IN this sad declension of religion, the seers, who are appointed to be the watchmen of the Church, cannot but observe, that the supplanters and underminers are gone out, and are digging down the foundations; and having destroyed all public forms of ecclesiastical government, discountenanced an excellent Liturgy, taken off the hinges of unity, disgraced the Articles of Religion, polluted public assemblies, taken away all cognizance of schism, by mingling all sects, and giving countenance to that against which all power ought to stand upon their guard. There is now nothing left, but that we take care that men be Christians : for concerning the ornament and advantages of religion, we cannot make that provision we desire ; Incertis de salute, de gloria minime certandum. For since they who have seen Jerusalem in prosperity, and have forgotten the order of the morning and evening sacrifice, and the beauty of the temple, will be tempted to neglect so excellent a ministration, and their assembling themselves together for peace, and holy offices, and be content with any thing that is brought to them, though it be but the husks and acorns of prodigals and swine, so they may enjoy their lands and their money with it ; we must now take care that the young men who were born in the Captivity, may be taught how to worship the God of Israel after the manner of their forefathers, till it shall please God that religion shall return into the land, and dwell safely, and grow prosperously.

But never did the excellency of Episcopal government appear so demonstratively and conspicuously as now. Under their conduct and order we had a Church so united, so orderly, so governed, a religion so settled, Articles so true, sufficient, and confessed, Canons so prudent and so obeyed, devotions so regular and constant, Sacraments so adorned and ministered, churches so beauteous and religious, circumstances of religion so grave and prudent, so useful and apt for edification, that the enemies of our Church, who serve the Pope in all things and Jesus Christ in some, who dare transgress an institution and ordinance of Christ, but dare not break a canon of the Pope, did despair of prevailing against us and truth, and knew no hopes but by setting their faces against us to destroy this government, and then they knew they should triumph without any enemy. So Balaam the son of Bosor was sent for, to curse the people of the Lord, in hope that the son of Zippor might prevail against them that had long prospered under the conduct of Moses and Aaron.

But now instead of this excellency of condition and constitution of religion, the people are fallen under the harrows and saws of impertinent and ignorant preachers, who think all religion is a sermon, and all sermons ought to be

TO THE
PIOUS AND DEVOUT READER.

IN this sad declension of religion, the seers, who are appointed to be the watchmen of the Church, cannot but observe, that the supplanters and underminers are gone out, and are digging down the foundations; and having destroyed all public forms of ecclesiastical government, discountenanced an excellent Liturgy, taken off the hinges of unity, disgraced the Articles of Religion, polluted public assemblies, taken away all cognizance of schism, by mingling all sects, and giving countenance to that against which all power ought to stand upon their guard. There is now nothing left, but that we take care that men be Christians : for concerning the ornament and advantages of religion, we cannot make that provision we desire ; Incertis de salute, de gloria minime certandum. For since they who have seen Jerusalem in prosperity, and have forgotten the order of the morning and evening sacrifice, and the beauty of the temple, will be tempted to neglect so excellent a ministration, and their assembling themselves together for peace, and holy offices, and be content with any thing that is brought to them, though it be but the husks and acorns of prodigals and swine, so they may enjoy their lands and their money with it ; we must now take care that the young men who were born in the Captivity, may be taught how to worship the God of Israel after the manner of their forefathers, till it shall please God that religion shall return into the land, and dwell safely, and grow prosperously.

But never did the excellency of Episcopal government appear so demonstratively and conspicuously as now. Under their conduct and order we had a Church so united, so orderly, so governed, a religion so settled, Articles so true, sufficient, and confessed, Canons so prudent and so obeyed, devotions so regular and constant, Sacraments so adorned and ministered, churches so beauteous and religious, circumstances of religion so grave and prudent, so useful and apt for edification, that the enemies of our Church, who serve the Pope in all things and Jesus Christ in some, who dare transgress an institution and ordinance of Christ, but dare not break a canon of the Pope, did despair of prevailing against us and truth, and knew no hopes but by setting their faces against us to destroy this government, and then they knew they should triumph without any enemy. So Balaam the son of Bosor was sent for, to curse the people of the Lord, in hope that the son of Zippor might prevail against them that had long prospered under the conduct of Moses and Aaron.

But now instead of this excellency of condition and constitution of religion, the people are fallen under the harrows and saws of impertinent and ignorant preachers, who think all religion is a sermon, and all sermons ought to be

libels against truth and old governors; and expound chapters that the meaning may never be understood; and pray, that they may be thought able to talk, but not to hold their peace, they casting not to obtain any thing but wealth and victory, power and plunder. And the people have reaped the fruits apt to grow upon such crabstocks: they grow idle and false, hypocrites and careless; they deny themselves nothing that is pleasant, they despise religion, forget government, and some never think of heaven; and they that do, think to go thither in such paths which all the ages of the Church did give men warning of, lest they should that way go to the devil.

But when men have tried all that they can, it is to be supposed they will return to the excellency and advantages of the Christian religion, as it is taught by the Church of England; for by destroying it, no end can be served but of sin and folly, faction, and death eternal. For besides that, no Church that is enemy to this, does worship God in that truth of propositions, in that unblameable and pious Liturgy, and in preaching the necessities of holy life, so much as the Church of England does; besides this, I say, it cannot be persecuted by any governor that understands his own interest, unless he be first abused by false preachers, and then prefers his secret opinion before his public advantage. For no Church in the world is so great a friend to loyalty and obedience, as she and her sisters of the same persuasion. They that hate Bishops have destroyed Monarchy, and they that would erect an ecclesiastical monarchy, must consequently subject the temporal to it. And both one and the other would be supreme in consciences ; and they that govern there, with an opinion that in all things they ought to be attended to, will let their Prince govern others, so long as he will be ruled by them.

And certainly, for a Prince to persecute the Protestant religion, is as if a physician should endeavour to destroy all medicaments, and fathers kill their sons, and the master of ceremonies destroy all formalities and courtships, and as if the Pope should root out all the ecclesiastic state. Nothing so combines with government, if it be of God's appointment, as the religion of the Church of England, because nothing does more adhere to the word of God, and disregard the crafty advantages of the world. If any man shall not decline to try his title by the word of God, it is certain there is not in the world a better guard for it than the true Protestant religion, as it is taught in our Church. But let things be as it please God ; it is certain, that in that day when truth gets her victory, in that day we shall prevail against all God's enemies and ours, not in the purchases and perquisites of the world, but in the rewards and returns of holiness and patience, and faith and charity ; for by these we worship God, and against this interest we cannot serve any thing else.

In the mean time we must by all means secure the foundation, and take care that religion may be conveyed in all its material parts, the same as it was, but by new and permitted instruments. For let us secure that our young men be good

Christians, it is easy to make them good Protestants, unless they be abused with prejudice, and suck venom with their milk ; they cannot leave our communion, till they have reason to reprove our doctrine.

There is therefore in the following pages a compendium of what we are to believe, what to do, and what to desire. It is indeed very little ; but it is enough to begin with, and will serve all persons so long as they need milk, and not strong meat. And he that hath given the following assistances to thee, desires to be even a door-keeper in God's house, and to be a servant of the meanest of God's servants, and thinks it a worthy employment to teach the most ignorant, and make them to know Christ, though but in the first rudiments of a holy institution. This only he affirms, that there is more solid comfort and material support to a Christian spirit in one article of faith, in one period of the Lord's Prayer, in one holy lesson, than in all the disputes of impertinent people, who take more pains to prove there is a purgatory, than to persuade men to avoid hell: and that a plain Catechism can more instruct a soul, than the whole day's prate which some daily spit forth, to bid men get Christ, and persecute His servants.

Christian religion is admirable for its wisdom, for its simplicity; and he that presents the following papers to thee, designs to teach thee as the Church was taught in the early days of the Apostles; to believe the Christian faith, and to understand it; to represent plain rules of good life; to describe easy forms of prayer; to bring into your assemblies hymns of glorification and thanksgiving, and psalms of prayer. By these easy paths they lead Christ's little ones into the fold of their great Bishop: and if by this any service be done to God, any ministry to the soul of a child or an ignorant woman, it is hoped that God will accept it: and it is reward enough, if by my ministry God will bring it to pass, that any soul should be instructed, and brought into that state of good things, that it shall rejoice for ever.

But do thou pray for him that desires this to thee, and endeavours it.

Q. How then could He be our Redeemer, and the promised Seed of the woman?

A. The Son of God in the fulness of time, by the miracles of His mercy, took upon Him human nature, and united it after a wonderful manner to His Godhead; so that He was both God and Man^g. He was born of a Virgin, who conceived Him not by any natural means, but by the power of the Holy Ghost^h, and was called Jesus Christ; and His mother's name was Mary, of the seed of Abraham, of the family of King *David*ⁱ. Q. What benefits do we receive by the life and death of Jesus Christ ?

A. We are instructed by His doctrine, and, encouraged by His excellent example, we are reconciled to God by His death^l; He hath given us an excellent law, and glorious promises, and Himself hath received power to make good all those promises to His servants, and fearfully to destroy them that will not have Him to reign over them.

A. Jesus Christ had three offices, and in all He was Mediator between God and man : He is our Prophet, our Priest, and our King[†].

Q. What was His office, as He was a Prophet ?

A. This office He finished on earth ; beginning when He was thirty years old to preach the Gospel of the kingdom, faith and repentance[¶].

^b Matt. xxv. 34, 41.

Q. How is Christ a Mediator in all these offices ?

A. A Mediator signifies one that stands between God and us^c. As Christ is a Prophet, so He taught us His Father's will, and ties us to obedience: as He is a Priest, He is our Redeemer, having paid a price for us, even His most precious blood; and our Advocate, pleading for us, and mediating our pardon and salvation: as He is a King, so He is our Lord, our Patron, and our Judge; yet it is the kingdom of a Mediator, that is, in order to the world to come, but then to determine and end^d. And in all these He hath made a covenant between God and us of an everlasting interest.

Q. What is the covenant which Jesus Christ our Mediator hath made between God and us ?

A. That God will write His laws in our hearts, and will pardon us, and defend us, and raise us up again at the last day, and give us an inheritance in His kingdom^e.

^c Gal. iii. 20. Heb. viii. 6; ix. 15; xii. 24.

^d 1 Cor. xv. 24.

Q. To what conditions hath He bound us on our parts?

A. Faith and repentance^f.

Q. When do we enter into this covenant?

A. In our baptism, and at our ripe years, when we understand the secrets of the kingdom of Christ, and undertake willingly what in our names was undertaken for us in our infancy^g.

Q. What is the covenant of faith which we enter into in Baptism?

A. We promise to believe that Jesus Christ is the Messias, or He that was to come into the world; that He is the Anointed of the Lord, or the Lord's Christ; that He is the Son of God, and the Son of the Virgin Mary^h;

that He is God incarnate, or *God manifested in the flesh*¹; that He is the Mediator between God and man; that He died for us upon the cross, and rose again the third day, and ascended into heaven, and shall be there till the day of judgment; that then He shall be our Judge; in the mean time He is the King of the world, and Head of the Church.

Q. What is the covenant of repentance?

A. We promise to leave all our sins², and with a hearty and sincere endeavour to give up our will and affections to Christ, and do what He hath commanded¹ (according to our power and weakness).

Q. How if we fail of this promise through infirmity, and commit sin?

A. Still we are within the covenant of repentance^m, that is, within the promise of

Q. What ministries hath Christ appointed to help us in this duty?

A. The ministry of the Word and Sacraments, which He will accompany with His grace and His Spirit^a.

Q. What is a Sacrament?

A. An outward ceremony ordained by Christ, to be a sign and a means of conveying His grace unto us.

Q. How many Sacraments are ordained by Christ?

A. Two: Baptism, and the Supper of our Lord^o.

^o Matt. xxviii. 19; xxvi. 26. 1 Cor. xi. 24.

Q. What is Baptism?

A. An outward washing of the body in water, in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost^p: in which we are buried with Christ in His death, after a sacramental manner, and are made partakers of Christ's death, and of His resurrection, teaching us, that we should rise from the death of sin to the life of righteousness.

Q. What is the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper?

A. A ceremony of eating bread and drinking wine, being blessed or consecrated by God's minister in public assemblies, in remembrance of Christ's death and passion^p.

Q. What benefits are done unto us by this Sacrament?

A. Our souls are nourished by the body

Q. Who are fit to receive this Sacrament?

A. None but baptized Christians, and such as repent of their sins, and heartily purpose to lead a good life^s.

Q. What other ministries hath Christ ordained in his Church to help us, and to bring so many great purposes to pass?

A. Jesus Christ hath appointed ministers and ambassadors of His own to preach His word to us, to pray for us, to exhort and to reprove, to comfort and instruct^t, to restore

Q. What are we tied to perform towards them ?

A. To pay them honour and maintenance^u, to obey them in all things according to the Gospel, and to order ourselves so that they may give account of our souls with cheerfulness and joy.

Q. Which are the commandments and laws of Jesus Christ ?

A. They are many, but easy ; holy, but very pleasant to all good minds, to such as desire to live well in this world, and in the world to come : and they are set down in the Sermons of our blessed Lord, and of His Apostles ; but especially in the fifth, sixth, and seventh chapters of St. Matthew^v.

AN EXPOSITION OF THE APOSTLES' CREED.

I believe in God,

I BELIEVE that there is a God, who is one, true, supreme, and alone, infinitely wise, just, good, free, eternal, immense, and blessed, and in Him alone we are to put our trust*.

The Father Almighty,

I believe that He is 1. the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, and 2. of all that believe in Him,

* Luke vi. 35. Deut. x. 17; vi. 4. Mark xii. 29, 32. 1 Cor. viii. 4. John xvii. 3. 1 Thess. i. 9. Psalm xc. 2; xciii. 2; lxxvii. 13; xc. 3; cxlvii. 5. Rom. xvi. 27. 1 Tim. i. 17. 2 Chron. xix. 7. Psalm cxix. 137. 1 Chron. xvi. 34. Psalm xxxiv. 8; cxxxv. 6. Exod. xxxiii. 19. 1 Tim. i. 11.

whom He hath begotten by His Word, and adopted to the inheritance of sons^y: and because He is our Father, He will do us all that good to which we are created and designed by grace; and because He is Almighty, He is able to perform it all; and therefore we may safely believe in Him, and rely upon Him.

Maker of heaven and earth.

He made the sun and the moon, the stars, and all the regions of glory^z; He made the air, the earth, and the water, and all that live in them; He made angels and men^a: and He who made them does, and He only can, preserve them in the same being, and thrust them forwards to a better. He that preserves them, does also govern them, and intends they should minister to His glory: and therefore we are to do worship and obedience to Him in all that we can^b, and that He hath commanded.

And in Jesus Christ,

I also believe in Jesus Christ, who is, and is called, a Saviour^c, and the Anointed of the Lord, promised to the patriarchs, whom God anointed with the Holy Spirit^d, and with power to become the great Prophet, and Declarer of His Father's will to all the world; telling us how God will be worshipped and served: He is anointed to be the Mediator of the new covenant, and our High Priest^e, reconciling us to His Father by the sacrifice of Himself; and to be the great King of all the world. And by this Article we are Christians, who serve and worship God the Father through Jesus Christ.

