Sense on the different Interpretation we have given; and as the Jubilees so early. grew into Neglect among the Jews, it would be less natural to suppose, the Periods of

Time they measured, to be designed here.

N. B. Digitized by Google Sect. 35. it, may yield a correspondent practical Submission; to it, and so obtain by it everlasting Salvation; subjecting themselves in all Things to the Sacred Authority of the only wise GOD, who has so prudently contrived, and so effectually executed, this grand Scheme. To him, on the whole, [be] Glory by Jesus Christ, in all the Churches, and in the general Assembly, to endless Ages. Amen!

27 To God only wife, be Glory through Jesus Christ for ever. Amen.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 25. Words of being deeply engraven on every Heart. The Gospel was a Mystery long concealed in the Breast of the Divine Wisdom, and opened but by impersect Hints, even to the Church itself, in former Ages. Let us be humbly thankful, that it is now made manifest; and that we are among the Nations, who

Ver. 26. are called to the Obedience of the Faith. Let us be folicitous to answer that Call; and if we have already done it in any Measure, let us remember, we are still surrounded with many Snares and Dangers; so that we

Ver. 25. have continual Need of being ftrengthened and confirmed by him, who hath done us the Honour to call us into the Fellowship of his Gospel. Let us walk worthy of it, and faithfully endeavour to advance its Interests,

Ver. 18. in a noble Superiority to all those secular and mercenary Motives, by which bad Men, under a Christian Profession, are often influenced, and in Consequence of which, they often abuse even the Ministry of Religion to the most infamous Purposes.

Let us shew, how thoroughly we have imbibed the Spirit of this Divine Dispensation, by the Generosity of our Sentiments; guarding both Ver.17,19. against Scandals, and Divisions; and aiming, in Wisdom, Integrity, and Love, both to unite, and to edify, the Body of Christ. Satan will indeed lay Discouragements and Stumbling-blocks in our Way, and perhaps may sometimes use very subtle Arts to promote Discord and Division among those, who ought to be most dear to each other in the Bonds of the Lord. But let us use a holy Caution, and commit ourselves chearfully to the Divine Keeping; and we may humbly hope, that the God of Peace will make us victorious over all the Artisce and Power of our spiritual Enemies, and will shortly bruise Satan under our Feet.

Let

N. B. A Note, added at the End of this Epistle, says, that it was written to the Romans from Corinth, by Phabe, Servant of the Church at Cenchrea. Part of this, the first Verse of this last Chapter justifies; but as the most ancient Manuscripts have not these Notes, and some of them are plainly contrary to some Passages in the Epistle, to which they are affixed, they are to be esteemed of no Authority.

Let us humbly hope that he will, thro' the Grace of our Lord Jesus Sect. 35. Christ, in Virtue of that great original Promise, which was given to chear our first Parents, when they lay under their deep Distress, and heavy Load of new-contracted Guilt. (Gen. iii. 13.) And as we see, how God hath taken the Subtil in his own Craftiness, and triumphed over Satan, by that Event, which he laboured to accomplish, as his own Triumph, even the Death of our Divine Redeemer; let us ascribe to him, as the only wife GOD, everlasting Glory. And Oh, that we may join with all the redeemed World in this Ascription, when the Accuser of the Brethren, the great Enemy of God and Man, with all his Adherents and Instruments, shall be cast out for ever! Amen.

The END of the FAMILY EXPOSITOR on the ROMANS.

Vol. IV.

The

The Family Expositor:

OR, A

PARAPHRASE

ON THE

FIRST EPISTLE

OF

P A U L the A P O S T L E

TO THE

CORINTHIANS,

WITH

Critical Notes and a practical IMPROVEMENT of each SECTION.

A

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

TO THE

PARAPHRASE and NOTES

On the FIRST EPISTLE to the

CORINTHIANS.

HE Apostle Paul had been the Instrument in the Hand of God, of planting a numerous Christian Church, chiefly of Gentile Converts, at Corinth; where his Ministry was so successful, that he continued there near two Years. (Asts xviii. 1,—18.) Corinth was a City of Achaia, situated on the Isthmus, which joins Peloponnesus, (now called the Morea,) to the rest of Greece. From the Convenience of its Situation for Commerce, it abounded in Riches, and was furnished with all the Accommodations, with all the Elegancies and Superfluities of Life. This by too natural a Consequence, led its Inhabitants into Luxury, Lewdness, and all Manner of Vice; and they were accordingly infamous even to a Proverb.

About the Space of 3 Years after the Apostle had lest Corinth, to preach the Gospel in other Parts of Greece, he had Occasion to write this Epistle to the Corinthians; which he accordingly wrote from Ephesus about the Year 57. the 3d of the Emperor Nero. See Vol. iii. Sect. 42. Note (d). pag. 298. and Sect. 44. Note (a). pag. 309.

The Reason for which this Epistle was written, was, to answer some important Queries, proposed by the Corinthians; and correct the various criminal Irregularities and Disorders, of which they were guilty.

In correcting the Abuses with which they were chargeable;

The First Article, on which the Apostle thought himself obliged to infift, related to the Parties and Factions, into which they were fallen, and the Opposition which was made by some of them to his own Apostolical Mission. On this Head he largely discourses in the first Four Chapters: Introducing the Epistle with an Affectionate Address to the Corinthian Converts, in which he congratulates them on the rich Variety of Gifts and Graces God had bestowed upon them, and animates their Hopes of his continued Favour in the Lord Jesus Christ, even till the Day of his final Appearance. (Chap. i. 1,—9.) And then, expressing his great Concern on Account of their Animosities and Factions, he expostulates with them on the Unreasonableness of setting up Christian Ministers as Heads of Parties, when they were under such strong Engagements to Christ, as their common Saviour and Master. (Ver. 10,—16.) And as he well knew, that a fond Regard to Eloquence and Philosophy, to which some of the Corintbian Teachers made high Pretentions, was one great Occasion of their Divisions, he sets himself to shew how little Stress was to be laid upon them; which he illustrates by the Choice that Gop had made of Gospel-preachers, entirely destitute of these boasted Accomplishments. (Ver. 17, to the End.) The Apostle further explains the Reasons for which he had declined all Ostentation of Eloquence. when he came among the Corintbians, and particularly, infifts on the extraordinary Nature of the Facts and Doctrines he was to teach, which were of a much higher Original than any Discoveries, which human Wit or Learning could make, and were to be traced up to the immediate Teachings of the Holy Spirit; their Nature being so wonderful, that it was difficult for the corrupted Minds of Men to receive them, even when they were taught. (Chap. ii. throughout.) After this the Apostle more directly comes to the Case of their Animosities and Divisions, and reproves their Carnality in contending about human Teachers, and urges many important Confiderations to cure them of fo unbecoming a Temper: (Chap. iii. 1,—9.) Reminding them for this Purpose, of the great Trial, which every Man's Work must undergo, the Guilt of polluting by unhallowed Divisions the Temple of God, the Vanity of human Wisdom in his Sight, and of glorying in Men, since Ministers and all Things are appointed for the common Benefit of Believers. (Ver. 10, to the End.) The Apostle further discourses with the same View, of the Nature of the Ministerial Office, reminds them of the final Judgment of him.

him, who searcheth all Hearts, and the Obligation they were under to the Divine Goodness for every Advantage, by which they were distinguished from others. (Chap. iv. 1,—7.) And as a particular Opposition had been made in the Corinthian Church to himself, he represents the Hardships and Dangers to which he and his Brethren had been, and were, exposed in the Service of the Gospel, and the Obligations which he had in an especial Manner laid upon them; warning them not to force him upon Severities, which he was very unwilling to use. (Ver. 8, to the End.) And having thus discoursed with admirable Wisdom, Faithfulness, and Zeal, he dismisses, for the present, this Part of his Subject; which, on Account of his personal Concern in it, was attended with Circumstances of peculiar Delicacy.

The Second Topick which the Apostle considers, was the Case of a notorious Offender in the Corinthian Church, who was guilty of most scandalous Incest, with his Father's Wife. Animated therefore, with a warm Zeal for the Honour of Christ, for the Purity and Credit of the Christian Church, with a benevolent Concern for the Conviction of the Offender, and that others might be deterred from the like enormous Practices; he exhorts them, upon these Principles, to beware of all unnecessary Connection with him, and to exclude him from Christian Communion. (Chap. v. throughout.)

The Third Article, which, in this Epistle, St. Paul exhibits against the Corinthians, is, that by a covetous and litigious Temper, they were led, contrary to the Rules of Christian Prudence, and Love, and sometimes contrary even to the Principles of Justice, to prosecute their Brethren in the Heathen Courts. This he solemnly censures and condemns; and closes what he offers upon this Head, by warning them of the sad Consequences, which would attend the Indulgence of those criminal Dispositions, in which Christianity sound them, and from which it was intended to deliver them. (Chap. vi. 1,—11.)

In the Fourth Place, the Apostle Paul cautions them against the Sin of Fornication, to which they had been, in their Gentile State, greatly addicted. And it should seem, that having been formerly wont to look upon this heinous Crime as lawful, there were, even now, some among them, who reckoned it among the Things indifferent; and that they were not in general, sufficiently convinced of its Enormity. He therefore introduces what he proposed to say on this Subject, with some useful Resections on Things really indifferent, and then illustrates the heinous Evil of Fornication from Views peculiar to the Christian Religion. (Ver. 12, to the End.)

Having thus largely, and with great Faithfulness and Plainness, corrected some sad Disorders, with which the Corintbians were chargeable,

The Apostle proceeds to the other main End of his Epistle; namely, to answer certain important Questions, which, it seems, the Corintbians had proposed. And here,

He determines, First, those which related to the Marriage-State. Some Questions upon this would naturally arise among the first Converts to Christianity; as, Whether they should disown and withdraw from their Partners, if they continued Unbelievers? And, Whether it was good to marry in the present Circumstances of the Church? when the contracting new, and especially such near Alliances, in those Times of Persecution, would involve in peculiar Difficulties, those who should enter into the Marriage-Relation; which they might notwithstanding judge it proper for other Reasons to do. Now the Apostle shews at his Entrance upon this Subject, that in some Circumstances the Marriage-State should be entered into, and continued in; but in others, foreborn, particularly at that Time; and injoins Wives not to depart from their Husbands, and Husbands not to difmiss their Wives. (Chap. vii. 1,—11.) He then shews that Marriages were not to be dissolved, as some thought they might, on Account of a Difference in Religion; and very properly urges in the general, Contentment with the Stations in which they were called, and a Concern to serve God in their proper Condition, whether married or fingle, bound or free: (Ver. 12,-24.) And with Regard to fingle Persons, he afterts the Inexpediency of their marrying in the Circumstances of the Church at that Juncture, inculcating a serious Sense of the Shortness of Time, as the best Remedy against inordinate Attachment to any fecular Interest. (Ver. 25, to the End.)

A Second Query, which the Corinthians had proposed to the Apostle to be resolved, was, How far they might comply with their Heathen Neighbours in eating Things facrificed to Idols? St. Paul upon this reminds them, that though all Christians might well be supposed to know the Vanity of those imaginary Deities, to which the Sacrifices were offered; yet it might prove to some an Occasion of Grief and Scandal, that the Professors of Christianity should partake of these Sacrifices in their Temple; which therefore Charity would require them by all Means to avoid. (Chap. viii. throughout.) And having, in this Instance, urged them to a Christian Condescension to their Brethren, that he might inforce the Principle more strongly, by his own Condescension to the Weak, in waving to accept of a Maintenance from the Corintbians, he introduces what he had to fay upon this Head, with a short Discourse on the Right, which as a Gospel-minister, he really had to be supported by those among whom he laboured; which he argues both from natural Equity, and Scripture Principles: (Chap. ix. 1,—14.) He then proceeds to shew, that out of Tenderness to them, and to prevent Exceptions to the Gospel, he had waved this Right, and had been cautious upon all Occations casions to avoid Offence by exercising Self-denial, which he illustrates by a very expressive Simile, taken from those who contended in the Grecian Games, (Ver. 15, to the End.) And to recommend this Self-denial and holy Caution to the Corintbians, he represents the Priviledges, which Israel of Old enjoyed, and the Displeasure, which, notwithstanding this, God manifested against them in the Wilderness, when they indulged their irregular and luxurious Desires, and in Contempt of the Manna, lusted after Quails; an Example, proper to put the Corinthians in Mind of the Danger they run of incurring the Divine Displeasure, if they should be induced, for the Sake of gratifying a luxurious Appetite, to partake of Entertainments upon Things offered to Idols in the Heathen Temples. (Chap. x. 1,—13.) That he might therefore caution them against all Approaches to Idolatry, he particularly argues, from that Communion, which as Christians, they had with Christ at his Table, that they ought to keep at the remotest Distance from what might justly be called having Communion with Devils: (Ver. 14,-22.) After which he lays down more particular Directions, as to the Cases and Circumstances, in which Things facrificed to Idols might, or might not, lawfully be eaten; and urges further Considerations, to engage them willingly to resign their own Gratification for the Glory of God, and the Good of their Brethren, (Ver. 23, to the End. Chap. xi. 1.)

The Apostle now proceeds to a Third Query, concerning the Manner, in which Women should deliver any Thing in Publick, when by a Divine Impulse called to it. And after having settled this Point, he particularly corrects the Indecency of Women's prophecying with their Head uncovered. (Ver. 2,—16.) Being thus led to consider Circumstances, which attended the Christian Worship, he takes the Occasion naturally afforded, of introducing a Discourse upon several Abuses among them of an higher Nature, with Respect to the publick Celebration of the Lord's Supper; leading back their Views to its original Institution, and inferring from thence the Danger of profaning it, in the Manner they did. (Ver. 17. to the End.) Being thus naturally, and as it were accidentally, brought to take Notice again of the Corruptions prevailing in the Corinthian Church, the Apostle makes some Remarks upon their Abuse of the Spiritual Gifts; observing that they all proceed from the same Sacred Agent, and are intended for the Edification of the same Body, in which all Christians are united. (Chap. xii. 1,—13.) Inculcating Humility in the Use of those Gifts, and that mutual Affection, which the Corinthians needed to be taught, he pursues the Allegory further, and represents Christians as so united in one Body, as to have entirely the same Interest, and infists on a tender Care of the least Member, from its Subserviency to the Good of the Whole. (Ver. 15, to the End.) And to engage the Corinthians to cultivate Love, as more important than the Gifts, about which they contended, he gives a lovely Description of that excellent Grace; con-VOL. IV. cluding cluding it with a Reflection on its perpetual Duration, in which it exceeds even Faith and Hope. (Chap. xiii. throughout.) After thus inculcating Charity and Love, a Grace which they needed much, to adorn their Christian Profession, and direct the Exercise of their Spiritual Gists, the Apostle particularly cautions them against their prevailing vain Ostentation of the Gist of Tongues, and reasons with them concerning the Absurdity of the Manner, in which they, some of them at least, abused that Gist: (Chap. xiv. 1,—19.) And adds, upon the whole, proper Motives to prevent that Abuse. (Ver. 20, to the End.)

Some among the Corinthians doubted, and others denied, the Refurrection of the Dead. To prove and establish therefore this great and peculiar Article of the Christian Faith, the Apostle Paul makes some Remarks on the Certainty and Importance of the Resurrection of Christ: (Chap. xv. 1,—11.) And infers from the Resurrection of Christ, the Certainty of the Resurrection of the Dead; urging the Importance of this grand sundamental Doctrine of Christianity, and mentioning in the Series of his Argument, that Surrender of the Mediatorial Kingdom, which Christ at the Consummation of all Things shall make to the Father. (Ver. 12,—34.) After which, he answers Objections to the Resurrection, drawn from our not being able to conceive of the particular Manner, in which it shall be effected; and concludes with urging this Doctrine, as a noble Incentive to the greatest Readiness, and the warmest Zeal in Religion. (Ver. 25, to the End.)

This is the Connection of the several Parts of this excellent Epistle, and a Sketch of the Apostle's Design; which was to correct the Corruptions and Abuses, and answer some Queries, of the Corinthian Church. And though he hath not throughout discussed these two Points separately, and with the Exactness of Systematical Method; yet he hath handled his Subject in a more natural Manner, and given a masterly Specimen of the Freedom usual in Epistolary Writings.—Before he concludes, he gives some Advices to the Corinthian Church, relating to the Collection proposed to be made for the poor Saints in Judea: (Chap. xvi. 1,—12.) And then closes all, with some particular Salutations and Directions, with general Exhortations to Courage and Love, a solemn Benediction to true Christians, and an awful Anathema against those, who were destitute of Love to our Lord Jesus Christ. (Ver. 13, to the End of the Epistle.)

PARAPHRASE

A N D

N O T E S

ON THE

FIRST EPISTLE

TO THE CORINTHIANS.

SECT. I.

The Apostle introduces his Epistle with a most affectionate and suitable Salutation, in which, he congratulates the Corinthians on the rich Variety of Gifts and Graces, which GOD had bestowed upon them; and animates their Hope of his continued Favour in the Lord Jesus Christ, even till the Day of his sinal Appearance. I Cor. I. 1,---9.

1 CORINTHIANS I. I.

i Corinthians I. 1.

PAUL called to be an Apostle of Jesus Christ, through the Will of God, and

PAUL, who was in so peculiar a Manner Sect. 1. called [to be] an Apostle (a) of Jesus Christ, not undertaking that Office of himself, but invested with it by the most express Declaration of the Will of GOD, signified at the Time of that

(a) Called [to be] an Apostle.] There is great Propriety in every Clause of the Salutation prefixed to this Epistle; and particularly in this, as there were those in the Church of Corinth, who affected to call the Authority of his Mission into Question.

D d 2

(b) Sosthenes.

(b) Sosthepes.]

Sect. 1. that miraculous Interpolition, of which you have and Softhenes our Brofo often heard; and Softhenes (b), fo well known

1 Cor. 1. 1. unto you, whom I esteem as a dear Brother; 2 concur in writing this Epistle, To the Church of GOD, which is in the rich, populous, and learned City of Corinth, whose chief Glory it is that they, (if they are what their Christian Profession speaks them to be,) are fanctified in vital Union with Christ Jesus (c), as well as called with an external Vocation, by which they are separated from the rest of the World [as] the Saints of God. And when we express our affectionate Regard to you, and our good Wishes for your Edification and Comfort, we extend them to all, that in every Place (d) invoke the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ (e', whom we, and all true Christians, join in acknowledging and adoring as their [Lord | and ours. May you experimentally know more of the Priviledges and Bleffings of his Gospel; and for that Purpose, [may] Grace and Peace [be] with you, that Abundance of Divine Influence, which may establish your Peace and multiply your Prosperity; even from GOD the original Fountain of all Bleffings, whom we are now taught to look upon as our reconciled and gracious Father, and [from] Jesus Christ our Lord, that anointed and exalted Saviour, by whom ther;

2 Unto the Church of God which is at Corinth, to them that are fanclified in Christ Jesus, called to be Saints, with all that in every Place call upon the Name of Jesus Christ our Lord. both theirs and ours.

· 3 Grace be unto you, and Peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jefus Christ:

(b) Softhenes.] This was a Corinthian Minister, who attended Paul in his Travels. Compare Acts xviii. 17. It was both Humility and Prudence in the Apofile, thus to join his Name with his own, in an Epifle, in which it was necessary, to deal so plainly with them, and to remonstrate against so many Irregularities.

(c) Santlified in Christ Jesus.] I cannot agree with Mr. Locke, in concluding, that this must fignify only an external Separation to the Profession of the true Religion, as the Jews were externally a holy People, I Pet. ii. 8, 9, 10. It feems rather to intimate the Persuasion, which he had, that notwithstanding some lamented Irregularities among them, which he was faithfully folicitous to reform, they were in the general, a Body of fincere Christians, and the Exceptions comparatively few.

(d) With all that in every Place, &c.] Nothing could better fuit the candid and catholick Views, which Paul was so much concerned to promote in this Epistle, than this Declaration of his good Wishes for every true Christian upon Earth, whether Jew, or Gentile, Learned, or Unlearned, Greek, or Barbarian. To limit it, as Grotius, L'Enfant, and some others, would do, to the Christians in Achaia, is to spoil all the Strength and Beauty of the

(e) Invoke the Name, &c.] This strongly implies, that it might well be taken for granted, that every true Christian would often pray to (brist, as well as address the Father in his Name. (f) That

4 I thank my God always on your Behalf for the Grace of God, which is given you by Jesus Christ;

5 That in every Thing ye are enriched by him, in all Utterance, and in all Knowledge:

6 Even as the Testimony of Christ was confirmed in you.

7 So that ye come behind in no Gift; waiting for the Coming of our Lord Jesus Christ:

8 Who shall also confirm you unto the End, that ye may be blameless in the Day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 God is faithful, by fus Christ (b).

we receive the Adoption, and thro' whose Hands Sect. 1. all its Blessings are communicated to us.

I cannot address you, my dear Brethren, without affuring you in the first Place, that I always give humble Thanks to my GOD on your Account, whenever I mention you before him in Prayer, as I frequently do, for the abundant Grace of GOD given unto you in Christ Jesus; by Virtue of which you have been received into the Christian Church, and are made Ornaments to For ever adored be his holy Name, that 5 in all Things, ye are inriched in him (f), with a Variety of Gifts and Graces, and particularly, that ye are made copious in all Utterance, and ready [in] all Knowledge of Spiritual and Divine Things; As the Testimony which I bore to 6. the Gospel of Christ, when I abode so long at Corinth, was confirmed among you (g) by fuch various Communications of the Spirit, in Consequence of which you became living Witnesses of it to all, who knew you. So that you are deficient in no Gift, which can render you useful in his Church, while you are waiting for the Glorious Manifestation of our Lord Jesus Christ, in Connection with which, I hope, you will always confider this extraordinary Furniture for his Service, and improve it so, as to advance your Preparation for that Day: Still keeping up an humble Dependance on him, who if you faithfully apply to him for the continued Communication of his almighty Aid, will confirm you to the End; [fo that] when so many others shall be condemned, [ye may be] presented blameless and irreproachable, in the great Day of our Lord Je-Fear not, my Brethren, but o

(f) That ye are inriched, &c.] These respectful Congratulations, and Acknowledgments of the Things, in which they did really excel, had a most happy Tendency to soften their Minds; and to dispose them the better, to receive the plain reproofs he was going to give them, and which, in their Circumstances, faithful Love extorted from him.

(g) Confirmed among you.] As they could not but know they had received these Gifts by the Hand of Paul, this Expression suggests a rational and tender Argument, to reduce them to their former Affection to him as their sortiual Father.

to their former Affection to him as their spiritual Father.

(b) [That ye may be] blameless, &c.] I think, it would make a very low Sense of this,

Sect. 1. this blessed Day will come, and bring with it those Glories, which we have so long been taught to expect. Fear not, but Divine Grace will still be essectual to bear you thro' all Dissiculties in your Way to it: For GOD [is] faithful, by whom you were called into the Communion, and Society of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, that you may participate of the Blessings he hath purchased; the grand Promises of whose Kingdom, ye know, in the affured Expectation of it.

refer to that illustrious Day, of which I have been speaking. Be therefore couragious and chearful whom ye were called unto the Fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord,

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 1. E T us remember, that we also are fanctified in Christ, and Saints by our Calling. Tho' we are not inriched with such extraordinary Endowments, as those, which were bestowed upon this Primitive Corin-

Ver. 2. thian Church, we call on the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ; and let it be considered, as a Band of Love to all those, who join with us to acknowledge him under the Character of their Lord, and their Saviour.

Ver. 3- Let it engage us to pray, that the same Grace and Peace may be with them from GOD our Father, and from Christ Jesus our common Lord, which we wish for ourselves.

Ver. 4, &c. Let our Hearts be ever open to such noble Sentiments of Christian Love; not envying the Gifts or Endowments of others, but rather rejoicing in them, blessing God for them, and praying that they may be

Ver. 6. largely increased; that so the Testimony of Christ may be consisted, by the flourishing State of Religion among his Followers; than which no Confirmation will probably carry a stronger and more affecting conviction, into the Hearts of those who observe it.

Ver. 7. To quicken us to this, let us be continually waiting for the Revelation of Jesus Christ; thinking seriously, how certainly, and how quickly, he will be revealed from Heaven, to bring us, and all our Brethren, to an Account for the Improvement we make of the various Favours he hath

Ver. 9. conferred upon us; of which, furely to be called into the Fellowship of Christ, and the Participation of Spiritual Blessings by him, is to be reck-oned among the Chief.

Let

to explain it, as some have done, that they would be preserved, if blameless: The Apostle plainly intends to encourage their Hope in that Grace, which might enable them so to persevere, that they might be found blameless.

Let us rejoice in the Fidelity of those Promises, which encourage us Sect. 1. to hope, that he whose Grace hath called us to a Participation of the Gospel, will confirm us blameless, even until the Day of Christ: And, as Ver. 8. we have such Prospects of present Support and Comfort, and of final and compleat Salvation from him; let us like this bleffed Apostle, take a Pleasure in sounding forth his Name, and in keeping up a most affectionate Remembrance of him, even of Jesus Christ our Lord and our Sa- Ver. 1,-9. viour, in our own Minds, and in those of our Christian Brethren.

SECT. II.

The Apostle expresses his great Concern on Account of the Factions in the Church of Corinth, of which he had been informed; and expostulates with them, as to the Unreasonableness of setting up Christian Ministers as Heads of Parties, when they were under such strong Engagements to unite in Christ, as their common Saviour and Master. 1 Cor. I. 10, --- 16.

I CORINTHIANS I. 10.

YOW I beseech you, Brethren, by the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the fame Thing, and that there be no Divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same Mind, and in the same Judgmerut.

I Corinthians I. 10.

I NOW hasten to the great Things, which Sect. 2. ▲ I have in View in this Address to you: And I must first of all beseech, as well as exhort you, my Brethren, by the venerable and endearing Name of our Lord Jesus Christ (a), as you defire, either to secure his Favour, or to advance his Cause and Interest in the World, that ye all endeavour so far as possible to speak the same Thing, that is, that you do not unnecessarily and unkindly contradict each other, but rather maintain a peaceful unanimous Temper; [that] there may be no Schisms among you, nor mutual Alienation of Affection; but [that] re be all knit together, in the same Mind, and in the same Sentiment:

I Cor. I. 10.

(a) By the venerable and endearing Name of our Lord Jesus Christ. This is beautifully and properly opposed to the various human Names, under which they were so ready to list themselves.

Digitized by Google

(b) In

IO,

Sect. 2. timent (b); waving unnecessary Controversies, debating those which are necessary with Temper I Cor. I. and Candor, and delighting to speak most concerning those great and excellent Things, in which as Christians you cannot but be agreed, and which, if duely confidered, will cement your Hearts to each other in the strictest and most tender Bonds.

> I urge this with the greater Earnestness, be-11 cause it hath been certified to me, my Brethren, concerning you, by those of Chloe's [Family] (c), that there are some Contentions among you, which by no Means become the Relation, wherein you stand to each other, and the Regard which you profess to the Gospel of Christ.

Now this I say and mean by the preceding Charge, that, if my Information be right, there are among you various Parties, which avowedly set themselves up, as under different Heads, tho' you are not yet come to an open Separation; fo that every one of you lists himself under one or another of those dividing Names, which are so unhappily used among you on this Occasion. One, for Instance, fays, I am for Paul, admiring the Plainness and Purity of his Doctrine; and a Second, I am for Apollos, charmed with the Eloquence and Beauty of his Address; and a Third, I am for Cephas, the Apostle of the Circumcifion, who may be well called a Foundation-stone in the Church, as he maintains so strict a Regard to the Mosaick Ceremonies, and the peculiar Priviledges of God's ancient People; while a Fourth fays, I am for Christ (d), whose fuperior

II For it hath been declared unto me of you, my Brethren, by them which are of the House of Chloe, that there are Contentions among you.

12 Now this I say, that every one of you faith, I am of Paul, and I am of Apollos, and I of Cephas, and I of Christ.

(c) Those of Chloe's [Family.] Grotius supposes Fortunatus, and Achaicus, (mentioned Chap. xvi. 17.) to have been her Sons. (d) I am for Christ. They might perhaps, be displeased with Peter, for his Condescension ⁽b) In the same Mind, and the same Sentiment. It was morally impossible, considering the Diversity of their Educations and Capacities, that they should all agree in Opinion; nor could he intend that, because he does not urge any Argument to reduce them to such an Agreement, nor fo much as declare, what that one Opinion was, in which he would have them agree. The Words must therefore express that peaceful and unanimous Temper, which Christians of different opinions may and ought to maintain towards each other; which will do a much greater Honour to the Gospel, and to human Nature, than the most perfect Uniformity that can be imagined.

fuperior Name, and strict Observation of the Sect. 2. Mosaick Law in his own Person, unanswerably testify its perpetual Obligation; however any of 1 Cor. I. his Ministers may regard, or neglect it.

13 Is Christ divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were ye baptized in the Name of Paul?

Give me leave now to ask, Is Christ divided into as many Parties, as you are split into, so that each has a distinct Saviour; or is he become only the Head of one Party of his Followers, that his Name should thus be appropriated by Way of Distinction, as if it were to exclude all the rest of his Disciples from any Relation to him? And on the other Hand, (not to introduce the Name of my honoured and beloved Brethren upon this invidious Occasion,) was this Paul, whom fome of you so much extol, crucified for you (e)? Or were you baptized into the Name of Paul; that you should thus affect to wear it as a Mark of Distinction? Since there have been these unhappy Divisions in your Society, and my Name, among others, has been made Use of to such a Purpose; I thank God, that it so happened in the Course of his Providence, that I baptized none of you, except Crispus, once the Ruler of the Synagogue, and my worthy Friend, the hospitable Lest any should have a Pretence to say, Gaius. tho' ever so falsely, that I made the Waters of Baptism, Waters of Strife; and bad baptized into my own Name (f), or in a View of particular and personal Attachment to myself; to the Injury of my Brethren, or of the Church in general. I remember, that I baptized also the Family of 16 Stephanas, the First-fruits of Achaia; and I know not, whether I baptized any other (g).

14 I thank God that I baptized none of you, but Crifus and Gaius:

15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized in my own Name.

r6 And I baptized also the Household of Stephanas: Besides, I know not whether I baptized any other.

cension to the Uncircumcised at Antioch, (Gal. ii. 12.) which happened long before the Date of this Epistle; and might also, as L'Enfant intimates, have valued themselves on having heard Christ preach in his own Person, during the Time of his Ministration on Earth.

(e) Was Paul crucified for you?] As if he had faid, are your Obligations to me equal, or comparable to those, you are under to our common Master, to him who died for us upon the Cross? He mentions himself, as it was least invidious to do it; tho' the Application was equally just, as to every other Instance. Compare Chap. iii. 6.

(f) Lest any should say, I baptized into my own Name.] If any should object, that others might do it for him; it may be answered, that Paul's Attendants, (who seem to have been Timothy and Silas, Asts xviii. 5. 2 Cor. i. 19.) were Persons of an established Character, so as to be above such Suspicion; that Baptism was probably administered too openly to allow of this; and that the Apostle herein does, as it were, appeal to the baptized Persons themselves, challenging any one of them all to say, that the Ordinance was administered to him in Paul's Name.

(g) I know not, whether I have baptized any other.] This Expression of Uncertainty as to Vol. IV.

E e such

I Cor. I. 17.

Sect. 2. And indeed, it might very naturally happen, that I should baptize only these few; for Christ fent me not so much to baptize; which was an Office that others, of a much inferior Rank in the Ministry, might as well perform; but to preach the Gospel, and thereby to bring Persons to that Faith, which would intitle them to this appropriate Ordinance of Christianity. bless God with all my Heart, that I have been enabled to do it with fuch Simplicity, Fidelity, and Success.

17 For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel: .

IMPROVEMENT.

HILE we live in the midst of so much Darkness, and continue obnoxious to so many Prejudices and Errors, it will be abfolutely impossible for us, so to speak the same Thing, and so perfectly to be joined in the same Mind and Judgment, as that there should be no Diversity of Opinion, or Expression. But let us labour to obey the Apolle's pathetick Exhortation, so far as the Imperfection of this mortal State may admit. Let us be intreated in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that venerable, that endeared, that sacred Name, that there be no Schism among us, no mutual Hatred or Animosity, no uncharitable Contentions, no severe Censures of each other. And as we defire that there may not, let us take Care, that we do not impose upon our Brethren indifferent Things as necessary; and thereby drive them into a Separation for Conscience Sake; and tempt them, at the same Time, by our ill Usage, to that Bitterness of Resentment, which would make them, what the mere Separation would not, Transgressors of this Precept; and us, Partakers in their Sins.

> On the other Hand, let none of us be disposed to dispute merely for the Sake of disputing, nor unnecessarily oppose the Judgment or Taste of out > fuch a Fact, is by no Means inconsistent with Inspiration, in that View and Notion of it, which I have endeavoured to flate and vindicate in my Discourse on that Subject, annexed to the Third Volume of this Work. I can by no Means think, with Bishop Burnet, that the Reason, why Paul baptized so few, was, because Baptism was delayed, till some considerable Time after Conversion to Christianity, and that the Apostle did not stay so long in a Place as to do it; (Burnet on the Articles, Art. xxvii. pag. 304. Edit. 1699.) for it does not appear to me, that Baptism, in these earliest and purest Ages, was long delayed; and 'tis certain, that this Cause could not take Place bere, as Paul continued at Corinth 18 Months. I rather think, the Office was generally affigned to Inferiors, as requiring no extraordinary Abilities, and as being attended with some Trouble and Inconvenience, especially where Immersion was used, as I suppose it often, the not constantly, was.

our Brethren, out of an Affectation of Singularity, or Spirit of Conten- Sect. 2. tion. But let us rather labour, fo far as with a safe Conscience we can, to keep the Unity of the Spirit in the Bond of Peace. And while we do this, if our Brethren will exact fuch Submissions from us, as they are not warranted by God to require, and as we cannot in Conscience pay, let us follow Conscience whithersoever it leads us; taking all necessary Care, that it be rightly guided; and if in that Circumstance, our Brethren will cast us out, and say, let the Lord be glorified; and if to the rest of their Unkindness, they will add the farther Injury of branding us with the odious Names of Schismaticks, or of Hereticks; let it be a light Thing to us, to be judged of Man's Judgment. Let us not render Railing for Railing, nor Injury for Injury, but rather, by our Meekness, endeavour to overcome their Severity; and wait for that happy Time, when more of the Spirit of Knowledge and of Charity, shall dispose them to throw down those middle Walls of Partition, by which the Temple of GOD is straitned and defaced, and the Convenience, the Symmetry, and Grandeur of its original Plan, so lamentably spoiled. Above all, let us wait that Day, when the Secrets of all Hearts shall be made manifest; and that World, where they, who love the Lord Jesus Christ in Sincerity, shall retain no Remembrance of the Controversies, that once divided them; unless it be to ballance the Alienations of Time with the Endearments of Eternity.

In the mean while, let us avoid, as much as possible, a Party-Spirit; and not be fond of lifting ourselves under the Name of this, or that Man, how wise, how good, how great soever. For surely if the Names of Ver. 12, 13. Peter, and Paul, were in this View to be declined, much more are those, which in these latter Days, have so unhappily crumbled the Christian and Protestant Interest, and have given such sad Occasion to our Enemies to reproach us. Christ is not divided; nor were Luther, or Calvin, or even Peter, or Paul, crucified for us; nor were we baptized into any of their Names.

Happy shall that Disciple of our compassionate Lord be, whom he shall most eminently own in bealing the Breaches, which the Artifices of the Tempter, too often abetted by the Infirmities of Christ's faithful Servants, have already made in the Church, and which the great Enemy is continually endeavouring to multiply, and to widen! Happy he, who reverencing and loving his Master's Image where-ever he sees it, shall teach others to do so too! And who, being himself an Example of yielding, so far as he conscientiously can, and of not taking upon him to cenfure others, where he cannot yield to them, shall do his Part towards cementing, in the Bonds of holy Love, all the Children of God, and the Members of Christ! How unsuccessful soever his Efforts may be, amidst that angry and contentious, that ignorant and bigotted Croud,

E e 2

220 St. Paul had not preached the Gospel with the Wisdom of Words;

Sect. 2. who miscal themselves Christians; or by whatever suspicious and reproachful Names his Moderation may be stigmatized; his Divine Master will neither fail to consider it in its true View, nor to honour it with proportionable Tokens of his Acceptance and Favour. Love is the first and greatest of his Commands; and after all the Clamour that has been made about Notions and Forms, he who practices and teaches Love best, shall be greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven.

SECT. III.

The Apostle, knowing that a fond Regard to Eloquence and Philosophy, to which some of their Teachers made high Pretensions, was one great Occasion of their Divisions, sets himself to shew, how little Stress was to be laid upon them; which he illustrates by the Choice, which GOD had made of Gospel-Preachers, quite destitute of those Accomplishments. I Cor. I. 17, to the End.

1 Corinthians I. 17.

JUST now told you, that Christ did not fend me to haptize, as my principal Business, but rather to preach the Gospel (a); and now I must add, that in the Commission which I had the Honour to receive from him, he did not instruct me to preach it with those philosophical Niceties of Expression, or laboured Rhetorick.

Niceties of Expression, or laboured Rhetorick, which many are so ready to esteem, as the Wisdom of Words; lest if I had attended to these little Things, the Cross of Christ should have been deprived of its just Honours, and so have been enervated, and rendered vain (b). For this must have

i Corinthians I. 17.

POR Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel: Not with Wisdom of Words, lest the Cross of Christ should be made of none Effect.

⁽a) Baptize, but to preach.] As I knew not how to avoid the Repetition of this Clause, without prolonging the former Section beyond due Bounds, or making an improper Divifion; I hope the Reader will excuse it, and a few other Instances of this Kind which will occur.

⁽b) Should have been enervated, or rendered vain. If the Destrine of the Crucifixion of the Son

Sect. 3.

I Cor. I.

17.

have been the natural Consequence, when Men Saw one, who pretended to know so much, and to have received such extraordinary Discoveries of the Gospel, and of. Christ crucified as its great Foundation, seeming not so much to trust to the grand important Facts he averred, as to artificial Reasonings, or Ornaments of Speech, in his Manner of representing them to the World.

18 For the Preaching of the Cross is to them that perish, Foolishness: But unto us which are saved, it is the Power of God,

I might well be cautious on this Head; for the Doctrine of the Cross is indeed Folly, with Respect to the Judgment of them that are perishing; to wretched Creatures, who are in the Way to be for ever undone. They, in that fatal Madness, which leads them to speedy Ruin, think it a ridiculous and mean Thing, to expect Salvation from one, who feemed unable to fave himfelf; and Glory from one that expired in Ignominy. But to us, who are faved from the Contagion of so wicked an Age, and are in the Way to everlasting Salvation, it is a most illustrious Display of the Power of GOD, to the noblest Purposes our Minds can conceive. For it is written, and the Words are remarkably applicable to this great Event, (Ifai. xxix. 14.) Fwill destroy the Wisdom of the Wise, and abolish the Sagacity of the Prudent; thus hath God, by this Dispensation, poured Confusion on human Wit and Learning, Eloquence and Philosophy: that, in Allusion to other Words of the same Prophet, we may fay (c), (Ifai. xxxiii. 18.) Where [is] the celebrated Sage, whose wife Counsel and penetrating 19 For it is written, I will destroy the Wisdom of the Wise, and will bring to nothing the Understanding of the Prudent.

20 Where is the Wife? Where ef GOD for the Sins of Men be indeed true, it is undoubtedly a Truth of the highest Importance, and it might reasonably be expected, that a Person, who had been instructed in it by such extraordinary Methods, should appear to lay the main Stress of his Preaching upon it. The Design of this wonderful Dispensation might therefore have been in a great Measure srustated, if it had been the Care of the first Preachers of it, and particularly of Paul, to study a vain Parade of Words, and to set off their Discourses with those glittering Ornaments which the Grecian Orators so often sought, and which the Corinthians were so ready to affect. But amidst all the beautiful Simplicity, which a deep Conviction of the Gospel tended to produce, there was Room left for the most manly and noble Kind of Eloquence; which therefore the Christian Preacher should labour to make habitual to him, and of which this Apostle himself is a most illustrious Example.

(c) In Allusion to other Words of the same Prophet we may say.] I think it would be a very unnecessary Labour, to endeavour to prove that these Words are an exact Translation of the Passage referred to; or to show that Passage to be a Prophecy of the Success of the Gespek.

Digitized by Google

18.

9

20:

Sect. 3.
1 Cor. I.
20.

penetrating Genius, have been held in greatest Esteem? Where the learned Scribe? Where the ostentatious Disputer of this World (d), who hath been most admired for the Subtilty of his Reasoning, and Accuracy of his Distinctions? As God of Old delivered his People, in Spite of all the proud Preparations, and infolent Boastings, of the Assyrians, not by their own Counsels or Arms, but by his almighty Power; so doth he now conduct his grand Design for the immortal Happiness of his Chosen. Look upon the Difpensation of the Gospel as now administered, and fay, hath not GOD made the Wisdom of this World appear to be foolish, and vain, when the highest Results of it are compared with those great Effects which he knows how to produce without it, and even in Opposition to it all. For it is indeed so: Since in the Wisdom of GOD, in the Midst of the most stupendous Displays of the Divine Wisdom, with which they were always furrounded, the World, by all the Improvements of its boasted Wisdom, knew not the living and true GOD, but run into the wildest and most absurd Sentiments that can be imagined concerning Deity; (some of them absolutely de-

Where is the Scribe? Where is the Disputer of this World? Hath not God made foolish the Wisdom of this World.

21 For after that, in the Wifdom of GoD, the World by Wifdom knew not

The Context in Isaiah, xxxiii. refers to the Deliverance of Judea from Sennacherih; and the 18th Verse describes the Jews as reviewing and meditating on the Terror, into which they had been thrown; and then crying out in a noble Exultation over all the bassled Schemes of the Enemy; Where is the Scribe, that mustered the Forces? Where the Receiver, or Paymaster, who distributed Money or Stores among them? Where the Engineer, that counted the Towers, to determine where the Attack might most conveniently be made? In a bold and beautiful Allusion to, and Imitation of these Words, tho' with very different Ideas, the Apostle proceeds, in the animated Clause that follows, to triumph over the Oppositions of human Science in its various Forms, when levelled against God's vistorious Gospel.

nying

(d) Sage, Scribe, Disputer.] Notwithstanding all the learned Pains, which Dr. Fuller, in his Miscellanies, (Lib. III. Cap. 7.) or Godwin, in his Hebrew Antiquities, (Lib. II. Cap. 6.) have taken to prove, that these three Words refer to three Orders of learned Men among the Jews,—the natural Philosopher, and the Literal, and the Allegorical Interpreter of Scripture; I rather think the Apostle meant to include Persons most eminent for their Learning and Sagacity, whether among Jews, or Gentiles. The Sages of the latter, and Scribes of the sormer, are well known; and the Disputer of the Age may include such of both, as, proud of their natural Sagacity, were fond of engaging in Controversies, and fancied they could consulte every Adversary. If, as Mr. Locks supposes, the chief Leader of the Faction against St. Paul, (whom that learned and ingenious Writer stiles the sales Apostle,) called himself a Scribe, there will be a peculiar Propriety in the Use of the Word here; but without that Supposition, it might easily be understood by the Corintbians, who had so considerable a Synagogue of Jews among them.

(e) The

r Cor. I.

21.

not Gon, it pleased Gon by the Foolishness of Preaching to fave them that believe.

nying it, and others representing it under the Sect. 3. most monstrous Notions and Forms;) when this I say was generally the Case, it pleased GOD, by that which they have impiously ridiculed as the most egregious Folly of Preaching, by Preaching, which is indeed destitute of all the Wisdom of which they boast, to fave Multitudes: And those, not such as are the most artful Cavillers, or the most sagacious Reasoners; but those that with honest Simplicity and Plainness of Heart, believe what is credibly testified to them, and taught by a superior Authority.

22 For the Jews require a Sign, and the Greeks seek after Wildom:

23 But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a Stumbling-block, and unto the Greeks Foolishness;

For whereas the Jews demand a Sign (e) from 22 Heaven to introduce a Messiah, who shall establish a temporal Kingdom, victorious over all their Enemies; and the Greeks seek a Depth of Wisdom and Philosophy, or the Ornaments of Eloquence, and Charms of Address; nevertheless, conscious of our high Commission, and faithful to our important Trust, without regarding at all the unreasonable and petulant Demands of either, go on plainly to preach Christ crucified; to the Yews indeed a Stumbling-block (f), being most directly contrary to all their secular Expectations; and Foolishness in the Abstract to the Greeks (g), who treat it as a low and idle Tale, hardly

(e) The Jews demand a Sign, &c.] When we consider how many Miracles were continually wrought by, and upon the first Preachers and Converts of Christianity; this may seem an astonishing Demand; but from a memorable Passage in Josephus, in which he speaks of an Impostor, promising his Followers to shew them a Sign of their being set at Liberty from the Roman Yoke, compared with their requiring from Christ, amidst the full Torrent of his Miracles, a Sign from Heaven; I am led to conclude, that the Sense given in the Paraphrase is the genuine Interpretation of this much controverted Passage. See the Paraphrase and Note on Mat. xii. 38. Vol. I. pag. 383. and Mat. xvi. 1. pag. 537.

(f) To the Jews indeed a Stumbling-block.] 'Tis well known, that nothing exposed Christianity more to the Contempt of the Jews, than the Doctrine of the Cross; they therefore called Christ in Derission, 17 Tokin, the Man that was hanged, that is, on the Cross; and Christians, עברי תלוי Abde Tolvi, the Disciples of the crucified Malefactor; and by a Paranomasia, or malignant playing on the Word, they called sury און גלן, און גלן איניעל איניעל a Revelation of Vanity. See Leigh's Critica Sacra in Loc. (g) To the Greeks Fooliffness. It is well known, how profanely Lucian insults the Chriftians, on worthipping a erucified Impostor; and many of the Fathers speak of the same Reproach. Archbishop Tillotson appears to have given Credit to the Charge brought against the Jesuits, who, to avoid the like Offence of the Chinese, denied that Chryse was crucified, and represented it, as an Invention of the Jews to asperle Christianity. Tilletjon's Works, Vol. iii. pag. 284.

24.

26

Sect. 3. hardly worth the least Degree of Notice: Butto these who are by Divine Grace effectually called, both fews and Greeks, Christ, amidst all the Difhonours of his Crofs, is known and acknowledged, as the Power of GOD, and the Wisdom of GOD; to the converted Jews his Mission is confirmed by miraculous Evidence, and the Accomplishment of Prophecies, far more important than any Event which their carnal Brethren expect; and the believing Gentile finds it infinitely fuller of Divine Wisdom and Goodness to a lost World, than any System of Philosophy, that 25 was ever invented. And well may they thus judge, because what the World profanely censures as a Folly most unworthy of GOD (b), is, and in its Effects appears to be, incomparably wifer, than all the Projects which the Wit of Men can devise; and what it impiously insults, as the Weakness of Christian Teachers, which it charges them with falfely ascribing to GOD, being really his ownWork, will be found to be fironger than all > necessary Consequence of its being indeed Divine. And for the farther Illustration of this Thought, let me call you to behold, and feriously to contemplate, your Calling (i), Brethren; confider the State of your Fellow-Christians in general, and even of those, who are employed as Ministers of the Gospel, and you will perceive, [there are] not many wife according to the Flesh, according to these Maxims, which a sensual World governs itself by, in its principles of secu-the Efforts which Men can make, either to reform the World any other Way, or to obstruct the Prevalency and Success of this: And this is the 24 But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the Power of God, and the Wildom of Gon.

25 Because the Foolishness of God is wiser than Men; and the Weakness of God is stronger than Men.

26 For ye fee your Calling, Brethren, how that not many wise Men after the Flesh,

(h) The Folly of GOD, &c.] As it is absolutely impossible, that there should be either Folly or Weakness in God, so it is certain, that the World did not in general believe that there was; and consequently these strong Phrases, must be used in a very peculiar Sense, and must mean that Scheme, which was really his, tho' the World, for Want of Understanding it, represented it as Weakness and Folly unworthy of God.

(i) Your Calling.] L'Enfant renders it, those among you, who are called; which, with many other Passages in this Version, retains the Sense, but departs from the Exactness of St. Paul's Expression.

(k) Things

27.

Flesh, not many Mighty, not many Noble are called.

27 But God hath chofen the foolish Things of the World, to confound the Wise; and Gop hath chosen the weak Things of the World to confound the Things which are mighty;

28 And base Things of the World, and Things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and Things which are not, to bring to nought Things that are:

29 That no Flesh should glory in his Presence.

30 But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us Wisdom, and Righteousness, and Sanctification, and Redemption:

lar Policy, there are not many mighty Heroes Sect. 2. renowned for their martial Courage, there are not r Cor. I. many of noble Birth and illustrious Rank among Men, to be found on their List. But GOD, hath chosen those, that are reputed the foolish Things of the World, that he may shame the wife Men, of whom it is most ready to boast; and the weak Things of the World, who pretend to no extraordinary Strength or Valour, bath GOD chosen, that he may, by their heroick Patience under the severest Sufferings, shame its mighty Things, which have never been able with all their boasted Fierceness to equal that meek Fortitude, with which we trace the Footsteps of the Lamb of God: ignoble Things of the World hath GOD chosen, and Things most commonly and scornfully set at nought (k) among Men; yea, and Things, which are not (1) in the least regarded, but overlooked, as if they had no being, and were below Contempt itself, hath God chosen, that he may abolish and annihilate Things, that are in the highest Esteem, and make the most illustrious Figure among the Children of Men; That his great End of humbling us might be more effectually fecured, and that no Flesh might boast of any Advantages or Distinctions in bis Presence. on the whole, all we have, that is worth mentioning, we receive from Christ; and we receive it from him as the Gift of God, fince it is of him, and his free Mercy and Grace, that ye are called to share in the Blessings given by Christ Jefus his Son. He exhibits this bleffed Saviour to us, and disposes our Hearts to accept of him, who amidst our Ignorance and Folly, is made of GOD unto us a Source of Wisdom; and through him, guilty as we are, we receive Righteousness; polluted as we are, we obtain Sanctification; and inflaved

(k) Things fet at nought.] Agreeable to this, the Danish Missionaries tell us, that most of the Malabarian Converts were the poorest of the People; the Poets and Wits, who valued themselves upon their Genius, Learning, and Politeness, despising the Gospel, and doing their utmost to oppose its Progress. See Nieuchamp's excellent History of this important

(1) Things, which are not.] Dr. Whithy shews here, how well this represents the supream Contempt, in which the Jews held the Gentiles. Compare Deut. xxxii. 21. Ifai. xl. 17. Vol. IV. (m) Wildom, Sect. 3. inflived as we naturally are to the Power of our Lusts, and the Dominion of Satan, we obtain by him compleat Redemption (m). So that we may now indeed boast of our happy Change, in whatever Point of Light it be considered; but it is a Boast not of insolent Presumption, but humble Gratitude; as it is written, (Jerem. ix. 23, 24. Isai. lxv. 16.) "He that boasteth, let him boast

" in the Lord, and in this, that he knoweth me,

31 That, according as it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord.

" who exercise loving Kindness, Judgment, and "Righteousness on the Earth."

IMPROVEMENT.

AY Divine Grace form the Taste of Ministers, and their Hearers more to this Doctrine of Christ crucified! May he every: where be preached; and that be accounted the truest Wisdom of Words, by which bis Cross may become most efficacious. There cannot be surely Ver. 17. a more evident Demonstration of Folly, or a more dreadful Token of approaching Ruin, than despring the Wisdom of GOD, and the Power of Ver. 18. GOD. If we are ever shaken by that Contempt for the Gospel, which fo many are continually ready, in our Age, to express; let us recollect, what glorious Effects it hath produced; whilft, in the midst of such Illustrations of the Wisdom of GOD, the World by all its Wisdom, knew not Ver. 21. its Maker; how many Believers have been faved, how many by believing are daily brought into the Way of Salvation? In this View let us triumphantly say, where is the Wise, the Scribe, the Disputer of this World: Ver. 20. What has Wisdom, Learning, Disputation done, in Comparison of what the plain and simple Doctrine of a crucified Saviour has wrought, and is continually working? Let us earnestly pray, that God would, by the Power of his Grace, disperse the Prejudices of Men; that the Yews may not so demand a Sign, as that Christ crucified should be a Stumbling-Ver. 23. block to them, nor the most learned of the Gentiles so seek after Science, as that the Wisdom of GOD should seem Foolishness to them; but that Ver. 24. both may join in feeling, and owning, how Divinely wife, and how Divinely powerful, the Dispensation of the Gospel is. Let us not be offended with our Calling, tho' so few of the Wife, the Ver. 26. Mighty, and the Noble, partake of its Benefits. If Gop hath chosen the Ver. 27.

(m) Wisdom, Righteousness, &c.] Bos would render the Words, for of bim, (in Christification, who is made of GOD unto us Wisdom,) we are Righteousness, Sanctification, and Redemption, that is, compleatly, justified, sanctified and redeemed.

weak

weak Things, they shall confound the Mighty; and the Foolish, they shall Sect. 3. shame the Wise. Never shall we find ourselves truly happy, till we come to feel, that we are naturally foolish and guilty, polluted and enslaved; and that our Wisdom and Righteousness, our Sanctification and Redemption, Ver. 30. are in Christ, who is made unto us of GOD all this, and indeed all in all. Then shall we know, and not till then, what true Glory means, even when we can abase ourselves to the Dust in his Presence, and have learned only to glory in the Lord.

Ver. 314

SECT. IV.

The Apostle farther illustrates the Reasons for which he had declined all Ostentation of Eloquence, when he came among the Corinthians; and particularly insists on the extraordinary Nature of the Facts and Doctrines he was to teach; which were of a much higher Original, than any Discoveries which human Wit or Learning could make, and were to be traced up to the immediate Teachings of the Holy Spirit; their Nature being so wonderful, that it was difficult for the corrupted Minds of Men to receive them, even when they were taught. I Cor. II. 1, to the End.

1 Corinthians II. i.

ND I, Brethren, when I came to you, came not with Excellency of Speech, or of Wildom, declaring

I CORINTHIANS II. I.

HAVE observed that the Design of God in Sect. 4. the Gospel is of a very humbling Nature, admirably calculated to stain the Pride of human Glory, and bring Men to boast in him alone. And with Truth and Pleasure, I can say to you, my Brethren, that in perfect Harmony with this wife and excellent Scheme, when I first came among you, I came not with the Pomp of Language (a), or worldly Wisdom, with the laboured Charms of Eloquence, or Philosophy: For I remembered, that

(a) The Pomp of Language. This certainly alludes to the vain Affectation of Sublimity and Subtilty, so common among the Greeks of that Age, and very remote from the true Eloquenee, in which, (as was observed above,) our Apostle did so remarkably excel. L'Enfant

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 4. that I was declaring to you no human Invention, which needed or admitted fuch Ornaments or Recommendations, but was exhibiting the Testi-declaring unto you, the Testimony of God.

Recommendations, but was exhibiting the Testimony of GOD to a plain Fact, for which I produced authentick Evidence by visible Divine Operations. I therefore endeavoured to exhibit it in as intelligible a Way as I could, and treated it as one who believed, that it really came from God, and so needed not the varnishing of human Art. For I was previously determined in my

2 For I determined not to know any Thing among you, fave Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

Art. For I was previously determined in my Mind, that fond as I knew you were of refined Speculation, and polite Address, I would appear to know (b), and employ myself to make known, nothing among you (c) but Jesus, as the Christ, the great promised Messiah of the Jews, even that crucified Person (d), against whom so many Scandals are raised. Yet did I resolve steadily to maintain the Doctrine of his Cross, and endeavour to exalt its Honours wherever I came, not excepting your opulent and polite City. And excepting your opulent and polite City. And to this Plan you know, I resolutely adhered, tho' I was with you in Weakness, and in Fear, and in much Trembling; for I know I had Enemies about me on every Side, (Acts xviii. 6, 9.) and laboured under natural Disadvantages, (2 Cor. x. 10.) and the Force of the Prejudice, which I had to encounter was strong.

3 And I was with your in Weakness, and in Fear, and in much Trembling.

4 And my Speech, and my Preaching was not with enticing Words of Man's Wisdom

4 encounter was strong. And you well know, that my Speech in private, and my Preaching in publick, [was] not in the persuasive Discourses of human L'Enfant thinks, he refers to his not being perfectly Master of the Greek Language in all its Purity and Elegance, with which the Corinthians spoke it; but I prefer the former Sense, as more suitable to the Original.

(b) Appear to know.] In that Sense, the Word program, is used by Pindar, (Olymp. xiii.)

and it is most natural to give it that Signification here.

(c) Among you.] There feems a peculiar Emphasis in this Expression; as if the Apostus had said, I did not change my usual Method at Corinth, and you know with what glorious Success it was attended.

(d) Even that crucified Person: nat Islov escappaneror.] The Jews and Heathens probably gave Christ this Name by Way of Contempt; but St. Paul declares, that instead of concealing this as an Infamy and Scandal, it was the main Thing he insisted upon; as indeed all the most important Doctrines of the Gospel stand in a close and natural Connection with it. And no Doubt but he took them in that Connection; for he refers in the Course of these Epistles, to several Doctrines relating to the Father, and the Holy Spirit, as what he had taught them, the not expressly included in the Doctrine of the Crucifixion.

(s) Persuaseve

Wisdom, but in Demonstration of the Spirit, and of Power; man Wisdom (e), Eloquence or Philosophy, nor Sect. 4. with that Pomp and Sophistry of Argument, which the learned Men of the World are fo rea- 1 Cor. II. 4 dy to affect. But far from being contemptible on that Account, it had other much nobler Recommendations; for it was in the Demonstration of the Spirit and of Power, by the most convincing Evidence, arising, both from the Prophecies of the Old Testament inspired by the Holy Ghost, and from the miraculous Energy, which he hath exerted in and by the Apostles, and other Ministers of the New. And on this I laid the whole Stress; that your Faith should not depend on the Wisdom, Reason or Address of Men; but on the Power of GOD, a much furer Foundation, which shews how little Reason you have to value yourselves on any Appearance of the former.

5 That your Faith should not stand in the Wisdom of Men, but in the Power of God.

6 Howbeit, we speak Wisdom among them that are perfect: Yet not the Wisdom of this World, nor of the Princes of this World, that come to nought.

Nevertheless, tho' we want what is commonly called human Wisdom, yet we speak the truest and most excellent Wisdom, among those who are perfect, and if I may so express it, compleatly initiated into these Divine Mysteries; such wellinstructed and experienced Souls will bear Witness to its incomparable Excellence. speak not the Wisdom of this World, nor of the Rulers of this World; nor that which is admired and fought by the great Politicians of the Age, whether Jews or Gentiles, who nevertheless shalk foon be brought down and abolished, shall find difficult and dreadful Scenes arising, in which all their boasted Sagacity and Penetration will be of But we, taught of God to def- 7 no Avail (f). pife the transient Vanities which delude them,

7 But we speak the Wis-dom

(e) Persuastive Discourses of human Wisdom.] This seems to be the just Rendering of the Expression πειθοις ανθρωπιτικό σοφιας λογοις, and so, I think, it is rendered by the celebrated. Archbishop of Cambray.

(f) Politicians of the Age, &c.] Mr. Locke infifts upon it, as an Observation of great Importance, that arm flow generally signifies the Jewish Oeconomy; and supposes, that the Aposte here also aims a silent Stroke at the Jewish Teacher, that set himself up in Opposition to him, and refers to the approaching Destruction of the Jews by the Romans. And Mr. L'Ensant agrees with this, only explaining it of the learned Robbies of their Synagogues. But as the Jewish Magistrates, or Scribes, were not the only Princes in crucifying Christ; (Compare Acis iv. 27.) and as the Word and, has sometimes undoubtedly a more extensive Signification, (Compare Rom. xii. 2. Gal. i. 4. Eph. ii. 2. Chop. vi. 12.

Sect. 4. Speak what must be infinitely more worthy your most attentive Consideration and Regard; for it is a Cor. II. 7. the Wisdom of GOD himself in a Mystery: that mysterious Wisdom, which was long hidden and intirely unknown, and now appears to contain Wonders, which no Understanding of Man or Angel can fully penetrate; even that Wisdom, which GOD from eternal Ages (g) pre-determined in the Secret of his own all-comprehending Mind, for the great Purposes of our final Salvation and A Wisdom this, which none of the Glory (b). 8 Jewish Rulers of this our Age, or of the Heathen that were concerned in it knew; for if they had indeed known [it,] they would not by any Means (i) have prefumed to have crucified one so greatly their superior, as the Lord of Glory; wicked as they were, they would for their own Sakes have been afraid to attack the Son of God, his long promised Messiah, had they been thoroughly apprized of his high Character and 9 Dignity. But [this is] as it is written (k), (Isai. lxiv. 4.) when the Prophet, speaking of the Blessings of the Messiah's Kingdom, fays, Eye bath not seen, neither hath Ear heard, neither bath entered into the Heart of Man, what glorious Things GOD hath prepared for them that dom of God in a Mystery, even the hidden Wisdom which God ordained before the World unto our Glory.

8 Which none of the Rulers of this World knew: For had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of Glory.

9 But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor Ear heard, neither have entered into the Heart of Man, the Things which God hath prepared for them that love him.

2 Tim. iv. 10. Tit. ii. 12. and even in this Epistle, Chap. iii. 18. and the next Chapter iv. 4.) and as St. Paul's Observation here may so well be applied to Gentile, as well as Jewish Princes; I saw no Reason for limiting the Sense; which I never chuse to do, without some apparent Necessity. On the same Principles, I have receded from Mr. Locke's Interpretation of the next Verse.

(g) From eternal Ages.] To what I have just said of my Reasons for not interpreting this of the Time of setting the Jewish Oeconomy, I must add, that it signifies little, to endeavour to bring such Expressions down to any Period of Time. If it be granted, that they intend any Thing previous to the Existence of those to whom they refer, the same Difficulties will still lie in the Way; nor is it possible to avoid them.

(b) Our final Salvation and Glory.] L'Enfant explains this, of the Glory of the Apostles, in being appointed to publish this Revelation; but the Sense we have given equally suits the Phrase, and is much more sublime and important.

(i) Not by any Means.] un an, is an Expression, which teems to have this Force. Compare Luke xxiii. 34.

(k) As it is written, &c.] The Context [in Ifai. lxiv. may well be explained, to express the Churches earnest Desire of the Manifestation of the Glories of the Messiab's Kingdom; and I think it more probable, that this is a Quotation of those Words, with some little Variation, than that it refers to a Passage, said to have been found in an Apochryphal Book, ascribed to Elijah, (which probably was a Forgery of much later Date than this Time,) where these Words are indeed extant, being perhaps transcribed from St. Paul.

Digitized by Google

(1) The

10 But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: For the Spirit searcheth all Things, yea, the deep Things of GoD.

11 For what Man knoweth the Things of a Man, fave the Spirit of Man which is in him? Even so the Things of God knoweth no Man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have received, not the Spirit of the World, but the Spirit which is of GoD; that we might know the Things that are treely given to us of GoD.

13 Which Things also

Nor had the Generality of Manlove bim.. kind,, or even the People who enjoyed the Benefit of the Jewish Scripture, any just Conception of the Nature of this sublime Plan, and the Method by which it was to be accomplished. But GOD bath revealed [them] to us Christians, and especially to us his Apostles, by the extraordinary Inspiration of bis Spirit, who intimately and fully knows them: For the Spirit fearcheth and penetrates all Things, even the deep Things of GOD, the profoundest Mysteries of his Counsels, and his Gospel, (Compare Rom. xvi. 25. Eph. i. 9. Chap. iii. 3, 5, 7.) And well may he be acquainted with all these Things; for wbo of Mankind knoweth the Things of a Man, the secret Recesses. of his Mind, on many Occasions, and in many Circumstances, unless it be the Spirit of a Man which is in him (1), which knows it by Consciousness, to a Degree of Certainty which no Obfervation or Reasoning can produce in another; fo also no one knoweth the Things of GOD, but the Spirit of GOD himself, who is intimately conscious of all, and can conceal, or discover, whatever he pleases.

Now this is intirely to the present Purpose; for 122 the Spirit, which we have received, is not that of the World, nor do we govern ourselves by those carnal Views, which engross and enslave so great a Part of Mankind; but we have received, in large and liberal Supplies, that Spirit, which is from GOD, and which is the noblest of his Gifts. to the Children of Men, by which their Minds are both informed and regulated; that so we might both notionally and experimentally know the Things, which are freely given us by GOD:

Which we also make it our Business to speak, and (1) The Spirit of a Man. I do not apprehend, that the Distinction between the Soul and Spirit, to which fome refer these Words, is of great Importance in the Interpretation of them. They must fignify the perfect Acquaintance with all the Divine Schemes and Purpofes, which the Holy Spirit has, and which the Apolle's Argument directly proves, that no Creature can have: So that it seems a glorious Proof of the Deity of the Spirit, and has accordingly been urged as such, by all who have defended that important Doctrine.

(m) Thoses

Sect. 4. I Cor. II.. 10.

I Cor. II. 13.

Sect. 4. to communicate to others, not in Words dictated by human Wisdom, to excite Men's Curiosity, amuse their Imaginations, or gain their Applause; but in those dictated by the Holy Spirit (m); and consequently best adapted to convey such Ideas as he would impart, and to impress the Hearts and Consciences of Men, with a reverent and deep Sense of those holy Mysteries: And this we do with all ferious Care and Attention, explaining such spiritual and sublime Things by spiritual (n) [Words], suggested by him as best adap-But in the mean Time, vain 14 ted to them. and foolish Men find a great Deal in our Preaching to cavil at, and object against. And it is no Wonder, they do; for the animal Man (o), who continues under the Influence of his Appetites and Passions, and is a Stranger to the noble Exercises and Principles of the Divine Life, receiveth not, with any inward Relish or Sense, the Things of the Spirit of GOD, which are too > fublime and refined for his low, corrupted and degenerate Taste: For in Proportion to the Degree in which they are full of Divine Wisdom, they will appear Foolishness to him; neither can be rightly know [them,] whilst he continues in his present State, and under such unhappy Prejudices as these: For they are spiritually discerned, and a Man must have a spiritual Taste, formed by the

we speak, not in the Words which Man's Wildom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing fpiritual Things with spiri-

14. But the natural Man receiveth not the Things of the Spirit of God: For they are Foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

Influences of the Holy Spirit upon his Heart, before he will thoroughly enter into their Excel-But the spiritual Man, whose Heart, illluminated and fanctified by the Divine Spirit,

15 But he that is spiritual,

(m) Those dictated by the Holy Spirit.] This Expression may certainly convince us, of the great Regard which we ought always to maintain, to the Words of Scripture; and may efpecially teach Ministers, how attentively they should study its Beauties, and how careful they should be to make it the Support of their Discourses.

(n) Explaining spiritual Things, &c.] This Sense of our xpirolles occurs, Gen. xl. 8. and Numb. xv. 34. in the Seventy. (0) The animal Man.] Without examiningall that the learned and judicious Dr. Owen hath faid one Way on this Text, or Dr. Claget, and Dr. Stebbing another, I have taken that which seems to me the due Medium, and for the farther Vindication of this Exposition, must refer to Clifford, in the 2d Volume of the Phanix, pag. 544. and to my third Letter to the Author of Christianity not founded on Argument, pag. 39, 40. only reminding my Reader, that this very Word Luxing is rendered sensual, Jam. iii. 15. Jude, Ver. 19.

(p) Wbo

I Cor. II.

15.

tual, judgeth all Things, yet he himself is judged of no Man.

is set on spiritual and noble Objects, discerneth Sect. 4. all Things about him rightly, while he himself is discerned by no Man; by none of those who are most forward and heady in their Censures; but remains like a Man endowed with Sight, among those born blind, who are incapable of apprehending what is clear to him, and amidst their own Darkness cannot participate of, nor understand, those beautiful Ideas, and pleasing Sensations, which Light pours upon him.

16 For who hath known the Mind of the Lord; that he may instruct him? But we have the Mind of Christ.

And furely, if you consider Matters aright, you cannot much wonder at this. For who bath known the Mind of the Lord, or who hath instructed him (p)? There must undoubtedly be in the Divine Counsels, many secret and hidden Things, and a Man must have a Mind, capacious as that of the bleffed Gop himself, to take upon him to judge of his Schemes, and arraign his Conduct. But we, even I Paul, and my Brother-Apostles, have the Mind of Christ (q), who is the incarnate Wisdom of Gon himself; and therefore we are not to be called to the Bar of those, who arrogantly pretend, merely on the Foot of human Reason, to censure us, as some of your presumptuous Teachers do, to their own Shame, and the Detriment of those that hearken to their Suggestions.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET it be the Resolution of every Christian, and especially the De- Ver. 2. termination of every Minister, with St. Paul, to know nothing but Jesus Christ, even him that was crucified: To esteem this the most important of all Knowledge, to cultivate it in their own Minds, and endea-

(p) Who hath intrusted him.] Some good Interpreters, and particularly Mr. Pyle and Dr. Guife, explain this of the Spiritual Man; but it seems more agreeable to the Construction, and its Connection with what follows, by him, to understand GOD.

(9) We have the Mind of Christ.] This Part of the Epistle is very artificially conducted. He is now aiming at the great Point of establishing his Authority, which had been suspected amongst them; yet he does not directly propose, but obliquely infinuate, Arguments against fuch Suspicions; Arguments which might possess their Minds, before they were aware of what he intended to effect by them. This important Remark will often present itself to the attentive Reader of St. Paul's Epifles.

G g

Vol. IV.

234 Reflections on the Preaching of Christ by the Power of GOD.

Sect. 4. vour to propagate it to others. With this Divine Science, shall those Ministers of the Gospel, who knew least of the Excellency of Speech and the enticing Words of Man's Wisdom, do more important Things for the Reformation of the World, and the Salvation of Souls, than without it, the greatest Masters of Language, or Adepts in Philosophy, will ever be able to effect. Let the Princes of this World boast of the Knowledge, and refined Policy, which is so soon to perish, by which so many of their Subjects perish, and sometimes themselves before their Time. In how many Instances does it leave them to imitate the destructive Maxims of those, who, under Pretence of publick Good, but really under the In-

Ver. 8. stigation of the basest private Passions, crucified Jesus, the adorable Saviour, the Lord of Glory.

May God teach us more of that hidden Wisdom, which they who are truly initiated into real Christianity know, and which opens upon us Views and Hopes, beyond what Eye hath seen, or Ear heard, or it hath Views and Hopes, beyond what Eye bath seen, or Ear beard, or it hath particularly and fully entered into the Heart of Man to conceive. There is no Need we should distinctly conceive it. It is enough that we know in the general, it is what GOD hath prepared for them that love him; which Consideration may surely teach us to trample under our Feet, that which he so often bestows on them who hate him, and are abhorred by him; on those with whom he is angry every Day.

May that Spirit, which searcheth all Things, even the hidden Things of Ver. 12. GOD, give us more deeply and affectionately to know the Things, which are freely given us of GOD, and to adore that free Grace, from which we receive them! These Things we learn with the highest Advantage

Ver. 13. from the Holy Scriptures, where they are delivered in Words which the Holy Ghost taught; in Words therefore, the most admirably adapted, to express those spiritual and sublime Ideas, they were intended to communicate: In which Words consequently, we learn to speak of the Things of God with the exactest Propriety and the truest Edification.

May we be enabled spiritually to discern them, with whatever Contempt they may be treated by natural, that is, by animal Mcn; by those, who, though conceited of their rational Powers, can relish little, or nothing, but what relates to this low and sensual Life. Conscious of that inward

Ver. 15. Discerning, which discovers all Things to us in their true Light, even. Things of infinite Importance, may we pity that undiscerning Rashness of blind Arrogance, and Pride, with which some, who think themselves the wifest in Proportion to the Degree, in which they are the more wretched of Mankind, may treat us, and not only us, but that Gospel,

Ver. 16. which is our Glory and our Joy. We have the Mind of Christ delivered to us by his holy Apostles, who were intimately and miraculously instructed in it. Let us humbly receive the Oracles they deliver; and whilst others are presuming haughtily to censure them, may we think ourselves happy happy, if, with meek Subjection to their unerring Authority, we may Sect. 4. fit at the Feet of such Teachers, and regulate our Lives by their Instructions!

235

SECT. V.

The Apostle reproves the Carnality of the Corinthians, in contending about human Teachers, and urges many important Considerations to cure them of so unbecoming a Temper. I Cor. III. 1,---9.

I CORINTHIANS IIL I.

AND I, Brethren, could not speak unto you as unto Spiritual, but as unto Carnal, even as unto Babes in Christ,

I CORINTHIANS III. I.

* HAVE been speaking of that great Plainness, with which I addressed myself to you, when I came to preach the Gospel among you at 1 Cor. III. I. Corinth; And I hope, my Brethren, you will not despise me for it: For truly, as it became my Character as an Apostle of Christ, so it suited yours, as being under the Power of Prejudices, which fo far prevailed, that even when you were converted to the Profession of Christianity, I could not speak unto you as unto spiritual Persons, who had made any Attainments in Religion, proportionable to the Illuminations and Influences of the Spirit, which you had received; but was obliged in many Instances to address you, as those who were still in too great a Measure, carnal in your Temper and Views, and therefore were but as Babes in Christ (a), and Beginners in the Divine Life. I might have faid sublimer Things, and in a more elevated Manner; but found fo much Pride and Faction among you, that it was necesfary to infift much upon the plain and fundamental Doctrines of the Cross, rather than on Things, which.

(a) Babes in Christ.] By explaining this of Beginners in the Divine Life, or such as had made but little Proficiency in it, we reconcile this with those Passages, which speak of the Eminency of their Gifts. 1 Cor. i. 5. 2 Cor. viii. 7.

G g 2

(b) Fed

Sect. 5. which, if they might have fuited your Inclinations better, would have suited your Circumstan-1 Cor. III. 2. ces less. I was forced to preach to you, as to Persons, weak as Infants; and so feed you with Milk (b), which I did as it were pour into your Mouths with a Tenderness, like that of a Mother, or a Nurse, when feeding her sucking Child; and could not conveniently feed you with ftrong Meat. I waved discoursing on some of those Doctrines, which left Room for the Curiofities of fublimer Speculation, and admitted of the greatest Ornaments of Discourse (c), because ye were not then able [to bear it]; nor indeed are ye yet able; as I perceive by the Account which 3 our Brethren give, of your present State. evidently appears, by what I hinted above, that ye are yet carnal, still under the Influence of weak, and indeed finful, Prejudices. I appeal to your own Consciences on this Occasion for the Proof of this: While [there is] Emulation, and Contention, and Factions among you, are you not indeed carnal? and do ye not walk and conduct yourselves, as unregenerate Men do? So that by this Behaviour, a Stranger would not know that you were Christians, or see any Thing in you above uninstructed and unsanctified Nature. 4 For when you eagerly contend about the Honours of this or that Teacher, and fet him up as the Head of a diffinguishing Party; so that one says I am for Paul, and another, I am for Apollos (d), I admire the sublime Sentiments of the one, and I the fine Language and Address of the other; are ye not carnal? and do ye not talk in the Spi-

2 I have fed you with Milk, and not with Meat: For hitherto ye were not able to hear it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnal: For whereas there is among you Envying, and Strife, and Divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as Men?

4 For while one faith, I am of Paul, and another, I am of Apollos, are ye not carnal?

(b) Fed you with Milk.] The Word exoluge, exactly fignifies, I gave you to drink; but as that Rendering would not fuit the other Word, with which it is connected, frong Meat, I thought it best to retain our Version. Parallel Instances to this Manner of Expression are produced by Mr. Blackwall, in his Sacred Classics, Vol. i. pag. 72.

(c) Ornaments of Discourse.] If any think, that the Use of them might have been a proper Condescension to their Weakness, it is to be remembered, that the Emulation of Eloquence so ready to prevail among them, might have rendered such an Indulgence dangerous.

(d) I for Apollos.] Mr. Locke fancies, (comparing Chap. iv. 6.) that by Apollos, Paul means that Jewish Teacher, who was set up in Opposition to him, and came among them, after he had preached the Gospel to them; but it seems much more probable to me, especially 5 Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but Ministers by whom ye believed, even as the Lord gave to every Man?

rit of your Heathen Neighbours, who have their Sect. 5. favourite Philosophers and Orators too? is this Language for Christians? Who then is Paul? 1 Cor. III. 5 and, who [is] Apollos? For what Reason do you regard, either the one, or the other? Is it for no Confideration, but that of Talents, which they have in common with many who are Strangers to the Gospel? Or ought it not rather to be in a different View? even because they are the Ministers of Christ, by whose Means you have been instructed in his Religion, and under whose Teachings ye have believed and embraced it, and because they have humbly attempted to do their Part for this great Purpose, even as the Lord gave to every Man both Furniture and Success. bave planted a Christian Church among you; Apollos has fince watered it by his affecting and useful Addresses; (Acts xviii. 27.) but it was GOD who gave the Increase, and caused the Plantation thus watered to grow: No Labourer can make his Seed spring up without the In-you come therefore to compare our Part with that of God, it appeareth even as nothing, in the Comparison. We freely own, that how highly foever you may think of us, he that planteth is nothing at all, and he that watereth; but GOD, who by his efficacious Spirit and Grace giveth the fluence of Heaven, Sunshine and Rain.

6 I have planted, Apollos watered: But God gave the Increase.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any Thing, neither he that watereth: But God that giveth the Increase.

$ Now he that planteth, and he that watereth, are one:

Increase, is all in all.

But as for this Opposition, which you make between us, and this Zeal, with which you contend for one against another, it is altogether unreasonable and absurd: For be that planteth, and be that watereth, are one (0); we are united in Inte-etally from the Text just referred to, that he chose this Name, that he might give no Offence, and to shew, that he should lament and condemn any Division among them, tho' it were in Favour of himself, or the dearest Friend he had in the World. I cannot think St. Paul would have described the false Apostle, if there were any one Person who might be so called, as watering his Plantation, which he rather wasted; or have spoken of himself, and that Messenger of Satan, as one; as he does Verse 8.

(e) Are one.] This is, (as Mr. Cradock well observes, in his Apost. Hist. pag. 156.) another cogent Argument against Divisions; that, the their Labours were different, and their Rewards proportionable, yet they had all in the general one Office, and were employed to Workers together by GOD, to plant the Seeds of Grace and Holiness in the Souls of

Men,

Sect. 5. rest, and united in Design and Affection; so that one: And every Man shall instead of being pleased, we are rather displeased 1 Cor. III. 8. and grieved, with these invidious Comparisons in Favour of either. Our great Concern is, to please our great Lord, to whom we are shortly to give up our Account, and from whom we shall receive, every one, his own proper Reward according to his own Labour, and not according to the Prejudices of our Fellow-servants either for, or against us. o Fr we are not Lords and Proprietors of the Courch; nor Persons that have independent Schemes of our own to carry on: but we are the Fellow-labourers of GOD (f), the great Master of the Family. Ye are the Husbandry of GOD, which we are to cultivate, that ye may bring forth Fruit for him. [Ye are] the Building of GOD, which we are to endeavour to advance; that he may dwell in you, as in his Holy Temple, and glorify his Name among you.

receive his own Reward, according to his own La-

9 For we are Labourers together with GoD: Ye are God's Husbandry, ye are God's Building.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 1.

THO that wishes the Welfare of the Church of Christ, must not lament those sad Remainders of Carnality, which are often to be found among them, who have the greatest Advantage for becoming fpiritual; while the fame contentious Principles, fermented, no Doubt, by the same malignant Enemy of the whole Body, breath in so many of its Members, and diffuse a Kind of Poyson, which at once swells and torments it? What Envyings, and Strife, and Factions among those, who ought to join, as Brethren, and to know but one Interest! What a Desire, in many Instances, to increase the Burthens of each other, instead of bearing them with friendly Sympathy.

Ver. 3.

May Christians be cured, of this dishonourable and fatal Attachment to distinguished Parties, and human Names! May Ministers feel more of that generous and noble Spirit, which this great Apostle expresses! His Reasoning hath the same Force still. Ministers are still intended to

Ver. 4.

Men, and to bring them on to Perfection. He here introduces an excellent Discourse, of the happy Confequences of Faithfulness in the Ministerial Work, and the awful Account of it to be given up to God. A subject familiar to his own Mind; and so proper for their Teachers, that if it render the Epiftle something less regular, it balances the Account by rendering it so much more useful.

(f) The Fellow-labourers of GOD.] This is the exact Import of sumpyon Ges, which our Version renders, Labourers together with GOD; an improper Rendering on every Account.

be only the Instruments of producing and establishing Faith in their Hearers, and still depend, as intirely as ever, upon the Blessing of Gop to give the Increase to their Labours. To that may they daily look; and be sensible that they are nothing without it; and that with it, their Part is so small, that they hardly deserve to be mentioned. May their Hands and Hearts be more united; and retaining a due Sense of the Honour which God doth them, in employing them in his Vineyard, and in his Ver. 9. Building, may they faithfully labour, not as for themselves, but for the great Proprietor, and till the Day come, when he will remember them in full Proportion to their Fidelity and Diligence.

Sect. 5. Ver. 5, 6,7•

Ver. 8.

I Cor. III.

SECT. VI.

As a useful Lesson both to Teachers and private Christians, in the present State of the Corinthian Church, the Apostle reminds them of that great Trial which every Man's Work was to undergo, the great Guilt of defiling GOD's Temple, the Vanity of human Wisdom in the Sight of GOD, and the great Happiness of the true Believer in that universal Grant, which GOD had made him, of every Thing neces-Sary to his Welfare. 1 Cor. III. 10, to the End.

L'CORINTHIANS III. 10.

Ccording to the Grace A of God which is given unto me, as a wise Master-builder, I have laid the Foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But

I CORINTHIANS III. 10.

HAVE spoken of you as Goo's Building; Sect. 6. and in that View, have the Pleasure to say, that in my first Preaching amongst you, when you were intire Strangers to the first Principles of the Gospel, according to the Measure of the Grace of GOD given to me; to which I defire to refer the Honour of all that I am, and of all that I. do, in this excellent Work; I have been enabled: to act in the Character of a skilful Architect, or. Master-builder: For with all due Care and Application, have I laid the great Foundation, which hath Strength sufficient to bear all the Stress even. of our eternal Hopes. And one, and another, whom Gon calls to labour among you, buildetb. tbereon.

Sect. 6.

Cor. III.

thereon, for the further Edification of your Church, and of the Souls of its particular Members: But let every one carefully fee to it, how he buildeth thereon, and what Superstructure he raises. This is all indeed that remains to be done: For

This is all indeed that remains to be done: For other folid Foundation no one is able to lay, befide what is already laid, which is Jesus Christ (a), the great Foundation-Stone, which God hath laid in Zion, elect and precious; and I take it for granted, no one who calls himself a Christian, will attempt to lay any other. If any Man build, I fay, upon this Foundation, let him look to the Materials, and Nature of his Work; whether he raise a stately and magnificent Temple upon it, adorned as it were, like the House of God at Jerusalem, with Gold and Silver, [and] large beautiful and costly Stones; [or] a mean Hovel, confisting of nothing better than Planks of Wood, roughly put together, and thatched with Hay [and] Stubble; that is, let him look to it, whether he teach the substantial vital Truths which do indeed belong to Christianity, and which it was intended to support and illustrate; or set himfelf to propagate vain Subtleties, and Conceits on the one Hand, or legal Rites and Jewish Traditions on the other; which, tho' they do not abfolutely destroy the Foundation, disgrace it, as a mean Edifice would do a grand and expensive Foundation, laid with great Pomp and Solemnity.

But to prevent this, let me seriously admonish you, that whatever any Man's Work may be, and however it may be covered, and as it were hid behind the Scaffolding, every one's Work shall ere long be made manifest. For the great Day, which is approaching shall lay it open, because it shall then be as it were discovered by Fire; yea, the Fire of that great Day of general Conflagration, when the Heavens shall pass away with a great Noise, and the Elements shall melt with servent Heat, shall prove every Man's Work, of what

But let every Man take Heed how he buildeth thereupon.

11 For other Foundation can no Man lay, than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 Now if any Man build upon this Foundation, Gold, Silver, precious Stones, Wood, Hay, Stubble:

13 Every Man's Work shall be made manifest. For the Day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by Fire; and the Fire shall try every Man's Work of what Sort it is.

(a) Which is Jesus Christ.] L'Enfant would render it, even this, that Jesus is the Christ; but I think the Sense given in our Text much nobler.

(b) The

Kind

I Cor. III.

14.

14 If any Man's Work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a Reward.

It shall stand a severe Exami- Sect. 6. Kind it is (b). nation, which will as foon expose the Vanity of many Things, which some admired Preachers value themselves upon, and for which they are extolled by their Hearers, as the Flame of some mighty Burning shews the difference between the Stability of a straw Roof, and a marble And then if any Man's Superstructure abide the Test, and be approved, he will not only have the Comfort of it in his own Mind, which is an immediate and permanent Satisfaction; but be shall also receive a glorious Reward from Christ, the great Head of the Church, and Proprietor of the Building, in Comparison of which the Applauses of Men, or any Thing they can bestow, deserve not to be mentioned by the Name of a Reward. But if any Man's Work be then burnt up; if, on that Trial it be found like the combustible and mean Materials, which I represented by the Wood, the Hay and the Stubble; the Confequence is, that be will fustain a proportionable Lofs(c). He will find he has been spending his Time and Strength to little Purpose, and has lost a great Deal of that Reward which he might, thro' Divine Grace, have secured, had he applied himself with Vigor and Zeal to the proper Labours of a Gospelminister. Yet, if he be upon the whole a good Man, who hath built upon Christ as the Foundation, and, on the Terms of the Gospel, committed his Soul to him, he shall himself be saved, and find Mercy of the Lord; the in Comparison with that more abundant Entrance into his Kingdom

15 If any Man's Work shall be burnt he shall suffer Los: But he himself shall

(b) The Day shall prove every Man's Work.] It is so very unnatural, with Dr. Whithy, to interpret this of the Time of the Destruction of Jerusalem, or of any approaching Persecutions of the Christian Church, that one cannot but wonder, that Criticks of Character should have adopted such a Sense.

(c) Suffer a proportionable Loss.] I cannot but fear, that an Application to such Niceties of unprofitable Learning, as those, in which some, who have the Charge of Souls, spend almost the Whole of their Time, to the Neglect of the Vitals of Christianity, will be found in this Day, lost Labour. Tho' such as employ themselves chiefly to inculcate in their Preaching, Doctrines, Ceremonies or Forms of human Invention, come nearer the Case immediately referred to here.—L'Enfant refers this Loss to the Reproach and Shame, which such shall suffer before the Tribunal of Christ.

Vol. IV.

(d) Thro'

dom which others will have, it may be faid, that be faved; yet so, as by Sect. 6. he is faved with extream Difficulty, and as a Man I Cor. III. whose House is in Flames while he is in it, and 15. who is therefore forced with great Terror to efcape thro' the Fire (d), sustaining the Loss of every Thing, but his Life.

Again, before I difinifs this Topick of your being the Building of God, let me lead you into fome farther Reflections, and ask you seriously, Know ye not that you are the Temple of GOD (e)? that the whole Body of Christian Converts is dedicated to his peculiar Service, and honoured by his most gracious Presence, as the Spirit of GOD dwelleth in you, and you thereby appear to be consecrated to himself? Now if any one defile, or destroy, the Temple of GOD, it may well be apprehended, that GOD, ever jealous of his own Honour, will destroy him. And you may assure yourselves from this View, that whatever Preaching, or whatever Conduct, tends to diminish its Purity and Glory, will be very severely refented by him; even much more than the Violation of the Place, (great as that Impiety 16 Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any Man defile the Temple of God, him shall God

(d) Thro' the Fire.] To be as a Brand plucked out of the Burning, is well known, as a proverbial Expression, to figurify a narrow Escape from extream Danger. Compare Zah. iii. 2. Amos iv. 11. and especially Isai. xxxiii. 11, 12. to which some have thought the Applie here alludes. $\Delta \alpha \pi \nu \rho \alpha$, (fude 23.) is put for passing thro' the Fire, as Si usalm, (1 Pet. iii. 20.) fignifies to be faved from the Water by passing thro it, as the Ark did. The Jeanned Elfner, who urges and illustrates these Instances, shows that the most approved Heathen Writers are the Phrase in this Sense, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 78.) Many Divines have well shewn, how far this Text is from giving any Support to a popish Purgatory. And the Mr. Fleming follows many of the ancient Fathers, in explaining it of some Terror, or Pain, which Christians of very imperfect Character may be exposed to, when they rife, (as he supposes they will,) amidft the Flames of the last Conflagration; (Flem. First Resur. pag. 44.) the Text will admit to fair a Sense on the Interpretation here given, that I cannot persuade myse!f from hence, without farther Evidence, that Numbers of holy Souls, who have long been glorified in Heaven, will be reunited to their Bodies, which are to be raifed in Glory, to be in the first Moments of that Union terrified and tormented; tho' it should be but for ever fo short a Time. That the Pagans, as well as some of the Fathers, had a Notion of some such Purgatory, Elfner has shewn in the Passage cited above.

(e) You are the Temple of GOD.] Elfner hath many fine Passages here, from Philo, Plato, and other Writers, in which they represent a virtuous Mind as the Temple of GOD, and in which Heathens speak in the highest and strongest Terms, of the Obligations Men are under, to keep these his Temples inviolate and unpolluted. And if, as Mr Locke supposes, Paul's chief Opposer was a Jew, the vast Veneration he would of Course have for the Temple at Jerusalem, would add great Weight to this Argument with Respect to him, and his Followers.

(f) Royal

I Cor. III.

17.

God destroy: For the Temple of God is holy, which Temple ye are.

and Provocation was,) where he so long caused Sect. 6. his Name to dwell upon Mount Zion. For the Temple of GOD, confidered as fuch, is undoubtedly holy, and awful. Much more then must that be so, which he hath erected by his Grace in the Breasts of intelligent Creatures, and sanctified to himself, as the everlasting Residence of his peculiar Complacency. (Compare Isai. lvii. 15. Chap. lxvi. 1, 2.) Now ye are this [Temple;] each of you, if a true Christian, is such a Sacred Shrine, and the whole Christian Church the compleat and magnificent Building. It therefore becomes every Member of it, to be very careful how he behaves, and what he teaches among you; lest he should commit an Evil, of the Enormity of which he may not be immediately aware.

18 Let no Man deceive himself: If any Man among you feemeth to be wife in this World, let him become a Fool, that he may be wife.

I know, there are those among you, whose Pride 18 and Self-conceit may lead them to despise this Admonition, especially as coming from me; but let no Man deceive bimself with vain Speculations of his own Worth and Abilities. If any one of you feem to be wife in this World, if he value himfelf upon what is commonly called Wisdom among Jews or Gentiles, let bim become a Fool, that he may be wife indeed. Let him humbly acknowledge his own natural Ignorance and Folly, and embrace that Gospel, which the Wisdom of the World proudly and vainly derides as Foolishness, if he desire to approve himself really and substantially wise, and to reap at last, the Honours and Rewards of those, who are truly so in the Sight of Gop. For all the boasted Wisdom of this World is Foolishness with GOD, who with one Glance sees thro' all its Vanity; as it is written, (Job v. 13.) He entangleth the Wise in their own crafty Artifice, often ruining them by those Defigns, which they had formed with the utmost Efforts of human Policy, and were most intent And again, it is faid elseupon executing. where, (Pfal. xciv. 11.) The Lord knoweth the Thoughts of the Wise, that they are vain. fees, how they enfnare themselves in their own Hh2

19 For the Wisdom of this World is Foolishness with God: For it is written, He taketh the Wise in their own Craftiness.

20 And again, The Lord knoweth the Thoughts of the Wise, that they are vain.

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 6. Subtleties, and when they think themselves most fagacious, are only amused with their own Sophistry and Deceit.

Therefore upon the whole, (that I may return to the Point from whence I fet out,) confidering all I have said, and especially considering in what View the great God regards these Things, which we are so ready to value ourselves upon; let none glory in Men, or divide themselves into Parties, out of Attachment to this or that Teacher.

out of Attachment to this, or that Teacher. For all Things are yours, and we in particular, are to be regarded, not as your Lords and Commanders, that ye should list under our Banners;

22 but rather as your Servants. I except not myfelf, or the most honoured among my Brethren; whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, be in Question, we are all equally yours, to ferve you to the utmost of our Abilities, in the Advancement of your best Interests. Yea, I may go farther, and fay, whether we speak of the Werld, God will give you fo much of it, as shall be for your real Good; and indeed he supports its whole Frame in a great Measure for your Sakes: Or if we furvey Life in all its various Conditions, or Death, and all its folemn Harbingers and Attendants, Gop will make the one, or the other, in different Views advantageous to you, and will adjust the Circumstances of both with the kindest Regard to your Happiness. Things present, or future, the Comforts and Priviledges of this Life on the one Hand, or its Afflictions and Troubles on the other, and at Length, the boundless Felicity of the eternal State, where Affliction and Trouble shall be no more known; all are, thro' the Divine Grace, yours. Remember this, and let the Thought raise your Minds above these little Things, which now occasion fuch Contention between you; and be united in Love, as God hath united you in Priviledges in Love, as God hath united you in Priviledges and Hopes.

And bear in Mind too, as the Counterpart of this happy Detail, that ye [are]

Christ's, his Property, his Subjects, his People; and let that engage you to attend to his Royal

Law

21 Therefore let no Man glory in Men; For all Things are yours:

22 Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the World, or Life, or Death, or Things prefent, or Things to come; all are yours;

23 And ye are Christ's; and Christ is Gon's.

Law of Charity (f), by which you may be peculiarly known to be his. And as Christ [is] GOD's, and refers all his Services as Mediator, to his Father's Glory, it will most effectually promote that great End of his Appearance, that you should learn fuch a Subjection of Soul to him, and imbibe those candid and generous Sentiments, which I am labouring to produce, and cherish in your Minds.

Sect. 6. 1 Cor. III. 23.

IMPROVEMENT.

ITH what Delight may the Christian survey this grand Inventory, and, conscious that he is Christ's, call all Things his own! Ver.21,-23. With what Pleasure survey the various Gifts and Graces of Ministers, and consider them as given by God for his Edification! With what Complacency look round on Things present, and forward on Things to come, in this Connection, and call the World his own; and count not only Life, but Death, amongst his Treasures! Both, in their different Aspects, are ful a vient to the happy Purpose of glorifying God: And surely, when by Death we may do it more effectually, Death should be more welcor than Life. And welcome it must indeed be to every Believer, as th .ppointed Means of transmitting him to the Sight and Enjoyment of C D, and the Possession of better Blessings, than Paul, o. Apollos, could er describe, or any Thing present, or any Thing to come in this World, ould ever afford.

Let these sublime Views elevate the Christian above those Occasions of Contention, which, for Want of ascending to such noble Contemplations, are often the Source of innumerable Evils. And let us add to them, that other Confideration, that we are the Temples of the Holy Ver. 16,17. Gbost; if Christians indeed, we are inhabited by God, even by his Spirit. Let this engage us to take the strictest Care, neither to defile ourselves, nor to injure our Brethren; lest, in either View, it should be resented and. punished by the holy God, as a facrilegious Profanation.

Let us not overvalue the Wisdom of this World, fince it is little regarded Ver. 19. by God; nor be greatly concerned, if Fools account our Wisdom, Folly,

(f) Royal Law of Charity.] Nothing could have a greater Efficacy to put an End to the Contentions, so prevalent among the Christians at Corinth, than this Consideration of these high Priviledges and Hopes, which were common to them all; as it would tend to fweeten their Spirits, and inspire them with honourable and affectionate Sentiments with Respect to their Brethren.

Ver. 13.

Sect. 6. ly, and our Life, Madness. So censured they the Prophets, and Apostles, before us; nor did our Master himself escape the Calumny, and Outrage. We shall be happy enough, if we approve our Fidelity to him, and if Ver. 11. we build a wife Superstructure on Christ, as the great, the only Foundation.

Ver. 10. Let his Ministers especially, be solicitous, that they may not lose the Labour of their Lives, by choosing unhappily to employ them, in that which will turn to no Account, in the great Day of his Appearing. Let them carefully examine their Materials. Surely if they have Senses spiritually exercised, it cannot be hard to distinguish between the sub-

Ver. 12,-15. Stantial and undoubted Doctrines of Christianity, which are as Gold, and Silver, and precious Stones, and those fictitious, or at best, dubious and intricate Points, which in Comparison with the former, are but Wood, and Hay, and Stubble. And if in urging these, they passionately inveigh against their Brethren, and endeavour to bring them into Contempt, or Suspicion, what do they but cement these combustible Materials with Sulphur.

Oh! let the frequent Views of that last searching Fire, that grand Period of all, be much in our Thoughts: That Day, when not only the Works of Ministers, but every private Person, must, as it were, pass thro' the Flames. May we then be faved, not with Disticulty, but with Praise and Honour! May our Works, of what Kind soever they are, abide, so as to be found worthy of Applause, and thro' Divine Grace receive a distinguished Reward.

SECT.

SECT. VII.

To lay in a farther Remedy against the Pride and Faction, so ready to prevail among the Corinthians, the Apostle leads them into several useful Reslections on the Nature of the Ministerial Office, the final Judgment of him who searcheth all Hearts, and the Obligations they were under to the Divine Goodness, for every Advantage by which they were distinguished from others.

1 Cor. IV. 1,---7.

I CORINTHIANS IV. I.

Let T a Man fo account of us, as of the Ministers of Christ, and Stewards of the Mysteries of Gop.

I CORINTHIANS IV. 1.

THAVE told you, how rich and happy you Sect. 7. are in the Divine Donation, in Consequence of which all Things are yours; and particularly, Paul, and Apollos, and Cephas, with their various Gifts and Endowments. Learn therefore to form your Estimate of us aright; and let a Man fo account of us, not as the Masters of the Church, but as the Servants of Christ, who are in Obedience to his Commands, to wait on his Family; esteeming it Honour and Happiness enough, if we approve ourselves, as Stewards of the My/teries of GOD; as Persons whose Business it is, with the fincerest Regard to his Glory, to dispense that Gospel, which contains such sublime Truths, for fo many Ages concealed from the Knowledge And as for what remains to 2 of the World. be done, in the Discharge of this Office, I hope we shall always remember, that it is demanded in Stewards, that a Man be found faithful; fince they also, as well as lower Servants in the Family, are subject to Account. And accordingly it is my highest Ambition, that my great Master may judge me faithful, whether my Fellow-servants be pleased, or displeased, with my Conduct. if my Fidelity to my Lord may offend them, which is a very supposable Case, I am well con-

2 Moreover, it is required in Stewards that a Man be found faithful.

3 But with me it is a very

Sect. 7. tented to abide all its Consequences. For I will freely declare in this View, it is with me the smal-1 Cor. IV. 3. lest Thing that can be imagined that I should be judged by you, dear as you are to me, or by any Man's Judgment: His Day will so soon be over: his Censures can effect so little, that amidst the great Prospects I have before me, it seems scarce to deserve a Mention. Nor indeed do I so judge myself, as if my Case were finally to be determined by my own Apprehensions concerning it. 4 For tho', I bless God, I am not conscious to myfelf of any Thing criminal, of any defigned Neglect of my Office, or Unfaithfulness in my Trust, vet I am not bereby justified (a): That is not the main Thing in Question; I know Partiality to ourselves may often lead us to overlook many Faults, for which Gop may another Day condemn us. But he that judgeth me, the Person by whose Judgment I am to stand, or fall, is the Lord Jesus Christ, who searcheth the Hearts and trieth the Reins of the Children of Men. 5 Therefore be strictly careful, that ye judge nothing before the appointed Time, that is, until he, the great Lord of all, shall come, who shall pluck off the Mask of every artful Hypocrite, how high soever he may bear himself in the Christian Church: shall bring to Light the bidden Things of Darkness (b), and shall manifest all the secret Counsels of the Hearts (c). And then shall every one have in the most publick Manner, that Praise from very small Thing that I should be judged of you, or of Man's Judgment; yea, I judge not mine own self.

4 For I know nothing by myself, yet am I not hereby justified: But he that judgeth me is the Lord.

5 Therefore judge nothing before the Time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to Light the hidden Things of Darkness, and will make manifest the Counsels of the Hearts: And then shall every Man have Praise of God.

GOD.

(b) Bring to Light the hidden Things of Darkness.] This is a lively and just Infinuation, that, under specious Forms, his Enemies concealed very dark Designs, which would not bear the Discoveries of that awful Day.

(d) Transferred

⁽a) Yet am I not hereby justified.] This feems a gentle, but a very affecting, Infinuation, that his Opponents, confident as they might feem in their own Integrity and Sasety, would do well to take greater Heed, that they were not imposed upon by the Deceitfulness of their own Hearts.

⁽c) Manifest all the secret Counsels of the Hearts.] This Passage also suggests a very solid Argument against magnifying one Minister above another, namely, that the secret Principles of Mens Actions are unknown; and it is enlarged upon to very good practical Purposes; while the Apostle, at the same Time, takes an Opportunity of making a very solemn Profession of his own Faithfulness, and shewing the Boldness he had towards God, and his Modesty, and Candor to Men; all which were extreamly suitable to the general Purposes he had in View.

GOD, before the affembled World, which is Sect. 7. proportionable to his real Character and Coni Cor. IV. 6.

6 And these Things, Brethren, I have in a Figure transferred to myfelf, and to Apollos, for your Sakes: That ye might learn in us not to think of Men, above that which is written, that no one of you be puffed up for one against another.

These Things, Brethren, I have by a very obvious Figure transferred to myself, and [to] Apollos (d); mentioning our Names, and that of Cephas only, instead of many more, fince you know the intire Friendship there is among us, and how far the Names of most, about whom you contend, are inferior to these. And I have done this, not on our own Account, as you may eafily apprehend, but for your Sakes, that you may learn in attending to what has been faid concerning us, distinguished as we are by our Office, Furniture and Success; not to entertain too high an Opinion of your selves, or others, whom you are most ready to admire, above what is here written (e), and appears reasonable on the Principles which have been laid down: That you may not be puffed up for one Teacher, and against another; which surely you cannot allow with Respect to other Teachers, when you see us renouncing all such Attachment And indeed this would be very 7 to ourselves. unreasonable, if the Distinctions were as great, as you, or they, who have the highest Conceit of themselves, can imagine. For allowing all, that Self-love and Prepossession can wish, let me ask the Man who carries it to the greatest Height, Who maketh thee to differ [from another] in any Furniture, or Attainment, whether intellectual, or moral (f)? And what hast thou of any Kind.

7 For who maketh thee to differ from another? And what half thou, that thou didft

(d) Transferred to myself, &c.] Some, and particularly Mr. Locke, have inferred from hence, that not St. Paul, and Apollos, but some other Persons, were set up among the Corintbians for Heads of Parties, for whose Names the Apostle substituted his own, and that of his most intimate Friend; but the learned and judicious Witsus well observes, (Meletem. pag. 104.) that 'tis probable, their Names were used among some others omitted, and the Figure was only this, that the Names of St. Paul and Apollos were used to signify themselves, and any others so extolled; and when the Apostle would say, how little Ministers were in themselves, he chose, out of Humility and Prudence, rather to take such Freedom with himself, and his most particular and intimate Friend, than with others.

(e) What is here written.] Elsner (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 85.) confirms this Interpretation, and produces many Instances, in which prove is used to express, having too high an Opinion of one's Self. L'Enfant explains it in something of a different Sense, " above what Scripture warrants."

(f) Whether intellectual, or moral.] I include moral Attainments, because the Aposthe Vol. IV.

Sect. 7. Kind, which thou didst not receive from God, the great Parent of universal Good? But if thou hast received [it] all from him, why dost thou hast not received [it] from him; but it were originally and essentially thine own? Would you all but seriously restect upon this, it would teach you humbler Sentiments, much more rational in themselves, and on the whole, much more for your Credit, as well as Comfort.

didst not receive? Now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory as if thou hadst not received it?

IMPROVEMENT.

TOTHING can be more conducive to the Advantage of Christianity, and by Consequence, of the World, whose Happiness is so much concerned in its Support and Success, than that its Preachers should consider, and their Hearers remember, the Nature of their Of-They are not Lords over GOD's Houshold and Heritage, but Vcr. 1. Ministers of Christ, whose Business it is to promote their Master's Honour; Stewards of his Mysteries, who are to endeavour both to keep and to dispense them with all good Fidelity. From their Master therefore Ver. 2. may they take all their Instructions; and to him let them refer all their Administrations. Various Judgments will be passed upon them; and they, who will oppose the Attempts of some of their Brethren to introduce Corruption and Confusion into his Family, will have many an unkind Reflection thrown upon them, and experience the Severity of Cenfure, for a Conduct which merits the justest Approbation. But let them learn by this excellent Apostle, to be above the Judgment of Men, and Ver. 3. to keep the Judgment of the Lord in View; that they may, not only be supported under that Petulance of their Fellow-servants, but may learn to guard against, what is much more dangerous, the Treachery of their own had in the preceding Verses, been speaking of Fidelity in the Ministry, and he elsewhere in this Epistle speaks of obtaining Mercy to be faithful, (Chap. vii. 25.) and would be understood, as referring, not only to his giving us our Faculties, but exciting us to the right Use of them, both by external Calls and Advantages, and by inward Impressions of his Grace on the Heart; tho' still in a Manner suited to our free and rational Natures, and which, however some may be distinguished by them, leaves all who choose wrong, without Excuse, and admits the Exercise of Justice, as well as Grace, in the final Distributions of Good and Evil. See the Paraphrase on Chap. iii. 7. which seems very applicable to this Clause. Yet as it is certain, the Corinthians chiefly gloried in their Gists, and in those of their savourite Teachers, I doubt not but it is to these that the Apostle chiefly refers in this Place, and cannot think that the Stress of the Controversy relating to the sanctifying Insuences of Divine Grace, does by any Means rest on this Passage.

own Hearts, and the Flattery of Self-love; lest they fondly mistake the Sect. 7. Voice of Prejudice for that of Conscience, or in other Words, the Voice of an erroneous Conscience, for that of a Conscience well informed.

Ver. 4.

Let us often recollect the narrow Limits of our own Knowledge, that we may learn Modesty in our Censures of each other. He only can judge, who knoweth the Heart; and there is a Day approaching, which Ver. 5, &c. will manifest all its Secrets. While others, with a pitiable Mixture of Arrogance, and Ignorance, judge one another, and judge us, let us rather be concerned that we may secure that Praise of GOD, which will be heard, and felt, by the Soul, with the highest Rapture, and will filence every Echo of human Applause, or Censure.

To conclude, if it hath pleased God, in any Respect, to distinguish Ver. 7. us from others, by the Gifts or Graces which he hath bestowed upon us, let us humbly trace these Distinctions to their true Source: and instead of indulging the least Degree of Pride on their Account, let us rather be the more humble. For furely the more we receive from God, the more we are indebted and obliged; and the more we are obliged to the Divine Goodness, the greater ought our Shame and Confusion to be, that we have not answered those Obligations by more faithful Care, and more constant Gratitude.

SECT. VIII.

The Apostle, in Order to gain farther upon their Affections, represents the many Hardships and Dangers, to which he and his Brethren were exposed, in Comparison of that easy State in which the Corinthians were; and reminding them at the same Time of their particular Obligations to him, he warns them not to force him on Severities, to the Use of which he was very averse. I Cor. IV. 8, to the End.

I CORINTHIANS IV. 8.

I CORINTHIANS IV. 8.

N OW ye are full, now ye are rich, ye have reign-

T HAVE suggested some humbling Thoughts Sect. 8. to your Confideration; but I fear you will have little Relish for them, as you feem to indulge 1 Cor. IV. 8. yourselves in very different Views. Am I not rather

Sect. 8. rather to congratulate Christians, whose Rank reigned as Kings without and Figure in the World is fo much superior to 1 Cor. IV. 8. that of many of their Brethren, and even of their first Apostle too? For now you are full; now you are rich; you enjoy so great a Degree of Prosperity and Plenty, that methinks you bave even reigned as Kings without us (a): So happy in a Variety of fecular Enjoyments, that you have hardly missed my Company. And indeed I wish you did reign, in the truest and noblest Sense, and were altogether as happy, as you think yourfelves. I wish, the most excellent Powers of the human Nature had, thro' Divine Grace, greater Rule and Sovereignty in your Souls, that we, in the midst of all our present Distress, might also reign with you, and partake of your Happiness, in that high Degree, in which, if it were fincere and folid, our Affection for you would enable us And furely we fufficiently need to share it. fuch Consolation as this; for I think GOD hath exhibited us, the Apostles of his Son, like those Gladiators, which are brought out on the Stage last of all, as appointed to certain Death (b), and therefore not furnished with Weapons of De-us: And I would to Gop ve did reign, that we also might reign with you.

9 For I think that Gop hath let forth us the Apoltles last, as it were appoint-fence,

(c) A Spec-

⁽a) You have reigned as Kings, &c.] This is a proverbial Expression of the most splendid and plentiful Circumstances; and some think, when the Apostle adds, I wish ye did reign, he means, " I wish you had the Authority of Princes, that ye might shelter and ac-" commodate us amidst all our Distresses and Afflictions." But one can hardly think, he did indeed wish each of them a Prince, or the civil Power in their Hands. It feems much more probable, that as spiritual Objects were so familiar to his Mind, he changes the Idea in the Manner the Paraphrase expresses; in which Sense it seems, that Christians are called Priests and Kings, (Rev. i. 6.) as it is certain, they are called a Royal Priesthood. (1 Pet. ii. 9.)—I cannot think, with Mr. L'Enfant, that this refers peculiarly to the factious Pastors of the Church at Corinth.

⁽b) Last of all.] I cannot think, as Elsner seems to do, that the Word exalor, refers to the low Rank, which the Apostles held in secular Life; or with Messieurs Calvin, Locke, and L'Enfant, that St. Paul speaks of himself as the last called Apostle; but that there is a Reference to the Roman Custom of bringing forth those Persons on the Theatre in the after Part of the Day, either to fight with each other, or with wild Beafts, who were appointed to certain Death, and had not that poor Chance of escaping, which those brought forth in the Morning had. Compare Sen. Epist. Cap. vii. Recves Apol. Vol. i. pag. 237. Such Kind of Spectacles were fo common in all the Provinces, that 'tis no Wonder we should find such an Allusion here. The Word anodeigen, exhibited, and bealfon, a Speciacle on the Theatre, have in this Connection a beautiful Propriety. The whole Passage is indeed full of high Eloquence, and finely adapted to move their Compassion in Favour of those, who were so generously exposing and facrificing themselves for the publick Good.

ed to Death. For we are made a Spectacle unto the World, and to Angels, and to Men.

10 We are Fools for Christ's Sake, but ye are wise in Christ: We are weak, but ye are strong: Ye are honourable, but we are despised.

11 Even unto this prefent Hour, we both hunger.

fence, nor allowed so much as a Chance of es- Sect. 8. caping: For we are produced, as it were, on a publick Theatre, and made a Spectacle to the whole 1 Cor. IV. 9. World of rational Creatures, both to Angels and Men (c), who are all held in folicitous Attention to so strange and tragical a Sight. not, that I have aggravated the Representation; the more you attend to our Circumstances, the more you will discern its Justice; for we [are] treated like Fools, Bablers, and Madmen, for the Sake of Christ, (Acts xvii. 18. Chap. xxvi. 24.) as if we were the weakest, and most ignorant of Mankind, because we preach the plain Truths of the Gospel, and endeavour to the utmost to exalt our Lord. But ye [are] wise in Christ: Ye set up for a Kind of Christian Philosophers, of more refined Understandings than your Brethren, and think, you have found out a political Way, at once of fecuring the Bleffings of the Gospel, and escaping its Inconveniencies and Persecutions. We [are] weak, in Presence, in Infirmities, and in Sufferings; but ye [are] strong, have great Confidence in yourselves, and are got above many of those tender Alarms and Impressions, which Hearts like ours are subject to, on a Variety of Occasions; you [are] bonourable, adorned with extraordinary Gifts, in which you are ready to glory, and many of you fet off with Circumstances of external Distinction; but we [are] poor, despised Creatures, treated with Contempt whereever we come. For even to this present Hour, after all the Battles fought, and all the Conquests already gained, by the Gospel, we are often exposed to Circumstances of the extreamest Want and Misery. Sometimes we even bunger and tbirst, and amidst our charitable Journeys to diffuse the Gospel, hardly find Entertainment of the plainest Kind, to relieve our Necessities, or Money to purchase it. And our Cloaths are so worn out with travelling, and we are so ill-furnished

(c) A Spectacle to-Angels and Men.] This Representation is wonderfully pathetick and fublime: Scct. 8.
1 Cor. IV.

nished for buying more, that we are often almost I naked (d), not having decent Raiment to wear, tho' we appear so often in publick Assemblies. And in many Instances, where our benevolent and important Message is heard, instead of being received with due Respect, we are insulted, and perhaps buffeted, by the unruly and barbarous Mob; and at best, if we now and then meet with a little more hospitable Usage, it is but for a very little while; for, whereas you dwell in a rich and magnificent City, we have no certain Abode, but are continually removing from one Place to another. And tho' we are engaged in a Work of so great Importance to the Souls of Men, which might well ingross all our Time and Care; yet such are the Circumstances, in which we are often placed, that we are obliged in Duty and Prudence, to labour in some secular Calling, working with our own Hands, to procure the necessary Supports of the most frugal and parsimonious Life. Being in the most insolent and provoking Manner reviled to our Faces, and loaded with every opprobious Name of Contempt, we meekly blefs, and pray for our Enemies; being persecuted, we endure it patiently, unable to right and help ourselves. Being blasphemed, and spoken of in the most scandalous, and, considering our sacred Character, the most impious Terms, we only intreat, that Men would more impartially examine our Pretensions, that they may entertain more favourable Sentiments concerning us; and in the mean Time we freely forgive them their rash and injurious Censures. And on the whole, such is the Usage we meet with, that we are made and treated like and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and have no certain Dwelling-place;

12 And labour, working with our own Hands: Being reviled, we bless: Being persecuted, we suffer it:

13 Being defamed, we intreat: We are made as fublime: While they considered evil Angels and Men, as beholding them with all the malignant, and good Angels and Men, with all the benevolent Passions, it must have a great Tendency to in pire their Minds with the most heroick Sentiments.—Elsner has given an excellent Collection of Passages from Heathen Writers, in which such a Figure is made Use of by them.

(d) Are naked, &c.] Surely one cannot imagine any more glorious Triumph of the Truth, than what it gained in these Circumstances, when St. Paul, with an Impediment in his Speech, and a Personage, rather contemptible, than graceful, appeared in a mean, and perhaps sometimes tattered Dress, before Persons of the Highest Rank, and yet commanded such Attention, and made such Impressions.

(e) Filth

Sect. 8.

Cor.IV.

13.

the Filth of the World, and are the Off-scouring of all Things unto this Day.

which being taken from the Dregs of the People, are offered as expiatory Sacrifices to the infernal Deities among the Gentiles, and loaded with Curses, Affronts and Injuries, in the Way to the Altars, at which they are to bleed: [or like] the Refuse of all Things to this Day, the very Sweepings of the Streets and Stalls, a Nusance to all around us, and fit for nothing, but to be trampled upon by the meanest and vilest of Mankind.

14 I write not these Things to shame you, but as my beloved Sons I warn

I do not write these Things to shame you, or in any Degree to stain your Credit with other Churches, by such a Representation, as if you were unmindful of my Sufferings for the Gospel: But confidering the Relation in which we stand to each other, and looking upon you as my beloved Sons, I warn [you] of those Dangers, to which I fear you may be exposed, and of the Regard, which it is your Duty and Interest to pay to those, who voluntarily subject themselves to so many Evils on your Account, that you ought furely to be the last to increase their Bur-And I may particularly urgethis with Respect to myself; for if you have ten thousand Instructors in Christ, be they ever so many, or ever so valuable, yet [you have] not .many spiritual Fathers, for in Christ Jesus I Paul have begotten you by the Gospel: I preached it first among you, and was the happy Means of your spiritual Birth, and all the Privileges of God's Children, which you receive by 15 For though you have ten thousand Instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many Fathers: For in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the Gospel.

(e) Filth of the World.] The Word καθαρμαία, has a Force and Meaning here, which no one Word in our Language can express; I have given, what I am persuaded is the true Meaning of it in the Paraphrase, and must refer to Dr. Hen. More, (Theol. Works, pag. 63.) and Dr. Whithy in Loc. for the Illustration of this bold and noble Figure. Suidas tays, that these wretched Victims were called καθαρμαία, as their Death was esteemed an Expiation; and he tells us, the Word πειξημαία, which we render Off-scouring, was also applied to them; and Bos, (Exercit. pag. 125.) illustrates this Sense of the Word by a very large and judicious Collection of Greek Quotations. See also Dr. Ridley's Christian Passover, sag. 22. It appears from some of these Passages, that when the Ashes of these unhappy Men were thrown into the Sea, these very Words were used in the Ceremony, γημα περιξημά, γημα καθαρμα; but the former of these Titles was given them, in Reference to that original Signification of the Words, which the Paraphrase on the End of the Verse expresses. That so wise and ancient a Republick, 28 that of Marseilles, originally a Greek Colony, should have retained this savage Usage, is astonishing; yet Servius expressly asserts it. Serv. in Encid. Lib. III. Lin. 75.

Sect. 8.

I Cor. IV.

16.

vary.

it. I beseech you therefore, [that] with filial Picty and Duty ye be all Imitators of me, keeping strictly to the Faith which I taught you, and carefully copying my Meekness and Humility.

For this Reason, that you may be the better able to trace my Steps, and may be animated to do it with the greater Care, I have sent to you Timothy, who is my beloved Son, or dear Convert, (Acts xix. 22.) and who, tho' yet but a young Man, is remarkably faithful in the Lord, an excellent Christian, who will be able more perfectly to bring to your Remembrance my Ways in Christ, as I am every where teaching in every Church, where I come: by which you will perceive, that I do not act partially with Respect to you, but proceed on general Principles of Integrity and Prudence, from which I no-where allow myself to

Some, I hear, are puffed up in vain and proud Confidence, as if, after all I have faid, I would not come to you, and did not dare to appear in a Place, where I have now so many Opposers.

But they are extreamly mistaken, for I will certainly come to you, and that quickly too, if the Lord, who holds the Reins of universal Government in his Hands, permit: And I will then know and examine, not the confident Speech, and florid Talk of those, that are thus puffed up, but the Power they have to vindicate their Pretensions, and what miraculous Proof they can give of that Authority in the Church, which they presume to oppose to mine. For the Kingdom of GOD is not in Speech, in confident Assertions, or in elegant Forms of Address, but is established in elegant Forms of Address, but is established in the Exertions of a miraculous Power, conferred on the true and genuine Apostles of our Lord by the Essusion of his Spirit upon them, by Virtue of which, his faithful Subjects may be fully satisfied, they act according to his Will, in paying them the Regard they require. What therefore do you on the whole defire, and choose?

That I should come to you, as it were, with a 16 Wherefore I befeech you, be ye Followers of me.

17 For this Cause have I sent unto you Timotheus, who is my beloved Son, and faithful in the Lord, who shall bring you into Remembrance of my Ways which be in Christ, as I teach every wherein every Church.

18 Now fome are puffed up, as though I would not come to you.

ro But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord will, and will know, not the Speech of them which are puffed up, but the Power.

20 For the Kingdom of God is not in Word, but in Power.

21 What will ye? Shall I come unto you with a Rod, or in Love, and in the Spirit of Meekness.

Rod

Vol. IV.

Rod(f) of Correction in my Hand, using my Apostolick Power for your Chastisement, or, which for your Sakes I should much rather choose, in Love, and in the Spirit of Meekness and Gentleness, comforting and commending, instead of chastising? You will, I hope, think feriously upon the Matter in Time, before Things are driven to fuch an Extremity, as may not any longer leave it in my Choice, or yours.

Sect. 8. I Cor. IV. 21.

IMPROVEMENT.

TOW adorable is the Efficacy of Divine Grace, which bore those zealous and faithful Servants of Christ, thro' all their Labours and Fatigues, when they were made a Spectacle to the World, to Angels Ver. 9. and Men! How glorious a Spectacle! worthy furely, as any Thing, fince that wonderful Scene on Calvary, of the Eye of God himself.

How little are we to judge of the Divine Favour by external Circumstances, when those best of Men, were of all others the most iniserable, farther, than as their heavenly Hope supported and animated them! And when that is taken into the Account, who would not emulate their Lot, tho' bungry and thirsty, tho' naked and destitute, without Habitation, with- Ver. 11,-13. out Protector, without Friends? When we consider their Share in the Divine Friendship, when we consider the blessed Effects of their Labours, and the glorious Crown which awaits them after all their Sufferings; furely they must appear happy in Proportion to the Degree in which they feemed miserable, and glorious in Proportion to the Degree in which the World held them as infamous!

That illustrious Person, whose Epistles are now before us, knew not the Pleasures of domestick Life, in many of its most endearing Relations.

(f) With a Rod of Correction.] That the Apolles had often a miraculous Power of inflicting Death, and other temporal Judgments, in Case of aggravated Offence, appears from other Passages of Scripture. Alls v. 5,-10. Chap. xiii. 10, 11. 1 Tim. i. 20. and is referred to more than once, or twice, in these Epistles to the Corinthians, I Cor. v. 5. 2 Cor. i. 23. Chap. x. 6, 8. Chap. xiii. 2, 3, 10. And I cannot mention these Passages, without leading my Reader to reflect on the Wisdom of Providence, in permitting such Opposition to arise against St. Paul, particularly at Corinth: It gave him an Opportunity of making the strongest Appeals to what they are supposed to know of his miraculous Power; and had these Appeals not been indeed founded on the most certain and evident Truth, they must, instead of restoring him to their Regards, as we find in Fact they did, have been sufficient of themselves utterly to have ruined all his Reputation, and Interest among them, had it before been ever so great.

Κk

Digitized by GOOGIC

258 Reflections on St. Paul's Tenderness for his Children in Christ.

But God made him a spiritual Father to Multitudes; and no Doubt, as Sect. 8. he urges the Consideration on his Children in Christ, he felt the Joy ari-Ver. 15. fing from it strong in his own Soul, when he said, I bave begotten you in Christ Jesus by the Gospel. Surely it ought never to have been forgotten by them; and if thro' the Artifices of ill-defigning Men, and the remaining Infirmities of their own Character, it was sometimes, and in some Degree forgotten now, yet undoubtedly, it would be immembered by them in the heavenly World for ever; even by as many, as the Lord bis Ver. 14. GOD had graciously given him. And if there be any Remembrance there, that they once grieved him, it will be an Engagement to all those Offices of an eternal Friendship, which the Exaltation of the heavenly State shall allow. In the mean Time, his paternal Affection for them wrought, not in a foolish Fondness of Indulgence, which in the Language of Divine Wildom, is bating a Son; but in the Character of a prudent and Ver. 21. faithful Parent, who, defirous that his Children may be as wife, and good as possible, will rather use the Rod than suffer them to be undone. Yet when he speaks of using it, he speaks with Regret, as one who would rather chuse to act in the Spirit of Gentleness, and without any Mixture of Severity, how necessary soever. The whole of his subsequent Conduct to the Corinthians, as far as it may be learned from this, or the fol-

May God give to his Ministers more of this truly apostolical Spirit, more of those Overslowings of holy Love, attempering and attempered by, that ardent Zeal against Sin, and that firm Resolution in the Discharge of Duty, which shone so brightly in the Apostle, and in which he so freely and justly recommends himself to the Imitation of his Children and his Brethren.

lowing Epiftle, bears a perfect Confishency with these Expressions, and illustrates their Sincerity.

SECT.

SECT. IX.

The Apostle proceeds to mention the Irregularities, which prevailed in the Corinthian Church: and here handleth the Case of the incestuous Person, whom he commands them to separate from their Communion. I Cor. V. I, to the End.

1 CORINTHIANS V. I.

I T is reported commonly, that there is Fornication among you, and such Fornication, as is not so much as named amongst the Gentiles, that one should have his Fathers Wife.

2 And ye are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he that hath done this Deed

I CORINTHIANS V. I.

T HAVE spoken of coming to you with a Sect. 9. Rod of Correction; and it is too probable I may be laid under a Necessity of using it, tho' I Cor. V. I. it be an unwilling Necessity. For it is generally reported (a) [that there is] a Kind of Lewdness among you, and that too fuch scandalous and enormous Lewdness as is not beard of even among the Heathen, degenerate as they are, and abandoned as their Practices are known to be, even that a certain Person should have used criminal Converse with bis Father's Wife (b). One would have 2 imagined that a Scandal like this, should have thrown the whole Society into Distress and Humiliation, like the publick Mourning of a Jewish Synagogue on the Apostacy or Ejection of one of its Members; and yet it is faid, that ye are puffed up with this Spirit of Pride and Carnality which I have been mentioning and reproving. Should ye not rather have lamented on this fad Occasion? and pursued those strenuous Meafures for Reformation which the Genius of the Gospel so evidently dictates, that he who hath committed

(a) Generally reported.] Dr. Whithy thinks, that the scandalous Stories that were generally told among the Heathen, of the incessuous Practices of primitive Christians, had their Original from the Misrepresentation of this Fact. Many Quotations, brought by this learned Author, and others, on this Text, shew, that Incess was held in high Abomination among the Heathen; and an Enormity of this Kind is, (as is well known,) called by Cicero, Scelus incredibile & inouditum, an incredible and unheard of Wickedness. See also Grot. de Jure Bel. & Pac. Lib. II. Cap. v. §. 14. No. 2.

(b) Criminal Converse.] Probably some Father had parted with his Wife, perhaps provoked by her Indiscretion, and his Son, to whom she was Mother-in-law, had married her; for by 2 Cor. vii. 12. it seems probable, the Person injured was yet alive.

K k 2

(c) Present

mitted this Fact should be taken away from you, and be no longer allowed to continue in your Com-Cor. V. 3. munion? But however negligent you have been, and whatever Consequence I draw upon myself by interposing in this Affair, I cannot, I will not be filent. I am absent indeed in Body, and therefore cannot take these vigorous Steps, which my Zeal for the Honour of Christ, and my tender Concern for your Reputation and Happiness, dictate: But I am present in Spirit (c); I have a distinct View of all the Circumstances of the Case, and therefore in as determinate a Manner, as if I were actually present, I have judged and passed Sentence on him, who I know has indeed And the Sentence committed this Enormity. I have passed is this: That ye being all solemnly gathered together in full affembly, in the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ, and my Spirit being prefent with you, with the efficacious Power of our Lord Jesus Christ, acting according to my Determination, tho' I be at fuch a Distance, and being ready to add an awful Efficacy and Sanction to your Censure, D_0 by a publick and express Act deliver such an one by Name to Satan (d) to be by him, as the terrible Executioner of the Divine Justice and Displeasure, chastised and tormented, in Order to the Destruction of the Flesh, that, for this shameful Indulgence of its lascivious Appetites and Defires, it may be emaciated and enfeebled, and the Offender, alarmed by Sufferings of so extraordinary and formidable a Nature, if possible, may be brought to true Re-

Deed might be taken away from among you.

3 For I verily, as absent in Body, but present in Spirit, have judged already, as though I were present, concerning him that hath so done this Deed;

4 In the Name of our Jesus Christ, when ye are gathered together, and my Spirit, with the Power of our Lord Jesus Christ,

5 To deliver fuch an one unto Satan for the Destruction of the Flesh, that the

(c) Present in Spirit.] Some think, this refers to an extraordinary Gift, which St. Paul had, of discerning clearly and circumstantially, what was done at a Distance. Compare Col. ii. 5. 2 Kings v. 26. Chap. vi. 12. See Dr. Benson's Hist. Vol. ii. pag. 16.

pentance

⁽d) To deliver such an one to Satan, &c.] Some think, that, as Satan is considered as the Head of all, who are not under Christ as their Head, that is, in the Church of Christ, every one, who was cut off from the Church, must of Course be delivered over to Satan; but it feems much more reasonable to believe, that this refers to the Infliction of some bedily Pains or Difeases, in which Satan might act as the Instrument of the Divine Justice. Compare 1 Tim. i. 20. and this was for the Destruction of the Flesh; not directly of the fleshly Principle, for in that Sense it could not be opposed to the saving the Spirit in the Day of the Lord; but probably, as the Paraphrase intimates, for the emaciating and inseebling the Powers of animal Nature.

Spirit may be faved in the Day of the Lord Jesus.

pentance and Humiliation, that so the immortal Spirit may be saved, in the Day of the Lord Jesus, from those infinitely more insupportable and everlasting Agonies, to which it might otherwise be doomed.

Sect. 9.
I Cor. V.5.

6 Your Glorying is not good: Know ye not, that a little Leaven leaveneth the whole Lump?

And give me Leave on this Occasion farther to tell you, that your Boasting, whether of such a Person as your Friend, if he be remarkable for any peculiar Distinction in Gifts, Abilities and Circumstances; or against him, as your Enemy, if he be of an opposite Faction, [is] not by any Means good (e). Do you not know, in a familiar Instance, which it may be profitable for you to recollect, that a little Leaven quickly diffuses itfelf by a fecret Fermentation, till it leaveneth the whole Mass. Thus will evil Examples tend to spread in the Church; and if a Brand of Infamy be not quickly fet upon the incorrigible Offender, Wickedness will grow familiar, and lose its Horror; fo that many other Members of your Society may be polluted, enfnared and dishonoured. Set yourselves therefore with a Resolution and Diligence, like that, which the Jews shew in all their Dwellings, when the annual Feast of the Passover is approaching, to purge out the old Leaven: Search for it, as it were, with lighted Candles, wherever you suspect any of it to lurk unobserved, that ye may indeed be intirely a new Mass; as ye are by your Christian Profession unleavened, let there be no Mixture of any Thing inconfistent with that Simplicity and Purity, which the Gospel teaches.

7 Purge out therefore the old Leaven, that ye may be a new Lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our Passover is facrificed for

It is a Diligence and Resolution that becomes you; for we have not only the Divine Command to inforce it, but this tender additional Obligation, that even Christ our Passover was slain for us (f).

(e) Your Boasting is not good.] L'Enfant would read it interrogatively, Have you not a fine Subject for boasting? which is indeed more animated than our Version; but I think, not in the Taste and Manner of St. Paul, nor does it seem exactly to suit the Original.

(f) Christ our Passover was slain.] It is well known, that Justin Martyr, in his Dialogue with Trypho the Jew, accuses the Jews with having taken out of the Book of Estars the following Words, "The Passover is our Saviour, and our Refuge." L'Eusant thinks, these Words of St. Paul are an Allusion to them.—It is a very inconclu-

He hath made his precious Blood the Price of I our Redemption, that he might make it the 1 Cor. V. 7. Means of our Sanctification, and that we, instead of being smitten by the Sword of the avenging Angel, might fit down to a Divine Banquet in Let us then keep the holy Feast, which he hath at such an Expence provided for us, and in which he feedeth us even with his own Flesh; and let us celebrate it in a Manner, which may do him the greatest Honour, and be most pleasing to the adorable Author of our Liberty, and our Happiness; that is, not with the old stale Leaven of Uncleanness, so common in your Gentile Estate, nor with the Leaven of Malignity and Mischief, which your Judaizing Teachers would infuse, tho' it is as inconsistent with the Benevolence, as the other, with the Purity of the Gospel: But avoiding these with the strictest Care, keep it with the unleavened [Bread] of Sincerity and Truth; with the most simple and sincere Desire of knowing and practifing every Branch of our Duty: which if we really have, it will keep us from all these Evils, and secure an Uniformity of Behaviour, honourable to our Profession, and agreeable to the glorious Scheme and Design of its illustrious Author.

8 Therefore let us keep the Feast, not with old Leven, neither with the Leaven of Malice, and Wickedness; but with the unleavened Bread of Sincerity and Truth.

In this Connection it occurs to me, and I conclude you remember, that I wrote to you in an Epistle, which I sent you before your Messengers reached me, that you should not converse with Fornicators, and lewd Persons (g), or others of ill Fame and Character. But I think you must apprehend, that by what I then wrote, I intended not intirely to forbid all Converse with the lewd People of this World, or with covetous 9 I wrote to you in an Epistle, not to company with Fornicators.

vith the Fornicators of this World, or with the covetous, or Extortioner, or with five Inference of some from this Context, that this Epifle was written about the Time of the Passover. Compare Chap. xvi. 8.

(g) Lewd Persons.] I have rendered mopos, lewd Persons, in these Verses, as I think it very plain, the Apostle intended the Word should be taken in that Extent; his Argument concluding yet more strongly against some other Species of Lewdness, than against what is ealled simple Fornication, detestable as that is. See Vol. i. pag. 235. Note (f). and Vol. ii. pag. 227. Note (f).

(b) Those

Men.

with Idolaters; for then must ye needs go out of the World.

11 But now I have written unto you, not to keep Company, if any Man that is called a Brother, be a Fornicator, or covetous, or an Idolater, or a Railer, or a Drunkard, or an Extortioner, with fuch an one no not to cat.

12 For what have I to do to judge them also that are without? Do not ye judge them that are within?

13 But them that are without, God judgeth. Therefore Men, or Extortioners, or Idolaters, among your Sect. 9. Heathen Neighbours; for then, as these Characters fo generally prevail among Mankind in this degenerate State, you must indeed go out of the World, and feek some solitary Abode in the Wilderness; which is what I never intended to re-But the Intent of what quire, or encourage. I then faid, and of what I bave now written unto you, is, that if any one who is named a Christian Brother be evidently a lewd Person, or remarkably covetous, or in Acts of occasional, tho' not stated and customary Worship, an Idolater, or even a Railer, who labours to provoke others by foul Language, and infulting Behaviour, or injures any in their Absence by slanderous Reports, or a Drunkard, and in any other Respects an abandoned Senfualist, or a rapacious Extortioner, you should not converse familiarly, or so much as eat with fuch an one, in common Life, and much less, in such religious Solemnities as are peculiar to the Church of Christ, which ought ever to be a pure and holy Society.

You must understand my Caution with such a Limitation as this: For what have I to do, as a Christian Apostle, to judge those that are without the Pale of the Church? Of others indeed I may fpeak; for do not even you, in your more private Capacity, judge those that are within? I have taught you, that every private Christian should be concerned in his Station to maintain the Disciline of the Church of Christ, and to bear his Testimony against disorderly Walkers, which may at present have a Place in it. But let it be remembered, that those, who are without, GOD judgeth (b); and he will find a Way, sooner or later, to testify his awful Displeasure against them, for Crimes which they have committed against the Law of Nature, and that Acquaintance with it which

(h) Those, who are without, GOD judgeth.] Dr. Whithy thinks, this is an oblique Reference to the Mother-in-law of the incelluous Person, who was a Heathen; which, from the Apofel's giving no Directions concerning her, is not improbable. But I think, the Views of St. Paul, in this Clause, were more extensive, and have paraphrased them accordingly.

1 Cor. V. 10.

(i) Take

Reflections on the godly Discipline of the Christian Church.

264

1 Cor. V.

¥ 3.

Ver. 1.

Ver. 5.

Ver. 7.

Ver. 10.

Ver. 11.

y. which he knows they actually had, or might have attained. Therefore in Confideration of this, both in one View, and the other, let it be your immediate Care, as you regard the Peace of the Church, and the Safety of your own Souls, speedily, and with all due Solemnity, to take away from among yourselves the wicked Person (i) I have mentioned, and any others, whose Characters may, like his, be scandalous and insectious.

put away from among your-, felves that wicked Person.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 13. APPY are those Churches who have it in their Power to exercise godly Discipline, and to chase from their Communion such Members, as are its Reproach and Scandal! Happy they, who having this Power, have the Courage and Fidelity to use it, so as not to be shamed and condemned by it. Let us not be too much surprized, that Offences come, and if there are even in Christian Societies some Energy.

Offences come, and if there are, even in Christian Societies, some Enormities, beyond what are commonly heard of among the Gentiles. It is no Wonder, if such abandon themselves, yea, if they are in righteous

Judgment abandoned of God, to the uncontroulable Rage of their own Lusts and Corruptions, and the great Enemy of Souls be suffered to carry them captive at his Pleasure. Let it however be our Concern that when this is the Case, the wicked Person be taken away. And tho' the extraordinary Power which the Apostles had, be long ceased, and we cannot deliver over Offenders for Correction to Satan, as they did, let us take such Methods as are still open, for purging the old Leaven out of our Churches; and Oh, that we may be enabled to purge it out of our Hearts! remembering Christ our Passover, who was slain for us, feeding daily upon him by Faith, and keeping the sacred Festival, at once with Joy and Gladness, and with Simplicity and Sincerity of Heart.

Lamentable indeed is it, that so many Vices should prevail in human Nature, that he, who would avoid all Society with Persons of a bad Character, must needs go out of the World. But most lamentable of all, that any one who is called a Brother, should be a Fornicator, or Covetous, an Idolater, or Railer, a Drunkard or an Extortioner. May God preferve us from such detestable Crimes, and may he purge out all such Spots as these from our Feasts of Charity! And to that End, may he quicken

⁽i) Take away, &c.] This feems plainly to imply, that the Corinthians had a Power of Excommunication in themselves, as has generally been pleaded by congregational Writers from this Text.

quicken our Zeal to bear a Testimony against them, in every such Me- Sect. 9. thod as fuits our Relation and Circumstances of Life! Above all, let not any ever imagine, that being joined in Communion with a Christian Church, can excuse the Guilt of such immoral and scandalous Practises, for which the Wrath of GOD comes even upon the Children of Disobedience among the Heathen. GOD will have his Time to judge them that Ver. 13. are without; and not only Christians at large, as some may fondly and perhaps profanely be ready to call themselves, but Mahometans and Pagans too, shall find Articles like these, sitting upon their Souls with a dreadful Weight, and if fincere Repentance do not make Way for Pardon, plunging them into the lowest Abyss of Misery, into a State of everlasting Separation from the blessed God, and all his holy and acceptable Servants.

SECT. X.

The Apostle reproves the Corinthians for prosecuting their Brethren in Heathen Courts, and solemnly warns them of the sad Consequences which would attend the Indulgence of those criminal Dispositions and Practices, in which Christianity found them, and from which it was intended to deliver 1 Cor. VI. 1,---11. them.

I CORINTHIANS VI. I.

ARE any of you, having a Matter against another, go to Law before the Unjust, and not before the Saints?

Vol. IV.

I CORINTHIANS VI. I.

THAVE already mentioned one very great Ir- Sect. 10. ▲ regularity among you; and now I am under < an unhappy Necessity of animadverting upon 1 Cor. VI. 1 another; which is, that you enter into suits of Law with each other in Heathen Courts. is this possible? Dare any of you indeed act so shameful a Part? Can you really be so imprudent, having any Matter [of Complaint] against another, as to refer it to the Decision of Men, who lie under so many Temptations to be unjust, and not of the Saints (a), of your Christian Brethren, from (a) Unjust-Saints.] The Heathen Judges, as Paul seems here to insinuate, or rather in Effect

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 10. from whose Sanctity of Character and Profession you might reasonably expect the most equitable 1 Cor. VI. 1. Usage, and the utmost Tenderness in accommodating Differences, upon the easiest Terms that 2 Justice will allow. Do you not yet indeed know, have you never been told it by me, or by any other, that the Saints shall in the great Day judge the World? that they shall be Assessor with Christ in that solemn Judgement when he shall condemn all the Ungodly? (Compare Mat. xix. 28.) And if the World is shortly to be judged by you, are ye unworthy of determining the most infecular Affairs?

2 Do ye not know that the Saints shall judgethe World? And if the World shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest Matters?

I repeat it again; and you will find it a striking Argument, if you will allow yourselves to reslect upon it; know you not that we skall judge even the fallen Angels (b) themselves, who notwithstanding all their Malignity and Pride, shall be brought to that Tribunal at which you, having gloriously passed your own Trial, shall be seated with Christ, confiderable Matters, which daily occur in your

3 Know ye not that we shall judge Angels? How much Effect to declare, were generally unjuk; Christians were generally good, righteous and holy Men. There might be Exceptions on each Side, but the Apostle's Argument turns on what might commonly be supposed. The Saints, who are to judge Angels, are not merely professing Christians.—To suppose, that the Case of the incessuous Corinthian had been carried before a Heathen Judge, as Mr. Locke supposes, seems intirely groundless. A thousand other Disputes might have occasioned the Remonstrance before us.

(b) Shall judge Angels.] Had the Apostle, as Dr. Whithy supposed, referred to the Power which many Christians had, of driving out Damons from those, who were possessed by them, he would not have spoke of this as a future Thing, nor can we suppose it to have been common to all Christians, nor would it have afforded an Argument equally forcible with that which the Paraphrase suggests. Mr. Reynolds extends the Interpretation yet farther, and teems to infer from it, that the holy Angels are still in a State of Probation, and shall be rewarded at the last Day, according to the Degree of their Fidelity and Activity in the Services affigned to them by Chrift, as the Head of Angels, who shall take his redeemed from among Men, to be Affeliors with him in that final Sentence. Reyn. of Ang. pag. 183. But the Angelick Legions are represented in quite another View, namely as ministering to Chrift, adding Pomp to his Appearance, and executing his Sentence; which, I think, fufficiently proves, that this is an ungrounded Interpretation, and that if any such Judgment is to pass with Regard to them, it must be at some other Time, and in some other Place. But there feems a peculiar Dignity and Propriety in this Determination of the great God, that when the Devils, who are expressly said to be referved in Chains of Darkness to the Judgment of the great Day, shall be condemned, the Saints, being raised to the Seats of Glory which these wicked Spirits have forseited and lost, should assist in that Sentence, which shall display the Victory of Christ over them in these his Servants, once their Captives, and will no Doubt, render the Sentence itself, yet more intolerable to Creatures of such Malignity and Pride.

(c) Do

tain to this Life?

4 If then ye have Judgments of Things pertaining to this Life, fet them to judge, who are least esteemed in the Church.

5 I speak to your Shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise Man amongst you? No, not one that shall be able to judge between his Brethren?

. 6 But Brother goeth to Law with Brother, and that before the Unbelievers.

much more Things that per- Christ, your victorious Lord, when by his righ- Sect. 10. teous Sentence he shall send these rebellious Spirits to that flaming Prison, which Divine Justice hath prepared for them. And [are ye] not then much more apparently [worthy to judge] the little trifling Affairs which relate to this mortal Life? If therefore ye, who have such great Honours 4 and Dignities in View, bave, in the mean Time, any little Controverses with each other, relating to the Affairs of this Life, do ye set those to determine them, who are of no Esteem at all in the Church (c), but whom ye know to be Idolaters, Despifers of the Gospel, and Enemies to your great Master and his Cause, as your Heathen Neighbours undoubtedly are? I speak [this] to your Shame; and hope, you blush while you read it. Are Things indeed come to fuch a Pass in your Church, celebrated as it is, and boasting fo much of its Wisdom, that this should be necessary? What is there not one wise intelligent Perfon among you all, who may be able to determine the Cause of a Christian Brother? But the civil 6 Constitution allows you to decide these Things among yourselves, one Brother hath a Suit against another, and this before Infidels (d), who cannot but be greatly scandalized at this, and take Occasion, from your mutual Quarrels and Accusations, to brand the whole Body of you as injurious and avaritious; who while you pretend to be so far superior to secular Views, are yet so

(c) Do ye fet them, &c.] Our Translation renders it, set them to judge, who are least efteemed in the Church, as if the Apostle had faid, " take the meanest Christian, rather than 4 any Heathen." But I follow that preferred by Beza, and Whithy. Limborch would understand xpilippea, as equivalent to Sinasinpia, and render it, as a Piece of Advice, " consti- tute to yourselves Courts of Judicature, relating to civil Affairs."—Elsner shews, that xall xan, fignifies to place Persons on judicial Seats. Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 93.

(d) One Brother has a Suit against another, &c.] Josephus observes, that the Romans, (who were now Masters of Corinth,) permitted the fector in foreign Countries, to decide private Affairs, where nothing Capital was in Question, among themselves: And from hence Dr. Lardner argues the Justice of this Rebuke of St. Paul, as there is no Room to doubt, but Christians might have had the same Priviledge, as they were looked upon as a Tewish Sect. Credibility, Vol. i. pag. 165. But separate from that, they might certainly by mutual Consent have chosen their Brethren as Referces.

(e) Even

Sect. 10. strongly attached to them, that with all your Pro-J fessions of universal Benevolence and brotherly 1 Cor. VI. 7. Love, you cannot forbear wronging one another? Therefore whoever may have the Right on his Side on this or that particular Question, even this is altogether a Fault among you, that you bring it under the Cognizance of Heathens (e), on whatever Occasion it be, that ye have such Lawfuits and Contests with each other. Why do ye not rather endure Wrong patiently, and fit down by the Loss? Why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded, than feek fuch a Remedy as 8 this? But indeed, to speak plainly, you do Wrong, and you defraud even [your] Brethren. By fuch Proceedings as these, you do much greater Injury to the Church of Christ, and the common Cause of Religion, than you can suftain from any particular Brother, against whom you advance a Complaint. Nor is this the only Thing, wherein you are to blame, nor the only Instance, in which you injure each other.

> And permit me to expostulate with you a little on this Head. What! can you contentedly facrifice this great and glorious Hope, which the Gospel gives you? With all your boasted Knowledge, do ye not indeed know, that the Unjust shall not inherit the Kingdom of GOD? Be not deceived by a vain Imagination, that the Christian Name and Privileges will secure you in the Practice of your Vices: For I now folemnly affure you, as I have often done, that neither Fornicators, nor Idolaters, nor Adulterers, nor effeminate Persons, who give themselves up to a soft indolent Way of living, and can endure no Hardships in the Way of Duty and Honour; nor Sodomites, those infa-10 mous Degraders of human Nature, Thieves, nor those who are insatiably covetous, nor Drunkards, nor Revilers, nor rapacious Persons, who by Extortion, or any other Kind of Violence, invade the Property of their Neighbours;

7 Now therefore there is utterly a Fault among you, because ye go to Law one with another: Why do ye not rather take Wrong? Why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded?

8 Nay, ye do Wrong and defraud, and that your Brethren.

9 Know ye not that the Unrighteous shall not inherit the Kingdom of Goo? Be not deceived: Neither Fornicators, nor Idolaters, nor Adulterers, nor effeminate, nor Abusers of themselves with Mankind,

10 Nor Thieves, nor covetous, nor Drunkards, nor Revilers, nor Extertioners, shall

(e) Even this is altogether a Fault among you.] That nIn, should be rendered even, Raphelius hath well observed, and proved. Annot. ex Herod. in Loc.

ſkall

of Gop.

shall inherit the Kingdom shall inherit that pure and peaceful Region, the Sect. 10. Kingdom of GOD, where Holiness and Love must for ever reign, under the auspicious Government of his Son.

I Cor. VI.

II And fuch were fome. of you: But ye are washed, but ye are fanctified, but ye are justified in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our GoD.

And while I write this, excuse me, that I think it my Duty folemnly, tho' tenderly, to call you, my dear Brethren, to recollect, that fuch detested Creatures, as these, were some of you in your unconverted State! as many of your Neighbours know, and as you yourselves, with deep Humility and Agony of Soul confessed. But ye are washed, not merely by the Baptism of Water; but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified; Divine Grace has made a happy Change in your State and Temper; and ye are purified and renewed, as well as discharged from the Condemnation to which ye were justly obnoxious, in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of him, whom we are now taught, thro' that common Saviour, to call with Complacency our You ought therefore ever to maintain the most grateful Sense of this important Blesfing, to stand at the remotest Distance from Sin, and to be tender of the Peace and Honour of a Society, which God hath founded by his extraordinary Interposition, and into which he hath been pleased in so wonderful a Manner to bring even you, who were once in the most infamous and deplorable State.

IMPROVEMENT.

LAS! How great a Reproach do we bring on our Christian Profession, by so immoderate an Attachment to our secular Interests! How much does the Family of our common Father fuffer, while Brother goes to Law with Brother? What are these little Interests of mortal Life, that the Heirs of Salvation, by whom Angels are to be judged, should wrangle about them, and for the Sake of them do Wrong, and that even to their Brethren!

Men had Need, where such a Temper prevails, to examine themfelves, and take Heed that they be not deceived; for tho' good Men may Ver. 9. fall into some Degrees of this Evil, thro' Negligence or Mistake; yet certainly,

Sect. 10. certainly, it looks too much like the Character of fuch, of whom the Apostle testifies, that they shall not inherit the Kingdom of GOD. Let us observe, that in this Catalogue, are contained, not only the most infamous and enormous Offenders, but some, who perhaps may be tempted, because of their Freedom from flagitious Crimes, to think much better of themselves, than they ought. We find here the Effeminate, and Covetous, and Revilers, and Extortioners, ranked with Adulterers, and Fornicators, with Thieves and Drunkards, with Idolaters and Sodomites. We can never be secure from Danger of falling into the greatest Sins, till we learn to guard against the least; or rather, till we think no Evil fmall; viewing every Sin in its Contradiction to the Nature of God. and in the fad Aspect it wears with Regard to an eternal State.

Ver. 11.

But how astonishing is it to reflect, that when the Apostle is speaking of Persons of such infamous Characters, he should be able to add, in his Address to his Christian Brethren at Corinth, And such were some of you! Who must not adore the Riches and Sovereignty of Divine Grace? Were such as these the best of the Heathen World? Were such as these prepared by their distinguished Virtues to receive farther Assistance? Let us rather pay our Homage to that Grace, which went, as it were, into the Suburbs of Hell, to gather from thence Citizens of Heaven. let the worst of Men learn, not to despair of Salvation, when made sincerely defirous of being walhed and fanctified, as well as justified, in the Name of our Lord Jefus, and by the Spirit of our GOD. 'Tis that Name, 'tis that Spirit alone, which accomplishes Works like these. And, blesfed be God, all the Wonders of this Kind were not exhausted in those early Ages, but some have been reserved for us, on whom the End of the World is come: The Gospel hath exerted its Triumphs in our own Days, and they shall be renewed in those of our Children. Only let none from hence presume to turn the Grace of GOD into Wantonness; lest, instead of being among the few, who are made the Trophies of the Divine Mercy, they should perish with the Multitude of the ungodly World, who die in their Pollutions, and go down to final and irreverfible Condemnation.

SECT.

SECT. XI.

Whereas some among the newly converted Corinthians, might not be sufficiently sensible of the Enormity of the Sin of Fornication, the Apostle, after some useful Reslections on Things, really indifferent, expresses himself strongly on that Head, and pleads those Views peculiar to Christianity, which especially illustrate the Heinousness of it. I Cor. VI. 12, to the End.

1 Corinthians VI. 12.

LL Things are law-A ful unto me, but all Things are not expedient: All Things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the Power of any.

13 Meats for the Belly, and the Belly for Meats: But God shall destroy both

I CORINTHIANS VI. 12.

KNOW, fome of you at Corinth, allow Sect. 11. yourselves to philosophize with great Liberty, 🔾 and find many Excuses for doing Things, which others conscientiously scruple: But as Matters at present stand, I think it necessary to give you fome Cautions upon this Head. Suppose the Things in Question to be as indifferent in their own Nature, as many of you would fain perfuade yourselves and others, they are: I will, for Argument Sake, grant, that all these Things are lawful for me; but at the same Time you must acknowledge, if you reflect ever so little, that all fuch Things are not convenient: Circumstances may make it improper for me to do that, which is not absolutely and universally criminal. And though it be allowed, that all Things in Question are lawful for me, nevertheless I will not be brought under the Power of any fuch Thing. But am folicitous to maintain fuch a Superiority to Appetite and Passion, as becomes a Man, and a Christian, in these Cases. This Maxim may particularly be applied to the supposed Difference between one Kind of Food, and another. All Meats, capable of ministering to our Nourishment, [are] indifferently made for the Use of the Belly, and the Belly is made for receiving and digesting Meats. It is true; but then it ought to be remembered,

I Cor. VII.

1 Cor. VI. 13.

15

Sect. 11. that the Time will quickly come, when GOD will destroy both it and them; Meats, and the Organs, by which they have been received, and this animal Frame, which has been nourithed by them, shall be mixed together in the Grave, and moulder into Dust. Since therefore they refer only to this mortal Body, so soon to be reduced to its first mean Principles, it is certainly beneath the Dignity of the Christian Character to be a Slave to this or that Kind of Meats; or in any Instances, to indulge this perishing Flesh, so as to injure the Souls of others, or hazard our own.

But if any Man extend the Maxim, I have mentioned above, to patronize any Kind of Lewdness, it would be a groundless and most unjustifiable Inference: For it is most certain, that the Body is not made for so infamous a Purpose as Fornication, nor can the Commission of it be ever necessary, or expedient; but it was on the contrary, formed for the Service of the Lord, that, while we continue in it, we might devote all our animal, as well as rational Powers, to our great Creator and Redeemer; and the Lord is in an important Sense for the Body, he is the great Saviour of the Body as well as of the Soul, and will make it at last appear, that he hath not forgotten the meaner Part of our Nature, in the gracious Scheme he hath formed for our Felicity. And this Scheme shall surely be effectual; for GOD the Father bath both raised up the Lord Jefus Christ, from the Dead to an immortal Life, and will also raise us up, in like Manner, by bis Divine and Almighty Power, and transform these Bodies of ours into a Resemblance of the glorified Body of our Lord; which should certainly raise us above all impure Affections and Desires, and engage us to live in the Body, in some Conformity to fo divine and glorious a Hope.

Enter, I befeech you, into the Thought; and let me expostulate freely with those, who are ready to forget it. Know ye not indeed, that, as your Bodies make an effential Part of yourselves, it and them. Now the Body is not for Fornication, but for the Lord; and the Lord for the Body.

14 And God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own Power.

15 Know ye not, that your they

your Bodies are the Members of Christ? Shall I then take the Members of Christ, and make them the Members of an Harlot? God forbid.

16 What, know ye not that he which is joined to an Harlot, is one Body? For two (faith he) shall be one Flesh.

17 But he that is joined unto the Lord, is one Spirit.

18 Flee Fornication. Every Sin that a Man doeth, is without the Body: But he that committeth Fornication, finneth against his own Body.

they are to be considered as Members of Christ, Sect. 11. belonging, as it were, to his Body, and in that View under his Care, as to their final and everlasting Happiness with him. Shall I then take these, which I am taught to look upon, as in an important Sense the Members of Christ, and prostitute them to so infamous a Purpose, as to make them the Members of an Harlot by unlawful Embraces? GOD forbid! It is a Thing not to be thought of, without the utmost Abhorrence and What, know ye not, that he, who Indignation. is thus joined to an Harlot, is one Body with her? For fay [the Divine Oracles;] speaking of that Conjuction, which Whoredom prostitutes to the Dishonour of Matrimony, so wisely and graciously ordained by GoD; (Gen. ii. 24.) they two, that is, the Man and his Wife, shall be one Flesh. But on the other Hand, he that is joined to the Lord by a true Faith, is one Spirit with him. And as the Head and Members of the natural Body are one, as they are acted upon by the fame Spirit, so the same divine and holy Spirit, which lives in Christ as the Head, is communicated to us from him; just as the vital Spirits are communicated from the Head to the Limbs. Now what Thought can be more monstrous, than that any one should think of being, at the fame Time, one Spirit with the Lord, and one Flesh with an Harlot? Let this therefore be instead of ten thousand Arguments, to engage you to flee Whoredom: Concerning which one may farther plead, that every [other] Sin, which a Man practifes, is without the Body; its Effects fall not fo directly upon the Body, but often more immediately upon the Mind (a). But he that committeth Whoredom, or any Kind of Lewdness, sinneth particularly against his own Body (b), not

(a) Every [other]. Sin, &c.] It would be unreasonable to insist on the most rigorous Interpretation of these Words; but the general Sense is plain and true, and I suppose, that on the whole, there is no other Sin, by which the Body receives equal Detriment, confidering not only its Nature, but how much it has prevailed.

(b) He that committeth Whoredom, finneth against his own Body.] This is well illustrated Vol. IV. M m

I Cor. VI. 15.

LCor. VL. 18.

20

Sect. 11. only polluting and debasing it, by making it one with so infamous a Creature, but perhaps infecting and infeebling, wasting and consuming it, which these Vices, when grown habitual and frequent, have an apparent Tendency to effect. (Compare Prov. v. 11. Job xxxvi. 14.) There is also another View, in which the Baseness of this Crime must appear to you, Christians, in Confequence of your Relation to that bleffed Agent, 10 the Spirit of God. Have you not all been baptized in his Name, and instructed in your Relation to him? What, know you not, that your Body is the Temple of the Holy Ghost, which is in you, dedicated to him and inhabited by him: even that Spirit, which you receive of GOD, as his most valuable Gift? And on the whole, in whatever View you confider yourselves, it will appear, that ye are not by any Means your own Property, nor can be justly at your own Disposal, to seek your present Gratification without Controll, or Regard to the Will of a Superior.

For the contrary is most apparent; ye are bought with a Price, and that infinitely beyond what you can pretend to be worth. Therefore, far from doing any Thing to bring a Dishonour on Religion, you ought in every Action, Word and Sentiment, to own yourselves his Property, and exert yourselves to the utmost, in a Course of vigorous and constant Obedience, to glorify GOD, both with your Body, and with your Spirit, which are, by the justest Title, GOD's; as he hath not only created, preserved and maintained you, but by the invaluable Blood of his Son purchased and redeemed you to himself, and by his holy Spirit taken Possession of you, and marked you for his own.

19 What, know ye not that your Body is the Temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own.

20 For ye are bought with a Price: Therefore glorify God in your Body, and in your Spirit, which are God's.

by a fine Passage of Xenophon, produced by Raphelius here, in which Secrates is represented as faying, "That intemperate Men hurt themselves far more than others; whereas other "Sinners secure some Profit to themselves, tho' they are injurious to others."-It is evident, that πορνεια, must here fignify any unlawful Commerce between Persons of different Sexes, fince Whoredom with married Women is as directly contrary both to the Honour and Health of the Body, as with fingle.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

O W peculiar is the Excellence of the Christian Religion! With Sect. 11. what incomparable Advantages doth it enforce all the Lessons of , moral Virtue, which it teaches! With what holy Disdain should we look on the Baits of Sense, and the Pollutions which are in the World through Lust, if we seriously and often reflected on these two Things.—That our Ver. 15. Bodies are the Members of Christ, and that they are the Temples of the Holy Ver. 19. Ghost! Let it be our Care, that they may not only be nominally, but really fo. That we may by a living Faith be united to the Lord, fo as to become one Spirit with him, animated by that Spirit, which resides in Ver. 17. him, and dwells in all who are truly his.

Let us, as often as we are tempted to alienate ourselves from the Service of God, reflect upon the Price, with which we are bought. How Ver. 20. great, how important a Price, which we should never think of but with secret Shame, as well as Admiration and Love! Oh Lord! hast thou paid fuch a Ranfom for me, and shall I act as if I thought even this not enough? as if thou hadft acquired only a partial, and imperfect Right to me, and I might divide myself between thee and Strangers, between thee and thine Enemies? Oh may we be intirely thine! and make it the Bufiness of the latest Day and Hour of our Lives, to glorify GOD with our Bodies, and with our Spirits, which are his.

Under the Influence of this Thought, may we effectually enter into the wife and pious Suggestions of the Apostle; and guard, not only against Things absolutely and universally unlawful, but likewise against Ver. 12. those, which, in present Circumstances, may be inconvenient. May we be ever ready to exert a holy Freedom of Soul, and a Superiority to whatever may enfnare and enflave us: which we shall more easily obtain, if we reflect on the transitory Duration of the Objects of Appetite and Sense: How foon the Things we enjoy, and those Bodies by which we enjoy them, shall be reduced to the Dust, out of which they were taken. God destroys all that is present and visible, that we may look more intenfely for a Kingdom, that cannot be moved. He reduces our Bodies to Putrefaction, that we may learn to cultivate with greater Care the Interest of a never dying Soul: Which if we faithfully and diligently purfue, GOD who bath raised up his Son as our Surety and Saviour, will also Ver. 14. raise us up by his own Power, to Enjoyments, sublime, incorruptible and eternal. Ob Lord! we would wait for thy Salvation, and in the mean while, would do thy Commandments, and animated by so exalted a Hope, would purify ourselves, even as thou art pure.

Ver. 13.

SECT.

S E C T. XII.

The Apostle proceeds to answer certain Questions, which the Corinthians had put to him; and first what related to the Marriage-state; and in these introductory Verses, he determines that in some Circumstances it should be entered into, and continued in, but in others, forborn; and forbids Wives to depart from their Husbands. I Cor. VII. 1,---11.

I CORINTHIANS VII. I.

Sect. 12. Now proceed to give you my Opinion concer-I ning those Things about which you wrote to me. I Cor. VII. And I begin with that, concerning the Lawfulness or Expedience of Marriage. And here I must first observe, that as to its Expedience, [it is] in present Circumstances good for a Man, where he is intirely Master of himself, to have nothing to do with a Woman; fo many are the Conveniencies, which recommend a fingle Life to those, who are Proof against some of its most 2 obvious Temptations. Nevertheless, as the God of Nature has for certain wife Reasons implanted in the Sexes a mutual Inclination to each other, in Order to prevent Fornication, and every other Species of Uncleanness, let every Man have, and retain, his own proper Wife; and let every Woman bave, and retain, ber own proper Husband: For neither Divorce, nor Polygamy, are by any Means agreeable to the Genius of the Gospel.

Let the Husband, where this Relation is commenced, render all due Benevolence to the Wise, and in like Manner also the Wise, to the Husband: Let them on all Occasions be ready mutually to oblige, and consult the Happiness of each other's Life. And let them not imagine, that there is any Perfection in living separate from each other, as if they were in a State of Celibacy. For the Wife

I CORINTHIANS VII. I.

Things whereof ye wrote unto me: It is good for a Man not to touch a Woman.

2 Nevertheless, to avoid Fornication, let every Man have his own Wife, and let every Woman have her own Husband.

3 Let the Husband render unto the Wife due Benevolence: And likewise also the Wife unto the Husband.

4 The Wife hath not Power

batb

I Cor. VII.

Power of her own Body, but the Husband: And likewife also the Husband hath not Power of his own Body, but the Wife.

bath not in this Respect Power over her own Body, Sect. 12. but hath by the Marriage-covenant transferred it to the Husband; and in like Manner also, the Husband hath not Power over his own Body, but it is, as it were, the Property of the Wife; their Engagements being mutual, so that on every Occafion Conscience obliges them to remain appropriate to each other, and confult their mutual Good.

5 Defraud you not one the other, except it be with Confent for a Time, that ye may give yourselves to Fasting and Prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt you not for your Incontinency.

Withdraw not therefore from the Company of 5 each other, unless [it be] by Consent for a Time; that ye may be at Leisure to devote yourselves more intenfely to Fasting and Prayer, and that ye may come together again as usual, lest Satan tempt you on Account of your Incontinence, and take Occasion from the irregular Sallies of animal Nature, to fill you with Thoughts and Pasfions, which Marriage was in its original Institution intended to remedy.

6 But I speak this by Permission, and not of Commandment.

But you will observe, that I fay this by Per- .6 mission from Christ; but not by any express Command (a), which he gave in Person in the Days of his Flesh, or gives by the Inspiration and Suggestion of his Spirit now: by which Inspiration, you may conclude, I am guided, when I lay in no fuch Precautions as these.

7 For I would that all Men were even as I myself: But every Man hath his proper Gift of God, one

But as for the main Question we are now upon, I could wish that all Men were in this Respect, even as myself; that all Christians could as eafily bear the Severities of a fingle Life in present Circumstances, and exercise as resolute a Command over their natural Defires (b). every Man has his proper Gift of GOD, one in this

(a) By Permission.] I cannot, with Mr. Cradock, think, that the Meaning of this Clause, is, "I permit Marriage, but do not enjoin it;" and have elsewhere observed, that this Verse, and others in this Context, nearly parallel to it, will be so far from affording, on any Interpretation, an Objection against the general Inspiration of St. Paul's Epistles, that they will rather strengthen the Proof of it. See Essay on Inspiration in Val. iii.

(b) That all Men were even as myself.] Common Sense requires us to limit this Expresfion, as in the Paraphrafe; for it would be a most flagtant Absurdity to suppose that St. Paul wished Marriage might intirely cease. It shows therefore how unfair and improper it is, in various Cases, to strain the Apostle's Words to the utmost Rigour, as if he perpetually used the most critical Exactness; but indeed Chap. ix. 22. is so full an Instance to the contrary, that it is not necessary to multiply Remarks of this Kind.

(c) Ta

Sect. 12. this Kind, or Manner, and another in that. So that though I give the best Advice and Example I can, I would not exalt myself on Account of this Attainment, nor despise those that have it it not. But as to unmarried Men, who, like me, have buried their Wives, and to the Widows, I say, it is good for them, (if they conveniently can,) to continue, as I do, in the widowed 9 State. But if they have not attained to such a Degree of Temperance, as to be easy in it, let them by all Means marry. For the it be better to live calmly and soberly in a State of Widowhood, than to marry, it is undoubtedly much better to marry a second, or a third Time, than to burn, and to be tormented with those restless Passions, which some in such Circumstances feel.

But as to those, that are married(c), [it is] not I O.L [who] command, but the Lord Jesus Christ himself, who enjoins, that the Wife should not withdraw II berself from [her] Husband; But if she be withdrawn by her own rash and foolish Act, let ber not by any Means contract another Marriage; but remain unmarried, or rather, if it may be accomplished by any Submission on her Side, let her be reconciled to [her] Husband, that they may, if possible, live in such a Union and Harmony as the Relation requires. And let not the Husband dismiss [bis] Wife on any light Account, or indeed, for any Thing short of Adultery. For whatever particular Reasons Moses might have, for permitting Divorces on some slighter Occasions, Christ our great Legislator, who may reasonably expect higher Degrees of Purity and Virtue in his Followers, as their Affistances are so much greater, hath seen fit expressly to prohibit such Separation, and we his Apostles, in our Decisions upon this Matter, must guide ourselves by the Authority of his Determinations.

after this Manner, and another after that.

- 8 I fay therefore to the Unmarried and Widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I.
- 9 But if they cannot contain, let them marry: For it is better to marry, than to burn.

ried I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the Wife depart from her Hufband:

let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her Hufband: And let not the Hufband put away his Wife.

(c) To those, that are married.] The Translation, published by the English Jesuits at Bourdeaux, renders it, to those, who are united in the Sacrament of Marriage; which I mention, as one Instance, selected from a vast Number, of the great Dishonesty of that Translation.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

HE Decisions of the holy Apostle are here given with such Gra-Sect. 12. vity, Seriousness and Purity, that one would hope, delicate as the Subject of them is, they will be received without any of that unbecoming Levity, which the Wantonness of some Minds may be ready to excite, on such an Occasion.

It becomes us humbly to adore the Divine Wisdom and Goodness, manisested in the Formation of the first human Pair, and in keeping up the different Sexes thro' all succeeding Ages, in so just a Proportion, that every Man might have his own Wise, and every Woman her own Husspand: That the Instinct of Nature might, so far as it is necessary, be Ver. 4. gratified without Guilt, and an holy Seed be sought, which being trained up under proper Discipline and Instruction, might supply the Wastes that Death is continually making, and be accounted to the Lord for a Generation: That so Virtue and Religion, for the Sake of which alone it is desirable that human Creatures should subsist, may be transmitted thro' every Age, and Earth may become a Nursery for Heaven.

With these Views, let Marriages be contracted, when it is proper they should be contracted at all. Let none imagine the State itself to be impure; and let it always be preserved undefiled. Let all Occasion of irregular Desire be prudently guarded against, by those who have entered into it. And let all Christians, in every Relation, remember that the Obligations of Devotion are common to all; and that Christ and his Apostles seem to take it for granted, that we shall be careful to secure proper Seafons for Fasting, as well as for Prayer, so far as may be needful, in Order that the superior Authority of the Mind over the Body may be exercised, and maintained, and that our Petitions to the Throne of Grace may be offered, with greater Intenseness, Copiousness and Ardor.

SECT.

SECT. XIII.

The Apostle exhorts Christians not to break Marriage on Account of Difference in Religion; and urges, in the general, Contentment with the Stations in which they were called, and a Concern to serve GOD in their proper Condition, whether married or single, bound or free. Cor. VII. 12---24.

I CORINTHIANS VII. 12.

¿ Cor. VII. 12.

Sect. 13. THAVE reminded you of the Decision of Christ with Respect to the Affair of Divorce: Now as to the Rest of the Persons and Cases to which I shall address myself, it is to be observed, that I speak according to what Duty or Prudence feems on the whole to require; and it is not to be confidered, as if it were immediately spoken by the Lord. If any Christian Brother hath an unbelieving Wife, and she consent to dwell with bim, notwithstanding the Diversity of their religious Persuasions, let him not disinis her. on the other Hand, if any Christian Wife have an unbelieving Husband, and he consent to dwell with her, let her not difmiss him (a), nor separate herself from him, tho' the legal Constitution of the Country, in which she lives, may allow her For in such a Case as this, the unbe-14 to do it.

lieving Husband is so sanctified to the Wife, and the unbelieving Wife is so sanctified to the Husband (b), that their matrimonial Converse is as lawI CORINTHIANS VII. 12

B U T to the Rest speak I, not the Lord, if any Brother hath a Wife that believeth not, and she be pleased to dwell with him, let him not put her away.

13 And the Woman which hath an Husband that believeth not, and if he be pleased to dwell with her, let her not leave him.

14 For the unbelieving Husband is sanctified by the Wife, and the unbelieving Wife is sanctified by the

(a) Let her not dismiss him.] I have elsewhere observed, that in these Countries, in the Aposiles Days, the Wives had a Power of Divorce, as well as the Husbands. See Vol. ii. pag. 227. Note (g).

(b) Is fanctified, &c.] Some think the Meaning is, "The Christian may convert the Instidel;" as appears, in that the Children of such Marriages are brought up Christians. But this cannot possibly be the Sense; for that they were brought up so, was not to be sure always Fact, and where it was, there was no Need of proving from thence the Convenion of the Parent, which would in itself be much more apparent, than the Education of the Child.

(c) New

Husband: Else were your Children unclean; but now are they holy.

lawful, as if they were both of the same Faith: Sect. 19. 14.

15 But if the Unbelieving depart, let him depart. A Brother or a Sifter is not under Bondage in fuch Cases: But God hath called us to Peace.

Otherwise your Children in these mixed Cases 👺 were unclean, and must be looked upon, as unfit, to be admitted to those peculiar Ordinances, by which the Seed of God's People are distinguished; but now they are confessedly boly (c), and are as readily admitted to Baptism in all our Churches, as if both the Parents were Christians: So that the Case you see, is in Effect decided by this prevailing Practice. However if 15 the unbelieving Party in such Circumstances as these, be absolutely determined, and will depart, let bim, or her depart, and take the Course they think best; and the Consequence is, that a Brother, or a Sister, who hath been united to such a Wife, or Husband, in matrimonial Bonds, is by fuch a Conduct of a former Partner, discharged from future Obligation, and is not in Bondage in such [Cases]. But let it be always remembered, that GOD bath by his Gospel called us to Peace; and therefore it ought to be our Care, to behave in as inoffensive a Manner as possible, in all the Relations of Life; that so, if there must be a Breach, the Blame may not be chargeable upon the Chriftian.

16 For what knowest

And it is worth your while, to be very careful in your Behaviour to those, who thus make, as it were, a Part of yourselves, that you may adorn the Gospel you profess, by the most amiable and engaging Conduct: For it is possible, the Unbeliever may be thereby gained to Christianity. Let

(c) Now are they holy.] On the maturest and most impartial Consideration of this Text, I must judge it to refer to Infant Baptism. Nothing can be more apparent, than that the Word holy, signifies Persons, who might be admitted to partake of the distinguishing Rites of God's People. Compare Exed. xix. 6. Deut. vii. 6. Chap. xiv. 2. Chap. xxvi. 19. Chap. xxxiii. 3. Ezra ix. 2. with Isai. xxxv. 8. Chap. lii. 1. Acts x. 28, &c. And as for the Interpretation, which so many of our Brethren, the Baptists, have contended for, that boly fignifies legitimate, and unclean, illegitimate; (not to urge that this feems an unscriptural Sense of the Word,) nothing can'be more evident, than that the Argument will by no Means bear it; for it would be proving a Thing by itself, idem per idem, to argue, that the Converse of the Parents was lawful, because the Children were not Baftards; whereas all who thought the Converse of the Parents uplawful, must of Course think, that the Children were illegitimate.

Vol. IV.

Nn

(d) As

I Cor. VII. 16.

Sect. 13. each therefore reflect on his own Concern in this Observation. For, How knowest thou, Oh Wife, but thou mayest save [thine] Husband? Or how knowest thou, Ob Husband, but thou mayest save [thy] Wife? And furely the everlasting Happihels of the Person, now the Companion of your Life, will be more than an Equivalent for all the Self-denial, to which you may be required at present, to submit. But if this should not be the Effect, it still becomes you to do your Duty; and therefore fince the Providence of God is concerned in all these Relations, and in the Steps by which they were contracted, as GOD hath distributed to every one, and as it were, cast the Parts of Life, let every one so walk, even as the Lord bath called bim (d). This is the Lesson, I would inculcate on you Corinthians, and thus I Command in all the Churches, and charge it upon the Consciences of Men, as a Lesson of the highest Importance.

Is any one, for Instance, called, being circumcifed, let him not become, so far as in him lies, uncircumcifed (e); nor act, as if he were defirous, as far as possible, to undo what was done by his Jewish Parents, or Masters, in his Infancy. Is any one called to the Fellowship of Gospel-blesfings in Uncircumcifion, let him not be solicitous to be circumcifed, as if that Rite were necessary to his Salvation, as the Jews, and fome Zealots 19 amongst ourselves, have taught. For to speak the important Truth in a few plain Words, Circumcission is nothing, and Uncircumcisson is nothing; the Observation, or Non-observation, of the Mosaick Law will neither secure, nor obstruct, our Salvation; but all depends upon keeping the thou, O Wife, whether thou shalt save thy Husband? Or how knowest thou, O Man, whether thou shalt fave thy Wife?

17 But as God hath diftributed to every Man, as the Lord hath called every one, so let him walk: And so ordain I in all Church-

18 Is any Man called being circumcifed? Let him not become uncircumcifed: Is any called in Uncircumcision? Let him not become circumcifed.

19 Circumcifion is nothing, and Uncircumcifion is nothing, but the keeping of the Commandments of

(d) As the Lord hath called him.] This is a very pertinent Digression, as it so directly contradicts the Notion which prevailed among the Jews, that embracing the true Religion dissolved all the Relations, which had before been contracted. Whereas the Apolle here declares, that the Gofpel left them in this Respect, just as it found them; increasing, instead of leffening, the Obligations they were under to a faithful and affectionate Discharge of their correspondent Duties.

(e) Become uncircumcifed.] The Word entomade, has an evident Relation to Attempts, like those, referred to 1 Mac. i. 15. which it is not necessary more particularly to illustrate. (f) Ye

I Cor. VU. Lg.

20 Let every Man abide in the same Calling wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a Servant? Care not for it; but if thou mayest be made free, use it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a Servant, is the Lord's Freeman: Likewise also he that is called, being free, is Christ's Servant.

23 Ye are bought with mandments of GOD. An obediential Faith in the Sect. 13. Lord Jesus Christ, produced by the sanctifying Influences of his Spirit on the Heart, and bringing forth the genuine Fruits of Holiness in our Temper and Life, is the great Concern: And whether we be Jews, or Gentiles, circumcifed, or uncircumcifed, we shall be happy, or miserable for ever, as we are careful, or negligent, with Regard to this. As for other Matters, be not excessively concerned about them; but in whatever Calling, that is, Profession and Circumstance, any one of you was called, in that let him continue: Affect not to change without the clear and evident Leadings of Providence, as there is generally greater Reason to expect Comfort and Usefulness, in such a Calling, than another. And I may apply this, not only to the different Employments, but Relations in Life, as well as Divertity in religious Professions. Art thou, for Instance, called into the Church of Christ, [being] in the low Rank, not only of an hired Servant, but a Slave? Do not so much regard it, as, upon that Account, to make thy Life uneasy: But if thou canst, without any sinful Method of obtaining it, be made free, choose it rather; as what is no Doubt in itself eligible, yet not absolutely necessary to the Happiness of a good Man. For he that is called by the Lord to the Christian 22 Faith, [being] a Servant, or Slave, is the Lord's Freeman. Christ has made him free indeed, in making him Partaker of the glorious Liberties of the Children of God (John viii. 36.): And on the other Hand, be also that is called, [being] free from the Authority of any human Master, is Rill the Servant, the Property of Christ, and owes him a most implicite and universal Obedience. But upon this Head, remember, that, 23 as Christians, you were all bought with a most invaluable Price (f): Christ hath redeemed

(f) Ye were bought with a Price, &c.] Dr. Whithy would render it, " Are ye bought with a Price, that is, redeemed from Servitude? Become not Servants of Men; don't sell "yourselves for Slaves again." It is indeed probable, that the Apofile does counsel Chrif-N n 2

But abide with GOD in the State, in which the Gospel found him. 284

Sect. 13. you at the Expence of his own Blood; and there- a Price, he not ye the Serfore, let me caution you out of Regard to him, Cor. VII. and from a Defire to be capable of ferving him, 23. as much as possible, that ye do not, where it may by any lawful Means be avoided, become the Slaves of Men; fince so many Evils and Dangers and Snares are inseparable from such a Situation.

24 This, Brethren, is the particular Advice, which I thought proper to give upon this Head; and the general Rule I laid down above, is of fuch great Importance, that I must repeat it; In whatever [Condition] a Man was called at first, by the Gospel and Grace of Christ, in that let him abide with. GOD(g), taking Care to behave in a prudent and religious Manner, as under the Divine Inspection; and not changing his Business in Life, if it be in the general lawful, because he is a Christian; but endeavouring to pursue it with such Integrity, Diligence and Prudence, as that his great Master and Saviour may be most effectually glorified.

vants of Men.

24. Brethren, let every Man wherein he is called, therein abide with God.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T us learn, from the Exhortations and Reasonings of the Apostle, a becoming Solicitude, to contribute as much as we possibly can, to the Christian Edification of each other; and especially let this be the > tians against becoming Slaves, if it could be prevented; and with great Reason, as it was a Circumstance, which seemed less suitable to the Dignity of the Christian Profession, and must expose them to many Incumbrances and Interruptions in Duty; especially on the Lord's Day, and other Seasons of religious Assemblies; besides the Danger of being present at domestick idolatrous Sacrifices, or being ill-used, if they refused their Compliance. But I cannot thoroughly approve of the Doctor's Version, because the Advice is unnecessarily restrained thereby, to those Slaves who had been redeemed; which plainly, as well fuited those, who had their Freedom given them, and indeed fuited all Christians, who never had been at all Slaves, and who might more easily have been prevailed upon, by their Poverty, to bring themselves into a Condition, the Evils and Inconveniencies of which they did not thoroughly know.

> (g) Abide with GOD.] L'Enfant explains rapa le Ote, in the Sight of GOD, (Compare 2 Cor. xi. 11. Eph. v. 21.) and thinks, there had been some Disorders at Corinth, proceeding from some irregular Claim, which Christian Slaves made to Liberty, under Pretence, that, as Christian Brethren, they were equal with their Masters.

(h) Core

the Care of the nearest Relatives in Life. What can be more desirable, Sect. 13. than that the Husband may be sanctified by the Wife, and the Wife by the Husband! May all prudent Care be taken, in contracting Marriages, as to the religious Character of the intended Partner of Life; and in those already contracted, where this Precaution has been neglected, or where the Judgment formed feems to have been mistaken, let all Considerations of Prudence, of Religion, of Affection, concur to animate to a mutual Care of each other's Soul, that most important Effort of Love, that most solid Expression and Demonstration of Friendship. Nor let the Improbability of Success be pleaded in Excuse for Neglect, even where the Attempt must be made by the subordinate Sex. A Possibility should be fufficient Encouragement; and furely there is Room to fay, How knowest Ver. 16. thou, Oh Wife, but thou mayest save him, whose Salvation, next to thine own, must be most desirable to thee?

Let us all study the Duties of the Relations, in which God hath fixed us; and walk with bim in our proper Callings, not defiring so much to Ver. 24exchange, as to improve them. His wife Providence hath distributed the Part; it is our Wisdom, and will be our Happiness, to act in humble Congruity to that Distribution. Surely the Apostle could not have expresfed in stronger Terms, his deep Conviction of the small Importance of human Distinctions, than he here does; when speaking of what seems to great and generous Minds, the most miserable Lot, even that of a Slave, he ver; 21. fays, Care not for it (b). If Liberty itself, the first of all temporal Blessings, be not of so great Importance, as that a Man, blessed with the high Hopes and glorious Consolations of Christianity, should make himself very solicitous about it, how much less is there in those comparatively trifling Distinctions, on which many lay so disproportionate, so extravagant a Stress!

Let Christian Servants, (for blessed be God, amongst us we have no Slaves,) remember their high Priviledges, as the Lord's Freemen. Let Ver. 22. Christian Masters remember their Restraint, as the Lord's Servants. And let the Benefits of Liberty, especially, when considered in its Aspect upon Religion, be so far valued, as not to be bartered away for any Price, which the Enemies of Mankind may offer in Exchange.

But above all, let us remember the infinite Importance of maintaining the Freedom of the Mind from the Bondage of Corruption; and of keeping, with all humble and chearful Observance, the Commandments of Ver. 19. GOD. While many express the warmest Zeal for Circumcision or Uncircumcifion, in Defence of, or in Opposition to, this, or that Mode or Form of external Worship, let our Hearts be set on what is most vital and esfential in Religion; and we shall find the happiest Equivalent, in the

(h) Care not for it.] This fine Remark, (for such indeed it is,) occurs in Dr. Goodwin's Works, Vol. i. pag. 50.

Com-

286 The Apostle again says, that Marriage was then inexpedient.

Sect. 13. Composure and Satisfaction of our own Spirit now, as well as in these abundant Rewards, which the Lord hath laid up for them who fear him.

S E C T. XIV.

The Apostle treats on the Inexpediency of Marriage, in the Circumstances of the Church at that Juncture; and inculcates a serious Sense of the Shortness of Time, as the best Remedy against immoderate Attachment to any secular Interest. 1 Cor. VII. 25. to the End.

I CORINTHIANS VII. 25.

Sect. 14. 1 Cor. VII. 25.

D UT I have been infentibly led by these general Views of our Obligations and Hopes, as Christians, to digress from the Subject of Marriage, which I had first in View, and to which it is Time I should return. And here, concerning the Cafe of Virgins of either Sex, I have received no express Commandment from the Lord, as I had in the Case handled above; whether by what is transmitted to us in Christ's Discourses, or by any immediate and personal Revelation (a); nevertheless I give my Opinion, as one who bath received Grace and Mercy of the Lord, to be faithful in the great Charge he hath committed to me; and therefore, considering the many Instances, in which I have been enabled to approve my Fidelity to Christ and his Church, may expect to be 26 heard with some peculiar Regard. I apprehend this therefore to be right and good in the present Exigency (b) and Extremity of Affairs, while

1 CORINTHIANS VII. $50

OW concerning Virgins, I have no Commandment of the Lord: Yet I give my Judgment as one that hath obtained Mercy of the Lord to be faithful.

26 I suppose therefore that this is good for the present Distres,

(b) Present Exigency.] This must certainly refer to the Prevalence of Persecution at that Time;

the

⁽a) Or by immediate and personal Revelation.] To this, I think, he refers, rather than the former, as he speaks in the singular Number; whereas else he might more properly have said, we have received none.

Distress: I say, that it is good for a Man fo to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a Wife? Seek not to be Art thou loosed loofed. from a Wife? Seek not a Wife.