His only Son,

Jesus Christ is the Son of God, He alone, of Him alone^f. For God by His Holy Spirit caused Him to be born of a Virgin; by His power He raised Him from the dead, and gave Him a new birth or being in the body: He gave Him all power, and all excellency. And beyond all this, he is the express image of His Person, the brightness of His glory^g, equal to God, beloved before the beginning of the world, of a nature perfectly divine; very God by essence, and very man by assumption: as God, all one in nature with the Father; and as man, one Person in himself.

Our Lord;

Jesus Christ, God's only Son, is the Heir of all things and persons in His Father's house^h:

all angels and men are His servants, and all the creatures obey Him. We are to believe in Him, and by faith in Him only and in His Name we shall be saved.

Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost,

I believe that Jesus Christ was not begotten of a man, nor born by natural means, but that a divine power from God (God's Holy Spirit) did overshadow the Virgin-Mother of Christ¹, and made her in a wonderful manner to conceive Jesus in her womb; and by this His admirable manner of being conceived, He was the Son of God alone, and no man was His father.

Born of the Virgin Mary,

Though God was His Father, and He begat Him by the power of the Holy Ghost², and caused Him miraculously to begin in the womb of His mother; yet from her He also derived His human nature, and by His mother

He was of the family of King David, and called the Son of man; His mother being a holy person, not chosen to this great honour for her wealth or beauty, but by the good will of God^l, and because she was of rare exemplary modesty and humility: and she received the honour of being a mother to the Son of God^m, and ever a virgin, and all generations shall call her blessed.

Suffered under Pontius Pilate,

After that Jesus passed through the state of infancy and childhood, being subject to His parentsⁿ, and working in an humble trade to serve His own and His mother's needs, He grew to the estate of a man: He began to preach at the age of thirty years^o, and having for about three years and a half preached the Gospel, and taught us His Father's will, having spoken the Gospel of His kingdom, and revealed to us the secrets of eternal life, and resurrection of the dead^p, regeneration, and renewing by the Holy Spirit, perfect remission of sins, and eternal judgment; at last, that he might reconcile the world to His Father, He became a sacrifice for all our sins, and suffered Himself to be taken by the malicious Jews, and put to a painful and shameful death^q; they being envious at Him for the number of His disciples, and the reputation of His person, the innocence of His life, the mightiness of His miracles, and the power of His doctrine: and this death He suffered when Pontius Pilate was governor of Judea.

violently^r; at last, wanting matter and pretences to condemn Him, they asked Him of His person and office; and because He affirmed that great truth, which all the world of good men longed for, that He was the Messias, and designed to sit at the right hand of the Majesty on high, they resolved to call it blasphemy, and delivered Him over to Pilate, and by importunity and threats forced Him, against His conscience, to give Him up to be scourged, and then to be crucified. The soldiers therefore mocking Him with a robe and a reed, and pressing a crown of thorns upon His head, led Him to the place of His death; compelling Him to bear His cross, to which they presently nailed Him: on which for three hours He hanged in extreme torture, being a sad spectacle of the most afflicted and the most innocent person of the whole world.

He was consecrated our merciful High Priest^u, and by a feeling of our miseries and temptations, became able to help them that are tempted^x; and for these His sufferings was exalted to the highest throne, and seat of the right hand of God^y; and hath shewn, that to heaven there is no surer way than suffering for His name^z; and hath taught us willingly to suffer for His sake, what Himself hath left with His Church for ever⁹, by which all the servants of God are enabled to do all things necessary to salvation, which by the force of nature they cannot do: and we speak by the Spirit, and work by the Spirit, when by His assistances any ways imparted to us we speak or do any thing of our duty. He it is who enlightens our understanding, sanctifies our will, orders and commands our affections; He comforts our sorrows, supports our spirits in trouble, and enables us by promises, and confidences, and gifts, to suffer for the Lord Jesus and the Gospel. And all these things God the Father does for us by His Son, and the Son by the Holy Spirit, and the Holy Spirit by all means within and without, which are operative upon and proportionable to the nature of reasonable creatures. This is He who works miracles, gives the gifts of prophecy and of interpretation, that teaches us what and how to pray, that gives us zeal and holy desires; who sanctifies children in Baptism, and confirms them with His grace in Confirmation, and reproveth the world, and consecrates Bishops and all the Ministers of the Gospel, and absolves the penitent, and blesses the obedient, and comforts the sick, and excommunicates the refractory, and makes intercession for the saints: that is, the Church, and those whom He hath blessed, appointed, and sanctified to these purposes, do all these ministries by His authority, and His commandment, and His aids. This is He that testifies to our spirits that we are the sons of God, and that makes us to cry, Abba, Father; that is, who inspires into us such humble confidences of our being accepted in our hearty and constant endeavours to please God, that we can with cheerfulness and joy call God our Father, and expect and hope for the portion of sons both here and hereafter, and in the certainty of this hope, to work out our salvation with fear and reverence, with trembling and joy, with distrust of ourselves, and mighty confidence in God. By this holy and ever-blessed Spirit, several persons in the Church, and every man in his proportion, receives the gifts of wisdom, and utterance, and knowledge, and interpretation, and prophecy, and healing, and government, and discerning of spirits, and faith, and tongues, and whatsoever can be necessary for the Church in several ages and periods, for her beginning, for her continuance, for her in prosperity, and for her in persecution. This is the great promise of the Father^r, and it is the gift of God, which He will give to all them that ask Him, and who live piously and chastely, and are persons fit to entertain so divine a grace. This Holy Spirit God gives to some more^s, to some less, according as they are capable. They who obey His motions^t, and love His presence, and improve His gifts, shall have Him yet more abundantly: but they that grieve the Holy Spirit^u, shall lose that which they

Lastly, this Holy Spirit seals us to the day of redemption; that is, God gives us His Holy Spirit as a testimony that He will raise us again at the last day^a, and give us a portion in the glories of His kingdom, in the inheritance of our Lord Jesus.

visible company of men, professing the service and discipline^b, that is, the religion, of the Gospel, who agree together in the belief of all the truths of God revealed by Jesus Christ, and in confession of the Articles of this Creed, and agree together in praying and praising God through Jesus Christ^c, to read and hear the Scriptures read and expounded, to provoke each other to love and to good works^d, to advance the honour of Christ, and to propagate his faith and worship. I believe this to be a holy Church, spiritual^e, and not civil and secular, but sanctified by their profession, and the solemn rites of it, professing holiness^f, and separating from the evil manners of heathens and wicked persons, by their laws and institutions. And this Church is Catholic^g; that is, it is not confined to the nation of the Jews, as was the old religion, but it is gathered out of all nations, and is not of a differing faith in differing places, but always did, doth, and ever shall, profess the faith which the Apostles preached^h, and which is contained in this Creed; which whosoever believes is a Catholic and a *Christian*ⁱ, and he that believes not is neither. This Catholic Church I believe, that is, I believe whatsoever all good Christians in all ages and in all places did confess to be the Catholic and Apostolic faith.

The communion of saints,

That is, the communion of all Christians; because by reason of their holy faith they are called saints in Scripture^k, as being begotten by God into a lively faith, and cleansed by believing: and by this faith, and the profession of a holy life in obedience to Jesus Christ, they are separated from the world, called to the knowledge of the truth, justified before God, and endued with the holy Spirit of grace, foreknown from the beginning of the world¹, and predestinated by God to be made conformable to the image of his Son, here in holiness of life, hereafter in a life of glory; and they who are saints in their belief and profession, must be so also in their practice and conversation, that so they may make their calling and election sure, lest they be saints only in name and title, in their profession and institution, and not in manners and holiness of living; that is, lest they be so before men, and not before God. I believe that all people who desire the benefit of the Gospel are bound to have a fellowship and society with these saints^m, and communicate with them in their holy things, in their faith, and in their *hope*ⁿ, and in their sacraments, and in their prayers^o, and in their public assemblies, and in their government: and must do to them all the acts of charity^p and mutual help which they can and are required to: and without this communion of saints, and a conjunction with them who believe in God through Jesus Christ^q, there is no salvation to be expected; which communion must be kept in inward things always, and by all persons, and testified by outward acts always, when it is possible, and may be done upon just and holy conditions.

The forgiveness of sins.

I believe that all the sins I committed before I came to the knowledge of the truth^r, and all the slips of human infirmity, against which we heartily pray, and watch and labour, and all the evil habits, of which we repent so timely and effectually, that we obtain their contrary graces, and live in them, are fully remitted by the blood of Christ^{*}; which forgiveness we obtain by faith and repentance, and therefore are not justified by the righteousness of works, but by the righteousness of faith: and we are preserved in the state of forgiveness or justification by the fruits of a lively faith, and a timely active repentance.

The resurrection of the body.

I believe that at the last day all they whose sins are forgiven, and who lived and died in the communion of saints, and in whom the Holy Spirit did dwell, shall rise from their graves[†], their dead bones shall live, and be clothed with flesh and skin, and their bodies together with their souls shall enter into the portion of a new life: and that this body shall no more see corruption, but shall rise to an

And the life everlasting.

I believe that they who have their part in this resurrection shall meet the Lord in the air, and when the blessed sentence is pronounced upon them, they shall for ever be with the Lord^y in joys unspeakable, and full of glory; God shall wipe all tears from their eyes; there shall be no fear or sorrow, no mourning or death^z; a friend shall never go away from thence, and an enemy shall never enter; there shall be fulness without want^a, light eternal brighter than the sun, day and no night, joy and no weeping, difference in degree and yet

Amen.

This is the Catholic faith, which except a man believe faithfully, he cannot be saved.

The rule of faith is wholly one, unalterable, never to be mended, never changed; to wit, I believe in God, &c. This law of faith remaining, in other things you may increase and grow.

This is the faith which in few words is given to novices. These few words are known to all the faithful; that by believing they may be subject to God, by this subjection they may live well, by living well they may purify their hearts, and with pure hearts they may [relish and] understand what they do believe.

This short and perfect confession of this Catholic Creed, which was consigned by the sentences of twelve Apostles, is so perfect a celestial armour, that all the opinions of heretics may by this alone, as with a sword, be cut in pieces.

AGENDA, OR,
THINGS TO BE DONE.

The Diary, or a Rule to spend each day religiously.

SECT. I.

1. SUPPOSE every day to be a day of business: for your whole life is a race, and a battle; a merchandise, and a journey. Every day propound to yourself a rosary or a chaplet of good works, to present to God at night.

2. Rise as soon as your health and other occasions shall permit; but it is good to be as regular as you can, and as early. Remember, he that rises first to prayer, hath a more early title to a blessing. But he that changes night into day, labour into idleness, watchfulness into sleep, changes his hopes of blessing into a dream.

3. Never let any one think it an excuse to lie in bed, because he hath nothing to do when he is up ; for whoever hath a soul, and hopes to save that soul, hath work enough to do to make his calling and election sure, to serve God, and to pray, to read, and to meditate, to repent, and to amend, to do good to others, and to keep evil from themselves. And if thou hast little to do, thou oughtest to employ the more time in laying up for a greater crown of glory.

4. At your opening your eyes, enter upon the day with some act of piety.

1. Of thanksgiving for the preservation of you the night past.
2. Of the glorification of God for the works of the creation, or any thing for the honour of God.

5. When you first go off from your bed, solemnly and devoutly bow your head, and worship the holy Trinity, the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

6. When you are making ready, be as silent as you can, and spend that time in holy thoughts ; there being no way left to redeem that time from loss but by meditation and short mental prayers. If you choose to speak, speak something of God's praises, of his goodness, his mercies, or his greatness: ever resolving, that the first-fruits of thy reason and of all thy faculties shall be presented to God, to sanctify the whole harvest of thy conversation.

7. Be not curious nor careless in your habit, but always keep these measures.

1. Be not troublesome to thyself or to others by unhandsomeness or uncleanness.

2. Let it be according to your state or quality

3. Make religion to be the difference of your habit, so as to be best attired upon holy or festival days.

8. In your dressing, let there be ejaculations fitted to the several actions of dressing: as at washing your hands and face, pray God to cleanse your soul from sin; in putting on your clothes, pray him to clothe your soul with the righteousness of your Saviour; and so in all the rest.

For religion must not only be the garment of your soul, to invest it all over ; but it must be also as the fringes to every of your actions, that something of religion appear in every one of them, besides the innocence of all of them.

9. As soon as you are dressed with the first preparation of your clothes, that you can decently do it, kneel and say the Lord's Prayer ; then rise from your knees, and do what is necessary for you in order to your further dressing, or affairs of the house, which is speedily to be done ; and then finish your dressing according to the foregoing rules.

10. When you are dressed, retire yourself to your closet, and go to your usual devotions ; which it is good that at the first prayers they were divided into seven actions of piety.

1. An act of adoration.
2. Of thanksgiving.
3. Of oblation.
4. Of confession.
5. Of petition.
6. Of intercession.

7. Of meditation, or serious, deliberate, useful reading of the holy Scriptures.

11. I advise that your reading should be governed by these measures ^a.

1. Let it be not of the whole Bible in order, but for your devotion use the New Testament, and such portions of the Old as contain the precepts of holy life.

2. The historical and less useful part, let it be read at such other times which you have of leisure from your domestic employments.

3. Those portions of Scripture which you use in your prayers, let them not be long: a chapter at once, no more. But then what time you can afford, spend it in thinking and meditating upon the holy precepts which you read.

4. Be sure to meditate so long, till you make some act of piety upon the occasion of what you meditate: either that you get some new arguments against a sin, or some new encouragements to virtue ; some spiritual strength and advantage, or else some act of prayer to God, or glorification of Him.

5. I advise that you would read your chapter in the midst of your prayers in the morning, if they be divided according to the number of the former actions ; because little interruptions will be apt to make your prayers less tedious, and yourself more attent upon them. But if you find any other way more agreeing to your spirit and disposition, use your liberty without scruple.

12. Before you go forth of your closet, after your prayers are done, set yourself down a little while, and consider what you are to do that day, what matter of business is like to employ you or to tempt you ; and take particular resolution against that, whether it be matter of wrangling, or anger, or covetousness, or vain courtship, or feasting ; and when you enter upon it, remember upon what you resolved in your closet. If you are likely to have nothing extraordinary that day, a general recommendation of the affairs of that day to God in your prayers will be sufficient: but if there be any thing foreseen that is not usual, be sure to be armed for it by a hearty, though a short, prayer, and an earnest prudent resolution beforehand, and then watch when the thing comes.

13. Whosoever hath children or servants, let him or her take care that all the children and servants of the family say their prayers before they begin their work. The Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments, with the short verse at the end of every Commandment, which the Church uses, and the Creed, is a very good office for them, if they be not fitted for more regular offices. And to these also it were good that some proper Prayer were apporioned, and they taught it. It were well if they would serve themselves of this form set down at the end of this Diary.

14. Then go about the affairs of your house and proper employment, ever avoiding idleness, or too much earnestness of affection upon the things of the world: do your business prudently, temperately, diligently, humbly, charitably.