28 But and if thou marry, thou hast not sinned; and if a Virgin marry she hath not finned: Nevertheless, such shall have Trouble in the Flesh; but I spare 29 But this I fay, Brethren, the Time is short.

the Church is in fush a State of Persecution; that Sect. 14. [it is] best for a single Man to continue as be is. Art thou indeed bound to a Wife already? my Advice affects not thee; in that Case bear patiently whatever Burthens may occur, and feek not to be loofed from her by an irregular and scandalous Divorce or Separation. But on the other Hand, art thou loosed from a Wife? Hath Providence never led thee into those Engagements, or has it broken the Bond by the Death of thy former Companion? If thou canst conveniently and virtuously continue as thou art, seek not a Wife at present, till the Storm, which now hovers over the Church, be a little blown over, and more peaceful Times return. Yet if thou dost marry, thou hast not thereby sinned; and if a Virgin marry, she bath not sinned; the Marriage-state is no Doubt both lawful and honourable; yet such will bave probably, some additional Affliction in the Flesh; they will be encumbered with the Burthen of many temporal Affairs: And the Representation which I make to you of these Things, is not out of Severity, but Tenderness; as I would fain spare you, and speak on the whole, in this gentle and cautious Manner on the Subject, to avoid Extreams either the one Way, or the other.

But this I say, Brethren, with great Confidence; and defire you would hear it with due Attention; that the whole Time of our Abode in this World is contracted (c) within very narrow

Time; for nothing can be more abfurd, than to imagine, that an inspired Apollo would, in the general, discountenance Marriage; considering that it was expressly agreeable to a Divine Institution, and of great Importance to the Existence and Happiness of all suture

(c) Contracted.] The Word ourseanueros, properly imports this, being, (as many have observed,) a Metaphor, taken from furling or gathering up a Sail. Dr. Hammond, and some others, would render this, it is but a little while, and they, that have Wives, shall be, as the' they bad none. That is, "I fee those Times of Perfecution rising, which will put " Men out of a Capacity of enjoying those temporal Delights, which they may now be "fondest of." But this does not seem an exact Translation, the L'Enfant mentions it with confiderable Regard.

1 Cor. VII. 27.

(d) Fashion

Sect. 14. Limits; it remains therefore, that we guard against too fond an Attachment to any Relation or Possession in Life: So that they, who have Wives, be in a Manner, as if they had none;

And they that weep, as not weeping in Streams of

And they that weep, as not weeping in Streams of inconsolable Sorrow, the Nature may be allowed to drop its moderate Tear; and they that rejoice, as not rejoicing in dissolute and consident Sallies of Mirth, as if secure from any distressful Revolution; and they that purchase, as not possessing by a certain Tenure what they must shortly resign; And they who use this World, as not refign; And they who use this World, as not carrying the Enjoyments of it to an unbridled Excess; for the whole Scheme and Fashion of this World passes off (d), and is gone like a Scene in a Theatre that presently shifts; or a Pageant in some publick Procession, which how gawdily soever it be adorned to strike the Eyes of Spectators, is still in Motion, and presently disappears, to shew itself for a few Moments to others. So transitory are all our Enjoyments, and Afflictions too, and worthy of little Regard, when compared with the solid Realities, which are soon to open upon us, and never to pass away.

But I would have you without Anxiety, while you continue here amidst all these Uncertainties; and therefore it is, I advise you in present Circumstances to decline Marriage, if you conveniently can. For an unmarried Man careth for the Things of the Lord Jesus Christ, how he may please the Lord, and is in a great Degree at Leisure to employ his Thoughts and Schemes and Labours, for the Advancement of the Redeemer's Kingdom among Men, and sure there is no other Employment so honourable, so delightful, and when remote Consequences are taken into the Account, so prositable: Whereas he, who is married, car-fo profitable: Whereas he, who is married, careth for the Things of the World, how he may maintain his Family, and how he may please [his] Wife,

It remaineth, that both they that have Wives, be a though they had none;

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy, as tho' they possessed not;

31 And they that use this World, as not abusing it: For the Fashion of this World passeth away.

32 But I would have you without Carefulness. He that is unmarried, careth for the Things that belong to the Lord, how he may please the Lord:

33 But he that is married, careth for the Things that are of the World how he may please bis Wife.

(d) Fashion of this World passes off.] Exqua nepaye. Compare 1 John ii. 17.

(e). There

34 There is Difference also between a Wife and a Virgin: The unmarried Woman careth for the Things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in Body and in Spirit: But she that is married, careth for the Things of the World, how the may please her Husband.

35 And this I speak for your own Profit, not that I may cast a Snare upon you, but for that which is comely, and that you may at-

and so accommodate himself to her Temper, as to Sect. 14. make her easy, and happy. On the other Hand, there is just such a Difference between the Condition of a Wife and a Virgin (e). She, who is unmarried, is careful about the Things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in Body and Spirit. She has Leisure to attend to the higher Improvement of Religion in her own Soul, by the more abundant Exercises of Devotion, as well as to do fomething more for the Advancement of Religion among others; whereas she, that is married, careth for the Things of the World, how she may please [ber] Husband (f); and the Diversity of Humours both in Men and Women, and the Imperfection of even the best Tempers, make this fometimes on both Sides a difficult Task; on which Account fingle Persons have always some confiderable Advantages, which are especially apparent in these Times of publick Danger.

But all this I say for your own Benefit, with a fincere Desire to promote your Happiness; and not that I may throw a Snare upon you (g), and bind you from that, which God for wife Reafons instituted, and allows, and which the State of human Nature generally requires; but out of Regard to what is to be fure very comely (b) and decent in the Lord, without tend upon the Lord without Diffraction.

(e) There is just such a Difference, &c.] Some would connect the Word μεμερισαι with the Close of the preceding Verse, and render it, " He that is married cares, &c. how he " may please his Wife, and is divided in his Thoughts, or distracted with a Variety of Anx-" ieties." But this would occasion an unnecessary Ellipsis in the Beginning of this Verse, and destroy the Resemblance between the Conclusion of the two Verses, when it is evident. the Aposile meant to say the same of both the Husband and Wise.

(f) How she may please her Husband.] The Apostle, in this Text, and the Counter-part to it, seems to declare, that single Persons of either Sex, have generally Opportunities for Devotion, beyond those that are married, even in the most peaceful Times of the Church; and that a Diverlity of Humours, both in Men and Women, makes it difficult for them to please each other so thoroughly, as is necessary, in Order to make a married Life delightful. So that it intimates a Counsel to fingle People, to value and improve their Advantages, and to married People, to watch against those Things that would ensure them, and injure their mutual Peace and Comfort.

(g) Not that I may throw a Snare upon you.] This is the most literal Version I could give of βροχον υμιν επιβαλω. Mr. Locke thinks the Word βροχου, which fignifies Cord, alludes to the Yewish Phrase of binding what was declared unlawful.

(h) Comely: evanuor.] This feems to intimate, that they were now in a Circumstance, Vol. IV.

I Cor. VII. 34.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 14. any violent Constraint (i), by which I might seem to drag you into a State of Life, which should make you continually uneasy: For that would quite spoil its Gracefulness as well as Acceptance, and might plunge you into much greater Inconveniencies another Way.

But on the other Hand, if any on mature Deliberation apprehend, that he acts an unbecoming Part towards his Virgin Daughter, or any other Maiden, that may fall under his Guardianship and Care, if she pass the Flower of [her] Age in a single State (k); which, I know, is an Opinion very prevalent among the Jews; and if he think, that it ought to be so, let him do what he will in this Respect; he hath not sinned in his Intent of letting her change her present Condition; and therefore let 36 But if any Man think that he behaveth himfelf uncomely toward his Virgin, if the pass the Flower of her Age, and Need to require, let him do what he will, he finneth not: Let them marry.

in which Gop did, as it were, exact a peculiar Severity from all their Thoughts; and that it was a Time to think of the Trials of Martyrdom, rather than the Endearment of human Passions.

(i) Without any violent Constraint.] Arenowasses, is rendered in our Translation by the Addition of several Words, that ye may attend on the Lord without Distraction. But Sir Norton Knatchbull has convinced me, that the Version here given is much preserable to ours.

(k) Past the Flower of her Age, &c.] There is hardly any Passage in the Epistle. about the Sense of which I have been more perplexed, than about this; and I am still far from being fatisfied concerning it. I had once translated it, " If any one thinks, that he acts an un-" becoming Part, by continuing in his single State, till he be past the Flower of his Age, -let " them marry, -he that marrieth does well, &c. and had paraphrased the Words accordingly. And what induced me to this was, that Verse 37. the Apostle puts the Islue of the Matter on the Stedfastness of his own Mind, the Power he had over his own Will, and his having no Necessity; whereas if a Daughter, or a Ward, were in Question, her Inclinations, Temper and Conveniency were certainly to be consulted; and it would be the same, if the Virgin spoken of, was one, to whom the Man was himself engaged. But it is really doing such Violence to the Original, to render Inper Inv early maplevov, keep himself single, or keep his own Virginity; and to render expanilos, he that marries; that after long Deliberation I chose to abide by our own Version; especially since it agrees with most of those I have had an Opportunity of confulting. And if this be admitted, I think it must be taken for granted, that when the Apoftle speaks of this Man's having no Necessity, he means to take in whatever might urge him to dispose of her in Marriage, whether in her Temper and Inclinations, or in their domestick Circumstances.—As for Heinsius's Opinion, "that as nurses " sai Inv nachteror, fignifies, to incur Shame by Reason of his Virgin;" meaning, if a Man apprehend, that his Daughter will dishonour his Family by Fornication, he will do prudently to marry her: I think, the above mentioned Objection lies equally against this Interpretation. But if the Alexandrine Reading of zaular, instead of expanilar, be admitted, it may deferve Confideration, whether the whole Passage may not refer to the Case of a Contract between a Man and a young Maiden, the Accomplishment, or Diffoliation, of which might, in some imaginable Circumstances, depend very much on the Conduct of the Man, as he feemed to urge, or decline, the bringing it into Effect.

37 Nevertheless, he that standeth stedfast in his Heart, having no Necessity, but hath Power over his own Will, and hath fo decreed in his Heart, that he will keep his Virgin, doeth well.

38 So then, he that giveth her in Marriage, doeth well: But he that giveth ber not in Marriage doeth better. '

39 The Wife is bound by the Law as long as her Husband liveth: But if her Husband be dead, she is at Liberty to be married to whom the will; only in the Lord.

40 But she is happier, if the so abide, after my Judgment: And I think also that I have the Spirit of God.

him feek out a proper Partner in Life for her, and Sect. 14. let them marry. But he that hath hitherto, flood stedfast in his Heart, having also on her Side no Apprehension of any Necessity; in Consequence of what he discerns of her Dispositions, and no Engagement subsisting, which might give another a just Claim to her, but kath Power over his own Will, being at Liberty to act as he pleases; and hath in such Circumstances determined in his own Heart, that he will keep his Maiden still single; he does well, and the Part he acts is so far from being blameable, that in present Circumstances it is much to be commended. on the whole, the Conclusion of the Matter is this: He, that in such troublous Times as these gives [her] in marriage doth well; she may find Opportunities in that Relation both to adorn and to serve Christianity; but as Things are circumstanced, I must needs declare, that where a Man is under no Necessity of doing it, he that gives [ber] not in marriage, doeth better, and more effectually confults both his Comfort and Safety.

This however is beyond Controversy certain, that the Wife is bound by the Law, to continue with her Husband, and submit herself to him, as long as her Husband liveth; but if her Husband be dead, she is in that Case free, and may marry to whom she will; only let her take Care, that she marry in the Lord, and that retaining a Sense of the Importance of her Christian Obligations, she does not choose a Partner for a Life of a different She may, I fay, law-Religion from herself. fully act thus; but I would not be understood to advise it; for she is happier according to my Sentiment, if she continue as she is: And I may modestly say, that I appear to have the Spirit of GOD (1) to guide me; and not merely some Degree

I Cor. VII. 37.

(1) I appear to have the Spirit of GOD.] 'Tis very unreasonable for any to infer from hence, that St. Paul was uncertain, whether he was inspired, or not. Whereas this is only a modest Way of speaking; and Some exer, often signifies the same with exe. Compare Luke viii. 18. with Mat. xiii. 12. 1 Cor. x. 1, 2. Chap. xiv. 37. And the Ambiguity in the Expression, appear to have, seems exactly to correspond to the Amb guity of this original Phrase. O 0 2

Digitized by Google

I Cor. VII. 40.

Sect. 14. Degree of Experience, arising from the many Observations which for a Course of Years I have made on human Affairs. I may therefore reasonably suppose, my Judgment will have its peculiar Weight, even where I do not pretend to decide with fuch an Authority, as should bind the Conscience, as by an Apostolical Dictate.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T us observe the Humility of the excellent Apostle with Pleasure. When he speaks of his Fidelity in the Ministry, he tells us, be ob-Ver. 25. tained Mercy of the Lord to be faithful. Edified by such an Example, let us ascribe to Christ the Praise, not only of our Endowments, but our Virtues; even to him, who worketh in us, both to will, and to do, of his own good Pleasure.

Ver. 29.

Ver. 30.

Let us feriously contemplate the affecting Lesson, which the Apostle here gives, of the Shortness of Time; and infer, how much it is our Wisdom, to loosen our Affections from the Things of this vain World, which are ready to ingross so disproportionate a Share in them. Let us look upon the World as a transfent Pageant, and not set our Eyes, and our Hearts, on that which is not. We expect, instead of these transitory Vanities and

Ver. 31.

Yer. 32.

empty Shews, a Kingdom that cannot be moved; in the Expectation of which let us be folicitous to please the Lord; making the best of our Opportunities, and guarding against all that may unnecessarily divert our Minds, and divide our Cares, from what will at Length appear the one Thing needful.

Let us attentively reflect upon the Advantages, and Snares, of our respective Conditions in Life; that we may improve the one, and escape as far as possible, all Injury from the other. Let those who are single, employ their Leisure for God; and endeavour to collect a Stock of Christian Experience, which may support them, when the Duties and Difficulties, the Cares and Sorrows of Life, may be multiplied. Let those,

Ver. 33,34. who are married, with mutual tender Regard endeavour to please each other, and make the Relation into which Providence hath conducted them, as comfortable and agreeable as they can. And whatever Cares press upon their Minds, or demand their Attention, let them order their Affairs with such Direction, that they may still secure a due Proportion. of their Time for the Things of the Lord.

If any in their Consciences are persuaded, that by continuing single Ver. 35,-38. they shall best answer the Purposes of Religion, and promote the Good of their Fellow-creatures, in Conjunction with their own; let them do it

As

As for those that marry, whether a first, or a second Time, let them do Sect. 14. it in the Lord: Acting in the Choice of their most intimate Friend and Companion, as the Servants of Christ; who are desirous that their Con- Ver. 39. duct may be approved by him, and that any Avocations and Interruptions in his Service, which may be occasioned, even in those peaceful Times, by Marriage, may be, in some Measure, ballanced, by the united Prayers, prudent Counsels, and edifying Converse of those, with whom they unite in this tender and indisfoluble Bond.

SECT. XV.

The Apostle proceeds to consider the Case of eating Things sacrificed to Idols; and reminds them, that tho' all Christians might well be supposed to know the Vanity of those imaginary Deities, to which they were offered, yet it might prove an Occasion of Grief and Scandal, that the Professors of Christianity should partake of these Sacrifices in their Temple; which therefore Charity would require them by all Means to avoid. I Cor. VIII. throughout.

I CORINTHIANS VIII. 1.

OW as touching Things offered unto Idols, we know that we all have Knowledge. Knowledge puffeth up, but Charity edifieth.

I CORINTHIANS VIII. I.

T Now proceed to confider the other Cases, Sect. 15. 1 about which you confulted me; particularly c that concerning Things facrificed to Idols: And I Cor. VIII. here it may be observed, that we know, we all bave, as Christians, that general Knowledge of the Vanity of these sictitious Deities, of which fome are ready to boast, as if it were an extraordinary Matter, and which they sometimes are in Danger of abusing, by making it the Foundation of Liberties which may be very detrimental. But let it be remembered, that Knowledge often puffeth up (a), and is the Occasion of great Self-Conceit

(a) Knowledge puffeth up.] Elfner, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 96.) acknowledges that, as Bos, and Erasmus Schmidius, contend, there is a Parenthesis here; but he thinks it begins in the

Digitized by GOGIC

Sect. 15. Conceit and Arrogance: Whereas it is confiderate Love, and gentle Tenderness, that edifies, and 1 Cor. VIII. has fuch a happy Effect in building up the Church And indeed, if any one think that of Christ. he knoweth any Thing, if he be conceited of his Knowledge, so as to neglect and despise his Brethren, and upon Account of his supposed Superiority in that Respect, set a very high Value upon himself, it appears, that he as yet knows nothing as he ought to know it, and needs to be taught the very first and most essential Principles of that - Knowledge which is truly ornamental and useful. 3 But if any Man love GOD, and shew it by a steady Regard for the Divine Glory, and the Good of his Brethren, he is indeed known of him (b): This Man hath attained the true Knowledge of God, and will be fure of his Approba-Therefore, to proceed to the 4 tion and Favour. Question in Debate, concerning the eating of the Things sacrificed to Idols: We well know that an Idol [is] in itself nothing in the World (c), but a Mass of senseles Matter, and when regarded in a religious View, so empty a Vanity, that it deferves not to be named among the Things that And we all know that [there is] indeed no other GOD, but that one glorious and transcendent Being, to which the Gospel hath taught are many which are called Gods, whether residing in Heaven, or on Earth, or even under the Earth;

us to appropriate our Worship.

2 And if any Man think that he knoweth any Thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any Man love God, the same is known of him.

4 As concerning therefore the eating of those Things that are offered in Sacrifice unto Idols, we know that an Idol is nothing in the World, and that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there be that are called Gods, whether in Heaven or in Earth (as Middle of the first Verse, and ends after the first Clause of the 4th, we have all Knowledge, —we know that an Idol is nothing, &c.

For the there

(b) He is known of him.] Most understand it, he is approved by GOD; as to know, sometimes undoubtedly signifies. Mr. Locke would render it, he is instructed by him. But I acquiesce in Mr. Pierce's Reasoning, in his 6th Dissertation, to prove the Construction sollowed in the Paraphrase, by a Construction like that of the Original of Acts x. 36. where so plainly refers to the immediate Antecedent.

(c) We know that an Idol is nothing in the World.] Dr. Whithy, shews this was a common Apharism among the Jewish Doctors; to which the Word of the Name given them, did probably allude. Mons. Saurin thinks it so hard, to reconcile this with what the Apostle says elsewhere, that he judges it necessary to understand this, as an Objection made by one of the Corinthians, with whom he is disputing. Saur. Disc. Vol. ii. pag. 476,—431. But I cannot, from an impartial View of the Context, give into his Interpretation.—See Elses's learned Note here on estano, and Simulachrum.

(d) One

(as there be Gods many, and Lords many)

6 But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all Things, and we in him, and one Lord Jefus Christ, by whom are all Things, and we by him.

7 Howbeit, there is not in every Man that Knowledge: For fome with Conscience of the Idol unto this Hour, eat it as a Thing offered unto an Idol; and their Conscience being weak, is defiled.

8 But Meat commendeth us not to God: For for the Heathens have not only their celestial, and Sect. 15. terrestrial, but likewise their infernal Deities: As there are many Gods, and many Lords, who are, in their various Subordination, adored by the Gentiles, and have great tho' very abfurd Wor-Nevertheless, to us, [there 6. ship paid to them: is but one GOD, the Father (d) of Angels and Men, from whom [are] all Things in created Nature; and we derived our Being from him, were made for him, and for his Glory: And there is also but one Lord, even Jesus Christ, the only Mediator between God and Man, by whom [are] all Things created, supported and guided; and we by him, thankfully owning ourselves obliged tohis Agency and Care for all we are, and have, or hope to obtain. These are grand Principles, in which all intelligent Christians are agreed; and it would be happy, if they kept them steadily and confistently in View.

You are possessed of these Apprehensions of 7 Things: It is well. But you ought to remember, that [there is] not in all Men this Knowledge. Some Christian Converts may not sufficiently apprehend this; but may imagine there is really fome invisible Spirit present in the Idol, and acting by and upon it. And in Consequence of this, some do, even until now, with Consciousness of some religious Regard to the Idol, eat the Things in Question, as what is facrificed to the Idol, intending thereby to pay some Homage; and so their Conscience being too weak to withstand a Temptation to what in these Circumstances is really Evil,. is defiled, and brought under a grievous and terrifying Load of Guilt.

But why should we occasion this Inconvenience? 8: For we know, that Meat commends us not, in any Degree, to the Acceptance and Favour of GOD;

(d) One GOD the Father.] In Answer to the Argument drawn from hence against the Deity of Christ, see Dr. Guyse on this Place, and Dr. Edm. Calamy's Serm. on the Trinity, 108. 25, and 244. The Person, to whom the Son as Lord or Mediator, introduces us, is undoubtedly the Father; nor is the Son to be considered as another God. But it is not the Delign of these Notes, largely to discuss Theological Controversies.

(e) Sitting

I. Cor. VIII.

Sect. 15. for neither are we the better, if we eat, nor the neither if we eat, are we worse, if we eat not. The great God does not fo much esteem a Man for being, or disapprove him for not being, superior to such little scruples:

But the Tenderness of his Conscience, together with the Zeal and Charity of his Heart, are the grand Qualities he regards. But take Heed, lest this Power, and Liberty of yours, be by any Means a Stumbling-block, and Occasion of Sin, to the Weak, with whom you con-

- verse, or who observe your Conduct, perhaps with more Regard, than you pay to it yourselves. 10 For if any one see thee, who hast this boasted Knowledge, fitting down to an Entertainment in an Idol's Temple (e), as freely as thou wouldst in thine own House, and partaking of his Sacrifices as chearfully, as if they were the common Provisions of thine own Table; tho' this may indeed arise from that fovereign Contempt, in which thou holdest that idle Fiction of Deity; can he know that Situation of thy Mind? And will not the Conscience of him, that is thus weak, and who perhaps feels fome Scruples in his own Mind about it, be encouraged by thy Example to eat of the Idol-Sacrifice with some Sentiments of supersti-
- 11 tious Regard? And so shall the weak Brother, for whom the Lord Jesus Christ himself died, be liable to perish by thy Knowledge, in this Instance, mischievous rather than useful; so that when thou makest a vain Ostentation of it, thou dost in Effect pride thyself in thy Brother's Ruin. 12 Imagine not this to be an inconsiderable Evil;
- but on the contrary, rather know, that when you thus fin against your Brethren, and wound their weak Consciences, leading them into Guilt, and the better; neither if we eat not, are we the worfe.

9 But take Heed, lest by any Means this Liberty of yours become a Stumblingblock to them that are weak.

10 For if any Man see thee which hast Knowledge, fit at Meat in the Idol's Temple, shall not the Conscience of him which is weak be emboldened to eat those Things which are offered to Idols:

II And through thy Knowledge shall the weak Brother perish, for whom Christ died?

12 But when ye sin so against the Brethren, and

(e) Sitting down to an Entertainment in an Idol's Temple. How commonly Entertainments among the Heathen confifted of what had been facrificed to their fictitious Deities, and how religiously the Christians abstained from them, even when most rigorously imposed, Elsner has shewn by many very apposite Citations, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 96.) And no Doubt the Apostle's Decision here had great Weight with them. That these Feasts were often cebehrated in their Temples, the same learned Critick has abundantly shewn in his Notes on this Clause; and 'tis strange that Chemnitius, and Erasmus, should ever have doubted it. (e) As wound their weak Conscience, ye fin against Christ.

hazarding their Salvation, you greatly fin against Sect. 15. Example, or Precept, can do, to make his Followers enter into fuch humane and compassionate Christ; who had such a Tenderness for Souls, that he died to redeem them, and hath done all that I Cor. VIII. Views.

13 Wherefore if Meat make my Brother to offend, I will eat no Flesh while the World standeth, lest I make my Brother to offend.

Therefore it is a determined Point with me, 12 upon these Principles, that if Meat of any Kind scandalize my Brother, and lead him into Sin, I would not only abstain, now and then, from this or that agreeable Food, but would never as long as I live (f), eat any Sort of Flesh. I would fubfist intirely on Vegetables, that I may not scandalize and infnare my Brother; if there be no other Way of avoiding it. Of fuch Importance should I esteem the Preservation of one endangered Soul. And herein I wish that God may give you the like Self-denial, both for your own Sakes, and for the Peace and Honour of the Christian Church.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T us learn from this short, but excellent Chapter, to estimate the true Value of Knowledge, and to see how worthless and dangerous Ver. 1. it is, when instead of discovering to us our own Ignorance and Weakness, it serves only to puff up the Mind. Let us rather labour and pray, for that Love and Charity, which edifieth ourselves and others; taking Heed, that we do not demonstrate our Ignorance, by a high Conceit of our Ver. 2. Attainments in Knowledge; for nothing can more evidently shew, how small those Attainments are, than not to know their Limits, when these Limits so soon meet us, on what Side soever we attempt to make an Excursion. "Give us, Oh Lord, that Love to thee, which is the best Ver. 3. " Proof of our Knowledge, and the furest Way to its highest Improve-" ments."

Let us always remember the grand Principle of the Unity of GOD; Ver. 4, 5. and with the one GOD and Father of all adore the one Lord Jesus Christ,

(f) As long as I live: es Jov asswa.] We render it, as long as the World stands. But the Sense plainly limits the Expression, (which might simply have been rendered never,) to the Sense here given,

Vol. IV.

Pр

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 15. by whom we exist; setting him in our Estimation far above all the Powers, Dignities and Glories of created Nature.

Ver. 8. Belonging to so divine a Master, let us endeavour to learn the most generous Principles of true Religion. Let us not found our Confidence on admitting, and contending for, or despising, or deriding, this or that particular Observance, by which, as it may happen to be circumstanced, God is neither honoured, nor dishonoured, pleased, nor displeased. But let us ever maintain the tenderest Concern for the Ediscation and Comfort of our Brethren; and guard against whatever might either grieve,

Ver. 9. fort of our Brethren; and guard against whatever might either grieve, ver. 11. or ensnare them. Let us remember, that Christ died for the weakest, as well as the strongest; and let their Relation to him, and his tender and compassionate Regard for them, melt down our Hearts, when seized with that cold Insensibility, which alas, is too ready to prevail amongst Ver. 12. Christians! 'Tis Christ we wound, in wounding our Brethren, and in fmiting them, we smite him.

Let us then stay that rash Hand, which is so ready in mere Wantonness to do Mischief; and be willing to deny ourselves in any Desire, for Ver. 13. ever so long a Time, rather than by our Indulgence to dishonour God, and injure others. This is the excellent Lesson, St. Paul often inculcates, of which he was an eminent and illustrious Example. But Oh, how low are Multitudes of Christians, Multitudes of Ministers sallen, when they cannot deny themselves, in what is unnecessary, and even unlawful, where either Interest, or Pleasure, solicit the Gratification!

SECT.

SECT. XVI.

The Apostle, proposing to illustrate his Condescension to the Weak, by his waving to accept of a Maintenance from the Corinthians, introduces what he had to say on that Head with a short Discourse on the Right, which as a Gospel - Minister he really had, to be supported by those among whom he laboured; which he argues both from natural Equity, and Scripture Principles. 1 Cor. IX. 1,---14.

I CORINTHIANS IX. I.

► M I not an Apostle? Am I not free ? Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord?

I CORINTHIANS IX. I.

THILE I thus speak of the Concern I Sect. 16. V have, to avoid what may prove an Occasion of Injury to weak Brethren, it leads my I Cor. IX. I. Thoughts to the Part I have acted, while I refided among you, in declining to take that Maintenance from you, which I might very justly have expected and demanded. And here you must give me Leave to express my Surprize, as well as my Concern, to hear, that so unkind and unnatural a Construction has been put upon my Generofity and Tenderness, as if I had declined to accept your Contributions, from a Consciousness of not being intitled to them, as well as my Brethren. But can you really imagine that to be the Case? Am not I, as truly as any Man living, an Apostle of Jesus Christ? Am not I as free in this Instance, as any other, and, may I not, as justly as they, expect to be maintained by you, while I am serving your best Interests? Have not I, tho' called so much later than my Brethren, seen Jesus Christ our Lord (a), after his Refur-

(a) Have I not feen the Lord, &c.] That this was necessary, in Order to his being an Apostle, that is, a Witness of Christ's Resurrection, has before been observed. See Vol. ii. pag. 643. Note (g). Compare Acts xxii. 14, 15. Chap. xxvi. 16. 1 Cor. xv. 8.

(b) A

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. i6. Resurrection, so as to be able to testify the im- Lord? Are not you my portant Fact on my own Knowledge, as confidently, as those that were earlier acquainted with him? And, to urge so plain a Point no farther, are not ye Corinthians, particularly, my Work in the Lord, and the evident Token of his Bleffing 2 on my Apostolical Labours?

On this Account, if I am not an Apostle to some others, yet I doubtless am so to you, who of all People in the World can shew the least Excuse for questioning my Mission: For ye are indeed the Seal of my Apostleship in the Lord; and the extraordinary Success I have had among you, if others should doubt of my Commission, might furnish out a Proof of it also, to them.

This therefore is my Apology to those, who examine and censure me, as to this Part of my Conduct. Does my waving the Use of a Priviledge prove, that I have it not? Have we not, both in natural Equity, and according to the Divine Constitution, the same Power, as others in the fame Office, to eat and to drink, and to subsist ourselves at the Expence of those among whom Yea; have we not Power to lead about [with us] in our Apostolical Travels, (if we think it necessary,) a Sister, whom we might take for a Wife (b), as some of the other Apostles and the Brethren of the Lord do, and Peter (c) in particular; and to expect, that she likewise, as well as ourselves, should be provided for by those, to whom we have done such important Services, as nothing of this Kind can ever requite? 6 Or can it be thought, there is any Thing fingular in my Case, or in that of my present Companions,

Work in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle unto others, yet doubtless I am to you: For the Seal of mine Apostleship are ve in the Lord.

- 3 Mine Answer to them that do examine me, is this,
- 4 Have we not Power to eat and to drink?
- 5 Have we not Power to lead about a Sister a Wife as well as other Apoftles, and as the Brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I only and Barna-

(b) A Sifter, a Wife. The Word you ma, has no Force at all here, if it be rendered a Woman: A Sifter must undoubtedly be a Woman: Not to say, how improbable it is that the Apolile should have carried about with him, in these facred Peregrinations, a Woman to whom he was not married. So that the Answer which the Papists generally make to the Argument, often brought from these Words, in Favour of a married Clergy, is absolutely inconclusive.

(c) And Peter.] This is an important Clause, both as it declares in Effect, that St. Peter continued to live with his wife after he became an Apostle, and also that St. Peter had no Rights, as an Apostle, which were not common to St. Paul. A Remark utterly subversive of Popery, if traced to its obvious Consequences.

(d) I only bas, have not we Power to forbear working?

7 Who goeth a Warfare any Time at his own Charges? Who planteth a Vineyard, and eateth not of the Fruit thereof? Or who feedeth a Flock, and eateth not of the Milk of the Flock?

8 Say I these Things as a Man? Or faith not the Law the tame also?

g For it is written in the Law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the Mouth of the Ox that treadeth out the Corn.

nions, that it should rob me of the Liberties Sect. 16. others have; so that I only and Barnabas (d), should not bave Power to decline working with our own Hands for a Maintenance, while we are preaching the Gospel? I might here infift indeed on the natural Equity of the Thing, that they, who devote themselves to the Service of the Publick, should be supported by the the Publick, whom they ferve. Who, for In-Stance, ever goes to War at his own Charge? The Community furnishes out Provision for those who guard it, and fight its Battles. And if the Services of a Soldier deserve that Maintenance, which, while engaged in the Defence of their Country, Men cannot earn, how much more may it be expected by us, who daily hazard our Lives, as well as wear them out, for Men's everlasting Happiness? Who planteth a Vineyard, and doth not expect to eat of its Fruit? Or who feedeth a Flock, and doth not think he hath a Right to eat of the Milk of the Flock? And if it be judged reasonable, that Men should have an Equivalent for their Labours about natural Things, and the Accommodations of the Body, is it not more evidently fo, when the Felicity of immortal Souls is concerned?

But do I speak these Things merely as a Man, upon Principles of human Reason alone, and doth not the Jewish Law speak also the same? For there is a Passage in the sacred Volume, on which the like Argument may be built, (I mean, Deut. xxv. 4.) where it is written, even in the Law of Moses itself, for which some have so distinguishing a Regard, " Thou shalt not muzzle the Ox, that treadeth out the Corn(e), but shalt allow the poor Animal to feed, while it is labouring for thee,

(d) I only, and Barnabas.] From this Expression one would indeed think, that the Judaizing Christians, who were the main Cause of St. Paul's Uneasiness in this Respect, had a peculiar Spleen against those two Apostles of the Uncircumcision; who were so instrumental in procuring and publishing the Jerusalem Decree, which determined the Controverly so directly in Favour of the believing Gentiles .- It seems probable from the 12th Verse, that Barnabas supported himself by the Labour of his Hands, when at Corinth, as well as St. Paul:

(e) That treadeth out the Gorn.] It is well known, that this was the Custom in Judaca,

11

Sect. 16. thee, in the Midst of Food: A Circumstance, in which its Hunger would be peculiarly painful. Now is GOD so folicitous about Oxen, that he intended this Precept merely for their Relief?

10 Or doth he fay [this] with a farther View, and on the whole (f), for our Sakes? Surely, we may conclude, he intended such Precepts as these, relating to Compassion to the Brutes, in some Meafure at least for our Sakes; to humanize the Heart with generous and compassionate Sentiments, and to make Men much more tender to each other, where their various Interests are concerned. I may therefore apply it to the Case before us, as intirely comprehended in his extensive univerfal Views; and fay, for us indeed was [it] written, that the necessary Offices of Life might be more chearfully performed, in the Expectation of fuch due Acknowledgments: That he, who ploweth, might plow in Hope of Success, and that he, who thresheth in such Hope, should not be disappointed, but should in proper Time partake of his Hope, and possess the Good, for which he has laboured. And furely, amidst his Care for others who are in meaner Offices of Life, God could not intend, that the Ministers of the Gospel alone should be sunk under continual Discouragement, Neglect, and Ill-usage.

And indeed when we consider, what great Benefactors these Persons are, to the Souls amongst whom they labour with Success, the Reasonableness of the Conclusion will appear beyond all Contradiction. For if we by our incessant Diligence in preaching to you the Gospel of the blessed God, have sown unto you spiritual Things, which may spring up in a Harvest of eternal Blessings, [is it] any great Matter, that we should reap your carnal Things? Is there the least Proportion ther for our Sakes? For our Sakes, no Doubt, this is written: That he that ploweth, should plow in Hope; and that he that thresheth in Hope, should be Partaker of his Hope.

Corn. Doth God take Care for Oxen?

11 If we have fown unto you spiritual Things, is it a great Thing if we shall reap your carnal Things?

and other Eastern Nations. It is still retained by many of them, and particularly in Ceylon. Raphelius has produced Passages from Xenophon, which something illustrate it.

(f) On the whole.] It cannot be thought, that God had no Regard at all to the Brute-creatures, in such Precepts as these; and therefore I thought it better to render railes, on the whole, then intirely or altogether, tho' that Sense is more frequent.

(g) Partake

tion between any Thing, which your Liberality Sect. 16. can impart to us, and that which we have been the happy Instruments of imparting to you?

1 Cor. IX. 12.

12 If others be Partakers of this Power over you, are not we rather? Nevertheless, we have not used this Power; but fuffer all Things left we should hinder the Gospel of Christ.

This is the Priviledge of Ministers in general, and it is a Priviledge, which, you well know, some of them have exerted. And if others are so readily allowed to partake of [this] Power over you (g), [shall] not we rather claim it, with yet more evident and apparent Reason, who have been the Means, not only of edifying and instructing you, but likewise of calling you into the Profession of Christianity? But we have not made Use of this Power, tho' founded in such evident and various Principles of Equity. But we rather choose to endure all Things, the Fatigues of Labour, and Inconveniences of frequent Necessity, that we may not occasion any Hinderance to the Gospel of Christ (b), from the Cavils of ill-disposed People, who are always watchful for Opportunities to misrepresent and censure our Conduct.

13 Do ye not know that they which minister about holy Things, live of the Things of the Temple? And they which wait at the Altar, are Partakers with the Altar?

But the I do not now ask any Thing of this 13. Kind for myself, yet I will not give up the Justice of the Demand. And I might farther support it, from the Provision, which Gop made for the Priests and Levites, under the Mosaick Law. Know ye not therefore, that they who are employed about boly Things, are fed out of the Provisions which belong to the Temple, and [that] they who wait upon the Service of the Altar, are Partakers with the Altar, in a Part of the Victims offered on it, particularly the Vows, and the

(g) Partake of [this] Power, &c.] Mr. Pyle thinks, this refers to the other Apostles of Christ; but I rather think St. Paul intended to glance on the false Teachers, who carried their Claims of this Right to such an exorbitant Height, tho' their Services had been by no Means comparable to those of the Apostle. Compare 2 Cor. xi. 20. - Mr. Locke would here read κσιας υμων, of your Substance; but Mat. x. 1. John xvii. 2. and many other Places, prove that εξεσιας υμων, may properly be rendered, Power over you.

(h) Hinderance to the Gospel.] From the Conduct of the other Aposles, and of St. Paul at other Places, particularly among the Macedonian Churches, we may conclude, that he might see some Circumstances at Corinth, (not necessary for us exactly to know,) which determined him to decline accepting of any Subfiftence from them while he refided there.

(i) Live

Reflections on the Right Ministers have to be maintained.

i Cor. IX.

304

Sect. 16. the Sacrifices of Peace-offerings: I farther to be confidered, that so also, that is, on Principles like these, the Lord Jesus Christ himself hath expressly commanded and ordained, that they who preach the Gofpel should live and subsist upon the Gospel (i); when he declares, as you know more than one of the Evangelists assures us he did. " that the Labourer is worthy of his "Hire." Compare Mat. x. 10. Luke x. 7.

14 Even so hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should live of the Gospel.

IMPROVEMENT.

A Y the Disciples of Christ learn from these Instructions, to bonour the Lord with their Substance, and the First-fruits of all their Increase! And may they feel those happy Effects attending the Ministration of the Gospel, and reap such an abundant Harvest of spiritual Blessings, that the imparting temporal Subfishence and Accommodation, to those Ver. 11. who are the Instruments of conveying them, may not be Matter of Constraint, but of free and affectionate Choice! May the Ministers of Christ, while they thankfully accept of that Subsistence, which Providence, by the Instrumentality of their Brethren, sends them, ever act a moderate and generous Part, and maintain such a visible Superiority to all secular Views, as may do an Honour to the Golpel, and command Veneration to themselves!

> May the fecular Advantages of the Office never invite bad Men into it; nor its Discouragements deter good Men, from undertaking it. whatever Censures a malignant World, who themselves know not any higher Motive than Self-interest, shall pass, may the Ministers of Jesus, ever have a Testimony in their Consciences, that they seek not the Properties, but the Souls, of their Hearers!

Let us attend to the humane Genius of the Mosaick Law, manifested Ver. 8,-10. in the Precepts, which relate even to the Brutes. And remember, that it is the Character, and should be the Care, of a merciful Man, to extend Mercy to his Beaft. Much more then let us share Compassion to our Fellow-men. Let us not defire to enjoy the Benefit of their Labours, even in

> (i) Live upon the Gospel.] Mr. Mede understands evaryers here, of the Reward given for bringing a good Meffage, (See Diatrib. in Loc.) and shews, that the Word sometimes has that Meaning in Heathen Authors: But it is a very uncommon Signification in the Saered, and therefore not to be admitted, without farther Proof.—That Man might be faid to live on the Gofpel, who was maintained for preaching it; as he might be faid to live on the Temple, who was supported out of its Income, for ministering there, tho' the Word Temple has the utual Signification.

in the lowest Employments of Life, without giving them some valuable Sect. 16. Equivalent. Let us bear towards all, the Hearts of equitable and generous Brethren, and constantly wish the Prosperity and Happiness of the human Family. On the whole, may there be between the Teachers, and those who are taught by them, a continual Intercourse of benevolent Affections, and friendly Actions; as becomes those, who stand in such an endearing Relation to each other, and have, as Christians, the Honour of being intimately related to that blessed Redeemer, who sought not bis own Things, but ours, and hath thereby laid the strongest Engagement upon us, if we have any Spark of Gratitude and Honour, not to seek our own Things, but bis!

S E C T. XVII.

The Apostle illustrates the Condescension and Tenderness of his Conduct towards the Corinthians, in declining to accept of their Contributions; and speaks of his Self-denial under a very expressive Simile, taken from those who contended in those Grecian Games, with which they were familiarly acquainted. I Cor. IX. 15, to the End.

1 Corinthians IX. 15.

BUT I have used none of these Things. Neither have I written these Things, that it should be so done unto me: For it were better for me to die,

I Corinthians IX. 15.

HAVE thought it my Duty, in the foregoing Discourse, to plead the natural and the Evangelical Rights, which the Ministers of the Evangelical Rights, which the Ministers of the Cor.IX.15.
Gospel have, to be maintained by the People, to whose spiritual Edistication they give their Time, and Labours. But you well know that I myself, during my Abode among you, bave used none of these Things; nor bave I written thus, that is, according to my Purpose and Hope, I ever should visit you again, it should hereafter be so done unto me. I think of the generous and Self-denying Part, which I have acted among you, in declining, for some particular Reasons, to take a Maintenance, with a Pleasure so great, that I may even say, [it were] better for me to die for

Vol. IV.

Sect. 17. Want of the necessary Supplies of Life, than that any Man among you should make this my Boasting word, by having it to say, that I have eaten his Bread, and been supported at his Expence. For if I preach the Gospel, after what hath happened in my singular Case, I have no [Matter of] Boasting in that, for, having received such a Commission, how could I resuse? I may say, a Kind of invincible Necessity lieth upon me, and Woe to me indeed, if I preach not the Gospel. To decline a Work, assigned to me by so condescending an Appearance of Christ, when with malicious Rage I was attempting to destroy his Church, would be an Instance of Ingratitude and Obstinacy, deserving the most dreadful and insupportable Condemnation. If indeed I do this voluntarily, and shew upon every Occasion a cordial Willingness to do it, I have indeed some this voluntarily, and shew upon every Occasion a cordial Willingness to do it, I have indeed some Room to expect a Reward; but if I do it unwillingly, as I said before, a Dispensation is intrusted to me, and I must of Necessity sulfil it.

18 What then is that Circumstance in my Conduct, for which I may expect a Reward of Praise from the Mouth of my Divine Master? Surely this, that when I preach the Gospel of Christ, I may render it unexpensive; that so I may be sure not in the least Degree to abuse my Power in the Gospel to any low and secular Purposes, or carry it hereoned its due Bounds.

beyond its due Bounds. For in this Respect, being free from all Men, and under no Obligation, in this Manner, to give them my Labours, I made myself the Servant of all (a), addicting myself to the most fatiguing Duties, that I might advance their Happiness, and gain the more to true Religion and Salvation; in which I have found a noble Equivalent for all I could do, or bear. And I not only submitted to preach the pear. And I not only submitted to preach the Gospel than that any Man should make my glorying void.

16 For though I preach the Gospel, I have nothing to glory of: For Necessity is laid upon me; yea, Wo is unto me if I preach not the Gospel.

17 For if I do this Thing willingly, I have a Reward: But if against my Will, a Dispensation of the Gespel is committed unto me.

18 What is my Reward then? Verily that when I preach the Gospel, I may make the Gospel of Christ without Charge, that I abuse not my Power in the Gospel.

19 For though I be free from all Men, yet have I made myself Servant unto all, that I might gain the more.

20 And unto the Jews I be-

⁽a) The Servant of all.] This has a stronger Sense, than can easily be expressed in the Paraphrase; and intimates, that he acted with as Self-denying a Regard to their Interests, and as much Caution not to ossend them, as if he were absolutely in their Power, as a Slave is in that of his Master.

became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the Law, as under the Law, that I might gain them that are under the Law; Gospel without any Reward, but I made it a Sect. 17. constant Maxim, to accommodate my Manner of Living to the Way, and Relish, of those about me; sacrificing my own Humour and Inclination; and that, in some Instances, when I could not do it, without considerable Inconvenience to 21 To them that are without Law, as without Law (being not without Law to God, but under the Law to Christ) that I might gain them that are without Law.

tion; and that, in fome Instances, when I could not do it, without confiderable Inconvenience to myself: Accordingly, to the Jews, I became as a Yew (b), that I might gain over more of the Yews to Christianity: To those, I say, who were, or apprehended themselves to be, under the tedious Ceremonies and disagreeable Restraints of the Mosaick Law, I became, as if I were still in Conscience under the Obligations of the Law (c), tho' I knew it to have been abolished; and this, that I might gain those, who apprehended themfelves to be under the Bond of that Law. the other Hand, to those, who were without the Law of Moses, and either unacquainted with it, or apprehended themselves under no Obligation to conform to its peculiar Institutions, I behaved, as if I had myself also been without the Law, neglecting its ceremonial Precepts, which I well knew to be superseded, and abolished. [Yet] still taking Care, that it might appear both from my Words and Actions, that I was not without Law to GOD; but apprehended myself under a Law of the most affectionate Duty and Gratitude to Christ, who came by new Bonds to engage us to the strictest Obedience. But these Freedoms I used, and this Moderation I manifested, not by any Means for my own Indulgence, but that I might gain those, who are without the Law (d), and

(b) To the Jews, &c.] Compare, for the Illustration of this, Acts xvi. 3. Chap. xxi. 21, &c. which Instances were undoubtedly a Specimen of many more of the like Kind.

(c) As if I were still under the Obligations of the Law.] This can only signify, that he voluntarily complied with it, as an indifferent Thing; but it cannot by any Means i. ply, that he declared such Observances necessary, or resulted to converse with any, who would not conform to them; for this was the very Dissimulation, which, with so generous a Freedom, he condemned in St. Peter. Gal. ii. 14, &c.

(d) That I might gain those without the Law.] This seems to imply, that the Gentiles, not yet converted to Christianity, are here referred to; unless gaining the Persons spoken of signifies, rendering them "better disposed to regard his Decisions:" which is at most but a Iubordinate Sense.

(e) A Sharer

308

I Cor. IX. 22.

Sect. 17. and make my Ministry more agreeable and useful, to fuch as were educated among the Gentiles. I therefore became to the Weak, as if I had been as weak and scrupulous as they, in the various Articles of Food and Dress, which might come into Question, that I might gain upon the Weak; for the Soul of the Weakest appeared to me infinitely valuable; and I have the Warrant of my great Master, to esteem it more precious, than all the Treasures of the World. In a Word, I became all Things to all Men; accommodating myself to them, so far as with a safe Conscience I could, that by any, or all Means if possible, I might save fome: And it is the daily Grief of my Soul, that after all these Efforts, the Number is so small.

23 And this I do for the Sake of the Gospel, to promote its Success to the utmost of my Ability; that I also may be a Sharer in the generous Pleafure arising from the Communication of it (e).

I may illustrate this, by referring to the Games, so well known in Greece; and particularly to the Isthmian, so often celebrated among you at Corinth. Do you not know, that with Respect to those who run in the Stadium or Foot Race (f), all indeed run, and contend with each other; whereas but one receiveth the Prize(g)? Yet the uncertain Hope, that each may be that one, animates them all to strain every Nerve in the Course.

22 To the Weak became I as weak, that I might gain the Weak: I am made all Things to all Men, that I might by all Means fave

23 And this I do for the Gospel's-Sake, that I might. be Partaker thereof with you.

24 Know ye not that they which run in a Race, run all, but one receiveth the Prize?

(e) A Sharer in the Communication of it.] We render it, that I might be Partaker with you; but as the Words, with you, are not in the Original, which is no our correspond only γενωμα, I rather understand the Words as referring to the Satisfaction he found, in imparting the invaluable and inexhaustible Blessings of the Gospel to all around him; a Sentiment most suitable to his Character and Office.

(f) The Stadium, or Foot Race. On comparing the Translation, I had before made of this Passage, with that of my learned and worthy Friend Mr. West, (in his excellent Differtation on the Olympick Games, pag. 189, 190.) I had the Pleasure to find a remarkable Agreement; but where there was any Difference, I have generally altered what I had wrote, either in the Version, or Paraphrase, to make it conformable to his: whose Judge. ment, in any Point of Criticism, has with me great Weight; but especially, on a Subject, of which he appears to have been fo eminent a Master, that his Writings upon it, are as distinguished in their Kind, as the Games, he so elegantly describes, were in theirs.

(g) One receiveth the Prize.] 'Tis true, that in some Games there were several Prizes of different Value; yet in those, to which he here refers, there was but one for the Victor; and the Argument is very strong and striking.

(h) Temperate

Prize? So run that ye may Course. You have much greater Encourage- Sect. 17.

Sect. 17. 1 Cor. IX. 24.

25 And every Man that striveth for the Mastery is temperate in all Things: Now, they do it to obtain a corruptible Crown, but we an incorruptible.

ment to exert yourselves, in the Pursuit of celestial Bleffings. See to it therefore, that ye fo run, as that ye may obtain, and that ye lay aside every Thing, that would be an Incumbrance to you, or render you incapable of dispatching the Race with necessary Vigor and Alacrity. And every one who contendeth in the Games, whether in running, as above, or in Wrestling, or combating, is temperate in all Things (b); abstaining from whatever might enervate his Strength, and submitting to a regular Course of Diet, Exercise and Hardship, that he may be the more capable of exerting himself with Success. [And this] they indeed [do,] that they may obtain a corruptible Crown (i), a Garland of Leaves, that will foon wither and perish: But we are animated by the View of an incorruptible Crown, the Duration, and Glory of which will be commensurate to the Existence of our immortal Souls.

26 I therefore fo run, not as uncertainly: So fight I,

It is no small Pleasure to me, while I am exhorting you to this, to reflect that I am, thro' Divine Grace, myself an Example of the Temperance I recommend. I for my Part run not, as one who is to pass undistinguished (k); but knowing:

(b) Temperate in all Things.] Whoever considers on the one Hand, to what great Self-denial, in Articles of Food, Sleep, and every other sensual Indulgence, they, who were to contend in their Games, were obliged; and on the other, of how great Importance it is, that the Youth of a Community should be formed to a manly Taste, and resolute Self-Government; will undoubtedly see the great national Prudence of the Greeks, in the Institution and Support of these Games; to which it is very probable, their remarkable Valour and Success in War, during the best Days of their several Republicks, might in some considerable Degree be owing. See, for the Illustration of the Temperance here referred to, Elsner's excellent Note on this Text, and Elian. Var. Hist. Lib. iii. Cap. 30. Lib. x. Cap. 2.

(i) Corruptible Crown, a Garland of Leaves, &c.] It is well known, that the Crown in the Olympick Games, facred to Jupiter, was of Wild-Olive; in the Pythian, facred to Apollo, of Laurel; in the Isthmian, or Corinthian, folemnized in Honour of Palæmon, of Pinetree; and in the Nemæan, of Smallage, or Parsley. Now the most of these were Ever-greens; yet they would soon grow dry, and break to Pieces. Elsner, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 103.) produces many Passages, in which the Contenders in these Exercises, are rallied by the Grecian Wits, for the extraordinary Pains they took for such trisling Rewards; and Plate has a celebrated Passage, which greatly resembles this of St. Paul; but by no Means equals it in Beauty and Force.

(k) I run not as one that is to pass undistinguished.] Thexewas nass, is to run unnoticed. But as some have explained it, of "running without attending to the Marks, and Lines, "which.

Digitized by Google

310

Sect. 17. ing what Eyes are upon me, and folicitous to gain the Approbation of my Judge, and attending with Diligence and Care to the Boundaries which are marked out to us, I exert myself to the utmost. I so fight, not as one that beats the Air (1), who fights as it were with his own Shadow, or practifes a feigned Combat; but as one, who has a real and living Enemy to contend with, and who knowing that his Life and his all is in Question, would strike sure, and not lose 27 his Blows upon empty Air. Thus I allow not myself in a Habit of Indolence and Luxury, but imitate on a much nobler Occasion, and to a much greater Degree, the Self-denial of the Combatants, I mentioned above; I bruife and mortify my Body (m), and bring it into fuch a Degree of Servitude, as the superior Interests of my Soul require. And this I judge a most necessary Precaution; lest after having served as a Herald to others, and after having made Proclamation of the glorious Rewards to be attained, and endeavoured to animate their Zeal in the Pursuit, I should myfelf be disapproved (n) of the great Judge, and finally declared unworthy of obtaining a Share in them.

not as one that beateth the 27 But I keep under my Body, and bring it into Subjection: lest that by any Means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a Cast-away.

IMPROVE-

which determined the Path;" I have hinted at that Sense. As for Heinsius's Interpretation, who explains it "moving fo flowly, as that he might feem to stand still," it is, like many others, peculiar to that Writer, quite insupportable: No one, in such a Circumstance, could be faid to run at all.

(1) Beats the Air, &c.] In Order to attain the greater Agility and Dexterity, it was usual for those, who intended to box in the Games, to exercise their Arms with the Gauntlet on, when they had no Antagonist near them; and this was called σχισμαχία, in which a Man would of Course beat the Air. But Bos has taken a great Deal of Pains in his Note here, to shew, that it is a proverbial Expression for a Man's missing his Blow, and spending it, not on his Enemy, but on empty Air.

(m) Bruise and mortify my Body.] Ynwnia(w, properly fignifies to firike on the Face as Boxers did; and particularly on (the unwnion,) the Part of it under the Eyes, at which they especially aimed. Hence it comes to fignify a livid Tunour on that Part; and sometimes it is proverbially used for a Face terribly bruised, mortified, and disfigured, like that of a Boxer just come from the Combat; as Bos has shewn at large, Exercit. pag. 138, &c.

(n) Lest after having served as an Herald, I should be disapproved.] I thought it of Importance, to retain the primitive Senfe of these Gymnastick Expressions. It is well known to those, who are at all acquainted with the Original, that the Word xngu gas, expresses the Discharging the Office of an Herald; whose Business it was, to proclaim the Conditions of the Games, and display the Prizes, to awaken the Emulation and Resolution of those, who were

IMPROVEMENT.

E T us learn, by the Example of the Apostle, a generous Ambition Sect. 17. of excelling in Religion. Not of doing more indeed, than our Duty; for we owe God our best, and our all; but abounding in it to the Ver. 16, 18. utmost, carrying our Love, our Zeal, and our Obedience, to the highest Degree we can attain, and preserving an honest Readiness to know our Duty, even in Circumstances, in which there might be some plausible Excuse for overlooking it. In particular, let the Ministers of the Gospel not think it much to their Praise, to perform those Services, which it would be shameful and almost impossible for them to neglect; but labour to acquit themselves in the very best Manner they can; shewing in the whole of their Conduct, that they are not animated only, or chiefly, by secular Motives, in the Labours they bestow upon the Souls of Men.

They are peculiarly concerned to learn, and imitate, this Condescen- Ver. 19,-22. fion of the Apostle, in becoming all Things to all Men, if by any Means he might gain some. But they are not the only Persons, who are interested in this. It is the Duty of every Christian, to endeavour to please his Neighbours and Brethren for their Good; and it will be our Wisdom, and Happiness, upon such generous Principles, to learn to govern, and deny ourselves.

We are all called to engage in the most important Race, in the most noble Combat. The Children of this World fatigue themselves for Trisles, Ver. 242-26. and exert the noble Faculties of an immortal Spirit, to Purpofes far beneath its Dignity. But all is not Vanity. Every Crown is not withering and corruptible. We have heard of an Inheritance, incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away. And whatever there was in the Prospect to awaken these Corinthians, still remains to awaken and animate us. Let us therefore keep our Eyes, and our Hearts, fixed upon it, and be in good Earnest in what we do; often looking to the Marks, which are drawn in the Word of GoD; realizing to ourselves the certain Existence, and formidable Character, of our invisible Enemies; suspecting especially our-were to contend in them. But the Apostle intimates, that there was this peculiar Circumstance attending the Christian Contest, that the Person, who proclaimed its Laws and Rewards to others, was also to engage himself; and that there would be a peculiar Infamy and Misery in miscarrying in such a Circumstance. Asomps, which we render cast away, signifies one, who is disapproved by the judge of the Games, as not having fairly deserved the Prize. Mr. Fleming, arguing that St. Paul knew his own fincere Piety, and confequently might be affured of his future Happiness, maintains that to be cast away, here signifies, being judged unworthy of a Part in the first Resurrection. (Fleming's Discourse on the first Refurredt. pag. 89.) But it appears to me much more natural, to refer it to the vobile Chriftian Reward; as it is certain, God engages his People to perfevere, by awful Threatenings against Apollacy, as well as by the Promiles of eternal Life, to those, who continue faithful and constant.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 17. ourselves, fearing the Treachery of our own Corruptions, and using all that Mortification, which may promote our spiritual Life and Usefulness.

Ver. 27.

Who would not tremble, how high soever his Profession, or Office may be—who would not tremble, to hear St. Paul infinuate a supposed Possibility, that after having preached to others, and made such animating Proclamations of the heavenly Prize to them, he might himself be rejected, as unqualified to receive it? Let us learn from it Humility and Caution; learn to watch against Dangers, which will still surround us, as long as we dwell in this Body; and rejoice in the Guardianship of Christ, who will at Length deliver his faithful Servants from every evil Work, and preserve them to his heavenly Kingdom.

S E C T. XVIII.

Farther to awaken that holy Caution, which the Apossel had suggested in the preceding Section, he here represents to the Corinthians, on the one Hand, the Privileges which Israel of old enjoyed, and on the other, the Divine Displeasure which they brought upon themselves, by behaving in a Manner so unworthy of them. I Cor. X. 1,---13.

I CORINTHIANS X. I.

Sect. 18. I HAVE been urging you to run your Christian Race with Resolution and Diligence;

tian Race with Resolution and Diligence; which you should the rather do, considering how fatally many of those miscarried, who were once God's peculiar People, and favoured in a very extraordinary Manner. Now this is so affecting a Thought, that I must desire you, my Bretbren, to attend, while I farther illustrate it; for I would by no Means have you ignorant (a) of so instructive

I CORINTHIANS X. I.

MOreover, Brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that

(a) Would by no Means have you ignorant.] Mr. Locke thinks, that when the Corinthians inquired about the Lawfulness of eating Things sacrificed unto Idols, they might urge, that they could not be mistaken for Heathens, because they maintained an open Profession of Christianity, holding Communion with the Church, by partaking of the Sacraments, as well as other Acts of Worship; and that they might be exposed to Ill-will, and Ill-usage, if they did that all our Fathers were under the Cloud, and all palled through the Sea.

2 And were all baptized unto Moses in the Cloud, and in the Sea;

3 And did all eat the same spiritual Meat;

4 And did all drink the fame spiritual Drink: (For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them:

structive a History. You have, I doubt not, of- Sect. 18. ten heard, that all our Fathers, whom Moses the great Lawgiver of our Nation led out of Egypt, 1 Cor. X. 1. were all under the Conduct of that miraculous Pillar of Cloud, and of Fire, which did their Camp fo fingular an Honour; and they all passed thro' the Sea, the Power of God opening a Way for them, while the Mountains inclosed them on either Side, and their Egyptian Enemies were pressing hard upon their Rear. And this was so won- 2 derful and solemn an Event, that I may say, they were all baptized into Moses, that is, initiated into the Profession of that Religion, which he was to teach them from God, in the Cloud and in the Sea: God did, as it were, solemnly receive them under Protection, as his People; and they by following his miraculous Guidance, declared their Dependance upon him, and intire Subjec-And as they proceeded in their tion to him. Journey, they did all eat the same spiritual Food, that is, the Manna, which for its Excellence is called Angel's Food, (Pfal. lxxviii. 25.) and which was indeed an Emblem of the Bread of Life, that cometh down from Heaven. And they 4 did also all drink of what might be called, on the like Principles, the same spiritual Drink; And that Rock was Christ) for they drank of that spiritual or mysterious Rock (b), the wonderful Streams of which followed them (c) thro' so many of their Wanderings and not sometimes comply with their Neighbours. And he supposes, the Apostle had each of these Ideas in View in what follows: It is possible he might.

(b) The same spiritual Meat-the same spiritual Drink.] It is not necessary to understand by the same Meat and Drink, the same by which we Christians are supported; for this could not properly be faid of any Ifraelites, who were not true Believers; but the Meaning is, that they all, good and bad, shared the same miraculous Supply of Food and

(c) That followed them.] It is objected, that "this Stream did not constantly follow se them; for then they would have had no Temptation to have murmured for Want of "Water, as we know they did at Kudesh, in the Circumstances so fatal to Moses; nor would they have had any Occasion to buy Water of the Edomites, as they proposed to do. 66 Deut. ii. 6." Mr. Mede justly answers, that perhaps the Streams from the first Rock at Rephidim failed, for a farther Trial of their Truth; and at Kadesh God renewed the like Wonder; but that likewife might probably fail, when they came into the inhabited Country of the Edomites; which was not till near the End of their Wandering, Mede's Diatrib. in Lec. He there illustrates the Similitude between Christ, and this Rock, in many other Vol. IV. particulars:

Digitized by Google

Sect. 18. and Incampments; and that Rock was a most affecting Representation of Christ, the Rock of Ages, the sure Foundation of his People's Hopes, from whom they derive these Streams of Blessing, which follow them thro' all this Wilderness of mortal Life, and will end in Rivers of Pleasure at the right Hand of God for ever.

It was the Priviledge of Israel as a People, to enjoy such typical Blessings as these; and yet it is plain, that GOD had no Pleasure in the greatest Part of them, for they were overthrown in the Wilderness: The whole Generation that came adult out of Egypt was made to die there, and they sometimes died in such Multitudes, that the Ground was overspread with Carcases, as a Field is, in which a Battle has been fought.

Now these Things were Types and Figures to us, that we might learn Wildom at their Expence, and not trust to external Priviledges, while we go on in a Course of Disobedience to the Divine Authority; and particularly, that we might not lust after evil Things, and indulge ourselves in irregular and luxurious Defires; as they also lusted after Quails in Contempt of the Manna, and thereby brought the Wrath of God upon them, and were confumed with pestilential Distempers, while the Meat was yet between their Teeth. (Psal. lxxviii. 30, 31.) Learn therefore by what they suffered, to cultivate that Temperance and Self-denial, which I have just been recommending to you. Neither be ye Idolaters, as some of them [were,] even while they yet continued at Mount Sinai; as you know it is written, (Exod. xxxii. 6, 19.) with Relation to the Feast of the golden Calf, the People sat down to eat and drink of the Sacrifices, which were offered to it, and then they rose up to play, and dance

5 But with many of them God was not well pleased: For they were overthrown in the Wilderness.

6 Now these Things were our Examples, to the Intent we should not lust after evil Things, as they also lusted.

7 Neither be ye Idolaters, as were some of them; as it is written, The People sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.

particulars; but those, mentioned in the Paraphrase, seem the most material.—That the Word, was, imports here no more than signified, is extreamly obvious; and Instances of the like Use of it every where abound in Scripture.

8 Neither let us commit Fornication, as some of them committed, and fell in one Day three and twenty thousand.

9 Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed of Serpents.

10 Neither murmur ye, dance (d) in Honour of this vain Symbol of Dei- Sect. 18. And this naturally leads me to add another Caution, no less suitable to your present Circumstances than the former; neither let us commit Fornication (e), or Lewdness of any Kind, as some of them in their idolatrous Revels committed [Fornication;] and particularly, when they eat the Sacrifices of Baal Peor, and offended with the Midianitish Women; the sad Consequence of which was, that there fell in one Day twenty three Thousand by the Plague, besides those that were flain by the Sword, who amounted to a Thousand Neither let us q more. (Numb. xxv. 1—9.) tempt Christ by our Unbelief, after the Tokens he hath given us to command our Faith, and engage our Dependance; as some of the next Generation of them also tempted [him] (f), while he refided among them, as the Angel of God's Prefence; and were destroyed by fiery Serpents, (Numb. xxi. 6.) from the Venom of which others were recovered by that brazen Serpent, which was so illustrious a Type of the Messiah. Neither 10 murmur ye under Dispensations of Providence, which may feem at prefent to bear hard upon you, and are contrary to your prefent Inclinations

(d) To play and dance.] Dr. Whitby observes, that, tho' many Commentators understand this of Fornication, it is without sufficient Reason. Fornication is indeed spoken of in another Clause, and that the very next, Verse 8. which makes it less probable, that it is intended here. As the golden Calf was designed as a Symbol of Jehovah, there is no Reason to imagine, they would bring such an Abomination into Worship, however irregular, which was addressed to him. And Elsner, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 105.) has abundantly vindicated the Remark of Grotius, that maiser, signifies to dance, a Ceremony, with which God himself had lately been honoured, (Exod. xv. 20.) and which, it is very probable, might naturally be attended by the Shouts and Songs, which Moses heard on approaching the Camp. Exod. xxxii. 17, 18.

(e) Commit Fornication.] This was common at many idolatrous Feasts among the Heathen; and it was the more proper for the Apostle to caution these Christians against it, as it was proverbially called the Corinthian Practice, republication being, as many have observed, equivalent to scretari. Strabo tells us that in one Temple of Venus at Corinth, there were no less than a thousand Priestesses, who made Prostitution a Part of their Devotions to the Goddess. Strabo, Lib. ii. Cap. 16.

(f) Tempt Christ, as some of them tempted [him.] Tho' the Word him be not in the Original, it seems plainly to be implied; and this is a considerable Text in Proof of his Residence with the Church in the Wilderness, as the Angel of God's Presence. Compare Exod. xxiii.

20. Isai. Ixiii. 9. Heb. xi. 26. Acts vii. 38.

(g) The

I Cor. X. 10.

Sect. 18. and Interest; as some of them also murmured again and again, and were destroyed by the Destroyer (g), who was commissioned by one Judgment and another to take them off.

But, let me remind you on the whole, as I hinted above, that all these calamitous Things, which bappened unto them, were intended as Types or Examples to us, that we might learn what we are to expect in the like Case; and they are written for our Admonition, on whom the Ends of the World are come (b): As we live under the last Dispensation, which Gop will ever give to the Children of Men, and with which the whole Oeconomy of their Probation shall wind up. Therefore let me urge this Improvement of the whole Survey upon you, and upon all into whose Hand this Epistle may come, and say, let bim that thinketh he standeth most securely, and who may be ready most confidently to trust in his own Strength, take Heed lest be fall so much the low-gines himself out of all Manner of Danger. 'Tis true indeed, and it is Matter of great Comfort and Thankfulness to reflect upon it, that no Temptation has yet taken you, but such as is common to Man (i), and fuch as human Reason, properly exercised on the Principles of that Revelation which you enjoy, may furnish you with Motives to resist. And we have the Pleasure farther to reflect, that GOD [is] faithful who hath promised (k) to preserve his People, and he will not leave you to be tempted above your Ability; but will with the Temptation, with which he permits. you.

er, in Proportion to the Degree in which he ima-as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the Destroyer.

II Now all these Things happened unto them for Enfamples: And they are written for our Admonition, upon whom the Ends of the World are come.

12 Wherefore, let him that thinketh he standeth, take Heed left he fall.

13 There hath no Temptation taken you, but such as is common to Man: But God is faithful, who will. not fuffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the Temptation

(g) The Destroyer. The Jews generally interpret this of him, whom they fancy to be the Angel of Death, and whom they eall Sammael.

(b) End of the World.] Team answer, properly signifies the concluding Age, or the last Dispensation of God to Mankind on Earth; which, if we believe the Gospel to be true, we must affuredly conclude that it is.

(i) Common to Man.] Arbowarros, may fignify also, proportionable to human Strength, as well as frequent to human Creatures; the Paraphrase therefore imports that.

(k) Faithful, who hath promised.] Compare Psal. ciii. 13, 14. and numberless Passages, in which God encourages his People to hope for his Presence and Help in pressing Danger, also make a Way to escape, that ye may be able to bear:

you to be affaulted, provide you also with a Way of Sect. 18. Escape; that if you be not wanting to yourselves, you may be able to bear [it;] yea, and may acquire 1 Cor. X. new Strength and Honour by the Combat.

IMPROVEMENT.

A Y Christians be always sensible, how happy they are, in having received such useful Hints from the New Testament, to assist them Ver. 6, 11. in the Interpretation of the Old; and particularly, those which are here given. We see in Israel according to the Flesh, an affecting Emblem of the Church in general. We see all their external Priviledges, tho' many and great, were ineffectual for their Security, when they behaved as unworthy of them.

Alas! how affecting is the Thought, that some who were under the Ver. 1. miraculous Cloud, who passed thro' the Waters of the divided Sea, who eat Ver. 2. of the Bread that came down from Heaven, and drank of that living Stream which omnipotent Mercy had opened from the flinty Rock, and Ver. 3, 4. made it to follow them in the Windings of their Journey, should yet become, instead of being on the whole the Objects of Divine Favour and Complacency, the Monuments of Wrath. Let us not ourselves therefore be high-minded, but fear. Let us mark the Rocks, on which Ver. 5. they suffered this fatal Shipwreck, if possible to keep clear of them; and pray that Divine Grace may direct our Course. Let us avoid not only those superstitious and idolatrous Rites of Worship, by which, as Pro- Ver. 7. testants, we are in little Danger of being infinared; but also those Lusts of the Flesh, which must, confidering our superior Advantage, be highly Ver. 8. displeasing to God; even the they should not rise to a Degree of equal Enormity and Scandal.

Let us especially take Heed that we tempt not Christ, who has graci- Ver. 9. oully been pleased to take us under his Conduct, and to honour his Church with so many demonstrative Tokens of his Presence. Nor let us Ver. 10. murmur, if while we are in this Wilderness State, we sometimes meet with Difficulties in our Way. Still let us make it familiar to our Minds, that God adjusts the Circumstances of every Trial; even that God, who stands engaged by the Promises of his Word, as well as the Equity and Goodness of his Nature, not to permit us to be tempted Ver. 13. above what we are able to bear. If we see not an immediate Way of Escape, let us calmly and attentively look around us, and humbly look up to him, that he may pluck our Feet out of the Net.

SECT

36

S E C T. XIX.

The Apostle farther pursues that Caution against all Approaches to Idolatry, which he had been suggesting in the former Section; particularly arguing from that Communion, which Christians had with Christ at his Table, which ought to place them at the remotest Distance from what might justly be called having Communion with Devils. I Cor. X. 14,---22.

1 Corinthians X. 14.

Sect. 19. THAVE just expressed my Considence in the Care of God to support you under any extra-I Cor. X. ordinary Temptation, which may hereafter arise, 14. to draw you out of the Way of your Duty: Wherefore, my beloved Brethren, being affured of this, let me exhort you carefully, to flee from all Approaches to Idolatry, whatever Circumstances of Allurement, or Danger, may seem to 15 plead for some Degrees of Compliance. now speak, as unto wise Men: I use a rational Argument, which will bear the strictest Examination, and which I am willing should be canvaffed as accurately as you please; judge you therefore what I fay; for I will refer it to your own deliberate and cooler Thoughts, whether there be not Danger in those idolatrous Participations, which some of you are so ready to defend; and whether they may not naturally bring some Degree of Guilt upon your Conscience?

The sacramental Cup, which is to us both the Commemoration of past, and the Pledge of suture Blessing, which in the Name of the Lord we solution lemnly bless (a), setting it apart to a holy and religious

I Corinthians X. 14.

Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from Idolatry.

15 I speak as to wise Men: Judge ye what I say.

16 The Cup of Bleffing which

(a) Which we bloss.] This Text very plainly shews, that there is a Sense, in which we may be said to bloss the sacramental Elements. To render it, the Cup over which, or for which, which we blefs, is it not the Communion of the Blood of Christ? The Bread which we break, is it not the Communion of the Body of Christ?

17 For we being many, are one Bread, and one Body: For we are all Partakers of that one Bread.

18 Behold Israel after the Flesh: Are not they which eat of the Sacrifices, Partakers of the Altar?

ligious Use; is it not the Token of our Faith and Sect. 19. our Communion in these inestimable Priviledges which are the Purchase of the Blood of Christ, shed for the Remission of our Sins? The Bread which we break, and which was appointed in the first Institution of the Ordinance for this Purpose, is it not the Communion of the Body of Christ in the like Sense? that is, the Token of our sharing in the Privileges which he procured at the Expence of Sufferings, by which his Body was broken, and almost torn in Pieces. Christians being many, are yet, as it were, but different Parts of one and the same broken Bread (b), which we distribute, [and] receive, in Token of our being Members of one Body; for we are all Partakers of one Kind of holy Bread, and one Cup, which we eat, and drink together, at the same Table, in Testimony of our mutual and inviolable Friendship, cemented in Christ our great and common Head.

Consider how it is with Israel according to the 18: Flesh, the lineal Descendants of those who were the chosen and peculiar People of Gop: Are not they, who eat of the Sacrifices, which have been offered in the Court of their Temple at Jerusalem, esteemed to be Partakers of the Altar of God, on which Part of them have been confumed? And is not their eating the Flesh of these Victims esteemed, as an Act of Communion with the Deity, to whom they were offered? Now you may eafily perceive, that the same Argument will be conclusive to prove, that they, who share in the Sacrifices presented to Idols, knowing we blefs GOD, is doing great Violence to the Original. That is faid to be bleffed, which is set apart to a sacred Use, (Gen. ii. 3. Exod. xx. 11.) and on which the Blessing of God is folemnly invoked.

(b) Of one Bread.] Many valuable Manuscripts read it, and of one Cup. Elsner has an admirable Note upon this Text, to prove that eating together in a religious Manner hath been, in almost all ancient Nations, a Token of mutual Friendship. See Mr. Lowman's Hebrew Ritual, pag. 54. and Maimonides, quoted by him there. See more especially, Dr. Cudworth's Discourse concerning the True Notion of the Lord's Supper, Chap. i. and Chap. vi. And it is certain also, as is intimated below, that by Sacrifices, and the Feasts on them, they held Communion with the real or supposed Deity, to which they were prefented; as the Author of a Discourse on Sacrifices has shewn at large: But that this was the only End of all Sacrifices, I cannot think that learned Writer fufficiently to have proved. (e) I would

1 Cor. X. 16.

18.

Sect. 19. knowing what they do, and especially doing it I in some Apartments belonging to the Temples of 1. Cor. X. fuch Idols, hold a Kind of Communion with these fictitious and detestable Deities, by no Means reconcilable with the Sanctity of the Christian Character, or the Tenor of their sacramental Engagements.

> What then do I say, that an Idol of Wood or Stone, of Silver or Gold, is in itself any Thing Divine? Or do I say, that the Thing, which is facrificed to Idols, is in itself any Thing morally and univerfally unclean? You well know, that I intend to maintain nothing of this Kind.

But on the other Hand, you must be aware, :20 that what the Heathens sacrifice, they sacrifice to evil Damons, and not to GOD; fuch Spirits, as those to which they address their Devotions, must to be fure be wicked Spirits, if they exist at all; and Devils may well be supposed to use their utmost Efforts to support such Worship, it being grateful to them, in Proportion to the Degree in which it is affronting and injurious to the great Object of Christian Adoration, and enfoaring to the Souls of Men. Now I would not by any Means, that you who have at your Baptism solemnly renounced the Devil, and all his Adherents, should in any Degree have, or feem to have, Communion with And indeed this is most incon-Dæmons (c). fistent with those solemn Badges of your holy Profession, by which your baptismal Covenant is 19 What fay I then? That the Idol is any Thing, or that which is offered in Sacrifice to Idols is any Thing?

20 But I fay, that the Things which the Gentiles facrifice, they facrifice to Devils, and not to God: And I would not that ye should have Fellowship with De-

> 21 Ye cannot drink the Cup

(c) I would not that ye should have Communion with Dæmons.] It is a monstrous Notion of Olearius, that the Heathens imagined the very Substance and Body of their Deities insinuated itself into the Victim offered to them, and so was united to the Person eating the Flesh of these Sacrifices. Elsner, (Observ. Vol. ii. pag. 108.) has sufficiently consuted this his weak Inference from some mistaken Passages of Firmicus, and Jamblicus. But this dearned and judicious Critick has proved at large, from incontestible Authorities, that the Dæmons were considered as present at these Sacrifices, and as taking their Part with the Wor-Thippers in the common Feast; by which Means, as Maimonides expresses it, in a very remarkable Paffage, (More Nevoch. Part. iii. Cap. 46.) Friendship, Brotherhood and Familiarity, was contracted between them, because "all eat at one Table, and sat down at one 46 Board." The Altar was called the Table of the Lord, Mal. i. 12. Compare Deut. xxxii. 17. But then, as Dr. Cudworth hath shewn, we are not to conclude from hence, that unthe Gospel Dispensation, the Table of the Lord is properly an Altar; for the Lord's Supper is not a Sacrifice, but a Feast upon a Sacrifice. Cudworth on the True Notion of the Lord's Supper, Chap. 5.

Digitized by Google

(d) To

Cup of the Lord, and the Cup of Devils: Ye cannot be Partakers of the Lord's Table, and of the Table of Devils.

so frequently ratified, and renewed. Ye cannot, Sect. 19. with tolerable Decency and Confistency, at one Time drink of the Cup of the Lord, in that holy Rite in which you commemorate his Death, and at another Time, of the Cup of Dæmons; of Libations poured out in their Honour, or Cups drank at their Feasts. Ye cannot furely think, you should be Partakers of the Table of the Lord, and go from thence to the Table of Dæmons, or from theirs to his, to share alternately in such holy and fuch polluted Rites and Entertainments. Yet it is certain, that by partaking in their Feasts, you do, as it were, contract a Kind of Friendship and Familiarity with these infernal Spirits.

22 Do we provoke the Lord to Jealousy? Are we stronger than he?

Do we, by such a Conduct as this, deliberately mean to provoke the Lord to Jealoufy (d), by thus careffing those, whom he abhors, as his Rivals? Must it not incense him exceedingly? and must it not, in its Consequences, be detrimental, and even fatal to us? Or are we stronger, than he? fo as to be able to refift, or to endure, the dreadful Effects of his Displeasure.

I M P R O V E M E N T.

E T us bear and fear: For it is the Tendency of every wilful Sin, to provoke the Lord to Jealousy; it is a Challenge to him, as it Ver. 22. were, to let loose the Fierceness of his Wrath. And alas, how can such feeble Creatures as we, endure its Terrors! Let the Confideration urged by the Apostle, to deter Men from partaking in idolatrous Sacrifices, be weighed by us, as extending to every Thing, whereby God may be dishonoured, and Christ affronted.

They who are Christians indeed, and partake of that Feast, which the bleffed Jesus hath instituted, in Commemoration of his dying Love, do herein partake of the Body, and the Blood of Christ: Let it be remem- Ver. 21. bered as a Pledge of everlasting Obedience, since it is a Memorial of infinite Obligation: It shews that we belong to him, as his willing and peculiar People, that we renounce all his Rivals, particularly Satan, and his

(d) To Jealousy, &c.] Alluding to the Notion of Idolatry, as a Kind of spiritual Adultery, which moved the Jealousy of God. Yet every deliberate Sin is in Effect daring his omnipotent Vengeance.

Vol. IV.

Sf

1 Cor. X. 21.

Digitized by GOOGIC

Alienation.

Sect. 10. his Kingdom, and whatever favours and supports his accurred Cause. Let us be faithful to our Allegiance, and have no more to do with any of these Abominations.

Ver. 17, &c. Let us also remember this as a Pledge of everlasting Peace and Love: We are all one Bread, and one Body. Let us not envy and provoke. grieve and revile one another; but study mutual Comfort and Edification. And when little Jealousies arise, and our secular Interests seem to interfere. which may often be the Case; let us open our Minds to those exalted Sentiments, which our common Relation to Christ tends to inspire; and let the fweet Remembrance of the Communion we have had with him. and each other, in that holy Ordinance, blot out of our Minds the Memory of every Difference, which might tend to promote Difgust and

SECT. XX.

The Apostle gives more particular Directions, as to the Cases and Circumstances, in which Things sacrificed to Idols might, or might not, lawfully be eaten; and urges farther Considerations, to engage them willingly to resign their own Gratification in some Instances, for the Glory of GOD, and the Good of their Brethren. I Cor. X. 23, to the Endl Chap. XI. 1.

I CORINTHIANS X. 23.

Cor. X. 23.

Sect. 20. THAVE said a great Deal, to guard you against all Approaches to Idolatry. In Anfwer to this, I know, it may be replied, that there are certain Things which may accidentally lead to it, and yet, being in their own Nature indifferent, may be so used as to decline the Danger. Granting it then, that all these Things are lawful for me, I am perswaded, nevertheless, you will readily acknowledge, that all such Things are not in every Circumstance expedient. Granting, I say, that all these Things, about which we have been

I CORINTHIANS X: 23.

A L L Things are lawful for me, but all Things are not expedient:

Cor. X.

23.

All Things are lawful for me, but all Things edify not.

been discoursing, are lawful for me, yet it is un- Sect. 20. deniably apparent, that all Things edify not; and I ought certainly to confider, what may most effectually conduce to the Edification of my Neighbour, and of the Church in general, as well as what may fuit my own particular Inclination, or Convenience: For I may find good Reasons for declining many Things, as infnaring to others, which, were I to regard myself alone, might be Let no one therefore feek 24 perfectly indifferent. the Gratification of bis own Humour, or the Advancement of what may feem his personal Interest; but let every one pursue another's [Welfare;] endeavouring to inrich all that are around him in Holiness and Comfort.

24 Let no Man scek his own: But every Man another's Wealth.

25 Whatsoever is sold in the Shambles, that eat, asking no Question for Conscience Sake.

26 For the Earth is the Lord's, and the Fulness thereof.

27 If any of them that believe not, bid you to a Feast, and ye be disposed to go; whatsoever is set before you, eat, asking no Question for Conscience Sake.

Believe me, my Brethren, I am desirous not 25 to lay you under any unnecessary Restraints. And therefore, whatever [Flesh] is fold in the Shambles (a), that I allow you to eat; asking no Questions for Conscience Sake, that is, not scrupulously inquiring, whether it have, or have not, made a Part For as the Psalmist expresof any Idol-facrifice. ses it, (Psal. xxiv. 1.) the whole Earth [is] the Lord's, and the Fulness thereof. All these Things therefore are to be taken as they come to our Hands, and used with Chearfulness and Thanksgiving, as the common Bounties of his Providence to his human Creatures. And farther, if 27 any of the Unbelievers, who live in your Neighbourhood, invite you (b) to his House, and you are disposed to go, eat whatever is set before you at the Entertainment: not asking any Questions for Conscience

(a) Sold in the Shambles.] Herodotus observes, that the Egyptians, when they had cut off the Head of their Victims, used to carry the Carcase to the Market, and sell it to the Greeks, if they could find any to purchase it; if not, they threw it into the River, judging it unlawful to eat it themselves. Raphel. ex Herod. in Loc. And tho' the Grecian Priests had no fuch Scruples, yet as they had often more Flesh of their Sacrifices, than they, and their Ramilies, could consume, it was natural for them to take this Method of disposing of it to Advantage; and at Times of extraordinary Sacrifice, 'tis probable the neighbouring Markets might be chiefly supplied from their Temples.

(b) Invite you.] That nakes, often fignifies to invite, Raphelius, (Annot. ex Xen.) has shewn at large; but to conclude that it must generally be so rendered, is very unwarrantable.

I Cor. X. 28.

Sect. 20. Conscience Sake, but receiving it, whatever it be, as that Supply which Divine Providence has then been pleased to send you. But if any one fay to you, this Food is Part of what hath been sacrificed to an Idol, eat it not; both out of Regard to him, that shewed thee this Circumstance; whether he be an Heathen who may hereby be confirmed in his Idolatry, or a Brother, who may otherwise be enfnared by thine Example, and tempted to violate the Dictates of his own Mind; and, I may say, out of Regard to Conscience too; for thou canst not injure thy Brother in this Respect, without subjecting thyself to some Remorse on a ferious Reflection. And the Scripture, I mentioned before, may fuggest a pertinent Confideration here: For as the Earth [is] the Lord's and the Fulness thereof (c), thou mayest reasonably hope he will provide for thee some other Way, and mayest be assured, that he cannot want the I say, [for the Sake of] Con-29 Means of doing it. fcience; but I mean, not thine own immediately, but that of another Person; for how indifferent foever thou mayest esteem the Matter, thou art obliged in Duty to be very cautious, that thou dost not wound and grieve that of thy Brother: (But you will observe that I hear speak only of Acts obvious to human Observation; for as to what immediately lies between God and my own Soul, why is my Liberty to be judged, arraigned and condemned at [the Bar of] another Man's Conscience(d)? I am not, in such Cases, to govern myself by the Judgment and Apprehension of others, nor have they any Authority to judge, or censure me, for not concurring

28 But if any Man fay unto you, This is offered in Sacrifice unto Idols, eat not for his Sake that shewed it, and for Conscience Sake. For the Earth is the Lord's, and the Fulness thereof.

29 Conscience, I say, not thine own, but of the others: For why is my Liberty judged of another Man's Conscience?

(c) The Earth, &c.] Some good Copies omit these Words, yet they have so evident 2 Propriety and Beauty here, in Contrast with Verse 26, that I was by no Means disposed to follow them.

(d) Why is my Liberty, &c.] Some think, the Meaning is, "Why should I use my Li-" berty so as to offend the Conscience of any." Others think, it is an Objection in the Mouth of the Corinthians, and to be thus understood, "But why should I suffer myself to be thus im-" posed upon, and receive Law from any, where Christ has lest me free?" I rather thinks that this, and the 30th Verse, come in, as a Kind of Parenthesis, to prevent their extender ing the former Caution beyond what he designed by it.

(e) Ferres

1 Cor. X.

30.

30 For, if I by Grace be a Partaker, why am I evil spoken of for that for which I give Thanks?

concurring with them in their own narrow No- Sect. 20. tions and Declarations. For if I by the Divine Grace and Favour, am made a Partaker of the common Gifts of Providence, why am I reviled for my free and chearful Use of that, for which I give God my humble Thanks, as tracing it up to the Hand of the great supream Benefactor?)

31 Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the Glory of God.

Therefore, on the whole, to conclude this Difcourse; since no one particular Rule can be laid down, to fuit all the Diversities of Temper and Apprehension, which may arise, instead of uncharitable Contentions with each other, or any Thing that looks like mutual Contempt, let us take all the Pains we can to meet as in the Centre of real Religion; see to it then, that whether ye cat or drink, or what soever else you do, in the common, as well as facred, Actions of Life, ye do all to the Glory of GOD, pursuing the Credit of the Gospel, and the Edification of the Church, that he may be honoured in the Happiness of his Creatures, and more universally acknowledged as the Author of all Good.

32 Give none Offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the Church of God:

In this Respect, and in every other, see to it, that ye be inoffensive, both to the Jews, who, you know, abhor every Thing that looks like the least Approach to Idol-worship; and to the Greeks (e), and other unconverted Gentiles, who are so much attached to it, that they are willing to catch at all Pretences of justifying themselves in the Practice; and to the Church of GOD, whether confisting of circumcifed, or uncircumcifed. Converts to Christianity, who would grieve to see the common Edification obstructed, in Instances wherein they themselves might not be endan-Endeavour to follow, in this Respect, my Example; acting as I also do, who study in all Things to please all Men, so far as I apprehend it for their real Advantage; not feeking mine

33 Even as I please allMen in all Things, not feeking mine

(e) Jews and Greeks.] As these are both opposed to the Church of GOD, I conclude he speaks of unconverted Jews, or Greeks; and refers to the Danger there might be, of prejudicing them against Christianity, by the Indulgences against which he cautions them.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 20. mine own Interest or Gratification, but that of many, that they may be saved by being brought to, and confirmed in, that Religion, on which their

In this grand and important Consideration I lose every inferior View, as our great Lord and Master did; be je therefore herein Imitators of me, as I also [am] of Christ; and you will be in the Way to please him, and to secure infinitely greater Advantage from his Favour, than you can ever be called to resign for the Good of your Brethren.

mine own Profit, but the Profit of many, that they may be faved.

ye Followers of nuc, even as I also am of Christ.

IMPROVEMENT.

HAT exalted and generous Sentiments are these! Well do they become every Minister, yea every Disciple of Christ! What a glorious Society would his Church soon be, if each of its Members was actuated by them! not seeking his own Things, but those of others; not Ver.24,29. Pursuing his own Interest, but that of many, that they may be saved! Yea, how happy would each particular Person be, in such a wise and tender Care of the whole, beyond what the most eager and successful Pursuit of a separate Interest can render him!

Let us endeavour to steer in the due Medium, between the opposite Extreams of an excessive Scrupulosity, and a presumptuous Rashness; and attend to the various distinguishing Circumstances, which will demand a correspondent Difference of Conduct, in Things which may seem to

Ver. 25, 27. a correspondent Difference of Conduct, in Things which may seem to an inattentive Eye, much the same: Not thinking that Attention and

Ver. 31. Caution needless, by which the Ghry of our GOD, and the Edification of our Brethren may be promoted. We may expose ourselves in Consequence of this Tenderness of Conscience, to Inconveniences, Straits, and Contempt; but let us commit all our Concerns to that Divine Providence, Ver. 26,28. which extends itself to all its Works; and rejoice to think, that the Earth is the Lord's, and all its Fulness: out of which he will not fail to furnish necessary Supplies, to those who fear him, and are thus solicitous to preserve a Conscience void of Offence before him. But while we are strictly cautious ourselves, let us not be rash and severe in our Censures of others, who stand, or fall, to their own Master, and who may in some Instances have Reasons, to us unknown, for a Conduct most different from ours.

Oh! that Divine Grace may teach us all to govern our whole Lives by Ver. 31. this extensive important Maxim; that whether we eat, or drink, or whatoever we do, we pursue the Glory of GOD! Let us dignify and sanctify Sect. 20. all the common Actions of Life, by performing them from these high and holy Motives; and so turning them into Sacrifices of Devotion and Then shall we not only avoid giving Offence to others, but shall Ver. 32. conduct ourselves in such a Mainter, as shall make us burning and shining Lights in the World, and extend our Sphere of Ulefulnels, far beyond that of our personal Converse, and perhaps beyond the Date of our precarious Abode in this transitory World.

Thus glorifying our Heavenly Pather on Earth, and finishing the Work be bath given us to do, we may hope thro' his Grace in Christ, to be glorified with him above, and to be brought to a brighter Image of that Sa- Chap. XI. r. viour, who has fet us so perfect an Example of the Temper and Conduct here recommended, which even the bleffed Apostle Paul followed only with unequal Steps.

SECT. XXI

The Apostle sets himself to reform some Indecencies, which bad crept into the Church of Corinth; and particularly that of Women prophefying with their Head uncovered. 1 Cor. XI. 2---16.

1 Corinthians XI. 2.

1 CORTNTHIANS XI: 2.

O-W I - praife you; Brethren, that you remember me in all Things, and keep the Ordinances, as I delivered them to you.

know, that the Head of e-

THAVE just now exhorted you, my Bre- Sect. 21. L' thren, to imitate me, as I endeavour to copy. the Example of our bleffed Lord. And while I 1 Cor. XI. am giving you such an Exhorfation, I ought to express my Satisfaction in seeing many of you so ready to comply with it. I praise such of you therefore, that in all Things you are mindful of me, and strenuously retain the Charges I gave, as 3 But I would have you I committed [them] to you. But as to your inquiring concerning the Manner, in which Wou the men should deliver any Thing in Publick; when they are by a Divine Impulse called to do it : I > would have you to know, in Order to regulate your Judgment and Conduct aright, that Christ is the Head of every Man; so that every Christian should very Man is Christ; and

Digitized by Google

often

I Cor. XI. 3.

Sect. 21. often recollect the Relation in which he hath the the Head of the Woman Honour to stand to him, as an Engagement to observe the strictest Decorum in his whole Behaviour. And if the different Sexes be compared, the Head of the Woman [is] the Man; to whom therefore she ought to pay a reverent Respect, as in the Lord. And the Head of Christ [is] GOD: Christ, in his mediatorial Character, acts in Subordination to the Father, who rules by him, and hath constituted him Sovereign of all Worlds, visible and invisible. And as the Father's Glory is interested in the Administration of Christ, so is the Glory of Christ in some Measure interested in the Conduct and Behaviour of those Men, whose more immediate Head he is; and I may add, of these Women, whose Heads such Men are.

is the Man; and the Head of Christ is God.

Now, upon this Principle, I may fay, in Reference to the Usages which prevail, at this Time, in your Country; every Man praying or prophefying, in a publick Assembly, whether he give forth inspired Psalms or Hymns, or utter Predictions, or common Instruction; if he do it with [bis] Head covered, acting therein contrary to the received Rules of Decency among us, he in a Degree, dishonours Christ bis Head (a), as behaving unworthy his Relation to him. on the other Hand, every Woman praying or prophelying, under such Inspiration as above, with [her] Head unvailed, dishonoureth Man, who is her Head, by behaving in fuch a Manner as is indecent, in an Affembly confifting of fo many Men

4 Every Man praying or prophefying, having bis Head covered, dishonoureth his Head.

5 But every Woman that prayeth or prophesieth with her Head uncovered, dishonoureth her Head: For that

(a) Every Man praying, &c. with his Head covered, dishonoureth [his] Head.] It was certainly, (as Dr. Whitby, and others, have proved,) the Custom among the Greeks and Romans, as well as the Jews, to appear in worshipping Assemblies with their Head covered; and it is certain the Jewish Priests were a Kind of Turbant, when ministering in the Temple. But it seems, that the Corinthian Men were a Vail, out of Regard to Pharasaical Traditions, and in Imitation of the Custom prevailing in the Synagogues; which therefore the Apostle disapproved. The Women seem to have worn their Hair dishevelled, when praying by Divine Inspiration; (which seems to have been the only Case, in which they could regularly pray in Publick:) This made them resemble those Pagan Priestesses, who pretended to be actuated by their Gods; the Apostle therefore with great Propriety discourages it.

(t) Power were shaven.

I Cor. XI.

6 For if the Woman be not covered, elet her also be shorn: But if it be a Shame for a Woman to be shorn or shaven, let her be covered.

7 For a Man indeed ought not to cover his Head, forasmuch as he is the Image and Glory of GoD: But the Woman is the Glory of the Man.

8 For the Man is not of the Woman: But the Woman of the Man.

9 Neither was the Man created for the Woman: But the Woman for the Man.

10 For this Cause ought

Vol. IV.

is even all one as if the Men as are usually present on these Occasions; Sect. 21. for I may say, that it is in this Respect the same as if the were thaved: Shaving her Head is only taking off the natural Covering, and exposing it bare; which is so shameful a Thing, that you know it has often been inflicted as a proper Kind of Punishment, on Women of the most abandoned Character; and it is scandalous, that any Thing like this should be used in your Christian Assemblies; and this too, by Persons pretending to extraordinary Characters and Assistances. may therefore say, if a Woman will not be vailed, let ber even be shorn; but if it be apparently shameful, for a Woman to have her Hair shorn, or shaved off, let her keep as far as possible from fo disagreeable an Appearance; and bave her Head covered with a proper Vail, at the Times, and in the Circumstances, of which we now For a Man indeed ought not to have [his] fpeak. Head covered, as being the immediate Image and Glory of GOD; and made in his Likeness as the first Copy of its Kind, before Woman was created. "Tis decent therefore, that he should appear with the Marks of that Superiority, which he indeed bears: But the Woman should forbear it; and it is enough to say of her, that she is the Glory of the Man; to whom Gop hath done no inconsiderable Honour, as well as Favour, in making fo excellent and amiable a Creature, for his Benefit and Comfort. Yet still her State of Subjection to him should be remembered, and it is very expedient the should appear in Publick with fome tacit Acknowledgment of it. Man is not, in the first Production of his Nature, taken out of the Woman; but as we read in the Sacred History, (Gen. ii. 21,-23.) the Woman out of the Man. Neither [was] the Man created for the Sake of the Woman, to accommodate and affift her; but the Woman for the Sake of the Man, that he might have a Help meet for him, which before he found not in the whole Creation, (Gen. ii. 20.) On this Account therefore, as well as for the other Reasons I have men1 Cor. XI. 10.

Sect. 21. mentioned above, the Woman ought to have upon [ber] Head a Vail, as a Token of her being under the Power (b) and Subjection of the Man: And so much the rather should she wear it in worshipping Assemblies, because of the Angels, who are especially present there, and before whom we ought to be exceedingly careful, that nothing pass which may be indecent and irregular, and unlike that perfect Order, and profound Humility, with which they worship in the Divine Prefence.

the Woman to have Power on her Head, because of the Angels.

I have treated the Matter with a Plainness and 11 Freedom becoming my Character; nevertheless let not any Hints which I have dropped of the fuperior Dignity of the Man be abused, to render him haughty and tyrannical: For it is evident, that the Man [is] not without the Woman, nor the Woman without the Man in the Lord. You know that the Existence, and Comfort, of either Sex has a Dependance upon the other; which the Genius of the Christian Religion requires us to consider, and to behave in a Manner correspon-For as the Woman [was] at first dent to it.

11 Nevertheless, neither is the Man without the Woman, neither the Woman without the Man in the 12 For as the Woman's

(b) Power on [her] Head.] Mr. Locke acknowledges, with a Modesty which does him much Honour, that he did not understand this Text; and many seem to have darkened it, by their Attempts to explain it. But the chief Difficulty does not lie in the Word Power; which must, to be sure, be understood of a Vail, which married Women wore on their Head, as a Token of Subjection to their Husbands; (See Gen. xxiv. 65.) and Mr. Godwin, (Moses and Aaron, pag. 236.) supposes the Vail was in Hebrew called רדיך. (Radid,) from a Root, 777, (Radad,) which fignified Subjection; so that the Vail was, as it were, the Habit, by which a Woman shewed she considered herself in Subjection: And Chardin observes, that the married Women in Persia wear a peculiar Habit to the very same Purpose. Chard. Pers. Vol. ii. pag. 187. 'Tis much more difficult to ascertain the Meaning of that Clause, because of the Angels. It seems neither reasonable, nor decent, to explain this of young Miniflers; as if they were in peculiar Danger of being infnared by the Beauty of Women; and it is more grossly abfurd still to suppose with Tertullian, (de Vet. Virg. §. 7.) that there was any Room to apprehend, it could be a Snare to celegical Spirits; (which Miflake feeded to be grounded on the wild Interpretation of Gen. vi. 2. so generally received among the Fathers.) Dr. Whithy understands it of Evil Angels, and thinks it refers to the Puniforment which Eve incurred, (Gen. iii. 16.) for hearkening to the Suggestions of Satan. A late ingenious Writer by appears, understands Spies; who he supposes came into Christian Assemblies to make ill-natured Remarks, and so would be glad to blaze abroad any Indecencies they might observe there. (See Mr. Gongh's Diff. in Lsc.) 1 have not Room to canvass all these; but only add in Support of the Sense, which, as least exceptionable, I have followed, that the Presence of Angels in religious Assemblies is favoured by Eccles. v. 1, 6. and the Figures of Cherubim in the Tabernacle and Temple.

(c) Judge

I Cor. XI.

12.

of the Man, even so is the Man also by the Woman: But all Things of GoD.

taken from the Rib of the Man, whom he ought Sect. 21. therefore to love as a Part of himself, and she to revere him, as under God the Source of her Being; so also, in the ordinary Course of the Divine Production, the Man [is] by the Woman, born, nourished, and in the tenderest Years of Life educated by her; a Circumstance that ought to be ever most tenderly remembered, as a Spring of grateful Affection and Regard. But let me add, that whether in the first Creation, or the fuccessive Production of human Creatures, all Things [are] of GOD; whose Constitution ought therefore humbly and obediently to be revered, and all the Duties of relative Life performed, as for his Sake, and to his Glory.

13 Judge in yourselves: Is it comely that a Woman pray unto God uncovered?

14 Doth not even Nature itself teach you, that if a Man have long Hair, it is a Shame unto him?

15 But if a Woman have long Hair, it is a Glery to her: For her Hair is given her for a Covering.

16 But if any Man seem to be contentious, we have

But with Respect to the particular Circumstance I was speaking of, I may leave you to judge of yourselves, whether it be, according to the Usages generally prevailing among us, decent (c) for a Woman to pray to GOD with that masculine and confident Air, which she must have, when her Head is uncovered: Or rather, doth not the Sight immediately shock us, previous to any Reasonings upon it in our own Mind? So that Nature itself seems to teach you, that on the one Hand, for a Man to have long Hair folicitously adjusted and artfully adorned, is fuch a Mark of an effeminate Character, as is, on the whole, a Disgrace to bim; Whereas on the other Hand, if a Woman bath long Hair spread over her Shoulders, it is rather a Glory to ber; for her Hair was given her instead of a Vail, in the first Constitution of her Nature, and before the Arts of Dress were invented or needed.

Thus the Matter appears to me, when I reflect upon the Original, and the present State of Things, and what seems from that to be the Voice of Nature. But if any one appears to be contentious, and will dispute this, upon his own different

(c) Judge, whether it be decent, &c.] The Grecian Women, excepting the Heathen Prioft-As used to appear in their Vails, when they came into publick Assemblies; as we find in Homer, and many other ancient Writers.

T t 2

(d) Nor

Ver. 3.

Ver. 10.

16.

Sect. 21. different Views of what is naturally decent; I no fuch Custom, neither fhall not controvert it farther; but content myfelf with faying, that we have here no fuch Cuftom, for Women to appear with their Head uncovered; neither do I know of its prevailing in any of the other Churches of GOD (d), whether planted by me, or any of my Brethren. I think therefore that it ought to be avoided, as a Singularity which may appear like Affectation, and give Offence, even if it be not judged a natural Indecorum. And thus I leave the Affair to your Confideration; and promife myself, you will give me no farther Cause of Complaint on this Head.

the Churches of GoD.

IMPROVEMENT.

ET Christians frequently remember the honourable Relation, in which they stand to Christ as their Head; and as beyond all Dispute, he is, under his mediatorial Character, most willingly and joyfully fubject to GOD; let us learn to imitate him in that chearful and intire Subjection, out of Love and Reverence to him, guarding against whatever is unbecoming, left he be dishonoured thereby. By the Passage before us, we see the Force of Custom, for determining Ver.14, 16. in many Respects, what is decent, and what is otherwise. Let us maintain a proper Regard to this; lest even our Good should be thro' our Imprudence, evil-spoken of, and all our Infirmities magnified into Crimes. Let us often recollect the original Dignity of our Nature, by which we are the Image and Glory of GOD; that, so far as by Sin and Folly this Honour is lost, we may endeavour to regain it; and where it is not, may think and act more fuitably to fo high a Relation.

When in any Act of Divine Worship, we have the Honour to approach the bleffed God, let us reverence his awful Presence, and even that of his holy Angels, who attend the Assemblies of the Saints. We pray, the the Will of GOD may be done upon Earth, as it is done in Heaven: Let us be careful to worship God in such a Manner, that these celestial Spirits, who ever appear before him with facred Awe, may not be offended

(d) Nor any of the Churches. Monf. Amyraut understands it in this Sense, " The "Churches don't use to contend with me, but to submit to my Decisions:" But the former Clause, we have no such Custom, will not admit this. The Argument on the other Interpretation is clear and strong.

Digitized by GOOGLE

fended at the Rudeness and Folly of sinful Mortals; whom they may Sect. 21. well wonder to see admitted, in their best Estate, to this Divine Privilege, which they have forfeited by repeated Provocations.

As for what St. Paul observes of the mutual Dependence which the Ver. 11, 12. Sexes have on each other, let it dispose them to mutual Candor and Respect; avoiding the cruel Tyranny, or the vain Affectation, which often arms them, on either Side, with ungenerous Reflections. And as all Things are of GOD, let it be our Concern, that all Things be to bim; that all Things be faithfully employed for his Glory; and whatever Comforts we receive in relative Life, which are indeed many and important, let us adore the Wisdom of the Divine Constitution in the original Formation of our Nature, and the fecret Influence and Conduct of his Providence, in the Regulation of our respective Circumstances and Affairs.

SECT. XXII.

The Apostle, in Order to reform several scandalous Abuses of the Lord's Supper, which had crept into the Church of Corinth, leads back their Views to the original Institution of the solemn Ordinance, and infers from thence the Danger of profaning it. I Cor. XI. 17, to the End.

I CORINTHIANS XI. 17.

OW in this that I declare unto you, I praise you not, that you come together, not for the better, but for the worfe.

I Corinthians XI. 17.

HUS you have my free Sentiments of Sect. 22. the Manner, in which Women, even 🗸 when most fingularly honoured by God, should appear in your religious Assemblies. But while I am giving [you] these Instructions, I do not, and cannot, praise [you,] as I would, on several Accounts; and particularly on this, that when you come together in these Assemblies, and on the most solemn Occasions, there are such Irregulaties, and fometimes such Indecencies among you, that your Meeting is not for the better, but for the worse, as you lose more in Religion one Way, than you gain another. For, before I mention

18 For first of all, when

I Cor. XI.

17.

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 22. any other Instance of this, I must observe in the first Place, that when ye come together in the Church (a); tho' it is so evident, that nothing but Reverence to God, and Love to each other, should reign on such Occasions; I hear that there are Schisms, or uncharitable and angry Divisions and Disputes among you; and I do, in some Respect, and with Regard to some of you, believe it; For in the Course of Things, 'tis to be it; For in the Course of Things, 'tis to be expected, that there must be even Heresics among you (b): Contentions will arise to such a Height, that Separations will ensue. The Warmth of some Tempers evidently leads to this; and Providence may probably permit it, that they who are of the most approved Characters, may be made manifest among you by the Steadiness, and Candor of their Conduct.

It is particularly grievous to me, to be forced to complain of your irregular Behaviour, while celebrating that most excellent and endearing Ordinance of the Eucharist: But I am compelled to do it; and therefore I tell you plainly, that when you come together in such a Manner, as you do, into one Place, under Pretence of attending this grand Solemnity, it is not eating the Lord's Supper (c): it does not deserve to be called by ye come together in the Church, I hear that there he Divisions among you; and I partly believe it.

19 For there must be alfo Heresies among you, that they which are approved, may be made manifest among you.

20 When ye come together therefore into one Place, this is not to eat the Lord's Supper.

(a) Come together in the Church.] Some have urged this, as an Instance in which Church, fignifies a Building for publick Worship; and have urged also the 22d Verse in the same View; but both may be interpreted of the Assembly, as the Paraphrase shews.

(b) There must be even Heresses.] It seems evident from hence, that Heresy is spoken of as something worse, than the Schism mentioned above; but whether it be an Evil intirely of a different Kind, or only of a higher Degree, is not so clear from this Passage. I think, for Reasons not here to be enumerated, that the Word assess, signifies a Sect of People separated from others, and forming, what we call a distinct Denomination; whereas there may be Schism without Separation, if People assembling together have uncharitable Contentions with each other; which was the Case of these Schismatical Corinthians.

(c) It is not eating the Lord's Supper.] The Corinthians seem to have been guilty of two great Faults in the Matter here referred to, which St. Paul in the following Discourse labours to reform;—The one, that they consounded the Lord's Supper with the common Meals they made together, (from whence the Love-feasts were afterwards derived;) thinking it sufficient, (as the Quakers now do,) if they mingled some Thoughts of Christ's Death, with this common Use of Bread and Wine;—The other, that they used such a rapacious Behaviour at these Feasts, and treated one another so rudely and unkindly, as, on their own Principles, would have been very indecent. This latter Circumstance is finely illustrated in a Passage from Xenophon, (Memor. Lib. 3. Cap. xiv. §. i.) in which he observes, that Socrates was that Name. Instead of regarding it in a holy Sect. 22. and religious View, you confound it with a common Meal; and do not indeed behave in the Manner, that Decency would require if it were no more than a common Meal: For tho' you fit down at what, even in that Case, ought to be a focial and friendly Table, yet each has his particular Mess, and without offering a Share of it, in an obliging Manner to the Rest, every one in eating, greedily taketh before [the other] his own Supper (d), both the Food and Liquor, which he hath provided; and so while one poor Brother, for Want of suitable Provisions, is hungry, another eats and drinks to Excess (e); which would in all Circumstances be a Scandal to a Christian, and especially to a religious Assembly, as this certainly ought to be.

21 For in eating every one taketh before other, his own Supper: And one is hungry, and another is ·drunken.

22 What, have ye not Houses to eat and to drink? Or despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that

What a Reproach is this to your common Pro- 22. fession! Give me Leave to ask you, bave you not Houses to eat and to drink in on common Occasions, that you must come to the Place of publick Worship, thus to entertain yourselves there, which is certainly in all Views very ill-judged? Or do you despise the Church of GOD, which you must greatly offend by fuch a Conduct as this; and at the same Time shame those, that have not Provisions and Accommodations of their own, and might hope at your common Meals to be relieved?

much offended with the Athenians for their Conduct at their common Suppers, as some prepared delicately for themselves, while others were but slenderly provided for. That worthy Man endeavoured to shame them out of this low Taste, by offering his Provisions to all the Company. Mr. Grove hath with great Propriety mentioned a Passage from Socrates, the Ecclesiastical Historian, (Lib. v. Cap. 22.) in which he speaks of some Egyptians, living near Alexandria, who partook of the Sacrament in a very peculiar Manner, (as it feems much after the Corinthian Fashion,) introducing it with a jovial Feast, in which they rega-led themselves with all Kinds of Food. See Grove on the Sacrament, pag. 108. (d) His own Supper.] This monstrous, and to us unaccountable Circumstance, is cleared up by what is faid above, of the focial Suppers used among the Greeks; to which each brought his own Provisions, which were not always made so common to the whole Company, as Dezency and Friendship might have required. (e) Drinks to Excess. The Word petition, has this Signification in a great Latitude; but one would hope, that tho' the Jews, and Heathers, were often intoxicated in their religious Festivals, these Christians, imprudent and irregular as they were, did not carry their Excesses so far; and therefore I chose to soften the Version. Compare Vol. i. pag. 137. Note (k).

I Cor. XI. 21.

(f) I re-

336

1 Cor. XI. 22.

Sect. 22. ed? What shall I say to you on this Occasion? Shall I praise you in this [Respect?] I wish I could fairly and honourably do it; but at present, I praise [you] not; I must rather blame you, and exhort you to amend what is fo grossly amiss.

have not? What shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

And that my Admonitions and Exhortations may come with the greater Weight, let me lead back your Thoughts to the original Institution of this profaned and affronted Ordinance; which if you reflect upon, I am fure you must be heartily grieved at the Indignities you have offered it, and will be engaged to refolve you will never repeat them. Now I am able to speak of this Matter with great Certainty and Exactness: For my Knowledge of it did not depend upon any human Tradition whatfoever; but I received by special Revelation from the Lord (f) Jesus Christ himself, that which I also delivered to you, in my former Preaching on this Subject, in which, as in all Things else, I have been careful most exactly to adhere to my original Instructions. And you know the Substance of it was this, that the Lord Jesus Christ, the very [same] Night in which be was betrayed, and amidst all those serious Thoughts, which his own nearly approaching Sufferings must suggest, after he had finished the Pascal Supper, took Bread, some of the Remainder of these unleavened Cakes with which 24 that solemn Feast is celebrated; And having, in a most reverent Manner, given Thanks to God, the great Author of all temporal and spiritual Bleffings, and looked up to him for his Bleffing upon it, for the Purposes to which it was going 23 For I have received of the Lord, that which alfo I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus, the fame Night in which he was betrayed, took Bread:

> 24 And when he had given

(f) I received by special Revelation, &c.] This Epifle seems to have been written before any of the Gospels; and it seems to be intimated, Gal. i. 17, &c. that when he wrote it, he had seen none of the Apostles. 'Tis very remarkable, that the Institution of this Ordinance should make a Part of that immediate Revelation, with which Christ honoured him; and it affords a strong Argument for the Perpetuity of it in the Church. For had others of the Apostles, (as Barclay prefumes to infinuate,) mistaken what passed at the last Passover, and sounded the Observation of the Eucharist on that Mistake, surely Christ would rather have corrected this Error in his New Revelation to St. Paul, than have administered such an Occasion of confirming Christians in it. For some Notes, which might have been inserted here, see Vol. ii. Sect. 172.

24

given Thanks he brake it, and faid, Take, eat; this is my Body, which is broken for you: This do in Remembrance of me.

to be appropriated, he brake [it] into feveral Sect. 22. Pieces, and distributing it to his Disciples who I Cor. XL

25 After the same Manner also he took the Cup, when he had supped, saying, This Cup is the New Teftament in my Blood: This do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in Remembrance of me.

were present, said, Take this Bread, and eat it with due Reverence and Regard; for this is the folemn Representation of my Body which is just going to be broken, by the most bitter Pains and Agonies, for you and your Salvation; this therefore do in all the succeeding Ages of my Church, as a Commemoration of me (g): that the Memory of my painful Death may be kept up in the World; and your Hearts, and those of all my faithful Followers, be properly affected with the Review In like Manner also [he took] the Cup; which, you will remember, was after be had Supped; so that it was by no Means a Part of that Meal they had been making, but something quite distinct from it: And he likewise distributed that to them, as he had done the Bread; faying, this Cup is the solemn Seal and Memorial of the New Covenant, which is established in my Blood, by which all its invaluable Bleffings are derived to you. This likewise do, as often as ye drink [it] in Commemoration of me, and in Order to maintain the Memory of my Bleeding, dying Love in the Church and the World. You therefore (b), as 26 often as ye eat this Bread, and drink this Cup (i), do indeed perform a very folemn and important Action; for, according to his own Interpretation and Institution, you shew forth, and as it were proclaim.

26 For as often as ye eat this Bread, and drink this Cup,

(g) This do, &c. Because the Word rough signifies, in some few Instances, to sacrifice, Dr. Bret would render it, facrifice this: Whence he infers, that the Eucharifi is a Sacrifice. And a learned Prelate in the Council of Trent, pleaded with much the like Judgment; that when Christ uttered these Words before the Cup, he ordained them Pricsts; whereas he gave them the Bread as Laicks. See Father Paul's Hift. of the Council of Trent, pag. 510.

(b) Therefore, as often as ye eat, &c.] 'Tis plain, that yap, must here have the Force of an illative Particle; as it also has, Luke xx. 38.

(i) Eat this Bread, &c.] 'T is no Wonder, a Text in which this Element is so plainly called Bread after Confecration, should be urged against the popish Doctrine of Transachistantiation. And it fignifies little for them to plead, that the Scripture fometimes calls Things changed, by the Name of the Thing out of which they were made, (as Adam is called Dust, Gen. iv. 19. Aaron's Serpent, a Rod, Exod. vii. 12.) or calls them according to their fensible Appearance, (7:/h. v. 13. Mark. xvi. 5.) for these Instances rather turn against them, by proving, that where the literal Interpretation is evidently absurd, we must have Recourse to the figurative. (k) Until Vol. IV. Uu

Digitized by GOOGLE

I Cor. XI. 26,

28

Sect. 22. proclaim, the Lord's Death in its most affecting Circumstances; which the Church must throughout all Ages continue to do, until he come (k) to close the present Scene of Things, and to receive all his faithful Servants to a Place, where, for ever dwelling with him, they will no more need these Memorials of an absent Saviour.

that you fee, by a farther Consequence, whosever shall eat this Bread, or (1) drink [this] Cup of the Lord, unworthily, that is, in an irreverent Manner, without a due Regard to him, and to the great original Purpose of its Appointment, shall be counted guilty of profaning, and affronting in some Measure, that which is intended to represent the Body and Blood of the Lord; and consequently the Affront does evidently rebound to our Lord himself, who was pleased with infinite Condescension, for our Sakes, to assume human Flesh, and to suffer in it.

Let none therefore come to the Ordinance in a rash and irreverent Manner; but let a Man examine bimself as to his Knowledge of its Intent, and his Defire to comply with its great Defign; and so let bim eat of the sacramental Bread, and 29 drink of the Cup, which is used with it. be that eateth and drinketh in an irreverent, profane and unworthy Manner (m), must certainly displease Cup, ye do shew the Lord's Death till he come.

27 Wherefore, whosoever shall eat this Bread, and drink this Cup of the Lord unworthily, shall be guilty of the Body and Blood of the Lord.

28 But let a Man examine himself, and so let him eat of that Bread, and drink of that Cup.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth

(k) Until he come.] Nothing can be more unreasonable, than to refer this, (as the Quakers do,) to the Time, when Christ should come, by his spiritual Illumination on their Minds, to take them off from carnal Ordinances; for not to infift upon it, that we have at least as much Need of the Lord's Supper, as the primitive Christians had, (not having so many Advantages as they, to keep up the Memory of Christ in our Minds, to quicken us to Holiness, and to unite us in Love:) it is evident, the grand Coming of Christ by the Spirit was, when it was poured out on the Day of Pentecost; an Event, which had happened many Years before the Date of this Epiftle.

(1) Eat, or drink.] So it is in the Original, n ann; nor could our Translators surely be under any Temptation to render it, eat and drink, to elude the Argument drawn from hence for Communion in one Kind only; fince, as that excellent French Preacher Monf. Superville observes, (Serm. Vol. iv. pag. 245.) it might as well prove, that the Cup may be received without the Bread, as the Bread without the Cup. So that it is surprizing Assurance in a late popish Writer, to plead from hence, that Communion in one Kind only was the Practice of the Corinthian Church. See Mod. Controv. pag. 100.

(m) In an unworthy Manner.] To receive to Purposes of Faction, or Intemperance, was receiving very unworthily; but the Sense of that Phrase must extend to every Manner of receiving contrary to the Nature and Defign of the Ordinance; and consequently, to the

I Cor. XL

29.

and drinketh Damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's Body.

displease and provoke GoD; so that it may truly Sect. 22. be said, that he eateth and drinketh Judgment to bimself (n): he takes the readiest Way to bring down the Judgments of God upon him, not diftinguishing the Lord's Body, nor making that proper Difference which he ought to make, between that and common Food.

30 For this Cause many are weak and fickly among you, and many fleep.

And accordingly many of you have actually brought fuch Judgments upon yourselves; and I must plainly tell you, it is upon this Account, and to manifest the Divine Displeasure against you for fuch shameful Irregularities, that God hath sent Distempers among you, so that many of you [are] now weak and fick, and some considerable Numbers of your Society are fallen askep in Death. Survivors therefore ought to lay the Matter ferioully to Heart, and fet about an immediate Re-For if we would judge ourselves (o) formation. with a due Severity and Impartiality, we should not furely be so severely judged, and animadverted But when we are thus judged, upon by God. it is not in a Displeasure wholly inexorable, but with kind Designs of paternal Goodness; and we are corrected of the Lord, that we may not be condemned with the impenitent World, and configned over to final and everlasting Destruction.

judged. 32 But when we are judged, we are chaftened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the World.

ourselves, we should not be

31 For if we would judge

33 Wherefore, my Brethren, when ye come toge-

Therefore, my Brethren, in one Word, when ye come together to eat in these Love Feasts, which

Case of doing it merely in a fecular View: which I heartily pray, that all concerned in it may feriously consider.

(n) Judgment to himself. I think it the most unhappy Mistake in all our Version of the Bible, that the Word xqua, is here rendered Damnation. It has raised a Dread in tender Minds, which has greatly obstructed the Comfort and Edification they might have received from this Ordinance. The Apoftle afterwards fays, we are judged, (that is, as he afterwards explains it, we are corrected,) that we may not be condemned; which plainly shews, the Judgments spoken of might be fatherly Chastisements. This Sin, as Sin, does indeed expose us to Condemnation, should God be extream to mark it, as an irreverent Behaviour under any other Ordinance does; but 'tis Superflition to set this at so vast a Distance from all the rest, as many do.

(o) Judge ourselves.] Diangrows, Ver. 29. signifies to distinguish; here, Stanphouse signifies, examining that we may distinguish, and judge of our own Character and Fitness for the Sacrament. Mr. Locke justly observes, that he is little attentive to St. Paul's Writings, who has not observed, that he often repeats a Word he had used before, tho' in a Sense something different from the preceding.

(p) Lat

Sect. 22. 1 Cor. XI. 34.

frequently precede the Administration of this Ordinance among you, wait decently and respectfully one for another, till the whole Assembly be And if any one be so bungry, that he cannot conveniently stay till that Time, let bim eat at his own House (p); or at least take a Kind of Antepast, that may prevent any Inconvenience arifing from a little necessary Delay; that you may not come together to your Condemnation, and in fuch a Manner, as to provoke the Judgment of God against you. It may suffice to have said thus much, for the present, on this Subject; and what remains farther to be adjusted, I will regulate, which I come to Corinth; which if Providence answer my Hopes, and succeed my Schemes, will be in a little Time.

ther to eat, tarry one for another.

34 And if any Man hunger, let him eat at Home; that ye come not together unto Condemnation. And the reft will I fet in Order when I come.

IMPROVEMENT.

HAT just Matter of Thankfulness to our blessed Redeemer, does that Account of the Institution of the Sacred Supper afford us, which St. Paul affures us he received immediately from him. Let us Ver. 23. often reflect, that it was in that very Night in which he was betrayed, that his Thoughts fo compassionately wrought for our Comfort and Happiness; when it might have been imagined, that his Mind would be intirely possessed with his personal Concerns, with the doleful Scene of his approaching Sufferings. We learn from this Account, the Perpetuity, as well as the great leading Defign, of the Ordinance. We shew forth Ver. 26. the Lord's Death, and we show it forth till he come. If we do indeed defire to preserve the Memory of Chris's dying Love in the World; if we defire to maintain it in our own Souls; let us attend this bleffed Institution; endeavouring by the lively Exercise of Faith and Love, to discern, and in a spiritual Sense, to seed upon, the Lord's Body. Nor let any humble and upright Soul be discouraged, by these Threatenings of Judgment, to the profane Sinners who offered fuch gross Affronts to Ver. 29. this holy Solemnity; Affronts, which none of us are in any Danger of repeating. These scandalous Excesses, when they pretended to be worshipping GOD on this great Occasion, might justly provoke the Eyes of

(p) Let him eat at his own House.] Mr. Amyraut and Mr. Cradock, (Apost. Hist. pag. 174.) understand this, as a Prohibition of Love Feasts; but I think it evident from Antiquity, they were retained in the Church long after; the dubious whether they prevailed so from.

Digitized by Google

his Holiness, might awaken the Arm of his Indignation. Yet even these Sect. 22. Sinners were chastifed, that they might not be finally and for ever condemned.

Ler not any then be terrified, as if every Soul that approached the Ordinance without due Preparation, must by necessary Consequence, feal its own Damnation. Thus to attend the Table of the Lord is indeed a Sin; but, bleffed be God, not a Sin too great to be forgiven. Let those therefore, who, tho' they feel in their Hearts a reverential Love to Christ, yet have hitherto refrained from attending this Feast of Love, be engaged to come; to come with due Preparation, and Self-Examination, as to their Repen- Ver. 28. tance and Faith, their Love and Obedience: Then may they, with the most hearty Welcome from the great Lord of the Feast, eat of this Ver. 24. Bread, and drink of this Cup; receiving it as the Memorial of Christ's Body broken, and of his Blood shed for the Remission of our Sins. Thro' that Blood alone, let us feek this invaluable Bleffing, without which indeed, nothing can be a folid and lasting Blessing to us: And let us, on every Occasion, treat our Brethren with a Tenderness and Respect becoming those who have considered ourselves, and them, as redeemed by that precious Blood, and indebted to it for the Hopes of everlasting Salvation.

In a Word, let us never rest in the external Rites or Exercises of Worship, how decently and regularly soever performed; but look to our inward Temper, and to the Conduct of our Minds, if we desire to maintain this Peace, and that our coming together should be for the better, and Ver. 17. not for the worse.

SECT.

S E C T. XXIII.

The Apostle comes to treat on Spiritual Gifts; and introduces what he had farther to say concerning them, by observing, that, various as they are, they all proceed from the same sacred Agent, and are intended for the Edification of the same Body, in which all Christians are united. I Cor. XII. 1,---13.

I CORINTHIANS XII. I.

Sect. 23. T is now Time I should proceed to speak) 1 fomething concerning those Spiritual [Gifts,] 1 Cor. XII. with which God hath been pleased so abundantly to bless you, my Corinthian Brethren; and as to the right Use and Improvement of which, I would not by any Means bave you ignorant. 2 Upon this Head you in the general know, that during your natural State, before the chearing Rays of the Gospel broke in upon you, ye were Heathers, without any Knowledge of the true God, and carried by a blind implicit Credulity after dumb Idols; which were so far from being able to bestow on their Votaries any supernatural Endowments, by which they might be enabled to speak extraordinary Truths, or in Languages before unknown, that they were themselves deftitute of the common Powers of Speech, or any Capacity of Perception and Action. were blindly enflaved to the Worship of such stupid Forms, degrading as it evidently is to the rational Nature of Man; [just] as you were led by the Artifice of your Priests, who found their Account in your Delusions. And I hope therefore, you will always remember, that the unmerited Goodness of God in bestowing such Gifts on Persons, who could pretend so little Claim to them, lays you under a lasting Obligation to use them in the most dutiful and grateful Manner.

I CORINTHIANS XII. I.

OW concerning fpiritual Gifts, Brethren, I would not have you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, carried away unto these dumb Idols, even as ye were led.

And

3 Wherefore I give you to understand, that no Man speaking by the Spirit of God, calleth Jesus accurfed: And that no Man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost.

And therefore (a) I hope, you will not allow Sect. 23. yourselves to despise any of your Brethren, on Account of their Deficiency in them; fince there I Cor. XII. is an important Sense, in which they may all be faid, to have been inriched by Divine and Supernatural Influences. For I give you to know, and defire you to admit and retain it, as a Principle equally certain and weighty; that, as no one speaking by the Spirit of GOD, calleth Jesus accursed (b); and consequently all Pretences made to the Divine Spirit by the Jews, are notoriously false and detestable; so, on the other Hand, no one can seriously say, [that] Jesus [is the] Lord (c): None can embrace his Religion, and support the Profession of it in Truth, but by the powerful Operation of the Holy Ghost on his Heart; and therefore, as you are all in a Sense spiritual, it would be highly unreasonable, that the greatest should despise the least, on Account of any Distinction which may have been made in his Fa-

(a) Therefore.] The Force of this Particle Sia, seems to be this; I am careful to give you the following Hints concerning Spiritual Gifts, because in Proportion to the Degree, in which God hath magnified his Grace in calling you from Idolatry to such extraordinary Privileges and Endowments, I am solicitous you may be preserved from abusing them, and engaged to improve them in the wisest and most faithful Manner.

(b) Calleth Jesus accursed.] Mr. Nathaniel Taylor, (on Deism, pag. 60, 61.) thinks, this refers in general to the Jest put on Christians, by their Persecutors, that they should not only deny, but blaspheme Christ. This the Gentiles indeed required, (See Plin. Epist. x. 97. Euseb. Eccles. Hist. iv. 15.) But I rather think, this refers to the Jews, who while they uttered Blasphemies against Christ themselves, (1 Tim. i. 13.) and extorted them, if possible, from those they apprehended to be his Disciples, (Acts xxvi. 11.) pretended to the Gists of the Spirit, by which they undertook to cast out Devils; and perhaps they might imitate some of the Exorcises, which Christians under the Operation of the Spirit performed. Such a Caution might therefore be very useful. (Compare 1 John iv. 1,—3. which seems nearly parallel to this Passage.) Dr. Owen pertinently observes, that the Jews sometimes call Jesus, 120, instead of 121, which signify, let his Name and Memory be blotted out; which is equivalent to Anathema, or let him be accursed. Owen on the Spir. pag. 3.

(c) Sincerely say, [that] Jesus [is the] Lord.] Chrysostom well observes, this Phrase of

(c) Sincerely Jay, [that] Fejus [is the] Lord.] Chryfosom well observes, this Phrase of faying, that Jejus is the Messiah, must be supposed to proceed from true Faith in him; and the Expression is used to import a Man's being a true Christian, because such strong Temptations lay against processing Christ under this Character, that they who maintained this Doctrine were in Heart real Believers; tho' there might be a sew excepted Instances. This seems as plain a Proof as could be desired, that true Faith is the Work of the Spirit of God upon the Heart. See the third Letter to the Author of Christianity not founded on Argument, pag. 34,-36.

(d) Diver-

vour;

Sect. 23. vour; especially, when you consider, who is the great Source of all. Now there are Diversities of Gifts in different Persons, but there is one and the same Divine Spirit, from whom they are and the same Divine Spirit, from whom they are all derived; And tho' there are Diversities of Administrations (d), there is one and the same common Lord, who appoints his Ministers under their distinct Offices, and gives them their Powers, their Ability, and their Success. And the their Ability, and their Success. And the there are Diversities of Operations, and Effects produced, yet it is one and the same GOD, who worketh all these Effects in all the Persons concerned; and they can pretend to nothing more than being the Subjects, or at most, the Instruments of his almighty and universal Agency.

But to every one of his believing Servants, who are thus honoured, is given, according to his wife and holy Distribution, a Manifestation of the Spirit, (for that our Portion of Gifts may properly be called:) and this in such a Degree, as is most agreeable and prositable for the Interest of the whole, that all may harmoniously carry on the great Design of glorifying God, in the Edification and Happiness of the whole Body.

8 For to one for Instance, who is placed in the highest Rank of the Christian Church, is given by the Spirit, the Word of Wisdom; a comprehensive View of that grand Scheme, in which the Wisdom of God is so wonderfully displayed, that even Angelick Intelligences are continually admiring it: To another, by the same Spirit, such lower Degrees of it, as may be called the Word of Knowledge (e); whether respecting the 4 Now there are Diverfities of Gifts, but the fame Spirit.

5 And there are Differences of Administrations, but the fame Lord.

6 And there are Diverfities of Operations, but it is the fame God, which worketh all in all.

7 But the Manifestation of the Spirit, is given to every Man to profit withal.

8 For to one is given by the Spirit, the Word of Wisdom; to another the Word of Knowledge by the same Spirit;

(d) Diversities of Administrations.] Calling them Administrations, or Services, (Staxonor,) was a gentle Manner of reminding them of the great Design of these Gifts; and so of reproving those, who perverted them to contrary Purposes.

Meaning

⁽e) Word of Wildom,—and of Knowledge.] There are perhaps few Texts in the New Testament more difficult, than some in this Chapter, and in the xivth of this Epistle, relating to the extraordinary Gists then in the Church; which were at that Time so well known, as not to need Explication; and it is a noble Instance of the genuine Simplicity and Modesty of the Apostle, that he did not expatiate on so grand a Subject with any unnecessary

9 To another Faith by the same Spirit; to another the Gifts of healing by the same Spirit;

10 To another the Working of Miracles; to another Prophecy; to another difcerning of Spirits; to another divers

Meaning of the Old Testament, or other Things Sect. 23. in the Christian Plan, which may render them superior to most of their Brethren; tho' inferior to the Class I mentioned above. To another is given fuch an extraordinary Faith (f), by the fame Spirit, that he can commit himself to the Divine Protection in the midst of the extreamest Dangers; and is thereby qualified couragiously to affert the Truth of the Gospel, in the very Face of its most violent Persecutors: To another, the Gifts of Healing, by the same Spirit, in Confequence of which, while under its Operation, he can by a Word, or a Touch, remove the most inveterate Diseases. To another, the working of Miracles (g) of a different Kind, such as taking up Serpents, drinking any deadly Draught unhurt, and especially the Ejection of Dæmons: To another the Gift of Prophecy; whereby he shall be able exactly to foretel some contingent future Event: To another, the discerning of Spiceffary Parade. I think the late Lord Barrington, and after him Dr. Benson, have made it highly probable, that the Word of Wisdom was that extensive Plan of Christianity, which was revealed to the Apostles by the Holy Spirit. See Barring. Misc. Sacr. Essay i. pag. 39,—41. Bens. Propa. of Christianity, Vol. i. pag. 40,—46. But that the Word of Knowledge was, as they, after Dr. Whitby, affert, (Misc. Sacr. ibid. pag. 42,—45. and Bens. ibid. pag. 46,-48.) an extraordinary Ability to understand, and explain the Old Testament, and especially its Prophecies, I do not think equally apparent. Perhaps it might be a lower Degree of the Word of Wisdom. See Mr. Chandler on Joel, pag. 133,—137. In Confirmation of which Opinion, it may be observed, that when Wisdom and Knowledge, (ממה) and דעת,) are mentioned together, Wisdom is generally put first, as most excellent. Compare Eccles. i. 16. Chap. ii. 26. Isai, xxxiii. 6. Chap. xlvii. 10. Col. ii. 3. And it is well known, that the highest Orders of Teachers in Israel were called anciently, D'DIT, Wise-men. See Deut. i. 13. Chap. xvi 19. 1 Cor. i. 20. Mr. Saurin explains Knowledge of a differning of Mysteries; such as the Appearance of Christ to change the Saints found alive, the Re-establishment of the Jews, the Man of Sin, the Beast, &c. Saur. Serm. Vol. vi. pag. 13.

(f) Faith] Faith, as an extraordinary Gift, in this Connection, must in the general signify, "a firm Persuasion of being called out by God, at any particular Time, to perform some Miracle, and accordingly going about it without any Suspicion or Fear, in consi-

"dent Dependence on a correspondent divine Interposition."

(g) Working of Miracles.] 'Tis difficult to distinguish this from Faith, as explained above. Some understand it of some very extraordinary Miracles, such as taking up Serpents, drinking any deadly Draught unhurt, curing Discases by a Shadow passing over the Patient, &c. Compare Mark xvi. 18. Acts v. 15. But I rather think, with Mons. Amyraut, (in his excellent Paraphrase,) that everynuala Suvauseur, may refer to the Dispossession of Damons, or delivering Persons over to them. This Gift, and that of Healing, might be comprehended in Faith; but perhaps in some Instances, it might work only in the one, or the other of these Effects.

Vol. IV.

 $\mathbf{X} \mathbf{x}$

(b) To

Cor. XII. 10.

Sect. 23. rits, so as authoritatively to determine, by what Impulse any one speaks, who pretends to Inspiration; or to be capable of pronouncing on the Sincerity of Men's Professions, or their Fitness for any publick Work to be affigned to them: To another, the Gift of speaking with [various] Kinds of Tongues, which he had never had the natural Means of acquiring: And to another, the no less useful, tho' less splendid Endowment, which we distinguish from the former, by calling it the Interpretation of Tongues (b); in Consequence of which a Person shall be able to understand, and render into a known Language, that which is spoken by a Foreigner, in a Tongue, with which neither he himself, nor the other Hearers, have been acquainted. But the one and the same almighty Spirit worketh all these Diversities of Gifts, dividing unto every one severally as he thinketh fit (i): His Wisdom fixes the Scheme, what this Variety should be; and his sovereign Pleasure determines, why they should be imparted to such and such particular Persons, rather The Variety, I say, is wisely than to others. appointed; for as the Body is one, and yet bath many Members, but all the Members of that one Body, many as they are, constitute one Body, united in one well regulated System; so also [is] Christ, that is, the whole Society of which Christ is the Head; and for the whole of which he may, as it were, be put, being indeed all and in all. by, and according to the Operation of one Spirit, we Christians are all baptized into one Body, whether we be originally Jews or Greeks, whether Slaves or Freemen; the Religion we before protelled, whether true or falle, the Rank which we now hold in Life, whether high or low, makes no Difference as to the grand Point; our Union divers Kinds of Tongues: to another the Interpretation of Tongues.

11 But all these worketh that one and the felf-fame Spirit, dividing to every Man feverally as he will.

12 For as the Body is one, and hath many Members, and all the Members of that one Body, being many, are one Body: So also is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one Body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have

with

(i) As he thinketh fit.] Burklas does not so much express arbitrary Pleasure, as a Determination founded on wife Council.

(k) Drink

⁽h) To another, the Gifts of Tongues, to another, the Interpretation of Tongues] For the farther Illustration of these Clauses, and the Interpretation here given, see the Notes on Chap. xiv. 28.

one Spirit.

been all made to drink into with the Body is the same; and the same happy Sect. 23. Consequences follow from that Union. And this in particular, that we are all made to drink into one Spirit (k); as we drink of the same Sacramental Cup, fo we do by our Communion with Christ, whose Blood is represented by it, all imbibe the Influences of the same Spirit, by which the Divine Life was at first produced, and is continually preserved. I fay, we have all imbibed it; as the whole Body may be faid to imbibe the Wine, which enters in at the Mouth, and descends to the Stomach; yet it is not intended for the Benefit of those Members alone, but of the whole; so, in like Manner, the Body is not one Member, but many; yet so united, that the Spirit, imparted to one, is defigned, whether in its miraculous Operations, or fanctifying Influences, for the Benefit of the whole.

I Cor. XII. 1.3.

14 For the Body is not one Member, but many.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T us thankfully acknowledge the Divine Goodness, that we have not been led on after the Example of our Pagan Ancestors, to the vain Worship of dumb and stupid Idols; but have been taught from our In- Ver. 2. fancy, to adore the living Jehovah. May we, in the most solemn and confistent Manner, say, that Jesus is the Lord! And while our Actions speak our Regard to him as such, may it appear, that our Hearts are under the Influences of the Spirit of GOD, by which alone Men are brought to that divine Temper.

to the Truth of our holy Religion, by that Diverfity of Gifts and Operations, with which its first Teachers were furnished and adorned. us thankfully receive their Testimony, and thereby set to our Seal, that And let a View to that great Design, in which all these GOD is true. wonderful Things center, engage us to study more a Union of Heart,

Let us often reflect upon these glorious Attestations, which were given with all who in every Place call on the Name of the Lord Yesus Christ. him Greeks and Barbarians, bond and free, are united. His Glory therefore let all unanimously seek; and while his Name is blasphemed by the Ignorant ⁽k) Drink'into one Spirit.] Mr. Locke thinks, St. Paul refers to the Sacramental Cup, rather than the Bread here, because the Wine is more spirituous, and in a lively Manner represents the animating Effects of Christ's Blood, and the Spirit communicated by it.

Sect. 23. norant and Malignant, who cannot bear the Purity of that Religion which he teaches; may it so be defended by us, as at the same Time to be exemplified, and adorned.

S E C T. XXIV.

The Apostle, farther to inforce that Humility in the Use of their Spiritual Gifts, and that mutual Affection, which the Corinthians so much needed to be farther taught, goes on, in Prosecution of the Allegory used above, to represent Christians, as so united in one Body, as to have intirely the same Interest; and insists on a tender Care of the least Member, from its Subservience to the Good of the whole. I Cor. XII. 15, to the End.

I CORINTHIANS XII. 15.

1 Cor. XII. 15.

Sect. 24. T T is of the highest Importance, in your prefent Circumstances, for the Honour of God, and your Comfort and Edification, in the Use of the Gifts, with which God hath endowed you, that I should farther illustrate and enforce the Obfervation I have just been making, that the Body is not one Member, but made up of the Conjunction of many, which have various Offices and Purposes. None can therefore complain of its own Situation, as if it were infignificant; nor should any despise another, as unworthy of Regard. As to the first of these, if the Foot should fay, because I am not the Hand, but am placed in the lowest Order, rest upon the Ground, and am often covered with Dirt, therefore I. am not of the Body; is it indeed for this, not any Part of the Body; or would it have Reason to represent 16 itself, as, on this Account, an Out-cast? if the Ear should say, because I am not so visible, fo beautiful, so useful as the Eye, therefore I am

I Corinthians XII. 15.

F the Foot shall say, Be-L cause I am not the Hand, I am not of the Body; is it therefore not of the Body?

16 And if the Ear shall fay, Because I am not the Eye, I am not of the Bo-not

I Cor. XII.

16.

Body?

17 If the whole Body were an Eye, where were the Hearing? If the whole were Hearing, where were the Smelling?

18 But now hath God fet the Members, every one of them in the Body, as it hath pleased him.

19 And if they were all one Member, where were the Body?

20 But now are they mamy Members, yet but one Body.

21 And the Eye cannot fay unto the Hand, I have no Need of thee: nor again, dy; is it therefore not of the not of the Body; is it indeed, for this Reason Sect. 24. not of the Body? Is it not a very important and useful Part? Yea, is not the Body far more perfect, in Consequence of the Foot, and the Ear, being what they respectively are, than it would be, if each of them were another Hand, or another Eye? For if the whole Body [were,] as it were, an Eye(a); and a Man could look at Will, thro' every Pore; where [were] the Hearing, that important Sense, which admits so much pleasing Entertainment and Improvement? And if the whole [were] Hearing, where [were] the Smelling, a Sense which the less important than the former, is not destitute of its proper Delight and its proper Use? But now we see, that GOD, the great and wife Creator, bath placed the various Members, every one of them in the Body as he bath seen sit; and his inimitable Contrivance, and overflowing Goodness, is glorified in their Variety, and in their Arrangement. But if they all were one Member, or the Members all of one Form and Use, where [were] the Body? How could it possibly subsist? What a monstrous Thing would fuch a detached Member be, if it could be supposed to exist alone? Or if each Member were to be transformed into that, which might in itself seem most noble, how ruinous to the whole would fuch a Transformation be? But now, as [there are] many Members, there is in the Union of them all, but one harmonious regular Body, furnished for the various animal Functions, and capable of a Variety of Sensations and And no one of them ought to def-Actions. pife any of the rest; for the Eye cannot say to the Hand, I have no Need of thee; fince by the Hand the Body is maintained and fed, and the Eye itself preserved, and defended. And again, the Head, elevated as it is, and so admirably furnished with all the Nerves and Organs planted in it,

(a) If the whole Body [were] Eye, &c.] The Apostle by this intends probably to infinuate, that, were there no other Gifts in the Church, but those which they so much extolled in some of their Teachers, it would be a very great Disadvantage to the Body.

(b) Appear

Sect. 24. [cannot say] to the most distant and extream Parts, ' even the Feet, mean as their Form and Office 1 Cor. XII. feems, I have no Need of you; fince by Means 21: of them, the Head, and all the other Parts of the Body, are supported, and removed from Place to Place.

the Head to the Feet, I have no Need of you.

But it may farther be observed here, agreeably 22 to the Point which I have now in View, that the Members of the Body, which appear to be weaker (b) than the rest, and perhaps are most delicate and tender in their Stucture, are more abundantly necessary; so that without them the animal Functions can by no Means be discharged.

22 Nay much more, those Members of the Body, which feem to be more feeble, are necessary.

likewise with Respect to those, which seem to be the more ignoble and dishonourable [Parts] (c) of the Body, those we surround with more abundant Honour (d); and those which seem our uncomely [Parts] bave, by Virtue of the Dress we put upon them, more abundant Comeliness, than most of 23 And those Members of the Body, which we think to be less honourable, upon these we bestow more abundant Honour, and our uncomely Parts have more abundant Comeliness.

For our comely and graceful [Parts] have no Need of being so adorned, as they appear to greater Advantage uncovered; but GOD bath fo attempered the several Parts of the Body together, as to give a more abundant Honour to that which is so formed, as rather to appear deficient; for by making the meanest Part thus necessary, he hath entitled it to the Care of the Noblest: 25 That so there might be no Schism in the Body. no Division of separate Interests; but [that] all the Members might have the same Care of each

24 For our comely Parts have no Need: But God hath tempered the Body together, having given more abundant Honour to that Part which lacked:

25 That there should be no Schism in the Body; but that the Members should have the same Care one for

(b) Appear to be weaker.] Some think this refers to the Brains, and Bowels, which are very tender, and liable to many Disorders. Others understand it, of the least muscular Purts, or Veins, Arteries, and other minute Channels in the Body; the least Obstruction in which would be satal. If more feeble, be put for less noble, it suggests a very obvious and important Sense, relating to the Channels, by which Nature has provided for throwing off the Dregs; which dishonourable as they may feem, are so necessary, that if they be ob-other,

structed, intense Torment and inevitable Death must ensue. (c) Our dishanawable Parts, &c.] It seems, as if he had said, the Face, on which the Image of God is particularly stamped, we leave uncovered; but as for those Parts, which Decency, or Custom, teaches us to conceal, we contrive not only to cover, but also as far as we conveniently can, to adorn by Covering. (d) We furround with more abundant Honour: Telois linns repearles repiledenes, Out

Version by no Means expresses the Force of the Greek Idiom here.

r Cor. XII.

26.

28

26 And whether one Member suffer, all the Members suffer with it: Or one Member be honoured, all the Members rejoice with it.

27 Now ye are the Body of Christ, and Members in particular. 28 And God hath set fome in the Church, first Apostles, secondarily Prophets, thirdly Teachers, after that Miracles, then Gifts of Healings, Helps, Governments, Diversities of Tongues.

other, as being each an important Part of the Sect. 24. So that if one Member suffer, all the whole. Members suffer with it (e), and are concerned to remove the Complaint; or if one Member be bonoured and adorned, all the Members rejoice with it; the Ornament of one Part being looked upon as that of the whole.

Now to apply this to the Purpose, for which I introduced it; You are all the Body of Christ, and Members [each] in particular. And as GOD bath placed some Members in more eminent Stations in the Body; so also some Christians in the Church. He hath placed in the first Rank, Aposites; who are honoured with an Office of the highest Distinction, and furnished with Endowments peculiar to themselves. In the second Place, are ranked Prophets; whose Business it is to foretel future Events, or to speak by immediate Inspiration, for the Edification of the Church. the third, Teachers of a more ordinary Kind; afterwards, those who are endowed, upon some particular Occasion, with [miraculous] Powers; then the Gifts of healing Diseases, by anointing the Sick with Oyl, and praying for their Recovery. Besides these, he has endowed some with fuch extraordinary Activity and Sagacity, as may fit them to be Helpers in the Management of Charities; others are qualified by their Prudence to be Governments (f), by whose Advice, the

(e) If one Member suffer, &c.] Bos, in his Exercitations on this Text, has collected many parallel Passages from Seneca, and other Heathen Writers.

(f) Helpers,—Governments, &c.] I think, we can only guess at the Meaning of these Words; not having Principles on which to proceed in fixing them absolutely. I have inferted what seemed to me most probable, in the Paraphrase. The Author of Miscellanea Sacra thinks, much Light is to be derived, by comparing Verses 8,—10, with Verses 28,— 38. the Order in one Text corresponding with that of the other; but the Order of the same Words differing in the two Places demonstrates the contrary. I have met with no Remark here, which feems more pertinent, than that of Mons. Amyraut; who thinks, that the fame Persons might possess many of these Gifts, and sustain several of these Characters, which were not flated distinct Offices; and might be called Helpers, in Reference to their great Dexterity and Readiness to help those in Distress; and Governments, in Regard to that Genius for Business, Sagacity in judging the Circumstances of Affairs, and natural Authority in the Councils and Refolutions of Societies, which rendered them fit to prefide on fuch Occafions.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 24. Affairs of Societies may be steered and conducted in the safest and happiest Manner: There are al-I Cor. XII. fo wonderful Operations, by which Men are 28. taught [different] Kinds of Tongues, which they had never learned by any human Methods. 29 Now as the Offices of the Church are different, the Gifts by which Men are fitted to discharge them, are proportionably so. [Are] all the Members or Ministers of the Church, Apostles (g)? Yea, [are] all, who are subordinate to them, Prophets? Or [are] all that Sort of inferior Teachers, whom I observed to stand in the third Class? [Have] all those [miraculous] Powers, which I have again and again mentioned? Or, to instance only in one of the lowest of them, have all the Gifts of bealing Diseases, in that extraordinary Manner in which some have effected it? Yea, do all speak with Tongues, which they, have never learned? Or do all others find themselves able to act in that lower Sphere I spoke of before, and to interpret into their native Language, or any other, what has been uttered in a Tongue to them generally These Things are well worthy your Consideration; but instead of attending to them, ye contend earnestly about the best or most Thining Gifts (b); envying, and it may be, detracting from the superior Endowments of others. Yet I shew you a Way of the highest Excellence, to which it will be your greatest Wisdom carefully to attend.

29 Are all Apostles? Are all Prophets? Are all Teachers? Are all Workers of Miracles?

30 Have all the Gifts of Healing? Do all speak with Tongues? Do all interpret?

31 But covet earnestly the best Gifts: And yet shew I unto you a more excellent Way.

(g) Are all Apostles, &c.] It appears that this invidious Temper was not extirpated from among the Corinthians, even by this just and lively Exposulation; for Clemens Romanus, writing to them many Years after, complains of its continued Prevalence, as leading them to neglect a due Regard to those Presbyters, who were according to Divine Direction, fixed among them, and to throw them out of their Episcopal Office. See Clem. Epistle to the Cor. Sect. 44.

(h) Ye contend earnestly about the best Gifts, &c.] I doubt not but this is the just Rendering of ζηλεβε βα χαρισμαβα τα κρεβτουα: For it feems quite contradictory to suppose, that after the Apostle had been shewing them, that these Gifts were not at their own Option, and that they ought not to emulate the Gifts of each other, nor to aspire to Superiority; he should in Effect unsay all again, and give them such contrary Advice.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

HE Wisdom and Goodness of God, as displayed in the Forma- Sect. 24. tion of the human Body, is a Subject that well deserves our attentive Reflection, and humble Acknowledgement. All its feveral Parts are useful to the whole; and the most noble cannot upbraid the meanest, Ver. 20. as an Incumbrance. Each has Reason to rejoice in its own Situation, as well as in the Addition of all the rest; and were the lowest Place higher than it is, it would become useless, burthensome, and monstrous.

Ver. 18.

Let us acknowledge the same Hand in the wife Subordination, appointed in civil Societies, and in the Church of Christ. Let none be discouraged at the low Station, wherein they are fixed; but rather let all acquiesce in the prudent and gracious Disposal of the supream Lord, and apply themselves to their proper Functions. Let each Member consider all the rest with Pleasure; and rejoice with Thankfulness, in the Health and Vigor of the other Parts, making the proper Use of them, and communicating in Return its proper Services. If any be weak, let all strengthen it. If there be any Blemish and Impersection in any Part. let all the rest tenderly cover it; unless when a Regard to the Health and Ver. 23. Happiness of the whole, requires that it should be laid open, and searched in Order to its being cured. And upon the whole, so far as we can prevent it, let there no Schism in the Body. Alas, that there should be so Ver. 25. many Breaches and Contentions! Let us lament them; let each in his Place endeavour to heal them; and unite in a sympathizing Care of one another. So shall we best express our Regard to our common Head; so shall we, in the remotest Consequences, best consult our own Interest and Honour.

Bleffed be God, that he hath, in his Church, given not only Apostles, and Prophets, but also Pastors and Teachers! Adored be that Bounty, with which he hath scattered down his Gifts, whether ordinary or extraordinary on the Children of Men. Let all be used, not to the Purposes of Ostentation, but of Edification. And let us be desirous of those whereby we may bear most of the Image of Christ, and may most promote the great Defign, for which he vifited this low World of ours, and was pleased to unite his Church unto himself, and its several Members to each other, in such dear and indissoluble Bonds.

VOL. IV.

SECT.

SECT. XXV.

To engage the Corinthians to cultivate Charity, as more excellent and important, than any of those Gifts, about which they were so ready to contend; the Apostle gives a most lovely Description of it; which he concludes with a Reflection on its perpetual Duration, in which it exceeds even the Graces of Faith and Hope. I Cor. XIII. throughout.

I CORINTHIANS XIII. I.

I Cor. XIII.

Sect. 25. THAVE been urging you to pursue something more excellent, than any of those Gifts, about which some among you have been so ready to contend; and I have recommended it as a more excellent Way. That of which I speak, is the incomparable and Divine Grace of Love; which indeed is not only of the highest Excellence, but of absolute Necessity. For if I were to speak with all the Variety of Tongues (a), which are used among all the Nations of Men, and were capable of employing them even with the Eloquence of Angels, and knew their celestial Dialect; but have not Love (b) to God and my Fellow-creatures, be my Strains of Discourse ever fo harmonious, or ever fo sublime, I am become but founding Brass, or a tinkling Cymbal(c), at best but like an Instrument of Musick, and hard-

I Corinthians XIII. I.

Hough I speak with the Tongues of Men, and of Angels, and have not Charity, I am become as founding Brass, or a tinkling Cymbal.

(a) Speak with the Tongues, &c.] Dr. Whithy shews, by a great many admirable Quotations both from Josephus, and the Jewish Rabbies; how much each of these Things was regarded by the Jews, which St. Paul here speaks of as absolutely of no Avail without Charity.

(b) Have not Love.] Αγαπη is not so properly rendered Charity. It must here be taken in the noblest Sense, for such a Love to the whole Church, and the whole World, as arises from Principles of true Piety, and ultimately centers in GOD.

(c) Tinkling Cymbal.] Mr. Locke very justly remarks, that as a Cymbal was made of two Pieces of hollow Brass, which being struck together made a tinkling, with very little Variety of Sound; St. Paul chose to instance in this, rather than in a Harp, or Flute, or any other more harmonious Instrument of Musick. See Commentar. de Cymbalis, at the End of Fortuita Sacra.

(d) Most

2 And though I have the Gift of Prophecy, and understand all Mysteries, and all Knowledge; and though I have all Faith, so that I could remove Mountains, and have no Charity, I am nothing.

3 And though I bestow all my Goods to feed the Poor, and though I give my Body to be burned, and have not Charity, it profiteth me mothing.

ly worthy to be compared to an Instrument of Sect. 25. the nobler Kind. So little Delight would any of my most pompous Performances give to God, or i Cor. XIII. to any of his most valuable Creatures, who should know that Love was wanting, that I might as well think to recommend myself to Acceptance, by the noify Clank made by brazen Instruments, in the Worship of Isis, or Cybele. And if, besides those Gifts of Tongues and Eloquence, I have that of prophelying, so as to foretel the most distant and important future Events; and know all these Mysteries, which have hitherto been concealed from the most penetrating and illuminated Eyes; or have all the exactest Knowkdge of Religion, or any other Object that can be supposed the Subject of my Inquiries; and if, joined with this, I have all the most miraculous Faith (d), by Virtue of which I should be able to produce Effects, that might amaze the whole World, so as to remove Mountains from their Bafis, to transport them from one Part of the Earth to another, and to change the whole Face of Nature with a Word; but with all these wonderous Endowments, bave not Love, simple as that Principle is, and comparatively mean as it may be esteemed, yet for Want of it, I am nothing (e) in the Sight of God, and have in Reality no true And I may farther 3 Worth and Excellence. add, that no external Act of Charity, or of Zeal, will fignify any Thing, if this inward Principle, which should be the Life of all, be wanting; for if I distribute all my Goods in alms for the Sustenance of the Poor, and deliver up my Body to be burnt in Defence of Religion itself, and do it from a fecret Defire of human Applause, and Ostentation of Charity, or of Piety; but have not in the Sight of God that Love, to which I make

(d) Most miraculous Faith.] As it is here supposed, that this Faith might in Fact be separated from Love; it cannot signify, the same, as in the Epistle to the Romans; where it is such an Affent to a Divine Declaration, as produces a suitable Temper and Conduct.

(e) I am nothing.] A Person so eminently favoured by God, as this Description supposes, yet destitute of true Piety and Benevolence, must be very contemptible, and justly odious.

Y y 2

(f) Is

Sect. 25. make so high a Pretence, I shall receive no Advantage by it; but in the Day of final Account, my Judge, instead of applauding and rewarding me, as a Saint and a Martyr, will condemn me, as a wicked and vain-glorious Hypocrite.

Indeed the Properties of this Love, which I am now recommending, are such, that one would imagine the Description of them should be enough to charm the whole World to pursue it. ciently must that shew how happy it renders the Soul, which is under its Influence, as well as how amiable such must be both to God and Man. For Love suffereth long Injuries [and] Provocations, without being transported into Rage, or instigated to Revenge. On the contrary, under all this Ill-usage, it is gentle and kind. Love envieth not the Advantages, which others enjoy; but rather takes Pleasure in them, and by friendly Participation makes them its own. Love is not infolent and over-bearing (f), does not act with fuch Precipitancy and Rashness, as Pride and Illnature often hurry Men into; but engages us with Tenderness to look round on those about us, lest we should by any Means harm them before we are aware. Love is not presently puffed up with arrogant Self-conceit, on Account of any diffinguished Station, or peculiar Endowment, which a Man may possess; nor outwardly boasteth of these Things, or inwardly overvalueth itself upon Love doth not behave indecently (g), in 5 them. a Manner unbecoming a Person's Station, Age, or Circumstances. Love seeketh not her own Things,

4 Charity fuffereth long, and is kind; Charity envieth not; Charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,

5 Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own,

(f) Is not infolent, &c.] The Greek Word represe, from whence the Verb here used is derived, fignifies rash and inconsiderate; so that the Word must here import, "one that acts with "such Precipitancy and Inconsideration, as Pride and Ill-nature often hurry People into," which Charity would preserve them from, and induce that Tenderness and Caution, which engages us to look about us, that we may do ourselves, and others, no Harm.

(g) Does not behave indecently.] I cannot read this Passage, without thinking of the venerable Mr. Hales's Story of the Lancet concealed in a Spunge, in Order to open an impossumated Part without giving any Alarm to the Patient, who dreaded the Operation. There is great Reason to believe, that in all this Description, the Apossle had in his Mind that Contrast to this beautiful Character, which was so prevalent among the Corinthians, as is evident from many Passages in both these Episses.

(b) Know-

own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no Evil,

6 Rejoiceth not in Iniquity, but rejoiceth in the Truth:

Interest of others is concerned. Love is not exas- 1 Cor. XIII. perated, and thrown into bitter and implacable Resentments, even where the Usage it meets with, is most apparently unjust; and where the Intention is dubious, it imputeth not Evil; but puts the kindest Construction upon the Action itself, or the Principle from whence it proceeds, which allow.

the Nature of Circumstances may by any Means Love rejoiceth not at Iniquity; it 6 takes no Pleasure to see an Adversary fall into a Crime, by which his Reputation should be blasted, and his Interest ruined: But on the contrary, Things, but makes all reasonable Concessions in Sect. 25.

any Point of Self-interest, where any superior it rejoiceth with others in the Truth, and is pleased, when its greatest Enemies behave themselves in a Manner agreeable to the Word of God, and the Far from delighting to 7 Beareth all Things, Reason of Things. believeth all Things, hoblaze abroad the Faults of others, it covereth all peth all Things, endureth all Things.

Things that are amiss, so far as it can lawfully conceal them; all, which Benevolence to the Publick, or Kindness to an Individual, does not require them to make known. It is not apt to suspect the Integrity and Veracity of others; but rather, knowing itself to be sincere, believeth all Things, so far as with the most candid Allowances it rationally can; and where it is confrain-

ed to confess, that many Things are wrong, it is unwilling to treat the worst of Mankind as utterly incorrigible; but bopeth all Things, and with that Hope supports itself in every kind Effort it can make for their Recovery; and as it is Longfuffering with Regard to human Provocations, fo from the Hand of God it endureth all Things, even the most sharp and heavy Afflictions, acquiescing in his Will, trusting in his Care, and rejoicing, if its own Sufferings may be a Means of Consolation and Edification to others.

8 Charity never faileth:

And farther to recommend this excellent Prin- 8 But ciple of Leve, give me leave to observe, that it is a Grace, which never faileth; but will accompany and adorn us to all Eternity, and indeed. makes a very effential Part of our Preparation for

Sect. 25. the heavenly World; in which it hath an apparent Advantage over many of those Gifts, which some are so ready to emulate and pursue, to the Neglect and Injury of Love. But whether Men admire Prophecies, it is fit they should know, they shall be abolished, when the Faith of God's People shall no longer need to be encouraged, nor their Devotion to be affisted, by such Exhortations and Instructions, as are necessary now: Or whether they boast themselves of the Variety of Tongues, they shall cease in those celestial Regions: One Speech and one Language shall prevail among all the bleffed Inhabitants, and the Languages of Earth be forgotten, as too low and imperfect. Yea I may add, that a great Deal of that Knowledge, which we now pursue with the greatest Eagerness, and which is very conducive to our present Usefulness among Mankind, shall then be abolified (b) and superseded, as referring to Things altogether antiquated and passed away; or swallowed up in Discoveries so much clearer, stronger and more important, that it shall appear, in Comparison of them, as nothing. For now we know but in Part, and we prophely but in Part; there is a great Deal of obvious Imperfection, attending all our Knowledge, and all the Services we can here perform for God, and for his Church: But when that which is perfect is come, as in the Heavenly State it shall, then that [which is] only in Part, shall be abolished: All these slow and unfatisfactory Methods of obtaining Knowledge, and all the little Stock we have here laid up, shall be exchanged for the most extensive Views of whatever it can be defirable to know, opening

But whether there be Prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be Tongues, they shall cease; whether there be Knowledge, it shall vanish away, 9 For we know in Part, and we prophely in Part.

10 But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in Part shall be done

(h) Knowledge shall be abolished.] This cannot refer to all Kind of Knowledge; for the noblest shall be much improved. Some think it here fignifies, that of Old Testament Mysteries, which will be superseded in that World, where Scripture shall be of no farther Use; and hence some have farther argued for that Interpretation of the Word of Knowledge, which was spoken of above, (Chap. xii. 8.) But the Explication given in the Paraphrase, seems more natural and unexceptionable. To trace the gradual Openings of the Christian Scheme thro' the various Dispensations of God to the Church, may be an important Part of the celestial Happiness. (i) By upon upon the Mind in the most easy, clear and de- Sect. 25.

lightful Manner.

I Cor. XIII.

11 When I was a Child, I spake as a Child, I understood as a Child, I thought as a Child: But when I became a Man, I put away childish Things.

12 For now we see thro' a Glass darkly; but then Face to Face: Now I know in Part; but then shall I know, even as also I am known.

It shall indeed be like a State of adult Age, when compared with that of feeble Infancy. Just as when I was a Child, I spake as a Child would naturally do, a few imperfect Words, hardly at first articulate and intelligible, and often in themselves unmeaning; I was affected as a Child, thrown into Transports of Joy, or Grief on trifling Occasions, which manly Reason soon taught me to despise; I reasoned as a Child, in a weak, inconclusive, and sometimes ridiculous Manner. But when my Faculties ripened, and I became a Man, I put away the Things of the Child, and felt Sentiments, and engaged in Pursuits, correspondent to fuch Advancements of Age and Reafon. Such shall be the Improvements of the Heavenly State, in Comparison with those, which the most eminent Christian can attain here. For we now see the most noble Objects of our intellectual View, in an ambiguous and obscure Manner, as we discern distant Objects by Means of a Glass or Mirror (i), which reflects only their imperfect Forms, so that, (as when Riddles are proposed to us,) our Understandings are often confounded with the uncertain and indeterminate Appearances of Things. But then we shall see, not the faint Reflection, but the Objects themselves, Face to Face, in as distinct a Manner as we could wish. Now I know [but] in Part, and the Light of an immediate Revelation from Heaven has been imparted to me in many Instances, and in an extraordinary Manner, I am fensible how great a Part is still kept under the Vail. But then it shall be taken off, and I shall know, even as also I am known, in an intuitive and comprehensive Manner; fo that my Knowledge shall bear some fair Resemblance to that of the Divine Being, which, while our Notices of Things hover about their Surface, pene-

(i) By Means of a Mirror.] This is the exact Rendering of Si 1802/ps. It is well known, that the Use of Dioptrick Glasses in Telescopes, did not prevail till many Ages after the Date of this Epifle. And the Seventy use this Word for the Women's Looking-glaffes, or Mirrors of Metal, out of which Moses made the Laver. Exod. xxxviii. 8.

I Cor. XIII. 13.

Sect. 25. penetrates to the very Centre of every Object, and fees thro' my Soul, and all Things, as at one fingle Glance.

> And thus upon the whole it appears, and I hope you will remember and confider it; that there now abide these three most excellent Graces, Faith, Hope and Love; each of them far to be preferred to the most shining Gifts, about which you can contend. But the greatest of these Graces [is] Love; which most directly transforms us into the Image of God, and which shall continue to exert all its Influence, when Faith is superseded by Sight, and Hope by Enjoyment.

13 And now abideth Faith, Hope, Charity, these three; but the greatest of these is Charity.

. . !

IMPROVEMENT.

URELY after having attentively surveyed the beautiful Description, which the Apostle gives us of this Divine Grace, Love, it cannot be necessary that its Cause should be farther pleaded. It speaks for itself; speaks to our very Hearts. But oh, who that enters into the Description, must not mourn, that its Angelick Form is so much a Stranger to Multitudes who bear the Christian Name! So that in many Instances it can hardly pass uncensured; while these Extreams which most evidently violate it, are often confecrated under honourable Names, and Men build much of their Hopes of Heaven, on breathing what is indeed the Tem-Ver. 4. &c. per of Hell. How many that stile themselves Christians, can endure no Provocations, can cover no Faults of their Brethren, can keep themselves within no Bounds, can believe nothing to their Advantage, against whom, on Party-principles, they have entertained Prejudices! They vaunt themselves, they are puffed up with the Conceit of their own Wisdom, they behave unseemly, they seek only their own Reputation and Profit, they believe the worst they can hear of others, and suspect more than they hear; they envy those whose Endowments and Stations are superior to their own, and instead of labouring themselves to excel, they affect by Calumny and Slander to bring down their Brethren to their own Level, or rather, as far as possible, below it. Alas, that the Dictates of our Divine Master, and the Genius of our Religion, are so little understood, are no more regarded! and that we so entirely forget the Precepts of Christianity, as not to remember even those of common Humanity!

Yet furely, if these Precepts are wholly forgotten, it is in vain, that we remember, or contend for any of its Doctrines and Principles. all

Digitized by Google

Ver. 1, 3.

Ver. 8,-10.

all Languages and Gifts, so all Knowledge and Faith is vain, if it be se- Sect. 25.

parate from Love, by which true Faith always operates.

Let us cultivate Love more and more; and so much the rather, as it is a Plant of the celestial Paradise; which will there for ever flourish, when Tongues shall cease, and that Knowledge, on which Men value themselves highly, shall utterly vanish. The Ripeness of adult Age, and the Knowledge of the most improved Sciences, human or divine, is but as the Trifling of an Infant, when compared with that manly and perfect Ver. 11. State after which we are aspiring. The dim Mirror of Faith shall then Ver. 12. be laid aside; and the Truth of the Objects, now so imperfectly discerned, shall in full Lustre be presented to our Eye, purged from every Film, and strengthened for a Brightness which would now overwhelm it. In the mean Time, attending humbly to the narrow Limits, and necesfary Obscurity, of our present Knowledge, let us not be puffed up in ourselves, let us not despise others; but by a modest Estimate, and a faithful Improvement, of such Degrees of Light, as God shall be pleased to afford us, let us press on towards the Regions of eternal Day; where in his Light we shall see Light, and where amidst the fullest Communications of his Love, we shall for ever love him, and each other, with Ardors, which the best Hearts in their best Moments on Earth, can neither at-

XXVI. SECT.

The Apostle cautions the Corinthians against that vain Ostentation of the Gift of Tongues, which was so prevalent among them; and reasons with them concerning the Absurdity of the Manner, in which that Gift was abused by some of them. 1 Cor. XIV. 1,---19.

I Corinthians XIV. 1.

tain, nor conceive.

I CORINTHIANS XIV. I.

Follow after Charity, and HAVE exhorted, and I would still exhort Sect. 26. desire Spiritual Gifts, you, my Brethren, to pursue Love (a), to cultivate I Cor. X IV.

(a) Pursue Love.] The Word Sweele, properly signifies "to pursue with an Eagerness like that with which Hunters follow their Game." And it may be intended to intimate, how hard it is to obtain, and preserve, such a truly benevolent Spirit, in the main Series of Life; Vol. IV.

Sect. 26. tivate it to the utmost of your Power, in your but rather that ye may pro-. 1 Cor. XIV.

own Breasts, and in all around you, not grudging any Labour, necessary to promote so excellent a Cause. Yet I would not lead you to slight any inferior Endowment, by which the Edification of the Church may be promoted. I permit you therefore, zealously to desire Spiritual [Gifts,] fo far as Submission to Gon, the great Dispenser of them, and Love to your Brethren, may admit. But I would especially urge you to defire and pray, that ye may be enabled to prophefy, in that Sense of the Word, in which we commonly use it, to express the Gift, whereby we are enabled to explain Scripture, and publickly to discourse of Divine Things, in an instructive and edifying Manner; for by this you may hope to do the greatest

For be that speaketh in a Tongue (b), 2 Good. unknown to the Auditory to whom he addresses himself, speaks in Effect not to Men, but to GOD; for no one else present under sands [bim;] and as God alone knows the Truth and Importance of what he fays, so it is all lost on the Audience, tho' in the Spirit be speak the most sublime Myste-

Whereas be that prophesieth, in the Sense in which I now use the Word, that is, discourses of Divine Things in a known Language, speaketh to Men, and affords them Edification, and Exbortation and Comfort, according to the particular

4 Tenor and Contents of what he fays. thus, on the most favourable Concessions that can be made, be that speaketh with a Tongue, edifies bimself (c) only, if peradventure his own good

2 For he that speaketh in an unknown Tongue, speaketh not unto Men, but unto God: For no Man understandeth bim; howbeit in the Spirit he speaketh Mysteries.

3 But he that propheneth, speaketh unto Men to Edification, and Exhortation and Comfort.

4 He that speaketh in an unknown Tongue, edifieth himfelf:

considering on the one Hand, how many Provocations we are like to meet with, and on the other, the Force of Self-love, which will in so many Instances be ready to break in up-

(b) He that speaketh in a Tongue unknown, &c.] Dr. Whithy thinks, that the Gifts of Languages, and Prophecy, were always to be found in the same Person; but that the sist was permanent, the other transient. Yet it seems to me very conceivable, either might be without the other. The miraculous instamping, as it were, on a Man's Mind a new Language, would indeed enable him to speak all he knew in it; but his Fitness to discourse in Publick, as well as his Capacity of predicting suture Evenes, were Matters quite of another Nature.

(c) Edifieth himself.] After all that is said in the Paraphrose, to prove that this might be petible, himself: But he that prophesieth, ediseth the Church.

good Affections may be awakened by the Truth Sect. 26. he fervently delivers, and the Consciousness of that miraculous Power which he feels working in him, may farther establish his Faith in Christianity; but he that prophesics, while he has a Share of this Advantage, edises the Church also, by taking those Methods which are most likely to promote the Number of its Converts, and to do Good to those who are already gathered into it.

5 I would that ye all spake with Tongues, but rather that ye prophesied: For greater is he that prophesieth, than he that speaketh with Tongues, except he interpret, that the Church may receive edifying.

For my own Part, far from envying any of your Gifts, I wish them increased, and indeed that ye all spake with Tongues, in as great a Variety as I myself can, or as God hath imparted the Gift to any Man living: But on the whole, I had much rather, that ye might all prophefy; for when we come to consider the different Effects and Tendencies of these different Gifts, we must own that, with Respect to the Prospects of Usefulness, by which these Things are much to be estimated, he that propheseth [is] greater than he who speaketh with Tongues (d) which the Auditory cannot understand, except be interpret what he says, that the Church may receive Edification; and even then, his speaking with an unintelligible Tongue is but an unnecessary Incumbrance, which it would be much more modest and prudent to omit.

6 Now, Brethren, if I come unto you speaking with Tongues,

Now, as perhaps you will apprehend this better by an Example, suppose it were your own Case, Brethren: If I came to you, the next Time I make you a Visit at Corinth, speaking to you possible, it was much more probable, that a Man might be hurt, than edified, by the Exercise of this Gift, when attended with such ostentatious Circumstances. But the Apylic, according to that happy Address, for which he was so remarkable, makes his Supposition most honourable and savourable to the Person reproved. As Hector ascribes the Retreat of Paris from the Battle to Resentment against the Trojans, rather than to Cowardice. Hom. Iliad. Lib. vi. Verse 326. and Eustath in Loc.

(d) He that prophesseth, &c.] How happily does the Apostle teach us to estimate the Value of Gists and Talents, not by their Brilliancy, but Usefulness. Speaking with Tongues, was indeed very serviceable for spreading the Gospel abroad; but for the e who staid at Home, it was much more definable to be able to discourse well on useful Subjects in their own Language; which might serve more for the Improvement of the Society they belonged to, and the Conviction of such of their unbelieving Neighbours, as might out of Curiosity happen to step into their Assemblies. -Compare Verse 23,—25.

(e) Reve-

Sect. 26. with a Variety of unknown Tongues, what shall I profit you, who are supposed not to understand me, unless I speak not merely in your Hearing, but to you, that is, in a Language with which you are acquainted? Else all is absolutely lost whatever my Message may be, whether I speak by the Revelation of some Gospel-doctrine and Mystery, or by Knowledge (e) in the Explication of some controverted Text in the Old Testament, or by Prophecy in the Prediction of some future Event, or by Dostrine for the Regulation of Life and Manners.

Tongues, what shall I profit you, except I shall speak to you either by Revelation, or by Knowledge, or by Prophesying, or by Doctrine?

- So also inanimate Things which give a Sound, whether it be Pipe or Harp, or any other Instrument of Musick, unless they give a due distinction in the Variety of Sounds proceeding from them, bow can it be known what is piped, or harped? How should Dancers be directed by Musick, unless the proper Tone and Modulation be duely Moreover, in War, if the Trummaintained? pet give an uncertain Sound, so that there is an undistinguishable Mixture of various Kind of Notes; who should prepare himself to Battle? Could Soldiers know, when to advance, or when to retreat, unless the Trumpet's Sound be adjusted and constantly adhered to? So likewife, in your religious Assemblies, unless ye utter by the Tongue significant Words, to which the Ear of vour Auditory are accustomed, how shall it be known what you speak? For ye shall be in that Case, as those that speak to the Air, or make a mere inarticulate Noise; and I leave you to judge, how abfurd it would be, to bring fuch unmeaning Sounds into the Worship of God, as ye would not endure in the common Affairs of Life.
- 7 And even Things without Life giving Sound, whether Pipe or Harp, except they give a Distinction in the Sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?
- 8 For if the Trumpet give an uncertain Sound, who shall prepare himself to the Battle?
- 9 So likewise you, except ye utter by the Tongue Words easy to be underfood, how shall it be known what is spoken? For ye shall speak into the Air.

There

(e) Revelation, or Knowledge, &c.] I am not certain, how far different Ideas are to be affixed to each of these Words; or supposing that, how far these are the appropriate Ideas intended by each; but I could think of no more proper Explication; and must number this among the many Texts, which I dare not pretend fully to understand.

(f) Under-

10 There are, it may be, fo many Kinds of Voices in the World, and none of them is without Signification.

not the Meaning of the Voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a Barbarian; and he that speaketh shall be a Barbarian unto me.

12 Even so ye, foralmuch as ye are zealous of spiritual Gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh in an unknown Tongue, pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in an unknown Tongue, my Spirit prayeth, but my Underftanding is unfruitful.

There may be ever so many Sorts of Language Sect. 26. in the World, perhaps as many, as there are Perfons in your most numerous Assemblies; and none of I Cor. XIV. them is without its proper Signification among those that use it; there are great Numbers that inhabit the same Region, who perfectly understand it. Yet unless I know the proper Force and Import of the particular Language which is used in my Hearing, no one can converse with me; and I shall in vain ask an Explication in my own; for I shall be to him that speaketh a Barbarian, and be that speaketh [shall be] a Barbarian to me; and if the Language be ever so copious, harmonious, expressive and polite, I shall hardly be able to distinguish it from that of the most unpolished So that on the whole, I must urge it upon you also, that seeing ye defire spiritual [Gifts,] and are ready to vie with each other in the Excellence of them, ye feek to abound [in them] for the Edification of the Church, and not merely for your own Honour, according to those Rules of Honour, which you may too rashly lay down to yourselves.

Therefore let bim that speaketh in a Tongue generally unknown to the Congregation, to which he would address himself, pray that he may be able rather to interpret the Discourse of another, than to amuse, or indeed, amaze and weary the Audience by the oftentatious Exercise of the Gift he has already received, and with which he is fond of making a vain Parade. For if I pray in a strange and unknown Tongue, without making Use of any Explication, my Spirit indeed prays, and I may have true Devotion of Heart towards God, as I understand the Language myself; but my Understanding is in this Respect unfruitful as to others (f), and I perform an Action void of that

(f) Understanding, unfruitful to others.] This I think a more natural Interpretation, than that which supposes the Aposile to suggest a Thought, which the Papists urge to palliate the Absurdity of Prayers in an unknown Tongue, namely, "there may be some general good "Affections working, where the Person praying does not particularly understand what he says." But this would make it almost impossible to conceive, how the Gift of Tongues could

Sect. 26. that Prudence and good Sense which ought always to govern in my Addresses to God, and act so childish and foolish a Part, that the Reason of a Man may feem at that Time to have deserted

What then is [my Duty] in these Circumstances? Truly it is plain enough; it requires me to fay, I will pray with the Spirit, exercising the Faculties of my own Soul in Devotion; but I will pray with the Understanding also (g). I will fing the Praises of God with the Spirit; but I will fing them with Understanding also, and will take great Care to mingle no foolish trifling Action, unworthy the Dignity of a rational Creature, with my Prayers or Songs of Praise. it becomes you especially to consider this, who are so proud of your own Wisdom, and yet in fome Respects act so foolish a Part.

Moreover, whoever thou art, who actest in this oftentatious Marmer, confider a little, for the farther Illustration of this Argument, the Situation of one of thine own Hearers. If thou givest Thanks, for Instance, in the Spirit, in the Manner that we now suppose it to be done, that is, in an unknown Tongue; bow shall he that filleth up a private Place, and should join with thee in thy Devotion, say Amen to the Thanksgiving, seeing he knows not what theu sayest? You know it is customary for the Audience to pronounce their Amen: Now it seems a very absurd, not to say, hazardous Thing, for People to testify in such a publick and folemn Manner their Consent to, and 17 Concurrence with, they know not what. we will grant, that thou indeed givest Thanks well, and that there is nothing improper either in the 15 What is it then? I will pray with the Spirit, and I will pray with the Understanding also: I will sing with the Spirit, and I will fing with the Understanding 16 Else when thou shaft bless with the Spirit, how shall he that occupieth the Room of the Unlearned, fay, Amen at thy giving of Thanks, seeing he understandeth not what thou ſayeſt ?

17 For thou verily givest could be abused, if the Person exercising it was under such an extraordinary Impulse of the Spirit, as to utter fensible Words, which he did not himself understand; in which Case a Man must be in the most Extraordinary Sense that can be conceived, the mere Organ of the Holy Ghost himself.

(g) Pray with Understanding.] Mr. Locke, and most other Commentators, seem here to have lost the Sense and high Spirit of the Apostle in this Clause, when they explain go 201, as if it merely signified a Manner intelligible to others. I apprehend, it is designed farther to intimate, what a Want of Manly Sense and right Understanding it must be tray, to talk in a Language the Hearers could not take in, how sublime soever the Discourse might be. This the 20th Verse, and especially the Use of Texasos there, strongly suggests.

Thanks well, but the other is not edified.

Sentiments or Expressions, if they were under- Sect. 26. stood; nevertbeless the other is not at all edified, or improved; in Order to which it is absolutely ne- 1 Cor. XIV. cessary, that he should know what is said.

18 I thank my God, I fpeak with Tongues more than you all:

For my own Part, I thank my GOD, and defire to mention it intirely to the Glory of that bleffed Being, from whom all my Gifts and Talents are derived, that I speak with Tongues more than you all, even the whole Society taken together, and am distinguished from my other Brethren in this Endowment, in Proportion to the more extensive Commission which I have received, to bring a Variety of Nations to the Knowledge of the Gospel, and persuade them to em-But in a Christian Church, when assembled with them for the Purposes of publick Devotion, I bad rather speak five plain Words with my Understanding, in a rational Manner, that I might teach others also, and promote the Edification of those who were joining with me, than ten thousand of the most pompous and elegant Words in an [unknown] Tongue, tho' uttered with the greatest Readiness, and expressing Conceptions ever so excellent; yea I had rather be intirely filent in an Assembly, than take up their Time, and prostitute the extraordinary Gifts of God, to such vain and foolish Purposes. And I heartily wish, I may be able to bring you to the same reasonable Way of thinking; which would be much to the Credit of your own Understanding, as well as of your Christian Profession.

10 Yet in the Church I had rather speak five Words with my Understanding, that by my Voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand Words in an unknown Tongue.

IMPROVEMENT.

OW weak and poor a Thing is Pride and Oftentation, and how Ver. 2,-12. wife and honourable, Charity and Humility! Who that has a right Discernment, would not rather have been the obscurest Christian, that now, almost unseen, joins our Assemblies, and in Heart at least, humbly puts his Amen to the Petitions presented there, than the most fluent Talker at Corinth; abusing the special Gifts of the Spirit, and trifling away, in an unseasonable Display of his own, then unprofitable, Endowments, the precious Moments, which were destined to the highest Pur-

- Sect. 26. Purposes of religious Edification! Who must not lament to see Pride and Vain-glory, so early infinuating themselves into Christian Societies? Who must not, from so sad an Instance, learn to be greatly watchful over their own Hearts, on a Side where they are subject to such dangerous Attacks!
- Had the most able and zealous Protestant Divine endeavoured to expose Ver. 13,-16. the Absurdity of praying in an unknown Tongue, as practised in the Church of Rome; it is difficult to imagine, what he could have writ, more fully to the Purpose, than the Apostle hath here done. And when it is considered, how perversely the Papists retain the Usage of such Prayers, it will feem no Wonder, they should keep the Scriptures in an unknown Tongue too. But they proclaim at the same Time, their Superstition and Idolatry in so universal a Language, that even a Barbarian might perceive and learn it in their Assemblies. Let us pity, and pray for them, that God may give their prejudiced Minds a juster and happier Turn. fince we see, the unreasonable and pernicious Humour of immutably adhering to ancient Customs, prevailing to maintain, in the Church of Rome, fo flagrant an Absurdity, as praying in an unknown Tongue; let it teach us to guard against every Degree of the like Disposition; and not so much consider, what hath been the Practice of any Church, in which we were educated, or have chosen to worship, as what the Reason of Things, and the Authority of Scripture concur to dictate.

Ver. 18, 19. Of this wife and benevolent Apolile let us learn, to estimate the Value of Gifts by their Usefulness; and to seek above all Things the Edification of our Brethren; especially if we are providentially called to minister in Publick. There is perhaps a Manner of speaking in an unknown Tongue, Ver. 3, 4. even when the Language of our own Country is used; a Height of Composition, an Abstruseness of Thought, an Obscurity of Phrase, which common Christians cannot understand. Let not the Ministers of the humble Yesus seek such bigh Things; but in this important Sense of the Exhortation, condescend to Men of low Estate. If the Ignorant may be instructed, if the Careless may be convinced, if the Vicious may be reformed, if the Devotion of our Christian Brethren may be excited, their Love to each other cherished, and their holy Resolutions confirmed, the great Ends of Divine Ordinances are answered; and that Plainness of Speech, which may be most like to promote them, is rather the Glory, than Reproach, of the Christian Orator.

S E C T. XXVII.

St. Paul gives proper Advices for preventing that Abuse of the Gift of Tongues, which he had been reproving in the preceding Section. 1 Cor. XIV. 20, to the End.

1 Corinthians XIV. 20.

Rethren, be not Chil-B dren in Understanding: Howbeit, in Malice be ye Children, but in Understanding be Men.

1 Corinthians XIV. 20.

Y Brethren, permit me to be the happy Sect. 27. Means of forming you to a more noble c and manly Way of thinking, with Respect to I Cor. XIV. these spiritual Gifts, which are the Occasions of fo many unbecoming Emulations among you. Do you desire to be distinguished in the Church? Distinguish yourselves by solid Wisdom; and be not, as this Ostentation of Tongues would shew you to be, Children in Understanding (a); but in Malice indeed, be as much as possible, like little Infants; have all the Gentleness, Sweetness and Innocence of their tender Age: But, as ye have arrived to Years of Maturity, in Understanding be perfect [Men;] for that Religion which the Gospel hath now taught you, far from impairing any of the natural Faculties, rather exalts and improves them, and directs them to the highest and noblest Use. To return to the Subject we were upon, you know it is written in the Law, that is, in the Old Testament, (Isai. xxviii. 11, 12. where Gop had been complaining of the unteachable Disposition of the Jews,) "Surely in " foreign Language (b) and with foreign Lips I " will

21 In the Law it is written, With Men of other Tongues and other Lips,

(a) Children in Understanding.] This is an admirable Stroke of true Oratory, adapted to strike and bring down the Height of their Spirits, by representing those Things, in which they were most ready to pride themselves, as comparatively childish.—The Word vn nia-(e) refers to Infants, and is not sufficiently expressed by the Word Children, for they are fometimes vain and fometimes malicious too.—Texess fignifies full grown Men; intimating, it was a Kind of Boyishness, if I may be allowed to use that Word, to emulate and quarrel with one another.

(b) In foreign Language, &c.] Most Criticks refer these Words, as they stand in Isaiah, to the Babylonians, who should come and speak to the Jews in a Language unintelligible to Vol. IV.