15. Let there be no idle person in or about your family, of beggars or unemployed servants, but find them all work and meat; call upon them carefully; reprove them without reproaches or fierce railings. Be a master or a mistress, and a friend to them, and exact of them to be faithful and diligent.

16. In your servants suffer any offence against yourself rather than against God; endure not that they should swear, or lie, or steal, or be wanton; or curse each other, or be railers, or slanderers, or tell-tales, or sowers of disension in the family, or amongst neighbours.

17. In all your intercourse with your neighbours in the day, let your affairs be wholly matter of business or civility, and always managed with justice and charity; never let it be matter of curiosity or enquiry into the actions of others; always without censuring or rash judgment, without backbiting, slandering, or detraction: do it not yourself, neither converse with them that do. He or she that loves tale-bearers, shall never be beloved, or be innocent.

18. Before dinner and supper, as often as it is convenient or can be had, let the public Prayers of the Church, or some parts of them, be said publicly in the family, and let as many be present as you can. The same rule is also to be observed for Sundays and Holy-days for their going to church. Let no servant be always detained, but relieved and provided for by changes.

19. Let your meal be temperate and wholesome, according to your quality and the season, begun and ended with prayer: and be sure that in the course of your meal, and before you rise, you recollect yourself, and send your heart up to God with some holy and short ejaculation; remembering your duty, fearing to offend, or desiring and sighing after the eternal supper of the Lamb.

20. After meal, use what innocent refreshment you please, to refresh your mind or body, with these measures.

1. Let it not be too expensive of time.
2. Let it not hinder your devotion, nor your business.
3. Let it be always without violence or passion.
4. Let it not then wholly take you up when you are at it; but let your heart retire with some holy thoughts and sober recollections, lest your mind be seized upon by it, and your affections carried off from better things: secure your affections for God, and sober and severe employment. Here you may be refreshed, but take heed you neither dwell here, nor sin here. It is better never to use recreation, than at any time to sin by it. But you may use recreation, and avoid sin, and that is the best temper: but if you cannot do both, be more careful of your soul than of your refreshment; and that is the best security. But then, in what you use to sin, carefully avoid it, and change your refreshment for some other instance in which you can be more innocent.

21. Entertain no long discourses with any, but, if you can, bring in something to season it with religion: as God must be in all your thoughts, so, if it be possible, let Him be in all your discourses, at least let Him be at one end of it; and when you cannot speak of Him, be sure you forget not to think of Him.

22. Towards the declining of the day, be sure to retire to your private devotions. Read, meditate, and pray: in which I propound to you this method On the Lord's day meditate of the glories of the creation, the works of God, and all his benefits to mankind, and to you in particular. Then let your devotion be, humbly upon your knees to say over the 8th and 19th Psalms, and sometimes the 104th, with proper Collects which you shall find or get: adding the Form of Thanksgiving which is in the Rule of Holy Living, page 378, in the manner as is there directed; or some other of your own choosing.

Meditate on	}	Monday Tuesday Wednesday Thursday	}	on	}	1. Death. 2. Judgment. 3. Heaven. 4. Hell.

Saying your usual prayers, and adding some ejaculations or short sayings of your own, according to the matter of your devotion.

On Friday, recollect your sins that you have done that week, and all your lifetime, and let your devotion be to recite humbly and devoutly some penitential Litanies, whereof you may serve yourself in the Rule of Holy Living, p. 373.

On Saturday, at the same time, meditate on the Passion of our blessed Saviour, and all the mysteries of our redemption, which you may do and pray together, by using the forms made to that purpose in the Rule of Holy Living, p. 391. In all your devotions begin and end with the Lord's Prayer.

Upon these two days and Sunday, you may choose some portions out of the Life of Christ, to read and help your meditation, proper to the mysteries you are appointed to meditate, or any other devout books.

23. Read not much at a time; but meditate as much as your time and capacity and disposition will give you leave: ever remembering, that little reading and much thinking, little speaking and much hearing, frequent and short prayers and great devotion, is the best way to be wise, to be holy, to be devout.

24. Before you go to bed, bethink yourself of the day past: if nothing extraordinary hath happened, your conscience is the sooner examined; but if you have had any difference or disagreeing with any one, or a great feast, or great company, or a great joy, or a great sorrow, then recollect yourself with the more diligence: ask pardon for what is amiss; give God thanks for what was good. If you have omitted any duty, make amends next day; and yet if nothing be found that was amiss, be humbled still and thankful, and pray God for pardon if any thing be amiss that you know not of. If all these things be in your offices, for your last prayers, be sure to apply them according to what you find in your examination : but if they be not, supply them with short ejaculations before you begin your last prayers, or at the end of them. Remember also and be sure to take notice of all the mercies and deliverances of yourself and your relatives that day.

25. As you are going to bed, as often as you can conveniently, or that you are not hindered by company, meditate of death, and the preparations to your grave. When you lie down, close your eyes with a short prayer, commit yourself into the hands of your faithful Creator ; and when you have done, trust Him with yourself, as you must do when you are dying.

26. If you awake in the night, fill up the intervals or spaces of your not sleeping by holy thoughts and aspirations, and remember the sins of your youth : and sometimes remember your dead, and that you shall die ; and pray to God to send to you and all mankind a mercy in the day of judgment.

27. Upon the holydays observe the same rules ; only let the matter of your meditations be according to the mystery of the day. As upon Christmas-day, meditate on the birth of our blessed Saviour, and read that story and considerations which are in the Life of Christ : and to your ordinary devotions of every day add the prayer which is fitted to the mystery, which you shall find in the Life of Christ, or in the Rule of Holy Living. Upon the day of the Annunciation, or our Lady-day, meditate on the incarnation of our blessed Saviour ; and so upon all the festivals of the year.

28. Set apart one day for fasting once a week, or once a fortnight, or once a month at least ; but let it be with these cautions and measures.

1. Do not choose a festival of the Church for your fasting-day.
2. Eat nothing till your afternoon-devotions be done, if the health of your body will permit it : if not, take something, though it be the less.
3. When you eat your meal, let it be no more than ordinary, lest your fasting-day end in an intemperate evening.

4. Let the actions of all the day be proportionable to it; abstain from your usual recreations on that day, and from greater mirth.
5. Be sure to design beforehand the purposes of your fast, either for repentance, or for mortification, or for the advantages of prayer; and let your devotions be accordingly. But be sure not to think fasting, or eating fish, or eating nothing, of itself to be pleasing to God, but as it serves to one of these purposes.
6. Let some part of that day extraordinary be set apart for prayer, for the actions of repentance, for confession of sins, and for begging of those graces for whose sake you set apart that day.
7. Be sure that on that day you set apart something for the poor; for fasting and alms are the wings of prayer.
8. It is best to choose that day for your fast which is used generally by all Christians, as Friday and Saturday ; but do not call it a fasting-day, unless also it be a day of extraordinary devotion and of alms.

29. From observation of all the days of your life, gather out the four extraordinaries.

1. All the great and shameful sins you have committed.
 2. All the excellent or greater acts of piety which by God's grace you have performed.
 3. All the great blessings you have received.
 4. All the dangers and great sicknesses you have escaped : and upon all the days of your extraordinary devotions, let them be brought forth, and produce their acts of virtue.
 1. Repentance and prayers for pardon.
 2. Resolutions to proceed and increase in good works.
 3. Thanksgiving to God.
 4. Fear and watchfulness, lest we fall into worse, as a punishment for our sin.
30. Keep a little catalogue of these, and at the foot of them set down what promises and vows you have made, and kept or broken, and do according as you are obliged.

31. Receive the blessed Sacrament as often as you can: endeavour to have it once a month, besides the solemn and great festivals of the year.

32. Confess your sins often, hear the word of God, make religion the business of your life, your study, and chiefest care; and be sure that in all things a spiritual guide take you by the hand.

Thou shalt always rejoice in the evening, if thou dost spend the day virtuously.

A SHORT METHOD OF PEACE AND HOLINESS, WITH A MANUAL OF DAILY PRAYERS,
Fitted to the days of the Week.

SUNDAY.

The First Decade.

1. It is the highest wisdom, by despising the world to arrive at Heaven ; for they are blessed whose daily exercise it is to converse with God by prayer and obedience, by love and patience.

2. It is the extremest folly to labour for that which will bring torment in the end, and no satisfaction in the little enjoyment of it: to be unwearied in the pursuit of the world, and to be soon tired in whatsoever we begin to do for Christ.

3. Watch over thyself, counsel thyself, reprove thyself, censure thyself, and judge thyself impartially: whatever thou dost to others, do not neglect thyself. For every man profits so much as he does violence to himself.

4. They that follow their own sensuality, stain their consciences, and lose the grace of God; but he that endeavours to please God, whatever he suffers, is beloved of God. For it is not a question, whether we shall or shall not suffer: but, whether we shall suffer for God, or for the world; whether we shall take pains in religion, or in sin, to get Heaven, or to get riches.

5. What availeth knowledge without the fear of God? A humble ignorant man is better than a proud scholar, who studies natural things, and knows not himself. The more thou knowest, the more grievously thou shalt be judged. Many get no profit by their labour, because they contend for knowledge rather than for holy life; and the time shall come, when it shall more avail thee to have subdued one lust, than to have known all mysteries.

6. No man truly knows himself, but he groweth daily more contemptible in his own eyes. Desire not to be known, and to be little esteemed of by men.

7. If all be well within, nothing can hurt us from without: for from inordinate love and vain fear comes all unquietness of spirit and distraction of our senses.

8. He to whom all things are one, who draweth all things to one, and seeth all things in one, may enjoy true peace and rest of spirit.

9. It is not much business that distracts any man, but the want of purity, constancy, and tendency towards God. Who hinders thee more than the unmortified desires of thy own heart? As soon as ever a man desires any thing inordinately, he is presently disquieted in himself. He that hath not wholly subdued himself, is quickly tempted and overcome in small and trifling things. The weak in spirit is he that is in a manner subject to his appetite, and he quickly falls into indignation, and contention, and envy.

10. He is truly great, that is great in charity, and little in himself.

The Second Decade.

11. WE rather often believe and speak evil of others, than good. But they that are truly virtuous, do not easily credit evil that is told them of their neighbours. For if others may do amiss, then may these also speak amiss. Man is frail and prone to evil, and therefore may soon fail in words.

12. Be not rash in thy proceedings, nor confident and pertinacious in thy conceits. But consult with him that is wise, and seek to be instructed by a better than thyself.

13. The more humble and resigned we are to God, the more prudent we are in our affairs to men, and peaceable in ourselves.

14. The proud and the covetous can never rest.

15. Be not ashamed to be, or to be esteemed, poor in this world; for he that hears God teaching him, will find that it is the best wisdom to withdraw all our affections from secular honour and troublesome riches, and to place them upon eternal treasures, and by patience, by humility, by suffering scorn and contempt, and all the will of God, to get the true riches.

16. Be not proud of well-doing; for the judgment of God is far differing from the judgment of men.

17. Lay not thine heart open to every one, but with the wise, and them that fear God. Converse not much with young people and strangers. Flatter not the rich, neither do thou willingly or lightly appear before great personages. Never be partaker with the persecutors.

18. It is easier, and safer, and more pleasant, to live in obedience, than to be at our own disposing.

19. Always yield to others when there is cause; for that is no shame, but honour; but it is shame to stand stiff in a foolish or weak argument or resolution.

20. The talk of worldly affairs hindereth much, although recounted with a fair intention: we speak willingly, but seldom return to silence.

TUESDAY.

The Third Decade.

21. WATCH and pray, lest your time pass without profit or fruit. But devout discourses do greatly further our spiritual progress, if persons of one mind and spirit be gathered together in God.

22. We should enjoy more peace, if we did not busy ourselves with the words and deeds of other men, which appertain not to our charge.

23. He that esteems his progress in religion to consist in exterior observances, his devotion will quickly be at an end. But to free ourselves of passions is to lay the axe at the root of the tree, and the true way of peace.

24. It is good that we sometimes be contradicted and ill thought of, and that we always bear it well, even when we deserve to be well spoken of. Perfect peace and security cannot be had in this world.

25. All the saints have profited by tribulations; and they that could not bear temptations became reprobates, and fell from God.

26. Think not all is well within when all is well without; or that thy being pleased is a sign that God is pleased: but suspect every thing that is prosperous, unless it promotes piety, and charity, and humility.

27. Do no evil, for no interest, and to please no man, for no friendship, and for no fear.

28. God regards not how much we do, but from how much it proceeds. He does much that loves much.

29. Patiently suffer that from others which thou canst not mend in them, until God please to do it for thee; and remember that thou mend thyself, since thou art so willing others should not offend in any thing.

30. Every man's virtue is best seen in adversity and temptation.

WEDNESDAY.

The Fourth Decade.

31. BEGIN every day to repent, not that thou shouldest at all defer it, or stand at the door, but because all that is past ought to seem little to thee, because it is so in itself: begin the next day with the same zeal, and the same fear, and the same humility, as if thou hadst never begun before.

32. A little omission of any usual exercise of piety cannot happen to thee without some loss and considerable detriment, even though it be upon a considerable cause.

33. Be not slow in common and usual acts of piety and devotion, and quick and prompt at singularities: but having first done what thou art bound to, proceed to counsels and perfections, and the extraordinaries of religion, as you see cause.

34. He that desires much to hear news is never void of passions and secular desires, and adherences to the world.

35. Complain not too much of hindrances of devotion ; if thou let men alone, they will let you alone ; and if you desire not to converse with them, let them know it, and they will not desire to converse with thee.

36. Draw not to thyself the affairs of others, neither involve thyself in the suits and parties of great personages.

37. Know that if any trouble happen to thee, it is what thou hast deserved, and therefore brought upon thyself. But if any comfort come to thee, it is a gift of God, and what thou didst not deserve. And remember, that oftentimes when thy body complains of trouble, it is not so much the greatness of trouble, as littleness of thy spirit, that makes thee to complain.

38. He that knows how to suffer any thing for God, that desires heartily the will of God may be done in him ; that studies to please others rather than himself ; to do the will of his superior, not his own ; that chooseth the least portion, and is not greedy for the biggest; that takes the lowest place, and does not murmur secretly; he is in the best condition and state of things.

39. Let no man despair of mercy or success so long as he hath life and health.

40. Every man must pass through fire and water before he can come to refreshment.

THURSDAY.

The Fifth Decade.

41. SOON may a man lose that by negligence, which hath by much labour and a long time and a mighty grace scarcely been obtained. And what shall become of us before night, who are weary so early in the morning? Woe be to that man who would be at rest, even when he hath scarcely a footstep of holiness appearing in his conversation.

42. So think, and so do, as if thou wert to die to-day, and at night to give an account of thy whole life.

43. Beg not a long life, but a good one; for length of days oftentimes prolongs the evil, and augments the guilt. It were well if that little time we live, we would live well.

44. Entertain the same opinions and thoughts of thy sin and of thy present state, as thou wilt in the days of sorrow. Thou wilt then think thyself very miserable and very foolish, for neglecting one hour, and one day of thy salvation: think so now, and thou wilt be more provident of thy time and of thy talent. For there will a time come, when every careless man shall desire the respite of one hour for prayer and repentance, and I know not who will grant it. Happy is he that so lives, that in the day of death he rejoices, and is not amazed.