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 27. 1 Cor. XIV. " will speak unto this People; and even so they " will not bear me, saith the Lord:" which may be considered and interpreted as an Intimation of the Purpose God had, of sending one last Message, to them, by his Servants endued with the Gift of Tongues. So that according to this Intimation. Tengues are a Sign not to Believers.

Gift of Tongues. So that according to this Intimation, Tongues are a Sign not to Believers, but to Infidels. The Gift was intended to propagate the Gospel among those, who were Strangers to it, not to edify those that had already believed. Whereas on the contrary, Prophecy [is] defigned not for Insidels, but Believers, to edify Churches already gathered; in which Respect it is nobler, and more worthy your Pursuit. But as there is a Manner of using this Gift of Tongues, is nobler, and more worthy your Pursuit. But as there is a Manner of using this Gift of Tongues, which would even pervert the original End for which it was given, and obstruct, rather than promote, the Conversion of Insidels, I must observe therefore, that if the whole Church be come together into one Place, and all speak with a Variety of unknown Tongues, and any of the uninstructed, or in other Words the Insidels, come in, when they hear such a consused Jargon as this must be, will they not presently say, that you are distracted, and adopt the Censure which was at sirst so rashly passed in the Day of Pentecost, that these Men are full of new Wine? (Acts ii. 13.)

Whereas if all prophesy, and an Insidel, or ignorant

Man, (for I efteem every one ignorant, who is uninstructed in the great Mysteries of the Gospel, whatever else he may know,) comes in, he is convicted by all who thus speak; he is judged by all; every one says something, to which his Consci-

25 ence bears witness: And so the Secrets of his Heart are made manifest (c), in a Manner to him very will I speak unto this People: And yet for all that will they not hear me, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore, Tongues are for a Sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: But prophelying ferveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.

23 If therefore the whole Church be come together into one Place, and all speak with Tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or Unbelievers, will they not say that yeare mad?

24 But if all prophely, and there come in one that believeth not, or are unlearned, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all:

25 And thus are the Secrets of his Heart made manifeft; them; in which Sense the Phrase is used essewhere, Deut. xxviii, 49. Jer. v. 15. Diedati thinks the Meaning is, "Because they would not attend to plain Mellages, Gon would see speak to them by such as they could not understand:" And then the Apostle's Argument will be, "Since Gon threatens this as a Curse, do not voluntarily bring it upon the Church, merely to make Ostentation of your own Gifts." But perhaps the Apostle in this Application intends to give us the true, tho' not most obvious Interpretation of the Words.

(c) Socrets of his Heart, are made manifest. It is very possible, that, (as in the knowns

Cales.

I Cor. XIV.

nifest; and so falling down on bis Face, he will worthip God, and report that God is in you of a Truth.

very surprizing and unaccountable; insomuch that Sect. 27. sometimes a Person who comes into your Assembly out of mere Curiofity, or possibly with some Ill-defign, is not able to command himself under the Impression, which the Word of God thus spoken makes upon him; and fo, under the Power of it, falling down upon [his] Face, he will worship that one living and true GOD whom you adore; declaring, that this ever-bleffed GOD is indeed among you; and perhaps, immediately professing on that Account, his Resolution of joining himself to you; and proclaiming afterwards where-ever he comes, in what an extraordinary Manner he has met with the Divine Presence, and what a wonderful Impresfion hath been made upon his Mind. Now furely, that Degree of Honour which is brought to God and his Gospel by one such Effect of Prophesying, should appear far more desirable to you, than any Applause, or Admiration, which you can receive from your Fellow-christians by the Exercife of your most splendid Gifts.

26 How is it then, Brethren? When ye come together, every one of you hath a Psalm, hath a Doctrine, hath a Tongue, hath

I might also urge, upon this Head, the great 26 Disorder which is introduced into your Assemblies, by this oftentatious Manner of proceeding; for indeed, if you think seriously, what a shocking Thing is it, my Brethren, that when you come together for the Purposes of social Worship, in which all Hearts should unite, each of you is defirous himself to officiate publickly, in such a Manner as best suits his present Inclination, without any Regard to Decency and Order? Every one of you hath a Psalm to lead, bath a Doctrine to inculcate, bath a Tongue in which to preach or pray, Cases of Nathaniel, and the Woman of Samaria; John i. 47. Chap. iv. 18.) some secret Facts, relating to a Stranger, might in some Instances be revealed to the Prophet; perhaps the Illdesigns which had brought them into the Assembly, when they came only as Spies: And this was well fuited to the Purpose of producing strong Convictions of the Presence of Gon with Christians. But I chose to paraphrase the Words in such a Manner, as to include any remarkable Correspondence between what was spoken, and the Thoughts and State of the Mind, which such a Stranger might be conscious of. Many memorable Instances of which fill happen, where Ministers preach in an experimental Manner, and lasting Effects have often been produced, in Confequence of such Impressions.

(d) Five

26.

Sect. 27. pray, bath a Revelation of some Mystery to pro- a Revelation, hath an Interduce, hath an Interpretation, which perhaps he immediately begins, while the Person, from whom he is to interpret, hath but begun to speak; and thus five or fix (d), if not more, may be fpeaking at the fame Time: In Consequence of which no one can be distinctly heard, and the Assembly degenerates into a Kind of tumultuous Riot. beseech you, my Friends, to rectify this, and to proceed upon the general Canon, which I would recommend to you upon all such Occasions, let all Things be done, not for Ostentation, but for Edification (e), in such a Manner, as you do in your Consciences believe, will be most like to do Good to the Souls of Men, and to build up the pretation. Let all Things be done to edifying.

And in particular, if any should speak with an 27 [unknown] Tongue, [let it be] by two, or at most, [by] three in one Meeting, and that by Course; and let some one present still interpret what is said (f). But if there be not an Interpreter, let him be filent in the Church (g), where he can do no Man-

Church of Christ.

27 If any Man speak in an unknown Tongue, let it be by two, or at the most by three, and that by Course; and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no Interpreter, let him keep Silence in the Church; and

(d) Five or fix, &c.] Five such Cases are mentioned. It seems probable, that some of these Christians were so full of themselves, and so desirous of exercising their respective Gifts, that without waiting for the Permission and Direction of him who presided in the Assembly, (which in the Synagogues the Apostles themselves seem to have done, Compare Ass xiii. 15.) several began speaking, or singing, in the same Minute, and some began, while others were speaking. The Manner, in which Discourses were carried on in the Schools of the Philosophers, where several little Knots of Disputants seem so to have been engaged at the same Time, and what happened in Jewish Synagogues after Worship was concluded, might possibly have given some Occasion to an Irregularity, which to us seems fo shocking.

(e) Done for Edification.] I must presume to say, that it appears probable to me, that had one Officer beeir appointed, as a Representative of the Apostle, to whose Direction the Society would in Conscience have been obliged in all indifferent Matters to submit, some Hint would have been given of it, amidst the many Opportunities, which the State of this Corinthian Church especially, gave, both to St. Paul, and afterwards, to Clemens Romanus.

(f) Let one interpret.] In this Method it is evident, that any Discourse thus delivered, would take up more than twice the Time, in which it might have been delivered, had it first been spoken in a known Tongue.

(g) If there be no Interreter, let him be filent.] Dr. Whitby thinks this was only enjoined to avoid the Ostentation of a Man's speaking, first in an unknown Tongue, and then acting as his own Interpreter; but I think it evident, from this Text, compared with Verfe 13, that a Man might have the Gift of speaking with Tongues, who could not interpret; and the great Difficulty is to fay, how this could happen, and yet the Thing wanting not bewanther Tongue; which the Distinction between the Gift of Tongues, and the Interpretation; to GoD.

Digitized by Google

29 Let the Prophets speak two or three, and let the other judge.

30 If any Thing be revealed to another that fitteth by, let the first hold his Peace.

31 For ye may all prophely one by one, that all may learn, and all may be comforted.

let him speak to himself and ner of Service by uttering what none but himself Sect. 27. can understand; and let bim speak to bimself, and to GOD: Let him, make use of this Language in Cor. XIV. his own private Devotions, if he has a Mind by Exercise to keep up his Readiness in it: But let him not produce it fo unreasonably, as in the And as for these Prophesyings present Case. which we chiefly speak of, when Scriptures are explained; let only two or three of the Prophets speak in one Affembly; and let the rest judge, and compare one Doctrine with another for the farther But if while the Dif-Improvement of all. course continues, [any Thing] be revealed to another that fitteth by, let him not immediately arise, and interrupt the first; but let him sit still, till he bave done speaking (b). For by this Means ye may all, who are thus furnished for it, prophely one by one, that your Instruction and Consolation may not be thrown away, which would be the Case, if many were speaking at once; but all may learn.

of Tongues, seems to demonstrate that it was not. I can only offer a Conjecture here, which it becomes me to do with the greater Modesty, as I think it is a pretty singular one, (as indeed the Difficulty itself great as it is, has seldom been stated by Commentators.) The Miracle, which conferred the Gifts of Tongues, seems to have been the instantaneous Impressing on the Mind the familiar and perfect Knowledge of a Language, with which the Person was before unacquainted; yet so, that from that Time the Person receiving it should be able, without any new Miracle, to use it as he thought fit; and this, as Dr. Leland well observes, is the only Hypothesis, on which the Abuse of this Gift can be accounted for. (See-Leland against Morgan, Vol. I. Chap. xiii. pag. 375.) But I apprehend, that tho' every Man using this Gift, and understanding what he said, must have been able to have rendered his Discourse Sentence by Sentence, into his native Language, he might be unable to render it into a third, which might be that of many present. Now in such a Circumstance, the Gift of Interpretation might take Place, if it confisted, as I conjecture it did, in an instantaneous Capacity of understanding a strange Language, just for that Time, and rendering what was spoken in it, into the native Tongue of the Interpreter. (Compare the Paraphrase on Chap. xii. Verse 10.) On this Hypothesis, and truly I think on this alone, one, who had the Gift of Interretation, might not be able to speak any foreign Language at all; and he who had the Gift of a Tongue, might not in some Circumstance be able to interpret to those who were then his Hearers. In this Case, the Gift of Interpretation, enabling 2. Man only to act a secondary part, would be less splendid; but whenever it was exercised, it. would always argue the Person under an immediate Agency of the Spirit, and conduce to his. Usefulness.

(b) Let the first have done speaking.] So I think organo must here be rendered; for if the Direction had been, "Let him that was speaking immediately hold his Peace, as soon. " as another intimates, that he has a Revelation;" it would introduce a Confusion, which. this Advice was intended to prevent; and I think such an Interpretation equally inconsistent: with Reason, and the Connection of the Place. Compare Verse 32, 33.

(i) A. W.o.

Sect. 27. learn, and all may be comforted. And there is no Impossibility of doing this; for the Spirit of God that inspires you, is not a wild irresistible Impulse, like that, by which the Pythian Priestess, and others who prosess Inspiration and Prophecy among the Gentiles, pretend to be agitated; but the Spirits, or Inspirations, of the Christian 32 And the Spirits of the Prophets are subject to the Prophets.

of himself, so that he can moderate his Passions, and wait the most convenient Time, and Manner of uttering his Oracles. For GOD is not [the] [Author] of Disorder and Confusion, but of Peace and Regularity; and this orderly Method of proceeding, I the rather urge upon you, as it is practised in all the other Churches of the Saints: And I should be sorry, that you, my Corinthian Friends, should be remarkable for the Irregularity of your Proceedings, when God hath been pleased so graciously to distinguish you by such a Variety of Gifts, and the flourishing State of your Society.

Prophets produce those calm Emotions, which are subject to the Prophets: They leave a Man Master 33 For God is not the Author of Confusion, but of Peace, as in all Churches of the Saints.

Let your Women be filent in your religious Affemblies, if they have not some extraordinary Revelation; for it is not commonly permitted to them to speak on such publick Occasions, but it is their Duty to be in Subjection to the superior Authority of the Man: As the Law also says, in recording that early Sentence on Eve and her Daughters for the first Trangression, (Gen. iii.
16.) To him shall be thy Desire subjected, and the shall rule over thee. And if they have a Mind to learn the Meaning of any Thing, which 34 Let your Women keep Silence in the Churches: For it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be under Obedience, as also saith the Law.

he shall rule over thee. And if they have a Mind to learn the Meaning of any Thing, which they cannot well understand, let them ask their own Husbands at Home, as they may more conveniently and freely talk with them, without any Appearance of Ostentation, or Suspicion of any other Ill-principles: But let them not break in upon the Assembly with Questions; for it is evidently an indecent Thing for a Woman to speak in the Church (i), and 35 And if they will learn any Thing, let them ask their Husbands at Home; for it is a Shame for a Woman to speak in the Church.

(i) A IVoman to Speak, &c.] There is an apparent Difficulty in reconciling this with Chap, xi. 5, 13. in which the Apostle seems to grant a Liberty, which he here denies. Befales and fuits very ill with that Modesty and Reserve, Sect. 27. which is so universally esteemed an Ornament to the Sex.

I Cor. XIV. 36.

36 What? came the Word of God out from you? or came it unto you only?

I know, the present Custom among you is contrary to some of these Regulations, and perhaps fome Opposition may be made to them: But permit me to ask, Did the Word of GOD indeed come out from you (k)? Are you the first Church in the World, by whose Example all others should be modelled? Or did it reach to you alone? Are you the last, and the only Christian Society, that you should take upon you to act in fo fingular a Manner? The Gospel came from Jerusalem, it is going all over the World, and therefore I must admonish you to behave with such a modest Respect to others, as becomes those who know yourselves to be but a very small. Part of that noble and extensive Body.

37 IF any Man think himfelf to be a Prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the Things that I write unto you, are the Consmandments of the Lord.

And if any of you appear to be a Prophet, or spiritual [Person] endowed with extraordinary Gifts above his Brethren, let bim prove that he is indeed under the Influence of the Divine Spirit, by his Submission and Obedience to these Determinations: for he must necessarily acknowledge, that the Things which I now write unto you, are the Commandments of the Lord, dictated by Inspiration from him, and not the private Conception of my own Mind. But if any one is, or affects to appear, ignorant, or uncertain about it, let him be ignorant (1): If he pretend not to own these Decisions, I shall not enter into any Debate with him; let him fland by the Consequence of his Ignorance, whether real or affected. But

38 But if any Man be ignorant, let him be igno-

Ades the Solution, suggested in the Paraphrase on Verse 34. some slave thought, he intended in the source Passage only to say, how Women should speak, if they spoke at all ; but here absolutely to probibit their doing it: But I cannot think, he would debate and adjust the Circumstances of doing an unlawful Action. Taking this Prohibition to be univerfal, I should suppose with Dr. Whitby, that Prophesying in the foregoing Place, signified singing Psalms, and praying, not leading the Devotions, but joining with others in Prayer.

(k) Did the Word, Sc.] That Scoticism, whether did the Word of GOD come forth from you alone, would be the exactest Version of n as upon, &c...

(1) Let him be ignorant.] Dr. Whithy would render a woelle, let him not be acknowledged. to be a true Propher; but that is changing the Interpretation of the Word, in a Manner, one would not chuse to admit without greater Necessity.

(m) Decently,

I am

39

Sect. 27. I am confident, that most of you have received Proofs of my Mission, too convincing to be shaki Cor. XIV. en by any petulant Opposition, which may arise against it.

Therefore, my Brethren, to conclude this long Discourse, and to sum up the Point in a few Words, desire chiefly to prophesy, and yet forbid not those who are willing to do it, under such Regulations as I have advanced, to speak with Tongues; for it is a noble Endowment, which I 40 would encourage none to flight or neglect. especially remember this great Comprehensive Rule, to be applied to a thousand Varieties which may arise, let all Things be done decently (m), and according to Order: Let all be conducted in a regular Manner, to prevent such Disturbances, Disputes, and Scandals for the future, as have already arisen in your Society, and will proceed to greater Evils, if you do not immediately set upon 39 Wherefore, Brethren, covet to prophely, and forbid not to speak with Tongues.

40 Let all Things be done decently, and in Order.

IMPROVEMENT.

T O W fondly do Men flatter themselves with empty Appearances! And often, how justly do those deserve the Imputation of childish Folly, the Height of whose Temper will least allow them to bear it! Let us dare to examine ourselves impartially, and be concerned that we may not be Children in Understanding; but forming our Minds on the Maxims of Scripture, and our Lives on the Example of Christ, may we grow up in him to the Measure of the Stature of a perfect Man. But let us be Children in Malice: Let us endeavour to be as free from every gloomy, malignant, selfish Passion, as new-born Infants are. Who can say he has fully attained this happy and amiable Character? Yet let us follow after it; remembering, that there is a Sense, in which, (proud and interested, envious and malignant, as alas! we too much are,) we must become as little Children, or we cannot inherit the Kingdom of GOD.

Those

(m) Decently, &c.] It must be by a mere Accommodation, that this Expression can be applied to Ceremonies, which may be decent, or indecent, according to different Circumstances attending them. In the Sense given in the Paraphrase, the Words are used by the Philosopher, when he exhorts Men to confider the exact Order, and regular Motions of the heavenly Bodies, that they may thereby learn to sugnpor nas to Islaquevor, what is decent and orderly. Whichcot's Sel. Serm. pag. 177. Edin. Edit.

Ver. 20.

reforming them.

Those extraordinary Gifts, which suited the first planting of Christia- Sect. 27. nity in the World, are now ceased; but let us bless God, they were ever given; and that we have such an incontestible Evidence of the Truth of the Gospel, as this Chapter affords. Such Endowments must certainly argue a Divine Power, fetting its Seal to the Gospel; and the Reality of fuch Endowments can never be questioned, when we reflect on the Manner, in which the Apostle here reproves the Abuse of them: And that in a Society, where so many were alienated from him, and his Ministry; and consequently, where such Appeals, if not founded on the strictest and most apparent Truth, must have exposed him to a Contempt, never to have been removed.

These miraculous Gifts, having abundantly answered their End, are Ver.24, 25. wisely withdrawn; yet still the Divine Presence is with the Church; of which we have this happy Proof, that there are those, who find the Secrets of their Hearts made manifest, by the faithful and skilful Administration of Christian Ordinances: So that if they do not publickly fall down upon their Faces, in such extraordinary Transports, they inwardly adore the Lord God in their Hearts, and acknowledge, that he is with his Church of a Truth. May Instances of this Kind be more frequent, and may the Spirituality and Fervour with which Divine Ordinances shall be adminiftred, be such as may afford more Reason to expect them!

Let us regard God, as the Author, not of Confusion, but of Peace; Ver. 33. making it our Concern to behave in his Sanctuary, in a Manner agreeable to this View; with fuch folemn Decorum, and with fuch a tender Regard to the Edification and Comfort of each other, as he may approve. May the God of Peace deliver Christians, of every Sect, and Rank, from that Spiritual Pride, which has thrown many religious Societies into great Disorder. And, to advance a State, so happy, as that of Humility and Love must necessarily be, may what the Apostles have written, be ac- Ver. 37. knowledged as the Commandments of the Lord; and Christian Worship, and Practice, be more regulated by their truly authentick Canons; which would render many that have been fince devised, relating to indifferent Matters, as unnecessary, as some others are burthensome, superstitious, and absurd.

Vol. IV.

B b b -

SECT.

SECT. XXVIII.

The Apostle enters on his Discourse concerning the Resurrection of the Dead; which he introduces with some Remarks on the Certainty and Importance of Christ's Resurrection. XV. 1,---11.

I CORINTHIANS XV. I.

HERE is one Topick more that remains to be handled, of those concerning which 1 Cor. XV. you write to me; I mean, the great Doctrine of the Resurrection of the Dead; which, I perceive fome among you begin to doubt; whether feduced by any Jewish Teachers of Sadducean Principles, or byaffed by the vain Pretences of Heathen Philosophers, who would despise it, as a mean and unworthy Hope (a). But I make known unto you, Brethren, and remind you of the Gospel, which I have preached to you at the very Beginning of my Ministry among you; which ye bave also received with Readiness and Delight, and in which ye may be faid to ftand, as much of your Establishment in Christianity will depend on your retaining it in its genuine Simplicity and Pu-2 rity: By which Gospel also, whereof the Doctrine of the Resurrection makes so considerable a Part, ye are happily brought into the Way of being compleatly and eternally faved, if ye faithfully

I CORINTHIANS XV. I.

Moreover, Brethren, I declare unto you the Gospel which I preached unto you, which also you have received, and wherein ye stand.

2 By which also ye are faved, if ye keep in Me-

(a) Unworthy Hope.] It is well known, that the primitive Christians were often insulted by the Heathen Philosophers, for their Hope of a Refurrection; which one of them, ridiculously enough, calls the Hope of Worms. Compare 2 Tim. xi. 18. and the Note there. Others taught Virtue to be its own necessary Reward, in such a Manner, as tended to overthrow the strongest of all natural Arguments for a future State; I mean, that taken from such an unequal Distribution of Rewards and Punishments, as could not otherwise take Place under the Government of a righteous God. If Christians were by this tempted so to refine on the Doctrine of the Refurrection, as in Effect to explain it away, it shows the Propriety of the Apolle's fetting himself to prove the Resurrection of Christians, rather than a Resurrection in general.

(b) Retain

mory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain.

3 For I delivered unto you, first of all, that which I also received, how that Christ died for our Sins acto the Scriptures:

4 And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third Day, according to the Scriptures.

5 And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve.

fully retain (b) those joyful Tidings which I deli- Sect. 28. vered unto you; unless indeed (c) ye have believed in 1 Cor. XV. vain: Which will certainly be the Case, if ye let go that great Anchor of your Soul, which must support it in the fierce Storms and Tempests, to which you will here be exposed. For I delivered to you among the first [Principles,] which I inculcated, when I came to preach the Gospel among you, what I have also received (d), and been taught by Divine Inspiration, that Christ died for our Sins according to the Scriptures of the Old Testament, in which he was foretold, and represented, as the great Sin offering; (Isai. liii. And I also instructed 4 6, 12. Dan. ix. 26.) you, that he was buried in a new Tomb; and that his dead Body was kept by a Guard of his Enemies: but kept in vain, for to their Confusion, and the perpetual Establishment of the Faith and Hope of his humble Followers, he was raised the third Day according to the Scriptures (e), which intimate that he should not see Corruption in the Grave. (Pfal. xvi. 10.) And in Confirmation 5 of this great Truth, I told you, that the same Day that he rose, he was seen first of Cephas, or Peter, to whom, that he might comfort his wounded Heart under its Sorrows for his late Fall, he condescended to make his first Appearance, excepting that to the Women at the Sepulchre; and

(b) Retain.] So καθεχεθε evidently fignifies. To keep in Memory suggests a very inadequate Sense.

(c) Unless indeed.] Exlos es un is a very remarkable Form of Expression. Perhaps there may be more in it funds are aware. If I mistake not, it suggests the Thought expressed, Verse 17. So the two first Verses may be a Transition; as if he had said, I preach the same Gospel still, and I hope you will retain it; yet I have Reason to sear some of you entertain Notions, which tend quite to enervate it.

(d) Received.] For the Import of this Phrase, see Gal. i. 12. I Cor. xi. 23.

(e) Raised the third Day, according to the Scriptures. It has been queried, where the Scriptures foretel, that Christ should rise from the Dead on the third Day. Some think, there is a Transposition, or Parenthesis; so that the Meaning will be, he rose again, according to the Scriptures; and this on the third Day. Chand. of Christianity, pag. 370. and so Dr. Bullock replies, that he would have risen according to the Scriptures, had it been on the fifth or tenth Day, (Bull. Vind. pag. 48.) But Mr. Jesser, whom I follow in the Paraphrase, gives what appeared to me the best Solution, as it is intimated, John xi. 39. that Bodies began to corrupt on the fourth Day. See Jess. Review, pag. 127.

(f) Of

Sect. 28. and afterwards he was feen by that Company who were called the twelve (f) Apostles, tho se-1 Cor. XV. veral of the Number were then absent. terwards he appeared according to his repeated Appointments, to above five hundred Brethren at once (g) in Galilee, where he gave the most glorious and incontestible Proof of the Reality of his Refurrection, in the Presence of this great Concourse, of whom the greater Part continue [alive] until now, and constitute a Cloud of Witnesses to this important Truth; but some are fallen asleep in Jesus, and gone to dwell with him, as the great Lord of Life.

And you may remember, I told you also, that after this he was seen of James, and afterwards, just before his Ascension, by all the Apostles (b).

But last of all be also appeared to me, as to an Embrio, or one born out of due Time, a poor, weak, contemptible Creature, from whom nothing Good 6 After that, he was feen of above five hundred Brethren at once: of whom the greater Part remain unto this present, but some are fallen afleep.

7 After that, he was seen of James: then of all the Apostles.

8 And last of all he was feen of me also, as of one born out of due Time.

(f) Of the twelve.] It is certain, neither Judas, nor Thomas, were there; and as it is observed below, James might probably be absent; but as the Council of twenty three among the Jews might be faid to be affembled, if the greater Part were present, tho' the Number might not be compleat; so the Company might be called the twelve, tho' we should Suppose the fourth Part to have been absent. Compare Mark xvi. 14. Luke xxiv. 36. John xx. 26.

(g) Above five Hundred.] Probably it was in Galilee, where there was such a Number of Disciples; tho' there were no more than an hundred and twenty at Jerusalem, when Matthias was chosen. Dr. Prideaux, Mr. Ditton, and many others, urge this as a glorious Proof of the Refurrection of Christ. Had it been an Imposture, so many false Hearts and Tongues could never have acted in Concert; nor would they all have kept a Secret, which Remorfe, Interest, and perhaps often Torture, might urge them to divulge; especially as there had been one Traitor among the twelve, on Account of which, had they been conscious of Fraud, a general Suspicion of each other's Secrecy must have arisen. See Prid. Lett. to a Deist, pag. 241.

(b) By all the Apolities. The Change of Phrase, from that in the Conclusion of the 5th Verse, is very remarkable; and, as a very learned, candid and sagacious Person, has suggested to me, it very probably intimates, that they who were there called the twelve, that is, the greater Part of the Company who used to be so denominated, were not all the Apostles. On which Circumstance this Gentleman grounds a very probable Conjecture, that James might by some Accident, perhaps Illness, or Affairs indispensably necessary, be detained from meeting his Brethren, both on the Day of the Resurrection, and that Day Seventh-night, and likewise at the Time when Christ appeared to the five Hundred; and that he might in this Respect, be upon a Level with them, our Lord appeared to him alone, aster all the Appearances mentioned before. And this Account of the Matter appears vally more credible, than that which St. Ferome quotes from the Gospel of the Nazarenes, that on the Death of Christ James made a Vow, that he would neither eat nor drink, till he saw Christ risen from the Dead: an Event, of which the Apostles had certainly no Expectation, o For I am the least of the Apostles, that am not meet to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

to But by the Grace of God I am what I am: And his Grace which was bestowed upon me, was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all: Yet not I, but the Grace of Gop which was with me.

TI Therefore, whether it were I or they, fo we preach, and so ye believed.

was to be expected, not worthy of the least Pa- Sect. 28. tience; how much less worthy of being marked out with fuch distinguishing Favours! For I must humbly acknowledge, and I would continually bear it in my Mind, that I am the least of all the Apostles, who am not indeed worthy to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of GOD; on which Account, confidering the Transports of my savage Zeal, I think myself hardly deferving to be numbered amongst the meanest Followers of my Divine Master, and less than the least of all Saints. (Eph. iii. 8.) But by the Grace of GOD I am what I am, a Christian, an Apostle, and not inferior to any of my honoured Brethren in that Office; and bis Grace [manifested] towards me in raising me to fo high a Dignity, and so happy a State, was not displayed in vain: But I laboured more abundantly than they all, conscious that I could never do enough, to balance the Mischief I had formerly committed, or answer the Obligations, under which fuch rich and distinguishing Mercy laid me. I exerted myself therefore to the utmost in my Apostolical Work; which should, by the Way, shelter me from the Contempt, which some are ready to throw upon me: Yet, to speak more properly, it was not I, but the Grace of GOD that was with me: God furnished me for the Work, he excited me to Diligence and Zeal in it: to him be the Glory of all. His Grace was the Cause of all; and whether therefore I, or they, laboured most, and to whomfoever we delivered our Message, whether among you, or elsewhere, so we preach, and so ye believed. All agree in bearing our Testimony to the Death and Refurrection of Christ, and ye, with all other Christians, have agreed to receive it, as the great Foundation of our holy Religion.

Cor. XV.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

T ET it be the daily Joy of our Hearts to think how firm that Foun-Sect. 28. dation stands, and what various and convincing Evidence we have, that as Christ became incarnate, visited this wretched World, and died Ver. 3. for our Sins, according to the Scriptures; that as he condescended to go down into the Caverns of the Grave, and lie there in the cold and filent Ver. 4. Tomb, humbled in the Dust of Death; so also, according to the same Scriptures, he was raised again on the third Day. Let us be very thankful that fuch convincing Proof was given of his Refurrection, demonstrated by such infallible Tokens, and repeated Appearances, to all the Apostles; who had every Opportunity the most scrupulous Doubt could Ver. 5. demand, of examining at Leisure into its Certainty. More than five bundred Persons were Witnesses to it at one Time; and Witnesses, who survived to many future Years to attest this important Fact, that our Faith and Hope might be in GOD: In God, who quickeneth the Dead, and who by this Resurrection of Jesus bis Son, bath begotten us again to a lively Hope of an Inheritance, incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away. As we have received, so let us stand fast in this Doctrine; and remember, Ver. 1. that our Salvation depends on our stedfastly retaining it, and that we be-Ver. 2. lieve in vain, and worse than in vain, if we ever, on any Considerations, make Shipwreck of Faith, and of a good Conscience. It is Matter of Joy and Thankfulness, that St. Paul was added to this

It is Matter of Joy and Thankfulness, that St. Paul was added to this Cloud of Witnesses, who attested the Resurrection of Jesus; that great Apostle, in whom the Grace of GOD was so richly magnified; magnified particularly in that Humility, which he here expresses in so amiable a Manner: calling himself the least of the Apostles, and declaring that he

Ver. 9. Manner; calling himself the least of the Apostles, and declaring that he was unworthy of the Name of an Apostle, and amidst all the Labours and Glories of this eminent Station in the Church, still keeping in his Eyes that Madness, with which in the Days of his Insidelity he had wasted it.

Ver. 10. Shall we not all learn of him to say, By the Grace of GOD I am what

I am? Let us be folicitous, that his Grace bestowed upon us be not in vain; and ever bearing in Mind the many Sins of our unconverted State, and our great Unprofitableness fince we have known GOD, or rather been known of him, let us labour in our Lord's Service with proportionable Zeal; and when we have laboured to the utmost, and exerted ourselves with the greatest Fidelity and Resolution, let us ascribe it to that Divine Agency, which strengthened us for all, and say again, the some should esteem it a disagreeable Tautology, not I, but the Grace of GOD that was with me.

SECT.

S E C T. XXIX.

The Apostle shews the necessary Connection between the Resurrection of Christ, which he had established above, and the Resurrection of the Dead, and urges the Importance of retaining that great Fundamental of Christianity: In the Series of his Argument mentioning the Surrender of the mediatorial Kingdom, which Christ shall make at the Consummation of all Things. I Cor. XV. 12,---34.

1 Corinthians XV. 12.

N O W if Christ be preached that he rose preached that he rose from the Dead, how fay fome among you, that there is no Resurrection of the Dead?

13 But if there be no Resurrection of the Dead, then Christ is not risen.

14 And if Christ be not risen, then is our Preaching vain, and your Faith is also

I CORINTHIANS XV. 12.

O U have heard, my Brethren, something Sect. 29. of the convincing Evidence, which attended this great and important Doctrine of Christ's I Cor. XV. Refurrection; but if Christ is thus preached, that he was assuredly raised from the Dead, how do some among you presume to say, that there is no Resurrection of the Dead? With what Face can any, who allow of Christ's Resurrection, pretend to deny the other, whether out of an Attachment to Sadducean, or Philosophical Prejudices? For it is certain, that if there is no Resurrection of the Dead, if that Doctrine be in the general altogether incredible, then neither is Christ And this would be a Consequence, raised (a). at once the most false, and the most melancholy, that can be conceived; for if Christ be not raised, then our Preaching, which pretends to take its Authority from a Commission after his Refurrection, in a View of declaring the Certainty of it, [is] vain; and your Faith founded chiefly upon the Testimony, which God then bore to him,

(a) Neither is Christ raised.] This Argument, on which the Apostle dwells in so copious a Manner, would appear to be of great Moment, whatever the Principles were by which the Doctrine of the Resurrection was affaulted. It could not be said, that was in its own Nature impossible, which was accomplished in Christ; and it would prove, that the Hope of a Refurrection was not, as the Gentiles represented it, a mean and fordid Hope, since it was accomplished in the Son of God. Compare Verse 1, Note (a).

Digitized by Google

(b) Still

15.

19

Sect. 29. him, [is] also vain. Yea, and we the Apostles, 1 Cor. XV. notwithstanding all the miraculous Evidences we give, of the Truth of our Mission, are found, what I am fure you cannot believe we are, false Witnesses of GOD; because you know, that we bore this as our most important and solemn Testimony concerning GOD, that he raised up Christ, whom nevertheless he indeed did not raise up, if the Notion of a Refurrection in the general be, as they teach, an Absurdity, and the Dead rife 1 repeat it again, as a Point of the highest Consequence; for if the Dead are not finally to be raised, neither is Christ raised: And what terrible Consequences would arise from hence? Surely fuch, as might be fufficient to strike us with Horror: for if Christ be not raised, all your Faith in the Gospel [is] vain, and ye are without any Salvation: Ye are in that Case ftill in your Sins (b), under the Pressure of their unexpiated

Guilt; for with the Doctrine of the Resurrection of Christ, that of the Efficacy of his Atonement is inseparably connected. And then also there would be this deplorable Consequence farther attending, that they, who fleep in Christ, are perished; even all deceased Christians, not excepting the most excellent of them, who have died for their Religion. They have lost their Life and Being together, on this Supposition, in the Cause of one, who, if still among the Dead, must have been an Impostor, and false

Prophet. And this Scheme, which would represent those that sleep in Christ as perished, would, I am sure, be a very terrible Doctrine to us the Apostles of Jesus, in such a Circumstance as this; for if it were in this Life only, that we have Hope in Christ, we, who are exposed to such a Variety of Calamities and Dangers for his Sake, were of all Men,

15 Yea, and we are found false Witnesses of GoD; because we have testified of God, that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the Dead

16 For if the Dead rife not, then is not Christ raifed:

17 And if Christ be not raised, your Faith is vain; ye are yet in your Sins.

18 Then they also which are fallen alleep in Christ, are perished.

19 If in this Life only we have Hope in Christ, we are of all Men most miserable.

(b) Still in your Sins.] This plainly shews, how necessary it was, that there should be fomething more than Reformation, which was plainly in Fact wrought, in Order to their being delivered from their Sins; even that Atonement, the Sufficiency of which God attested by raising our great Surety from the Grave. (c) Of

I Cor. XV.

19.

Men in the World the most pitiable (c): Since it Sect. 29. is evident, that amidst such Evils as these, nothing could comfort and support us, but the Hopes of Immortality; and we must be at once the vileft, and the most wretched of Mankind, if, while we make such Pretences to them, we were indeed governed by any lower Views.

20 But now is Christ risen from the Dead, and become the First-fruits of them that flept.

21 For fince by Man came Death, by Man came also the Resurrection of the Dead.

But we will now dwell no longer on these melancholy Suppositions, for we assuredly know, that Christ is indeed risen from the Dead (d); [and] we are fure, that in this his Resurrection, he is become the First-fruits of them that slept (e); so that it is the Security of ours. For as Death [came] on the whole human Race by Means of one Man, who brought Mortality on all his Pofterity as the Consequence of that one great Offence, so likewise by Means of another Man [cometh] the Resurrection of the Dead; and our happy Relation to him abundantly repairs the

(c) Of all Men the most pitiable: execusolepus.] It is quite foreign to the Purpose, to argue from this Text, as some have done, that "if there were no suture State, Virtue would " make Men more miserable, than they would otherwise be." It is evident, St. Paul here speaks, not of the Case of good Men in general, if their Hopes of suture Happiness should after all be disappointed; but of the Case of the Apostles, and other Preachers of Christianity, if amidst all their Hardships and Persecutions, they were not supported by this Hope. Destitute of this amidst the extreamest Sufferings, they must have been perpetually subjected to the Upbraidings of their own Minds, for facrificing every View of Happiness in this World, or another, to advance, what they knew to be, a pernicious Falsehood. Perhaps there never were Men on Earth fo criminal, and so wretched, as they must, on this Supposition, have been. See the Thought illustrated at large in my Sermons on the Power and Grace of Christ, &c. Serm. ix. pag. 259,-262.

(d) Christ is indeed risen, &c.] It is a great Mistake to imagine, that the Apostle is employed throughout this Chapter in proving the Resurrection. The Proof lies in a very little Room, chiefly Verses 12, -19. and almost all the Rest of the Chapter is taken up in illustrating, vindicating, or applying it. The Proof is indeed very short, but most solid and convincing—that which arose from Christ's Resurrection. Now that not only proved a Refurrection to be in Fact not impossible, but, which was much more, as it proved him to be a Divine Teacher, it proved the Doctrine of a general Refurrection, which he so expressly taught. It was natural for fo good a Man also, to infift on the fad Confequences, which would follow with Respect to himself, and his Brethren, from giving up so glorious a Hope; and the cordial Manner in which he speaks of this, is a noble internal Argument, which I hope many of my Readers will feel, tho' I have been obliged to be less copious in the Paraphrase, than I could have wished.

(e) First Fruits of them that slept.] It is without sufficient Reason, that Mr. Fleming, (Christ. Vol. i. pag. 218.) would render awapyn, Ruler, Governor, or Commander.—Kenoiunperon here is explained by noisen seiles, Verse 18. and both must refer to Christians, of whose Refurrection alone, and not of that of the Wicked, he evidently speaks in this whole Chapter.

Vol. IV.

Ссс

(f) Abo-

Sect. 29. Damage, we sustained by our fatal Relation to the former. For as in Adam all are dead, and a Sentence of inevitable Death is come upon us all, as descended from him; so we Christians have a joyful Persuasion for ourselves, and for our Brethren, that, (tho' we are neither capable of affecting or meriting such a Change,) in Christ we 22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

all shall also be made alive. But it was fit, that every one should be reanimated, raised and gloristed in his own Order: It was fit, that Christ, after a very short Abode in the Grave, should rise as the First-fruits, and as such should present himself to God, and use his recovered Life in his Service; and they who are Christ's Property, the whole Body of those that belong to him, should be raised up a considerable Time afterwards, and appear as a glorious Harvest in full Maturity, at the important Hour of his Coming, when his Voice shall awaken, and his Almighty Hand restore them.

23 But every Man in his own Order: Christ the Firstfruits, afterward they that are Christ's, at his Coming.

And then [shall] the End of the World [be], the grand Catastrophe of all those wonderful Scenes, that have held in Suspense so many succeeding Generations; when he shall publickly and folemnly deliver up the Mediatorial Kingdom to GOD, even the Father, by whose Commission he has held it, and to whose Glory he has always administred it; when he shall have abolished (f) and deposed all Principality, and all Authority and Power, that has opposed itself to his Government, and shall have triumphed over all the Efforts, which either Men or Devils could ever make against his ever-growing Empire and Do-For we know, that, according to the Tenor of that ancient Prophecy, (Pfal. cx. 1.) which carries with it so illustrious a Reference to the Messiah and his Kingdom, he must reign, till 24 Then cometh the End, when he shall have delivered up the Kingdom to God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all Rule, and all Authority, and Power.

25 For he must reign till

(f) Abolished and deposed.] The Word xalapytopas generally signifies, and diversing a Thing of some Power, whether lawful or usurped, which it formerly had, and reducing it to an Incapacity of exerting that Energy any more." Thus it is used of Satan, Heb. ii. 14. of Death here, and Verse 26. and 2 Tim. i. 10. of temporal Princes, I Cor. i. 28. Chap. ii. 6. and of the ceremonial Law, Ephes. ii. 15.

he hath put all Enemies under his Feet.

26 The last Enemy that shall be destroyed, is Death.

27 For he hath put all Things under his Feet. But when he faith all Things are put under bim, it is manifest that he is excepted which did put all Things under him.

28 And when all Things Thall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himfelf be subject unto him that put all Things under him, be bave put all [his] Enemies under his Feet; so as Sect. 29. that they should become his Footstool, and subferve that Exaltation, which they have endeavoured to prevent. And so universal shall the Triumph be, that the very last Enemy, [even] Death, shall be deposed and destroyed: That Encmy, which continues in some Measure to hold the Subjects of Christ under its Dominion, even when the Temptations of the World, and the Malice of Satan, can hold them no longer, and when every Remainder of corrupt Nature and human Infirmity has long fince ceased in the perfect Holiness of the intermediate State, and its unmingled Serenity and Joy.

This, I say, must necessarily be implied: For 27 it is elsewhere said, be bath put all Things under bis Feet, (Psal. viii. 6.) and it must accordingly be accomplished; but [it is] evident enough, that when be faith, that all Things were subjected to him, it is with the Exception of him by whom all Things were thus subjected to him. None can furely imagine, that the Son was ever to reign over the great and glorious Father of all; but on the contrary it may naturally be concluded, that he would still direct his Administration to the Glory of him, from whom he received his King-But when he, that is, the Father, shall bave fulfilled this Promise in its utmost Extent, and shall have fubjected all Things to him; so that it shall appear to every Eye, that he is indeed Lord of all; then shall the Son also bimself, amidst all the Glories of that Triumph, be, and declare himself to be, subject to him that subjetted all Things to him (g), by a publick Act, in

(g) Then shall the Son also himself be subject, &c.] I hope, I shall be forgiven, if after the best Attention I could use, I have missed the true and exact Sense of this most difficult Text. It is furprizing to find Authors of such different Sentiments, as Witfius, and Crellius, agreeing to speak of Christ, as returning, as it were, to a private Station, and being " as one of his Brethren," when he has thus given up the Kingdom. The Union of the divine and human Natures in the Person of the great Emanuel, the incomparable Virtues of his Character, the Glory of his Actions, and the Relation he bears to his People, with all the Texts which aftert the Perpetuity of his Government, prohibit our imagining, that he shall ever Ccc2

Digitized by GOOGLE

I Cor. XV. 28.

Sect. 29. the Midst of this most august Assembly, giv- that God may be all in ing up, as it were, his Commission to preside as universal Lord in the mediatorial Kingdom, to him; as having answered the End, for which it was given him, in the compleat Salvation of all his People, whom he shall then introduce into a State of the greatest Nearness to God, and most intimate Converse with him; that GOD may be, and that he may appear to be, all in all; that they all may enjoy compleat and everlasting Happiness, in the full Communication of the Divine Favour to them, for ever, in a World, where they shall no longer need a Mediator to introduce them to him.

Such are our Views and Hopes, as Christians; else if it were not so, what should they do, who are baptized in Token of their embracing the Christian Faith, in the Room of the Dead (b), who are just fallen in the Cause of Christ, but are yet supported by a Succession of new Converts, who immediately offer themselves to fill up their Places, as Ranks of Soldiers, that advance to the Combat in the Room of their Companions,

29 Else what shall they do which are baptized for the Dead, if the Dead rife cease to be illustriously distinguished from all others, whether Men or Angels, in the heavenly World thro' eternal Ages. To me it appears, that the Kingdom to be given up, is the Rule of this lower World, which is then to be confumed; and that it may not feem, as if a Province of his Empire were destroyed, his Administration, undertaken in avowed Subservience to the Scheme of Redemption, (Eph. i. 10.) and compleated in the Resurrection of all his People, shall close in a decent and honourable Manner; God will declare the Ends of it fully answered, and the whole Body of his People shall be introduced by him into a State of more intimate Approach to, and Communion with God, than had been known by the Spirits of the Blessed in their separate State.

(h) Who are baptized in the Room of the Dead.] It would be almost endless to enumerate, and much more to canvass, all the Interpretations which have been given of this obscure and ambiguous Phrase, very welfew. I think that of Sir Richard Ellys, which I have given in the Paraphraje, much preferable to any other. See Fortuita Sacra, pag. 137, &c. As for other Interpretations, there is no Reason to believe, that the superstitious Custom, mentioned by Epiphanius, of baptizing a living Person, as representing one who had died unbaptized, is here referred to; it is more likely to have risen from a Mistake of this Pasfage, than to have been so early prevalent. Mr. Cradock's supposing it to allude to washing dead Bodies, neither suits the Grammar, nor really makes any significant Sense. Nor is there any Need of supposing, that veryow is put for veryo, and refers to their being baptized into the Religion of Jesus, who on the Adversaries Hypothesis is still dead. The Senses, which Crellius, and Bishop Atterbury maintain, differ so little from each other, and that we have given, that it may suffice to say, that each expresses but a Part of the Sense, and loses something of the Spirit, which we apprehend in these Words. (i) Our not at all? Why are they then baptized for the Dead?

30 And why stand we in Jeopardy every Hour?

31 I protest by your rejoic ng which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 If after the Manner of Men I have fought with Beafts panions, who have just been slain in their Sight. Sect. 29. If the Doctrine I oppose, be true, and the Dead are not raised at all, why are they nevertheless thus I Cor. XV. baptized in the Room of the Dead, as chearfully ready at the Peril of their Lives to keep up the Cause of Jesus in the World? And indeed, 30 how could my Conduct be accounted for in any other Light, but by supposing, that we act with a steady and governing View to this great Principle, and this glorious Hope? Why otherwise are we every Hour exposed to so much Danger, in the Service of a Master, from whom it it is evident we have no fecular Rewards to expect? my Brethren, I do upon this folemn Occasion protest, and even swear to you, by the greatest of all Affeverations, by our Hopes and our Joys as Christians, by our rejoicing (i) and Confidence common to us all, and which I with you have in Christ Jesus our Lord; I protest, I say, by this, that I daily die, that is, that I am every Day surrounded, as it were, with Death in its most terrible Forms, and bear fo many Evils, that every Hour of my Life feems a new Martyrdom. One great Instance of this has so lately happened, that I cannot forbear mentioning it. If to speak after the Manner of Men, or to use a common proverbial Phrase, I have, like a Slave exposed upon a publick Theatre, fought with wild Beafts at Ephesus (k), having been affaulted with the most

(i) Our rejoicing.] Our received Copies read it, vuelepar, your rejoicing; but the reading, which I follow, feems so much more natural and easy, that one can scarce forbear believing it authentick. Yet it may be interpreted into a very pertinent Sense, "I protest by your Joys, which I do so cordially take Part in, that I may call them my own."

(k) Fought with wild Beasts at Ephesus.] The Stories which Nicephorus, (Lib. ii. Cap. 25.) and Theodoret give us, of an Encounter which St. Paul had with wild Beasts on the Theatre at Ephesus, (see Witsi Mel. Vit. Paul. Cap. viii. Seet. 23, &c.) have been so far regarded by Dr. Whitby, that he contends for the literal Interpretation of this Passage; in Favour of which it is also urged, that had he spoken of brutal Men, he would rather have mentioned the Assaults that was made upon him at Lystra, where he was stoned, and supposed to be dead. But the Danger of being pulled to Pieces might be greater at Ephesus; it had happened very lately, and as the Scene was much nearer Corinth, it might be more natural for him to mention it here. The Silence of St. Luke in his History, as to so memorable an Event, as a Combat with Beasts would have been, and St. Paul's omitting it in the large Catalogue of his Sufferings, (2 Cor. xi. 23.) together with his known Privi-

1 Cor. XV. 32.

Sect. 20. most savage Fury by a tumultuous Multitude there, what Advantage have I gained by such a Combat, if my Hopes may not be allowed to open into Immortality? On the contrary, if the Dead rife not at all, the Epicurean Maxim might feem to be justified, "Let us make the best of " this short Life, which is the whole Period of " our Being; and giving up these sublime Sen-"timents and Pursuits, which belong not to "Creatures of fo short and low an Existence, " let us eat and drink, fince we are to die, as it " were, to Morrow (1), or the next Day: For " fo little is the Difference between one Period " of fuch a Life, and another, that it is scarce " worth while to make the Distinction."

Beafts at Ephefus, what advantageth it me, if the Dead rise not? Let us eat and drink, for to Morrow we

Be not deceived, Brethren, but be upon your 33 Guard against such pernicious Maxims and Reafonings as these; and if you value either Faith, or a good Conscience, do not converse familiarly with those, that teach them; for, as the Poet Menander well expresses it, good Manners are de-34 bauched by Talk profane (m). Awake therefore, as becomes righteous and good Men (n), from the Intoxications of fuch wild and delufive Dreams as these.

33 Be not deceived: Evil Communications corrupt good Manners.

34 Awake to Righteouf-

lege as a Roman Citizen, which would probably, as to be fure it should legally, have protected him from such an Insult, do all, (as Mr. Cradock, and others, have observed,) favour the figurative Interpretation. And the Expression xala arbours, after the Manner of Men, or humanly speaking, has a Propriety on this Hypothesis, which it cannot have on the other, and seems to be quite decisive.

(1) Let us eat, &c.] This is the great Argument urged to prove, that by the Resurrection of the Dead St. Paul means a future State. But the true Solution feems to be, that he writes all along upon a Supposition, that if such Proof as he had produced of Christ's Refurrection, were not to be depended upon, we could have no Certainty at all with Refpect to any future Existence. And I must declare, that it seems to me, that the natural Arguments of the Immortality of the Soul, and future Retributions, do appear to carry with them great Probability, notwithstanding all that Mr. Hallet has offered to invalidate Yet the Degree of Evidence is by no Means comparable to that, which, admitting the Truth of the Facts alledged, the Corinthians must have had of Chriss Resurrection, with which ours has so necessary a Connection. And consequently, had these Proofs been given up, what might have been pleaded in Favour of the other, would probably have made very little Impression.

(m) Good Manners are debauched.] The original Words of Menander are an Iambic Verse; I chose therefore to translate them thus, and it is very agreeable to the Greek, in this Connection, which seems to determine ourses range to profane Discourses.

(n) Awake, as becomes righteous Men. As some read for Sinaiss, Sinaiss, which gives rather a more forcible Sense, I chose this Rendering, which is a Kind of Medium between the two Readings.

Digitized by Google

nefs, and fin not; for fome have not the Knowledge of God: I speak this to your these; and fin not in supporting or countenancing Sect. 29. Doctrines, so subversive of the Christian Faith and Hope; for some are still ignorant of GOD, and with the abused Light of Christianity know less of him, than well-improved Reason might I say this to your Shame, confideteach them. ring how much you boast of your Knowledge, which in this plain and important Branch of it, appears fo wretchedly deficient; while you cultivate fo many vain Subtleties, which tend rather to corrupt, than to exalt and perfect your Minds.

I Cor. XV. 34.

IMPROVEMENT.

FLL may we rejoice, to see the Doctrine of our own Resur-rection so closely connected, in the Sacred Writings, and especially in this excellent Discourse of St. Paul, with that of our blessed. Ver. 12,-16. Redeemer; as that they should be declared to stand, or to fall together. For Christ is assuredly risen from the Dead, and become the First-fruits of Ver. 20. them that fleep. He hath repaired, to all his spiritual Seed, the Damage that Adam brought upon his Descendants; yea, he is become to them the Ver. 21,-23. Author of a far nobler Life, than the Posterity of Adam lost by him.

Let us meditate with unutterable Joy on the Exaltation of our glori- Ver. 24,-26. fied Head, of our gracious Sovereign, who has conquered Death himself, and will make us Partakers of his Victory. He hath received from his Father, Glory, Honour and Dominion; and he shall reign till his Conquest be universal, and compleat, and till Death be not only stripped of its Trophies, but rendered subservient to his Triumphs; shall reign, till all his Purposes for his Father's Glory, and his own, be finally accomplished.

But oh, who can express the Joy and Glory of that Day! when Christ Ver. 27. shall give up the Kingdom to the Father, and present unto him all its faithful Subjects transformed into his own Image; a beautiful and splendid Church indeed, for ever to be the Object of the Divine Complacence, for ever to dwell in the Divine Presence, in a State of the greatest Nearness to God, who shall then be all in all. Well may the Expectation of Ver. 28. this illustrious Period chear the Christian under his greatest Extremities. and make him of all Men the most happy, when otherwise, on Account of his Sufferings in the Flesh, he might seem of all Men the most misera- . Ver. 29. ble. Well may this bis rejoicing in Christ Jesus, that sacred Oath, which this persecuted and distressed Apostle, with so sublime a Spirit, here uses, encourage him to go on, tho' he be daily dying; tho' he were daily Ver. 31.

Sect. 29. to encounter the most favage of Mankind, and Death itself in its most dreadful Forms. Well may this Knowledge of GOD, of his gracious Ver. 32,34. Purposes, and of his exalted Son, awaken us to Righteousness; well may it deliver us from the Bondage of Sin.

Let us retain these noble Principles of Doctrine, and Action, and guard against those evil Communications, those sceptical and licentious Notions, which would corrupt our Spirits, which would enervate every generous Spark which the Gospel kindles up into a Flame, and by bounding our Views within the narrow Circle of Mortal Life, would degrade us from the Anticipations of Angelical Felicity, to the Pursuits of brutal Gratification.

Ver. 33.

36

S E C T. XXX.

The Apostle answers Objections against the Resurrection, drawn from our not being able to conceive of the particular Manner in which it shall be effected; and concludes with urging it, as a noble Incentive to the greatest Steadiness and Zeal in Religion. I Cor. XV. 35, to the End.

I CORINTHIANS XV. 35.

Sect. 30.

Faith, and establish your Hope, in the great and glorious Doctrine of a Resurrection; but some one will perhaps be ready petulantly to object, and say, How are the Dead raised up, when their Bodies are quite dissolved, and the Particles, of which they consisted, scattered abroad, and perhaps become Parts of other Bodies; and if they are raised, with what [Kind of] Bodies do they come out of their Graves, and what Alteration is made in their Constitution, and Organization, to sit them for a future Life, in so many Respects different from this?

Thou thoughtless Creature, who perhaps pridest thyself in the Sagacity of this Objection, as if it were some mighty Effort of Penetration, how easily mightest thou find an Answer to it from what

I CORINTHIANS XV. 35.

BUT fome Man will fay, How are the Dead raifed up? And with what Body do they come?

36 Thou Fool, that

1 Cor. XV.

36.

which thou fowest is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou fowest, thou sowest not that Body that shall be, but bare Grain, it may chance of Wheat, or of some other 38 But God giveth it a Body as it hath pleased him, and to every Seed his own Body.

39 All Flesh is not the same Flesh: but there is one Kind of Flesh of Men, another Flesh of Beasts, another of Fishes, and another of Birds.

what passes every Day in the Works of Nature? Sect. 30. That Seed which thou sowest in thy Field, is not quickened to new Life and Verdure, except it appear to die (a): Before it springs up to the future Vegetable, whatever it be, it is macerated, decayed, and at Length confumed in the Earth. And [as for] that which thou sowest, theu sowest not the Body, which shall be produced from that Seed which is committed to the Ground, but bare Grain, perhaps of Wheat, or of any other Kind of [Grain,] in which there is no Appearance of Root, or of Stalk, of Blade, or of Ear. GOD, in the Course of his natural Operations, by certain Laws of Vegetation, with which thou art intirely unacquainted, gives it a Body as he pleases, and such a Variety of Parts, as he hath thought fit to determine for that particular Species, and to each of the Seeds its own proper Body (b): Not only a Body of the same Sort, but that which by Virtue of fome Connection it had with this or that individual Grain, may properly be called its own, tho' in its Form much different, and much more beautiful.

There is an immense Variety in the Works of God, even in those, which fall under the Inspection of our Senses, seeble and limited as they are, while we dwell in Flesh and Blood. All Flesh, you know, is not the same Kind of Flesh, but the Flesh of Men, and of Cattle (c), of Fishes and of Fowls, is different each from the other, in its

(a) Except it die.] To this it hath been objected, " that if the Seed die, it never bears Fruit." But it is certain, that the Seed in general does consume away in the Ground, tho' a little Germen, or Bud, which makes a Part of it, fprings up into new Life, and is fed by the Death and Corruption of the Rest. So that these wile Philosophers of our own talk just as foolishly as the Corintbian Freethinkers, whom they vindicate. See John

(b) Its own proper Body.] The Apolle feems more directly to speak of that, as its proper Body, which is peculiar to that Species of Grain; yet undoubtedly each Ear has a peculiar Reference to one Individual, as its proper Seed, in such a Manner, as another of the same Species has not; and what follows plainly fuits such a View.—God is said to give it this Body as he pleases, because we know not how it is produced; and the Apostle's leading Thought is, "that it is abfurd to argue against a Resurrection on a Principle, which is to " palpably false, as that must be, which supposes us to understand all the Process of the " Divine Works."

(c) Cattle.] So Alaren lignifies; but it seems to be put for Beasts in general. v. Vol. IV.

(d) And

There will be different Degrees of Glory at the Resurrection:

40.

394

Sect. 30. Form, Qualities, and Manner of being sublisted. [There are] also celestial Bodies, and terrestrial Bodies: but the Glory of the celestial, and the terrestrial, are apparently different, and the brightest Lustre the latter can have, is but a faint Reflection of what is received from the former. And even in the Glory of the celestial Bodies there is also a wonderful Variety:

There is one superior and incomparable Glory of the Sun, which often shines with a Lustre scarce to be endured; and another reflected and milder Glory of the Moon; and another Glory of the Stars, which, as they appear to us, are far inferior to either of the two great Luminaries. And again, [one] Star differeth from [another] Star in Glory (d), according to their respective Magnitudes, in Reference to which they are ranged by Astronomers under different Classes.

So [shall be] also the Resurrection of the pious Dead (e): Another Kind of Glory shall appear, than human Nature has known in its purest State, in any Beauty of Form, or Ornaments of Dress. There shall indeed, as I intimated but now be some Difference in the Degree of that Glory, correspondent to the different Excellencies in the Characters of good Men, on whom it is to pass: But all shall experience a most illustrious and hapby Change; so that it may be said concerning the Body of them all in general, it is fown, or committed, like Seed, to the Ground in Corruption, just ready to putrify, and thro' various Forms of Putrefaction to be reduced to the Dust: But it is raised in Incorruption, so that no Accident, or Diforder

10 There are also celestial Bodies, and Bodies terreftrial: But the Glory of the celestial is one, and the Glory of the terrestrial is another.

41 There is one Glory of the Sun, and another Gloof the Moon, and another Glory of the Stars; for one Star, differeth from another Star in Glory.

42 So also is the Resurrection of the Dead. It is fown in Corruption, it is raised in Incorruption:

(d) And one Star differeth, &c.] It is in the Original yap, that is, for; but I conclude that Particle is here used only as a Copulative; else we must suppose the Apostle to argue more philosophically, than he probably intended, and to affert that the Sun and Moon were Stats. He plainly speaks of the Lustre which these celestial Luminaries exhibit to us, not of what they have in themselves, without any Regard to their Aspects on us.

(e) The Resurrection of the pious Dead.] Of them it is evident the Apostle here speaks, and not of the Dead in general. Compare Verses 23, 43, 49 and 57, with 1 Thef. iv. 16, 17, and Verse 54. St. Paul, (Phil. iii. 2.) and our Lerd, (Matt. xxii. 30. Luke xx. 35.) mean the same Thing by the Resurrection.

Cor. XV.

43.

43 It is fown in Dishonour, it is raifed in Glory: It is sown in Weakness, it is raised in Power:

Disorder whatsoever shall be able to dissolve it a- Sect. 30. gain, or to threaten it in the least Degree. is fown in Diskonour in a poor contemptible State, and under a Kind of Infamy, put upon it by the Execution of God's first Sentence against Sin: But it is raised in Glory (f), every Part and Trace of the Curse being abolished, and itself being formed in such a Manner, as to make it appear that the King of Heaven delights to honour the happy Spirit, on which he bestows such a Dress. It it fown in weakness, absolutely incapable of any, even the lowest Degree of Action, or Senfation, and deprived of those limited Abilities which it possessed in this its mortal Life: But it is raised in Power, endowed with almost angelick Degrees of Strength, Vigour and Activity. It is fown an animal Body, formed to the Purposes of animal Life in this present World: But it is raised a spiritual Body, formed to a noble Superiority to the mean Gratifications of this imperfect State, and fitted to be the Instrument of the Soul, in the most exalted Services of the Spiritual and Divine Life. For it is certain, that as there is an animal Body, with which we are now by daily, and frequently, by unhappy Experience, acquainted; so there is also a spiritual Body: God can exalt and refine Matter to a Degree of Purity and Excellence to us unknown; and there are many Bodies now existing so pure and active, as that in Comparison they may be called Spirits. And so it is written with Respect to the former, (Gen. ii. 7.) that the first Man Adam, when God had breathed into his Nostrils the Breath of Life, was made a living Soul (g); so that even in the ori-

44 It is fown a natural Body, it is raised a spiritual Body. There is a natural Body, and there is a spiritual Body.

45 And so it is written, The first Man Adam was made a living Soul, the last Adam

(f) It is raised in Glory.] Some think this refers to the Garment of Light, which the Body shall put on at the Resurrection; on which Dr. Whithy has a remarkable Note here; (Compare Mat. xvii. 2. Acts ix. 3. Rev. i. 14, 15. Dan. xii. 3. Wifd. iii. 7. Mat. xiii. 43. and Mark ix. 3.) and which he thinks remarkably to illustrate the Matter ex adverso.

(g) Made a living Soul.] This is a Quotation from Moses; and there seems to be a peculiar Emphasis in the Original, which I know not how to preserve in the Translation, in the Reference of Juxu to Juxus, in the former Verse, as distinguished from avenual now; and refers to such a Difference between Juxu, the animal Soul, and avenue, the retional Spirit, D d d 2

Digitized by Google

Sect. 30. ginal State of Rectitude and Felicity, in which Adam was made a quick-Man was created, he was made capable of, and 1 Cor. XV. fitted to, an animal Life here upon Earth: 45. Whereas the Lord Jesus Christ, who by Virtue of the Influence he has upon all his Seed, as their spiritual Head, and great federal Representative, may well be called the second, or latter Adam, [is] for an enlivening Spirit (b) to those who are united to him, and will not only purify their Souls by them, but at last spiritualize their very Bodies. 46 Nevertheless the spiritual Adam [was] not first, but the animal, and afterward the spiritual; and as the first Adam existed before Christ was sent to become our Saviour, so must we first wear that animal Body, which we derive from the one, before we put on that spiritual Body, which we

the Operation of his Spirit communicated to

- 47 derive from the other. The first Man [was] from the Earth, and so earthy: He was created out of the Dust of the Earth, and his Body was only a Mass of animated Clay, in Reference to which it was faid, Dust thou art: (Gen. iii. 19.) the fecond Man, of whom we speak, [is] the Lord from Heaven: He came originally from the heavenly World, to which he is returned; and whatever of Earth there was in the Composition of the Body he condescended to wear, it is now compleatly purified and refined into the most glo-
- And fuch as the earthy [was,] 48 rious Form. [are] they also that are earthy: They all descended from him, and have no higher Original, are mean, mortal, corruptible Creatures; and fuch as the heavenly [was, are] they also that are beavenly: They who are, as it were, born of 46 Howbeit, that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.

47 The first Man is of the Earth, earthy: The second Man is the Lord from Heaven.

48 As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: And as is the heavenly, such are they also that are hea-as is more clearly expressed, (I Thes. v. 23.) and is also very agreeable to the Import of לפש היה, the Word which Moles uses.

(b) The fecond—an enlivening Spirit.] This is not a Quotation from Scripture, as some have thought, but what the Apostle adds on Occasion of the Quotation brought above; as if he had said, Christ is the last Adam, as an illustrious Antitype of the first; (Rom. v. 14.) and he hath in himself a Spirit, with which he quickeneth whom he pleases, and in what Degree he pleases, John i. 4. and Verse 21, 26. The Words living, and enlivening, have such a Correspondence to each other, as Corar, and Correspond. I therefore preserved the latter of them to quickening, tho' the Sense be intirely the same.

49 And as we have borne the Image of the earthy, we shall also bear the Image of the heavenly.

50 Now this I say, Brethren, that Flesh and Blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of GoD; neither doth Corruption inherit Incorruption.

51 Behold, I shew you a Mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

52 In a Moment, in the Twinkling of an Eye, at the last Trump (for the Trumpet shall sound) and Christ by the regenerating Influences of his Spi- Sect. 30. rit, and therefore are to live with him in Heaven, shall at last have such glorious Bodies, as he hath. And it is delightful beyond all Expression, to think of it with Self-application, that as we in particular bave borne, and do now bear, the Image of the earthy; as affuredly as we are now finful, afflicted and mortal Men, like the first Adam; so surely shall we also bear the Image of the beavenly; so surely shall we be brought to resemble Christ in Purity, Glory, and Immortality.

But when I spake of bearing the Image of the earthy Adam in Mortality, I would not be understood as afferting, that every one of the Descendents of Adam shall, in Fact, go thro' these Pangs of Death, and that Dissolution in the Grave, which Adam has experienced. This I fay, Brethren, I affirm it as a constant and important Truth, that Flesh and Blood, such weak and crazy Systems of it, as those in which we now lodge, cannot inherit the Kingdom of GOD, neither dath a Body impregnated with the Seeds of Corruption inherit Incorruption: It is utterly unfit for the pure etherial Regions of the Blessed, and indeed incapable of subsisting in them. is univerfally true; yet behold! I tell you a Mystery, that is, a Doctrine hitherto unknown, and which you cannot now be able fully to comprehend: For we Christians shall not all sleep, shall not all fubmit to the Stroke of Death, so that our Bodies should all lie mouldering in the Grave, which is their general Doom; but we shall all, the Living as well as the Dead, at the Appearance of Christ, to the final Judgment, be changed in a most glorious and happy Manner into the Image of our descending Lord. And this 52 Change, great and illustrious as it is, the Divine Power shall effect in less Time, than we have been speaking of it: For it shall pass in a Moment, in an imperceptible Point of Time, and even in the Twinkling of an Eye, just at the Instant, when the last Trumpet is blown by the Divine

I Cor. XV. 49.

52.

Sect. 30. vine Command, to awaken all the Millions of Saints, who are sleeping in the Dust: For the Trumpet shall then sound, the Voice of the Archangel, and attending celestial Legions, shall fill the whole Earth and Heaven with an altonishing Noise, and the Dead shall immediately, as upon its Summons, be raised incorruptible, and we, that is, those of us Christians who are living, shall be changed (i), as Enoch and Elijah were in the Day of their Translation: That Body, which but a Moment before appeared just as ours now do, shall quick as Thought, be transformed into an Image of that, worn by our triumphant Lord, and fitted for all the most active Services, and all the purest Sensations and Delights, of the ce-For in Order to that, as I have lestial State. just observed, it is necessary, that this Corruptible put on Incorruption, and that this Mortal put on Immortality, so as to be no longer subject to Dis-54 cases or Death. But when this glorious and long expected Event shall be accomplished, when this corruptible Part of our Frame shall have put on Incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on Immortality, then shall the Saying be brought to pass, which is written, (Ifai. xxv. 8.) Death is fwallowed up in Victory, and perfectly subdued and deftroyed, and so happy a State introduced, that it would not be known, that Death had ever had any Place or Power among Christ's Sub-55 jects at all; And in the affured View of this, may the Christian, even now, with the greatest Pleafure, take up his Song of Triumph; Where [is] > thy pointed and destructive Strug, Oh Death? Where [is] thy Victory, Oh Grave (k)? How little the Dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this Corruptible must put on Incorruption, and this Mortal must put on Immortality.

54 So when this Corruptible shall have put on Incorruption, and this Mortal shall have put on Immortality, then shall be brought to pass the Saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in Victory.

55 O Death, where is thy Sting? O Grave, where is thy Victory?

(i) We, that is, those of us Christians who are living, shall be changed.] As the Phrase will admit of the loofer Sense the Paraphrase gives, I cannot allow of the Argument, drawn from hence, to prove, either that the Apofile expected he should live till Christ appeared to Judgment, or that he should be raised from the Dead, and continue upon Earth sometime before that great Event happened: Tho' I confess the Argument, which Mr. Fleming draws from hence, in Favour of the last of these Opinions, is very plausible. Compare 1 These iv. 15.

:Hurt

(k) Where is thy Sting, &c.] The Original has a Kind of poetical Turn, which seems 56 The Sting of Death is Sin; and the Strength of Sin is the Law.

57 But Thanks be to God, which giveth us the Victory, through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Therefore, my beloved Brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the Work of the Lord, forafmuch as ye know that your Labour is not in. vain in the Lord.

Hurt canst thou do me? For how little awhile Sect. 30. shalt thou be able to triumph over me? very Sting and Torture of Death, that which arms it with its greatest Terrors, [is] the Consideration of its being the Punishment of Sin, and consequently its foreboding future Misery, as the Effect of the Divine Displeasure; and the Power of Sin, that which constitutes its Malignity and gives it these killing Weapons, [is,] that it is a Transgression of the Divine Law: Thanks [be] to GOD, who in his infinite Mercy hath taken away the Sting and Terror of Death, and giveth us the Prospects and the Joys of a complex Victory over it, by the Displays of his pardoning Grace, thro' our Lord Jesus Christ. May we ever remain under those grateful Impressions, that suit so important an Obligation!

Therefore, my beloved Brethren, be ye fixed on this as the great Foundation of your Souls, and inamoveable in you Regards to it, tho' strongly borne and presed upon, by a Variety of Temptstions and Dangers; be abounding always in the Work of the Lord, in every Service you are capable of performing, which may be acceptable to this your great and compassionate Redeemer; as well knowing, that your Labour in the Service of fuch's Lord is not, on the whole, in vain; but that, whatfoever you may at present suffer for his Sake, you shall receive a most glorious Reward, in that happy Day of the Resurrection, concerning which I have been speaking so largely.

In some Measure to suit the Sublimity of the Sentiment; for the first of the Clauses is an Lonick, and the focond, a Trochair's Verfe, Mu ou, Havaze, to unifou; the ou, adu, to vind; and Mr. Pepe has only transposed them to make them, as they stand in our Version, the Conclusion. of one of his Stanzas; Oh Grave, where is thy Victory? Oh Death, where is thy Sting? It is generally thought, that these Words are borrowed from Hos. xiii. 10, 14. which we sender "Oh Death, I will be thy Plague, Ge?" and some urge that MR has been read for by that I do not see there is any certain Evidence, that the Apostle intended any Quotation at alk

I Cor. XV. 56.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

Sect. 30.

Let T us learn from this incomparable Discourse of the Apostle, to curb that vain Curiosity, which is so ready in Matters of Divine Revelation, to break out into an unbecoming Petulance; and where we are sure, that God declares the Thing, let us leave it to him to overcome every Dissiculty, that may seem to attend the Manner, in which it shall be effected. Nothing may be more useful, in Order to the conquering such a Weakness, than to observe the Operations of God in the Works of Nature, where he gives to every Seed, whether animal or vegetable, Ver. 38. Such a Body as shall please him. Each is proper for its Sphere, and beautiful in its Connection and Order, tho' the Degree of their Glory he disversay, 40. ferent. And thus all the Diversity of Glory, which shall at last be apparent, among the Children of GOD, even the Children of the Resurrection, shall serve to illustrate the Divine Wisdom, and Goodness, and Faithfulness.

The Alterations made in every Instance, will indeed be wonderful,

Ver. 53. when this Mortal puts on Immortality, and this Corruptible puts on Incorruption. Let us for ever adore the Divine Goodness, that when, by our Ver. 47, &c. Relation to the first Adam, we were under a Sentence of Condemnation and Death, he was pleased in his infinite Mercy to appoint, that we should stand related to Christ, as the second Adam, in so happy a Bond, that by him we might recover what we had lost in the former; yea and

Ver. 49. far more: So that, as we have borne the Image of the Earthy, we might as furely bear the Image of the Heavenly. Oh let us earnestly aspire after this Blessedness; and remember, that our bearing the Image of his Holiness is inseparably connected with the Hope of so glorious a Privilege!

Let us endeavour therefore, by cultivating Holiness in all its Branches, to maintain this Hope in all its Spirit and Energy; longing for that glorious Day, when in the utmost Extent of the prophetick Expression,

Ver. 54. Death shall be swallowed up in Victory, and Millions of Voices, after the long Silence of the Grave, shall burst out at once into that triumphant

Ver. 55. Song, Oh Death, where is thy Sting? Oh Grave, where is thy Victory? And Ver. 56. when we see Death disarmed, and the Terrors of the Law silenced, let

Ver. 57. us bless God for Jesus Christ, by whom the Precepts of the Law were perfectly sulfilled, and its Penalty endured; that so we might not only be delivered from the Curse, but called to inherit the Blessing. Let it be considered, as an Engagement to universal Obedience; and in the Assurance,

Ver. 58. that whatever other Labours may be frustrated, those in the Lord shall never be vain, let Gratitude, and Interest, concur to render us stedsast, immoveable, and continually active in his Service.

SECT.

S E C T. XXXI.

The Apostle gives some Advices, relating to the proposed Collection for the poor Saints in Judea. I Cor. XVI. 1,---12.

I CORINTHIANS XVI. I.

Collection for the Saints, as I have given Order to the Churches of Galatia, even so do ye.

2 Upon the first Day of the Week, let every one of you lay by him in Store, as GOD hath prospered him, that there be no Gatherings when I come.

I CORINTHIANS XVI. I.

EFORE I conclude this Epistle, I must Sect. 31. add a Word or two concerning the Collection, which you propose making, for the poor Saints 1 Cor. XVI which are in Judea, who are in fuch great Straits, both on Account of the Famine, and the Persecution, to which they are exposed. And here I would only fay this; as I have given it in Charge to the Churches of Galatia, so also do ye proceed; for nothing occurs to my Thoughts at present, which can be more subservient to that generous When you hold your. 2 and good Design. Christian Assemblies on the first Day of the Week (a), in Commemoration of the Refurrection of our Lord, which has made that Day sacred amongst us, let every one of you lay something by, in Proportion to the Degree, in which, by the Divine Bleffing, be hath been prospered in his Affairs; and let him bring it with him to the Place, where you meet for your publick Worship; then treasuring it up (b) in the common Stock, that so it may be ready in one Sum, and there may be no Necessity of making any particular Collections, when I come. This will fave us some Trouble, at a Time when we shall necessarily have so much important Business on our Hands; and when a little

(a) On the first Day of the Week.] So καζα μιαν σαββαζων signifies. Compare Luke xxiv. 1. John xx. 1. with Matt. xxviii. 1. Mark xvi. 2.

Vol. IV.

Ecc

(c) I am

⁽b) Treasuring it up: εκαςος παρ' εαυθω τιθέλω δησαυριζων.] We render it, let every one of you lay by him in Store. But the following Words shew, that it was to be put into a common Stock. The Argument, drawn from hence for the religious Observation of the first Day of the Week in these primitive Churches of Corinth, and Galatia, is too obvious to need any farther Illustration, and yet too important to be passed by in an entire Silence.

Sect. 31. little is added to the Stock weekly, it may rife by almost imperceptible Degrees, to a greater Sum, than could perhaps be expected, if the whole were to be deposited at once. But when I am arrived at Corinth, whomsoever ye shall appoint and recommend by your Letters, signed by the Congregation, or its proper Representatives; them will I send, to earry your Favour to ferusalem, and shall chearfully intrust them to deliver it with their own Hands to the poor Christians there. And if it be thought convenient, that I should also go up thither myself on this Occasion, they shall go with me; that every Thing may be conducted in the most open and honourable Manner, and that your Messengers may witness for me, that none of the Money has been employed to any Purposes whatsoever, different from those for which it was given.

This, I hope, will quickly be difpatched; for

I will, if Providence permit, come to you, when I have passed thro' Macedonia; and I am just upon 6 my Journey thro' Macedonia (c); And then perbaps may continue awbile with you, and even spend the Winter among you; that so, when I have made you as long a Vifit as my Affairs will admit, you may bring me forward on my Journey to Jerusalem, or whithersoever else I shall go (d), or thro' whatever Parts I may pass to it; for that is a Circumstance, about which I am not yet determined, and in which I refer myself to the fu-I speak of my ture Direction of Providence. Coming as at some Distance; for the from these maritime Parts I might eafily come to you by Sea, and so travel northward, when I have dispatched my

3 And when I come, whomsoever you shall approve by your Letters, them will I send to bring your Liberality unto Jerusalem.

4 And if io be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.

5 Now I will come unto you, when I shall pass thro' Macedonia: (for I do pass through Macedonia)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, and winter with you, that ye may bring me on my Journey, whitherfoever I go.

7 For I will not see you

(c) I am just upon my Journey thro' Macedonia.] Thus, I think, we may justly render, Maredonia yap Irepxouan. Macedonia was not the direct Way from Ephesus to Corinth. It seems by his second Epistle to the Corinthians, written a few Months after this, that he was either in Macedonia, or on his Way thither; (Compare 2 Cor. i. 16.) from whence it appears, that he had a secret Purpose of seeing Corinth in his Way to, as well as from, Macedonia; but he does not express this Purpose here, so that we know not how it was signified to them, as from the Text last mentioned it seems that it was.

(d) Whithersoever else I go.] In the forecited Text Judea is mentioned; but St. Paul does not feem to have fixed his Scheme so particularly, as yet.

(e) I shall

now by the Way, but I trust to tarry a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.

9 For a great Door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many Adversaries.

10 Now if Timotheus come, see that he may be with you without Fear: For he worketh the Work of the Lord, as I also do.

my Business at Corinth; I will not now see you in Sect. 31. this Manner, in my Way; but hope the little Delay, which this Scheme may occasion, will be made up to your Satisfaction: For I fully purpose to fpend some Time with you, if the Lord permit; which the Necessities of the Churches of Macedonia will not at present give me Leave to do. But I shall continue here at Epbesus till about Pentecost (e), reserving the Remainder of the Summer for my Tour thro' Macedonia, and the neighbouring Parts. In the mean Time, tho' o I have spent so many Months here, I am willing to make my Stay as long, as with any tolerable Convenience I can; for a great and effectual Door of Usefulness is opened to me under my apostolical Character, in this populous and celebrated City, and [there are] many Opposers, who may perhaps take the Advantage of my Absence, to injure this new-planted Church, on which I have beftowed so much Labour, and for the Interest of which I have the tenderest Concern (f).

But if, in the mean Time, my beloved Friend 10 and Brother Timothy should come to you, fee that be be with you without Fear of any unkind Usage, or of any Attempt to fet him up as the Head of a Party; as in some Instances you have been ready to do by others; for as be is a Man of a very tender and affectionate, so he is likewise of a very candid and humble Spirit, and he laboureth in the Work of the Lord Jesus Christ with great Sincerity

(e) I shall continue at Ephesus till Pentecost.] I look upon this as a very plain Intimation, that he was now at Ephefus; and consequently, that the Inscription added at the End of this Epiftle, which tells us, it was written from Philipi, is very far from being authentick; and I hope it will be remembered, that no Credit is to be given to any of these Additions, which have been very prefumptuously made, and I think very imprudently retained.

(f) A great and effectual Door is opened, &c.] Some think, that here is an Allusion to the Door of the Circus, from whence Chariots were let out, when the Races were to begin; and that the Word and exemption, which I render Opposers, fignifies the same with Antagonists, with whom the Apostle was to contend, as in a Course. (Acts xix. 20, &c.) This Opposition rendered his Presence more necessary, to preserve those that were already converted, and to increase the Number, if God should bless his Ministry. Accordingly a celebrated Church was planted at Ephefus; and so far as we can learn from the Tenor of his Epifle to it, there was less to correct and reprove among them, than in most of the other Churches to which he wrote.

Eee 2

(g) 1 ex-

Digitized by GOOGIC

Sect. 31. cerity and Zeal; as I also [do]: And we are in all Respects so much in the same Sentiments, that I am well assured, the Things which would grieve me in your Conduct, would be equally disagreeable to him. And therefore, tho' he be yet but a young Man, (I Tim. iv. 12.) let no Man despise or make light of him; but on the contrary, bring him forward on his fourney in Peace, and do all that you can to make it commodious and agreeable to him; that so he may come to me at Ephesus, as soon as possible: For I expect him here with the other Brethren (g), who are now the Companions of his Journey, and who are all despise him: But conduct him forth in Peace, that he may come unto me: For I look for him with the Brethren.

dear to me in the Bonds of Christian Love. But as for [our] Brother Apollos, who is fo well known to you, and for whom many of you have so high a Regard, I am forry to tell you, that you are not at present to expect a Visit from him. I was indeed very importunate with him to come to you with Timothy, and the other Brethren; as I have an intire Confidence, both in his Friendship, and Prudence, and hoped, that whatever improper Use has been made of his Name in Opposition to mine, (Compare Chap. i. 12. Chap. iii. 4,-6.) his Presence among you might have been useful, just at this Crisis. Nevertheless he was by no Means willing to come now, lest any Advantage should be taken from that Circumstance to inflame those Divisions, he would gladly do his utmost to allay: But he will come, when be shall have a convenient Opportunity; and you may affure yourselves, that he retains a most cordial Affection for you, and tender Solicitude for your Peace and Prosperity.

12 As touching our Brother Apollos, I greatly defired him to come unto you, with the Brethren: But his Will was not at all to come at this Time; but he will come when he shall have convenient Time.

(g) I expect him here with the Brethren.] The original Words are something ambiguous; but I have taken the Sense, which seemed most natural. Accordingly I think it probable, that he came to Ephesus before St. Paul was driven out of it by the Tumult; and that the Apostle being obliged to leave that City in so abrupt a Manner, desired Timothy to stay awhile after him, to settle the Affairs of that important Church more compleatly, than he had an Opportunity of doing it. 1 Tim. i. 3.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

ET Ministers, from the Example of the Apostle, learn to be rea- Sect. 31. dy to promote charitable Collections for the Relief of poor Christians; and let them frequently exhort their Hearers to do Good, and to communicate; reminding them, that their Contributions ought to bear a Pro- Ver. 2. portion to the Degree, in which GOD has been pleased to prosper them. -We see an evident Reserence to the stated Assemblies of the Church on the first Day of the Week in this early Age; and it is a proper Duty of that Day to devise and execute liberal Things, according to our respective Abilities.

The Prudent Caution of St. Paul as to the Management of pecuniary Affairs, is worthy the Attention of the Ministers of the Gospel; Ver. 3, 4. and may teach them to take Care, not only that they fatisfy their own Consciences, in the Fidelity of their Transactions; but also, that they provide Things bonest in the Sight of all Men. The Apostle's Courage, in making the Opposition he met with at Ephesus a Reason for his Continuance there, may instruct us not to study our own Ease in the Choice Ver. 8. of our Abode; but rather to prefer those Circumstances, however disagreeable in themselves, wherein we may be providentially led to do most, for the Advancement of Religion in the World.

His Care, that his young Friend Timothy might be as easy as possible, Ver.10,11. constitutes likewise a very amiable Part of his Character; and suggests, in a Manner well worthy of Notice, how careful private Christians should be, that they do not terrify and distress the Minds of those, who are entering on the Ministerial Office. A faithful Disposition to labour in the Ver. 12. Work of the Lord, ought to command Respect; yet sometimes, as in the Instance of Apollos, even that Diligence may be so liable to Misrepresentation, that it may be the Wisdom of Ministers to absent themselves from Places, where they have many to carefs and admire them. On the whole, the great Business of Life is to glorify GOD, in doing our best for promoting the Happiness of Mankind, and no Self-denial ought to seem hard. to us, while we keep that glorious End in View.

SECT.

S E C T. XXXII.

The Apostle concludes with some particular Salutations, and Directions, with general Exhortations to Courage and Love, a solemn Benediction to true Christians, and awful Denunciation against those that were destitute of Love to Christ. I Cor. XVI. 13, to the End.

I CORINTHIANS XVI. 13.

Sect. 32.

I O W, my Brethren, to conclude all, suffection. XVI.

fer a Word of the most affectionate Exhortation. Remember the Situation in which you are, and with how many formidable Enemies you are surrounded, and be watchful against all their Assaults; stand fast in the Profession of the Christian Faith; acquit yourselves, not like Children, but as Men of Knowledge and Fortitude; and be strong (a) in a Dependence on the best Supports, while you make that your constant Care.

And that you may not mistake this Exhortation, as breathing any Thing of a contentious Spirit, or fitted only for Persons in military Life, I would subjoin this necessary Caution; let all your Assairs be transacted in mutual Love, and under the Insluence of that noble Principle of unseigned Benevolence, which I have been so largely describing, and recommending, in the former Part of this Epistle. (See Chap. xiii.)

And I farther beseech you, my Brethren, that, for as much as ye know the Household of Stephanas, that it is the First-fruits of Achaia, he, and they, being among the first that were converted to Christianity in all your Country, ye pay a proper Regard

I Corinthians XVI. 13.

ATCH ye, stand fast in the Faith, quit you like Men, be strong.

14 Let all your Things be done with Charity.

15 I beseech you, Brethren (ye know the House of Stephanas, that it is the First-fruits of Achaia, and

(a) Stand fast—acquit yourselves like Men, be strong.] There is no Need of seeking a different Sense of each Word. If there be any Difference, and ρίζεως may refer to a Strength of Resolution; κραταιώνε, to that chearful and couragious Expectation of a happy Event, which the Consciousness of so good a Cause would naturally administer.

(b) They that they have addicted themselves to the Ministry of the Saints)

16 That ye submit yourfelves unto fuch, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth.

17 I am glad of the coming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: For that which was lacking on your Part, they have supplied.

18 For they have refreshed my Spirit and yours: Therefore acknowledge ye them that are fuch:

Regard to them; and so much the rather, as they Sect. 32. bave set themselves with peculiar Resolution and Care, according to the Rank in which Provi- 1 Cor. XVI. dence has placed them, and the Abilities which God hath given them, to the Labour and Charge of ministring to the Saints (b). Now I would by all Means inculcate it upon you, that you should, in your respective Ranks and Circumstances of Life, subject yourselves to such, and not only pay them all due personal Regard, but act as you have Opportunity in Harmony with them; and that under their Influence you should do your utmost for the Good of your Christian Brethren. And thus I would have you behave to every Associate in that good Work and Labour, in which they are engaged; especially to those, who are honoured with the Ministerial Office.

I could not but rejoice greatly at the Arrival and Presence of that worthy Person, I have just mentioned, that is, Stephanas, and of Fortunatus (c), and Achaicus, who accompanied him; because they filled up your Desiciency with Respect to me, and gave me by their Converse and friendly Offices, that Confolation, which I might justly have expected from you all, had I enjoyed an Opportunity of converfing with you, and about which I could, for your own Sakes, wish that fome of you had been more folicitous. they refreshed my Spirit greatly by their obliging Behaviour, and edifying Conversation; as I doubt not but they have often refreshed yours by their Ministrations among you. Therefore I must again urge it upon you, that you pay all proper Regards to fuch, and treat them on every Occasion, with fuch Respect and Affection, as so worthy a Character well deserves.

I must

(b) They have fet themselves, &c.] This seems to imply, that it was the generous Care of the whole Family to affift their Fellow-Christians; so that there was not a Member of it, which did not do its Part.

(c) Fortunatus.] This worthy Man furvived St. Paul 2 considerable Time; for it appears from the Epiftle of Clement to the Corinthians, (§. 59.) that he was the Messenger of the Church at Corinth to that of Rome, by whom Clement sent back that invaluable Epistle. (d) Aquila

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 32. I Cor. XVI. 19.

I must now tell you, that the Churches of the provincial Asia, which lie about Ephesus, and with whom I have frequent Opportunities of corresponding, falute you with all Christian Affection; heartily wishing your Peace and Prosperity. Your good Friends, Aquila and Priscilla (d), who have made so long an Abode among you, and are now providentially brought hither, most affectionately salute you in the Bowels of our common Lord. And with these Tokens of Respect receive those of the Church in their House, as you know their Family is happy in a large Number of Christian Members. But I will not enter into a more particular Detail of Names; for your Society is so celebrated, and esteemed of fo great Importance to the Christian Interest, that I may truly fay, that all the Brethren falute you. Entertain therefore that Affection for each other, which those that are almost Strangers bear to you, and falute one another with an holy Kis; but let it be as cordially fincere, as I doubt not but it will be decent.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you. Aquila and Priscilla salute you much in the Lord, with the Church that is in their House.

20 All the Brethren greet you. Greet ye one another with an holy Kiss.

21 The Salutation of me Paul with mine own Hand.

22 If any Man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema, Maranatha.

I have hitherto used the Assistance of a Friend, 2 I to write what I dictated to him; but in Order to affure you, that this Epistle is genuine, I here add the Salutation of [me] Paul, your well known Minister, and Father in the Gospel, with my own Hand; most cordially wishing you every Blessing, both temporal and spiritual. And let me here add, (that being thus written with my own Pen, it may have the greater Weight;) If there be any Man amongst you, or elsewhere, who under the specious Forms of Christianity, loveth not the Lord Jesus Christ in Sincerity; but maintains a secret Alienation of Heart from him while he calls himself his Servant, preferring any Interest of his own to that of his Divine Master; let him be Anathema

(d) Aquila and Priscilla.] They had formerly made some Abode at Corinth; and there St. Paul's Acquaintance with them commenced. Alls xviii. 1, 2. It is therefore no Wonder, they were particular in their Salutations.—'Some Copies add, map' ois (with author) of It is a superior of the superior swhom also I lodge; but the Authority of those Manuscripts is small.

(e) Anathema

Anathema Maran-atha (e): Such an one is indeed Sect. 32. worthy of the most dreadful Curse, and if he persist in such a wretched Temper, it will certainly fall upon him. And let him be assured, that the his Crime be of such a Nature, as not to admit human Conviction and Censure; yet it is known to him, whose Eyes are as a Flame of Fire, so that he searches the Hearts and trieth the Reins. And e'er long the Lord himself will come in awful Pomp, to execute Vengeance upon him, pronouncing him accursed before the assembled World, and devoting him to utter and everlasting Destruction.

23 The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

But it is my hearty Prayer, that no such Root of Bitterness and Heir of Misery may be found among you; and that it may not, may the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ [be] with you, and all the blessed Tokens and Effects of his Favour rest upon you, for Time and Eternity.

24 My Love be with you all in Christ Jesus. Amen.

Be affured, that in what I have here faid, I 24 intend nothing in the least unkind to any fingle Person among you. Far from that, my tenderest and most affectionate Love [be] with you all in Christ

(e) Anathema-Maran-atha.] Among the various Interpretations of these Words, none feems to me so probable and satisfactory as this-when the Jews lost the Power of Life and Death, they used nevertheless to pronounce an Anathema, on Persons, who, according to the Mosaick Law, should have been executed; and such a Person became an Anathema, or Cherem, or accurfed; for the Expressions are equivalent. They had a full Persuasion, that the Curle would not be in vain; and indeed it appears, they expected some Judgment, correspondent to that which the Law pronounced, would befal the Offender; for Instance, that a Man to be stoned, would be killed by the Falling of a Stone, or other heavy Body upon him; a Man to be strangled, would be choaked; or one, whom the Law sentenced to the Flames, would be burnt in his House, and the like. Now to express their Faith, that God would one Way or another, and probably in some remarkable Manner interpose, to add that Efficacy to his own Sentence, which they could not give it; it is very probable they might use the Words, Maran-atha, that is, in Syriack, the Lord cometh, or he will furely and quickly come to put this Sentence in Execution, and to shew, that the Person on whom it falls, is indeed Anathema, accursed. In beautiful Allusion to this, when the Apostle was speaking of a secret Alienation from Christ, maintained under the Forms of Christianity, (which might perhaps be the Case among many of the Corinthians, and much more probably may be so among us,) as this was not a Crime capable of being convicted and cenfured in the Christian Church, he reminds them, that the Lord Jesus Christ will come at Length, and find it out, and punish it in a proper Manner. This weighty Sentence, the Apostle chose to write with his own Hand, and insert between his general Salutation, and Benediction, that it might be the more attentively regarded. Compare Grot. on Rom. v. 13. and Ifai. xiv. 20. Bishop Patrick on Deut. xxvii. 15.

Vol. IV.

Fff

(f) My

Sect. 32. Christ Jesus (f): Depend therefore upon my confrant Readiness to do all in my Power, for promoting and establishing the Christian Interest among you: And may it flourish more and more, till your Happiness be compleated in the Kingdom of God above. Amen.

IMPROVEMENT.