45. He that would die comfortably, may serve his ends by first procuring to himself a contempt of the world, a fervent desire of growing in grace, love of discipline, a laborious repentance, a prompt obedience, self-denial, and toleration of every cross accident for the love of Christ, and a tender charity.

46. While thou art well thou mayest do much good, if thou wilt; but when thou art sick, neither thou nor I can tell what thou shalt be able to do: it is not very much, nor very good. Few men mend with sickness, as there are but few who by travel and a wandering life become devout.

47. Be not troubled, nor faint in the labours of mortification, and the austerities of repentance: for in hell, one hour is more intolerable than a hundred years in the house of repentance: and try; for if thou canst not endure God punishing thy follies gently, for a while, to amend thee, how wilt thou endure his vengeance for ever to undo thee?

48. In thy prayers wait for God, and think not every hearty prayer can procure every thing thou askest. Those things which the saints did not obtain without many prayers, and much labour, and showers of tears, and a long-protracted watchfulness, and industry, do thou expect also in its own time, and by its usual measures. Do thou valiantly, and hope confidently, and wait patiently, and thou shalt find thou wilt not be deceived.

49. Be careful thou dost not speak a lie in thy prayers, which, though not observed, is frequently practised by careless persons, especially in the forms of confession, affirming things which they have not thought, professing sorrow which is not, making a vow they mean not.

50. If thou meanest to be devout, and to enlarge thy religion, do it rather by increasing thy ordinary devotions than thy extraordinary. For if they be not regular, but come by chance, they will not last long. But if they be added to your ordinary offices, or made to be daily, thy spirit will by use and custom be made tender, and not willing to go less.

FRIDAY.

The Sixth Decade.

51. HE is a truly charitable and good man, who, when he receives injuries, grieves rather for the malice of him that injures him, than for his own suffering; who willingly prays for him that wrongs him, and from his heart forgives all his faults; who stays not, but quickly asks pardon of others for his errors or mistakes; who sooner shews mercy than anger; who thinks better of others than himself; who offers violence to his appetite, and in all things endeavours to subdue the flesh to the spirit. This is an excellent abbreviation of the whole duty of a Christian.

52. No man can have felicity in two states of things. If he takes it in God here, in Him he shall have it hereafter, for God will last for ever. But if he takes felicity in things of this world, where will his felicity be when this world is done? Either here alone or hereafter must be thy portion.

53. Avoid those things in thyself, which in others do most displease thee. And remember, that as thine eye observes others, so art thou observed by God, by angels, and by men.

54. He that puts his confidence in God only, is neither overjoyed in any great good things of this life, nor sorrowful for a little thing. Let God be thy love and thy fear, and He also will be thy salvation and thy refuge.

55. Do not omit thy prayers for want of a good oratory or place to pray in, nor thy duty for want of temporal encouragements. For he that does both upon God's account, cares not how or what he suffers, so he suffer well, and be the friend of Christ; nor where nor when he prays, so he may do it frequently, fervently, and acceptably.

56. Very often remember and meditate upon the wounds and stripes, the shame and the pain, the death and the burial, of our Lord Jesus; for nothing will more enable us to bear our cross patiently, injuries charitably, the labour of religion comfortably, and censuring words and detractions with meekness and quietness.

57. Esteem not thyself to have profited in religion, unless thou thinkest well of others, and meanly of thyself: therefore never accuse any but thyself; and he that diligently watches himself, will be willing enough to be silent concerning others.

58. It is no great matter to live lovingly with goodnatured, with humble, and meek persons: but he that can do so with the froward, with the wilful and the ignorant, with the peevish and perverse, he only hath true charity: always remembering, that our true solid peace, the peace of God, consists rather in complying with others, than in being complied with; in suffering and forbearing, rather than in contention and victory.

59. Simplicity in our intentions and purity of affections are the two wings of a soul, investing it with the robes and resemblances of a seraphim. Intend the honour of God principally and sincerely, and mingle not thy affections with any creature, but in just subordination to God, and to religion, and thou shalt have joy, if there be any such thing in this world. For there is no joy but in God, and no sorrow but in an evil conscience.

60. Take not much care what or who is for thee, or against thee. The judgment of none is to be regarded if God's judgment be otherwise. Thou art neither better nor worse in thyself for any account that is made of thee by any but by God alone: secure that to thee, and he will secure all the rest.

SATURDAY.

The Seventh Decade.

61. Blessed is he that understands what it is to love Jesus, and contends earnestly to be like Him. Nothing else can satisfy, or make us perfect. But be thou a bearer of His cross, as well as a lover of His kingdom. Suffer tribulation for Him, or from Him, with the same spirit thou receivest consolation: follow Him as well for the bitter cup of His Passion as for the loaves; and remember, that if it be a hard saying, Take up My cross, and follow Me; it is a harder saying, Go, ye cursed, into everlasting fire.

62. No man can always have the same spiritual pleasure in his prayers; for the greatest saints have sometimes suffered the banishment of the heart, sometimes are fervent, sometimes they feel a barrenness of devotion: for this spirit comes and goes. Rest therefore only in God, and in doing thy duty: and know, that if thou beest overjoyed to-day, this hour will pass away, and temptation and sadness will succeed.

63. In all afflictions, seek rather for patience than for comfort: if thou preservest that, this will return. Any man would serve God, if he felt pleasure in it always; but the virtuous does it when his soul is full of heaviness, and regards not himself, but God, and hates that consolation that lessens his compunction, but loves any thing whereby he is made more humble.

64. That which thou dost not understand when thou readest, thou shalt understand in the day of thy visitation: for there are many secrets of religion, which are not perceived till they be felt, and are not felt but in the day of a great calamity.

65. He that prays, despairs not. But sad is the condition of him that cannot pray. Happy are they that can and do, and love to do it.

66. He that will be pleased in his prayers, must make his prayers his rule. All our duty is there set down, because in all our duty we beg the Divine assistance: and remember, that you are bound to do all those duties, for the doing of which you have prayed for the Divine assistance.

67. Be doing actions of religion as often as thou canst, and thy worldly pleasures as seldom, that if thou beest surprised by sudden death, it may be odds but thou mayest be taken at thy prayers.

68. Watch, and resist the devil in all his temptations and snares. His chief designs are these ; to hinder thy desire in good ; to put thee by from thy spiritual employment, from prayers especially, from the meditation of the Passion, from the remembrance of thy sins, from humble confession of them, from speedy repentance, from the custody of thy senses and of thy heart, from firm purposes of growing in grace, from reading good books, and frequent receiving the holy Sacrament. It is all one to him, if he deceives thee by a lie or by truth ; whether he amaze or trouble thee by love of the present, or fear of the future. Watch him but in these things, and there will be no part left unarmed in which he can wound thee.

69. Remember how the proud have fallen, and they who have presumed upon their own strength have been disgraced, and that the boldest and greatest talkers in the days of peace, have been the most dejected and pusillanimous in the day of temptation.

70. No man ought to think he hath found peace, when nothing troubles him; or that God loves him, because he hath no enemy; nor that all is well, because every thing is according to his mind; nor that he is a holy person, because he prays with great sweetness and comfort. But he is at peace who is reconciled to God; and God loves him, when he hath overcome himself; and all is well, when nothing pleases him but God, being thankful in the midst of his afflictions; and he is holy, who, when he hath lost his comfort, loses nothing of his duty, but is still the same, when God changes his face towards him.

POSTULANDA,
OR,
THINGS TO BE PRAYED FOR.

A FORM OF PRAYER,
BY WAY OF PARAPHRASE EXPOUNDING
THE LORD'S PRAYER.

Our Father.

MERCIFUL and gracious, Thou gavest us being, raising us from nothing, to be an excellent creation, efforming us after Thy own Image, tenderly feeding us, and conducting and strengthening us all our days. Thou art our Father by a more excellent mercy, adopting us in a new birth, to become partakers of the inheritance of Jesus. Thou hast given us the portion and the food of sons: O make us to do the duty of sons, that we may never lose our title to so glorious an inheritance.

Let this excellent name and title, by which Thou hast vouchsafed to relate to us, be our glory and our confidence, our defence and guard, our ornament and strength, our dignity, and the endearment of obedience, the principle of a holy fear to Thee our Father, and of love to Thee and to our brethren, partakers of the same hope and dignity.

Unite every member of the Church to Thee in holy bands: let there be no more names of division, nor titles and ensigns of error and partiality: let not us who are brethren contend, but in giving honour to each other and glory to Thee, contending earnestly for the faith, but not to the breach of charity, nor the denying each other's hope. But grant, that we may all join in the promotion of the honour of Thee our Father, in celebrating the name, and spreading the family, and propagating the laws and institutions, the promises and dignities, of our elder brother; that, despising the transitory entertainments of this world, we may labour for and long after the inheritance to which Thou hast given us title, by adopting us into the dignity of sons. For ever let Thy Spirit witness to our spirit that we are Thy children, and enable us to cry, Abba, Father.

Which art in heaven.

Heaven is Thy throne, the earth Thy footstool. From Thy throne Thou beholdest all the dwellers upon earth, and triest out the hearts of men, and nothing is hid from Thy sight. And as Thy knowledge is infinite, so is Thy power uncircumscribed as the utmost orb of heaven, and Thou sittest in Thy own essential happiness and tranquillity, immovable and eternal. That is our country, and thither Thy servants are travelling; there is our Father, and that is our inheritance; there our hearts are, for there our treasure is laid up till the day of recompense.

Hallowed be Thy Name.

Thy Name, O God, is glorious, and in Thy Name is our hope and confidence. According to Thy Name, so is Thy praise unto the world's

end. They that love Thy Name shall be joyful in Thee; for Thy Name, which Thou madest to be proclaimed unto Thy people, is, The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth; keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity, and transgression, and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty. In this glorious Name we worship Thee, O Lord; and all they that know Thy Name will put their trust in Thee. The desire of our soul is to Thy Name, and to the remembrance of Thee. Thou art worthy, O Lord, of honour, and praise, and glory, for ever and ever: we confess Thy glories, we rejoice in Thy mercies; we hope in Thy Name, and Thy saints like it well: for Thy Name is praised unto the ends of the world; it is believed by faith, relied upon by a holy hope, and loved by a great charity. All Thy Church celebrates Thee with praises, and offers to Thy Name the sacrifice of prayer and thanksgiving.

Thou, O God, didst frame our nature by Thy own Image, and now Thou hast imprinted

Thy Name upon us, we are Thy servants, the relatives and domestics of Thy family, and Thou hast honoured us with the gracious appellative of Christians. O let us never dishonour so excellent a title, nor by unworthy usages profane Thy holy Name, but for ever glorify it. Let our life be answerable to our dignity; that our body may be chaste, our thoughts clean, our words gracious, our manners holy, and our life useful and innocent; that men, seeing our good works, may glorify Thee our Father, which art in Heaven.

Thy kingdom come.

Thou reignest in Heaven and earth: O do Thou rule also in our hearts, advance the interest of religion, let Thy Gospel be placed in all the regions of the earth, and let all nations come and worship Thee, laying their proud wills at Thy feet, submitting their understandings to the obedience of Jesus, conforming their affections to Thy holy laws. Let Thy kingdom be set up gloriously over us, and do Thou reign in our spirits by Thy Spirit of grace; subdue every lust and inordinate appetite, trample upon our pride, mortify all rebellion within us, and let all Thine and our enemies be brought into captivity, that sin may never reign in our mortal bodies; but that Christ may reign in our understanding by faith, in the will by charity, in the passions by mortification, in all the members by a right and a chaste use of them. And when Thy kingdom that is within us hath flourished and is advanced to that height whither Thou hast designed it, grant Thy kingdom of glory may speedily succeed, and we Thy servants be admitted to the peace and purity, the holiness and glories, of that state, where Thou reignest alone, and art all in all.

Thy will be done in earth, as it is in Heaven.

Thy will, O God, is the measure of holiness and peace; Thy providence the great disposer of all things, tying all events together, in order to Thy glory and the good of Thy servants, by a wonderful mysterious chain of wisdom. Let Thy will also be the measure of our desires: for we know, that whatsoever Thou sayest is true, and whatsoever Thou doest is good. Grant we may submit our wills to Thine, being patient of evils which Thou inflictest, lovers of the good which Thou commandest, haters of all evil which Thou forbiddest, pleased with all the accidents Thou sendest; that though our nature is weaker than Angels, yet our obedience may be as humble, our conformity to Thy will may arise up to the degrees of unity, and theirs cannot be more; that as they in Heaven, so we on earth, may obey Thy will promptly, cheerfully, zealously, and with all our faculties: and grant, that as they there, so all the world here, may serve Thee with peace and concord, purity and love unfeigned, with one heart and one voice glorifying Thee our heavenly Father.

Grant that we may quit all our own affections, and suspect our reasonings, and go out of ourselves, and all our own confidences; that Thou being to us all things, disposing all events, and guiding all our actions, and directing our intentions, and overruling all things in us and about us, we may be servants of Thy divine will for ever.

Give us this day our daily bread.

Thou, O God, which takest care of our souls, do not despise our bodies which Thou hast made and sanctified, and designed to be glorious. But now we are exposed to hunger and thirst, nakedness and weariness, want and inconvenience, give unto us neither poverty nor riches, but feed us with food convenient for us, and clothe us with fitting provisions, according to that state and condition wherein thou hast placed thy servants: that we may not be tempted with want, nor made contemptible by beggary, nor wanton or proud by riches, nor in love with any thing in this world; but that we may use it as strangers and pilgrims, as the relief of our needs, the support of our infirmities, and the oil of our lamps, feeding us till we are quite spent in Thy service. Lord, take from Thy servants sad carefulness and all distrust, and give us only such a proportion of temporal things, as may enable us with comfort to do our duty.

Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us.

O dear God, unless Thou art pleased to pardon us, in vain it is that we should live here, and what good will our life do us? O look upon us with much mercy, for we have sinned grievously against Thee. Pardon the adherent imperfections of our life, the weaknesses of our duty, the carelessness of our spirit, our affected ignorance, our indiligence, our rashness and want of observation, our malice and presumptions. Turn thine eyes from our impurities, and behold the brightness and purest innocence of the holy Jesus; and under His cover we plead our cause, not that Thou shouldest judge our sins, but give us pardon, and blot out all our iniquities, that we may never enter into the horrible regions where there are torments without ceasing, a prison without ransom, reproaches without comfort, anguish without patience, darkness without light, a worm that never dies, and the fire that never goeth out.

But be pleased also to give us great charity, that we may truly forgive all that trouble or injure us, that by this character Thou mayest discern us to be Thy sons and servants, disciples of the holy Jesus; lest our prayer be turned into sin, and Thy grace be recalled, and Thou enter into a final anger against Thy servants.