Ver. 13. I OWEVER the particular Trials of Christians may vary in different Ages, the same Works in general demand their Diligence; the same Enemies, their Watchfulnes; the same Difficulties, their Courage and Fortitude: Nor will they ever be more likely to perform, to resist, and to endure well, than when Charity reigns in their Hearts, and presides over the whole of their Behaviour.

Ver. 15, 16. We owe our humble Thanks to the Author of all Good, when he raises up the Spirits of his Servants to any distinguished Activity and Zeal in his Cause. Christians of standing superior to their Brethren, ought to emulate such a Character; and when they do so with genuine Marks of becoming Modesty and upright Views, let all proper Respect be paid to them: Especially to those, who are honoured with, and labour faithfully in, the Ministerial Office. To such let others submit themselves in Love; not indeed, as to the Lords of their Faith, which even the Appostles pretended not be; but as Friends, whom they esteem and reverence, ever tenderly solicitous to secure their Comfort, and encrease their Usefulness.

We see, how much the Apostle was concerned to promote mutual Ver.19, 20. Friendship amongst the Disciples of our blessed Redeemer: How kindly he delivers the Salutations of one, and another. It becomes us to remember each other with cordial Regard; and in Imitation of this wise Example, to do all we can to cultivate a good Understanding among our Christian Brethren; and to abhor that Disposition to sow Discord, which has been so satally successful in producing Envyings, and Strife, and every evil Work.

Ver. 22. awful Sentence, this Anathema—Maran-atha, which to give it the great-Ver. 21. er Weight, the Aposlle records with his own Hand. Let it ever be remembered,

(f) My Love [be] with you all in Christ Jesus.] When we consider, what an Alienation of Affection some of these Corinthians had expressed, with Respect to the Aposle, this Expression of tender Regard to them all without any Exception, is so much the more affectionate; but it would not have been agreeable to the generous Spirit which dictated it, to have glanced too plainly on that Circumstance in the Paraphrase.

membered, that professing Christians, who do not sincerely love their Sect. 32. Master, lie under the heaviest Curse, which an Apostle can pronounce, or a God inflict. Let the unhappy Creatures take the Alarm, and labour to obtain a more ingenuous Temper, e'er the Lord, whom they neglect, and against whom they entertain a secret Enmity, descend from Heaven with insupportable Terror, and pronounce the Anathema with his own Lips, in Circumstances, which shall for ever cut of all Hope, and all Possibility, of its being reversed. If his solemn Voice pronounce, his Almighty Hand will immediately execute it. How will they be cast down to Destruction, as in a Moment! How will they be utterly consumed with Terrors! To prevent so dreadful an End of our high Profession, of our towering Hopes, may the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with us. Ver. 23. Amen.

The END of the Family Expositor on the First Epistle to the CORINTHIANS.

Fff2

The

The Family Expositor:

OR, A

PARAPHRASE

ON THE

SECOND EPISTLE

O F

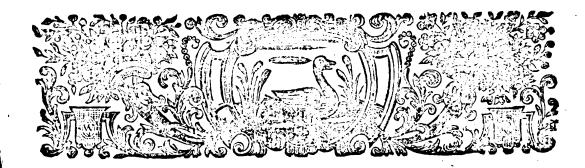

P A U L the A P O S T L E

TO THE

CORINTHIANS,

WITH

Critical Notes and a practical IMPROVEMENT of each Section.

A

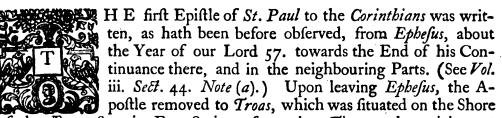

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

TO THE

PARAPHRASE and NOTES

On the SECOND EPISTLE to the

CORINTHIANS

of the Ægean Sea, in Expectation of meeting Titus, and receiving an Account of the Success, with which he hoped his former Epistle had been attended, and of the present State of the Corinthian Church. (2 Cor. ii. 12.) But not meeting him there, (Ver. 13.) he proceeded to Macedonia; where he obtained his desired Interview, and received Satisfaction concerning the promising State of Affairs at Corinth. From this Place the Apostle wrote his Second Epistle to the Corinthians, intrusting it to the Care

Care of Titus, who was returning to Corintb to forward the Collection intended for the Poor Christians in Judea. From these historical Circumstances, the Date of this Second Epistle must be fixed within a Year after the former. See Vol. iii. Sect. 45. Note (b).

In the Introduction to the First Epistle we observed, that its Design was, to rectify some sad Disorders and Abuses which had crept into the Church of Corinth; and answer their Queries upon some important Points, in which they had desired his Determination. The Intention of the present Epistle, is in general, to illustrate some of the same Points upon which he had discoursed in the former, according to the Light which Titus had given him into the Circumstances and Temper of the Corintbian Church; interspersing and inforcing some occasional Resections and Advices upon various Subjects, as he thought most conducive to their Instruction and Edification.

But to give a more distinct View of the Scheme and Contents of this Second Epistle ——The Apostle, after a general Salutation, expresses his grateful Sense of the Divine Goodness, in preserving him from the Dangers to which he had been exposed in Asia; professing his unshaken Confidence in God's continued Guardianship, supported by a Sense of his own Integrity. (Chap. i. 1,—12.) Which Declaration of his Integrity he further illustrates; applying it particularly to those Views, on which he had declined the Visit to Corinth, which in the former Epistle he seems to have promised. (Ver. 13, to the End.) The Case of the unhappy Person, who had committed Incest with his Father's Wife, and whom, upon Account of the Scandal he had brought on his Christian Profession, the Apostle directed them to exclude from Communion, had made a deep Impression on his Mind: This, he intimates, was the Reason of his having deferred his Visit to Corinth; that he might not meet them with Grief, nor till he had received Advice of the Effect of his Apostolical Admonitions, and their falutary and feafonable Discipline. The Affection of the Apolite to the Corinthians is here manifested, both in his Sympathy with the offending Member of their Church while under Censure. whom now, being penitent, he advises them to readmit to their Communion; and also in his Solicitude for certain Tidings concerning their Welfare by Titus, whom not finding at Troas, (as before observed,) he went to meet in Macedonia. (Chap. ii. 1,—13.)

In further Vindication and Support of his Apostolical Character against the Insinuations and Objections of the false Teachers at Corinth, the Apostole, having just intimated that a large Door of Success had been opened to him at Troas and elsewhere, makes a Transition to this Subject; and expresses in the most affectionate Terms his Thanksgiving to God for having intrusted him with the Ministry of the Gospel, and for the Success attending his Services; declaring his lively Confidence in all Events, of the Divine Acceptance, and speaking of the Corinthians, as his Credentials written by the Finger of God. (Ver. 14, to the End. (Chap. iii. 1,—6.) And as an Illustration of the Dignity of the Ministerial Office, he descants in a very pertinent and judicious Manner, on the comparative Obscurity of the Mosaic Law, and the superior Glory and Permanence of the Gospel. (Ver. 7, to the End.) He then disclaims all finister Views, and Distrust of Success, in pursuing the glorious Ministry he had described, from a firm Persuasion that such a Gospel could not be rejected, but in Consequence of the most fatal Prejudices. (Chap. iv. 1,—6.) And while he acknowledges his own Infirmities, he glories in the Strength communicated to him from God, as an effectual Support under the extreamest Trials: (Ver. 7,-15.) Describing the glorious Hopes which he entertained beyond the Grave, as a Ground of Triumph in the Face of Danger, and a noble Incentive to persevering Fidelity and Stedfastness. (Ver. 16, to the End. Chap. v. 1,—10.) Touching again upon the Ardor with which he profecuted the Gospel-ministry, he makes a kind of Apology for it, pleading the irrefiftible Constraints of the Redeemer's Love, and the infinite Importance of the Overtures of Reconciliation; which in a most pathetick Address he urges the Corinthians to embrace: (Ver. 11, to the End. Chap. vi. 1, 2.) And then expatiates with great Copiousness on the Temper, with which, in the Midst of Afflictions and Persecutions, he and his Brethren executed their important Embassy. (Ver. 3,—10.)

cess

It is easy to observe on the most cursory View of this Argument, with what Delicacy, as well as Energy, it is all along conducted. As the Apostle manages his Subject in the tenderest and most affectionate Manner, and intermingles general Reslections for the Instruction and Consolation of the Corinthians; which however had an evident Subservience to his main Design; he conciliates their Regard, and fixes the Impressions which his former Epistle had made, in a more infinuating and therefore more effectual Way, than if he had exerted his Authority, and wrote with more Closeness and Severity of Stile. And having been informed by Titus, that the Desence of his Mission, and Apology for his Conduct, contained in his former Epistle, had not been utterly in vain, he manifests his Satisfaction in the present Disposition of the Corinthians, by giving his Reasonings upon this Head a more diffusive and practical Turn.

After this, the Epistle affords us a further Instance of his Affection, in his judicious and pathetick Exhortation to the Corinthians, (additional to what he had formerly said, when they desired his Opinion upon the Head of Marriage,) to avoid those Alliances or Intermarriages with Idolaters, which might tend to inspare them; pleading the gracious Pro-Vol. IV.

Ggg

mises of God to his People, as an Engagement to the strictest Purity, and as a Motive to aspire after the sublimest Attainments in Religion. (Ver. 11, to the End. Chap. vii. 1.)

From this Digression he returns to the Subject he had before been treating; and to remove any Degree of Prejudice, which might yet lurk in their Breasts against his Apostolical Character, he appeals to them for the Integrity and Disinterestedness of his Conduct; professing that the Freedom he uses, was not intended to reproach their Dissidence, but sprung from an unseigned and ardent Concern for their Welfare; which he illustrates by the Pleasure, with which he received the Assurances of their good State by Titus, and the Part he had taken in their Sorrows, which his necessary Reproofs had occasioned, and by his present Joy, in that those Sorrows had happily issued in their Reformation. (Ver. 2, to the End.)

The Apostle had proposed to the Corinthians in the Close of the former Epistle, their making a Contribution for the Relief of the poor Saints in Judea: Resuming the Subject, he recommends to them the Example of the Macedonians, reminds them of the Grace of our blessed Redeemer, and gives some Advices as to the Manner of collecting and transmitting their Bounty: (Chap. viii. 1,—13.) Expressing his Joy for the Readiness of Titus to assist in finishing the Collection, and making an honourable Mention of the worthy Character of other Christian Brethren, whom he had joined with him in the same Commission. (Ver. 16, to the End.) He then with admirable Address further urges their liberal Contribution, and in a full Assurance of its Success recommends them to the Divine Blessing. (Chap. ix. throughout.)

Having expressed in the former Part of the Epistle, and on Occasion of this Contribution, his Confidence in the abundant Grace which had been bestowed on the Corinthians, the Apostle takes an Opportunity of stating and obviating some Resections, which some among them had thrown upon him for the Mildness of his Conduct, as if it proceeded from Fear. He therefore afferts his Apostolical Power and Authority; cautioning his Opponents that they should not urge him to give too fenfible Demonstrations of it upon themselves: (Chap. x. throughout.) And further vindicates himself from the perverse Infinuations of such as opposed him at Corintb; particularly, on the Head of his having declined to receive a Contribution from the Church for his Maintenance; which though greatly to his Honour, was by his Oppofers ungenerously turned to his Disadvantage. (Chap. xi. 1,—15.) To magnify his Office as an Apostle, he commemorates his Labours and Sufferings in the Cause of Christ; yet in fuch a Manner, as plainly shews, it was disagreeable, however necessary it might be, to dwell on a Subject that appeared like sounding his own Applause: (Ver. 16, to the End.) And with great Clearness and Plainness, yet at the same Time with equal Reluctance and Modesty, he gives a Detail of some extraordinary Revelations, which he had received from God, and of his Experience of those Divine Aids, which taught him to glory in his own Infirmities: (Chap. xii. 1,—10.) And upon the whole, vindicates the undisguised Openness and Sincerity of his Conduct, and his visible Superiority to secular Considerations, in all his Carriage towards the Church at Corinth: (Ver. 11, to the End.) Closing his Epistle with the tenderest Assurances, how much it would grieve him to be obliged to evince his Apostolical Power, by inslicting any miraculous Punishment on those, who continued to oppose him; and then subjoining the most respectful Salutations, and his solemn Benediction. (Chap. xii. throughout.)

0WD

It is evident from this View of the Epistle, that a very large Part of it is imployed in reclaiming the Corintbian Church from their undue Attachment to Judaizing Teachers, and from that Party-Spirit into which they had fallen, and in rekindling proper Regards to the unadulterated Doctrine of the Gospel, and to his own Apostolical Councels, who had been their spiritual Father in Christ. That this leading Design of the Apostle is occasionally interrupted by the Introduction of other Matters, and parcularly the Subject of the Contribution for the poor Saints in Judea, will be no Objection, I apprehend, if narrowly examined, to the Accuracy and Beauty of this excellent Composition; for the Transitions which St. Paul makes, arise from some obvious and important Sentiments, which render them natural and just. And there is an admirable Wisdom in such Digressions, as they relieve the Minds of the Corintbians from that painful Uneafiness, which they must have felt from a constant Attention to so dis greeable a Subject; I mean, their unsuitable Conduct towards the Apostle himself. It is with the same Kind of Propriety and Sagacity, that the severe Intimations, which the Dignity of the Apostolick Character obliged St. Paul to drop against those, who might persevere in their Opposition, are reserved to the Close of the Epistle; as they would fall with additional Weight, in all Probability, after their Minds had been softened with the reiterated Expressions of his tender Affection to the Corinthians in general, and the Innocence and Amiableness of his Character had been represented in such a Variety of Views.

A PA-

PARAPHRASE

AND

NOTES

ON THE

SECOND EPISTLE

TO THE CORINTHIANS.

SECT. I.

The Apostle Paul, after a general Salutation, expresses his grateful Sense of the Divine Goodness, in preserving him from the Dangers to which he had been exposed in Asia; prosessing his unshaken Considence in GOD's continued Guardianship supported by the Consciousness of his Integrity before him. 2 Cor. I. 1,---12.

2 Corinthians I. i.

2 CORINTHIANS I. 1.

PAUL an Apostle of Jesus Christ by the Will of Jesus Christ, by the sovereign Will of GOD; who hath shewn by the Victory of his Grace over me, how able he is to bend the most obdurate and reluctant Will to his own Purposes, and triumph

2 Cor. I. 1.

Sect. 1. triumph over the Opposition of the most obstinate Heart. And Timothy (a), a beloved Brother in Christ Jesus, joins with me in this second Address to the Church of GOD, that is in Corinth; whom he hath mercifully called out from the World, and united to himself. A Society, for which I have always the tenderest Regard; the respective Members of which I now most cordially falute; with all, who, by their Christian Profession, are numbered among the Saints, that are in the whole Region of Achaia. I greet you, as I do all my Brethren in fuch Addresses: Saying from my Heart, may Grace and Peace [be] in rich Abundance communicated to you all, from GOD our Father, the compassionate Source of universal Goodness, and from the Lord Jesus Christ; thro' whom alone such invaluable Blesfings can be conveyed to fuch finful Creatures as While I fit down to write to you, we are. my dear Brethren, in the Midst of Circumstances, which the World might think very deplorable, (Compare 1 Cor. iv. 9, &c.) I cannot forbear bursting out into the Language of Joy and Praise (b), for such a Variety of Divine Favours, as is conferred on myself and you. Bleffed, for ever blessed, by the united Songs of Men and Angels, [be] the great GOD and Father of our beloved Lord and gracious Saviour Jesus Christ, of Gon, and Timothy our Brother, unto the Church of God, which is at Corinth, with all the Saints which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be to you, and Peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Je. fus Christ.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Je-

(a) Timothy, w beloved Brother.] This shews, that Timothy was returned to St. Paul, fince he wrote the last Epistle; and his joining the Name of Timothy with his own, is an Instance of the generous Desire, which St. Paul had, to establish, as much as possible, the Reputation and Influence of this excellent young Minister. Some have thought this is the Reason, why the Apostle so often speaks in the plural Number in this Epistle; but it is certain, he often speaks in the fingular, and that there are Passages here, as well as in the Epistle to the The falonians, in which he uses the plural, without intending to include Timothy. See Chap. iii. 1,-3. Chap. vii. 5. Chap. xii. 19. 2 Thef. ii. 1,-9. He also joins the Name of Softhenes with his own, in the former Epifle, as also the Name of Timothy to the Epiftle to the Philippians, and Coloffians; yet does not use the plural there.

(b) Cannot forbear bursting out, &c.] It is very observable, that eleven of St. Paul's thirteen Epiftles begin with Exclamations of Joy, Praise and Thanksgiving. As soon as he thought of a Christian Church, planted in one Place or another, there seems to have been a Flow of most lively Affection accompanying the Idea, in which all Sensibility of his temporal Afflictions, or theirs, were all swallowed up, and the Fulness of his Hear: must vent itself in such chearful, exalted and devout Language.

(c) Comforteth

fus Christ, the Father of Mercies, and the God of all Comfort;

4 Who comforteth us in all our Tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any Trouble, by the Comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of Gon.

5 For as the Sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our Consolation also aboundeth by Christ.

> 6 And whether we be afflicted, thro' whom we have this free Access to him, this Sect. 1. fecure Interest in him: so that we can now, with unutterable Delight, view him as the Father of 2 Cor. I. 3. Mercies, from whose paternal Compassion all our Comforts and Hopes are derived; and as the GOD of all Confolation, whose Nature it is ever to have Mercy, and who knows how to proportion his Supports to the Exigence of every Trial.

For ever adored be this benevolent and compassionate Being, who comforteth us in all our presfing Tribulation (c), by such seasonable Appearances in our Favour. And this, I know, is not merely for our own Sakes, but that we, taught by our own Experience, may be able, in the most tender, suitable and effectual Manner, to comfort: those, who are in any Tribulation by the Communication of that Comfort, whereby we ourselves are comforted of GOD (d); and methinks every Support I feel, is much endeared to me, by the Confideration, that the Benefit of it may be reflected Because as the Sufferings we enupon others. dure in the Cause of Christ, and in Conformity to his Example, abound with Respect to us, so our Confolation by Christ, the Comforts which arise from God in him, does abound much more, and quite over-balance the Distress.

And much of this Satisfaction to us arises from the Hope we have with Relation to you, my dear Friends, and Christian Brethren; for whether

(c) Comforteth us.] It is certain, that the Mention of these Experiences must have a powerful Tendency to conciliate the Regard of the Corinthians to St. Paul; and such an Introduction to his Epifile, as the whole of this is, must naturally prejudice them strongly in his Favour; yet this does not seem to have been by any Means his Aim, nor is there any Appearance of Art in it; but all is the genuine Overstowing of an Heart, which rejoiced in the Consolations of the Gospel selt by itself, and communicated to others. See Verse 12. which. is much illustrated by this Connection.

(d) Comforted of GOD.] Some think this refers particularly to the Comfort, which the Repentance of the incestuous Person gave St. Paul, after the Affliction he had endured on his Account; (Compare Chap. vii. 7.) but it seems more natural, to understand it of the general Consolation, arising from the Pardon of Sin, an Interest in God, an Assurance that nothing should separate him from Christ, that Afflictions should co-operate for his Advantage; and that a Crown of Glory, heigthened by these Trials, should close the Scene. One these. Topicks he frequently infifts in his Epistles, and none can be more important and alelightful.

(s) Our:

ther we be afflicted, [it is,] we doubt not, in Sub-I servience to the Views of your present Consolation, and your future and eternal Salvation; which is fo much the more effectually wrought out, by the patient Enduring of the same Sufferings, which we also undergo, and which by our Example you are taught the less to wonder at, and to bear with the greater Fortitude: Or whether we be comforted, [it is] still with the same View, for your Consolation and Salvation; that your eternal Happiness may be promoted by those Comforts, which we are enabled to communicate to you with the And our Hope concerning 7 greater Efficacy. you, that this will be the happy End of all, [is] stedfast and chearful (e): Knowing, that as ye are Partakers of the Sufferings to which we refer, so you also have already, in some Degree, your Share of the Consolation, which arises from Principles and Hopes, which are not peculiar to us, who are Apostles, or inferior Ministers of the Gospel, but common to all fincere Believers; in which Number I persuade myself that you in the general are.

We write thus concerning the Trials of the Christian Life, having so lately experienced them in a large Measure: For we would not have you, our dear Brethren, ignorant concerning our Affliction, which within these few Months befel us in Asia (f), and particularly at Ephesus; that we flicted, it is for your Confolation and Salvation, which is effectual in the enduring of the same Sufferings which we also suffer: Or whether we be comforted, it is for your Consolation and Salvation

7 And our Hope of you is stedfast, knowing that as you are Partakers of the Sufferings, so shall ye be also of the Consolation.

8 For we would not, Brethren, have you ignorant of our Trouble which came to us in Asia, that we were pressed

(e) Our Hope concerning you is fledfast.] These Words, in several good Manuscripts, are put in Connection with the first Clause of the 6th Verse; and so the Version will run thus, Whether we be afflicted, it is in Subscriptione to your Consolation and Salvation, which is effectually wrought out by the patient Enduring of the same Sufferings, which we also undergo; and our Hope concerning you is sledfast: Or, whether we be comforted, it is for your Consolation and Salvation; knowing that as ye are Particlers of the Sufferings, so also of the Consolation. And the Repetition of the Words Consolation and Salvation, shows how agreeable the Thought was to him; so that he loved to speak of it again and again.

were

(f) The Afflictions which befel w in Asia.] Mr. Cradock thinks, that he here begins to appllogize for not coming to Corinth, and introduces these Troubles as an Excuse for not seeing them. I think it is rather to be connected with the preceding Discourse. Yet still it might incline them to drop their Complaints, and judge more favourably of him, when they considered in what painful and dangerous Circumstances he had, on the present Openings of Duty, been spending that Time, in which they had been expecting him at Corinth. As for the Afsictions here spoken of, some have thought, that this may refer to the Persecutions at Lystra.

Sect. 1.

2 Cor. I. 8.

pressed out of Measure, above Strength, infomuch that we despaired even of 9 But we had the Sentence of Death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves, but in God which raiseth the Dead.

10 Who delivered us from so great a Death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver were exceedingly pressed with it, even beyond our Power; so that we despaired of being able even to live any longer, and were looked upon by others as dead Men. And not only did others apprehend this concerning us, but we ourselves did in. deed think, that the appointed End of our Ministry and Life was come; and had, as it were, received the Sentence of Death in ourselves, the Execution of which we were continually expecting; but the Event shewed, that it was wisely appointed by Divine Providence to make our Deliverance the more remarkable; and that we might learn for the future, not to trust in ourselves, nor merely to regard human Probabilities; but in the greatest Extremities to repose a chearful Confidence in the Power and Providence of that GOD, who raiseth the Dead, at his holy Pleasure, by his omnipotent Word: Who rescued us, on 10 this ever memorable Occasion, from so great a Death as then threatned us, and doth rescue us from every Danger which now furrounds us, and in whom we trust, that he will make our deliverance compleat, and still rescue us from every Evil, and preserve us to his heavenly Kingdom.

II You also helped together by Prayer for us, that for the Gift bestowed upon us by the Means of many Persons, Thanks may be given by many on our Behalf.

I say, that I have this Confidence in God's 11 continual Care; and it is the more chearful, as I persuade myself you are, and will be, working together in Prayer for us, that so the Favour [obtained for us by the importunate Prayers of many, may be acknowledged by the Thanksgiving of many on our Account (g); as nothing can be more reasonable,

Lyfera, where St. Paul's Danger had been so extreme, and he had been recovered by Miracle; (Acts xiv. 19, 20.) but as that happened so long before the Visit to Corinth, in which he planted the Church there, (Acts xviii. 1.) it seems more probable, that he either refers to some Opposition, which he met with in his Journey thro' Galatia and Phrygia, (Acts xviii. 23.) of which no particular Account has reached us; or to what happened at Ephefus, (AEts xix. 29, 30.) which is Dr. Whitby's Opinion.

(g) That so the Favour obtained, &c.] There is something very perplexed and ambiguous in the Structure of this Sentence. I have fometimes thought, it might be rendered, that, (vosep num.) on our Account, Thanks may be rendered by many Persons, for, (To as nuas xapoua.) the Gift, or miraculous Endowment which is in us, or deposited with us, (Sia maller,) for she Sake of many: As if he had faid, that many may join with us, in returning Thanks for these miraculous Endowments, which were lodged with me, not for my own Sake, but for Yor. IV. Hhh

Digitized by Google

Sect. 1. Sonable, than that Mercies obtained by Prayer, I should be owned in Praise. And this Confidence, which we have both towards God and you, is much emboldened, as we have an inward Affurance of our own Integrity, however Men may suspect, or censure us: For this is still our Rejoicing, which no external Calamities can impair, or Injuries destroy, even the Testimony of our Conscience in the Sight of God who searcheth the Secrets of all Hearts, that in Simplicity (b), and godly Sincerity, maintaining perpetually that Sense of the Divine Presence, and Inspection, which is the furest Guard upon unfeigned Integrity; and not with that carnal Wisdom, which is so ungenerously and unrighteously imputed to us; but by the Grace of GOD, and such Sentiments of Fidelity and Benevolence, as that bleffed Principle inspires, we have had, and still continue to have, our Conversation in the World; and more especially towards you (i), with Respect to whom, in some Circumstances of Opposition that have happened among you, we have been peculiarly obliged to watch over our Conduct; lest Inadvertency should in any Instance give an Handle to the Malice of our Enemies, to exert itself, in strengthening Prejudices against us, and destroying those Fruits of our Labours among you, for which we could not but be greatly concerned.

12 For our Rejoicing is this, the Testimony of our Conscience, that in Simplicity, and godly Sincerity, not with fleshly Wisdom, but by the Grace of GoD, we have had our Conversation in the World, and more abundantly to you-wards.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T the venerable Title of Saints, by which the Apostle so often Ver., I. describes, and addresses Christians, be ever retained in our Minds; that we may remember the Obligations we are under to answer it, as we would > the Benefit of many. This would be a Sentiment worthy an Apoftle; but the Rendering in the Paraphrase seemed, on the whole, the most natural and simple; especially as Fie. with a Genitive, feldom, if ever, fignifies for the Sake, but rather by the Means of any afterwards mentioned.

(h) Simplicity, Plain-heartedness: Not only meaning well on the whole, but declining an over-artful Way of profecuting a good End.

(i) Especially towards you.] His working with his own Hands for his Maintainance, among the Corinthians, (Acts xviii. 3. 1 Cor. ix. 15.) which he did not every where do, must be a convincing Proof of this.

would avoid the Guilt and Infamy of lying to God, and Men, by falfely Sect. 1. and hypocritically professing the best Religion, very possibly to the worst, undoubtedly to the vainest Purposes. And that we may be excited to a Sanctity becoming this Title, let us often think of GOD, as the Fa- Ver. 3. ther of Mercies, and as the GOD of all Confolation; and let us think of him, as assuming these Titles, under the Character of the GOD and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ: So shall we find our Hearts more powerfully engaged to love and trust in him, and enter into a more intimate Acquaintance and frequent Converse with him.

From him let us feek Confolation in every Diffress; considering these Ver. 4. Supports, which we so experience, not as given for ourselves alone, but for others; that we, on the like Principles, may comfort them. Let Mimisters, in particular, regard them in this View, and rejoice in these Tribulations, which may render them more capable of comforting such as are in any Trouble, by those Consolations, with which they themselves have been comforted by GOD: that so the Church may be edified, and God glorified in all, by the Thanksgiving of many, for Mercies obtained in An- Ver. 11.

swer to united Prayers.

Let us particularly remember the Support, which St. Paul experienced, when he was preffed above Measure, and as it seemed, quite beyond his Strength, so as to despair of Life, and received the Sentence of Ver. . Death in himself; as what was wisely appointed to teach him a firmer Confidence in GOD, who raiseth the Dead. Strong as his Faith was, it admitted of farther Degrees; and the Improvement of it was a happy Equivalent for all the Extremities he suffered. He therefore glories, as secure of being rescued from future Dangers. Nor was his Faith vain, Ver. 10. tho' he afterwards fell by the Hand of his Enemies, and seemed as helpless a Prey to their Malice and Rage, as any of the Multitudes, whose Blood Nero, or the Instruments of his Cruelty, poured out like Water. Death is itself the grand Rescue to a good Man, which bears him to a State of everlasting Security; and in this Sense, every Believer may adopt the Apostle's Words, and while he acknowledges past and present, may affuredly boast of future Deliverances.

Happy shall we therefore be, if by Divine Grace we are enabled at all Times, to maintain the Temper and Conduct of Christians; and may confidently rejoice in the Testimony of our Consciences, that our Conversa- Ver. 12. tion in the World is in Simplicity and godly Sincerity; that our Ends in Religion are great and noble; that our Conduct is simple and uniform; in a Word that we act as in the Sight of an Heart-searching GOD. Then may we look upon the Applauses, or the Censures of Men, as comparatively a very light Matter; and may rest assured, if, as with Regard to the Aposth in the Instance before us, he suffers a malignant Breath for a while

Hhh2

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 1. a while, to obscure the Lustre of our Character, the Day is near, which will reveal it in unclouded Glory.

SECT. II.

The Apostle goes on solemnly to declare his general Integrity; and particularly applies that Declaration to the Views, on which he had declined that Visit to Corinth, which he had intimated an Intention of making. 2 Cor. I. 13, to the End.

2 Corinthians I. 13.

Sect. 2. T SPEAK of the Integrity, with which I have conducted myself among you, with ² Cor. I. 13. great Freedom; for we write no other Things to you on this Head, but what ye well know (a), and must be obliged to acknowledge; and I hope, that ye will have equal Cause to acknowledge [them] even unto the End: For by the Divine Grace, you shall never have just Cause to speak, or think dishonourably of us, or to reflect upon any Inconfiftency in our Behaviour. As indeed ye bave already acknowledged us in Part; you have acknowledged, that you have had no Occasion of blaming us; for tho' some among you are not so ready to do us Justice, as the Rest are, yet most avow it with Pleasure, and Thankfulness, that we are your Boasting, and that ye have Cause to glory in your Relation to us; as ye also in this Respect, (with humble Gratitude to the great Author of all our Successes be it ever spoken,) [are] ours now, and will, I trust, be so in the great Day of the Lord Jesus; when we hope to present you before Christ,

2 Corinthians I. 13.

R O R we write none of ther Things unto you, than what you read or acknowledge, and I trust you shall acknowledge even to the End.

14 As also you have acknowledged us in Part, that we are your Rejoicing, even as ye also are ours in the Day of the Lord Jesus.

(a) What ye know.] The Word avaryonom is ambiguous, and may fignify either to ac knowledge, to know, or to read; but I think, the Sense here plainly determines it to knowing.

Digitized by Google

(b) Make as the Seals of our Ministry, and to lead you on Sect. 2. to that heavenly Kingdom, in the faithful Purfuit of which we have already been so happy as ²Cor. I. 14. to engage you.

15 And in this Confidence I was minded to come unto you before, that you might have a fecond Benefit.

And in this Confidence I was long before desirous of coming to you, and enjoying another Interview with Friends, who have long lain so near my Heart; that the expected Transports of that blesfed Day, might in some Degree be anticipated, both on my Part, and on yours; and accordingly would have come to you much fooner, not only on my own Account, but likewise that ye might have had a second Benefit; as I doubted not but it would have been much to your Advantage, as well as have given you a great Deal of Joy, to have feen and conversed with your Father in Christ, who had once been so dear and so welcome to you. And indeed my Scheme was to pass by you into Macedonia, and make you a short Visit (b) in my Way thither; and then having dispatched my Bufiness in the Churches there, to come to you again from Macedonia, and make a longer Stay; that so I might be brought forward by you in my Journey toward Judea, when I shall go thither to deliver the Money, raised by the Contribution of the Gentile Christians for their Jewish Brethren, when they shall meet at Jerusalem on Occasion of some of their great Feasts. (See Acts xx. 16.)

16 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia unto you, and of you to be brought on my Way toward Judea.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I use Lightness? Or the Things that I

Now when I intended this, did I use Levity in projecting my Scheme, or throwing it aside on any trisling Occasion? Or the Things which I purpose

(b) Make you a fhort Visit.] Si upon Siedber es ManeSonar some have understood of going into Macedonia without calling on them in his Way. But as he went from Ephesus to Macedonia, it was not his direct Way to go by Corinth; especially considering the Road we know he did take, by Troas; and if he were now in Macedonia, as I think there is great Reason to believe he was, there would on that Interpretation have been no such Appearance of Change in his Purpose, as should have needed any Apology. I therefore conclude, that his sirst Scheme was to have made them two Visits, the one in his Way to Macedonia, sperhaps sailing from Ephesus to Corinth, and then another and longer, in his Return. This the Word Talin, again, seems to intimate, and if this were his Purpose, it was now plain in Fact, that he had changed it. The grand Objection against this is I Cor. xvi-7. which can only be reconciled by a Supposition, that he had altered his Purpose between the Date of that Episte, and his quitting Ephesus; and had given them, perhaps by some verbal Message, some Intimation of it.

Digitized by Google

(c) In

Sect. 2. pose in general, do I purpose according to the purpose, do I purpose ac-I Flesh; according to carnal Principles and 2Cor. I. 17. Views; that I should be continually changing my Measures in the Prospect of every little Interest that may lead one Way or another, and breaking my Word, so that there should be with me yea, yea, and noy, nay; such an Uncertainty and Inconsistency of Counsels and Actions, that none should know how to depend upon me, or what they had to expect from me? No; I folemnly protest, that [as] the GOD, whom I serve, [is] faithful, our Word to you on other Occasions, and on this, bath not been wavering and uncertain; fometimes yea, and fometimes nay; but that I have always maintained a Confishency of Behaviour, the natural Attendant of Sincerity and Truth, which is always uniform For our Lord Jesus Christ, the and invariable.

Son of GOD, our great Redeemer, who was preached by us amongst you, that is, by me, and Silvanus, and Timothy, who joined our Labours among you, (Acts xviii. 15.) as we now join in writing to you this Epistle, (according to what I observed in the Inscription of it,) was not yea and nay: Christ and his Gospel were not inconsistent and contradictory; but in bim all was yea; as he is the same Yesterday, to Day, and for ever, the Declarations of his Word, and the Engagements of his Covenant are inviolably the same.

For all the many and invaluably precious Promises of GOD, which are given us by this Covenant, and established in his Blood, [are] in him yea, and in him Amen (c): They are now attended with Stipulations and Engagements, which may cording to the Flesh, that with me there should be year yea, and nay, nay?

18 But as God is true, our Word toward you was not yea and nay.

19 For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us, even by me, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, was not yea and nay, but in him was 20 For all the Promiles of God in him are yea, and

(c) In him yea, and in him Amen.] Nothing can really render the Promises of God more certain than they are; but GOD's giving them to us thro' Christ affures us, that they are indeed his Promises, as in Christ there is such a real Evidence of his conversing with Men; and as the Wonders, which GOD hath actually wrought in the Incarnation, Life, Refursection, and Ascension of his Son, (Facts in themselves much stranger, than any of the glorious Consequences to follow,) tend greatly to confirm our Faith, and make it easier for us to believe such illustrious Promises, as those which are given us; the very Greatuli of which might otherwise have been an Impediment to our Faith, and have created a Suspicion, not whether God would have performed what he had promifed, but whether had Promises were really given us. (d) Eftein him Amen, unto the Glory of God by us.

be sufficient to confirm the weakest Faith, when Sect. 2. we consider, what an assonishing Way God has been pleased to take, for the Communication of Mercy by his Son; so that the more we attend to them, the more we shall see of their invariable Truth and Certainty: And all tends to the Glory of GOD by us, which we constantly make the End of our Administration, and so are animated to maintain one regular Series of uniform Truth, as in his Sight and Presence.

21 Now he which establisheth us with you, in Christ, and hath anointed us, is GoD:

But we say not this, as arrogating any Thing to ourselves; for we most readily acknowledge, that be who also by his strengthening Grace, confirmeth and establisheth us(d), together with you, in the Faith and Love of Christ, and he that bath anointed us, as a Kind of First-fruits of his Creatures, with that Spirit, which gives us a Capacity for all the Services to which we are called out, and furnishes us with all our Credentials in it, [is] the bleffed GOD him-Who bath also sealed as (e), to mark and secure (f) us for his peculiar Property, and, in farther Confirmation of his regard for us, given us the Eurnest of the Spirit in our Hearts, these facred Communications both of Gifts and Graces, which lead us into Enjoyments, that we look upon as the Anticipation of Heaven, and not only as a Pledge, but a Foretafte of it. This is the 22 Who hath also sealed us, and given the Earnest of the Spirit in our Hearts.

(d) Establisheth us.] To explain this of furnishing St. Paul with such Arguments, as enabled him more and more to confirm the Corinthians in the Christian Faith, and himself in the Character of a faithful Minister, is, I think, giving but a small Part of the genuine and sublime Sense of this excellent Passage.

(e) Hath anointed us—sealed etc.] Monf. Scarrin thinks, that the Difference between the Unction, the Seal, and the Earnest, of the Spirit is this: That the Unction chiefly refers to those extraordinary Endouments, by which the Apostles were set apart to their Work, as Priests and Kings were consecrated to theirs, by being amointed; the Seal, to the Sacraments, which marked them out as the peculiar Property of God; and the Earnest he explains, of those foys of the Holy Ghost, which were the Anticipation of celestral Happiness. See Sear. Ser. Vol. xi. pag. 83,—85.

(f) Mark and secure us.] That Staling refers to both these, is well shewn by Dr. Whitby's Note on this Text. Some understand this Verse as infimuting, how unreasonable it would be to suspect him of Levity, who was sealed by such extraordinary Gists of the Spirit. Compare John vi. 27. But that Argument would be something precarious; and as he speaks of the Earnest of the Spirit in the Hearts of Believers, I thought the Interpretation here given much presented.

(g) Have happy

Sect. 2. happy State, into which we are now brought, for which I defire ever to glorify and adore the Divine Goodness, and to behave, as one that is favoured with such invaluable Blessings, and with fuch glorious Prospects as these.

But with Respect to that Change in my Purpose of coming to you, which some would represent as an Instance of a contrary Conduct, I call GOD for a Record on my Soul, and declare to you, even as I hope he will have Mercy upon it (g), that it was, not because I slighted my Friends, or feared mine Enemies, but out of a real Tenderness, and with a Desire to spare you that Uneafiness, which I thought I must in that Case have been obliged to give you, that I came not as yet to Corinth; as I had once intended, and given 24 you some Reason to expect. I mention this, not because we pretend to have any absolute Dominion over your Faith, so as of my own Authority to dictate what you should believe, or do; nor would we exert the Power with which Christ has endowed us, to any tyrannical or overbearing Purposes; but we, even I, and all the faithful Ministers of our Lord Jesus Christ, are joint Helpers of your Joy: We labour to use all the Furniture which God hath given us, to the Advancement of your real Comfort and Happiness; which can only be fecured by reducing you to your Duty: But this very Care will oblige us sometimes to take disagreeable Steps, with Regard to those that act in such a Manner, as might tend to fubvert the Faith of their Brethren: For by Faith ye have stood hitherto; I readily acknowledge you have in the general adhered to it; and it is by retaining the same Principles pure and uncorrupted, with a realizing Sense of them on our Hearts, that we must still continue to stand in the Midst of all the Opposition, we necessarily meet with, from Men insensible of every Bond of Duty and Gratitude.

23 Moreover, I call God for a Record upon my Soul, that to spare you I came not as yet unto Corinth.

24 Not for that we have Dominion over your Faith, but are Helpers of your Joy: for by Faith ye stand.

(g) Have Mercy on it.] Nothing but the great Importance of St. Paul's vindicating his Character to such a Church, would have justified the Solemnity of such an Oath.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

1 LL the Promises of GOD are yea and Amen in Christ: Let us de- Sect. 2. pend upon it, that they will be performed; and make it our great Care, that we may be able to fay, that we are interested thro' him, in the Bleffings to which they relate. Let there be a proportionable Steadiness and Consistence in our Obedience; and let not our Engagements to God be yea, and nay, fince his to us are so invariably faithful.

Are we established in Christ? Are we sealed with the Earnest of the Ver. 21. Spirit in our Hearts? Let us acknowledge that it is GOD who hath im- Ver. 22. parted it to us; and let Christians of the greatest Steadiness and Experience be proportionably humble, rather than by any Means elated on Account of their Superiority to others. We fee the Light, in which Ministers should always consider themfelves, and in which they are to be considered by others; not as having Dominion over the Faith of their People, having a Right to dictate by their own Authority, what they should believe, or, on the same Principles, what they should do; but as Helpers of their Joy, in Consequence Ver. 24. of being Helpers of their Piety and Obedience. In this View, how amiable does the Ministerial Office appear! What a friendly Aspect it wears upon the Happiness of Mankind! And how little true Benevolence do they manifest, who would expose it to Ridicule and Contempt!

Ver. 19.

Let those, who bear that Office, be careful that they do not give it the most dangerous Wound, and abet the evil Works of those who despife and deride it; which they will most effectually do, if they appear to form their Purposes according to the Flesh. Let them with a single Eye Ver. 17. direct all their Administrations to the Glory of God, and the Edification of the Church; that they may be able to appeal to their Hearers, as those that must acknowledge, and bear their Testimony to their Up- Ver. 13. rightness. In that Case, they will be able to look on them, as those in whom they hope to rejoice in the Day of the Lord. And if, while they Ver. 14. pursue these Ends, they are censured as actuated by any mean and less worthy Principle, let them not be much surprized or discouraged: They share in Exercises, from which the blessed Apostle St. Paul was not exempted; as indeed there is no Integrity, or Caution, which can guard any Man from the Effects of that Malice against Christ and his Gospel, with which some Hearts overflow, when they feel themselves condemned by it.

Vol. IV.

Iii

SECT.

SECT. III.

The Apostle expresses his great Affection to the Corinthians, as manifested both in his Sympathy with the offending Member of their Church, who, having been under Censure, was now penitent, (in which View he advises his Readmission;) and also in his Solicitude for Tidings concerning them from Titus, whom not finding at Troas he went to meet in Macedonia. 2 Cor. II. 1,--13.

2 Corinthians II. I.

TNOW plainly and faithfully tell you the true Reason of that Delay of my Journey, 1 Cor. II. 1. which has so much surprized most of you, and at which forne appear to be scandalized. It was not that I forgot you, or failed in any friendly Regards to you; but I determined this with myfelf, on hearing how Things stood among you, that I would not, if it it could by any Means be prevented, come to you again in Grief (a); in Circumstances, which must have grieved both myfelf and you; but that I would wait for these Fruits, which I had Reason to hope from my Endeavours in my former Epistle, to regulate 2 what had been amis. For if I should be obliged to grieve you, who should then rejoice me, unless it be be who is now grieved by me (b)? Μÿ

2 Corinthians II. 1.

BUT I determined this with myfelf, that I would not come again to you with Heaviness.

2 For if I make you forry, who is he then that maketh me glad, but the same which is made forry by me?

(a) I would not come to you in Grief.] It may be objected, why then did he speak of coming in his sormer Epistle, (1 Cor. xvi. 5,—7.) when the incessous Person being yet impenitent, and their Obedience to his Directions, with Relation to that Case, being as yet unapproved, the Cause of Sorrow, and the Necessity of grieving them, seemed yet greater than now? But it is very likely, that after he had writ that Epistle, and perhaps while these Things were in Suspense, he had received News of other Disorders among them; and indeed it is evident, that he seems apprehensive, even on Supposition that the intessums Person were happily restored, he might yet be under a Necessity of exercising an unwilling Severity among them. Chap. xii. 20, 21. and Chap. xiii. 1,—6. 10.

(b) Unless it be he, who is grieved by me.] It cannot reasonably be objected, that the sound Part of the Church would rejoice him; for even they would be grieved by the Ne-

3 And I wrote this fame unto you, left when I came, I should have Sorrow from them of whom I ought to rejoice, having Confidence in you all, that my Joy is the Joy of you all.

4 For out of much Affliction and Anguish of Heart, I wrote unto you with many Tears; not that you should be grieved, but that ye might know the Love which I have more abundantly unto you.

5 But if any have caused Grief, he hath not grieved

My Affection to you as a Church is indeed to Sect. 3. great, that I could enjoy very little Comfort myfelf, if you were in Sorrow, especially in Con- 2 Cor. II. 2. fequence of any Act of mine, however necessary And therefore I have written thus to 3 you, in Order to the farther promoting of that Reformation, which is necessary to my own Comfort, as well as to your Honour and Peace; that I may not, when I come again, have Grief on Account of those, for whom I ought to rejoice, having this confident Persuasion concerning you all in general, that my Joy is [the Joy] of you all(c), and that you do in the Main bear the same Affection towards me, as I feel in my Heart towards you. For some Time ago, with much Affliction, and 4 overbearing Anguish (d) of Heart, I wrote an Epistle to you (e), which was attended with many Tears, and I defigned by it, not, as you may be fure, that ye might be grieved; but that ye might know, by one of the most genuine Tokens which it was possible for me to give, that overflowing Love which I bear to you, of the Degree and Tenderness of which, I was never myself so sensible, as I have been, since this sad Occasion And if any one of discovering it, happened. of you bath been so unhappy, as to have occasioned Grief, he bath only grieved me in Part; I am but cessity of such Severities, they would sympathize with the afflicted and corrected Persons; and on the other Hand, the Recovery of Offenders would give him more sensible Joy, than any thing else; which Considerations taken together will abundantly justify this Expression.

(c) My Joy is the Joy of you ail.] Mr Locke argues from hence, that a Distinction is to be made between the Corinthians, to whom this Epistle was written, and the sale Teachers who were Jews, and who crept in among them, and whom he does not comprehend in the Number of those, concerning whom he speaks with such Tenderness and Hope. And thus he would reconcile this Passage, and Chap. vii. 13, 15. with Chap. xi. 13,—15. Chap. x 6, 11. Compare Chap. xi. 22. where it is intimated some of them were Hebrews. But as we are sure some of the Corinthians had been seduced, and alienated from St. Paul by them, I think it most reasonable to understand this, as spoken of what he might conclude to be their general Character; and it was both generous and prudent in the Apostle to set it in this Point of View.

(d) Over-bearing Anguish.] This seems the Import of over which nearly resembles ourexes, (Compare Chap. v. 14.) which I render bears away.

(e) Wrote an Epistle, &c.] Probably he here refers to such Passages as those in the first Epistle, which speak of scandalous Persons among them, and direct to the Methods to be taken to reduce them to Order.

(f) To

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 3. one of a much greater Number, who have felt this affectionate Concern. And this I say, that I may not overburthen you all, nor fix any unjust Charge upon the whole Body of the Corinthian Church, as if it had taken Part with such an Offender in afflicting me: Far from that, I rather believe it has sympathized with me in my 6 Grief. And fufficient to such an one (f), who hath here been the Aggressor, [is] this Rebuke and Censure, [that he bath] already [fuffered] by many, and indeed by the whole Body of your Society; which has shewn so wise and pious a Readiness to pursue the Directions I gave, for animadverting upon him, and bringing him to Repentance.

Repentance. So that, on the whole, I am well fatisfied in what the Church has done, and instead of urging you to pursue farther Severities against him, who now, by the Blessing of God on the Discipline you have used, is become a Penitent; I on the contrary, declare it to you as my Judgment, that you should rather forgive and comfort [him;] lest such a one, if kept under continual Rebuke, should be swallowed up with an Excess of Sorrow, and rendered incapable of these Duties of the Christian Life, to the Performance of which, I would chearfully hope that he is now inclined. Therefore I beseech you to con-now inclined. Therefore I befeech you to confirm [the Assurances] and Demonstrations [of your] Love to him, in the most tender and endearing Manner that you can; which may convince him that your seeming Severity proceeded from cordial Affection. For indeed it was partly to this Purpose, that I have written, that I might have Experience of you, whether ye would be obedient in all Things to my Apostolical Instructions and Decisions: And it gives me unspeakable Pleasure to me but in Part: that I may not overcharge you all.

6 Sufficient to such a Man is this Punishment, which was inflicted of many.

7 So that contrarywife, ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, left perhaps fuch a one should be swallowed up with overmuch Sorrow.

8 Wherefore I befeech you, that ye would confirm your Love towards him.

9 For to this End also did I write, that I might know the Proof of you, whether ye be obedient in all Things.

(f) To such an one.] Mr. Locke very well observes the great Tenderness, which the Apostle uses to this Offender; he never once mentions his Name, nor does he here so much as mention his Crime; but speaks of him in the most indefinite Manner, that was consistent with giving such Directions in his Case as Love required.

(g) Càme

10 To whom ve forgive any Thing, I forgive also: For if I forgive any Thing, to whom I forgave it, for your Sakes forgave I it, in the Person of Christ;

11 Lest Satan should get an Advantage of us: For we are not ignorant of his Devices.

12 Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ's Gospel, and a Door was opened unto me of the Lord, find, that ye have been fo. And truly I have Sect. 3. fuch Confidence in you as a Society, that I may fay, not only in this Instance, but in any other 2 Cor. II 10. that may happen, that to whom you forgive any Thing which hath been esteemed an Offence, so as to be willing to restore the Offender to your Communion, I also shall be ready to sorgive it;] and if I forgive any Thing, to whomsoever it may be, [it is] not out of Regard to the Offender alone, but in a great Measure for your Sakes, that as in the Person of Christ, and by the high Authority with which he hath been pleased to invest me, I join in taking off the Cen-For I know the Prosperity of the Church in general is concerned in conducting these Affairs aright, and am solicitous, least if they be carried to any Excess of Rigour, Satan should get an Advantage over us, and turn that Severity into an Occasion of Mischief to the Offender, to his Brethren, and to others. For we are not ignorant of his Devices, and of the great Variety of Stratagems, which he is continually making Use of to injure us, and to turn even Discipline itself, to the Reproach of the Church, and the Destruction of Souls. These are the 123 Sentiments, which prevail in my Heart towards you; and my Conduct, fince the Date of my last Epistle, hath been a genuine Demonstration of this my affectionate Concern. For when I came unto Troas (g) in the Service of the Gospel of Christ, and found Things there so situated, that there was a large Door opened to me in the Lord, many Circumstances seeming to invite my Stay, and to give a Prospect of Success in my Ministry;

(g) Came unto Troas.] Mr. Owen, (of Ordin. Part I. pag. 124.) thinks this happened in St. Paul's Journey from Corinth to Macedonia; and mentions it as a Fact omitted by St. Luke, to be collected from the Epi/lles. Many such Facts there undoubtedly are, and this feems one of them, tho' not just in that Circumstance. It feems to have happened in that Passage from Asia to Macedonia, of which so very short an Account is given, Acts xx. 1, 2. He afterwards ordered some Christian Friends, who were attending him to Asia after he had spent three Months in Macedonia, to wait for him at Troas, (ib. Verses 4, 5). probably for this Reason among others, that they might have an Opportunity of preaching the Gospel to a People who seemed so ready to receive it.

Sect. 3. Yet I had no Rest in my Spirit, because I did not I find my Brother Titus there; whom I had fent ²Cor. II. 13. to inquire into your Affairs, and from whom I expected Tidings of you. I would not therefore make any Abode at Troas, tho' fo many Confiderations concurred to invite me to it; but taking my Leave of them, I went out of Asia into Macedonia; where I thought he might be, and where I had the Happiness quickly to meet him, and to receive that News of you, which has given me so much Pleasure, and in Consequence of which I have found Occasion to write to you in a more comfortable Manner, as I here do. I bless God, that the Purposes of my Christian Ministry have not upon the whole been frustrated by this Journey, but that the Divine Bleffing hath attended my Labours here, as well as in the Places which I left, that I might come hither.

13 I had no Rest in my Spirit, because I found not Titus my Brother: But taking my Leave of them, I went from thence into Macedonia.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T Ministers learn from hence, after the Example of this wise and benevolent Apostle, to be very tender of the Ease and Comfort of those committed to their Care; doing nothing to grieve or diffress them, Ver. 1, 2. unless, as in the Case before us, Love requires it, in Order to their Sasety and Happiness. Let them learn this candid and endearing Method of putting the best Interpretation upon every Thing, and of believing, where there is any Reason to hope it, that their Joy is the Joy of their Ver. 3. People also. When professing Christians offend, and cannot be reclaimed by gentler Methods, let them, not out of Resentment, but Affection, have Recourse to the Discipline which Christ hath instituted in his Church; and when that Discipline hath answered its End, and the Offender is recovered to a Sense of his Evil, let them with the greatest Pleafure concur in readmitting him to the Communion of the Church, from Ver. 6. which he has been excluded; with a tender Concern, lest be should be Ver. 7. swallowed up of over-much Sorrow; always considering, how watchful the Enemy of Souls is to get an Advantage over us; and remembering, that it will be the peculiar Wisdom of Ministers, to acquaint themselves with these artful and malicious Devices of Satan, by which he is incef-Ver. 8. fantly endeavouring to distress and ruin the Church, and to lay Snares for its Members in their Hopes, and their Fears, their Joys, and their Sorrows, Sorrows, so as to take Occasion from every Incident, and from every Sect. 3. Interest, to weaken and to wound them.

The great Source of a right Conduct on all these Occasions, is unfeigned Love: That let us labour to establish in our Hearts towards each other; Ver. 4. praying that God, by his Spirit, would establish it. And the' the Consequence of this will be, that our Spirits, like the Apostle's, will be accessible to many Sorrows which we should not otherwise feel; and tho' it is possible, that we, like St. Paul in the Instance before us, may sometimes be interrupted in active Services of Life, which we might other- Ver. 12. wife have been more ready to purfue; yet we may hope, that while we are faithfully influenced by Love, under the Direction of that Christian Prudence, which ought ever to attend it, Views of Usefulness may be opened, where we least expect them, may be opened one Way, while they are obstructed another; yea, upon the whole, what has for awhile interrupted our Success, may in its remoter Consequences greatly ad-

SECT. IV.

The Apostle expresses, in the most affectionate Terms, his Thankfulness to GOD for having intrusted him with the Ministry of the Gospel, for the Success attending his Services therein; and declares his joyful Confidence in all Events of the Divine Acceptance; and speaks of the Corinthians, as his Credentials written by the Finger of GOD. 2 Cor. II. 14, to the End. Chap. III. 1,---6.

2 CORINTELIANS. II 14.

vance it.

2 Corinthians II. 14.

TOW Thanks be unto God, which always cauleth

THAVE informed you, that I left a fair Op- Sect. 4. L portunity of preaching the Gospel at Troas, in Consequence of that great Desire I had to hear from 2 Cor. II. 14. you; for which Purpose I went into Macedonia. But I desire thankfully to own the Divine Goodness, in attending my Ministry with very comfortable Success there. And indeed I have great Reason to break out into a Transport of Praise in the Reflection: Yes, my Brethren, Thanks,

2 Cor. II. 14.

Sect. 4. everlasting Thanks, [be rendered] by you, and me, I to the GOD of all Power and Grace, who always causeth us to triumph in Christ (a), carrying us on from one spiritual Victory to another; and manifesteth by us in every Place, the fragrant and powerful Odour of his faving Knowledge.

may I rejoice upon this Account; for we the Apostles, and other Ministers of his Gospel, are to GOD a fweet and acceptable Odour of Christ: He is as it were pleased and delighted with the Incense of his Name and Gospel as diffused by us, both with Respect to them who believe and are faved, and to them, who in Confequence of their 16 Unbelief, perish in their Sins. To the latter indeed [we are] an Odour of Death; the Fragancy, fo rich in itself, instead of reviving destroys them, and is efficacious to bring on Death in its most dreadful Forms. But to the other [we are] an Odour of Life; the Gospel revives their Souls, and is effectual to their eternal Life and Salvation. And when we confider all these awful Consequences, which one Way or other attend our Ministry, we may truly say, who [is] Sufficient for these Things? Who is worthy to bear fuch an important Charge? Who should undertake it without Trembling? Neverthelefs, tho' we must acknowledge ourselves unworthy of such a Charge, God is pleased to succeed us in the Execution of it, as he knows our Sincerity in his Sight and Presence. For we are not as many, who adulterate the Word of GOD (b) by causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the Savour of his Knowledge by us in every Place.

15 For we are unto God a sweet Savour of Christ, in them that are faved, and in them that perish.

16 To the one we are the Savour of Death unto Death; and to the other, the Savour of Life unto Life: And who is sufficient for these Things?

17 For we are not as many, which corrupt the Word of God: But as of

(a) Causeth us to triumph.] Witsus would render beiau Beveils, who triumphs over us, (Compare Col. ii 15) and supposes it expresses the Joy, with which St. Paul resected on that powerful and fovereign Grace, which had led him in Triumph, who was once to infolent an Enemy to the Gospel. I rather think the Apostle represents himself, as triumphing thro' the Divine Power. And as in triumphal Processions, especially in the Eest, fragrant Odors and Incense were burnt near the Conquerors; so he seems beautifully to allude to that Circumstance, in what he fays of the orun, the Odour of the Gospel, in the following Verses. And he seems farther to allude to the different Effects of strong Persumes, to chear some, and to throw others into violent Diforders, according to the different Dispositions they are in, to receive them; and Æiian observes, that some Kind of Animals are killed by them, Hift. Anim. iii. 7.

(b) Adulterate the Word.] Kaunheuwses is a very expressive Phrase, and alludes

2 Cor. II.

17.

Sincerity, but as of God, in the Sight of God speak we in Christ.

their own base Mixtures, and retail it, when Sect. 4. formed according to the corrupt Taste of their Hearers; but as of unmingled Sincerity, but as by the express Command of GOD, in the Prefence of GOD we speak in the Name of Christ; delivering every Part of our Message, as those that know, how awful our Account is; and how impossible it is to conceal so much as a single Thought from that all-penetrating Being, to whom we are shortly to give it up.

2 Corinthians III. 1. Do we begin again to commend ourselves? Or need we, as some others, Epistles of Commendation to you, or Letters of Commendation from you? 2 Ye are our Epistle written in our Hearts, known and read of all Men:

3 For as much as ye are manifeffly declared to be the Epitile of Christ, ministred

And when I say this, do we again, as some 2 Cor. III. prefume to infinuate, begin to recommend oursolves, and one another, [to you?] Or do we need, as I perceive some [do,] recommendatory Letters to you from other Churches, or recommendatory [Letters] from you to others? . Truly I may well fay, you are yourselves our Epistle, the best Recommendation from God himself, his Testimonial, as it were, written upon your Hearts (c) in the glorious Change by our Means produced there; and the Effects of it are so apparent in your Lives, that I may fay, ye are known and read by all Men, who know what you once were, and you now are; and they who confider these Things, must acknowledge, that such Success granted by the Co-operation of Divine Grace, is as evident a Proof of God's gracious Presence with us, as can well be imagined. $|Ye_{\bullet}|$ whose Characters were some of them once so enormous, (1 Cor. vi. 11.) but [are] now so amiable and excellent, are indeed manifest and apparent, as the Epifile of Christ which is ministered by us; and by you Christ doth, as it were, declare, that he to the Practice of those who deal in Liquors, which they debase for their own greater Gain; and it infinuates in strong Terms the base Temper and Conduct of their salse Teachers. Bes has finely illustrated the Force of this Expression in his learned and elegant Note on this Text. Exer. pag. 154, 155.

(c) Upon your Hearts.] Some Copies read, our Hearts, that is, always remembered and thought of. But I apprehend, the Apollle means, that the Change produced, not only in their external Conduct, but in their inward Temper, was so great, that all who could judge of it by intimate Knowledge, (and it is certain that fome Judgment may be formed,) must own it a great Attestation of his Ministry. The great Enormities, in which they were once plunged, (See 1 Cor. vi. 11, &c.) would much illustrate this Argument.

Vol. IV. (d) To Kkk

Digitized by GOOGLE

Written by the Spirit of GOD, and proving his Mission.

Sect. 4. 2 Cor. III.

442

hath been faithfully preached among you by us; an Epistle written not, as Epistles generally are, with Ink, but by Traces drawn by the Spirit of the one living and true GOD, moving on your Hearts and producing that Variety of Graces, which render many of you fo conspicuous and And the Inscription is not, (as that boasted Monument, which did so great an Honour to the Mission and Authority of Moses,) written in Tables of Stone, but in the fleshly Tables of the Heart; to which no Hand, but that, by which the Heart was made, could find Access, in such a Manner as to inscribe these sacred 4 Characters there. Such Confidence bave we towards GOD by Jesus Christ, that our Ministry shall be effectual in other Places, and that the

4 And such Trust have we through Christ to God-by us, written not with Ink, but with the Spirit of the living GoD; not in Tables of Stone, but in fleshly Tables of the Heart.

World shall by your Means be perfuaded of our Apostleship.

5 Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any Think as of ourselves: But our Sufficiency is of Gop.

We say this, not as infinuating, that we are sufficient of ourselves to reckon upon any Thing as from ourselves (d); we would not infinuate this, or encourage any others to do it; for we are upon all Occasions ready most thankfully to acknowledge, that all our Sufficiency [is] from GOD; whatever Furniture of any Kind we have for our Work, we humbly ascribe it to him, and from him arise all our Expectations of Success 6 with this Furniture, whatever it be: From that great and adorable Author of all good, who also bath made us, his Apostles, and others whom he hath fent into the Work, able Ministers of the new Covenant, sufficiently qualified to discharge that important Trust of proposing this gracious Covenant of God, established in Christ, to our Fellow-Creatures. For we are indeed Ministers, 6 Who also hath made us able Ministers of the New Testament, not of the Letter.

(d) To reckon upon any Thing as of ourselves.] This seems the most exact Rendering of regionadai ti es et exuler. Dr. Whithy renders it to reason, as if the Apostle had said, we are unable by any Reasoning of our own to bring Men to Conversion; Which gives a fine and just Sense, but I think only a Part of what the Aposse intended. Compare Acts xix. 27. Rom. iv. 3, 6, 11. Chap. viii. 18, 36. 1 Cor. iv. 1. in all which the Word AeyiCouas has the Signification we here affign it, and fignifies to recken or account.

not

(e) Nat

6.

Letter, but of the Spirit: For the Letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth Life.

not of the Letter, but of the Spirit (e); for we Sect. 4. are enabled to enter into the Sense and Spirit of 2 Cor. III. the Law, and other facred Writings, whereas that Divine Volume is to the Jews, but as a Heap of Letters and Characters, which they know not how to read, or understand; and yet pride themfelves fo much in them, that in that Sense it may be faid, they receive Mischief, rather than Benefit, from their own Oracles. Thus the Letter killeth; the unbelieving Jews are undone by their obstinate Adherence to it, and more prejudiced against the Gospel, than those that never heard of any Divine Revelation at all. But when taught by the Spirit of God, speaking in us, they enter into the spiritual Sense and Design of the Law, then it giveth Life; it establisheth our Faith, quickens our Obedience, and becomes a Source of Happiness in this World, and in the next.

IMPROVEMENT.

AY the infinite Importance of the Gospel-Message be deeply impressed on all, who preach, and all who hear it. Life, or Death, Chap. II. 15, is in question; eternal Life, or everlasting Death: And while it is from 16. Day to Day reviving its Thousands, is it not to be feared, that in some Places it is, by the righteous Judgment of God on hard and impenitent Hearts, aggravating the Guilt and Mifery of its Ten-thousands! How awful is the Work of dispensing this Gospel! Who can pretend to be suf- Ver. 16. ficient for such Things, as these! Who that considers the Nature and Importance of the Ministerial Work, can undertake, or pursue it, but with Fear and Trembling!

Yet, insufficient, as they ought humbly to acknowledge themselves to Chap. III. 5. be, to reckon upon any Thing, as from themselves, there is a Sufficiency in GOD, imparted to faithful Ministers; in Consequence of which they are often made to triumph in Christ, and borne on, in a holy Superiority Chap. II. 14. to all the Difficulties of their Work, and see their Labour not to be in vain in the Lord. Well may that support them, under the Discouragements, which, in other Instances, they feel, when the Fruit of their Labours

Kkk2

Digitized by Google

⁽e) Not of the Letter, but of the Spirit.] To understand this of an allegorical, rather than literal Explication of the Old Testament, is very arbitrary and unwarrantable; and I wish no Christian Commentators had given Encouragement to the Deists to abuse this Text, in the Manner it is well known they have done.

Sect. 4. bours does not immediately appear; yea, when the present State of many under their Care, is directly contrary to what they could desire; for their Ver. 15. Work is still with the Lord, and they are a sweet Savour to GOD in them that perish, as well as in them that are saved. Let them therefore gird up the Loins of their Mind, and exert themselves with the utmost Vigour, rejoicing in this, that God will on the whole be glorified, and they shall on the whole be accepted, and thro' his abundant Grace be amply rewarded. Yea, God will consider, in that Day of final Recompence, the Anguish, which they have felt for the Souls they have seen perishing under their Ministrations, as well as the faithful Pains they have bestowed to reclaim them.

But as they defire to secure this Acceptance; yea, to secure their own Salvation, let them never allow themselves, by any foreign Mixtures, to ver. 17.

Ver. 17.

Ver. 17.

But as they defire to secure this Acceptance; yea, to secure their own Salvation, let them never allow themselves, by any foreign Mixtures, to adulterate the Word of GOD; but let them speak it in its uncorrupted Sincerity, as in the Sight and Presence of GOD, and as those, who know it is not their Business to devise a Message out of their own Hearts, but to deliver what they have received of the Lord. So may they hope, there shall not be wanting those, who, according to the Views which the A-

Chap. III. 2. postile gives us of these Corinthians, shall appear as Epistles written by the Hand of Christ himself, in Attestation of their Commission from him.

That Ministers may more chearfully hope for, and expect such an Honour, let us all pray, that the Spirit of God may lead them into the true Sense and Meaning of Scripture; that they may not unprofitably amuse themselves and their Hearers, with vain and cold Criticisms on the Letter of it, so as to neglect and forget what is most spiritual in its Design and Meaning; but that they may, under Divine Illumination, attain to the Mind of the Spirit, and be enabled to make greater Prosiciency in unfolding and illustrating the important Mysteries of the King-Chap. II. 16. dom of Heaven, and may be to Multitudes a Savour of Life unto Life.

SECT.

7. .

SECT. V.

The Apostle farther to recommend the Ministry of which he had been speaking, falls into a very pertinent and useful Digression concerning the comparative Obscurity of the Mofaick Law, and the superior Glory and Permanence of the Gospel. 2 Cor. III. 7, to the End.

2 CORINTHIANS III. 7.

BUT if the Ministraand engraven in Stones, was glorious, fo that the Children of Israel could not stedfally behold the Face of Moles, for the Glory of his Countenance, which Glory was to be done away:

8 How shall not the Ministration of the Spirit be rather glorious?

e For if the Ministration

2 Corinthians III. 7.

THAVE just been observing, that the Letter Sect. 5." L of the Law, in that Sense in which it is 2 Cor. III. maintained by the Jews, killeth in itself; it binds down Transgressors under a Sentence of Death, and by the Perverseness of their Interpretation, is the Occasion of Ruin; while the Spirit quickeneth. And let me now direct your Thoughts to the Argument arising from hence, to prove the greatly superior Excellence of the Gospel: For if the Mosaick Law, which was indeed the Ministration of Death, which was [contained] in visible Letters, [and] the most excellent Part of which was engraven in the two Tables of Stone, hewn indeed and prepared by God himself, which Moses brought down from Mount Sinai in his Hands, was attended with a fignal and undeniable Glory, so that the Children of Israel could not look directly upon the Face of Moses, because of the Glory of his Countenance which was so soon to How much more shall 8: be abolished in Death; that, which may with fo much Propriety be called the Ministration of the Spirit, be glorious? Since the Work of the Spirit of God on the Heart of a rational Being, is so much more important, than any dead Characters, which could be engraven oninsensible Stones.

This may be farther apparent, when we con- 9 fider what I hinted before, concerning the Impossibility of obtaining Life and Salvation by the Mofaick

Sect. 5. Mosaick Law. For if that, which was, in its DEffects, only the Ministration of Condemnation, 2 Cor. III. pronouncing a Sentence of Death, in many Cases without Mercy, and which at last certainly ended in leaving Persons under Condemnation, as it was incapable of taking away the moral Guilt of any one Offence; [was attended with] fo bright a Glory (a); how much more shall the Gospel, which may well be called the Ministration of Righteousness, exceed in Glory? as it puts us into everlasting.

For even that which was made glorious at its first Dispensation, that is, the Law of Moses, hath no Glory in this Respect, by Reason of the Glory that excelleth it by unutterable Degrees; fo that as the Sun swalloweth up the Light of the Moon and the Stars, in like Manner is the Lustre of former Dispensations swallowed up, in 11 that of the Gospel. For if that which was to be so soon abolished, was nevertheless attended, as we have feen, with some considerable Degrees of Glory, to illustrate its Divine Original and Authority, how much more glorious [must] that [be] which remaineth immutable thro' the remotest fo certain a Way to obtain Justification and Life

Ages (b). This is the glorious Ministry, in which we are engaged; and it brings along with it the fublimest Sentiments, and the noblest Views. Having therefore this Hope and Confidence, it is no Wonder, of Condemnation be Glory, much more doth the Ministration of Righteousness exceed in Clory.

10 For even that which was made glorious, had no Glory in this Respect, by Reason of the Glory that excelleth.

11 For if that which is done away was glorious, much more that which remaineth is glorious.

12 Seeing then that we

(a) Attended with Glory. Dr. Whithy has taken a great Deal of Pains to prove, that there is an intended Opposition between the Glary, that is, the visible Lustre on the Countenance of Moses, (Compare Exod. xxxiv. 29, 30. where the Seventy use the Word Sedogasas,) with the Glory which descended on the Apo/lles; (Att. ii. 3, 4.) and considers each as an Emblem of the Dispensation to be introduced, but with incomparable Advantage on the Side of the Gospel. But laboured as this Interpretation is, I cannot acquiesce in what is singular in it; and it had been obvious to have objected to Verse 11. that the cloven Tongues of Fire left no fuch lasting Lustre on the Face of the Apostles, as on that of Moses.

(b) If that which was to be, &c.] Mr. Hallet would render it, " if that which was done away, was done away by Glory, how much more doth that which remaineth, " remain in Glory." But I think, this must appear harsh to every one that examines the Original; Sea Sogne, is literally by Glory, and so may signify, introduced by it, or attended with it, or confirmed by it; and in either of these Senses may well be applied to the Shining of the Face of Moses,

(c) And 13.

have such Hope, we use great Plainness of Speech.

13 And not as Moses, which put a Vail over his Face, that the Children of Israel could not stedfastly look to the End of that which is abolished.

14 But their Minds were blinded: For until this Day remaineth the same Vail untaken away, in the Reading of the Old Testament; which Vail is done away in Christ.

15 But even unto this Day, when Moses is read, the Vail is upon their Heart.

16 Nevertheless when it fhall

Wonder, that we use great Liberty of Address, Sect. 5. when we are speaking to you; And [are] not 2 Cor. III. herein concealed, as Moses, [who] put a Vail upon bis Face, (Compare Exod. xxxiv. 33.)(c), wherein he was a Kind of Type and Figure of his own Dispensation; so that he might seem thereby to intimate, that the Children of Israel could not directly look to the End of that Law, which he brought, and which was, as I observed before, to be abolished (d); But on the contrary, their Understandings are evidently blinded, for until this Day the same Vail continues upon the Law, or rather upon their own Hearts, and is still unremoved during the Reading of the Old Testament; which contains fuch distinct Prophecies of Christ, and fuch lively Descriptions of him, that one would imagine it impossible, that he should not be immediately acknowledged and adored, by all that profess to believe its Divine Authority: Which [Vail] is taken away in those that receive Christ, who have in him the true Substance of those Shadows, and the great End of its most important Prophecies. But as to the unbelieving Jews, as I said before, the Vail which they wear in their Synagogues, too aptly reprefents that which is upon their Heart when Moses is read, even to this Day in their Hearing; in Consequence of which they can no more see the Mind of Moses, than their Fathers could see his Face. But it shall not always be so; the House of Israel is intitled to a Variety of most excellent Promises, relating to the Blessings of the Messiah's Kingdom; and as when Moses went in to the Lord, he laid aside his Vail, so when it, that is, the People of Israel, shall turn unto the Lord, when the bleffed Period appointed for their general ...

(c) And are not, &c.] All that follows from hence to the Beginning of the 18 Verse, may be included in a Parenthesis.

(c) Beholding

⁽d) Which was to be abolified.] Such an oblique Manner of speaking on this Subject. makes the Argument from these Words peculiarly striking. It is taken for granted, as a Thing certainly known, and quite indisputable, that the Mosaick Dispensation was to be abolished.

Sect. 5. 2 Cor. III. 17.

general Conversion shall come, the Vail shall be taken away, and the genuine Sense of the sacred Oracles shall break in upon their Minds with an irresistible Light. Now the Lord Jesus Christ is that Spirit of the Law, of which I spake before: to whom the Letter of it was intended to lead the Jews; and it is the Office of the Spirit of God, as the great Agent in his Kingdom, to direct the Minds of Men to it. And let him be univerfally fought in this View; for where the Spirit of the Lord [is,] there [is] Liberty; a more liberal and filial Disposition, to which, under the Influence and Operation of the Spirit, the Gospel brings those who were subject to Bondage, under the imperfect Dispensation of Moses. And in Consequence of the Liberty, enjoyed by Virtue of the gracious Oeconomy, we all, who have been so happy as suitably to welcome it, with unveiled Face, attentively beholding as by a Glass (e) or Mirror, the Glory of the Lord (f) reflected from his Word, are transformed into fomething of the same resplendent Image of the bleffed Redeemer, whose shining Face we there fee; and the more stedfastly we behold this illustrious and amiable Form, the more do we partake of it; proceeding gradually from Glory to Glory. And all this is as proceeding from the Lord the Spirit (g); for as the Lord Jesus Christ shall turn to the Lord, the Vail shall be taken away.

17 Now the Lord is that Spirit: And where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty.

18 But we all with open Face, beholding as in a Glass the Glory of the Lord, are changed in the same Image, from Glory to Glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.

(e) Beholding as by a Glass.] Some would render nalocal engages, reflecting as from a Glass. But Elsner and Bos, have abundantly proved, what indeed is evident to all versed in the Language, that it has the Signification here assigned; and indeed the other Interpretation would obscure and perplex the Sense.

(f) Behelding—the Glory of the Lord.] Here is one of the most beautiful Controlls, that can be imagined. Meses saw the Sheehinah, and it rendered his Face resplendent, so that he covered it with a Vail, the Jews not being able to bear the reslected Light; we behold Christ, as in the Glass of his Word, and, (as the Reslection of a very Luminous Object from a Mirror, gilds the Face on which the reverberated Rays fall,) our Faces shine too; and we vail them not, but diffuse the Lustre, which, as we discover more and more of his Glories in the Gespel, is continually increasing.

(g) By the Lord the Spirit.] As the Order of the Greek Words is unufual, not areumals, le rupes, but rupes areumals, Dr. Whithy would render it by the Lord of the Spirit, that is, by Christ, in whom the Spirit dwells, and by whom it is communicated according to his fovereign Will. But the Paraphrase unites two Senses, each I think more natural, tho which of the two was chiefly intended, I cannot absolutely determine.

Digitized by Google

is the Spirit of the Law, so the Divine Spirit under his Direction and Influences, is the Cause of this noble and Divine Effect.

Sect. 5. 2 Cor. III.

IMPROVEMENT.

TILL doth this glorious Glass of the Gospel stand full in our View, from which the Lustre of the Redeemer's Countenance is reflected. Ver. 18. Let us daily behold his Image there, and contemplate it with an attentive Eye, as those who are folicitous, that we may wear some of those Rays; yea, that we may wear them with still increasing Lustre; that we may be transformed from Glory to Glory, and reflecting those Rays, skine as Lights in the World.

Let us endeavour to raise our Minds to this laudable Temper, by frequently reflecting on the Excellence of the Christian Dispensation, as a Dispensation of the Spirit, and of Life; whereas the Law was the Ministration Ver. 7, 8. of Death; and while, from the Glory attending the Law, we infer, with the Apostle, the supereminent Glory of the Gospel, let us learn also the fuperior Obligation it brings us under, to regard and obey it, and the proportionably greater Danger of despising it. The Law of Moses was soon Ver. 11. to be abolished; the Gospel still remains, and shall remain to the End of Time. Let us pray for its Prosperity, and do our utmost to promote it. And let us earnestly plead with God, that, whereas there is now a Vail Ver. 14. upon the Face of the Jews even to this Day, when their sacred Records are read among them, they may turn unto the Lord, and find the Vail tak- Ver. 16. en away; that so by the Conversion of Israel as a Nation, there may be a glorious Accession of Evidence to Christianity; and that the Yews themfelves may be happy in the Bleffing of him, whom their Fathers crucified, and whom they continue contemptuously to reject.

Let the Ministers of the Gospel, while defending so divine a Cause, and enforcing so important a Message, use all becoming Plainness of Ver. 12.

Speech; and may all Christians know more of that Liberty, which the Spi- Ver. 17.

rit of the Lord gives, that God may in all Things be glorified, thro' Jesus Christ. Amen.

Vol. IV.

LII

SECT.

SECT. VI.

The Apostle declares his Courage, and disclaims all sinister Views and all Distrust of Success, in pursuing the glorious Ministry he had described; being persuaded, that such a Gospel, could not be rejected, but in Consequence of the most fatal Prejudices. 2 Cor. IV. 1,---6.

2 Corinthians IV. 1.

2 Cor. IV.

Sect. 6. CUCH are the distinguished Glories of the Gospel-dispensation, and its Effects on the Hearts of those who sincerely embrace it. therefore having been intrusted with such a Ministration, as we have obtained Mercy [of GOD] to be thus honoured, we faint not under any of those Difficulties, we are called out to encounter; nor in any Degree defift from our glorious En-2 terprize (a). But we have renounced, and set at Defiance, the hidden Things of Shame (b); in which the Priests of Paganism deal so much, in Order to impose on the People over whom they preside, practising in their Mysteries so many impure, and so many foolish Rites. We need not any of their Artifices; not walking in Craftiness, as some would infinuate that we do, nor deceitfully corrupting and disguising the Word of GOD; but by the Manifestation of the genuine and unfophisticated Truth, recommending ourselves to every Man's Conscience, we steadily and constantly: 2 CORINTHIANS IV. 1.

Herefore feeing we have this Minister as have this Ministry, as. we have received Mercy, we faint not:

2 But have renounced the hidden Things of Dishonefty, not walking in Craftiness, nor handling the Word of God deceitfully, but by Manifestation of the Truth, commending ourfelves to every Man's Conscience in the Sight of GoD.

(a) Defist from our glorious Enterprize.] Executed naturally expresses the drawing back from fome strenuous Undertaking, in what we often call a dastardly Manner, on Account of fome Difficulties attending it.

(b) Renounced the hidden Things of Shame.] Dr. Whithy understands this of lewd Practices; but the Opposition between this Clause, and the following, seems much more to favour the Paraphrase; tho' to be sure the Phrase may extend to all dishonest Artifices of salse Teachers. The word anemapeda, which we render remunce, does not imply, they ever had any Thing to do with these Things; but the Words, "fet then, at Defiance," feem still more literally to express the Original.

(t) If stantly act, as in the all penetrating Sight of GOD; Sect. 6. and therefore are willing, that all the World should know, what the Arts and Mysteries of our Ministry are.

3 But if our Gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost:

4 In whom the God of this World hath blinded the Minds of them which believe not, lest the Light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the Image of GoD, should shine unto them.

> 5 For we preach not ourfelves,

But if our Gospel, after such open and generous Conduct on our Side, be still under a Vail too (c), as the Law is with Respect to so many; it is vailed to those that are perishing; they must be very bad Men, and in a very dangerous State, who hearing it preached as it is by us, cannot enter into the main Design and Spirit of it, and are not inwardly engaged to reverence it. mong whom undoubtedly, that is, in the Number of such unhappy Wretches, [are] all [they,] whose unbelieving Minds Satan, who herein acts as the God of this World (d), whose Subjects the Children of this World are, bath blinded by its dazling Vanities and Allurements, lest the Lustre of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the Image of the invisible GOD in all his Perfections and Glories, should beam forth upon them, and should pain, or rather awaken, those weak Minds, darkened by so many gross and unhappy Prejudices, and flumbering to their everlasting Destruction. But fuch, as I have before described, is our Conduct; however perversely it may be mistaken, or misrepresented. For we preach not ourselves (e); we aim not at exalting our own Authority, at extend-

(c) If our Gospel be under a Vail too.] Fr of z err xenadumusor To evaryedior man, is most literally rendered thus; and it has so evident a Reference to what was said above, of the Vail on the Faces of the Yews, that it feems by all Means expedient to translate it thus, rather than bid.—This Text is justly urged by Dr. Scott, (Christian Life, Vol. v. pag. 320.) as a Proof of the Perspicuity of the Apolle's Writings in all Matters of Importance to our Salvation.

(d) The God of this World.] That several ancient Christian Writers should interpret this of GOD the Father, is one of the most amazing Things I have met with. See Dr. Whithy in Loc. and Dr. Edwards Exercit. pag. 291. I doubt not but Satan is intended, and could it he proved, as has been intimated, that this malignant Spirit was so early called by the Jews , the God who blinds, I should think it a beautiful Illustration.

(e) Preach not ourselves.] Grotius explains it thus, " we do not preach that we are Lords, but that Christ is so;" and this is certainly comprehended. But I think the Phrase may well be taken in the larger Extent, expressed in the Paraphrase. To preach themselves, may fignify their making themselves, in any View, the End of their Preaching; as preaching Jesus, a Phrase often used, may signify Preaching, so as to direct Mens Eyes to him.

And that he preached not himself, but Christ Jesus the Lord. 452

Sect. 6. extending our Reputation, or securing to ourselves selves, but Christ Jesus the I any fecular Advantage; but, renouncing all fuch 2 Cor. IV. Views and Claims and Defires, we preach Christ Fesus, as the supream Lord of his Church; and, instead of setting ourselves up for your Masters, we declare ourselves to be your Servants for the Sake of Jefus; and are willing, out of Regard to you, and above all out of Duty to him, to stoop to the humblest Offices of Love, by which we may be ferviceable to you in your most im-And it is no Wonder, that 6 portant Interests. we are thus disposed, considering the View of Things which God hath given us by his Grace; for GOD, who by his powerful Word, in the first Creation of this World, commanded the Light instantaneously to skine out of that Darkness, which covered the whole Face of the Deep, (Gen. i. 5.) hath also skined into our once prejudiced and benighted Hearts, and particularly into mine, by the internal Operation of his bleffed Spirit, [to impart] the Lustre of the Knowledge of GOD's Glory (f), discovered, as we before obferved, in the Face of our Lord Jesus Christ (g), > from thence reflected upon us, and from us to you, for the important Purposes of your Sanc-

5.

Lord; and ourselves your Servants for Jesus Sake.

6 For God who commanded the Light to shine out of Darkneis, hath thined in our Hearts, to give the Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God, in the Face of Jesus Christ.

IMPROVEMENT.

E T all who are honoured with the Ministry of the Gospel, learn Ver. 1. from the Apostle, Courage and Fidelity; remembering they are continually in the Sight and Presence of GOD. Let them therefore renounce with Abhorrence, that Craft, which so many who have called them-

> (f) To impart the Lustre of the Knowledge of GOD's Glory.] Iverses Ins Jogns 74 Ges may very well fignify the glorious Knowledge of GOD; but the following Words determined me to the more literal Translation, as it is more proper to speak of the Glory, than of the Knowledge of God, as in, or upon the Face of Christ. Some would render app collected according, or in Proportion to, that Lustre.

> (g) In the Face of Jesus Christ.] Some would render προτωπω Person; but it so evidently signifies Face in the Context, (Chap. iii. 13, 18.) that it seemed much better to render it face; tho' the Glory, here said to be reflected from his Face, is undoubtedly that which is manifested in his Person, in the Union of Deity with Humanity, and all the wonderful Things he has done and suffered in Consequence of it.

tification and Salvation.

themselves Christian Priests, have studied; and labour to govern their Sect. 6. whole Conduct by such apparent Principles of Integrity and Honour, Ver. 2. that they may commend themselves to every Man's Conscience in the Sight of GOD.

This End will be much promoted, if they learn to lay afide all finister Ver. 5. Views of Interest and Ambition, of human Applause, or a Dominion over Men's Consciences; and putting on that humble Character, so amiably illustrated in the Apostle Paul's Writings, every where, with all loyal Affection preach Christ, as the great Lord and Head of the Church; and declare, and approve themselves, the willing Servants of Souls for his Sake. So humbing themselves, they will be exalted in the Eyes of God and Man; and will reap those heart-felt Pleasures now, and those Honours, Emoluments, and Delights hereafter, which will infinitely more than indemnify them for all they may resign; and exceed, not only the low Apprehensions of the Servants of Mammon, in Christ's Livery, but their own most elevated Conceptions.

Let every Reader feriously examine himself, as to the Knowledge he has of this Gospel, and the Degree in which he has felt a Sense of its Glory and Excellence upon his Heart; folemnly confidering, that if the Lustre and Efficacy of the Gospel be bidden from him, it is a sad Sign, Ver. 3. that he is himself a lost Creature, and is like to be lost to God and Happiness for ever; he is the Captive of Satan, blinded by him as the God of this Ver. 4. World, and in the probable Way to be led on to unseen, but irretrievable. Destruction. Dreadful Situation! which might indeed occasion absolute Despair, were it not for the Views, which the Gospel gives us, of that God, who in the Beginning of the Creation commanded the Light to Ver. 6. shine out of Darkness: Who can yet say, let there be Light, and there shall be Light in the most benighted Soul, and the Lustre of the glorious Knowledge of GOD in the Person of Christ shall beam forth. Let this Divine Interpolition be earneftly implored; and Oh, that it may be imparted, before the blinded Captives be configned to eternal Ruin, to Blackness of Darkness for ever!

SECT.

S E C T. VII.

The Apostle freely acknowledges his own Infirmities; but glories in the Strength communicated to him from GOD, as an effectual Support under the extreamest Trials; over which he triumphs in the Language of the strongest Faith. 2 Cor. IV. 7,---15.

2 Corinthians IV. 7.

'HAVE spoken to you of the Excellence of L the Gospel, representing it as a most invaluable 2 Cor. IV. Treasure; and indeed it is so rich a Blessing, that the highest Angel in Heaven might think it an Honour, to be employed in dispensing it. fuch is the Conduct of Providence in this Refpect, that we have this invaluable Treasure in earthen Vessels: Feeble Creatures, who dwell in mortal Bodies, and are furrounded with numberless Infirmities, are employed in dispensing it to us; that so the Excellence of the Power, by which its great and important Ends are answered, may appear to be of GOD, and not of us; who are so far from being able to add Efficacy to our own Labours, that it is wonderful how we are ena-8 bled even to fustain them (a). [We are] indeed in every Respect greatly afflicted (b); but thro' the Divine Care over us, we are not utterly overpressed (c) with the Weight and Variety of our Trials;

2 CORINTHIANS IV. 7.

BUT we have this Treasure in earthen Vessels, that the Excellency of the Power may be of God, and not of us.

8 We are troubled on every Side, yet not distressed;

(a) We are afflicted, &c.] This Section may feem a Digression; but nothing could be more pertinent to the Apostle's grand Purpose. He aimed at Recovering the Affections of these Corinthians, which were much alienated from him; for this Purpose he freely opens his Heart towards them, and tenderly represents the many and grievous Pressures and Hardships, to which Love to Souls, and to theirs among the rest, exposed him. This I take to be the true Key to this beautiful and pathetick Passage.

(b) We are afflicted.] I apprehend the Apostle here to speak with some peculiar Regard to his own Case; yet not so, as to exclude that of his Brethren, which undoubtedly did very much resemble it. Compare 1 Cor. iv. 9.

(c) Not utterly overpressed.] The Word seroxwpumeros, properly fignifies, crushed in a strait Passage.

(d) I have

Digitized by Google

we are perplexed, but not in Despair;

9 Persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed;

10 Always bearing about in the Body, the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the Life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our Body.

11 For we which live, are alway also delivered unto Death for Jesus Sake, that the Life of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal Flesh.

12 So then Death worketh in us, but Life in you.

> 13 We having the same Spirit,

Trials; we are often brought into dubious Cir- Sect. 7. cumstances, but, blessed be God, we are not in Delpair; [We are] continually perfecuted by Men, but we are not for saken of GoD; we are thrown down by our Enemies, yet we are not intirely destroyed by them; but animated from on high, we spring up again, and renew the Combat with increasing Vigor. We are always bearing about with us in the Body the Dying of the Lord Jejus Christ; so that the Cruelties, which were exercised in putting him to Death, seem to be acted over again upon us, by the Rage of the Enemy; yet all this is in Effect, not that an immediate Period should be put to our Life and Ministry, as they defire, but that the Life also of Jesus, now triumphant above all hostile Power, may be more evidently manifested in the Preservation of this our feeble Body, which Enemies, fo many and mighty, are continually endeavouring to def-For we who live, those of us, the Apostles and Ministers of Christ, who still survive, are continually delivered over to Death for the Sake of the Lord Jesus, and as it were, every Day led out to a new Martyrdom in his Cause; but so many new and unexpected Deliverances arise, that it seems as if these Dangers were permitted on Purpose, that, as I said before, the Life also and Power of the bleffed Jesus, our Divine Saviour, may be manifested and demonstrated, in supporting our mortal and feeble Flesh in the Midst of all these Assaults, and perpetuating our Lives from Year to Year thro' so many successive Dangers, which await us wherever we come. that on the whole, I may fay, that Death worketh continually to glorify his Name in us, but Life in you; while you are called to live for his Honour, we may be faid to serve our Redeemer by bearing for his Sake repeated Deaths.

But we endure it all with Resolution and Chearfulness, having the same Spirit of Faith, by which good Men of Old were animated, in their most active Labours, and most painful Sufferings; according

2 Cor. IV. 9.

12

2 Cor. IV. 13.

End of all.

according to what is written, (Pfal. cxvi. 10.) Spirit, according as it is I have believed, and therefore have I spoken (d); we also cordially believe the certain Truth of what we teach, and therefore go on to /peak our important Message, whatever may be the Consequence, supported by this inward Consciousness of our Integrity, and animated by a powerful Sense of Duty towards God, and the Hope of the most glorious Rewards from his boun-14 tiful Grace. Those Hopes rise to compleat and everlasting Happiness; which we continually pursue, as knowing, that if we persevere in that Service with which he hath honoured us, he who raised up the Lord Jesus Christ from the Dead by his almighty Power, will also raise us up by Yefus, whom he will fend at the last Day, commissioned to accomplish this great Work; and that then he will present [us] with you, before the Presence of his Glory with exceeding great Joy, in each other, and in him; and will introduce us to that heavenly Kingdom, to the Prospects of which he hath called us by that Gospel, which we have preached, and which you have believ-For all these great Things [are] prepared, not merely on our Account, but for your Sakes, that the overflowing Grace being compleat in all its diffusive Extent, and exalted Degrees, might abound by the Thanksgiving of many, even of countless Multitudes, who shall share for ever in it, to the Glory of GOD the great Original and written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken: We also believe, and therefore speak;

14 Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus, shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you.

15 For all Things are for your Sakes, that the abundant Grace, might through the Thanksgiving of many, redound to the Glory of God.

(d) I have believed, and therefore have I spoken.] As for the Quotation here, some think, there is an Allusion to the Confidence, which David expresses in the preceding Words, of walking before the Lord in the Land of the Living; as if the Apostle had intended to fay, we also shall in a nobler Sense do it. Mr. Pierce supposes the Spirit of Faith, here spoken of, is the Spirit of Jesus, which enabled him thro' Faith in God to preach that Doctrine, which he knew would provoke the Rage of a wicked World, fo as to end in his Death, and he undertakes to prove in his third Differtation, that the cxvi. Pfalm, in its original Sense, is to be understood as spoken by the Psalmist in the Person of the Mesfiah. But I see no Necessity for urging this. The simpler Sense of the Passage, as it stands in the Psalm, is, "Tho' I have been in very great Affliction, and sometimes almost de-" pressed, yet Faith in God hath supported me, and put this Song of Praise into my "Mouth." In this Sense of the Words, nothing could be more natural, than for St. Paul to adopt them.

IMPROVE-

IMPROVEMENT.