Lead us not into temptation;

Gracious Father, we are weak and ignorant, our affections betray us, and make us willing to die; our adversary the devil goeth up and down, seeking whom he may devour; he is busy and crafty, malicious and powerful, watchful and envious; and we tempt ourselves, running out to mischief, delighting in the approaches of sin, and love to have necessities put upon us, that sin may be unavoidable. Pity us in the midst of these disorders, and give us spiritual strength, holy resolutions, a watchful spirit, the whole armour of God, and Thy protection, the guard of angels, and the conduct of Thy Holy Spirit, to be our security in the day of danger. Give us Thy grace to fly from all occasions to sin, that we may never tempt ourselves, nor delight to be tempted; and let Thy blessed Providence so order the accidents of our lives, that we may not dwell near an enemy; and when Thou shalt try us, and suffer us to enter into combat, let us always be on Thy side, and fight valiantly, resist the devil, and endure patiently, and persevere constantly unto the end, that Thou mayest crown Thy own work in us.

But deliver us from evil.

From sin and shame, from the malice and fraud of the devil, and from the falseness and greediness of men, from all Thy wrath, and from all our impurities, good Lord, deliver Thy servants.

Do not reserve any thing of Thy wrath in store for us; but let our sins be pardoned so fully, that Thou mayest not punish our inventions. And yet if Thou wilt not be entreated, but that it be necessary that we suffer, Thy will be done: smite us here with a Father's rod, that Thou mayest spare us hereafter: let the sad accidents of our life be for good to us, not for evil; for our amendment, not to exasperate or weary us, not to harden or confound us: and what evil soever it be that shall happen, let us not sin against Thee. For ever deliver us from that evil, and for ever deliver us from the power of the evil one, the great enemy of mankind ; and never let our portion be in that region of darkness, in that everlasting burning, which Thou hast prepared for the devil and his angels for ever.

For Thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, for ever and ever. Amen.

So shall we Thy servants advance the mightiness of Thy kingdom, the power of Thy majesty, and the glory of Thy mercy, from generation to generation for ever. Amen.

LITANIES

FOR ALL THINGS AND PERSONS.

O God, the Father of mercies, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, have mercy upon Thy servants, and hear the prayers of us miserable sinners.

O blessed Jesus, the Fountain of peace and pardon, our wisdom and our righteousness, our sanctification and redemption, have mercy upon Thy servants, refuse not to hear the prayers of us miserable, sorrowful, and returning sinners.

O holy and divinest Spirit of the Father, help our infirmities : for of ourselves we know not what to ask, nor how to pray ; but do Thou assist and be present in the desires of us miserable sinners.

I.

FOR PARDON OF SINS.

Remember not, Lord, the follies of our childhood, nor the lusts of our youth, the wildness of our head, nor the wanderings of our heart ; the infinite sins of our tongue, and the inexcusable errors of the days of vanity.

Lord, have mercy upon us poor miserable sinners.

Remember not, O Lord, the growing iniquities of our elder age, the pride of our spirit, the abuse of our members, the greediness of our appetite, the inconstancy of our purposes, the peevishness and violence of all our passions and affections.

Lord, have mercy, &c.

Remember not, O Lord, how we have been full of envy and malice, anger and revenge ; fierce and earnest in the purchases and vanities of the world, and lazy and dull, slow and soon weary in the things of God and of religion.

Lord, have mercy, &c.

Remember not, O Lord, our uncharitable behaviour towards those with whom we have conversed, our jealousies and suspicions, our evil surmisings and evil reportings, the breach of our promises to men, and the breach of all our holy vows made to Thee our God.

Lord, have mercy, &c.

Remember not, O Lord, how often we have omitted the several parts and actions of our duty; for our sins of omission are infinite, and we have not sought after the righteousness of God, but have rested in carelessness and forgetfulness, in a false peace, and a silent conscience.

Lord, have mercy, &c.

O most gracious Lord, enter not into judgment with Thy servants, lest we be consumed in Thy wrath and just displeasure; from which

*Good Lord, deliver us, and preserve
Thy servants for ever.*

FOR DELIVERANCE FROM EVILS.

From gross ignorance and stupid negligence, from a wandering head and a trifling spirit, from the violence and rule of passion, from a servile will and a commanding lust, from all intemperance, inordination, and irregularity whatsoever,

*Good Lord, deliver and preserve
Thy servants for ever.*

From a covetous mind and greedy desires, from lustful thoughts and a wanton eye, from rebellious members and the pride and vanity of spirit, from false opinions and ignorant confidences,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From improvidence and prodigality, from envy and the spirit of slander, from idleness and sensuality, from presumption and despair, from sinful actions and all vicious habits,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From fierceness of rage and hastiness of spirit, from clamorous and reproachful language, from peevish anger and inhuman malice, from the spirit of contention and hasty and indiscreet zeal,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From a schismatical and heretical spirit, from tyranny and tumults, from sedition and factions, from envying the grace of God in our brother, from impenitence and hardness of heart, from obstinacy and apostasy, from delighting in sin, and hating God and good men,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From fornication and adultery, from unnatural desires and unnatural hatreds, from gluttony and drunkenness, from loving and believing lies, and taking pleasure in the remembrances of evil things, from delighting in our neighbour's misery and procuring it, from upbraiding others and hating reproof of ourselves,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From impudence and shame, from contempt and scorn, from oppression and cruelty, from a pitiless and unrelenting spirit, from a churlish behaviour and indecent usages of ourselves or others,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From famine and pestilence, from noisome and infectious diseases, from sharp and intolerable pains, from impatience and tediousness of spirit, from a state of temptation and hardened consciences,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From banishment and prison, from widowhood and want, from violence of pains and passions, from tempests and earthquakes, from the rage of fire and water, from rebellion and treason, from fretfulness and inordinate cares, from murmuring against God and disobedience to the divine commandment,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From delaying our repentance and persevering in sin, from false principles and prejudices, from unthankfulness and irreligion, from seducing others and being abused ourselves, from the malice and craftiness of the devil, and the deceit and lyings of the world,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From wounds and murder, from precipices and falls, from fracture of bones and dislocation of joints, from dismembering our bodies and all infatuation of our souls, from folly and madness, from uncertainty of mind and state, and from a certainty of sinning,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From thunder and lightning, from phantoms, spectres, and illusions of the night, from sudden and great changes, from the snares of wealth and the contempt of beggary and extreme poverty, from being made an example and a warning to others by suffering sad judgments ourselves,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From condemning others and justifying ourselves, from mispending our time and abusing Thy grace, from calling good evil and evil good, from consenting to folly and tempting others,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From excess in speaking and peevish silence, from looser laughing and immoderate weeping, from giving evil example to others or following any ourselves, from giving or receiving scandal, from the horrible sentence of endless death and damnation,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From cursing and swearing, from uncharitable chiding and easiness to believe evil, from the evil spirit that walketh at noon and the arrow that flieth in darkness, from the angel of wrath and perishing in popular diseases,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From the want of a spiritual guide, from a famine of the Word and Sacraments, from hurtful persecution, and from taking part with persecutors,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From drowning or being burnt alive, from sleepless nights and contentious days, from a melancholic and a confused spirit, from violent fears and the loss of reason, from a vicious life, and a sudden and unprovided death,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From relying upon vain fancies and false foundations, from an evil and an amazed conscience, from sinning near the end of our life, and from despairing in the day of our death,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

From hypocrisy and wilfulness, from self-love and vain ambition, from curiosity and carelessness, from being tempted in the days of our weakness, from the prevailing of the flesh, and grieving the Spirit, from all Thy wrath, and from all our sins,

Good Lord, deliver, &c.

III.

FOR GIFTS AND GRACES.

Hear our prayer, O Lord, and consider our desire ; hearken unto us for Thy truth and righteousness sake : O hide not Thy face from us, neither cast away Thy servants in displeasure.

Give unto us the spirit of prayer, frequent and fervent, holy and persevering ; an unreprouvable faith, a just and a humble hope, and a never-failing charity.

Hear our prayers, O Lord, and consider our desire.

Give unto us true humility, a meek and a quiet spirit, a loving and a friendly, a holy and a useful conversation, bearing the burdens of our neighbours, denying ourselves, and studying to benefit others, and to please Thee in all things.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give us a prudent and a sober, a just and a sincere, a temperate and a religious spirit ; a great contempt of the world, a love of holy things, and a longing after Heaven, and the instruments and paths that lead thither.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Grant us to be thankful to our benefactors, righteous in performing promises, loving to our relatives, careful of our charges; to be gentle and easy to be entreated, slow to anger, and fully instructed and readily prepared for every good work.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give us a peaceable spirit, and a peaceable life, free from debt and deadly sin; grace to abstain from all appearances of evil, and to do nothing but what is of good report, to confess Christ and His holy religion, by a holy and obedient life, and a mind ready to die for Him when He shall call us and assist us.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give to Thy servants a watchful and an observing spirit, diligent in doing our duty, inflexible to evil, obedient to Thy word, inquisitive after Thy will, pure and holy thoughts, strong, and religious purposes, and Thy grace to perform faithfully what we have promised in the day of our duty, or in the day of our calamity.

Hear our prayers, &c.

O teach us to despise all vanity, to fight the battles of the Lord manfully against the flesh, the world, and the devil, to spend our time religiously and usefully, to speak gracious words, to walk always as in Thy presence, to preserve our souls and bodies in holiness, fit for the habitation of the Holy Spirit of God.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give us a holy and a perfect repentance, a well-instructed understanding, regular affections, a constant and a wise heart, a good name, a fear of Thy Majesty, and a love of all Thy glories above all the things in the world for ever.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give us a healthful body and a clear understanding, the love of our neighbours, and the peace of the Church, the public use and comfort of Thy holy Word and Sacraments, a great love to all Christians, and obedience to our superiors, ecclesiastical and civil, all the days of our life.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give us spiritual wisdom, that we may discern what is pleasing to Thee, and follow what belongs unto our peace; and let the knowledge and love of God, and of Jesus Christ our Lord, be our guide and our portion all our days.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Give unto us holy dispositions, and an active industry in Thy service, to redeem the time mispent in vanity: for Thy pity's sake take not vengeance of us for our sins, but sanctify our souls and bodies in this life, and glorify them hereafter.

Hear our prayers, &c.

Our Father, &c.

IV.

FOR ALL STATES OF MEN AND WOMEN, ESPECIALLY IN THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

To be added to the former Litanies, according as our devotions and time will suffer.

O Blessed God, in mercy remember Thine inheritance, and forget not the congregation of the poor for ever; pity poor mankind, whose portion is misery and folly, shame and death. But Thou art our Redeemer, and the Lifter up of our head, and under the shadow of Thy wings shall be our help, until this tyranny be overpast.

Have mercy upon us, O God, and hide not Thyself from our petition.

Preserve, O God, the Catholic Church in holiness and truth, in unity and peace, free from persecution, or glorious under it; that she may for ever advance the honour of our Lord Jesus, for ever represent His sacrifice, and glorify His Person, and advance His religion, and be accepted of Thee in her Blessed

Lord ; that, being filled with His Spirit, she may partake of His glory.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give the spirit of government and holiness to all Christian kings, princes, and governors: grant that their people may obey them, and they may obey Thee, and live in honesty and peace, justice and holy religion, being nursing-fathers to the Church, advocates for the oppressed, patrons for the widows, and a sanctuary for the miserable and the fatherless: that they may reign with Thee for ever in the kingdom of the Lord Jesus.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give to Thy servants the Bishops, and all the Clergy, the spirit of holiness and courage, of patience and humility, of prudence and diligence, to preach and declare Thy will by a holy life and wise discourses; that they may minister to the good of souls, and find a glorious reward in the day of the Lord Jesus.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give to our relatives [our wives and children, our friends and benefactors, our charges, our family, &c.] pardon and support, comfort in all their sorrows, strength in all temptations, the guard of Angels to preserve them from evil, and the conduct of thy Holy Spirit to lead them into all good; that they doing their duty may feel Thy mercies here, and partake of Thy glories hereafter.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give to all Christian kingdoms and commonwealths peace and plenty, health and holy religion; to all families of religion and nurseries of piety, zeal and holiness, prudence and unity, peace and contentedness; to all schools of learning, quietness and industry, freedom from wars and violence, factions and envy.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give to all married persons faith and love, charitable and wise compliances, sweetness of society, and innocence of conversation; to all virgins and widows great love of religion, a sober and a contented spirit, an unwearied attendance to devotion and the offices of holiness; protection to the fatherless, comfort to the disconsolate, patience and submission, health and spiritual advantages, to the sick ; that they may feel Thy comforts for the days wherein they have suffered adversity.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Be Thou a star and a guide to them that travel by land or sea, the confidence and comfort of them that are in storms and shipwrecks, the strength of them that toil in the mines and row in the galleys, an instructor to the ignorant ; to them that are condemned to die be Thou a guide unto death : give cheerfulness to every sad heart, spiritual strength and proportionable comfort to them that are afflicted by evil spirits ; pity the lunatics, give life and salvation to all to whom Thou hast given no understanding, accept the stupid and the fools to mercy : give liberty to prisoners, redemption to captives, maintenance to the poor, patronage and defence to the oppressed, and put a period to the iniquity and to the miseries of all mankind.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give unto our enemies grace and pardon, charity to us, and love to Thee ; take away all anger from them, and all mistakes from us, all misinterpretations and jealousies ; bring all sinners to repentance and holiness, and to all Thy saints and servants give an increasing love, and a persevering duty ; bring all Turks, Jews, and Infidels to the knowledge and confession of the Lord Jesus, and a participation of all the promises of the Gospel, all the benefits of His passion ; to all heretics give humility and ingenuity, repentance of their errors, and grace and power to make amends to the Church and truth, and a public acknowledgment of a holy faith, to the glory of the Lord Jesus.

Have mercy upon us, &c.

Give to all merchants faithfulness and truth ; to the labouring husbandman health and fair seasons of the year, and reward his toil with the dew of Heaven and the blessings of the earth ; to all artisans give diligence in their callings, and a blessing on their labours and on their families ; to old men piety and perfect repentance, a liberal heart, and an open hand, great religion, and desires after Heaven; to young men give sobriety and chastity, health and usefulness, an early piety and a persevering duty; to all families visited with the rod of God, give consolation, and a holy use of the affliction, and a speedy deliverance; to us all pardon and holiness, and life eternal, through Jesus Christ. Amen.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communication of the Holy Spirit, be with us all for ever. Amen.

A short Prayer to be said every Morning.

I.

O Almighty God, Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the God of mercy and comfort; with reverence and fear, with humble confidence and strong desires, I approach to the Throne of grace, begging of Thee mercy and protection, pardon and salvation. O my God, I am a sinner, but sorrowful and repenting: Thou art justly offended at me, but yet 'Thou art my Lord and my Father, merciful and gracious. Be pleased to blot all my sins out of Thy remembrance, and heal my soul, that I may never any more sin against Thee. Lord, open my eyes, that I may see my own infirmities, and watch against them; and my own follies, that I may amend them; and be pleased to give me perfect understanding in the way of godliness, that I may walk in it all the days of my pilgrimage. Give me a spirit diligent in the works of my calling, cheerful and zealous in religion, fervent and frequent in my prayers, charitable and useful in my conversation. Give me a healthful and a chaste body, a pure and a holy soul, a sanctified and an humble spirit; and let my body and soul and spirit be preserved unblameable to the coming of the Lord Jesus. Amen.

II.

Blessed be Thy Name, O God, and blessed be Thy mercies, Who hast preserved me this night from sin and sorrow, from sad chances, and a violent death, from the malice of the devil, and the evil effects of my own corrupted nature and infirmity. The outgoings of the morning and evening shall praise Thee, and Thy servants shall rejoice in giving Thee praise for the operation of Thy hands. Let Thy providence and care watch over me this day and all my whole life, that I may never sin against Thee by idleness or folly, by evil company or private sins, by word or deed, by thought or desire; and let the employment of my day leave no sorrow, or the remembrance of an evil conscience at night; but let it be holy and profitable, blessed, and always innocent; that when the days of my short abode are done, and the shadow is departed, I may die in Thy fear and favour, and rest in a holy hope, and at last return to the joys of a blessed resurrection, through Jesus Christ: in whose Name, and in whose words, in behalf of myself and all my friends, and all Thy servants, I humbly and heartily pray.

Our Father, &c.

A Prayer for the Evening.

Eternal God, Almighty Father of men and angels, by whose care and providence I am preserved and blessed, comforted and assisted; I humbly beg of Thee to pardon the sins and follies of this day, the weaknesses of my services, and the strength of my passions, the rashness of my words, and the vanity and evil of my actions. O just and dear God, how long shall I confess my sins, and pray against them, and yet fall under them! O let it be so no more; let me never return to the follies of which I am ashamed, which bring sorrow and death, and Thy displeasure worse than death. Give me a command over my evil inclinations, and a perfect hatred of sin, and a love to Thee above all the desires of this world. Be pleased to bless and preserve me this night from all sin, and all violence of chance, and the malice of the spirits of darkness: watch over me in my sleep, and whether I sleep or wake, let me be Thy servant. Be Thou first and last in all my thoughts, and the guide and continual assistance of all my actions. Preserve my body, pardon the sin of my soul, and sanctify my spirit. Let me always live holily, and justly, and soberly; and when I die, receive my soul into Thy hands, O holy and ever-blessed Jesus, that I may lie in Thy bosom, and long for Thy coming, and hear Thy blessed sentence at doomsday, and behold Thy face, and live in Thy kingdom, singing praises to God for ever and ever. Amen.

Our Father, &c.

FOR SUNDAY.

A Prayer against Pride.

I.

O Eternal God, merciful and glorious, Thou art exalted far above all heavens; Thy throne, O God, is glory, and thy sceptre is righteousness; Thy will is holiness, and Thy wisdom the great foundation of empire and government. I adore Thy majesty, and rejoice in Thy mercy, and revere Thy power, and confess all glory and dignity and honour to be Thine alone, and theirs to whom Thou shalt impart any ray of Thy majesty, or reflexion of Thy honour: but as for me, I am a worm and no man, vile dust and ashes, the son of corruption, and the heir of rottenness, seized upon by folly, a lump of ignorance and sin, and shame and death. What art Thou, O Lord? The great God of heaven and earth, the fountain of holiness, and perfection infinite. But what am I? So ignorant, that I know not what; so poor, that I have nothing of my own; so miserable, that I am the heir of sorrow and death; and so sinful, that I am encompassed with shame and grief.

II.

And yet, O my God, I am proud; proud of my shame, glorying in my sin, boasting my infirmities; for this is all that I have of my own, save only that I have multiplied my miseries by vile actions, every day dishonouring the work of Thy hands; my understanding is too confident, my affections rebellious, my will refractory and disobedient; and yet I know Thou resistest the proud, and didst cast the morning stars, the angels, from heaven into chains of darkness, when they grew giddy and proud, walking upon the battlements of heaven, beholding the glorious regions that were above them.

III.

Thou, O God, who givest grace to the humble, do something also for the proud man; make me humble and obedient. Take from me the spirit of pride and haughtiness, ambition and self-flattery, confidence and gaiety; teach me to think well, and to expound all things fairly of my brother, to love his worthiness, to delight in his praises, to excuse his errors, to give Thee thanks for his graces, to rejoice in all the good that he receives, and ever to believe and speak better things of him than of myself.

IV.

O teach me to love to be concealed, and little esteemed; let me be truly humbled, and heartily ashamed of my sin and folly: teach me to bear reproaches evenly, for I have deserved them; to refuse all honours done unto me, because I have not deserved them ; to return all to Thee, for it is Thine alone ; to suffer reproof thankfully, to amend all my faults speedily : and do Thou invest my soul with the humble robe of my meek Master and Saviour Jesus ; and when I have humbly, patiently, charitably, and diligently served Thee, change this robe into the shining garment of immortality, my confusion into glory, my folly to perfect knowledge, my weaknesses and dishonours to the strength and beauties of the sons of God.

V.

In the mean time, use what means Thou pleasest to conform me to the Image of Thy holy Son ; that I may be gentle to others, and severe to myself ; that I may sit down in the lowest place, striving to go before my brother in nothing, but in doing him and Thee honour ; staying for my glory till Thou shalt please in the day of recompenses to reflect light from Thy face, and admit me to behold Thy glories. Grant this for Jesus Christ's sake, Who humbled Himself to the death and shame of the Cross, and is now exalted unto glory. Unto Him, with Thee, O Father, be glory and praise for ever and ever. Amen.

FOR MONDAY.

A Prayer against Covetousness.

I.

O Almighty God, eternal Treasure of all good things, Thou fillest all things with plenteousness; thou clothest the lilies of the field, and feedest the young ravens that call upon Thee: Thou art all-sufficient in Thyself, and all-sufficient to us. Let Thy providence be my storehouse, Thy dispensation of temporal things the limit of my labour, my own necessity the measures of my desire: but never let my desires of this world be greedy, nor my labour immoderate, nor my care vexatious and distracting; but prudent, moderate, holy, subordinate to Thy will, the measure Thou hast appointed for me.

II.

Teach me, O God, to despise the world, to labour for the true riches, to seek the kingdom of Heaven and its righteousness, to be content with what Thou providest, to be in this world like a stranger, with affections set upon Heaven, labouring for and longing after the possessions of Thy kingdom; but never suffer my affections to dwell below; but give me a heart compassionate to the poor, liberal to the needy, open and free in all my communications, without base ends, or greedy designs, or unworthy arts of gain; but let my strife be to gain Thy favour, to obtain the blessedness of doing good to others, and giving to them that want, and the blessedness of receiving from Thee pardon and support, grace and holiness, perseverance and glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

FOR TUESDAY.

A Prayer against Lust.

I.

O eternal Purity, Thou art brighter than the sun, purer than the angels, and the heavens are not clean in Thy sight; with mercy behold Thy servant, apt to be tempted with every object, and to be overcome by every enemy. I cannot, O God, stand in the day of battle and danger, unless Thou coverest me with Thy shield, and hidest me under Thy wings. The fiery darts of the devil are ready to consume me, unless the dew of Thy grace for ever descend upon me. Thou didst make me after Thine image: be pleased to preserve me so, pure and spotless, chaste and clean, that my body may be a holy temple, and my soul a sanctuary to entertain Thy divinest Spirit, the Spirit of love and holiness, the Prince of purities.

II.

Reprove in me the spirit of fornication and uncleanness, and fill my soul with holy fires, that no strange fire may come into the temple of my body, where Thou hast chosen to dwell. O cast out all those unclean spirits which have unhallowed the place where Thy holy feet have trod ; pardon all my hurtful thoughts, all my impurities, that I, who am a member of Christ, may not become the member of a harlot, nor the slave of the devil, nor a servant of lust and unworthy desires ; but do Thou purify my love, and let me seek the things that are above, hating the garments spotted with the flesh, never any more grieving Thy Holy Spirit by filthy inclinations, with impure and fantastic thoughts ; but let my thoughts be holy, my soul pure, my body chaste and healthful, my spirit severe, devout, and religious, every day more and more ; that at the day of our appearing, I may be presented to God washed and cleansed, pure and spotless, by the Blood of the holy Lamb, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

FOR WEDNESDAY.

A Prayer against Gluttony and Drunkenness.

I.

O Almighty Father of men and angels, who hast of Thy great bounty provided plentifully for all mankind, to support his state, to relieve his necessities, to refresh his sorrows, to recreate his labours, that he may praise Thee, and rejoice in Thy mercies and bounty; be Thou gracious unto Thy servant yet more, and suffer me not by my folly to change Thy bounty into sin, Thy grace into wantonness. Give me the spirit of temperance and sobriety, that I may use Thy creatures in the same measures and to the same purposes which Thou hast designed, so as may best enable me to serve Thee, but not to make provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof. Let me not, as Esau, prefer meat before a blessing; but subdue my appetite, subjecting it to reason and the grace of God, being content with what is moderate and useful, and easy to be obtained, taking it in due time, receiving it thankfully, making it to minister to my body, that my body may be a good instrument of the soul, and the soul a servant of Thy divine Majesty for ever and ever.

II.

Pardon, O God, in whatsoever I have offended Thee by meat and drink and pleasures; and never let my body any more be oppressed with loads of sloth and delicacies, or my soul drowned in seas of wine or strong drink; but let my appetites be changed into spiritual desires, that I may hunger after the food of angels, and thirst for the wine of elect souls, and may account it meat and drink and pleasure to do Thy will, O God. Lord, let me eat and drink so, that my food may not become a temptation, or a sin, or a disease; but grant that with so much caution and prudence I may watch over my appetite, that I may in the strength of Thy mercies and refreshments, in the light of Thy countenance, and in the paths of Thy commandments, walk before Thee all the days of my life acceptable to Thee in Jesus Christ, ever advancing His honour, and being filled with His Spirit, that I may at last partake of His glory, through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

FOR THURSDAY.

A Prayer against Envy.

I.

O most gracious Father, Thou spring of an eternal charity, Who hast so loved mankind, that Thou didst open Thy bosom, and send Thy holy Son to convey Thy mercies to us; and Thou didst create angels and men, that Thou mightest have objects to whom Thou mightest communicate Thy goodness: give me grace to follow so glorious a precedent, that I may never envy the prosperity of any one, but rejoice to honour Him whom Thou honourest, to love him whom Thou lovest, to commend the virtuous, to discern the precious from the vile, giving honour to whom honour belongs; that I may go to Heaven in the noblest way of rejoicing in the good of others.

II.

O dear God, never suffer the devil to rub his vilest leprosy of envy upon me; never let me have the affections of the desperate and damned; let it not be ill with me, when it is well with others; but let Thy Holy Spirit so overrule me for ever, that I may pity the afflicted, and be compassionate, and have a fellow-feeling of my brother's sorrows, and that I may as much as I can promote his good, and give Thee thanks for it, and rejoice with them that do rejoice; never censuring his actions cursedly, nor detracting from his praises spitefully, nor upbraiding his infelicities maliciously, but pleased in all things which Thou doest or givest; that I may then triumph in spirit when Thy kingdom is advanced, when Thy Spirit rules, when Thy Church is profited, when Thy saints rejoice, when the devil's interest is destroyed, truly loving Thee, and truly loving my brother;

that we may all together join in the holy communion of saints, both here and hereafter, in the measures of grace and glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

FOR FRIDAY.

A Prayer against Wrath and inordinate Anger.

I.

O Almighty Judge of men and angels, whose anger is always the minister of justice, slow, but severe, not lightly arising, but falling heavily when it comes; give to Thy servant a meek and a gentle spirit, that I also may be slow to anger, and easy to mercy and forgiveness. Give me a wise and a constant heart, that I may not be moved with every trifling mistake and inconsiderable accident in the conversation and intercourse of others, never be moved to an intemperate anger for any injury that is done or offered; let my anger ever be upon a just cause, measured with moderation and reason, expressed with charity and prudence, lasting but till it hath done some good, either upon myself or others.

II.

Lord, let me be ever courteous, and easy to be entreated; never let me fall into a peevish or contentious spirit, but follow peace with all men, offering forgiveness, inviting them by courtesies, ready to confess my own errors, apt to make amends, and desirous to be reconciled. Let no sickness or cross accident, no employment or weariness, make me angry or ungentle, and discontent, or unthankful, or uneasy to them that minister to me; but in all things make me like unto the holy Jesus. Give me the spirit of a Christian, charitable, humble, merciful and meek, useful and liberal, complying with every chance; angry at nothing but my own sins, and grieving for the sins of others: that while my passion obeys my reason, and my reason is religious, and my religion is pure and undefiled, managed with humility, and adorned with charity, I may escape Thy anger which I have deserved, and may dwell in Thy love, and be Thy son and servant for ever, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

FOR SATURDAY.

A Prayer against weariness in well-doing.

I.

O my God, merciful and gracious, my soul groans under the loads of its own infirmity, when my spirit is willing, my flesh is weak, my understanding foolish and imperfect, my will peevish and listless, my affections wandering after strange objects, my fancy wild and unfixed, all my senses minister to folly and vanity ; and though they were all made for religion, yet they least of all delight in that. O my God, pity me, and hear me when I pray, and make that I may pray acceptably. Give me a love to religion, an unwearied spirit in the things of God. Let me not relish or delight in the things of this world, in sensual objects and transitory possessions ;

but make my eyes look up to Thee, my soul be filled with Thee, my spirit ravished with Thy love, my understanding employed in the meditation of Thy law, all my powers and faculties of soul and body wholly serving Thee, and delighting in such holy ministries.

II.

O most gracious God, what greater favour is there than that I may, and what easier employment can there be than to pray to Thee, to be admitted into Thy presence, and to represent our needs, and that we have our needs supplied only for asking and desiring passionately and humbly? But we rather quit our hopes of Heaven, than buy it at the cheapest rate of humble prayer. This, O God, is the greatest infirmity and infelicity of man, and hath an intolerable cause, and is an insufferable evil.

III.

O relieve my spirit with Thy graciousness, take from me all tediousness of spirit, and give me a laboriousness that will not be tired, a hope that shall never fail, a desire of holiness not to be satisfied till it possesses, a charity that will always increase; that I, making religion the business of my whole life, may turn all things into religion, doing all to Thy glory, and by the measures of Thy word and of Thy Spirit, that when Thou shalt call me from this deliciousness of employment, and the holy ministries of grace, I may pass into the employment of saints and angels, whose work it is with eternal joy and thanksgiving to sing praises to the mercies of the great Redeemer of men, and Saviour of men and angels, Jesus Christ our Lord : to Whom, with the Father and the Holy Ghost, be all honour and worship, all service and thanks, all glory and dominion, for ever and ever.

Amen.

A Prayer to be said by a Maiden, before she enters into the state of Marriage.

I.

O most glorious God, and my most indulgent Lord and gracious Father, who dost bless us by Thy bounty, pardon us by Thy mercy, support and guide us by Thy grace, and govern us sweetly by Thy providence ; I give Thee most humble and hearty thanks, that Thou hast hitherto preserved me in my virgin-state with innocence and chastity in a good name, and a modest report. It is Thy goodness alone, and the blessed emanation of Thy holy Spirit, by which I have been preserved ; and to Thee I return all praise and thanks, and adore and love Thy goodness infinite.

II.

And now, O Lord, since by Thy dispensation and over-ruling Providence I am to change my condition, and enter into the holy state of marriage, which Thou hast sanctified by Thy institution, and blessed by Thy word and promises, and raised up to an excellent mystery, that it might represent the union of Christ and His Church ; be pleased to go along with Thy servant in my entering into and passing through this state, that it may not be a state of temptation or sorrow, by occasion of my sins or infirmities, but of holiness and comfort, as Thou hast intended it to all that love and fear Thy holy Name.