E T us adore the Wisdom and Goodness of God, in sending us the Sect. 7. Gospel-Treasure in earthen Vessels, in employing our Fellow-mortals, rather than Angels, under the Character of his Messengers to us; by which Means we are taught more to depend on God for that Efficacy of Power that renders them successful; to acknowledge his Hand in animating and preserving them, and are kept in such an Exercise of Faith, as is in this present World most honourable to God, and most profitable to us. Let the Mortality of Ministers be suitably remembered, by themfelves and others, and improved to the best Purposes; and let us take Care, that we do not think the less honourably of the Treasure on Account of the Weakness of these Vessels, in which its great Proprietor has thought fit to lodge it.

Let it encourage them, who are strugling with the Difficulties of that arduous and important Work, to think on those Refreshments which the Apostles experienced; in Consequence of which, tho' afflicted, they were not depressed, and tho' persecuted, appeared not to be for saken; but could Ver.8,9. boast, that the Support of their Lives, amidst so many pressing Dangers, was a Demonstration of the Life of Christ. We may indeed all say this, with Respect to the Support of the spiritual Life, in the midst of so many Difficulties. Having obtained Help from him, we continue until this Day; and it is because he lives, that we live also. Confiding therefore in him, let us exert ourselves vigorously in this holy Warfare to which we are called; and strenuously endeavour to maintain our Ground against all the Enemies, who press hard to overbear and destroy us.

And that we may be thus animated, let us labour to engrave on our Hearts, a more lively and affured Belief of the great and important Things, of which we speak, and hear; and that not only in the general, Ver, 13. but in particular Instances. Let us labour to feel at once their Evidence, and their Energy; having the fame Spirit of Faith, which wrought in the Apostles and Prophets, and engaged them to discharge their Office with such distinguished Fidelity, Fervor and Zeal. Especially let us maintain such believing Apprehensions of this great and comprehensive Truth, that GOD bath raised up Christ Jesus from the Dead, and that he will by the Same Power also raise up his faithful Ministers, and Servants, who firmly retain that glorious Gospel; and, as those Discoveries are made for their Ver. 15. Sakes, that they may obtain Salvation by him, and that GOD may be glorified in their united and everlasting Praises, let us daily set before our Eyes this risen and triumphant Redeemer, and look forward to that glo-Vol. IV. $\mathbf{M} \mathbf{m} \cdot \mathbf{m}$ rious

2 Cor. IV.

16.

Sect. 7. rious Appearance of his, when he shall come to be admired in his Saints, and to be farther extolled and glorified, in all them who believe. Amen.

S E C T. VIII.

The Apossele describes the glorious Hopes which he had beyond the Grave, as his great Support and Ground of Triumph, under all those Trials, which he had been mentioning before; and endeavours to animate others to Fidelity and Zeal by that Description. 2 Cor. IV. 16, to the End. Chap. V. 1,--10.

2 CORINTHIANS IV. 16.

E have been speaking of the great Defign of God, in causing his Gospel to be revealed to the Children of Men, that the Thanksgivings of many may redound to his own Glory; and on this Account we faint not under any of our present Pressures, nor suffer ourselves to be borne down by the Assaults of our Enemies; but on the contrary, if our outer Man perishes, yet the inner Man is daily renewed: The Soul gathers new Strength, as the Body grows weaker and weaker, and we feel our Dissolution approaching: 17 which may well be the Case; For we have the firmest Assurance, that this momentary Lightness of our Affliction, which passes off so fast, and leaves so little Impression, that it may justly be spoken of as Levity itself, is working out for us a far more exceeding [and] eternal Weight of Glory (a), the most solid, substantial and lasting Felicity,

2 Corinthians IV. 16.

FOR which Gause we faint not, but though our outward Man perish, yet the inward Man is renewed Day by Day.

to For our light Affliction, which is but for a Moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory;

(a) A far more exceeding, &c.] This Sentence is one of the most emphatical in all Se. Paul's Writings; in which (as Dr. Grosvenor well expresses it,) he speaks as much like an Orator, as an Apostle. The Lightness of the Trial is expressed by To Edappor Ins Glubess. the Lightness of our Affliction; as if he had said, it is even Levity itself in such a Comparison. On the other Hand, the Rad unserson was unserson, is, (says Mr. Bluckwall,) infinitely

I.

18 While we look not at the Things which are feen, but at the Things which are not seen: For the Things which are seen, are temporal; but the Things which are not seen, are cternal.

2 Corinthians V. I. For we know, that if our earthly House of this Tabernacle were dissolved, we have a Building of GoD, an House not made with

Hands,

licity, the exalted Degrees of which, none of Sect. 8. the boldest Figures of Speech can paint, nor c any Stretch of human Thought diffinitly con-And we may affuredly promise ourfelves, that this shall be the blessed End of all, while we are conscious, that we are not aiming (b) at the Things which are visible; are not endeayouring to fecure to ourselves any secular Advantages of one Kind or another; but at those which are invisible. And however vain and visionary fuch Views may feem to the World about us, and we may be despised for attending to them, we have full Satisfaction in our own Minds, that we are acting the wifest Part, in such a Choice and Preference; for the Things which are vifible, and in that Respect may seem to have the Advantage of others, [are] temporary and transient; but those which are invifible, [are] eternal, and therefore fuitable to the Duration of that immortal Soul, which God hath given us, and in the Felicity of which our true Happiness must consist. Nor 2 Cor. V. is this an uncertain, or very distant Hope; for we know affuredly, that if our earthly House of [this] Tabernacle were dissolved, if this mortal Body, constituted of Dust, were mouldered back to Dust again; or if our Zeal for the Service of the Gospel should bring on Matyrdom, which should destroy it before its Time; we have, and should immediately enter on, a Building of which GOD is the great Architect and Donor; an House, not made with mortal Hands (c), nor to be compared finitely emphatical, and cannot be expressed by any Translation. It signifies, that all Hyperboles fall short of describing that weighty eternal Glory, so solid and lasting, that you may pass from one Hyperbole to another, and yet when you have gained the last, are infinitely below it. Blackw. Sacr. Clas. Vol. i. page 332.

(b) Are not aiming, &c.] This oxomevlow exactly figuifies; and our English Word Scope, or Mark aimed at, is derived from the fame Greek Theme.

(c) Not made with Hands, &c.] Whether we consider this Divine Building, as particularly fignifying the Body after the Refurrection, in which Sense Dr. Whithy takes it; or any Vehicle, in which the Soul may be cloathed during the intermediate State, confiderable Difficulties will arise I am therefore inclinable, rather to take it in a more general View, as referring to the whole Provision God has made for the future Happiness of his People, and which Christ represents as his Father's House, in which there are many Mansions. To be cloathed upon with an House, is a very strong Figure; which yet it is evident, the Apolle Mmm2

Digitized by Google

Of which GOD had given the Earnest by his Spirit:

Sect. 8.

pared with the most magnificent Structure they Hands, eternal in the Heaever raised; exceeding them all in its Lustre, as much as its Duration, tho' that Duration be eternal in the Regions of the Heavens, far above either Violence or Decay. And in this View, we groan thro' that Intenseness of Soul, with which we are earneftly and perpetually defiring to be cloathed upon with this House, which is from Heaven;

Since being so cloathed upon, we shall not be found naked, and exposed to any Evil and Inconvenience, how entirely soever we may be stripped of every Thing we can call our own, here below.

And moreover, we who are yet in [this] Tabernacle, do groan, not only with those Longings after a bleffed Immortality, but also being burthened with the present Weight of many Infirmities, and many Calamities: For which Cause nevertheless we would not be uncloathed, or stripped of the Body; for that is what we cannot confider, as in itself desireable; but rather, if it might be referred to our own Choice, cloathed upon immediately, with a Glory, like that which shall invest the Saints after the Resurrection; that so what is mortal, corruptible, and obnoxious to these Disorders, Burthens and Sorrows, may all be so abforbed and fwallowed up by Life, as if it were annihilated by that Divine Vigour and Energy, which shall then exert itself in and upon us (d).

Now he who hath wrought us to this very Thing, to these noble Views and sublime Desires, [is] GOD (e); who hath also given us the Earnest of

- 2 For in this we grone earnestly, desiring to be clothed upon with our House which is from Heaven:
- 3 If so be that being clothed, we shall not be found naked.
- 4 For we that are in this Tabernacle, do grone, being burdened: Not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that Mortality might be swallowed up of Life.

5 For he that hath wrought us for the felffame Thing, is God, who also hath given unto us the bis Earnest of the Spirit.

uses in the next Verse; having in his Thoughts the Glory which each should wear, instead of being cloathed, as now, with that mortal Flesh, which he calls a Tabernacle, as it is so mean, inconvenient and precarious an Abode.

(d) That Mortality may be, &c.] The Expression in these and the following Verses, is not perfectly distinct; but the Meaning seems to be this, " that tho' it appeared most de-" fireable of all to pass to Glory without dying, yet a State in which Mortality should be " swallowed up by Life, was at all Events desireable; and an Absence from the Body to be, " not only submitted to, but wished, in a View of being so present with the Lord, as, even " in the intermediate State, they expected to be."

(e) He who hath wrought us to this very Thing, is GOD.] Mr. Howe observes, that this is a most emphatical Manner of speaking; not only afferting, that God is the Author of it, but ascribing Deity to the Author; as if he had said, "none but God could have raised us "to fuch a Temper." Howe's Works, Vol. i. page 680.

(f) Are

6 Therefore we are always confident, knowing that whilft we are at Home in the Body, we are absent from the Lord:

7 (For we walk by Faith, not by Sight)

8 We are confident, I fay, and willing rather to be absent from the Body, and to be present with the Lord.

9 Wherefore we labour, that whether present or absent we may be accepted of him.

10 For we must all appear before the Judgement-Seat of Christ, that every one may receive the Things done in his Body, according bis Spirit, as the Pledge of better, even of eternal Sect. 8. Therefore, under the Influences of Bleffings. this Divine Spirit, [we are] always couragious in the Midst of surrounding Danger; and whatever natural Aversion we have to Death, are ready to brave its Terrors, in the Views of that immediate Happiness which lieth before us: knowing, that while we are sojourning in the Body (f), we are, as it were, in a State of Exile from the Lord Jefus Christ, in the Enjoyment of whom our chief Happiness consists: For we now walk, and conduct ourselves in the whole Course of Life, by the Faith of Objects, as yet unseen; and not by the Sight of those Glories, or by a Regard to those Things, which we can fee. We are couragious therefore [I /ay,] in these delightful Views, and think with Complacency, of being rather abfent from the Body, and banished from all its Pleafures and Enjoyments, on Condition of being, as we know we shall be, present with the Lord(g), and dwelling as those who are at Home with him. Therefore we make it the Height of our Ambition (b), that whether present in the Body, or abfent from it, we may be well pleasing to him, and receive the Tokens of his Acceptance and Favour.

This is our Concern, and it ought to be the Concern of all; for we must all without any Exception, whatever our Station in Life may have been, be manifest before the Tribunal of Christ; our inmost Soul must there be displayed, and all the most secret Springs of our Actions laid open, that every one may then receive, in that final Distribution of Happiness and Misery, according to what he

(f) Are sojourning in the Body.] So endangeries, here properly signifies; and it is, as Dr. Clark observes, wrong to render it, while at Home in the Body; since it is the Apostle's Design to intimate that this is not our Home.

(g) Present with the Lord.] From this Text Mr. Boyse arges, not only against the Sleep of the Soul during the intermediate State; but that Saints, when departed from our World, go into the highest Heaven; where they dwell with Christ, and are not, as some have supposed, in a Place, where they have only a transfent Sight of him on some extraordinary Occasions Boyse's four last Things, pag. 592.

(h) We make it the Heighth of our Ambition.] This our olympied a plainly imports; and it is flat to translate it, we labour.

Reflections on the Consolation of the Christian Hope.

462

Sect. 8. be hath done in the Body, whether Good or Evil; in full Proportion to his Actions, and the Principles, from which the Searcher of Hearts knows them to have arisen.

to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.

IMPROVEMENT.

BEHOLD the great Lesson, which as Christians we have to learn; and which is of such Esticacy, that if we thoroughly master it, all the other Parts of our Duty will become easy and delightful—to look at the Things which are unseen, rather than at those which are seen. And what can be so reasonable, as that eternal Objects should employ the Thoughts of immortal Beings, rather than those, which they must soon survive? Let all our Souls be directed to them. Let us contemplate the Chap. V. 1. feeble Structure of this earthly Tabernacle, which gives us so many Tokens of its nearly approaching Dissolution; this Tabernacle, in which we

Ver. 4. groan under such a Variety of Burthens; and let us comfort ourselves with Ch. IV. 16. the Prospect of speedy Deliverance; that so while the outer Man perisheth, the inner may be renewed Day by Day. What tho' we have Death

Chap. V. 8. before us in a certain Prospect, and know we must soon be absent from the Body? If we are true Christians, we have the most express Assurance,

Wer. 1. not only that the Time will come, when we shall inhabit a Building of GOD, an House not made with Hands, eternal in the Heavens; but

Ver. 6. that we shall immediately be present with the Lord, with that blessed Redeemer, whom having not seen we love. How much more shall we love him, how much more shall we rejoice in him, when we are blessed with his Presence, and behold his Glory!

While we have this Consciousness, let us be always consident and cou-Ch. IV. 17. ragious, and rejoice in Afflictions and Mortality; since this light and momentary Affliction hath so happy an Instuence upon a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of Glory; and Death will be the Consummation of Chap. V. 7. our Wishes. Let this then be our constant Care, to walk by Faith, and not by Sight; having this ever for the glorious Object of our Ambition,

Ver. 9. that whether present or absent, we may be accepted of the Lord. May God work us up to this self-same Thing; and may the Operation of his Grace upon our Souls for that Purpose, be always acknowledged with the humblest Gratitude, and its farther Communications sought with the most

Ver. 10. earnest Importunity. Then shall we not dread the Tribunal of Christ, before which we are so certainly to appear, and he made manifest; knowing, that our Integrity will be approved, and that those Works of Faith and Labours of Love, which shall then be commemorated, will meet Sect. 8. with gracious Acceptance, and most munificent Rewards.

Digitized by Google

463

SECT. IX.

Touching again upon the Zeal with which he prosecuted the Gospel Ministry, the Apostle makes a Kind of Apology for it, by pleading the irresistible Engagements of a Redeemer's Love, and the infinite Importance of that Message of Reconciliation, with which he was charged; and which, while he recounts, he prosecutes in a pathetick Address to the Corinthi-2 Cor. V. 11, to the End. Chap. VI. 1, 2.

2 Corinthians V. 11.

Nowing therefore the Terror of the Lord, we persuade Men; but we are made manifest unto GoD, and I trust also, are made manifest in your Consciences.

2 Corinthians V. 11.

THAVE now touched upon a Confideration, Sect. 9. which animates us to that Zeal in our Ministrations, with which many are so much surprized, and some not a little displeased. reflect how near the folemn Time is advancing, when we, and our Hearers, shall appear before the Tribunal of Christ; and knowing therefore the Terror of the Lord, the strict Judgment which must then pass on all impenitent Sinners, we, for their Sake and for our own, labour to our utmost, to persuade Men to take all necessary Methods for escaping it. But as we are made manifest to GOD, and think of it with unutterable Pleasure that he knows the Integrity of our Hearts, in profecuting the Work he hath affigned us; I hope also we are manifest to your Consciences, and that I have already given, and shall continue to give, such Proofs of the Simplicity of my Views, and Uprightness of my Conduct, that you will not be able to harbour any Suspicion concerning it.

12 For we commend not

I say these Things freely; for we do not, after the Modesty and Humility, with which we have

II.

Digitized by GOOGLE

behaved hitherto, now begin to applaud ourfelves, or recommend ourselves again unto you (a);
as some have very unjustly charged us with doing in some former Instances; but we are giving you Occasion of rejoicing, and boasting on our Account, as you have indeed Cause to do; and are suggesting what may be sufficient, that ye may have something to [answer] those, who glory in Appearance, and not in Heart; for that, I am persuaded, is the Case with some of your opposing Teachers, whose Consciences must surely recoil upon them, and condemn them, while they pretend to vie with us in the Discharge of the Christian Ministry, and would challenge your Regards in Preseourselves again unto you, but give you Occasion to glory on our Behalf, that you may have somewhat to answer them which glory in Appearance, and not in Heart.

For if, as some injuriously infinuate, we be transported beyond ourselves (b), and the due Exercise of sober Reason, [it is] to GOD; a Zeal for his Glory that animates us; or if we be sober, as we hope you cannot but acknowledge us to be, [it is] for your Sakes, that we take so much serious Pains in the Prosecution of a Work, in which your highest Interest is concerned. On the whole, Love to God, and Benevolence to Man, are the grand Principles, by which we are acted; and we cannot be cold and unaffected, while we have such grand and noble Subjects before us, as those which we handle among you, 13 For whether we be befides ourselves it is to God: Or whether we be sober, it is for your Cause.

(a) We do not recommend ourselves again unto you.] It appears from hence, and from the Beginning of the third Chapter, that the Corinthians were ready to misrepresent the Care St. Paul took to vindicate himself, as Pride and Vain-glory. On the other Hand, they would have interpreted his Silence, as the Effect of Guilt and Confusion. He therefore plainly, and very properly, tells them, that he said this only in his own necessary Desence, and to surnish his Friends with an Answer to those, whose Consciences condemned them, while they endeavoured to asperse him.

(b) Transported beyond ourselves.] Mr. Locke thinks, from comparing Chap. xi. 1, 16,—21. Chap. xii. 6, 11. that the Corinthians censured St. Paul, as a Fool or a Madman, for what he said in Commendation of himself; and then the Meaning is, "you say, I am distracted for my present Conduct; but this is between God and myself. I am sure, you Corinthians ought not to say it; for all my soberer Thoughts and most painful Labours are for you." But I apprehend, on the whole, that the divided Clauses are to be taken in such a united View, as to give the Sense with which the Paraphrase concludes; that it was Piety to God, and Charity to them, which wrought up the Apostle's Mind to that Transport, which some were so ready to censure; and that a lively View of the Love of Christ produced such warm Impressions of both.

(c) Bears

14 For the Love of Christ constraineth us, because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead:

15 And that he died for all, that they which live, should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.

16 Wherefore henceforth know we no Man after the Flesh: Yea, though we have known Christ after the Flesh, yet now henceforth know we bim no more.

to awaken our Piety and our Charity. Love of Christ, so illustriously displayed in that Redemption he hath wrought, constraineth us; it bears us away (c) like a strong and resistless Torrent; while we thus judge, and in our calmest and most rational Moments, draw it as a certain Consequence, from the important Principles, which we assuredly know to be true, that if one, even Christ, died for the Redemption and Salvation of all, who should sincerely believe in him, and obey him, then were all dead; for had not all, even the very best of Men been in a State of Condemnation and Death, there would have been And now 15 no Need of his dying for them. we know, that he died for all, that they who live, only in Consequence of his dying Love, should not benceforth, from this remarkable Period and Æra of their Lives, (whatever they have formerly done,) live to themselves, so as to make their own Will their Rule, or to feek any Interest of their own, distinct from his; but that they should all agree, that they will live to the Honour, Glory and Interest of him, who died for them, and when he rese again from the Dead, retained the same Affection for them, and is continually improving his recovered Life for their So that on the whole, Security and Happiness. we from this Time forward know not any Man after the Flesh; we have no longer any partial Regard for any, on Account of their being Jews by Birth, or Religion, or as to the Aspect, which their Friendship for us may have on our secular Interest; and if we have known Christ after the Flesh, and governed ourselves by any carnal Expectations from the Messiah, as a temporal Prince, who should render our Nation the Terror of the whole World, and raise us to universal Monarchy; henceforth we know [him] in these Views no more, but entertain quite different Sentiments con-

For the Sect. 9. 2 Cor. V. 14.

(c) Bears us away.] This is the beautiful Import of ouvexes, which suggests a noble Simile, which few Translations preserve. See the Note on Phil. i. 23.

Nnn

(d) Em-

466

Sect. 9. 2 Cor. V. concerning him. And thus it will be with others, who enter truly into the Genius of the Gospel; so that if any Man [be] really in Christ Jesus, if he have a vital and prevailing Faith in him, [there is] a new Creation in the Heart of that Man; so intirely are his Principles, Apprehenfions and Pursuits changed: Old Things are passed away, and with Respect to him, behold all Things are become new; he is brought as it were into another World, and is himself quite a different Creature from what he before was. as it is the Work of God to create; so here it may properly be faid, that all Things [are] of GOD, who hath in his infinite Condescension conquered our Prejudices, and reconciled us to bimself by Jesus Christ; having by his Grace in him, laid a proper and honourable Foundation for the Exercise of his Mercy towards us, and for the subduing of our Hearts to Love and Obe-And in Pursuance of this great and dience. condescending Design, he bath committed to us his Ministers, and especially to his Apostles, the Ministry of Reconciliation; intrusting us with this important Message, to proclaim it to the World, and so far as in us lies, to transmit it to the remotest Ages. And this is an Abstract and Epitome. of it all; namely, that GOD was in Christ united to him, and manifesting himself by him, thereby reconciling the World both of Jews and Gentiles unto himself; and in Consequence of that, not imputing to them, and charging to their Account, with righteous inexorable Severity, their various and aggravated Offences: but fetting forth an Act of Grace, and unlimited Pardon, to all those who should believe in him. This is that great Divine Truth on which our Salvation depends; and God bath committed unto us, as a Trust of the highest Importance, the gracious 20 Word, or Message of Reconciliation.

fore we are to be confidered by you, as fustaining the Office and Dignity of Embassadors for Christ (d), on his Account, and in his Stead;

Man be in Christ, he is a new Creature: Old Things are past away, behold all Things are become new.

18 And all Things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the Ministry of Reconciliation.

19 To wit, that God was in Chrift, reconciling the World unto himself, not imputing their Trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the Word of Reconciliation.

20 Now then we are Ambassadors for Christ, 25 though

(d) Embassadors for Christ.] The Apostles were so in a peculiar Sense; but if it be the Will

There-

though God did beseech you by us: We pray you in Christ's Stead, be ye reconsiled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be Sin for us, who knew no Sin; that we might be made the Rightcouncers of God in him.

2 CORINTHIANS VI. 1. We then as Workers together with him, befeech you also that ye receive not the Grace of God in vain:

fo that GOD is, as it were, intreating [you] by Sect. g. us, and we beseech [you] in Christ's Stead (e), with 2 Cor. V. the greatest Importunity and Tenderness of Ad-20. dress, Yhat, when so much is done on God's Part to make up the Breach, which must otherwife have been fatal to his offending Creatures, ye would not, by your own Obstinacy, reject the Benefit of all these condescending Overtures; but would be cordially and truly reconciled to GOD, and thankfully accept of that Friendship and Protection, which he vouchsafes to offer you. that your Hearts may, if possible, be melted, we urge you by the most affecting of all Arguments, even the Blood and Death of his incarnate Son: For we tell you, that he, that is, God, hath made him who knew no Sin, but was perfectly innocent and perfectly holy, [a] Sin [Offering] for us; that by the Sacrifice of himself, he might expiate the Guilt of our Transgressions, and that so we might be accepted in him, and furnished with a Plea, as prevalent for our Justification and Admission into the Divine Favour, as if we had retained our Innocence untainted, and in every Respect conformed ourselves to the Righteousness, which the Law of GOD (f) required and de-We then, [as] the Joint-labourers [of 2 COR.VI. manded. GOD in this important Work, (Compare 1 Cor. iii. 9. Note (f)) beseech [you] with the most earnest Importunity, that you receive not the surprizing Grace of GOD in vain; that you do not so flight this merciful Proclamation of Pardon,

Will of Christ, that Ministers in all Ages should press Men to accept the Treaty of Reconciliation established in him, then it is evident, they may be called his Embassadors, even the such a Phrase had never been used in Scripture.

(e) In Christ's Stead.] So was plainly signifies here. When Christ was in the World, he pressed this Treaty of Reconciliation; and we rise up in his Stead to urge it still

(f) Made the Righteousness of GOD.] That is, divinely righteous. It is a very strong Phrase to signify our being accepted of GoD, as perfectly righteous, when considered as by Faith united to him, who was perfectly so. There is an evident and beautiful Contrast, between Christ being made Sin, and our being made Righteousues; that is, treated as persectly righteous.

(g) Addressing

Right-

Sect. 9.

2Cor. VI.

Righteousness and Life, thro' the Blood of his Son, as to lose the Benefit of it. Again, let me urge immediate Compliance with it on all, who have not as yet secured its invaluable Blessings; for he lays, when represented as addressing himfelf to the Messiah (g), in one of Isaiah's Prophecies, (Isai. xlix. 8.) I bave beard thee in an acceptable Time, and in a Day of Salvation have I belped, and sustained thee. God, there, as you fee, speaks of a limited Time, in which the Messiah's Petition in Favour of his People was welcome to him, and in which he was ready to grant Salvation; and behold now [is] the accepted Time, behold now [is] the Day of Salvation: This is the precious Season, when by the wonderful Favour and Goodness of God compleat Forgiveness, and eternal Felicity is freely offered. Oh, that you may all be so wise, as to accept it!

2 (For he faith, I have heard thee in a Time accepted, and in the Day of Salvation have I fuccoured thee: Behold, now is the acceptable Time; behold now is the Day of Salvation)

IMPROVEMENT.

OW adorable is the Divine Condescension, that such an Embassy of Peace should ever be sent to any of the Children of sallen Adam! Chap. VI. 2. How wonderful the Divine Patience, that the accepted Time, and the Day of Salvation, should after so many Slights, be so long protracted. Oh, let us not receive such Grace in vain, lest affronted Mercy should forsake its Seat and give Way to inexorable Justice!

Surely if there be a Sentiment, that may justly excite the Heart to the greatest Fervour of Affection, and that will vindicate the most ardent Transports of Zeal to spread it in the World, it must be that of the Chap. V. 14. Love of Christ; which may well bear us away, while we seriously consider, in how miserable a State he found us, dead in Sin, and under a Sentence of Death by the Divine Law; especially, when we farther restlect, at how expensive a Rate he redeemed us, even with the Price of his own Life. Who then, that has any Remains of Judgment at all, Ver. 14, 15. must not judge and determine in his own Mind, that it is most fit, that

(g) Addreffing himself to the Messiah.] I think it evident, that as these Words stand in Isaiah, they are a Promise made to Christ; in which God engages to give him the Gentiles, as an Accession to his Church, and Reward of his mediatorial Undertaking. And in this Connection, it is as if the Apostle had said, "since such a Promise is made, see to it that you "feek it, and you will find it an acceptable Time." You will come as it were in a good Hour, as Christ is represented to have done.

our ransomed Lives should be facred to him that redeeemed them; that Sect. 9. our Breath should be on Fire, with the most earnest Desires to promote of his Cause and Kingdom; that benceforth, from the Time we come to the Knowledge of this important Truth, we should not live to ourselves; but to bim, who died for us, and rose again, resuming, with his renewed Life, the same tender Concern for our Happiness, which engaged him continually to exert it in the most generous Efforts, for our Recovery and Salvation.

Let all fecular Views therefore be given up; and let us labour to improve in that Renovation of Soul, which is the effential Character of the .Ver. 17true Christian; and as ever we desire to have any satisfactory Evidence, that we are in Christ, let us see to it that we are new Creatures; and if we are indeed so, let us daily acknowledge our Obligations to his transforming Grace. From him are the first Proposals of Peace and Reconciliation to offending Creatures; from him, the Disposition of Soul, humbly to fubmit ourselves to the Terms so kindly proposed, and to sue our Pardon agreeably to the Purposes of this grand Act of Indemnity. How amazing the Condescension that grants it; and appoints Embassadors to urge us, to have Compassion on our own Souls, and not reject this Counfel of God against ourselves. May the Ministers of the Gospel often con- Ver. 19,20. fider themselves in this View, as Embassadors and Agents for Christ, by whom GOD befeecheth Sinners to be reconciled; and let them profecute this Embassy, with all holy Importunity and earnest Address. Oh, that the Success of it might be more apparent; that so that Friendship might be established between Earth and Heaven, which may bring down daily Anticipations of Heaven to Earth! Amen.

SECT.

SECT. X.

The Apostle enlarges with great Freedom, on the Temper, with which in the Midst of all their Afflictions and Persecutions, he, and his Brethren, prosecuted that important Embassy, of which he had been speaking in the former Section. 2 Cor. VI. 3---10.

2 Corinthians VI. 3.

*Sect. 10. 2 Cor. VI. 3.

HIS is the Affair we negociate, this is the Message we deliver; and while we are thus employed, it is our constant Care, that we may behave in such a Manner, as may add the greatest Efficacy to our Address, and give no Offence (a) to any, by any Part of our [Conduct;] that the Ministry of Reconciliation be not blamed, and the Success of the Gospel thereby obstructed. 4 But on the contrary, we would be, and I hope we are, in every Respect approving ourselves to all that see and know us, such as they ought to be, who have the Honour of being the Ministers and Embassadors of GOD; in this View we govern the inmost Emotions of our Souls, endeavouring to possess them in much Patience, in the Midst of all the Afflictions which his Providence calls us to bear, in all the Necessities we are compelled to endure, in all the Straits to which we are at any Time reduced, and all the Anguish of Heart we

2 CORINTHIANS. VI. 3.

GIving no Offence in any Thing, that the Ministry be not blamed:

4 But in all Things approving ourselves as the Ministers of God, in much Patience, in Afflictions, in Necessities, in Distresses,

(a) Give no Offence, &c.] This Clause is so connected with the foregoing, that it would have been highly expedient to have continued the preceding Section, at least to the End of this; but the Length would be inconvenient. And there are some other Instances, in which we have been forced to yield to Necessity on such Occasions; but the common Division, which separates the last Verse of the 5th Chapter from the first of the 6th, seems yet more improper. To render the Beginning of the Section less apparently abrupt, I render that, we give no Offence, which had more literally been translated by the Particle, giving, &c. as in the following Clauses; but such little Variations, as they affect not the Sense will I hope be excused, as what on my Plan, I knew not how to avoid.

may

(b) Afflistions

2 Cor. VI.

In Stripes, in Imprisonments, in Tumults, in Labours, in Watchings, in Fastings, may unavoidably feel in them (b): This stea- Sect. 10. dy Patience we endeavour to maintain, in Stripes, when we are scourged in Synagogues and Cities, as if we were the most notorious Offenders against Gop and Men, and the vilest Pests of Society: In Imprisonments, tho' we not only endure so many. Hardships in our Confinement, but are cut off by it from these publick Labours for the Glory of God and the Edification of the Church, which are dearer to us than our Lives: In Tumults (c) which are raifed against us by Jews and Gentiles, and by which our Enemies are often endeavouring to tear us in Pieces: In Labours, which we incessantly pursue, either in our Ministerial Work. or in these secular Callings, by which we are often obliged to earn our daily Bread: In Watchings, when in Profecution of those various Employments, the Hours of the Night are added to those of the Day, and we have hardly Time for our necessary Repose: In Fastings, to which, besides those which Devotion chooses, we are often obliged to fubmit, for Want of proper Supplies of Food: Yet still, in the Midst of all these Difficulties, conducting ourselves, in unspotted Purity, labouring to improve daily in the Knowledge (d) of these Divine Truths, which it is our great Business to teach others, and by the Exer-

6 By Pureness, by Knowledge,

(b) Afflictions-Necessities-Straits.] Dr. Whitby thinks, the first Word, bute, fignifies Affliction in general - the second, arayan, more grievous and unavoidable Troubles-and the third, seroxupea, such Pressures, as reduce us to the greatest Straits: The compound Sense therefore on the whole is, we are, as it were, hemmed in with inevitable, and humanly speaking, inextricable Calamities, on every Side. Compare Sect. vii. Note (c).

(c) In Tumults: analas assass.] Beza interprets this, (and I think no Man seems better to have understood the peculiar Propriety of Greek Words,) of such Attacks, as a Man cannot stand against, but which bear him hither and thither by Violence: He would render it in Latin, Exagitationibus.

(d) By Knowledge.] Interpreters give many different Senses of this Word. Dr. Scott fays it fignifies Prudence, which is a Christian Virtue, whereas the mere Understanding of Divine Things was a Gift. Mr. Pyle thinks it fignifies their improving the Knowledge of Divine Mysteries. Mr. Cradock refers it to an Acquaintance with the true Sense of Scripture; which brings it to much the fame, with what has been called the Word of Knowledge. I conclude, it implies not only a Solicitude to grow in the Knowledge of the Gospel, but to improve that Knowledge to the Edification of others; which accordingly is expressed in the Paraphrase.

(a) Armour

cife

2 Cor. VI. *.*6.

Sect. 10. cise of a constant Command over our Passions, to grow in Long-suffering and in Gentleness, and every other amiable Disposition, which we cultivate in humble Dependence on the fanctifying Influences of the boly Spirit; who dwells in our Hearts, as a continued Principle of that undiffembled Love, which we exercise without Limitation, not only to Friends and Benefactors, but 7 Enemies and Persecutors. Still we are faithful in afferting, and zealous in propagating, the sacred Gospel, that Word of uncorrupted and infallible Truth; and we perfift in it, supported by the almighty Power of that GOD, by whom it is revealed, and by whom we know, it shall be rendered finally victorious; and in the mean Time, while our Enemies affault us on every Side, it is our Care still to be cloathed and girded about with the Armour of Righteousness, both on the right 8 Hand, and the left (e); well knowing that Armour to be impenetrable. And in this Consciousness we pass unhurt, and in a great Meafure unmoved, through Honour and Dishonour, through evil Report and good Report, neither elated with the one, nor depressed and dejected with the other. We are treated by many, as if we were a Set of artful Deceivers, that scruple no Fraud and Falsehood, by which we might carry our Cause; and yet we know in our own Conscience, and God can witness for us, that we are true and faithful, and would not deviate from the strictest Rules of Integrity, to carry any Point, how important foever it might feem to ourfelves, or the Religion we propagate. We are treated by Men, as inconsiderable Creatures, in the lowest Rank of Life, obscure and unknown, as undeserving any publick Notice and Regard; and ledge, by Long-suffering, by :Kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by Love unseigned,

7 By the Word of Truth, by the Power of God, by the Armour of Righteoufness on the right Hand and on the left,

8 By Honour and Difhonour, by evil Report and good Report: as Deceivers, and yet true;

9 As unknown, and yet

yet

⁽e) Armour of Righteousness, on the right Hand, and the left.] Some unnaturally think this alludes to the Soldiers, who were taught to wield their Swords with the left Hand, as well as the right; and others, that it refers to the Christians being armed against the Temptations of Prosperity and Adversity. That may well be included; but the Armour spoken of, seems of the defensive Kind, on the Arms, or Breast, or both.

well known; as dying, and behold, we live; as chaftened, and not killed;

fing all Things.

10 As forrowful, yet alway rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich: as having nothing, and yet posses-

[yet] we are really well known to Multitudes, by Sect. 10. the happiest Tokens, as the Men by whom they 2 Cor. VI. have not only received that bodily Healing, which they could never have expected from natural Means, but by the yet more valuable Memorials of having enlightened their Eyes with Divine Knowledge, and brought back their wandering Souls to God. We are regarded by others, as dying Men, and we feem ourselves to be in daily Danger of being facrificed to the Rage of our Enemies; and yet behold hitherto, thro' the guardian and aftonishing Care of that Redeemer whom we preach, we continue in Life, and live to the most important Purposes. Our Afflictions are many, and we confider ourselves under them, as chastened by our heavenly Father; yet, blessed be his Name, we are not killed; and far from intending our Destruction, we know, that he will over-rule these Chastisements to the Advancement of our Salvation. If our external Cir- 10 cumstances alone be regarded, we must indeed appear as forrowful, and the World will naturally conclude, that we have Cause for continual Lamentation; and yet when the inward Dispositions of our Minds are known, and the Views with which we are fecretly supported, it will be found, that we are always rejoicing, in the present Asfurances of the Divine Favour, and the certain Expectation of compleat Felicity and eternal Glory. We appear as poor in this World, and indeed we are so; having neither Silver, nor Gold, nor Estate; and yet we are continually inriching many, with Treasures, which they would not part with for all the Revenues of Princes and Kings: As having nothing, that we can call our own; and yet, indeed, possessing all Things; which we know to be ours, so far as our heavenly Father shall see fit; and therefore are as eafy and happy, as if we were actually the Proprietors of the whole World (f).

(f) Possessing all Things.] This is certainly one of the sublimest Passages, that was ever writ. Compare Phil, iv. 18. 1 Tim. vi. 17. Eph. i. 3. Rev. xxi. 7. 1 Cor. iii. 21,-23. Vol. IV. $O \circ \circ$ IMPROVE-

Digitized by Google

IMPROVEMENT.

Sect. 10. WHOSE Soul can remain untouched, while he reads this eloquent Period, in which the Apostle's Mouth is, (as he afterwards expresses it,) thus opened, in Consequence of his Heart's being enlarged! In how lively, yet unaffected a Manner, does this facred Writer paint his own Character and Circumstances: And how much profound and important Sense is there in these Paradoxes, which he so naturally introduces on this Occasion! Let the Ministers of the Gospel herein behold, at once, their Model, and their Support. Let them cultivate this inoffenfive Be-Ver. 3. baviour, not only out of Regard to themselves, but that their Office may not be cenfured; and still approve themselves the Servants of God, by Patience amidst all their Tribulations, their Necessities, and their Pres-Ver. 4. fures; and, so far as their Circumstances require it, by Labours, by Watchings and Fastings; especially when by an indulgent Providence they are not called to do it in Stripes, in Imprisonments, and in Tumults. Ver. 5. them cultivate Purity and Knowledge, Long-suffering and Gentleness, with Ver. 6. unfeigned Love in the Holy Ghost. Aided by him, let them arm themselves with the Word of Truth, and in the Strength of God, gird on the Armour Ver. 7. of Righteousness on the right Hand, and on the left. Thus fortified, they may boldly break their Way thro' Honour and Infamy, thro' Praise and Re-Ver. 8. proach; as we plainly see, that Infamy and Reproach may be the Portion of the best of Men, and the most useful Members of Society. Who are we, that we should refuse a Cup, of which the Apostles, and our Lord, drank fo deep? But let us be superior to human Censures. If any call us De-Ver. 8. ceivers, let us shew that we are invariably true, to the Interests of God, and of Goodness! If they affect to overlook us, as unknown, and beneath Ver. 9. their Notice, let us endeavour to render ourselves well known, by the Benefits which, by Divine Grace, we are the Instruments of conferring So shall we be always rejoicing in the Midst of those Ver. 10. on Mens Souls. Sorrows, of which Nature cannot be intirely insensible; whilst amidst our Poverty we are inriching many, yea then, tho' we have nothing that we can call our own, we shall possess all Things; shall appear in the Eyes of GOD, and of the Lord Jesus Christ, the richest and the happiest of Mankind, even tho' we were in other Respects, of all Men the most

While we consider this, as the Character of the first Preachers of Christianity, which, with so noble a Plainness and Simplicity they profess, let us adore the Divine Grace, by which such a Spirit was raised in the World, and by which it hath in some Measure been maintained, even miserable.

to this Day. And let it encourage our most earnest and affectionate Pray- Sect. 10. ers, that God would raise up in every Age, (and especially in our own, in which they feem so ready to fail,) a Generation of Evangelical Ministers; who fired with such generous Principles of Action, and emulating fo noble a Character, may commend themselves to every Man's Conscience in the Sight of GOD, and roll away that Reproach, which unworthy Men have brought on the most excellent of all Offices. Thus armed, may they extend their happy Conquests; thus animated, may they fee of the Travail of their Soul, to their abundant, their everlasting Satisfaction and Delight.

SECT. XI.

The Apostle urges the Corinthians to avoid those Alliances with Idolaters, which might tend to insnare them; and pleads the gracious Promises, GOD had made to his People, as an Engagement to them to be upon their Guard in this Respect; and, in general, to aim at the sublimest At-2 Cor. VI. 11, to the End. tainments in Religion. Chap. VII. 1.

2 Corinthians VI. 11.

Ye Corinthians, our Mouth is open unto you, our Heart is enlarged.

12 Ye are not straitned in us, but ye are straitned in your own Bowels.

2 Corinthians VI. 11.

OU see, Ob ye Corinthians, my dear Bre-Sect. 11. thren, my beloved Children, with how much Freedom of Address our Mouth is opened to you; but Words flow freely on an Occasion, on which our Heart is so much enlarged, in a Tenderness, which neither Words, nor Tears, can sufficiently express. Sure I am, that ye are not straitned in us; all that we can do for your Comfort and Happiness, you may securely promise yourselves: But I fear, ye are straitned in your own Bowels, and have not, all of you, that Affection for us, nor Readiness to receive our Communications, which the Relation between us might challenge, and my Tenderness for

Digitized by GOOGIC

13.

Sect. 11. for you ought to excite. And therefore, for that very Recompence, which we most of all de-2 Cor. VI. fire, which is so just and reasonable, and which indeed, in its Confequences, would be yet more beneficial to you, than delightful to us, I speak to you, as to [my] own Children, with all the genuine Overflowings of paternal Love; be ye also thus enlarged (a) towards Me, and let this Confidence with which I am pouring forth, as it were, all my Heart into your Bosom, strike strongly on your Minds, to raise some correspondent Emotion.

13 Now for a Recompence in the same (I speak as unto my Children) be ve enlarged.

And how shall that Love be expressed? Truly by no Method can it more effectually be manifested, than by taking all the Care you possibly can, for your own Security and Happiness. which View, I must particularly urge it, that ye be not unequally yoked either in Marriage, or any other intimate Friendship with Unbelievers; for what Participation hath that Arich Righteousness, to the Practice of which the Gospel calls you, it's fincere Votaries, with that Unrighteousness, in which they are so generally plunged? Or what Communion hath the Light, into which you by the Divine Mercy are brought, with that deplorable Darkness of Ignorance and Vice, in which they continue to be lost? Or what Concord [is there, or can there be, between Christ, to whom ye are united, and Belial, who reigneth in the Children of Disobedience? Or what Part hath a Believer with an Infidel; or an Infidel, with a Believer? The Union is furely, at the first View of it, too unnatural to be either easy, safe, or last-And indeed I may say, what Confistence has the Temple of GOD (b) with those detestable 14 Be ye not unequally yoked together with Unbelievers: For what Fellowship hath Righteousness with Unrighteoufness? And what Communion hath Light with Darkness?

15 And what Concord hath Christ with Belial? Or what Part hath he that believeth with an Infidel?

16 And what Agreement hath the Temple of Gon

(a) Be ye also enlarged. Perhaps the Apostle's Meaning may be this, "Give me that " Pleasure, which my paternal Tenderness towards you will find, in having it in my Pow-" er to do you Abundance of Good, thro' your Readiness to receive what we are so ready " to impart, and to fall in with my Attempts of Usefulness among you."

Idols,

(b) Temple of GOD.] There seems a peculiar Strength in this Interrogation. If God would not endure Idols in any Part of the Land, in which he dwelt, how much less would he endure them under his own Roof?

(c) In

2 Cor. VI.

16.

with Idols? For ye are the Temple of the living GoD; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my People.

17 Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean Thing; and I will receive you,

18 And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my Sons and Daughters, faith the Lord Almighty.

2 Corinthians VII. 1. Having therefore these Pro-

Idols, which would by this Means be, as it were, Sect. 11. erected in it; or at least placed so near, that it must be polluted by them? It is a proper Question, and a just View in which to state the Point; for ye are the Temple of the living GOD, as GOD himself bath said; I will, in the most intimate Manner, dwell in them (c), and walk among [them,] and I will be their GOD, and they shall be my People. (Lev. xxvi. 12.) 'Now tho' this immediately refers to God's extraordinary Presence among the Jews, yet, when we confider the Constitution of the Christian Church, we cannot possibly imagine, that God is less favourable prefent with it, than he was with the Jewish. We may therefore consider the Exhortation so naturally grounded on such a Promise, and may, as it were, hear God calling to us, and faying, as to Israel, with Respect to Idolaters of old, (Ifai. lii. 11.) Come out from among them, and be ye separate (d), saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean Thing; and, if ye behave in a Manner thus worthy your professed Relation to me, I will then receive you, which, till then, I cannot And will be a Father unto you(e), and 18 ye shall be to me for Sons and for Daughters, saith the Lord Almighty. Now furely if the Almighty God will fay thus unto us, we ought to be much affected with it, and neglect nothing that is neceffary to ensure so great and invaluable a Privi-Having therefore, my beloved Brethren, ledge.

such VII. 1.

(c) In the most intimate Manner dwell in them.] No Words I know in our Language, ean equal the Force of the Original, evolunce ev avloss, I will take up my Indwelling in them. This was a Promise made to the Jews on their being converted; and consequently refers to their Priviledges, as Members of the Christian Church; which shews the Propriety of the Application, Jer. xxxi. 33. Chap. xxxii. 37, 38.

(d) Be ye separate.] As God's Promise of dwelling in a peculiar Manner among the Tews, obliged them to separate themselves from the Converse of their Heathen Neighbours, that they might not be infnared with their Superstitions; much more are Christians obliged, by that peculiar gracious Presence of Gon which they enjoy, to separate themselves from all impure and idolatrous Worship. Exad. xxix. 45, 46. Lev. xxvi. 11, 12.

(e) I will be a Father, &c.] It is queried, where God fays this? Some answer, Fer. xxxi. 1. But that does not fufficiently express the paternal Relation. Others refer to 2 Sam. vii. 8, 14. which may be applied to Christ, and, in him, to Believers. Compare Heb. i. 4, 5. Some think, it is not expressly to be found any where, and that it refers to all the Scriptures, where God calls his People by the Title of Children.

Digitized by GOOGLE

18.

Sect. 11. fuch gracious Promises of God's Abode among us, his dwelling in us, and his adopting us into the Number of his Children, let us act worthy so high a Relation; and as God is perfectly holy, let us labour to the utmost to purify ourselves from all Pollution, both of the Flesh and of the Spirit, from every Impurity of Life, and from every fensual Affection, which might defile our Hearts, and render them displeasing to him. Nor let us rest merely in this negative View of Religion; but let us endeavour to be perfecting H2liness, and lay the Foundation of it, in the Fear of GOD, in whose Presence we always are, and by whom all our Actions are examined, and to whom our Hearts are open: well knowing, that we cannot fecure to ourselves these Bleffings, without fuch a Care; and that it is what Gratitude most powerfully dictates, where we have the highest Hopes, that we are interested in them.

mises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all Filthiness of the Flesh and Spirit, perfecting Holiness in the Fear of God.

IMPROVEMENT.

HUS may cordial Love open the Mouth of Christian Ministers, Ver. 11. when addressing their People; and thus may the Love of Christians to each other in every Station of Life express itself, and produce for a Recompence a mutual Enlargement. This is one of the sweetest Plea-Ver. 12. fures, and richest Blessings of Friendship, when wisely and happily contracted. Let us therefore cultivate such Friendships; and be very careful, that we do not form others, which may properly be called, being Ver. 14,-16. unequally yoked. We profess to be pursuing Righteousness, to be Light in the Lord, to be united to Christ, to be confecrated to GOD: Let us not then have an intimate Converse with the Slaves of Unrighteousness, the Children of Darkness, the Sons of Belial, the Votaries of Idols. Far from subjecting ourselves to such dangerous Snares, let us rather be earneftly feeking every Advantage, for making the noblest Improvements in Religion. Let us examine our Lives and our Hearts, that we may Chap. VII.1. be cleansed from all Pollutions of the Spirit, as well as of the Flesh. Let us labour after sublime Ideas of the Perfection of Holiness, and after a Temper of Mind correspondent to those Ideas. In Order to attain which, let us often be furveying our high and glorious Priviledges, and those exceeding rich and precious Promises, which God by his Gos-

Chap. VI. 17, pel is making to us; feparating ourselves from all Evil, that he may receive

ceive us, that he may dwell with us, and walk among us, that he may con- Sect. 11. fecrate us a holy Temple to himself; yea, that the Lord Almighty may become a Father to us, and own us for his Sons and his Daughters. To us is the Word of this Promife fent, this is the Hope of our Calling: Let us make it sure, let us daily survey it, that it may produce and cherish a correspondent Sanctity and Zeal. Amen.

SECT. XII.

The Apostle farther expresses his Affections to the Corinthians, as illustrated by the Pleasure, with which he received good Tidings from them by Titus, and by the Part he took in the Sorrows which his necessary Reproofs had occasioned, and his present Joy in that these Sorrows had issued on their Reformation. 2 Cor. VII. 2, to the End.

2 CORINTHIANS VII. 2.

R Eceive us; we have wronged no Man, we have corrupted no Man, we have defrauded no Man.

2 Corinthians VII. 2.

UT to return from this Digression, to the Sect. 12. Attempt I was making to remove fome Prejudices, which, much to your own Detri- 2Cor. VII. ment, I know that some of you have imbibed against my Person and Ministry. Give me Leave, my Brethren, to intreat you, that ye receive us with that Affection, which is due to the faithful Servants of Christ, and to those who have been Instruments in your Conversion and Edification. For, whatever may have been infinuated by illdefigning Persons to the contrary, we have injured no Man in his Person, we have corrupted no Man · in his Morals, we have not defrauded no Man (a) in his Property, by any of these Artifices which Covetousness fometimes practifes under very so-

(b) Exceed-

⁽a) Defrauded no Man.] The Word, εσιλεουεκτησαμέν, fignifies to indulge a covetous Temper, and make a Prey of others by it; and perhaps intimates, that the false Teachers, of whom he had so much Reason to complain, had done it.

Scenes

Sect. 11. lemn Forms. I speak not [this] to condemn [you] of Ingratitude, or Infidelity, tho' I have been obliged to find some Fault with you; for I have told you before, that ye are in our Hearts with such Tenderness, that if it were the Will of God we could be glad both to live and to die with [you;] to spend the Remainder of our Lives at Corinth, or to end them there, did not the Purposes of our Master's Glory call to other, and many of them less grateful and agreeable 3 I fpeak not this to condemn you: For I have faid before, that you are in our Hearts to die and live with you.

Great, as you see, [is] my Freedom of Speech to you upon this Subject; and great is also my Boasting concerning you, as to the Assurance which I have of your Regards for me: And, on this Account, I am filled with Consolation in the Remembrance of you; I do exceedingly abound (b) in Joy, in the Midst of all our Affliction, when I think how well you behave, and how happy an Alteration is prevailing among you.

4 Great is my Boldness of Speech toward you, great is my Glorying of you: I am filled with Comfort, I am exceeding joyful in all our Tribulation,

An Instance of this affectionate Regard I have lately had an Opportunity deeply to feel, and very naturally to manifest: For when we came into Macedonia, our Flesh had no Rest, but we were afflicted in every [Place] and Circumstance, thro' the Rage and Malice of our Enemies; yet these Alarms could not cause us to forget you; but while without there [were] continual Fightings, with the most furious and cruel Opposition, within there were Fears and Anxieties on your Account. But the blessed GOD, who is pleased to wear it among his other Titles, that he is the 5 For when we were come into Macedonia, our Flesh had no Rest, but we were troubled on every Side; without were Fightings, within were Fears.

in there were Fears and Anxieties on your Account. But the bleffed GOD, who is pleafed to wear it among his other Titles, that he is the Comforter of those who are brought low by Affliction and Distress, and owns it as his Prerogative to bear up the human Heart, comforted us by the Coming of Titus; who arrived so seasonably at Macedonia, at a Time, when both our Circumstances and Frame of Spirit needed all the Affistance, that so pious and delightful a Friend could give.

6 Nevertheless, God that comforteth those that are cast down, comforted us by the Coming of Titus:

(b) Exceedingly abound.] The Word, unepressional, has an inexpressible Energy; and is, if I mistake not, a Word of the Apostle's own making.

(c) However

7.

7 And not by his Coming only, but by the Confolation wherewith he was comforted in you, when he told us your carnest Desire, your Mourning, your fervent Mind toward me; fo that I rejoiced the more.

8 For though I made you forry with a Letter, I do not repent, though I did repent: For I perceive that the same Epistle made you forry, though it were but for a Season.

9 Now I rejoice, not that you were made forry, but that ye forrowed to Repentance: For ye were made forry after a godly Manner, that ye might receive Damage by us in nothing,

And indeed it was not merely by bis Com- Sect. 11. ing, that I was thus comforted; but with the 2 Cor. VII. Consolation, with which he was comforted by you, when he told us particularly of your earnest Desire to rectify whatever was amis, and of your Grief for what had been Matter of Offence to God. and Sorrow to me, and of your affectionate Zeal for me, so that I rejoiced much more, than in other Circumstances I could have done. now I can take the Liberty to fay, that if I grieved you in the Epistle, which I formerly wrote, in which indeed I was obliged to treat fome Subjects with greater Severity, than I could have wished, I do not repent of it, however anxious I might before have been (c); for the Regret I at first felt on that Account, is now swallowed up, in that superior Pleasure, with which I see the happy Effects of it: For I now have the Satisfaction to find, that this Epifle, however, for a little while it might have grieved you, hath by the Bleffing of Gop, been productive of great And now I rejoice, not that ye were grieved, for that will always give me Concern when I reflect upon it; but that ye grieved to fuch happy Purpose, and were by that Means brought to true Repentance, to a Change of Mind; for this was indeed the Case, as ye were grieved with a penitential and humble Regard to the Honour of the bleffed GOD, which is so immediately and peculiarly affected by the Irregularities of those, that profess themselves his People. So that on the whole, ye were not in any Degree endamaged by us; but on the contrary received, as we intended, great Benefit by the Severity we were

(c) However anxious I might before have been: et if µeleveroum.] So I choose to render the Word, as μελαμελεία strictly expresses an after Care and Anxiety for any Thing that has been done; whereas the Word repent always fignifies a Wish it had not been done. Now as what St. Paul did, in writing the former Epistle, was proper, and done under the Direction of the Divine Spirit, it does not feem reasonable to suppose, that he really repented of it. It may also fignify a Kind of Misgiving of Heart, natural, when the Reproof, however necessary, is given to a Person one tenderly loves, where the Event is dubious, as in this Instance it might be.

Vol. IV.

Ppp

(d) Yea,

2 Cor. VII.

·II

Sect. 11. were compelled to use. For this is indeed the natural Effect of a Sorrow like yours; that Grief, which regards the Honour of GOD, and takes its Rife from fuch tender and grateful Views of him, as we before hinted, worketh a Repentance, which leads to Salvation, and issues in it; and therefore is never afterwards to be repented of; whereas the Sorrow, that arises merely from a Regard to the Things of the World, is often a foolish Excess, productive of fatal Consequences, and fometimes worketh Death; either breaking the Heart, arming Men against their own Lives, or otherwise producing that Rebellion against God by which the Soul is finally destroyed. But it is pleasant to trace the happy Effects of that better Principle, which hath influenced you; for behold, this fame Thing, that is, your being grieved for your Sins out of a pious Respect to GOD, and the Dishonour it brought upon him, what Diligence it wrought in you to reform what had been amiss; yea, [what] a solicitous Care, to make the best Apology you could for what you had done; and of the founder Part, to make their Innocence appear; yea, [what] Indignation did it produce against those who had given the Offence; yea, [what] Fear, lest any Thing of that Sort should be encouraged and repeated; yea, [what] earnest Desire of seeing me again, and confirming our Friendship in surer Bonds; yea, [what] Zeal in every Method that could be subservient to these Views; yea indeed, if I may so express myself, [what] Revenge (d), against yourselves for these Things, which all Circumstances considered, you could not but condemn; against Sin, as your great Enemy; so that upon the whole, confidering you as a Society, you have 10 For godly Sorrow worketh Repentance to Salvation not to be repented of: But the Sorrow of the World worketh Death.

11 For behold, this felffame Thing, that ye forrowed after a godly Sort, what Carefulness it wrought in you, yea, what Clearing of youriclyes, yea, what Indignation, yea, what Fear, yea, what vehement Defire, yea, what Zeal, yea, what Revenge! In all Things ye

(d) Yea, [what] Revenge.] Mr. Gutaker has very well observed here, that Calvin and Reynelds and some other Divines of Note, have been missed by taking it for granted, that these Verses contain seven distinct Marks of true Repentance, to be found in every sincere Penitent; whereas indeed these are not Charasters of the Temper of each, but of different Perfons, in different Circumstances, according to the Part they respectively acted in the Affair in Question. (e) Received have approved yourselves to be clear in this Matter.

Digitized by Google

wrote unto you, I did it not for his Caule that had done the Wrong, nor for his Caule that fuffered Wrong, but that our Care for you in the Sight of God might appear unto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted in your Comfort: Yea, and exceedingly the more joyed we for the Joy of Titus, because his Spirit was refreshed by you all.

14 For if I have boasted any Thing to him of you, I am not ashamed; but as we spake all Things to you in Truth, even so our boasting which I made before Titus, is found a Truth.

15 And his inward Affection is more abundant toward you, whilf he remembereth the Obedience of you all, how with Fear and Trembling you received him.

approved yourselves to be pure in this Matter, and Sect. 11. there is no farther Stain remaining on the Church, where I was so much afraid of lasting Infamy 2 Cor. VII. and Reproach. Let it not therefore be the Cause of any farther Distress; but affure yourfelves, that if I have written [any Thing] to you, different from what I could wish to write, and you to receive, [it was] not so much with any personal Views, on his Account, who had done, or his who had received the Injury (e), but for the Sake of manifesting our Diligence and Care for you, which thro' the Divine Goodness hath now been made apparent, tho' by so severe and painful a Trial, before GOD, [and] unto you. Therefore we were greatly comforted in your Confolation, and we rejoiced more exceedingly in the Joy of good Titus, which gave me a Pleasure yet greater, than he himself could derive from it; because we find your Temper and State so good, that his Spirit was refreshed by you all. on the whole, if I had boasted any Thing of you to him, that I was confident my Corinthian Friends would approve themselves worthy of the Figure they had formerly made in Religion, I was not ashamed of that Boasting; but as we have always spoken in the exactest Regard to Truth, when addreffing ourselves to you, so also our Boasting [concerning you] to Titus, that all would be well again at Corinth, bas been verified, greatly to our So that his tenderest Affections Satisfaction: are now engaged towards you exceedingly, which he expresses in the most genuine Manner, when ever ke mentions, or recollects, the Obedience of you all in general to those Apostolical Injunctions, which I fent you by him: [and] how you received bim as my Messenger, and the Minister of Christ, with Fear and Trembling, expressing always the most solicitous Concern, that he might see nothing, which it might grieve him to observe, or

(e) Received the Injury.] Hence some inser, and it seems reasonable, that the Father of the incestuous Person was still living; which must be a great Aggravation of his Crime.

(f) Confidence

Reflections on the Joy their Repentance gave St. Paul.

484

16.

Sect. 12. me to hear reported by him. Irejoice therefore, \longrightarrow that in every Respect I have Considence in you (f), 2 Cor. VII. and am encouraged to renew that honourable Testimony, which it has always been my Pleafure to bear to your Character, and which, I affure myfelf, you will continue more and more to deserve.

16 I rejoice therefore that I have Confidence in you in all Things.

IMPROVEMENT.

O.W great is the Boldness of a good Conscience! and how much does it promote that Freedom, that Authority, with which the Ministers of Christ address themselves to their Hearers, when they can Ver. 3. thus appeal to them as to the Uprightness, Integrity, and Disinterestedness of their Conduct! Frequently do we, in some Degree, share the Trials of the Apostle; and while we may be surrounded with Fightings Ver. 5. without, are exercised with Fears within; but we have a GOD, who Ver. 6. affumeth it to himself as one of his Titles, that he comforteth those that are cast down and brought low. May every fincere Lover of Christ, and of Souls, be filled with Confolation from him, and amidst all his Tribu-Ver. 4. lations, whatever they are, be made to rejoice exceedingly in the Joy of his Christian Friends and Converts! May he trace in them the Marks of that true Repentance, which is never to be repented of, and which is repre-Ver. 10. fented in such genuine Language, as no Heart could have dictated, but one that had felt what is here described. And fince there is not a just Man upon Earth, that doth Good, and sinneth not; and consequently none, who needeth not Repentance, may we all know by Experience, that Diligence, that Indignation, that Fear, that Zeal, that Defire, that Re-Ver. 11. venge, which the Apostle saw in his Corinthian Brethren, and which he rejoiced so much to see! There is not a surer Office of Friendship, than Ver. 9. to endeavour to promote this godly Sorrow. And Oh, how bleffed, how divine a Principle is Religion, whose most painful Operation is productive of fo much inward and substantial Happiness! whereas the Sorrow of this World, to which they who fondly love the World, and eagerly pursue it, are most exposed, is attended with such fatal Consequences, Ver. 10. as even to work Death.

> Let us observe with Pleasure the Address of St. Paul, to make the Corinthians what they ought to be, by representing to them that pleasing Con-

⁽f) Confidence in you.] The Address of all this Part of the Epifile is wonderful. This in particular finely introduces what he had to fay in the following Chapter, and is strongly illustrated by Chap. ix. 2,—4.

Confidence he reposed in them, the Manner in which he had even boasted Sect. 12. of them, and the Satisfaction he found in all their first Tendencies towards a Reformation of remaining Defects. And let us earnestly pray Ver.14,16. for the Spirit of Wisdom, that our Hearts may be happily attempered to fuch due Mixtures of faithful Inspection, resolute Sincerity, and en- Ver. 13. dearing Tenderness, with Respect to all who are committed to our Care, whether in Offices of a publick or private Nature, as may most effectually promote their Advancement in the Divine Life, and our own abundant Joy.

SECT. XIII.

The Apostle enters on the Subject of the Contribution he was setting forward for the Relief of the poor Christians of Judea, recommends to the Corinthians the Example of the Macedonians, reminds them of the great Grace of our blefsed Redeemer, and gives some Advices as to the Manner of collecting and transmitting their Bounty. 2 Cor. VIII. 1,---I 5.

2 Corinthians VIII. I.

M Oreover, Brethren, we do you to wit of the Grace of God, bestowed on the Churches of Macedonia:

2 CORINTHIANS VIII. 1.

Now we think it proper, Brethren, to inform Sect. 13. you of the happy and honourable Effects of that abundant Communication of the Grace of 2 Cor. VIII. GOD (a), which has been mercifully bestowed upon the Churches planted here in Macedonia, at Phi-

(a) Grace of GOD.] As xapts formetimes fignifies a Gift, and Things excellent and extraordinary in their Kind, are in Hebrew often said to be Things of GOD, or divine; as Trees of GOD are great and flourishing Trees, Cities of GOD, great Cities, (Compare Pfal. lxxx. 10. Acts vii. 20.) some have explained, xxpir 18 Oss, as if it signified the great or liberal Gift, which has been given in, or by the Macedonian Churches; and Dr. Whithy very fufficiently proves, that xxess fometimes is put for Gift. But confidering what is the general Sense of the Word in St. Paul's Writings, and what his Sentiments evidently are, as to the Doctrine of divine Influences on the Heart, I chose to follow the plainest and most obvious and common Interpretation, which indeed I generally think the best, and take this Verse to be in Sense much equivalent to that pious Acknowledgment of David, 1 Chron. xxix. 14. who are we, that we should be able to offer so willingly, &c.

(b) To

Sect. 13. Philippi, Thessalonica, Beræa, and other Places in this Province; which has engaged them to exert themselves in a most liberal and generous Contribution, for the Relief of the poor Saints in

- Contribution, for the Relief of the poor Saints in And here it would be a Pleasure to me more particularly to tell you, how in a great and extraordinary Irial of Affliction, which they met with from their perfecuting Enemies, who were always so ready to harrass and plunder them, (Compare Acts xvi. Chap. xvii.) their overflowing Joy for receiving the Christian Religion, and with it, if I may so speak, the Depth of their Poverty amidst these Distresses of their own, hath so abounded and furnished such Supplies, to the Riches of their Liberality, that indigent as they are, they have done Wonders for the Relief of 3 their yet poorer Brethren. So that, I can teltify for them, and I do attest it with Pleasure, that to the utmost Extent of [their] Power; yea, and beyond what could have been expected, or on the usual Principles of Computation, judged to have been in [their] Power (b), [they have been] willing of themselves, without my Solicitation, to do the most generous Things for the publick
- At the same Time intreating us with much Importunity, that we would receive the Gift which their Bounty had prepared, and [take] a Part of the Ministration of the Saints, as one of their Commissioners to convey it to Jerusalem.

 And [this they did] not merely as we expected.
 - And [this they did,] not merely as we expected and hoped, but even beyond all we could have imagined; for they first gave themselves, and all they had, intirely to the Honour and Service of the Lord; and having thus surrendered all they were, and all they possessed, to Christ and his Cause, they in Essect resigned themselves to us by the Will of GOD, putting themselves in this Respect under my Direction, to do what I should in Conscience think most adviseable in present Circumstances.

2 How that in a great Trial of Affliction, the Abundance of their Joy, and their deep Poverty, abounded unto the Riches of their Liberality.

3 For to their Power (I bear Record) yea, and beyond their Power, they were willing of themselves:

- 4 Praying us with much Intreaty, that we would receive the Gift, and take upon us the Fellowship of the ministring to the Saints.
- 5 And this they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their ownicives to the Lord, and unto us by the Will of God.

(b) To their Power, yea, and beyond that.] This is a noble Hyperbole, like that of Demostheres, "I have performed all, even with an Industry beyond my Power."

(c) Com-

Digitized by Google

6 Infomuch that we defired Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also finish in you the same Grace also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in every Thing, in Faith, and Utterance, and Knowledge, and in all Diligence, and in your Love to us; fee that ye abound in this Grace also.

8 I fpeak not by Commandment, but by Occasion of the Forwardness of others, and to prove the Sincerity of your Love.

9 For ye know the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your Sakes he became poor, that ye through his Poverty might be rich.

Insomuch that, unable to withstand their pressing Sect. 13. Solicitation, we desired Titus, that as he had begun to do in other Places, so he would also compleat this Instance of Grace and Liberality among you (c), and finish what yet remains to be done, as to collecting the intended Contribution.

Therefore, my Brethren, as ye abound in every 7 other [Gift,] (1 Cor. i. 4,—7. Chap. xii. 8,— 10.) and particularly in Faith, which rifes to the fullest Persuasion of the Truth of the Gospel, and in all Utterance and Ability to instruct others, and in the clearest Knowledge of divine Things, and in all active Diligence, and in your affectionate Love to us; so [we exhort] and intreat [you,] that ye would take this Opportunity of shewing, that ye abound also in this Grace of Christian Li-And here, you will observe, that 8 berality. I speak not by Way of Command, so as to take upon me to determine how much, or in what Proportion, ye shall give; but that I may prove, by what I have just been saying, of the Diligence of others, that is, the Macedonians, the genuine Sincerity of your Love in its most substantial Effects.

And I may well expect, that you should exert yourselves on such an Occasion, in Consequence of your Acquaintance with the great and most fundamental Principles of the Gospel, in which you have been so faithfully instructed. For you know in some Measure, tho' it is impossible for you fully to know, and distinctly to conceive in its utmost Extent, the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that tho' he was rich in the Glories of the heavenly World, and in supream Dominion and Authority there, yet for your Sakes he became poor, that you thro' this his voluntary Poverty, might not only be discharged from that dreadful Debt you had contracted to the divine Justice, by which

Digitized by Google

(d) To

⁽c) Complete this Grace among you.] I doubt not, that xapu here fignifies Gift, or Prefent, or Liberality; but I thought, that retaining the Word Grace here, might make the English Reader more fensible of the Ambiguity and Emphasis of the Word usually rendered Grace.

Sect. 13. which you were become obnoxious to everlasting Ruin and Condemnation; but that you might also become rich in the Favour of God, and in the Graces of the Holy Spirit now, and at Length for ever rich in the Treasures and Glories of the heavenly World: And as I cannot but defire, that the Servants of so excellent a Master may berein imitate his Example, and take the most effectual Methods to advance his Honour and Interest in the World, I give [my] Advice to you in general, to dispatch this Affair vigorously; for this is evidently expedient for you, and consistent with what you have already in a Manner bound yourselves to, as you have begun, not only to do something, but also to exert yourselves (d) resolutely and determinately, a Year is ago. I now therefore intreat you not to be offended, if I urge you to compleat your Undertaking, that according to the Readiness which you expressed to determine, and resolve upon this good Scheme, there may also be the Accomplishment of that Determination, in Proportion to what you

Principle will be pleasing to God, and most as furedly draw its Reward after it; for if there be first a Readiness of Mind, according to what a Man hath, [he is] accepted of God, [and] not according to what he hath not: A little in Proportion to his Abilities, is pleasing to God; yea, more pleasing, than it would be, if this Proportion were

13 less prudently observed. [I say this] not by any Means, that [there should be] a Rest to others, and Affliction to you, that they should be eased, and

14 you overburthened; But that of an Equality, on just and equitable Principles, your Abundance [may be] at this Time, wisely and happily employed, as [a Supply] to their Want: That at some other Time, if Providence give the Occafion

And herein I give my Advice: For this is expedient for you, who have begun before, not only to do, but also to be forward a Year ago.

11 Now therefore perform the doing of it; that as there was a Readiness to will, so there may be a Performance also out of that which you have.

12 For if there be first a willing Mind, it is accepted according to that a Man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 For I mean not that other Men be eased, and you burdened:

14 But by an Equality, that now at this Time your Abundance may be a Supply for their Want, that their Abun-

(d) To exert yourselves.] It is evident that, To θελείν, is an Advance upon, ποιποεί. So that it must fignify a resolute and vigorous Determination. Compare 1 Cor. xvi. 2.

(e) That

Abundance also may be a Supply for your Want, that there may be Equality;

15 As it is written, He that had gathered much, had nothing over; and he that had gathered little, had no Lack.

fion and Opportunity their Abundance also may Sect. 13. be [so] to your Want (e); that there may be such an Equality in the Distribution of the good 2 Cor. VIII. Things of this Life, as our mutual Relation to each other may require. For the bountiful Providence of God hath furnished them out in fuch an Abundance, and given to some of you fuch a Superfluity, that there is Room for a liberal Distribution, without injuring the original Possessor; and if such a Distribution be made, we shall find that, as it is written concerning the Manna, (Exod. xvi. 18.) be that [bad] much did not abound, when all came to be divided, and be that [had] little did not lack (f); so he that has the greatest Abundance of this World, may find necessitous Objects enough, and he that is most destitute, will be competently supplied, if his richer Brethren do their Duty in this Respećt.

IMPROVEMENT.

OW peculiarly amiable does the Christian Liberality of these Ma- Ver. 1. cedonians appear, when confidered as abounding in a great Trial of Ver. 2. Affliction, and in the Depth of their Poverty; yet a Poverty, mingled with an Abundance of Joy, on Account of that rich and happy State into which the Gospel had brought them, and the First-fruits of that glorious Inheritance to which they were intitled by the Tenor of it. They were willing of themselves to contribute, even beyond their Power, Ver. 3. as Persons of common Generosity would have estimated it. Nor did they on their dying Beds repent such a Use of their Property, or wish that it had been spent in gratifying their Appetites, or hoarded for those,

(e) That their Abundance, &c.] It might seem obvious to object, that the Corinthians were rich and prosperous, the fews poor and oppressed; so that there was no Room to expect, that this should happen. But it might be replied, "all human Affairs are uncertain; Corinth itself from great Prosperity had been utterly undone in the Roman War by Memmius some Time before: Or particular Persons might be distressed, or the whole Body of Christians there reduced, by Persecutions, tho' their City continued to sourish."

(f) He that had much, &c.] Perhaps nothing could more illustrate the rowerful Agency of the divine Providence, in Events which feem most contingent, than this, that the fuch different Quantities of Manna were gathered by different Persons, yet on an Average there should be an Omer for each.

Vol. IV.

Qqq

Digitized by GOOGIC

Ver. 12.

Ver. 9,

Grace?

Sect. 13. they were to leave behind them. Nor do they now regret these Liberalities, or complain, that their expected Harvest is perished.

Let us remember their Example for Imitation; nor let any, who have a Mite to spare, be wholly deficient, how low soever their Circumstances may be; remembering that gracious Complacency, with which, where there is a willing Mind, the smallest Tribute to the Treasury of God is accepted, according to what a Man bath, and not according to what be bath not. To animate us to the most generous Essorts of overslowing Benevolence, may we ever bear in our Mind that Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, of which we all know something, but which it is impossible we should ever fully know; because it passets to become poor, that we might be inriched by his Poverty. What have we that deserves to be called a Possession, which we do not hold by an Act of Divine Bounty and Let us confider ourselves as under indispensable Engagements in Confequence of it, to consecrate our all to bim, conscious that our all is but a low Return for the infinite Obligations under which he has laid us. He hath contrived and determined, that the Poor in some Form or another, we should have with us always, that we may do them Good, as a Token of our Gratitude to him. Let us faithfully aim to supply their Need, and he who hath most, will have no Superfluity to throw away upon the Lusts or Vanities of Life; and he who hath least, will have no unsupplied Lack: But the Poor will rejoice in the Relief of their Necessities; and the Rich, in the happiest and most delightful Use of their Abundance.

Ver. 15.

SECT.

S E C T. XIV.

The Apostle expresses his Joy for the Readiness of Titus to assist in finishing the Collection; and speaks of the honourable Character of other Christian Brethren, whom he had joined with him in the same Commission. 2 Cor. VIII. 16, to the End.

2 CORINTHIANS VIII. 16.

BUT Thanks be to God which put the same earnest Care into the Heart of Titus for you.

17 For indeed he accepted the Exhortation, but being more forward, of his own Accord he went unto you.

18 And we have fent with him the Brother, whose Praise is in the Gospel, throughout all the Churches:

2 Corinthians VIII. 16.

BUT while I speak of this Collection, which I am desirous of promoting, [I] would [return] my humble Thanks to GOD, who gave that a corn for you in the Heart of Titus, and formed him to these generous and Christian Sentiments. For indeed he not only chearfully accepted, and complied with the Exhortation I gave him; but being more forward than I thought to have found him, he went to you freely of his own Accord, tho' he must see that some pressing and peculiar Difficulties would attend the Undertaking.

And we have also fent together with him, that 18 excellent Christian Brother (a) and Friend, Luke, whose Praise in the Gospel [is] in all the Churches, on Account of the various and eminent Services that he has done for the Interests of Christianity, wherever his Influence has extended, both by

(a) That Brother, &c.] Some suppose this anonymous, tho' excellent Person, to have been Mark, or Silas, or Barnabas; but I rather with most Commentators, suppose it to have been Luke, who certainly attended St. Paul in this Journey to Jerusalem. Some object, that the Brother here spoken of, was sent by St. Paul to Corinth, in Company with Titus; whereas Luke went with St. Paul to Troas, and from thence to Corinth, Acts xx. 4, 6. But Dr. Whithy replies, I think with some considerable Weight, that it is possible St. Paul might go from Philippi to Corinth, and from thence to Troas, and so Persons sent before to prepare his Way, might come, and bring Word to St. Paul that the Collection was ready, and go back with him to receive it. See Whithy on Chap. ii. 12. Many ancient Christians thought that Expression, whose Praise in the Gospel is in all the Churches, refers to the universal Applause, with which St. Luke's Gospel was every where received; and I have paraphrased it, so as to include that, tho' I think the Apostle's Meaning more extensive. See Gurdon at Boyle's Lett. pag. 482.

Qqq2

Digitized by Google

(b) And

ľ

Sect. 14. his Writing and Exhortations. And not only is he so (b) much esteemed on these Accounts, but he was also ordained and appointed by the Stretching forth of the Hand, in Token of the common Consent of the Churches, whom we consulted on this Occasion, particularly in Macedonia, to be our Fellow-traveller, with this Grace which is now administred, and undertaken by us, purely for the Glory of the same Lord, and for [the Declaration of] your ready Mind, in which I was desirous to let you know how heartily I concur.

19 (And not that only, but was also chosen of the Churches to travel with us with this Grace, which is administred by us to the Glory of the same Lord, and Declaration of your ready Mind)

And we now fend him to you, and I have de-20 termined to join a Man of his excellent Character with me; carefully avoiding this, that any one should blame, or throw any Reflection upon us, for the Part we may take in the Management of this Abundance of your Bounty, which is administred by us; lest any should be so unjust and cruel as to infinuate, that I have appropriated any Part of it to my own Use, or to any Purpose: whatfoever, different from that, for which it was: Therein providing Things. 21 originally given: decent, bonest and honourable, not only before the Lord, to whom it is our first, and chief Care to approve ourselves, but also before Men; that we may guard as much as possible, against any Suspicion of our Character, which might hinder And we have fent with them; our Usefulness. that is, with Luke and Titus, our other Friend, and well-beloved Brother, Apollos, whom we have often proved in many other Affairs, to be in a very extraordinary Degree diligent; but who will now, I doubt not, approve himself much more diligent, and exert himself to the utmost incarrying on this Collection, on Account of the great Confidence [I have] in you, as to your Goodness and Liberality: On which Consideration he has changed his Resolution against making you a 20 Avoiding this, that no Man should blame us in this Abundance which is administred by us:

21 Providing for honest Things, not only in the Sight of the Lord, but also in the Sight of Men.

22 And we have fent with them our Brother, whom we have oftentimes proved diligent in many Things, but now much more diligent, upon the great Confidence which I have in you.

(b) And not only so.] This 19th Verse is to be included in a Parenthesis, and the continued Sense of Verses 18 and 20 will be, we have sent that Brother—to avoid Blame, &c.

Vifit:

(c) The

Visit; which, while he had any Apprehension Sect. 14. you might make him an Occasion of quarrelling and contending, he would by no Means be per22. suaded to do.

23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, he is my Partner, and Fellow-helper concerning you: Or our Brethren he enquired of, they are the Messengers of the Churches, and the Glory of Christ.

And if [there be any Question] concerning Titus, [be is] my Partner and my Fellow-labourer with Respect to you; one, who sincerely shares my Care for you, and is always ready to act in Concert with me, in any Attempt to correct what is amiss among you, and to promote your Improvement in real Christianity. Or if the Question be [concerning] any other of our Brethren, whom I have mentioned above, [they are] the Messengers of the Churches (c), whom several Christian Societies have chosen to send about this Business; and they are Persons of so valuable a Character, [and] do so great a Credit to their Profession, that I may not improperly call them the Glory of Show therefore to them, 24 Christ in the World. I intreat you, even in the Sight of all the Churches, to which they are related, and to whom they will undoubtedly make their Report concerning you, the Demonstration of your Love, and the Reasonableness of our Boasting over you; that it may appear to be as well founded, as I assuredly believe that it is.

24 Wherefore shew ye to them, and before the Churches, the Proof of your Love, and of our Boasting on your Behalf.

(c) The Messengers of the Churches.] I can think of nothing more unreasonable, than to translate this Word, Apostles; as the English Word Apostles, is now by long Use appropriated to what is only a Part of the Signification of the Original. As an Apostle of Jesus Christis, one sent forth by him, so an Apostle of any Church must surely signify, one sent forth by that Society. And if I believed that there was so early as this Time a Minister in every Church, superior to a common Pastor, which the most able Advocates for Diocesan Episcopacy seem not generally to think, I could not imagine it consistent with the Dignity and Importance of their Office, that they should be parted with on such an Errand, which any common Deacon might with sufficient Propriety have performed. It is indeed true, that St. Paul was charged with this Trust; but then it seems to have been after he had determined on this Journey to Jerusalem, and not to have been the Occasion of that Journey.

IMPROVE-

Ver. 20.

Ver. 21.

IMPROVEMENT.

Sect. 14. HE Tenderness of Ministers, in all Points, where the Comfort and Edification of the Church is concerned, is indeed Matter of the highest Moment; and where it is remarkable in its Degree, it affords

Ver. 16. just Cause of Thanksgivings to God: For it is he, who puts into their Hearts that earnest Care, who excites and maintains every Sentiment of Ver. 17. Benevolence, when they offer themselves willingly to any generous and charitable Service. It is Grace, that is communicated whatever Good is done; and it ought to be ascribed to the Glory of the same Lord from whom it comes; and it loses much of its Value, if it be not directed to this ultimate, this supreme End.

When the Corinthians desired to deposit their Alms in the Hands of St. Paul, they certainly acted a very wise Part, as no Man living could have rendered them more secure, as to the Fidelity, or the Discretion, of the Distribution. Yet we see, that high as the Aposle's Character stood, and though he had so often given, and was daily renewing, such striking Demonstrations both of his Wisdom and Integrity; yet he would not undertake the Trust alone, but used all proper Methods to approve his Exactness in the Management thereof, even to Strangers; providing Things

May Ministers be often thus employed, as the Almoners of Persons richer than themselves, (as their Readiness to help the Poor in their temporal Affairs, may greatly promote their Usefulness in Spirituals;) and may they be found to manage their Trust with the like conscious and delicate Honour. May they shew a Disposition, like that of St. Paul, to bonest and laudable, not only in the Sight of GOD, but of all Men.

ver. 23. affift in establishing and advancing the Characters of their younger Brethren, and introducing them into Esteem and Confidence. Thus will they indeed most essectually strengthen their own Hands, and edify and comfort the Churches; will prove the Glory of Christ themselves in the present Age, and be the Means of raising up others, who may eminently deserve that illustrious Title, in succeeding Generations.

SECT.

SECT. XV.

The Apostle goes on, with admirable Address, farther to urge their liberal Contribution; and in the full Expectation of it, affectionately recommends them to the divine Bleffing. 2 Cor. IX. 1, throughout.

2 Corinthians IX. 1.

FOR as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you.

2 For I know the Forwardness of your Mind, for which I boast of you to them of Macedonia, that Achaia was ready a Year ago; and your Zeal hath provoked very many.

3 Yet have I fent the Brethren, left our Boasting of you shall be in vain in this Behalf; that, as I said, ye may be ready:

4 Left haply if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we fay not, you) should be ashamed in this same consident Boasting,

2 CORINTHIANS IX. I.

NOW concerning the Ministration intended to Sect. 15. relieve the Necessities of the Saints, or believing Brethren in Judea, it is superfluous that I 2 Cor. IX. should write largely to you, in order to persuade you to the Thing itself: It is sufficient, that I give you a transfent Hint, concerning the Time and Manner of doing what is necessary or proper on this Occasion. For I have known in for- 22 mer Instances, and have now again learnt from Titus, your extraordinary Readiness on this Head; which I indeed boast concerning you to the Macedonians, that all the Region of Achaia, and particularly your Church in its capital City, bas been prepared a Year ago; and your Zeal in this Respect bath quickened many others to imitate your Example, and do more generously, than perhaps they might otherwise have done. Nevertheless I have fent unto you. the Brethren I mentioned before; lest our Boasting of you on this Head, that, as I faid, ye were prepared before, having made up your Sum, should, by any Accident which might have prevented your accomplishing the whole of your Design, in any Degree be made. vain, and appear ill-grounded: Lest if any. of the Macedonians bappen to come with me, and after all find you unprepared, the Money which has been subscribed not being actually collected, we may be ashamed, not to say you also, in this confident Boasting we have used concerning you, and which may recoil in a very unhappy Manner, if it be.

Sect. 15. be not answered. Therefore I thought it necessary fary to exhort the Brethren I have mentioned, that they should come to you some Time before my Arrival, and should first compleat your Bounty which had been spoken of before (a) so largely to them; that so on the whole, it may be intirely ready, and may appear, as what I doubt not but it is, the Effect of free and chearful Bounty, and not look like a Sort of Extortion, wrung from you by mere Dint of Importunity.

And as to this, it

6 mere Dint of Importunity. And as to this, it is an important Maxim, which I could wish that Christians might always keep in Mind, that he who soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly; and he who soweth bountifully, shall reap also bounfully: God will bestow Rewards, proportionable to what is given, and to the Temper from which it proceeds. With this Hint, I leave it to every one to judge for himself, what he shall give, and how much Seed he shall throw into this grateful and fruitful Soil.

Whatever it be, more or less, let it be given with a good Will, and a good Grace: Every Man as he chooseth in his own Heart, not as proceeding from Grief or Necessity, as if he were sorry to part with his Money, and were laid under a Kind of Constraint to do it: for GOD loveth a chearful Giver; and nothing that is contributed, can possibly be acceptable to him without that truly liberal Disposition.

And lest you should fear, that your Charity should bring you into Wants and Straits, I intreat you to consider, that GOD [is] able to make all Grace and Bounty of every Kind to abound towards you (b), so that all your Liberality shall accrue

5 Therefore I thought it necessary to exhort the Brethren, that they would go before unto you, and make up beforehand your Bounty, whereof ye had Notice before, that the same might be ready, as a Matter of Bounty, and not as of Covetousness.

6 But this I fay, He which foweth fparingly, shall reap also sparingly: And he which soweth bountifully, shall reap also bountifully.

7 Every Man according as he purposeth in his Heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of Necessity: For God loveth a cheerful Giver.

8 And God is able to make all Grace abound towards

(a) Your Bounty, which had been spoken of before.] We render resulting superm subereof ye had Notice before. But I suppose it resers to St. Paul's having spoken of it to the Macedodonian Christians, Verse 2.—I think respective here signifies a Kind of Extertion, by which Money is, as it were, wrung from Covetousness, by such Obstinacy, as covetous People themselves use, where their own Gain is concerned; and thus it is opposed to europea, what is readily given, and comes, as it were, with a Blessian.

(b) All Grace to abound, &c.] Some, by Zapis, understand such liberal Providential Supplies, as should surnish out Matter of suture Liberalities; but the more extensive Sense I have given it, prevents that Apparence of a Tautology in the following Clause, which might on that limited Interpretation be apprehended.

(c) This wards you; that ye always having all Sufficiency in all Things, may abound to every good Work:

9 (As it is written, He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the Poor: His Righteousness remaineth for ever.

10 Now he that miniftreth Seed to the Sower, both minister Bread for your Food, and multiply your Seed sown, and increase the Fruits of your Righteousness) ri Being enriched in every Thing to all Bountifulness, which causeth through us Thanksgiving to God.

12 For the Administration of this Service, not only supplieth the Wants of to your Advantage, and you shall be supplied Sect. 15. with abundant Matter for suture Charity; that having always all Sufficiency in all Things, ye may go on with new Enlargement and Vigour of generous Resolution, to abound to every good Work, without sinding your Circumstances straitned. As it is written of the truly liberal and charitable Man, (Psal. cxii. 9.) He hath dispersed, he hath given to the Foor, and in Consequence of this, his Righteousness endureth for ever: He shall always have something to bestow.

We observe in the Course of divine Providence, that God bleffeth the Increase of the Earth so largely, as to suffice for the plentiful Nourishment of Men, with a Remainder of Seed, fufficient to furnish the Harvests of future Years. And may be, who thus supplieth Seed to the Sower, and Bread for Food, supply and multiply your Sowing (c), and largely increase the Productions of your Righteousness: May he so prosper you in all your Affairs, that you may have future Capacity to exercise that liberal Disposition, which at present appears in this Contribution. And I heartily wish, and pray, that you may go on in this laudable and exemplary Course, being in every Thing inriched to all future Bounty to be distributed in the Simplicity of your Hearts, with a fingle Eye to the Glory of God, and the Good of your Brethren: which, in the Instance wherein it has already prevailed, worketh by our Means Thanksgivings towards GOD, both in us who are your Almoners to distribute it, and in these indigent Christians who receive it. For the Ministra-12 tion and Management of this Service (d), -which we have undertaken, and in which we do, as it were, officiate for you in the Presentation of this acceptable Offering, doth not only supply the Ne-

(c) He who supplieth—Bread for Food, supply and multiply, &c.] This Translation is exactly literal, and gives an easier Sense than our English Version. There should be a Comma, as Beza justly observes, after es Brown, agreeably to the Rendering of the Syriac and Arabic. See Beza in Loc. and Wolf. who refers to Isai. lv. 10.

(d) This Service.] This Use of the Word hellspyia intimates, that it was to be considered, not merely as an Act of Humanity, but of Religion, most pleasing to God, and suitable to the Nature of the Goldel-Distantant. Compare Heb. xiii, 16.

suitable to the Nature of the Gospel-Dispensation. Compare Heb. xiii. 16. Vol. IV. Rr

(e) That

· 2 Cor. IX.

Sect. 15. cessities of the Saints, but aboundeth, thro' the Thanksgivings of many which it occasions, to the Glory of GOD: Of many, I say, who by the Experience of this Ministration, this generous Contribution, are glorifying GOD on Account of that Subjection to the Gospel of Christ, which you profess (e), and the Simplicity and Liberality of your Communication towards them, and towards all others, who are in Necessity, and whom you 14 have an Opportunity of relieving.

they thus glorify God on your Account, they are constant and fervent in their Prayers for you, who long after you (f), and wish earnestly to see and know you, on Account of the exceeding Grace of GOD which is in you, and which produces Fruits fo highly ornamental to Christianity.

When I think of these Things, I desire sincerely to bless God on your Account, for all the Grace he hath given you, and for all the Usefulness with which he is pleased to honour you. But I would trace up all to what is indeed the Fountain of all his other Mercies to us, his having bestowed upon us his dear and only begotten Son. Thanks, daily and everlasting Thanks, [be] ascribed to our Father and our GOD, for that his unutterable Gift (g), of the Excellence, Importance the Saints, but is abundant also by many Thanksgivings unto God;

13 (While by the Experiment of this Ministration they glorify God for your professed Subjection unto the Gospel of Christ, and for your liberal Distribution unto them, and unto all Men)

14 And by their Prayer for you, which long after you, for the exceeding Grace of God in you.

15 Thanks be unto Godfor his unspeakable Gift.

(e) That Subjection to the Gospel of Christ, which you profess.] Eas In variage Ins our les γμας υμων εις Το εναγγελιον, expresses not merely a professed Subjection to the Gospel, but æ real Subjection to the Gospel which was professed; which Sense I thought it necessary to preferve by a Change in the Version.

(f) And in their Prayers, &c.] The Construction of the Original is something perplexed here; and indeed I hardly know any Text in the Greek Testament, which is more so. But on the whole, I am ready to prefer the Reading of Soza Collar, instead of Soza Cosles, (which Chrysostom followed;) and suppose both soza color and source or agree with relace. and then the Sentence might be rendered, this Ministration-produces an Abundance of Thanksgiving to GOD from many, who glorify him for your Subjection to the Gospel, &c. and in their Prayer, that is, while they are praying, for you, earnestly desire to see you, &c. But the Paraphrase here, as in several other Places, hath obliged me to break the Sentence; which I the more readily did, as amidst this Perplexity of Grammar the Design of the Sentence is perfectly plain.

(g) Unutterable Gift. If we understand this, with Dr. Whithy, in the following Sense, "I adore Gon for this charitable Temper in you, and other fincere Christians, by which "God is glorified, the Gospel adorned, the poor Saints are refreshed, and you fitted for " an exceeding great Reward,"-it will be as remarkable a Text as most in the Bible, to fliew, that every good Affection in the human Heart is to be ascribed to a divine Influence. I have therefore included this in the Paraphrase; but am ready to think the Apostle's Mind, to which the Idea of the invaluable Gift of Christ was so familiar, rather, by a strong and natural Transition, glanced on that.

portance and Grace of which neither Men or An- Sect. 15. gels can worthily fpeak, or conceive.

15.

IMPROVEMENT.

APPY shall we be, if we learn this pious and evangelical Turn 1 of Thought; if by all the other Gifts of God, we are thus led up to the first and greatest Gift of his Love and Mercy. From that surely Ver, 15. we may encourage our Hopes, of whatever else is necessary and desirable; for he that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all; how is it possible, that he should not be ready, with him, freely to give us all Things that are truly good for us!

Let us observe with Pleasure the happy Address of the Apostle; a Fe- Ver. 2. licity, not the Result of Crast, but of that amiable Temper that was so natural to him. He pleads the high Opinion he had entertained of his Corinthian Friends, the honourable Things he had faid of them; expresfing his Perswasion of their Readiness to give as Matter of Bounty, not of Constraint. He leads them to the inexhaustible Stores of the Divine Liberality, from which they had received their present all; from which he wishes they may receive more and more; and this, not that these Supplies might be ignobly confumed in Self-gratifications, but employed in Acts of the noblest Beneficence. He represents to them the Thanksgivings it had already occasioned to Gop, the Refreshment it administred to the Saints, the Honour it did to their Character and Profession, and the E/- Ver. 9,-12. teem and Friendship for them, which it excited in the Minds of those, Ver. 13. who, tho' unacquainted with them, were well-affected towards their Happinels, in Consequence of this honourable Specimen of their Character. Who could withstand the Force of such Oratory? No. Doubt it was effectual to cultivate the Temper it applauded, and to add a rich Abundance to the Fruits of their Righteousness.