III.

Lord, bless and preserve that dear person whom Thou hast chosen to be my husband : let his life be long and blessed, comfortable and holy ; and let me also become a great blessing and comfort unto him, a sharer in all his joys, a refreshment in all his sorrows, a meet helper for him in all accidents and chances of the world. Make me amiable for ever in his eyes, and very dear to him. Unite his heart to me in the dearest union of love and holiness, and mine to him in all sweetness, and charity, and compliance. Keep from me all morosity and ungentleness, all sullenness and harshness of disposition, all pride and vanity, all discontentedness and unreasonableness of passion and humour : and make me humble and obedient, charitable and loving, patient and contented, useful and observant ; that we may delight in each other according to Thy blessed word and ordinance, and both of us may rejoice in Thee, having our portion in the love and service of God for ever and ever.

IV.

O blessed Father, never suffer any mistakes or discontent, any distrustfulness or sorrow, any trifling arrests of fancy or unhandsome accident, to cause any unkindness between us : but let us so dearly love, so affectionately observe, so religiously attend to each other's good and content, that we may always please Thee, and by this learn and practise our duty and greatest love to Thee, and become mutual helps to each other in the way of godliness ; that when we have received the blessings of a married life, the comforts of society, the endearments of a holy and great affection, and the dowry of blessed children, we may for ever dwell together in the embraces of Thy love and glories, feasting in the marriage-supper of the Lamb to eternal ages, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen, Amen.

A Prayer for a holy and happy death.

O eternal and holy Jesus, who by death hast overcome death, and by Thy Passion hast taken out its sting, and made it to become one of the gates of heaven, and an entrance to felicity, have mercy upon me now and at the hour of my death : let Thy grace accompany me all the days of my life, that I may by a holy conversation, and an habitual performance of my duty, wait for the coming of our Lord, and be ready to enter with Thee, at whatsoever hour Thou shalt come. Lord, let not my death be in any sense unprovided, nor untimely, nor hasty, but after the manner of men, having in it nothing extraordinary, but an extraordinary piety, and the manifestation of a great and miraculous mercy. Let my senses and my understanding be preserved entire till the last of my days, and grant that I may die the death of the righteous, free from debt and deadly sin ; having first discharged all my obligations of justice, leaving none miserable and unprovided in my departure ; but be Thou the portion of all my friends and relatives, and let Thy blessing descend upon their heads, and abide there till they shall meet me in the bosom of our Lord. Preserve me ever in the communion and peace of the Church ; and bless my death-bed with the opportunity of a holy and a spiritual guide, with the assistance and guard of angels, with the reception of the holy Sacrament, with patience and dereliction of my own desires, with a strong faith, and a firm and humble hope, with just measures of repentance, and great treasures of charity to Thee my God, and to all the world, that my soul in the arms of the holy Jesus may be deposited with safety and joy, there to expect the revelation of Thy day, and then to partake the glories of Thy kingdom, O eternal and holy Jesus. Amen.

WOUNDED WITH SIN.

TO THE
CHRISTIAN READER.

AMONG the so troublesome multitude of books, and the no less troublesome scarcity of good ones, I have no reason to think this little piece will much increase the number of the one, or not serve to balance the trouble of the other; but I rather hope it may be acceptable and useful, if either the great eminence of the author, or the argument itself, or else the small bulk, which are things that used to render works of this kind considerable, be sufficient either to recommend or excuse it: for the necessity of the argument may recommend it, not to most readers only, but very many writers too. And without doubt, many of those who have been ambitious to put themselves into the number of authors by publishing their abortive labours, will need the rules and offices of this manual, when their conscience shall cite them to repentance, and to ask God forgiveness for nourishing faction, and sowing the seeds of discord, and venting their crude notions to others' trouble, and their own shame. For such men in the use of this little Enchiridion may find more comfort, and do themselves and the age more right, than in that small harvest of reputation their own voluminous labours could bring in, which are now very fitly preferred from the closet to the more worthy ministries of the shop and kitchen. But the most reverend author, to whose learned piety thou owest these following assistances, who in the sweetness and mildness of these lines has expressed the features and lineaments of his own candid, serene soul, did not address them for his own use in that kind. For that he was of the highest order of our Church, he did not owe to his interest, which advances some; nor to his money, which prefers commonly too many; but wholly to his virtues and his learning, and those other eminent graces, that made his example as great in the Church as was his dignity. And this little book is a great instance of his humility and charity, which he does in some kind still exercise, though he be now gone to receive his reward for them: and as he used to look into the necessities of indigent persons, to relieve them with his hand; so in this portesse he descends to converse with the weaknesses and solitariness of humble penitents, directing and improving their devotions, and instigating their repentance, and preparing a constant storehouse of relief for them by his pen. And now, if a person so eminent in grace, so innocent in life, needed such exercises as this, (for what thou receivest here, know, courteous reader, it comes from his counsel, and from his daily experience and practice too,) consider whether thou thyself art not concerned to bring thy actions and life to as severe a scrutiny, and a repentance as operative. If thou joinest with me in opinion, here is a directory ready at hand; but if not, thou needest it so much the more. For our sins, the less impression they make on our memory, the deeper they make on our conscience; and he is in some cases the most guilty, who presumes he is wholly innocent. Retract therefore that conceit, and betake thyself to thy closet and the practice of this book; and God bless it to thy benefit, and His own glory.

GUIDE FOR THE PENITENT.

Remembrances concerning the examination of your conscience.

I.

You are to consider the necessity of this duty. For if we take care that the rooms which we eat or sleep in should be kept clean, you cannot but think that the cleansing of the soul is a concernment infinitely beyond it: and for doing this there is no other way left but to search out every corner of it, and to cast out every sin, with every unclean thought that hath defiled it.

II.

You are to remember, that there is a great measure of discretion to be used in the performance of this: so that you may neither omit it, when your own heart may tell you that there is something amiss in you which must be looked after ; nor on the other side over-scrupulously pursue it, when you are not conscious to yourself of any notable failings, but such as are incident to human frailty: for if you do not wilfully pass over any of your greater offences, but confess particularly, and repent seriously of them, God will more easily pass by your lesser infirmities, being such as the holy prophet despaired of finding out, when he so sadly complained, Who can tell how oft he offendeth?

III.

That though it may not only seem, but be impossible to you to recollect every failing, and that your scrupulous endeavouring of it may rather prove a torture to the conscience than an ease to it ; yet you are so far to exercise an inquisition upon yourself, as by observing these lesser particulars (though it be but in gross) you may the better discover what the corruption of your nature sways you to ; and having discovered it, you are bound to strive to subdue it by degrees ; and what you cannot for the present overcome, humbly to ask pardon for.

IV.

That though it be the duty of every day not to let the sun go down upon any sin that you have committed, without examining of the merits of it ; yet there are times when this ought to be more punctually and solemnly done, especially at such times as you set apart for humbling your soul with fasting, or for preparing yourself for the devout receiving of the Sacrament.

V.

For the manner of ordering this examination, several methods have been prescribed, some by dividing the subject-matter of it into thoughts, words, and deeds ; others as sins are differenced by their several objects, either as being immediately sins against God, or against your neighbour, or against your own soul. Others advise to set God's holy commandments before you, and to examine by that rule what you have done amiss. But in the choice of this you may free yourself from all perplexity, by taking his advice whom you shall choose to be your spiritual guide. And the duty itself being once resolved upon, the mode of doing may easily be found out.

Advice concerning confession.

I.

That besides this examination of your conscience, (which may be done in secret between God and your own soul,) there is great use of holy confession ; which though it be not generally in all cases, and peremptorily commanded, as if without it no salvation could possibly be had ; yet you are advised by the Church, under whose discipline you live, that before you are to receive the holy Sacrament, or when you are visited with any dangerous sickness, if you find any one particular sin, or more, that lies heavy upon you, to disburden yourself of it into the bosom of your confessor, who not only stands between

God and you to pray for you, but hath the power of the keys committed to him, upon your true repentance, to absolve you in Christ's Name from those sins which you have confessed to Him.

II.

You are to remember, that you bring along with you to confession not only unfeigned sorrow and remorse of conscience for sins past, but settled resolutions for the time to come never to offend in the same kind again: for without this, confession is but a mere pageant, and rather a mockery of God, than any effectual means to reconcile you to Him.

III.

That having made choice of such a confessor who is every way qualified that you may trust your soul with him, you are advised plainly and sincerely to open your heart to him ; and that, laying aside all consideration of any personal weakness in him, you are to look upon him only as he is a trustee from God, and commissioned by him as his ministerial deputy, to hear, and judge, and absolve you.

IV.

That the manner of your confession be in an humble posture on your knees, as being made to God rather than man: and for the matter of it, let it be severe and serious; but yet so as it may be without any inordinate anxiety and unnecessary scruples, which serve only to entangle the soul, and instead of setting you free, (which is the benefit to be looked for by confession,) perplex you the more.

V.

That for the frequency of doing this, you are to consult with your own necessities: and as your physician is not sent for upon every small distemper, which your own care may rectify; so neither are you obliged upon every failing to be over-scrupulous, or to think it a point of necessity presently to confess it: for the confessor cannot be always present, but your God is, to Whom if you apply yourself with prayers and penitence, confessing in his ears alone whatever you have done amiss, and stedfastly believing that through the merits of your Saviour they shall never be imputed to you, you may be confident that your absolution is at that time sealed in heaven, but the comfortable declaration of it you are to look for from the priest.

Advice concerning devout receiving the holy and blessed Sacrament.

I.

You are first to consider seriously the infinite love of your Saviour, who not only offered Himself for you as a sacrifice upon the Cross, but that this might never be forgotten by you, left the blessed memory of it in His holy Sacrament, which as often as you devoutly and faithfully receive, you are effectually made partaker of all the merits of His precious death and passion.

II.

That for the frequency of doing this, (if your own conscience doth not speak home to you,) you refer yourself to your spiritual guide, who, knowing the temper of your soul, and how you stand disposed, may best direct you. Only I shall add this, that the oftener you apply yourself to do it, your life will be the purer, your heart the cheerfuller, and the better armed against all temptations.

III.

That three times in the year at least, especially on those solemn festivals observed by all Christians, who have not utterly cast off obedience to the Church, and order in their devotions, you lay aside all excuses, and every sin that then besets you, and seriously prepare yourself for so great a blessing.

IV.

That as soon as you wake that morning, (and the sooner you awake, the better sign it is that your mind is set upon it,) you rouse yourself up with a fervent expectation of receiving that day the Bread that came from Heaven, which whosoever is rightly partaker of shall not perish, but have life everlasting.

V.

As for the precedent days of preparation, how many they should be, or how they would be employed, you are to refer yourself to your guide, who may advise you not to be over-scrupulous of the time, (for the primitive Christians communicated every day ;) and if your life be innocent from great offences, your preparation need not be long. Only be sure you bring with you faith and charity, clean hands and a penitent heart: which if you do, be confident the Master of the feast will not find fault with you for want of a wedding-garment.

VI.

That upon the blessed day of your receiving, you do more vigorously prepare yourself by lifting up your heart and hands to God, and offering up your private prayers, (fitted for that purpose with all possible devotion.) And that being done, you may compose yourself in quiet and in silence till the time of the morning sacrifice be come; when being called to a more public oratory, you may be the fitter to go with an humble confidence to meet your Saviour, and with that ardour and affection as a chaste virgin goes to an holy marriage.

VII.

That during the celebration of this holy Sacrament, you attend earnestly to what is done by the priest. When he breaks the bread, imagine to yourself that you see the body of your dear Saviour torn and crucified: and when he pours out the wine, consider that His Blood was thus poured out upon the altar of the Cross: and, last of all, when he that consecrates shall stand before you, ready in particular to apply it, you may then think that you see Christ Himself reaching out His own Body and Blood to you, to feed your soul unto eternal life.

VIII.

That, farther, you are really to believe the words as they are spoken, This is My Body, This is My Blood; and not to doubt, but that it is effectually made good to you in the receiving, without any dispute at all, or scrupulous enquiring into the manner of it, which neither Christ hath revealed, and neither men nor angels are able to pry into.

IX.

That the celebration of these holy mysteries being ended, you are to retire with all thankfulness of heart for having been admitted to that heavenly feast, wherein your Saviour, Who gave Himself for you on the Cross, hath now more particularly given Himself to you in the Sacrament, never to depart from you, unless you again wilfully offend Him; which you are the more earnestly to beware, lest by frequent relapses the Sacrament itself prove not only useless, but dangerous to you, and your latter end prove worse than your beginning.

Advice concerning fasting.

I.

You are to consider fasting either as a duty enjoined by the Church, or as a voluntary undertaking of your own. Your obedience is required to the former in every particular, as far as it is enjoined, unless the want of health or some other accidents may unavoidably hinder you, wherein not only the Bishop may dispense with you, but he that hath the charge of your soul, especially if the necessity be evident.

II.

Besides the ordinary fasts prescribed by the Church, you are advised to set aside some day, either weekly or (at least) monthly, wherein you may mourn in private, not only for your own sins and personal calamities, but for those public judgments now fallen on the whole Church and nation, and those crying sins which have occasioned them; offering up your earnest prayers to God for the removing of them, which, when they come from a mortified body and a contrite heart, are such a sacrifice, that God, (who deceives no man,) being true to his promises, cannot possibly despise.

III.

That the fast for the time designed be such as may in some measure be afflictive to you, abstaining totally that day from all manner of food, if the condition of your health will bear it; or if that cannot be, that you be so moderate in your feeding, that it may appear that you rather serve your necessities in eating than satisfy your appetite.

IV.

That you employ this day (or such a part of it, at least, as you may keep free to yourself) as a retreat from the world, the business and the pleasures of it, that so you may with the more freedom make up the accounts between God and your own soul, and by prayer and penitence reconcile yourself to Him; for without this, fasting is of no use.

Expressions of humiliation preparatory to the following devotions.

Righteousness, O Lord, belongs unto Thee; but unto me confusion of face, the vainest, the vilest, the sinfullest of all the children of men.

Lord, I am vile in mine own eyes, and I will be yet more vile, because my sins have made me vile in Thine.

I am not worthy of the air I breathe, of the earth I tread upon, or of the sun that shines upon me ; much less worthy to lift up either hands or eyes to Heaven.

For Thou hast said that no unclean thing shall come within Thy sight : and how then shall I appear, who am so miserably defiled?

If the man according to Thine own heart could say that he was a worm, and no man, O what am I ?

If Abraham, who had the honour to be called Thy friend, could say that he was but dust and ashes, O what am I ?

O my God, Thou madest me of nothing ; and Thou seest how I have spoiled this work of Thine, for I have made myself worse than nothing.

For I am still in my sins, and what to do I know not.

Acts of resolution to second this humiliation.

But this I will do ;

I will confess my wickedness, and be sorry for my sins.

I will stand aloof with the publican, and smite my breast, and say, Lord, be merciful to me a sinner.