Let us supply the Thoughts suggested for our own Instruction, to excite us to abound in Acts of Liberality, and to present them to God with that Chearfulness which he loves. To him let us continually look, to make all Grace abound unto us; and feek a Sufficiency in all Things relating to the present Life, chiefly that we may be ready to every good Work; that our Liberality may still endure, and that the Multiplication of our Ver. q. Seed sown may increase the Fruits of our Righteousness. To God be the Praise of all ascribed! He ministers Seed to the Sower; he supplies Bread Ver. 10. for Food; he calls up the Blessings of Harvest; he ensures the Advantages of Commerce. May we praise him ourselves, and by the ready Communication of the good Things which he hath given us, to those that want, not only supply their Necessities; but give them Cause to Ver. 11.

Rrr2

abound

500

Sect. 15. abound in Thanksgiving to GOD, as well as in Prayer for us, while they see and acknowledge that exceeding Grace, which is the Spring of of every generous Motion in the human Heart; and to which therefore be the Glory of all.

SECT. XVI.

Some Reflections having been thrown on the Apostle for the Mildness of his Conduct, as if it proceeded from Fear, he here proceeds to affert his Apostolical Power and Authority; cautioning his Opponents, that they should not urge him to give too sensible Demonstrations of it upon themselves. 2 Cor. X. 1, throughout.

2 Corinthians X. 1.

Sect. 16. THAVE just now been expressing my Con-I fidence and Joy in your Church in general, a Cor. X. I. as well as my Affection to it: But I am sensible there are some among you, to whom I cannot speak in such a Manner; and with Regard to such, I Paul myself, the very Man whom they have so often spoken of with Contempt and Defiance, injured as I am, do yet condescend to intreat you, by the Meekness and Gentleness of Christ, our condescending and compassionate Saviour, that Meekness and Gentleness, which I have learnt from his Example and Defire to exercise towards the most unreasonable of mine Enemies; even I, who [am] according to your Representation. and with Respect to my Person when present, humble among you (a), and despised for the Meanness of my Appearance, but being absent, am

2 Corinthians X. 1.

OW I Paul myself beseech you, by the Meekness and Gentleness of Christ, who in Presence am base among you, but being absent am bold toward.

(b) The

⁽a) When present, am humble among you.] Probably they had upbraided, and reflected upon him, in some such Language as this; but there was a Sense, in which he was indeed lewly among them, his presence probably, having nothing majestick.

2 Cor. X.

2 But I beseech you, that I may not be bold when I am present, with that Confidence wherewith I think to be bold against some which think of us, as if we walked according to the Flesh.

3 For though we walk in the Flesh, we do not war:

after the Flesh:

4 (For the Weapons of our Warfare are not carnal, bold towards you, and use so much Freedom and Sect. 16. Authority in my Letters; However I may be reflected upon and even insulted on this Account; I befeech you, I say, as you love yourselves, and tender your own Comfort and Happiness, that I may not, when I am next present, be obliged by your continued Irregularity to be bold, with that Confidence, on which truly I think to presume with Respect to some, who account of us as Persons walking in the Flesh, and affect at least to talk, tho' they have so little Excuse for doing it, as if we governed ourselves by low and mercenary Views. For we are conscious to ourselves, 2: that tho' we do indeed walk in the Flesh, tho' we inhabit mortal Bodies, and are obliged in some Respects to stoop to the Care of them, and to do many Things for their Sublistence, which take up the Time we could much more agreeably spend another Way; yet God knows, we do not manage that important War in which we are engaged, according to the Flesh, by carnal Methods, or with worldly and interested Views (b). you may eafily perceive, by the Manner in which we are armed; for the Weapons of our Warfare [are] not carnal: As we depend not on military Force, so neither on Beauty, Stature, Eloquence or Philosophy, or in a Word, on any Thing which might recommend us to human Regard; but tho' destitute of these we are furnished with others, much more valuable, by that divine Power, which would never exert itself for the fecular Advantage of Persons, professing, as we do, to despise the World, and seek for something so much above it, if we were not fincere in our Profession, and authorized by him to maintain it. Yes, my Brethren, God hath armed us for

(b) Tho' we walk in the Flesh, &c. Mr. Cradock explains this something differently, Tho' we are not free from a Mixture of human Infirmities, yet I do not exercise my 44 Apostolical Power in a weak Manner, as either fearing or flattering Men; but use such 66 spiritual Weapons, as Christian Fortitude, Zeal, Freedom in speaking the Truths of 44 God, and Courage in administring the Censures of the Church, which thro' divine: Concurrence are very effectual."

(c) Every

Sect. 16. our Warfare by the miraculous Powers of his holy Spirit; and they are mighty thro' GOD to the demolishing Fortifications, Prejudices and Difficulties, that, like fo many impregnable Castles, lay in our Way, and yet are battered down, and laid in Ruips, by these our spiritual Weapons.

5 in Ruins, by these our spiritual Weapons. thus we go on in our Conquest; for we are continually casting down the fallacious and sophistical Reasonings, by which vain Men are endeavouring to expose our Doctrine to Contempt, and every high Thing which exalteth itself against the Knowledge of GOD, all the proud Imaginations, which Men have entertained of themselves with Regard to their natural or moral Excellencies, in Confequence of which they neglect the Gospel, and are indeed ready to live without God in the And thus we are enabled to bring every Thought, every proud haughty Notion, which Men have entertained, into an humble and willing Captivity (c) to the Obedience of Christ, the 6 great Captain of our Salvation. And as God is pleased thus to cause us to triumph in Christ, with Regard to the Opposition made by the professed Enemies of the Gospel, so let Men regard us, as Persons baving it in Readiness, by miraculous Powers and Penalties inflicted by them, to avenge all Disobedience, to chastise and punish the Obstinacy of those, who under a Christian Profession pretend to oppose us; now your Obedience is fulfilled, and the sounder Part of your Church recovered to its due Order and Subjection.

This is indeed the Case, and I beseech you to consider it, as it is. Do you look at the outward Appearance of Things? Do you judge of a Man by his Person, or Address, or by any one par-but mighty through GoD, to the pulling down of strong Holds)

5 Casting down Imaginations, and every high Thing that exalteth ittelf against the Knowledge of God, and bringing into Captivity every Thought to the Obedience of Christ:

6 And having in a Readiness to revenge all Disobedience, when your Obedience is fulfilled.

7 Do we look on Things after the outward Appearance?

(d) Mira-

⁽c) Every Thought into Captivity.] The Soul, seeing its Fortifications demolished, submits to the Conquerer; and then every Thought, every Reasoning, takes Law from him. Nothing is admitted, that contradicts the Gospel; Christ being acknowledged as absolute Master. The former Clause shews, how ready Men are to fortify themselves against it, and to raise, as it were, one Barrier behind another to obstruct his Entrance into the Soul. Compare Rom. xv. 18, 19.

ance? If any Man trust to himself, that he is Christ's, let him of himself think this again, that as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our Authority (which the Lord hath given us for Edification, and not for your Deftruction) I should not be ashamed:

9 That I may not feem as if I would terrify you by Letters.

10 For his Letters (say they) are weighty and powerful, but his bodily Presence is weak, and his Speech contemptible.

II Let fuch an one think this, that such as we are in Word by Letters, when we are absent, such will we be also in Deed, when we are present.

ticular of his Life? Surely you ought not to do Sect. 16. it. If any Man be confident in himself, that be is Christ's, let him again bethink himself of this, which he will see evident Reason to acknowledge, if he candidly and feriously examine, that as be [is] Christ's, so we also [are] Christ's; nor can any one produce more convincing Proofs of Christ's calling him to the Ministry, and approving his Discharge of it, than myself. For if I should 8: boast something yet more, abundantly more, than I have ever yet done, concerning our Apostolical Authority, which I am sensible the Lord hath given us for the Edification of the Church, and not for your Destruction, or the Injury of any particular Person, I should not have any Reason to be ashamed, having already used it in a Manner agreeable to its Design.

And this I say, that I may not seem as if I 9 would by any Means terrify you with my Epistles, threatning more than I can perform; on the contrary, I might pretend to much more than I have: done, and to execute, if Need should require it, much greater Severities in a Way of miraculous

And the Hint is necessary;

Punishment (d). for I know there are some among you, that would represent Matters quite in a different Light. [His] Epistles, say they, [are] indeed weighty and strong, but [his] bodily Presence [is] weak, and [his] Speech despicable (e); for which indeed they have some Excuse, as to my Person, and the Disadvantages attending my Utterance. But let such an one, 11: whoever he be, reckon upon this as a certain Fact, that such as we are in Word, by our Letters, when absent, such [shall we be] also when present, in Action:

(d) Miraculous Punishment.] It is to be remembered, it was before this Time that the Apostle had smitten Elymas with Blindness; and it is highly probable from this Text, and others of the like Nature, that fome other Miracles of this awful Kind had been wrought by him, tho' they are not recorded in Scripture.

(e) Speech despicable.] Chrysostom, Nicephorus, and Lucian, or rather the Author of the Philapatris, relate of St. Paul, that his Stature was low, his Body crooked, and his Head bald; which feem to be the Infirmities here referred to. Some think he had also an Impediment in his Speech; but I do not recollect any ancient Testimony to that; the it is not improbable. Compare Chap. xii. 7. and the Note there.

(f) Measuring:

2 Cor. X. II.

Sect. 16. Action; our Deeds will fully correspond to our Words, and we shall do something to vindicate these Pretences, if their speedy Reformation do not prevent.

For we presume not to number, or to compare .I.2 ourselves, with some who recommend themselves in very high Terms; but they thus measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves with themselves (f), while they proudly overlook the greatly superior Characters and Furniture of others, are not wife, nor do they indeed take the most effectual Measures to raise their own Character; but on the contrary, in Consequence of this, fall into many Absurdities of Behaviour, from which greater Impartiality and Modesty, and a better Knowledge of Men and Things, would But we are always careful, that fecure them! we glory not of a distinguished Zeal for the Gospel carrying us beyond [our] Bounds, but only according to the Measure of the Rule, which GOD bath distributed to us under the Character of Apostle of the Gentiles, a Measure to come even unto you; and accordingly we have regularly and gradually advanced towards you, taking inter-#4 mediate Places in our Way. For we do not extend ourselves excessively, as not regularly coming to you; like some who run abruptly from one

Church to another, leaving their Work unfinished behind them, when they think they have disco-

12 For we dare not make ourselves of the Number, or compare ourselves with fome that commend themfelves: But they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves amongst themselves, are not

13 But we will not boast of Things without our Meafure, but according to the Measure of the Rule which God hath distributed to us, a Measure to reach even un-

14 For we stretch not ourselves beyond our Mea-Jure, as though we reached not unto you; for we are

(f) Measuring themselves by themselves: ex earles earles pelles.] Dr. Whithy would render it, measuring themselves by one another; as if they compared themselves with their false Apostles, and grew proud on the Degree in which they resembled them in Acuteness and Eloquence, or other Things on which those deceitful Teachers valued themselves. But it is more natural to think, that the Meaning is, "they looked continually on themselves, sur-" veying their own great imaginary Furniture, but not confidering the vaftly superior Abi-" lities of many others; and so formed a disproportionate Opinion of themselves." And this is every where, one of the greatest Sources of Pride. Bos has taken great Pains to prove, that to measure oneself by oneself, is a Phrase which expresses Modesty, and making a right Estimate of ourselves and others; and taking ourses not for a Verb, but for the Dative of a Participle, would render it, we measure ourselves by ourselves, and compare ourfelves with ourselves, not with the Wise, that is, ironically, not with such wise Men as these. But the this Sense be ingeniously defended by that great Critick, the other seems most natural.

14.

come as far as to you also, in preaching the Gospel of Christ:

15 Not boasting of Things without our Measure, that is, of other Men's Labours; but having Hope, when your Faith is increased, that we shall be enlarged by you according to our Rule abundantly, 16 To preach the Gofpel in the Regions beyond you, and not to boast in another Man's Line of Things made ready to our Hand.

17 But he that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord.

vered a Place, where they can meet with a more Sect. 16. pleasant and agreeable Reception. For, as I observed before, we are by a regular Progress, come even unto you in the Gospel of Christ, having faithfully preached in the other Places that lay in our Way: Not like those, whom I 15 have had so much Reason to complain of, boasting unmeasurably, or in Things beyond my proper Measure, not intruding into Churches planted by the Labours of others, where we have no natural and proper Call; but having an agreeable Hope, [that] when your Faith is increased, as we trust it will abundantly be, even by the Experience of what has lately happened, we shall, according to our Rule and the constant Maxim we lay down to ourselves, be magnified by you so as to abound yet more, that is, shall by your Countenance and Affistance, be enabled to keep on our Courses beyond your Country into Arcadia, and Lacedæmon, or whithersoever else Providence may lead us. For this is greatly in our Hearts, if God shall smile upon our Purposes, to preach the Gospel in the Regions beyond you (g), [and] not to boast in another Man's Province (b), or Rule, in Things made ready to our Hand; as fome, who are very folicitous about their own Ease, affect to do, and then pride themselves in fowing the Ground, which others have cleared. But after all, he that beasteth, whether it be of planting or watering Churches, let him boast not

(g) In the Regions beyond you.] It would certainly have been a great Pleasure to the Apostle to have gone on to Arcadia, and Lucedamon, and to have proselyted those to the Gospel, who had been so long celebrated, in the latter of these Places, for their Valor and Magnanimity; and in the former, for their Wit and Poetry in those agreeable and rural Retreats. But we do not read any Thing in the New Testament, of planting Christian Churches in these Parts of the Peloponnesus.

(b) Another Man's Province, &c.] The Apolile did indeed go to Places already converted, to confirm and establish his Brethren in the Faith; but this was chiefly where he had himfelf planted Churches, tho' he might take some others in his Way; which it would have been Affectation and Difrespect, rather than Modesty to have avoided. But he did not boast in Churches thus visited, as if he were the Founder of them; as his Oppoters probably did, pouring Contempt on St. Paul's Labours; as if they were hardly to be called Christian Churches, which he had left, as they pretended, in so unformed and unfinished a State.

VOL. IV.

2 Cor. X.

17.

Sect. 16. in himself, but in the Power and Assistance of the Lord alone. Let every Minister remember it is to Christ, that he owes all his Ability for his Work, and all his Success in it. that commendeth bimself with the greatest Considence, and in the most florid Manner, is truly and justly approved; but he, whom the Lord commendeth by the Gifts of his Spirit, and by a Bleffing on his Ministry. Let those therefore, who are so ready to applaud themselves and each other, think of this, and learn to be more folicitous than they are, about approving their Fidelity to their great Master, whether they be more or less regarded by their Fellow-servants.

18 For not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth.

I M P R O V E M E N T.

AY the Meekness and Gentleness of Christ ever be remembered by all his Servants; and especially by his Ministers, to whom, both Ver. 1. under their publick and private Characters, it will be of fo great Importance to imitate it. Their Calling is indeed high and holy: Let their Behaviour in it be so much the more humble. And let it be their great Care, that while they walk in the Flesh, they do not war after it. Still, tho' Ver. 3. disarmed of that miraculous Power, with which the Apostles were endowed, are the Weapons of their Warfare mighty. They have the Scrip-Ver. 4. ture-magazine ever at Hand, from whence they may be furnished with them; and may humbly hope, that the Spirit of Gop will render them effectual to the pulling down strong Holds, and abasing every proud Imagination, which exalteth itself against the Obedience of GOD. May every Ver. 5. Thought of their own Hearts be in the first Place thus subdued, and brought into a fweet and willing Captivity! So shall these their Captives, thus conquered, prove as so many faithful Soldiers to fight for bim, against whom they once were foolishly rebelling. And may they succeed in this holy War, till the Empire of our divine Master become univerfal, and the Happiness of Mankind universal with it! To promote this, let us pray, that Ministers may always remember, that whatever Authority they have given them, is for Edification, and Ver. 7,-11. not for Destruction; and may learn from that Moderation, with which the Apostle used his miraculous Powers, in how gentle and candid a Manner they should behave themselves in their far inferior Stations: never making their Pre-eminence in the Church the Instrument of their own Resentment, or of any other sinful or selfish Passion; but ever solicitous

Digitized by Google

The Apostle declares, he was jealous over the Corinthians;

507 to subserve the Interest of our great Lord in all, and desirous to keep up Sect. 16.

their own Character and Influence, chiefly for his Sake.

May they in no Instance boast beyond their proper Measure; and while Ver. 12,-16. they are ready, like St. Paul, to meet all the most laborious Scenes of Service, let them glory not in themselves, but in the Lord. This is a Les- Ver. 17. fon we are all to learn. And whatever our Stations in Life are, let us refolutely and constantly guard against that Self-flattery, by which we may be ready to commend ourselves, in Instances, in which we may be least Ver. 18. approved by him, whose Favour alone is worthy of our Ambition, and by whose Judgment, in the Day of final Account, we must stand or

2 Cor. XI.

SECT. XVII.

The Apostle farther vindicates himself, from the perverse Infinuations of them that opposed bim at Corinth; particularly on the Head of his having declined to receive a Contribution from this Church, for his Maintenance. XI. 1,---15.

2 Corinthians XI. L

سوار: د.د.ند

17:5

fall.

TOULD to God you could bear with me a little in my Folly; and indeed bear with me.

2 Corinthians XI. 1.

WOULD advise every Man, as I have Sect. 17. hinted, to be sparing in his own Commendation, and to study above all to approve himself to Christ; and yet in present Circumstances, I wish you would bear with a little of [my] Folly, that you would permit a little of that Boasting, which I know generally to be foolish: And indeed I must intreat you to bear with me, in what may look this Way, confidering the Manner in which I am urged to it, and brought under an unwilling For I am jealous over you with, 2 Necessity. what I trust I may call, a godly Jealous, and feel the warmest and most zealous Desires, that I may present [you as] a chaste Virgin to Christ(a);

2 For I am jealous over you with godly Jealousy: For I have espoused you to one Husband, that I may present you as a chaste Virgin to Christ.

(a) That I may present you, &c.] This is much illustrated by recollecting, that there was an Officer among the Greeks, whole Business it was to educate and form young Women,

Digitized by Google

Sect. 17. for I bave, by successfully preaching the Gospel to you, and bringing you into the Engagements of the Christian Covenant, in Effect espoused you to one Husband (b), even to him; under the Character of his Servant and Embassador, I have led you into a holy Contract with him, which hath been mutually sealed. I am therefore exceedingly concerned, that you may maintain a pure and loyal Heart to him, who has condescended to take you into fo dear and intimate a Relation.

> And I am the more folicitous about this, as I know what infinuating Enemies are endeavouring to corrupt you; For I fear least by any Means, as in the first Reduction and Ruin of Mankind, the Serpent deceived Eve (c), our common Mother, by his Subtilty, so your Minds should be corrupted from that Simplicity, which should always be in us towards Christ (d), and which the adulterous Mixtures, which some are endeavouring to introduce among you, would greatly injure.

For if he, that cometh among you with fuch extraordinary Pretences, preach another Jesus, as preacheth another Jesus, 3 But I fear lest by any Means, as the Serpent beguiled Eve through his Subtilty, so your Minds should be corrupted from the Simplicity that is in Christ.

4 For if he that cometh, whom especially those of Rank and Figure, designed for Marriage; and then to present them to those, who were to be their Husbands; and if this Officer permitted them, thro' Negligence, to be corrupted, between the Espousals and Consummation of the Marriage, great Blame would naturally fall upon him.

(b) For I have espoused you] This Clause, ηρμοσαμην γαρ υμας ενι ανδρι, may be considered as a Parenthesis; and therefore in the Paraphrase, I have transposed it, that the Construction may appear; ζηλω υμας παρακησαι, I am jealous, &c. — that I may present

(c) Lest as the Serpent deceived Eve, &c.] From the Instance to which this applied, viz. that of the false Apostles, whose Subtilty did not consist so much in crasty Arguments, as in false Appearances, by which they put on the outward Forms of the Apolles of Christ; Mr. Rymer infers, (especially comparing Verse 14.) that the Subtilty of Satan, when he deceived Eve, confisted in putting on the Appearance of an Angel of Light, or pretending to be one of the Seraphim that attended on the Shechinah. (Rymer on Rev. pag. 79.) But I think, that if it had been ever so expressly said by Moses, that the Deception lay, as it very probably might, in pretending to have received the Faculty of Reason and Speech, tho' a Brute, by eating the Fruit he proposed to her, it might be said in the general, that the false Apostles deceived their Followers as Satan deceived Eve, that is, by false Pretences and Infinuations.

(d) Simplicity towards Christ: @ λολοίν 🕒 Ικς εις Γον Χριςον.] This implies an intire undivided Devotedness to Christ, as the great Husband Christians should desire to please, and from whom they are to receive Law; and is with peculiar Propriety opposed to that Mixture of Judaism, which some were endeavouring to bring in among the Corinthians

Digitized by Google

(e) Un-

whom we have not preached, or if ye receive another Spirit, which ye have not received, or another Gospel, which ye have not accepted, ye might well bear with him.

5 For I suppose I was not a Whit behind the very chiefest Apostles.

6 But though I be rude in Speech, yet not in Knowledge; but we have been thoroughly made manifest among you in all Things.

Have I committed an

a Saviour, whom we have not preached; if he can Sect. 17. point out another Christ who shall equally deserve 2 Cor. XI. your Attention and Regard; or [if] ye receive by his Preaching another Spirit, which ye have not yet received, which can bestow upon you Gifts fuperior to those which we have imparted; or another Gospel, which ye have not accepted, the Tidings of which shall be equally happy, evident and important, ye might well bear with [him,] and there would be some Excuse for your Conduct; but how far this is from being, or so much as feeming to be the Cafe, I need not fay at large. Nor will you I am fure maintain any fuch Thing; for I reckon upon most certain Knowledge, that I was so far from being inferior in my Discourses, or Miracles, to these your Favourite Teachers, that I did not in any Respect, fall short of the greatest of the Apostles; but gave you as evident and convincing Proofs of a Divine Mission, as any Church has ever received from any one of them. [I am] unskilful in Speech, using plain and unpolished Language, like that of a Man of the most ordinary Education (e); nevertheless [I am] not so in Knowledge of the Gospel of Christ, and the Divine Dispensations which were introductory to But every where we have been manifest to you in all Things: Every one of you has had a Proof of this, as you received the Gospel from me, and therefore ought not to question my Abilities, nor to prefer another in Opposition to me.

Nothing can be more ungenerous and unreafonable, than to infinuate, that I have renounced my.

(e) Unskilful in Speech.] Is what properly fignifies a private Man, one that can speak no better than the Generality of his Neighbours, being unformed by the Rules of Eloquence. And this is confishent with that great natural Pathos, which we find in the Apostle's Writings; so that there is no Need of recurring, as Dr. Whithy here does, to the supposed Impediment in his Speech, which allowing it ever so certain a Fact, could not properly be expressed by this Phrase. The good Archbishop of Cambray hath a very pertinent Observation on this Expression, in his excellent Dialogues of Eloquence, (pag. 136.) viz. that this might well be the Case, tho' St. Paul shared so largely in the Gift of Tongues; as when he was at Tarsus, he probably learnt a corrupt Kind of Greek, spoken by the Inhabitants of this Place; for we have Reason to believe, that as for any of the Languages which the Apostles had learnt in a natural Way, the Spirit left them to speak as before.

(f) Char-

510

2 Cor. XI.

7.

Sect. 17. my Claim to being an Apostle, by declining that Maintenance, which my Brethren generally think it reasonable to take from the People among whom they labour, and which while employed for them, they may indeed reasonably expect. Have I then committed an Offence, in humbling myself to the daily Cares and Toils of a Tentmaker, that you may more effectually be exalted to the Dignity of those, who know and believe in Christ? Is this after all, the Crime, that I have preached the Gospel of GOD to you at free Coft?

Offence in abasing myself, that you might be exalted, because I have preached to you the Gospel of God

I may almost, in this Sense, be said to have robbed other Churches; so freely have I received from them, at least taking Wages, as it were, [of them,] for waiting upon you; for indeed I received a Kind of Stipend from them, while I abode at Corinth; (Phil. iv. 15.) And when I was in Want, while present with you, I was chargeable to no one Man (f) of your Society, when incapable of maintaining myself as before: For what was deficient to me in this Respect, the Christian Brethren, who came from Macedonia supplied; (Phil. iv. 10.) and in all Things I have kept, and so long as God shall enable me, I will io keep myself from being burthensome to you. this in some Measure I value myself upon; so that as the Truth of Christ is in me, this Boast shall not be violated, nor this Rule broke in upon with Respect to me, at Corinth, or in all the Re-

8 Irobbed other Churches, taking Wages of them, to do you Service.

9 And when I was present with you, and wanted, I was chargeable to no Man: For that which was lacking to me, the Brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied: And in all Things I have kept myself from being burdenseme unto you, and so will I keep myself.

10 As the Truth of Christ is in me, no Man shall stop me of this Boasting in the Regions of Achaia.

And why is it that I infift upon this? Is it because I love you not, and therefore am unwilling to be under any Obligation to you? GOD knows the contrary, that you have a large Share in my tenderest Affections and Cares; yea, that it was my Defire of ferving you more effectually, that subjected me to these Mortifications and Self-degions of Achaia.

IL

II Wherefore? because I love you not? God know-

(f) Chargeable to no Man: ου καζεναρκησα ουδεν&.] Beza would render it, I was not idle at any Man's Expence. The Word vapun implies a benumbed inactive State, a Kind of Torpor, to which no Man seems to be less obnoxious than St. Paul.

nials;

(g) They

12 But what I do, that I will do, that I may cut off Occasion from them which desire Occasion, that wherein they glory, they may be found even as we.

13 For such are false A-postles, deceitful Workers, transforming themselves into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no Marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an Angel of Light.

Therefore it is no great Thing, if his Minifters also be transformed as the Ministers of Righteous-ness; whose End shall be according to their Works.

nials; for fuch they undoubtedly were. But Sect. 17. what I do in this Respect, I will continue to do, that I may cut off Occasion from them who greatly 2 Cor. XI. desire an Occasion to reflect upon me, that in [the Thing of which they are so ready to boast, they may be found even as we (g). I would teach them by my Example, instead of boasting that they have fuch an Influence over you, as procures them a plentiful, and perhaps splendid Maintenance, that they rather emulate my difinterested Conduct, and subsist on their own Labours. But I know, they have no inward Principle, to bear them thro' such Hardships: For fuch, whatever they pretend, [are] false Apostles, destitute of that Divine Mission, which animates our Spirits to do, or to bear, whatever we meet in the Course of our Duty; and indeed they are deceitful Workers, whatever Pains they may feem to take in their Employment; transforming themfelues artfully into the Appearance of Apostles of Christ by counterfeit Forms, which they may put on for awhile, but which they can with no Confiftency long support. And [it is] no Wonder they assume them for a Time; for Satan bimself, in Subordination to whom they act, can put on fuch deceitful Appearances, and wear upon Occasion such a Mask of Sanctity and Religion in his Attempts, that he is, as it were, transformed into an Angel of Light, and one would imagine his Suggestions to be of a celestial and divine Original. Therefore [it is] no great Thing, if 15 his Ministers also under his Influence, be transformed as Ministers of Righteousness: whose End nevertheless shall be, not according to their specious Pretences, but according to their Works; for they will find that God, upon whose Judgment their final State depends, is not to be imposed upon by any of their Artifices.

(g) They might be found, &c.] The Jews had a Maxim among them, "that it was better for their Wisemen to skin dead Beatls for a Living, than to ask a Maintenance from the Generosity of those whom they taught." But it plainly appears, that whatever the false Apostles might boast upon this Head, there was no Foundation for it. Compare Verse 20. and 1 Cor. ix. 12.

IMPROVE

IMPROVEMENT.

Sect. 17. Ver. 2.

OW adorable is the Condescension of the blessed Jesus, who amidst all the exalted Glories of his heavenly Kingdom, is so graciously uniting Souls to himself; espousing them in Bonds of everlasting Love, that they may be for ever near him, and receive the most endearing Communications of his Favour. Much should we all be concerned. that we may have the Honour and Bleffings of fuch an Alliance; that being by profession solemnly espoused to kim, we may in the Day of the Marriage of the Lamb, be presented chaste and spotless. How vigilant should they be who are intrusted by him, to treat with Souls about these Espousals! How solicitous, that they may succeed, and may so present them to Christ!

Still is that crafty Serpent, whose malignant Breath so soon tainted our Ver. 3. common Mother, and all our Happiness, by his Subtlety, labouring to corrupt our Minds from the Simplicity of true Christianity. incessantly watchful against the artsur Deceiver; remembring, that his Works and Designs of Darkness may sometimes be vailed, as under the Ver. 14, 15. Robes of an Angel of Light, and his Ministers transformed, as Ministers of Righteousness. Be therefore sober and vigilant, since your Adversary the Devil adds the Wiliness of the old Serpent, to the Rage and Cruelty of the rearing Lyon, and by both subserves his Purposes of betraying, or devouring the Souls of Men.

Let us therefore with a godly Yeakufy be jealous over each other, and Ver. 2. especially over ourselves; and after the Example of the Apostle be peculiarly so, when we are compelled to say any Thing to our own Advantage. Let us endeavour to arm ourselves against every surrounding Danger, by a growing Regard to the Writings of this excellent Man, who, tho' rude Ver. 6. in Speech, was so far from being in any Degree deficient in Christian Knowledge, that he was not behind the very chief of the Apostles. There are Ver. 5. those, that preach another Gospel: But can they point out another Jesus, Ver. 4. another all-sufficient Saviour? can they direct as to another Spirit? Let us hold fast the Doctrine we learn from his saithful Pen: Let us follow the Exhortations we receive from his experienced Heart: And be ever ready to imitate him in that resolute Self-denial which he exercised, and Ver. 9. that glorious Superiority to every other Interest which he always shewed,

Ver. 12. where the Interests of Christ and of Souls were concerned. So shall we cut off Occasion, from them that seek Occasion against us, and secure a far greater Happiness, in the conscious Reflection of our own Minds, as well as the Expectation of a future Reward, than the greatest Abundance of Sect. 17. this World could have given us, or any present Advantage, to which we could have facrificed the Views of Conscience and Honour.

Digitized by Google

SECT. XVIII.

Farther to affert his Right as an Apostle, St. Paul commemorates bis Labours and Sufferings in the Cause of Christ; yet in such a Manner, as plainly to shew how disagreeable it was to him, so much as to seem to applaud himself, on the most necessary Occasion. 2 Cor. XI. 16, to the End.

2 Corinthians XI. 16.

Say again, Let no Man L think, me a Fool; if otherwise, yet as a Fool receive me, that I may boast myself a little.

17 That which I speak, I speak it not after the Lord, but as it were foolishly in this Confidence of Boaft-

ing.

2 Corinthians XI. 16.

HAVE faid some Things, which may seem Sect. 18. more to the Advantage of my Character, than a Man would wish, any Thing, which comes from his own Lips, or Pen, should appear. again I must say, Let no Man think me to be so foolish in this Boasting, as to take any Pleasure in commending myself. Let the Provocation I have received be confidered; let the Necessity of the Circumstance, and the Importance of my Character, be duely weighed; and you will furely excuse it. But if it must be otherwise censured, I will run the Risque, and beseech you, if you think me foolish in it, as foolish however, to receive and bear with me, as well as others, that I may in my Turn at least boast some small Matter. What I speak on this Head, I speak not after the Lord, not by any immediate Direction or Inspiration from Christ, nor is it so evidently in his Spirit as I could wish, or so apparently conformable to that Example of Modesty and Humility, which he hath set us: But I speak it, as it were, foolishly in this Confidence of Boasting (a); on which 16.

2 Cor. XL

(a) Foolifly in this Confidence of Boasting] It seems indeed not very just and natural, to interpret this, as spoken by immediate Suggestion; yet, it being in present Circumstances Vol. IV. very

Digitized by GOOGLE

Sect. 18. which Account I return to this Subject again with fome fensible Regret. Yet least my Silence should be attended with still worse Consequences, I think myself obliged, the with strong Reluctance, to say, seeing many boast according to the Flesh, in Circumcision and Jewish Extraction, I also will boast as well as they: And truly were I disposed to do it on these Topicks, you well know, that no Man could say more than I.

And by the Way, you may well bear with foolish People, since you [yourselves] are so wondrous wife, and in that abundant Wisdom can cherish that arrogant Temper in others, and second it with your high Applause. Nay, indeed you go farther than that, and not only endure to hear your admired Teachers make very indecent Encomiums upon themselves, but tamely submit to them, while they invade your Property, and tyrannize over you in a most arbitrary and scandalous Manner. For, by what I can learn of the Temper of some among you in that Respect, and of your fond Infatuation in their Favour, it feems that you bear it patiently if a Man enflave you, and even trample upon your Liberty, if he devour [you] by his exorbitant Demands, if be take and seize [on your Possessions,] if he exalt himself as if he were your supream and absolute Sovereign, if his mad Passion were to transport him even to Blows, and he were to finite you on the Face (b), your Fondness for him would prevent you calling him to a just Account, and you would find some Way of excusing, or accommodating the Affair, rather than come to a Breach with him.

18 Seeing that many glory after the Flesh, I will glory also.

19 For ye suffer Fools gladly, seeing ye yourselves are wise.

20 For ye fuffer if a Man bring you into Bondage, if a Man devour you, if a Man take of you, if a Man exalt himself, if a Man smite you on the Face.

 $oldsymbol{D}$ o

very proper the Apostle should speak thus, the Holy Spirit might by a general, tho' unperceived, Influence, lead him into this Tract of Thought and Expression; and tho' such Apologies might seem beneath the Dignity of an Apostle's Character, yet that very Condescension is an excellent and most useful Example of Humility to all Christians, and especially to Ministers.

(b) Smite you on the Face.] As one can hardly imagine, that the false Aposles would run all these Lengths, (tho' Dr. Whithy well observes, that the high Conceit which the Jews had of their Superiority over the Gentiles, might lead them to great Insolence of Behaviour) I chose to paraphrase the Words in such a Latitude, as might wave the Severity of the most literal Interretation.

(c) Thrice

21 I speak as concerning Reproach, as though we had been weak: Howbeit, whereinfoever any is bold (I fpeak foolishly) I am bold alfo.

22 Are they Hebrews? fo am I: Are they Israelites? fo am I: Are they the Seed of Abraham? fo am I:

23 Are they Ministers of Christ? (I speak as a Fool) I am more: In Labours more abundant, in Stripes above Measure, in Prisons more frequent, in Deaths oft.

Do I speak this by Way of Dishonour, from an Sect. 18. envious Desire to derogate from my Superiors, and so bring them down to my own Level; as if we ourselves were weak in Comparison with them. and therefore have not the Courage to attempt fuch Freedoms, as they take? There can furely be no Reason to suspect that; for be they ever so puffed up with their external Priviledges, I would have them to know, that in whatever any one else may be confident in these Respects, tho' I speak it indeed in Folly, I also am confident, and on their own Terms could match, or even ex-Are they, for Instance, Hebrews ceed them. by Language, capable of confulting the Scriptures in the Original, with all the Advantage which a familiar Acquaintance with that Tongue from their Childhood can give them? so [am] I. Are they Israelites by Birth, not descended from Efau or any other Branch of the Family, but that on which the Bleffing was intailed? [o [am] I likewise. Are they of the Seed of Abraham, both by the Fathers and Mothers Side, not Profelytes, or of mingled Descent? fo[am]I; and can trace up as fair and clear a Genealogy, thro' the Tribe of Benjamin, to the Father of the Faithful. Or if they would boast in a Manner more peculiarly referring to the Gospel; are they Ministers of Christ? I may seem to speak foolishly in this boasting Manner, which is so unnatural to me; I cannot forbear repeated Apologies for it; but I will venture to fay here, that I[am] more so than they: so far more than an ordinary Minister, that I am a chosen Apostle, dignified and distinguished from many of my Brethren by more eminent Services: more abundant in Labours now for a long Series of Years: exceeding them in the frequent Stripes I have received on Account of my fingular Zeal: more abundant in Imprisonments, chearfully refigning my Liberty for the Sake of Christ and his Gospel; and often in Deaths, which are continually furrounding me in the most horrible Forms; but which, by divine Ttt2

21.

Sect. 18. Grace, I have learnt to meet and to vanquish in all their Terrors, animated by Love to my divine Leader.

I certainly have endured more Blows, than 24 any of them, in his Cause; for of the Yews I have five Times received, in their Synagogues and before their Courts of Judgment, forty [Stripes] fave one, according to the Precautions which they use, that they may not transgress the Precept of their Law, which limits them to that Number; 25 (Deut. xxv. 3.) And thrice was I beaten with Rods by the Roman Lictors, or Beadles, at the Command of their Superior Magistrates. I have Reason to say, I have been in greater Danger of Death, than any of them: For once, at Lystra, I was stoned, and left for dead in the Place; nor had I been recovered but by Miracle. (Acts xiv. 19.) Thrice I have been shipwrecked (c), and escaped with the utmost Dissiculty from the Rage of the Waves; at one of which Times I was reduced to fuch Extremity, that I paffed a Day and a Night in the Deep (d), floating on the Remainders of the Wreck, and just on the Point of being washed away, and sunk, every Moment. On the whole, I have been in Journies often, where I have not only been exposed to Fatigues, but to great Hazard from wild Beasts, as well as from unreasonable and wicked Men. I have also been in frequent Dangers, from the Depths and

Rapidity of several Rivers (e), which I have 24 Of the Jews five Times received I forty Stripes save one.

25 Thrice was I beaten with Rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered Shipwrack; a Night and a Day I have been in the Deep:

26 In journeying often, in Perils of Waters, in Perils of Robbers,

(c) Thrice have I been shipwrecked.] The Wreck at Malta happened long after; and therefore must at least have been the fourth; and had the Inhabitants known it to be so, they would have been confirmed in their Suspicions of his being a very bad Man; but this remarkably shews us, that a Series of what the World calls, Missfortunes from the Hand of Providence, may befal the best and worthiest of Mankind.

(d) Passed a Day and a Night in the Deep.] A wx θημερον, (rendered a Day and a Night,) fignifies a natural Day, including the Hours of Light and Darkness. Bud , the Word here used, and rendered, in the Deep, was indeed the Name of a deep Dungeon at Cyzicum, in the Propontis; and Dr. Hammond conjectures, that St. Paul was cast into it, as he passed from Troas to that City; but I think the other Interpretation most easy and natural:

(e) In Dangers from Rivers.] To render πλαμων, Waters, as we do, is confounding these Hazards, with those he indured in the Sea, in a very improper Manner.

(f) False

Robbers, in Perils by mine own Countrymen, in Perils by the Heathen, in Perils in the City, in Perils in the Wilderness, in Perils in the Sea, in Perils among falfe Brethren; been obliged to pass; I have also been in Danger Sect. 18. from the Assaults of Robbers, who have lain in wait for me with a Design to plunder, and murder me. I have often been in Dangers from [my own] Countrymen the Jews; who forgetting the mutual Ties of Relation by Blood, Birth and Religion, have attempted my Life with unfatiable Rage, cruelly hunting me from Place to Place, as if I had been some Beast of Prey: In Dangers from the Heathen; who have often been stirred up by the Jews, as well as offended by the Testimony I have been obliged to bear against their Idolatries. Every Place thro' which I have passed, has indeed been a Scene of Perils, and often of great Extremities; fo that I have been in Dangers in the City of Jerusalem, and other Cities: In Dangers in the Wilderne's, while laboriously traversing many dreary and inhospitable Desarts in Pursuit of my Apostolical Work: In Dangers of the Sea; where I have encountered many a Storm, besides those in which, as I observed before, I suffered Shipwreck; and where I have fometimes been beset by Pyrates: And tho' it be shameful to fay it, yet it is most certainly true, that I have frequently been in very formidable Dangers among false Brethren (f), who, amidst. all the most specious Pretensions of Love and: Affection, have been fecretly watching for Opportunities to expose, and, if possible, to destroy me; or at least to ruin my Usefulness, still dearer to me, than my Life.

27 In Weariness and Painfulness, in Watchings often,

I have been for a long Series of Years, engaged 27 in strenuous Labour and fatiguing Toil (g), almost inceffant; so that the End of one has presently been the Beginning of another: I have been, in Watchings, often obliged to add the Fatigues of the.

(f) False Brethren.] Perhaps he mentions these last apprehending peculiar Danger from their Efforts among the Corinthians.

2 Cor. XI. 26.

⁽g) In Labour and Toil. The latter of the Words here used μοχθ is more expressive than the former x020. It fignifies not only strenuous Labour, but such as proceeds to a Degree of Fatigue.

2 Cor. XI. 27.

Sect. 18. the Night to those of the Day, either in extraordinary Devotion, which hath kept mine Eyes waking, while others have flept; or in preaching to those, who have pressed in upon me to hear the Gospel as privately as possible; or by corresponding with Christian Churches who needed my Advice, by which I have lost the Rest of many Nights in my long Journies; or in other Circumstances, into which Providence hath called I have often known what Hunger and Thirst mean, have been in Fastings often, not having had even the Necessaries of Life at Hand. And at the same Time, I have frequently been exposed to the Severity of rigorous Seasons, in Cold and even Nakedness too (b); not having convenient Cloathing to cover me, or comfortable Habitation to repose myself in. All this beside foreign Affairs, that daily Combination, that does, as it were, make up an Assembly, the Care of all the Churches abroad, whose Concerns are rushing in upon me every Day (i) with such Impetuofity, that they fometimes are ready not only to confound, but to overbear me. Nor am concerned only for whole Communities, but for particular Persons too, as soon as their Circumstances are known to me; so that I may say, who is weak, and I am not weak too? Like a tenderlycompassionate Friend, I feel my own Spirits ready to fail, when I see my Brethren sink around me. Who is offended, so as to be led into Sin by often, in Hunger and Thrist, in Fastings often, in Cold and Nakedness.

28 Besides those Things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the Care of all the Churches.

20 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is offended, and I burn not?

(h) Cold and Nakedness.] What an Idea does this give us of the Apostle's Fidelity and Zeal! It is to dye warm in a good and noble Cause. How hard was it for a Man of a genteel and liberal Education, as St. Paul was, to bear fuch Rigours, and to wander about like a Vagabond, hungry, and almost naked, yet coming into the Presence of Persons in high Life, and speaking in large and various Assemblies on Matters of the utmost Impor-

(k) Who

⁽i) Rushing in upon me every Day.] The original Phrase is very emphatical, n επισυς ασις μα n nay nuesar Faious agis properly fignifies a Tumult or Crowd of People rifing up against a Man at once, and ready to bear him down. This, the Version I have given, hints at better than our own, which neither expresses Number nor Violence. But there is still an Imperfection which I endeavoured, as well as I could, to supply by the Paraphrase. Mr. Saurin would render it, what befieges me daily. Saurin's Serm. Vol. x. pag. 163. Edit. 1749.

30 If I must needs glory, I will glory of the Things

31 The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which is bleffed for evermore, knoweth that I lye which concern mine Infirmities.

32 In Damascus the Governor under Aretas the King, kept the City of the Damascenes with a Garrison, desirous to apprehend me:

the Rashness and Uncharitableness of others, and Sect. 18. I am not, as it were, fired with Grief and Indignation, to fee fuch a Dishonour brought upon Religion, and with Zeal, if possible, to redress the Grievance (k)?

If it is necessary to boast, and I am heartily forry that it is, I will however boast of those Things, which relate to my Infirmities; as I know this Tenderness of Temper, that so often weeps and trembles, and glows with fuch strong Emotions, on what fome may think, trivial Occasions, will be esteemed by them; yet of these only, and of those Sufferings, which shew the Weakness of human Nature, and my Need of Support from Christ; of these alone, have I hitherto prefumed to speak: Nor do I feign, or aggravate any Far from that, the GOD and Father Thing. of our Lord Jesus Christ, even he, the eternal Majesty of Heaven and Earth, who is ever bleffed, knoweth that I do not lye, or in any Degree transgress the strictest Boundaries of Truth.

And I cannot forbear adding one Circumstance more, to illustrate the early Dangers to which I was exposed, as soon as I engaged in the Christian Cause, and the remarkable Interposition of Providence in my Favour, which I would never forget. I mean, that when I was in Damascus (1), about three Years after my Conversion, the Governor, or Ethnarch, under King Aretas, set a Guard at every Gate of the City of the Damascenes, being determined, if possible, to seize me; in Compliance with the Solicitations of the Jews, who endeavoured by any Means to make me odious to the Government, and to crush my Usefulness in the Bud, if not immediately to 33 And through a Windestroy my Life itself. And I was let down, dow tbro' (k) Who is offended, and I am not fired?] So πυρεμαι properly fignifies. It may perhaps, in this Connection, allude to the sudden Hurry of Spirits, into which a Man is put by the dangerous Fall of a Person he tenderly loves, especially when occasioned by the Carelesness and Folly of another. (1) In Damascus, &c.] This probably happened, not when he was first converted, but when he had preached about three Years in Arabia. Compare Acts ix. 23,-26. with Gal. i. 16,—18.

2 Cor. XI. 29.

Reflections on St. Paul's Account of his Labours and Sufferings.

2 Cor. XI.

.33 •

.520

Sect. 18. thro' a Window, in a Basket, from a House which flood by the Wall of the City, and happily escaped from his Hands: And by the continued Care of the same Providence, remain unto this Day, and fee the many Contrivances of my Enemies for my Destruction, turned into Disappointment and Shame.

dow in a Basket was I let down by the Wall, and etcaped his Hands.

IMPROVEMENT.

CURELY we have Reason to be thankful, in some Degree, for that providential Permission, to which it was owing, that this blessed Ver. 16, 18. Apostle was brought under the unwilling Necessity of boasting; to which his Modesty submits with such genuine and becoming Regret: We had otherwise lost some very valuable Fragments of sacred History, which it becomes us to gather up with Respect. We are indeed elsewhere informed, concerning several of his Labours, Stripes and Imprisoments; but how frequent, and above Mealure they were, we had never known, if he had not been urged thus to plead them with the Corintbians, and fo to Ver. 23. represent them to us. What a Life was St. Paul's amidst so many Injuries and Hardships! Land and Sea, every Country, every City, almost every Society of Men, feemed to be in a Combination against him, to make his Life wretched; and amidst all the Rigors and Severities of Toils and Ver. 26. Watchings, Hunger and Thrift, Cold and Nakedness, he felt, and particularly complained of the Treatment he received from false Brethren. Yet thus furrounded, and as we should from the Detail be ready to say. thus overwhelmed, with so many and so various Miseries, he was vet happy in the Favour of GOD, in the Presence of Christ: unspeakably happy in the chearful Views of approaching Glory, and in all that abundant Usefulness, with which a gracious God was pleased to honour him. Whilst his benevolent Heart was pained, it was also comforted; and with the Care of all the Churches pressing upon him, and with all that he felt Wer. 28. from particular Persons, still was his Voice in Tune for Praise; and he hardly ever begins an Epistle, without such a Boast of it in some of his first Lines, as looks like one of the Songs of Heaven. Oh glorious Effect of real Christianity, which every inferior Minister, vea, and every private Christian, to this Day feels, in Proportion to the Degree, in which his Character resembles that of this holy Champion of our Divine Faith!

> But Oh! how unlike bis hath been the Character of many, who have borne themselves highest on their pretended Claims to the most extraordinary dinary Powers, by a Succession from him, and his Brethren! What Sect. 18. tyrannical Insults! What exorbitant Oppressions! What base Methods & to enflave the Conscience, the Properties, and the Persons of Men, whom they should have respected, and loved as their Brethren, whom they should have cherished even as their Children! So that one would imagine they had taken the Picture, which St. Paul here draws of the falle Apostles, as a Model of their own Conduct; while they have perhaps denied the Title of Ministers of Christ to those, who have much Ver. 23. more resembled the Dispositions and Circumstances of this his most faithful Ambassador. Oh that this might only be the Infamy of the Popish Clergy, with whose cruel and usurping Practices such Censures may seem best to suit! Or rather, would to God it were no longer even theirs. May the GOD and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who is blessed for Ver. 31. evermore, pour out a better Spirit upon all, who profess themselves the Servants of his Son! That they, whose Business it is to call others to Christ, may themselves first come, and learn of him, who is meek and lowly of Heart; whose Yoke is so easy, and his Burthen so light, that it is astonishing, that any who have themselves felt it, should ever think of binding on others, Burthens heavy, and hard to be borne.

SECT. XIX.

The Apostle goes on, with great Plainness and Freedom, yet at the same Time with great Modesty, to give an Account of some extraordinary Revelations which he had received from GOD, and of those Experiences, which taught him to glory even in his Infirmities. 2 Cor. XII. 1,---10.

2 Corinthians. XII. i.

2 Corinthians XII. 1.

T is not expedient for Me doubtless to glory:

THAVE spoken with some Freedom in the Sect. 19. preceding Discourse, of my Labours and Sufferings in the Christian Cause; but whatever they 2 Cor. XII. have been, I well know, that it is not expedient for me to boast; nor would I by any Means indulge myself in such a Practice; nevertheless (a),

(a) Nevertheless.] The Apostle's speaking of his Visions and Revelations, which indeed did him the highest Honour, could not be a Proof, that he was determined not to boalt. Vol. IV. Uuu

2 Cor. XII.

Sect. 19. with the Precautions I have already advanced, and with these good Purposes continually in View, that have led me so far out of my common Manner of speaking, I will now come to say something of those Visions and Revelations of the Lord, with which his unworthy Servant has by his astonishing Grace and Condescension been fa-I hardly indeed know how to mention a Name fo undeferving as my own, in this Connection; but I will venture in the general to fay, that I well knew a certain Man in Christ (b); one, who esteems it his highest Honour to belong to fuch a Master; who, tho' he hath hitherto thought proper to conceal it, was remarkably indulged in this Respect, above fourteen Years ago. Whether he was then in the Body, during that extraordinary Extacy, I know not; or for a Time taken out of the Body, so that only the Principle of animal Life remained in it, I know not (c). GOD only knows how that was: nor is it of any Importance too curiously to fearch into fuch a Circumstance. He had at least no Consciousness of any Thing that passed about him at that Time, and all his Sensations were as intirely

I will come to Visions and Revelations of the Lord.

2 I knew a Man in Christ above fonrteen Years ago. (whether in the Body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the Body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) fuch an

It is evident therefore, that yes cannot have its usual Signification, and be rendered fer. Our Translators take it for a mere Expletive, and therefore omit it. I have ventured to render it, neverthelefs, as it is certain it has often various Significations, and must have this Sgnification here, if it express any Thing. The Force of but in this Connection would be the fame with neverthelefs.

(b) A certain Man in Christ.] He must undoubtedly mean himself, or the whole Article had been quite foreign to his Purpose. It appears from hence, that the Apostle had concealed this extraordinary Event fourteen Years; and if this Epifle was written about the Year 58. as we suppose it was, this Vision must have fallen out in the Year 44. which was fo long after his Conversion, as to prove it quite different from the Trance, mentioned Acts ix. 9. with which some have consounded it. Dr. Benson thinks this glorious Representation was made to him, while he was praying in the Temple, in that Journey, Acts xi. 30. Chap. xxii. 17. and intended to encourage him against the Difficulties he was to encounter, in preaching the Gospel to the Gentiles. Bens. Prop. Vol. ii. pag. 7. See Vol. iii. Sect. 50. Note (a).

(c) Whether in the Body, &c.] As St. Paul must know his Body was not actually dead, during this Trance, but that the animal Motion of his Heart and Lungs continued, it would lead one to imagine, that he really apprehended the Principle of animal Life to be something diffined from the rational Soul, which he calls bimfelf. It appears at least, that he loit all Consciousness of any Thing about him at that Time; and what the Presence of an immaterial Soul in a Body can be, diffinet from the Capacity of perceiving by it, and acting upon it, I am yet to learn.

(d) Alio

Heaven.

3 And I knew fuch a Man (whether in the Body, or out of the Body, I cannot tell: God knoweth)

4 How that he was caught up into Paradife, and heard unspeakable Words, which it is not lawful for a Man to utter.

one caught up to the third tirely ceased, as if his Union with the Body had Sect. 19. been broken. Such an one, I say, I did most intimately know, who was fnatched up even into 2 Cor. XII. the third Heaven, the Seat of the divine Glory, and the Place where Christ dwelleth at the Father's right Hand, having all the celestial Principalities and Powers in humble Subjection to him. Yea, I say, I even knew such a Man, whether in 3 the Body, or out of the Body, I now fay not, because I know not: GOD knoweth; and let him. have the Glory of supporting his Life in so extraordinary a Circumstance, whichever might And I know, that having been 4 be the Cafe. thus entertained with these Visions of the third Heavens, on which good Men are to enter after the Resurrection, lest he should be impatient under the Delay of his Part of the Glory there, he was also caught up into Paradife (d), that Garden of God, which is the Seat of happy Spirits in the intermediate State, and during their Separation from the Body: where he had the Pleasure of an Interview with many of the pious Dead, and heard among them unutterable Words, expressive of their sublime Ideas, which he was there taught to understand. But the Language was such as it is not lawful, or possible (e), for Man to utter; we have no Terms of Speech fit to express such Conceptions, nor would it be confistent with the Schemes of Providence, which require that we should be conducted by Faith, rather than by Sight, to fuffer fuch Circumstances

(a) Also caught up into Paradife.] I have followed Biftop Bull's Interpretation of these Words, in the Distinction he makes between the third Heavens, and Laradife. See his Works, Vol. i. Serm. 3. pag. 89. To which Dr. Whithy agrees, who also supposes this not merely a Vision, as I think it was, but a Reality; which if St. Paul had thought it, he must furely have concluded, that he was not then in the Body.

(e) Lawful or possible.] I think, with Witsus, that ¿zov may comprehend both.—Different Divines have conjectured very differently concerning these Things; of which I suppose they know nothing. But Mr. Fleming's Conjecture, that he was instructed in the Doctrine of the first Resurrestion; and Mr. Whiston s, that he was instructed in the grand Secrets contained in the Apostolical Constitutions, revealed to the Eleven in the Chamber on Sion, and not to be publickly disclosed till many Ages after; may serve as Specimens of the rest. Whist. Prim. Christianity, Vol. iii. pag. 32.

(f) A Thorn

Sect. 19. as these to be revealed to the Inhabitants of mor-In fuch an one therefore, whoever tal Flesh. 2 Cor. XII.

he be, I will venture to boaft, so far as to say, that he received a peculiar Honour from our great Lord, and for the Time was made, as it were, another Man by it. But in myself I will not boast, unless it be in my Instrmities, in those Things which carry the Marks of Weakness, which yet in a certain Connection will appear honourable For if I should resolve to boast a little. on the Occasion I have mentioned, I shall not upon the whole he foolish, tho' it be generally fo; confidering the particular Circumstances in which I am: For I speak nothing but the strictest Truth, how strange soever it may seem. But I forbear to infift largely upon it, left any one should esteem me, above what he sees to be in me, or, having a fair Opportunity of learning my true Character, hears of me; for instead of arrogating to myself any undeserved Regards, I would rather decline them, and should be secretly grieved and ashamed, if they were paid to me. I have indeed had my peculiar Priviledges; but alas, I have my Infirmities, and my Temptations too. And left I should be too much elevated; with the Abundance of these extraordinary Revelations of which I have been speaking, there was given me, that is, it pleased God to appoint to me an Affliction, which was so painful, that it was like a pointed Thorn in the Flesh (f), continually

5 Of fuch an one will To glory: Yet of myself I will not glory, but in mine In-

6 For though I would defire to glory, I shall not be a Fool; for I will fay the Truth: But now I forbear, left any Man should think of me above that which he feeth me to be, or that he heareth of me.

7 And left I should be exalted above Measure thro" the Abundance of the Revelations, there was givento me a Thorn in the Flesh,

(f) A Thorn in the Flesh. I How much this Thorn in St. Paul's Flesh has perplexed and disquieted Commentators, they who have conversed much with them, know but too well. Many have understood it of bodily Pains; and Mr. Baxter, being himself subject to a Nephritick Diforder, supposes it might be the Stone, or Gravel. The Conjectures of some of the Ancients are much groffer. I rather acquicice in that Interpretation of Dr. Whithy, (which the Author of Mifeel. Sacra has adopted, and taken Pains to illustrate, Essay iii. pag. 22,-24.) That the View he had of celestial Glories, affected the System of his Nerves in such a Manner, as to occasion some paralytick Symptoms, and particularly a Stammering in his Speech, and perhaps some ridiculous Distortion in his Countenance, referred to elsewhere in the Phrase of the Infirmity in his Flesh. See Gal. iv. 13, 14. 1 Cor. ii. 3. Compare Dan. viii. 27. As this might threaten both his Acceptance and Ufefulness, it is no Wonder he was so importunate for its being removed; yet being the Attendant and Effect of so great a Favour, he might with peculiar Propriety speak of glarying in it.

(g) Pitch

2 Cor. XII.

7.

buffet me, lest I should be exalted above Measure.

--:

the Messenger of Satan to nually piercing and wounding me: And this in Sect. 19. fuch Circumstances, that one would think it had been intended on Purpose, that the Messenger and Apostle of Satan, the false Teachers whom I have been describing (Chap. xi. 13,—15.) under that Character, might from thence take Occasion to buffet and upbraid me: That I, being subject to such Diforders, tho' naturally resulting from the Manner in which my Nerves were impressed by this Extacy, might not be excessively exalted; but might bear away, like Jacob, when he had been fo fuccessfully wrestling with the Angel, an Infirmity in my animal Frame, from which ungenerous and cruel Enemies might profanely take an Occasion to insult me. (Gen. xxxii. 25.)

8 For this Thing I befought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.

This was indeed at first so very grievous and mortifying to me, and feemed to have fo unhappy an Aspect upon my Acceptance and Usefulness, as a Preacher of the Gospel, that I was very importunate in my Petitions, that it might be removed, and befought the Lord Jesus Christ thrice on the Occasion, intreating him that, if it were his blessed Will, it might totally depart from me, or at least be moderated in some considerable o And he faid unto me, My Grace is sufficient for thee: for my Strength is made persect in Weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my Infirmities, that the Power of Christ may rest upon me.

And my Prayer was not in vain; for, Degree. tho' he did not intirely and fully indulge my Request, he faid to me in great Condescension, My Grace is sufficient for thee, to support thee under these Trials, tho' I permit them to continue, which I now choose; for my Strength is made perfect, and illustrated so much the more, in the Weaknels of the Instrument, by which I work: And this general Maxim will take Place with Respect to thee. With the greatest Pleasure therefore will

I boalt in my Weakneffes, various as they are, that the Strength of Christ may, as it were, pitch its Tent upon me (g), and furround me on every rather than Anxiety and Terror, in these Infirmities, in all the Injuries I fustain, in all the

And therefore I feel a secret Complacency,

Therefore I take Pleafure in Infirmities, in Reproaches,

(g) Pitch its Tent, &c.] That seems the strong Emphasis of the origin: Word, examples Exavation-

Side.

Digitized by Google

Necej-

2 Cor. XII.

Sect. 19. Necessities I endure, in all the Persecutions with which I am affaulted, and in all the Straits which for Christ's Sake press me on every Part; for when I am weak, then am I strong: Never do I feel larger inward Communications of Strength from him, than when I am most conscious of my own Weakness. Nor do I esteem any Thing a greater Honour to me, than that Christ should take Occasion to glorify himself by those Things, whereby I am humbled and abased.

proaches, in Necessities, in Persecutions, in Distresses for Christ's Sake: For when I am weak, then am I strong.

IMPROVEMENT.

[TELL might the Apostle say, that when he was weak, then was he Ver. 10. strong; for it is difficult to tell, when he expresses a greater Strength of Genius, or of Grace, than while thus discoursing of his own Infirmities. How glorious were those Scars in his Body, which were the Marks of his Sufferings for Christ; and those Tremblings and Distortions of his Nerves, which were the Results of these bright Visions of the Ver. 1. Lord which brought down Heaven to Earth, and had for the Time equalled a mortal Man with the Spirits of just Men made perfect; yea, Ver. 7.

almost with the Angels of GOD!

Transported with the sacred Impulse, he could scarcely tell, whether he Ver. 3. were in the Body, or out of it; but he testified, that the Things which he faw and heard, were unutterable. Let us not repine, that he recollected, Ver. 4. and recorded, nothing more particular concerning what passed before the Eye of his Mind, when that of the Body was closed. These celestial Raptures were intended to confirm bis Faith, and confequently likewife to confirm ours; but not to amuse our Curiosity. If the Earth be full of the Goodness of the Lord, how much more the third Heavens, where he Ver. 2. holds his highest Court! Nor shall the intermediate State of Souls want its proper Enjoyments and Blessings. Assuredly therefore believing these Things, let us wait God's Time for a more particular Knowledge of them; and when called of him to go forth and receive this Inheritance, like ge> nuine Children of Abraham, obey, tho' we know not particularly whither we go. (Heb. xi. 8.)

We see the Danger of Spiritual Pride, from which even St. Paul Ver. 7. himself was not secure. One would have imagined, that such a View of the celestial World should in itself have been sufficient to have humbled him, during all the Remainder of the longest Life: And yet it is evident, that God faw there was some Danger, lest Pride should be cherished by tbat, that, which seemed so proper to destroy it: Therefore was there given Sect. 19. him a Thorn in the Flesh. And by how many Thorns are the most distinguished Christians often pierced? Let them bless God, if thereby they are humbled too, even tho' the Messengers and Instruments of Satan should from thence take Occasion to buffet them.

In all our Exigencies, Extremities and Complaints, let us apply to the Ver. 8. Throne of Grace, and that bleffed Redeemer, who interceeds before it, for proper Affistance and Relief. Nor let us be discouraged, tho' the first, or fecond Address, should seem to be disregarded: The third or fourth, may be fuccessful. And what, if we do not succeed to our Wish in the immediate Answer? Let it content us, that we may be affured by Christ of the Sufficiency of his Grace. In our Weakness can he illustrate his Ver 9. Strength. And in that View too, may we glory in our Infirmities. For furely the Honour of our divine Master, in our deepest Humiliation, ought to give us much more Joy, than to see ourselves ever so much admired and extolled. "But, Oh bleffed Jesus, how much of thy Strength " must be manifested in us, to teach our vain and selfish Hearts a Lesson, "which at the very first Proposal appears so reasonable, if considered in "Speculation alone? Lord increase our Faith! Increase our Humility! " So shalt thou have the Glory in all thou givest, and in all thou deniest " us, and in all the Struggles and Trials to which thou mayest appoint us; and in which, for thy Sake, we will take Pleasure."

Ver. 10.

SECT. XX.

The Apostle vindicates the Frankness, Sincerity and Tenderness of his Conduct, and his visible Superiority to all secular Considerations, in all his Dealings with the Church at Corinth. 2 Cor. XII. 11, to the End.

2 Corinthians XII. 11,

Am become a Fool in glorying, ye have compelled me: For I ought to

2 Corinthians XII. 11..

T T may be indeed, my Brethren, that I am Sect. 20. become foolish in boasting, as I have done above! But if it be so, you will consider where the Blame 2 Cor. XII. lies. For you, by the Manner in which some of you, to whom I am now speaking, have behaved yourselves, may be said to bave compelled me to do it, even against my Will. In which you are.

Digitized by Google

Sect. 20. are peculiarly inexcusable; for I ought indeed to have been recommended by you, rather than to have found any Necessity of pleading with you, in the Manner I have done; for I have in no Respect whatsoever, failed to equal the most excellent of the Apostles, tho I am myself nothing in the Account of Some; nor indeed am I any Thing in Reality without the Aids of divine Grace and Assistance, nor would I assume to myself any Glory

fistance, nor would I assume to myself any Glory from what that hath made me. Yet truly God has been pleased to communicate of his Bounties to me in such a Degree, that the Signs of an Apostle were produced among you in a Variety of most convincing Miracles; Miracles, by which I was not pussed up, but which were wrought in all Patience, in the Midst of this unreasonable Opposition I met with, notwithstanding these Signs and Wonders and Powers, which awakened the Amazement of all that beheld. Nor did I exert these miraculous Powers in chastising the irregular, but chose rather, if it were possible, to conquer by Love, and by Benefits.

And you know, that I conferred many Benefits: For in what one Respect were ye inserior to the rest of the Churches planted by the other Apostles, unless [it were in this,] that I myself was not burthensome to you, by taking any Acknowledgment for my Labours? No, not so much as a Subsistence among you at your Expence. Forgive me, I beseech you, this great Injury; for I think, I hardly need to ask you Forgiveness on any other Account.

Behold now, this is the third Time I am ready to come to you, having been disappointed twice before. (I Cor. xvi. 5. 2 Cor. i. 15, 16.) Nevertheless I will not now be, in the Sense I have mentioned, burthensome to you, for God knows, I seek not your Possessions, but yourselves. If I can but be instrumental in promoting your Salvation, and at the same Time secure your filial Love and Affection, I shall think myself happy, tho' I reap not the least personal Advantage from your Property, where it is most abundant. For it have been commended of you: For in nothing am I behind the very chiefest Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 Truly the Signs of an Apostle were wrought among you in all Patience, in Signs, and Wonders, and mighty Deeds.

13 For what is it wherein ye were inferior to other Churches, except it be that I myself was not burdensome to you? Forgive me this Wrong.

14 Behold, the third Time I am ready to come to you; and I will not be burdensome to you; for I seek not yours, but you:

For

35

2 Cor. XII.

to lay up for the Parents, but the Parents for the Children.

T

15 And I will very gladly spend and be spent for you, though the more abundantly I love you, the less I be loved.

16 But be it so, I did not burden you: Nevertheless, being crafty, I caught you with Guile.

17 Did I make Gain of you by any of them whom I sent unto you?

18 I defired Titus, and with him I sent a Brother: Did Titus make a Gain of you? Walked we not in the same Spirit? Walked we not in the same Steps?

For the Children ought not is not fit, that the Children should lay up Treasure Sect. 20. for the Parents, but the Parents for the Children. I therefore, being your spiritual Father, will communicate to you fuch Treasures as I have, and will not defire to share yours. For I will with the greatest Pleasure spend, and he spent for your Souls; I will gladly exhaust my Strength, and put myself to any Expence too, in order to promote this; tho' the Consequence of all should be, that the more abundantly I love you, the less I am loved by you. How unkind foever your Returns may be, if you should treat me, like those perverse Creatures who take a Pleasure in tormenting them that love them best, yet shall you still find me a fincere Friend to your best Interests. (Compare 2 Tim. ii. 10. 1 Thes. ii. 8.)

> But I know, some will be ready to object to all this; as what will not envy and Falsehood fuggest, where there is any Interest in fixing an Odium: Let it be so, I did not indeed myself burthen you, nor demand Subfistence among you as my Right; but perhaps it will be infinuated, that being subtil I took you in by an Artifice, making others the Instruments of my mercenary Principles, while I appeared myself so disinte-I answer, by appealing to plain Fact. Did I make a Prey of you, by any one whom I sent to you with any Message from me, or who came to me about any Business while I was resident among you? Name the Man, if you can, on whom there is Reason to fix any such Suspicion. I defy the boldest of mine Enemies to alledge, what must recoil on himself with so much In-I know, that I intreated Titus to make you a Visit, and with [bim] I sent a Brother, to keep him Company in the Journey. Did Titus then make a Gain of you? Did we not walk in the same Spirit, [and] in the same Steps? Did not all his Actions resemble mine, as formed upon the same Principles of strict integrity, and generous Friendship?

Vol. IV.

 $\mathbf{X} \times \mathbf{x}$

Again,

Digitized by Google

Sect. 20. 2Cor. XII.

Again, do you think that we make any Apology to vou, and endeavour to amuse you with mere Words, mentioning Titus's coming to excuse my own Absence? In the Sight of GOD we speak, as those who know he is Witness to every Action and Word; yea, that he knows the fecret Springs of Affection, which actuate our Hearts; and we speak, as those that are in Christ by a solemn Profession of his Religion, and should abhor any Thing which might bring a Reflection upon And all Things that we say, when we are endeavouring to reconcile your Minds to us, are not for our own Sake, but [we speak] Beloved, for your Edification; that by removing your Prejudices against us, we may be capable of being more ferviceable to you in your most 20 important Interests. For I am really distressed on this Account, and fadly fear, lest by any Means, when I come unto you with an Heart full of Christian Tenderness, and with all imaginable Readiness to do my utmost to comfort and refresh your Spirits, I should not find you such as I could wish; and that I should be found by you, such, as ye would not wish I should be. fear I shall have some Work before me of a very ungrateful Kind, and which I would by all Means defire, if possible, by this Admonition to prevent. For I am very apprehensive, lest [there [hould be] Contentions (a), arising from secret and very unbecoming Emulations, and growing up to Transports of Wraths, Strifes, where there is a Clashing either of Opinions or secular Interests; which will tend to produce open Reproaches or fecret Whisperings, to the manifest Prejudice of each others Character; the inward Swellings of Pride and Ambition, or perhaps the open Confusion of Riots and Tumults, by which your Cause in general will be exposed to publick Contempt.

r9 Again, think you that we excuse ourselves unto you? We speak before God in Christ: But we do all Things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

20 For I fear, left when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: Lest there be Debates, Envyings, Wraths, Strifes, Back-bitings, Whisperings, Swellings, Tumults:

(a) Contentions, Emulations, &c.] All these were the natural Consequences of those Debates, which had arisen among them; and therefore he, in a very artful Manner, gives this solemn Warning with Relation to them.

21 And lest when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and that I shall bewail many which have finned already, and have not repented of the Uncleanness, and Fornication, and Laciviousness which they have committed.

[And] indeed on the whole, I am Sect. 20. tempt. very apprehensive, lest my GOD stould bumble and mortify me, when I come among you again; fo that my Spirit should be even dejected and broken, on Account of the fad Change which hath passed since I left Corinth; and lest I should find Cause to mourn over many who have sinned already, and who, tho' feveral others have been wrought upon by my Admonitions, bave not repented of the Uncleanness, and Fornication, and Lasciviousness, which they have committed; against whom therefore, I fear, I shall find myself obliged, in Virtue of my Office, to pass such Cenfures, as it pains and pierces my Heart so much as to think of.

2 Cor. XII.

IMPROVEMENT.

OW amiable was the Goodness of the Apostle, in adding all Patience to those Signs of his divine Mission, which were with so Ver. 12. much Splendor given among the Corinthians, when there were so many Things to have excused, or rather to have vindicated his Severity. Such Meekness had he learned of Christ, such does he teach to succeeding Ministers and private Christians. How disinterested was his Behaviour in every Part of it; not feeking their Substance but their Souls! And indeed Ver. 14. what is the greatest Gain, which Avarice in its most artful and successful Forms, can make of the Ministry, when compared with winning Souls to Christ, and bringing them into the Way of Salvation! Who that deserves the Name of a Minister, would not gladly sacrifice the Views of worldly Interest to this, and rejoice in an Opportunity of spending and of Ver. 15. being spent for this!

Yet we see, that even this cannot always command the Returns of Love: But the Love, as well as the Praise, of Men is, in Comparison, a Matter of small Importance. It will surely engage the Approbation of God; and all the Slights and Injuries over which this benevolent Di pofition triumphs, will be remembered by him, with proportionable Tokens of his gracious Acceptance. Happy was that Prudence, which made the Proof of Integrity so Ver. 16,-18. clear, and the Appeal to the whole World so confident, as it here appears. So may we avoid every Appearance of any Thing, which might beget a Suspicion of finister Designs; that we may vindicate ourselves from every fuch Infinuation, with the noble Freedom of those who are approved $X \times X \times 2$

7he Apostle again mentions his Design of coming to them;

Sect. 20. proved to GOD, and the Consciences of Men. To preserve this, may we always speak and act as before GOD, in Christ, and do all Things, not for the Gratification of our own Humour, or Advancement of our secular Interest, but for the Edification of others.

Ver. 20. The Ministers of the Gospel cannot but be bumbled, when any Thing contrary to the Rules and Genius of it, is to be found among the People of their Care and Charge; whether they be Pollutions of the Flesh, or of the Spirit: And they may be in some Instances, as effectually morti-

Ver. 21. fied and distressed, by Debates, Envyings, Strifes, Backbitings and Whisperings, as by Uncleanness, Fornication and Lasciviousness. But when any of these Things occur, as it is to be feared that in most Christian Societies, or at least in such as are considerable for their Numbers, they sometimes will; let it be remembered that they happen by the Permission of Providence. God hath his wise Ends in suffering, what is indeed so lamentable: Thus humbling the Shepherd, that the Flock may be farther edisted; that he may approve his Fidelity in more vigorous Efforts for Reformation; and may not be excessively exalted by that better Success, wherewith in other Instances God may crown his Endeavours.

S E C T. XXI.

The Apostle concludes his Epistle with assuring the Corinthians very tenderly, how much it would grieve him to be obliged to shew his Apostolick Power, by institing any miraculous Punishment on those who continued to oppose him; subjoining at the End of all proper Salutations, and his solemn Benediction. 2 Cor. XIII. 1, throughout.

2 Corinthians XIII. 1.

2 Corinthians XIII. 1.

Sect. 21.

D UT I will now return from that Digression, which hath carried me away from what I was entering upon before. [It is] now, as I said (Chap. xii. 14.) the third Time, that I tell you, I am coming to you(a); and as several Cases will.

THIS is the third Time.
I am coming to you:

(a) The third Time I tell you I am coming: [pi] or 1ετο ερχομαι.] So the Words may be taken, tho' I own them ambiguous. Perhaps this may intimate, that this was the third Epifle

In the Mouth of two or three Witnesses shall every Word be established.

2 I told you before, and foretel you as if I were prefent the fecond Time; and being absent, now I write to them which heretofore have finned, and to all other, that if I come again, I will not spare:

3 Since ye feek a Proof of Christ speaking in me, which to you-ward is not weak, but is mighty in you.

4 For though he was crueified through Weakness, come before me, on which it will be necessary Sect. 21. to give my Judgment, I affure you, I shall think myself obliged to proceed on that reasonable 2 Cor. XIII. Maxim in the Jewish Constitution, (Num. xxxv. 30. Deut. xvii. 6. Chap. xix. 15.) that every Word, or Thing, admitted for Evidence in the Decision, shall be established by the Concurrence of what cometh from the Mouth of two or three And you will remember, 2 credible Witneffes. that I have formerly foretold you, and do foretel it now again, as if I were present the second Time in Person; and being absent in Body, but not in Spirit, I now write to those that have sinned already in any scandalous and aggravated Manner, and to all the rest, that they may take Notice of it, and be fitted with a facred Awe, that if I come again, I will not Spare [you] (b), as I have hitherto done; but am determined, by the divine Permission, to animadvert upon notorious Offenders, by the Exertion of that miraculous Power, with which God hath endowed me. Since after all the Evidence you have already had, fome of you are so strangely unreasonable, as to feek a farther Proof of Christ speaking by his Spirit in me, even of the Authority of that glorious and almighty Saviour, who is not weak towards you, but powerful among you by what he has already wrought(c), you may at Length have fuch Demonstrations of it, as may perhaps cost For the' he was once cru- 4. fome of you dear. cified as thro' a State of Weakness, submitting to those Epistle he had wrote to them, in which he had mentioned his Purpose of coming, but we cannot certainly inser it. He seems here to resume the Sentence he had begun, Chap. xii.

14. Such Interruptions are frequent in St. Paul, and in many other Writers, who have not a Regard to an artificial Dress, and do not stand to correct every little Inaccuracy, but abound in Quickness and Variety of Thought, as Mr. Locke justly observes.

(b) I will not spare you.] It is (as Bishop Burnet very justly observes,) a great Confirmation of the Veracity of the Apostles, that when Factions were raised against them, they used none of the Arts of Flattery, however necessary they might seem; but depended on the Force of a miraculous Power to reduce Offenders; which it would have been a most absurd. Thing to have pretended to, if they had not really been conscious to themselves, that it was engaged in their Favour. Burnet on the Art. pag. 62. See 1 Cor. iv. 21. Note (f).

(c) Already wrought] This may, as Mr. Cradock and others observe, very probably refer to some miraculous Punishment, inflicted lately on the incestuous Corinthion.

(d) Examine:

Digitized by Google

Sect. 21. those Infirmities of mortal Flesh, which put him into the Hands of his Enemies, and waving the ² Cor. XIII. Exertion of that miraculous Energy, by which he could so soon have rescued himself, and destroyed them; nevertheless he now liveth by the Power of GOD the Father, whereby he obtained a glorious Refurrection, and is now ascended to a Seat of uncontrouled and universal Authority. And thus we his Apostles, tho' we are also weak in bim, and to them who regard only external Appearances, may feem contemptible, nevertheless shall live with him by the Power of GOD, manifested to you in our Favour, to give a Kind of Refurrection to that Apostolical Authority, which may have feemed for a while dormant and dead.

You examine and try me; but let me admonish you to turn the Search inward, and to examine and try yourselves, that ye may certainly know, whether ye are in the Faith, whether ye be true Christians, or not. For if you on a strict Inquiry find, that you are, you will therein find a Proof of my being a true Apostle; as it is by Means of my extraordinary Gifts, that you are become so. Prove yourselves (d), my Brethren, whether you can, or cannot, stand the Test. Do ye not know yourselves, when the Subject of Knowledge lies fo near you, and is always before your Eye? Are you not sensible that Jesus Christ is dwelling in you by the fanctifying and transforming Influences of his Spirit; unless ye are mere nominal Christians, and such as, whatever your Gifts be, will finally be disapproved (e) and rejected, as reprobate Silver, that will not stand yet he liveth by the Power of GoD: For we also are weak in him, but we shall live with him by the Power of God toward you.

5 Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the Faith; prove your own selves: Know ye not your own felves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be Reprobates?

(d) Examine yourselves—prove yourselves.] Whether you be Jonium, such as can stand the Fest; or adougues, such as cannot, for that is the proper Import of the Word which we render Reprobates. The Difference between mepacile, and Soxipacile, seems to be gradual: Examine, and thoroughly prove.

(e) Unless ye are disapproved.] Dr. Guyse paraphrases the Words et un li adox mos ere, " unless there be fomething very disapproveable in you;" and it certainly expresses the Sense with great Propriety; but as the Apostle supposes this to be something, which would prove that Christ was not dwelling with and among them, it seems that it must be extended to the Sense given in the Paraphrase.

(f) Have

6.

6 But I trust that ye shall know that we are not Reprobates.

7 Now I pray to God that ye do no Evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as Reprobates.

8 For we can do nothing against the Truth, but for the Truth.

9 For we are glad when we are weak, and ye are ftrong: And this also we wish, even your Persection.

But whatever be the Case Sect. 21. the Touchstone? of any of you, I hope ye shall soon know that we are not disapproved, and have not lost (f) our 2 Cor. XIII. Evidence of the divine Presence and Approbation. But I am far from defiring to produce fuch Evidences of it, as would be grievous to you; and can truly fay, that I wish to GOD ye may do no Evil in any Respect, and not that we may be manifested [as] approved, by such awful Methods as those to which I refer: But on the contrary, that ye may do what is good, beautiful and amiable, that which will adorn your Profession in the most effectual Manner; tho' we should be as if we were disapproved, and upon a Level with those who have no Testimonials of an extraordinary Mission to produce. For we are not 8: able to do any Thing against the Interest of that important System of Truth, which God hath intrusted us with; but must strenuously act for the Service of the Truth, and Support of the Gofpel, and not act by personal Inclinations and Affections, of Refentment on the one Hand, or Tenderness on the other.

I wish the Regularity of your Behaviour at all Events, as I declared above; for we rejoice, when we are weak, or feem so by not exerting any miraculous Powers to the Purposes we have hinted; and when ye, our dear Converts and Brethren, are strong in Gifts and Graces, in Faith, and good Works: And this also we wish seven your being fet in perfect good Order (g). Your intire Reformation would give us the greatest Pleasure imaginable, a Pleasure far beyond what we could derive from the most astonishing Interpositions of God, to chastise those that rebel against us. There-

(f) Have not loft, &c.] It feems that the Possibility of losing extraordinary Gifts by the Abuse of them, is finely infinuated in this oblique Manner; and it might, if rightly underflood, have its Weight with many of them.

(g) Being set in perfect good Order.] This I think the Import of radapliers, that perfect Reformation which was not yet wrought, tho' fomething confiderable had been done towards it.

(b) Attend

Sect. 21. Therefore upon the whole, I write these Things thus largely being absent, that when I am present, I may not be obliged to act severely according to the divine and extraordinary Power, which the Lord Jesus Christ bath given me, for the Ediscation of the several Members of his Church, and not for the Destruction of Mens Lives and Comforts. And therefore it is, that I give you this Warning; in order to prevent what would otherwise be grievous to myself, as well as to you.

As for what remains, my dear Brethren, fare-II well; and may all Joy and Happiness ever attend you. And that this may be the Case, let it be your great Care, that ye may be perfect, that ye may arrive at the highest Degrees of Goodness. May you all be comforted with these strong Confolations, which true Christianity suggests, and exhorted and animated by the Instructions it inculcates. Attend to the same Thing (b), pursue with the greatest Unanimity of Heart, and Intenseness of Affection, that which ought to be the great End of all our Schemes and Designs, the Care of glorifying God, and adorning the Gospel. And as you have in some Instances, seemed to have forgotten, how essential it is to true Christianity, that its Professors should abstain from mutual Injuries, and cultivate unfeigned Friendship, let me urge it upon you, that ye be peaceful, candid and affectionate in your Sentiments; and the GOD of Love and Peace will graciously own you as his Children, and be favourably with you, and fix his Residence among you. And in Token of this intire Harmony, and endeared Affection, falute each other, according to the Custom of your Assemblies, with an holy Kis, as a proper Expression of the purest and

To Therefore I write these Things being absent, lest being present, I should use Sharpness, according to the Power which the Lord hath given me to Edification, and not to Destruction.

vell: Be perfect, be of good Comfort, be of one Mind, live in Peace; and the God of Love and Peace shall be with you.

12 Greet one another with an holy Kis.

⁽h) Attend to the same Thing.] So so also proved should undoubtedly be rendered, rather than be of one Mind; which in some Respects might have been impossible. See my Sermon on Candar and Unanimity, pag. 8. and Phil. ii. 2. and Note there.

⁽i) Favour

13 All the Saints salute most ardent Love. you.

14 The Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the Love of God, and the Communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen,

All the Saints, that is, the Sect. 21. Christians here, in the Place from whence I now write, falute you with the fincerest Affection, and 2 Cor. XIII. will always rejoice to hear of your Peace, Profperity and Edification.

I conclude all with my most affectionate good Wishes for you; even that the perpetual Favour of the Lord Jesus Christ (i), the great Head of the Church, in whom all the Fulness of Grace dwells; and the constant and peculiar Love of GOD the Father, and the most abundant Communion and Fellowship of the Holy Ghost in the richest Anointings of his Gifts and Graces, may [be] with you, and rest upon you all continually, henceforth and for ever. Amen: May God ratify the important Wish, so as to answer and exceed your most exalted Hopes.

IMPROVEMENT.

DORED be the Name of that compassionate Redeemer, who was once crucified as thro' Weakness; and when he could have Ver. 4. commanded more than twelve Legions of Angels to his Rescue, voluntarily fubmitted to be seized and bound, like an helpless Mortal, subject to superior Force, and thus lead away to Torture and Death! He lives for ever by the Power of GOD, by a Life derived from him: May we, weak as we are in ourselves, live thro' him to all the Purposes of the Christian Life.

And that this Life may flourish abundantly, let us be often engaged to. examine our felves; fince it will be so great a Scandal, and so great a Snare, Ver. 5. to be Strangers at Home. Do we not indeed after all know our felves? Let us search, whether Jesus Christ be in us? Whether he be formed in our Hearts, whether he live and act in us by his holy Spirit? Else shall we be treated as reprobate Silver, shall be justly rejected of God, and Ver. 6. no Gifts or Priviledges will avail us., Having gained the fure Evidences

(i) Favour of the Lord Jesus Christ. I express x axis by Favour here; for if Grace be taken for fanctifying Influences communicated from Christ, (which to be sure makes a great Part of the Idea,) it may be less easy to distinguish it from the Communion of the Spirit. -It is with great Reason, that this comprehensive and instructive Benediction is pronounced, just before our Assemblies for publick Veosithip are dismissed; and it is a very indecent Thing to see so many quitting them, or getting into Postures of Remove, before this short Sentence can be ended. Compare Numb. vi. 25, 27.

Vol. IV.

Υуу

the Holy Ghoft.

Sect. 21. of fincere Goodness in ourselves, we may, with the greater Chearsulness and Confidence, pray for our Brethren; and let us offer the Apostle's Petition for them, that they may do no Evil, but every Thing that is just and honourable, beautiful and lovely: Never desiring to exalt ourselves on the Mistakes and Follies of others; but on the contrary, wishing their Ver. 9. Perfection, and labouring to the utmost to promote it.

How charming a Spirit breathes in these Sentences, in which the Aposlle takes his Leave of the Corinthians! So much Wisdom and Goodness, Ver. 11, 12. that one is almost grieved, that he who bids farewel in such an engaging Manner, does it so soon. Let us however bear his parting Words in Mind. When Ministers are leaving those, among whom they have laboured; when Christian Friends are separated from each other, let this be their common Petition and Care that they may be improved, and comforted; that Unanimity and Peace may prevail and increase; and that the GOD of Peace may be with them all: That he may be with them in those happy Effects, and blessed Operations, which will be the Result of the Wer. 13. How often hath this comprehensive Benediction been pronounced? Let us study it more and more; that we may value it proportionably, that we fet ourselves to deliver, or to receive it, with a becoming Solemnity; with Eyes and Hearts lifted up to God, who when out of Zion be commanded the Blessing, bestows in it Life for evermore. Amen!

Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Love of GOD, and the Fellowship of

END of the Fourth Volume.

BOOKS published by the late Reverend P. Doddridge, D. D. and fold by JAMES WAUGH, at the Turk's-Head, in Lombard-street.

1. CERMONS on the Religious Education of Children, the 3d Edit. Price 1 s. bound.

2. Sermons to Young Persons on several Subjects. the 4th Edit. 1 s. 6 d. bound.

3. The Abfurdity and Iniquity of Persecution for Conscience Sake, in all its Kinds and Degrees. 6 d.

4. Submiffion to Divine Providence, in the Death of Children, recommended and inforced. 2d Edit. 6d.

5. A Sermon preached at Wellinborough, Nov. 9. 1748. on Account of the late dreadful Fire there, with an Hymn proper to the Occasion. 6d.

6. Practical Discourses on Regeneration, in ten Sermons, on the following Subjects: 1. The Character of the Unregenerate. 2. The Nature of Regeneration. 3. The Necessity and Importance of it. 4. The Divine Influences to produce it. 5. The various Methods in which those Influences operate. 6. Directions to the awakened Sinner. 7. An Address to the Regenerate. 2s. 6d. bound.

7. The Evil and Danger of neglecting the Souls of Men. 6 d.

8. A Charge delivered at the Ordination of the Reverend Mr. John Jennings, at St. Ives in Huntingdonshire, with the Sermon delivered on the same Occasion, By Dr. D. Jennings. Is.

9. The Principles of the Christian Religion expressed in plain and easy Verse, and divided into short Lessons, for the Use of little Children. 2d Edit. 4d.

10. Compassion to the Sick, recommended and urged in a Sermon preached at Northampton, Sept. 4, 1743. In Favour of a Defign then opening to erect a County-Infirmary there. 6 d.

11. A Sermon on the Heroic Death of Col. Gardiner. 6 d.

12. A Sermon preached at Northampton, February 9, 1745-6. on Occasion of the precipitate Flight of the Rebels from Sterling a few days before. 6d.

13. The Rife and Progress of Religion in the Soul, illustrated in a Course of serious and practical Addresses, suited to persons of every Character and Circumstance, with a devout Meditation to each Chapter. 8vo. 5s. 12vo. 3s.

14. Christian Candour and Unanimity stated, illustrated and urged: In a Sermon preached at a Meeting of Ministers at Creaton in Northamptonshire, January 12, 1749-50. 6d.

15. Youth reminded of approaching Judgment, and urged to a jerious Preparation for it: In a Sermon preached at Northampton, Dec. 25, 1736. 4 d.

16. Meditations on the Tears of Jejus over the Grave of Lazarus: A Funeral Sermon preached at St. Albans, Dec. 16, 1750. On Occasion of the much lamented Death of the late Reverend Samuel Clark, D. D. who died the 4th of December, in the 66th Year of his-

17. Christ's Invitation to thirsty Souls: A Sermon preached at Northampton, in the Year 1729, and published chiefly for the Benefit of the Poor, at the earnest Request of a Gentleman of the established Church of England.

18. The Guilt and Doom of Capernaum, feriously recommended to the Consideration of the Inhabitants of London: In a Sermon preached at Salter's-Hall, August 20, 1749. Published on Occasion of the late Alarm by the second Shock of an Earthquake, March 8. 1749-50. With a Preface relating that awful event.

19. A plain and serious Address to the Master of a Family, on the important Subject of Family-Religion.

20. The Family Expositor, Vol. III. containing a Paraphrase and Version of the Acts of the Apostles, with critical Notes, and a practical Improvement of each Section, likewise critical Notes on the Harmony of the Evangelists; with two Dissertations, 1. On Sir Isaac

Digitized by Google

BOOKS published by the late Reverend P. Dopprings, D. D. &c.

Newton's System of the Harmony. 2. On the Inspiration of the New Testament, with proper Indexes to the whole. Price bound 14 s.

21. Some remarkable Passages in the Life of the Honourable Colonel James Gardiner, who was slain at the Battle of Preston-Pans, September, 21, 1745. With an Appendix relating to the antient Family of the Munro's of Fowlis.

22. Sermons on several Subjects: Preached by the late Reverend Mr Thomas Steffe, of Taunton. With some Extracts from his Letters, in an Account of his Life and Character, viz. 1. David's Acknowledgment of the Divine Goodness towards him, and his humble Reflection upon it. 2. The Heavenly Students. 3. Of the Terror that will attend the last Judgment to wicked Men. 4. The Grace of God compared to the Dew. 5. The happy Effects of the Divine Influence. 6, 7, 8, 9. Of serious Consideration and Inquiry about the old Paths, and the good Way. 10. Of the constraining Power of the Love of Christ.

23. Sermons on the following Subjects; viz. 1. Life from Christ. 2. The Physician of Souls. 3. The Incarnation of Sprist. 4. The Expediency and Necessity of the Susferings of Christ. 5. Reconciliation to God by the Blood of Christ. 6. The Sin and Folly of Neglecting the Gopel. 7, 8. The Constitution of the Covenant of Grace. 9. The Believers Rest. By the late Reverend Mr. James Shephend. To which is ad 'ed a Sermon occasioned by his Death, Preached at Northampton, May 25, 1746. by P. Dod-Dodbrige, D. D.

24. The Importance of the Ministerial Office, an' the Difficulty of rightly discharging it: Considered in a Discourse delivered in Norwich, June 20, 1,45, at the Ordination of the Reverend Mr. Abraham Tozer. By Richard Frost. To which is added a Charge, by P.

dridge, D. D. Price 1 s.

25. The Case of receiving the Small-pox by Inoculation, impartially considered, and especially in a religious View. Written in the Year 1725, by the late Reverend Mr. David

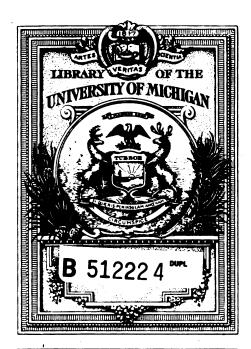

Some, of Harborough: And published from the original Manuscript.

26. The Christian's Triumph over Death. A Sermon occasioned by the much lamented Death of the Reverend Philip Doddridge, D. D. and Minister of the Gospel at Northampton. Who died October, 20, 1751. in the fiftieth Year of his Age. By Job Orton. 6d.

N. B. Now in the Press, and will be published with all convenient Speed, the 5th and 6th Volumes of the Family Expositor, consisting of a large Paraphrase: In which a new Translation of the Sacred Text will be inserted in a diffinet Character: To which will be added critical Notes, with a practical Improvement of each Section. Price to Subscribers one Pound four Shillings in Sheets.

Tappan Resby Assoc.