I will return with the prodigal, and say, Father, I am not worthy to be called Thy child ; make me as one of Thine hired servants.

I will not suffer mine eyes to sleep, nor mine eyelids to slumber, till I have by the mediation of Thy dear Son obtained my pardon.

And what shall I say more ? I will pour out my prayers in the bitterness of my spirit ; and if my dry eyes want tears, I will call unto my heart for tears of blood, wherewith I may supply them.

And therefore now, Lord, call my sins to my remembrance : and when Thou hast done so, blot them out of Thy remembrance, and pardon me.

A LITANY OF CONFESSION,

TO BE MADE USE OF BY THE PENITENT SOUL THAT FINDS ITSELF BURDENED WITH A TRUE SENSE OF SIN.

I.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being a creature of Thine, and made by Thee capable of enjoying everlasting felicity, I have lived so wickedly and lewdly, that, unless Thy mercy prevent it, I shall utterly forfeit the very end of my creation.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am utterly ashamed of it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

II.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that I have trifled away so many of my youngest days without knowing Thee, or taking any notice of those strict duties which I did owe unto Thee ; that I was so long a child in all things, excepting innocence, and that only by an overhasty spring of early wickedness I was more than a child.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I accuse, and judge, and condemn myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

III.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that as I grew up, the seeds of corruption, which I brought with me into the world, grew up along with me, and by insensible degrees, (which I observed not,) pride and folly and lust took possession of me, and sin hath reigned in my mortal body,

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am infinitely confounded at it.

IV.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being washed in the waters of Baptism from the guilt of that original corruption which I brought with me into the world, I have since that time so many ways actually defiled myself, that I can no longer pretend, by any former contract with Thee, that I am either a child of Thine, a member of Thy Christ, or an heir of the kingdom of Heaven.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am utterly confounded at it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

V.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having been received into the bosom of Thy Church, (which so many millions of souls have not had the happiness to be,) I have ungratefully dishonoured Thy holy faith by an unholy life; and having so often confessed Thee with my tongue, I have denied Thee in my life and actions.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I accuse, and judge, and condemn myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

VI.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having abjured the devil and all his works, and given up my name to Christ, to fight under the banner of His cross, I have, on the contrary, treacherously complied with His enemy in many things, and shall be found (I fear) to have been more diligent in serving him, than I have been in serving Thee.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am confounded and astonished at it.

VII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being obliged by that high calling of being a Christian to renounce the pomps and vanities of the world, I have so infinitely failed in this, that I have doated on nothing more: for those very vanities have been my idols, and my seduced heart hath gone a whoring after them.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am ashamed and confounded at it.

VIII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being farther bound by that most solemn vow utterly to forsake the sinful lusts of the flesh, I have, instead of forsaking them, pursued and hunted after them, and when other temptations have failed, have been apt enough to kindle my own fire, and to be a tempter to myself.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I hate, and loathe, and abhor myself for it.

IX.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, knowing Thy revealed will to be the law to which I was bound in all obedience to submit myself, I like an insolent rebel have not only set up my own will in opposition to Thine, but many times preferred it before Thine, and have listened more to the false oracles of flesh and blood, than to all Thy holy commandments.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I accuse, and judge, and condemn myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

X.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being made according to Thine Image, (the greatest honour that could be done Thy creature,) I have dashed so many blurs and spots and foul sins upon it, so defaced all the lines and features of it, that, unless the Holy Spirit please to renew that Image in me again, I tremble to think what I must one day hear, Depart from me, I know you not.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am ashamed and confounded at it.

XI.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having received a rational soul from Thee, to be a moral light and guide unto my actions, I have been so brutish as to follow my sensual appetite instead of it, and have made no farther use of reason than to find out vain excuses to cozen my own soul into all the by-ways of sin and error.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I accuse, and judge, and condemn myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

XII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being endued with memory to serve as a magazine to treasure up Thy precepts and holy counsels in, I have stuffed it so miserably full with the ideas of former vanities, and sin, that I have left no room for Thee at all.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I infinitely condemn myself for it.

XIII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having received a heart from Thee to be the seat of clean and holy affections, and the only temple for Thy Holy Spirit to dwell in, I have so unworthily abused and altered the property of it, that it is now become a den of thieves, and an unhandsome receptacle of all uncleanness.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I hate, and loathe, and abhor myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

XIV.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, my wretched heart being corrupted, my imagination hath run wildly after, with a swarm of vain and sinful thoughts, which, like importunate flies, being driven away, light again and again upon my distracted soul, and intermingle with the best of my devotions.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am infinitely troubled and grieved for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

XV.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that mine eyes, being greedy after vanity, have been upon all occasions as open windows to let in sin; but when by the same way they should have issued out penitential tears, to wash away the stains those sins had made, there hath been no passage found for them.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am inwardly grieved and deplore myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

XVI.

Woe, woe unto me, O my God, that, for the entertaining of vain conversation, I have left mine ears too often open to light and vain and sinful discourses, and in all my enquiries have hearkened more to what the world saith abroad, than to what Thy Holy Spirit, and my own conscience saith within me.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I accuse, and judge, and condemn myself for it.

XVII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that I have not resolved, with Thy servant David, to take care of my ways, that I offend not in my tongue, but have many times vainly and inconsiderately let it loose, and, either to please the company or myself, I have spoken words which might unhappily prove occasions of sin both to them and me, without regard, or remembering how great flames such little sparks might kindle.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I do infinitely condemn myself for it.

XVIII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that all the parts and faculties of my soul and body have been abused, and have not served the laws of their Creator, but have so eagerly and constantly pursued the corrupt desires of a seduced heart, that I have cause to fear that either my whole life may be looked upon as one continued sin, or at least as having admitted so few inconsiderable pauses, that if Thou shouldest enter into strict judgment with me, I should not have the confidence to say when, or where, or wherein I have been innocent.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am confounded and astonished at it.

XIX.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that I have wretchedly failed even in my best endeavours, that I have been cold in my devotions, weary of my prayers, inconstant to good purposes, dull and heavy in the way to Heaven, but quick and active in all the ways of sin, having made it the whole business of my life, rather to seem to be religious, than really to be so.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I accuse, and judge, and condemn myself for it.

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

XX.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that I have not washed mine hands in innocency, when I have gone unto Thine altar, nor made mine heart ready to receive the Bread that came from Heaven, but have failed in my preparations, and have not sufficiently considered either mine own unworthiness, or the high secrets of so great a mystery.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am grieved and troubled at it.

XXI.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having so often received those inestimable pledges of Thy love, the precious Body and Blood of Thy dear Son in the holy Sacrament, I have been so unwary as to admit my former sins under the same roof with Thee, and have unhappily done what lay in me to drive Thee from me.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am infinitely ashamed at it.

XXII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that my repentance, the only plank left me in the shipwreck of my soul, hath been so weak, so slight, and so unsteady, that every small blast of a new temptation hath been able to drive me from it, and by frequent relapses into sin, gives me cause enough to repent, even of my vain repentance.

But I repent again, O God, again I repent.

I hate, and loathe, and abhor myself for it.

XXIII.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having received my life and being and preservation from Thee, with so many advantages to have made me happy in this world and blessed in the next, I have been so abominably unthankful, that I have cast all these Thy blessings behind me, and returned Thee nothing back for all Thy favours, but affronts, and injuries, and sins.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am confounded and astonished at it.

XXIV.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, being redeemed by the death and passion of Thy dear and only Son, I have not laid His bitter agonies to heart, nor made right use of the precious ransom which was laid down for me: that I have not yet sued out my pardon with such penitent tears as Thou requirest, nor laid hold of the benefits of it by a lively faith; but have chosen rather stupidly to continue in my sins, and to neglect the blood of the covenant as an unholy thing.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I hate, and loathe, and abhor myself for it.

XXV.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that Thy Holy Spirit I have grieved, Thy counsels I have rejected, Thy motions I have quenched, and have entertained the lusts and vanities of this life with far more earnest and passionate affections than all Thy holy inspirations.

But I repent, O my God, I repent.

I am utterly ashamed and confounded at it.

XXVI.

Woe, woe unto me, O God, that, having thus far opened my guilty heart before Thee, I have left so many sins behind, that I cannot number them ; some that I have really forgot ; some that I would forget, if my conscience would give me leave : sins known, that I cannot conceal ; and sins secret, such as I have taken so much care to hide from others, that they are now become hidden from myself.

But whatsoever they are, or wheresoever they are registered, whether in my own conscience or in any other record, that may be proved against me in the day of judgment,

*I call the whole court of Heaven to witness,
That I do sadly repent myself of them all ;
That I do abhor myself for them all ;
That I resolve stedfastly to renounce them all.*

Lord, be Thou merciful to me a sinner.

Amen. Amen.

The penitent soul having made this or the like confession, prepares and stirs up itself to true contrition.

What shall I say more unto Thee, O Thou that art the Judge of the whole earth? or what shall I do more? I have ransacked my breast, and laid it open; I have spread it before Thee, as Hezekiah the blaspheming letter of his enemy. I do not desire that there should be so much as any fold, or plait, or corner of it hidden from Thee.

Or if this be not enough to transact this great business of my soul between me and Thee alone, and that possibly I may flatter myself in the several acts of my intended penitence, I am ready to go farther, and (to make myself the more ashamed of sinning) with all humility to confess these sins of mine to some of those servants of Thine, whom Thou hast placed between me and Thee, and to whom alone under Thee Thou hast so clearly given the power of absolution.

O deal with me then as thou didst with Thy servant David, who no sooner confessed his sins, but Thou forgavest him all his iniquities.

But are there not they who confess their sins, and have the impudence to glory in them, or at least pass them over without any act of real contrition, or any remorse at all?

But, O my God, (if my heart deceive me not,) I am none of those; for I can neither glory in my shame, nor can I be satisfied with myself when I appear with dry eyes before Thee.

After this preparation, these express acts of contrition may follow.

For I am grieved, O my God, I am grieved passionately, heartily grieved that ever I offended Thee.

That I, the work of Thy hands, have sinned against Thee, my Maker.

That I, the price of Thy blood, have sinned against Thee, my Jesus, Who hadst so much love for me as to be content to die for me.

That I, the chosen temple of Thy Holy Spirit, have sinned against Him who sanctified me.

For this I grieve and mourn, and my heart is wounded within me.

And having done all this, yet I have not done; for still I am grieved: grieved that I can grieve no more, that my head is not a continual spring, and mine eyes fountains of tears.

Woe is me, wretch as I am, that I who have been so easy, so forward, so eager to sin, should be so untoward, so heavy, so unable to repent.

Woe is me, that I should be still so drowsy, so dead asleep in sin, that I should not be yet awake, and sensible of the condition I am in.

O that I had died before my unworthy soul had given way to those first sins, which have drawn so foul a train after them.

But, O my God, though I cannot wait on Thee among the innocent, yet deny me not a room among the penitent.

Remember, O my God, that though Ahab had sold himself to work wickedness, yet because he prayed, and fasted, and humbled himself before Thee, Thou hadst so much regard even of this outward penitence of his, as to promise not to bring the evil upon him in his days.

But, Lord, if my heart deceives me not, I do not only outwardly and seemingly, but really and cordially, repent.

And therefore for the evil that I have deserved, O my God, rather let the punishment light upon me in this world than in the next.

Rather let me perform the penance of my tears here, than reserve it for that sad time, when a whole sea of tears will do no good.

And having said all this, if my repentance be yet imperfect, (as I know it cannot but want many grains, if weighed in this just balance,) let the bitter sufferings of Thy dear Son Jesus be cast into the scale, and then I shall not fear if Thou enter into judgment with me.

But of myself, O God, I am utterly unable, and which way to satisfy Thee I know not.

I dare not say so much as the servant in the Gospel did, Master, have patience with me, and I will pay Thee all. But rather, Master, have patience with me, for I can pay Thee nothing at all, unless Thy bounty be so great as to give it me to pay Thee.

I can fast from a meal sometimes, (though it be with much ado,) and I can pray, though coldly enough; and if the fit and qualm of my devotion holds out longer, I can strain for a tear or two to sprinkle upon my dry devotions.

But should I fast myself into air and emptiness, and weep myself into water; should I tear the skin from this sinful flesh of mine, I should never be able to satisfy for the least of those millions of millions of sins, which, through the several moments of my life, either ignorantly or knowingly, weakly or wilfully, I have sinned against Thee.

What I have transgressed against others, I am not only sorry for, but ready, as far as my power will reach, to satisfy. But for my sins against Thee, my God, I must lay my hand upon my mouth for ever, for I have nothing to return or answer.

But the comfort is, (and blessed shall be my soul if rightly I lay hold on it,) that it is Thou, O my blessed Jesu, Who hast satisfied for me, one drop of whose Blood is enough to satisfy for the sins of a thousand worlds.

And this being so, will Thy offended Father be so rigorous as to require the same payment again? Especially will he require it of me, a poor, a broken, and a bankrupt sinner?

Canst Thou exact the utmost farthing of him who hath not a mite of his own to pay Thee?

The transition which the Penitent makes from the acts of contrition to the acts of resolution for amendment of life, without which all sorrow for sin is in vain.

But because by Thy infinite mercy, O my God, Thou hast satisfied for me already, shall I therefore fold my arms, and sit down and do nothing towards it? Or, which is worse, shall I go on? Shall I continue in my sins that grace may abound?

No, God forbid.

No: I here resolve rather to die the death, than ever wilfully to sin against Thee more.

I do here resolve utterly to avoid the temptations and approaches towards those former sins which have hitherto so miserably betrayed me.

I do here resolve (Thy holy Spirit assisting me) upon all the duties of a new life; to be hereafter more wary in my ways, and more constant to good resolutions; to love Thee above all the pleasures and interests of this life, and sadly to consider what an infinite loser I should be, if to gain all that my corrupt heart desires I should lose Thee.

If after all this I should be so miserably forgetful both of myself and Thee, as shamefully to relapse into any of those sins which I have now repented of:

I do here once more resolve to abhor and loathe myself for it, and not to let my conscience sleep or admit of any rest, till I have, with bitter tears and a sharp reiterated repentance, obtained my pardon.

Having thus far made his resolution, the Penitent betakes himself to prayer.

And now, O Thou great Searcher of all hearts, who seest that I am of myself weak and mutable, and no better than a reed shaken with the wind, O shew thy strength in my weakness: fasten and confirm me in these good purposes, and so bind them with cords unto Thine altar, that I may never start from Thee more, or be any longer of that herd, whose good resolutions are as a dream in the night; or if they last longer, they are but as the next morning dew, and as soon vanish away.

O give me the resolution of Thy servant Joshua:
I and my house will serve the Lord.

O give me the heart of Thy servant David, who so passionately makes his protestation:
I will take no wicked thing in hand, I hate the sins of unfaithfulness, there shall no such cleave unto me.

I will walk in my house with a perfect heart.

I have sworn, and am stedfastly purposed, to keep Thy righteous judgments.

Lord, I am not able to think one of these good thoughts without Thee, much less to resolve upon them.

But I, who without Thee am able to do nothing, may venture to say, as Thine apostles did, that in Thee I am able to do all things.

Lord, give me the strength to do what Thou requirest, and then require of me what Thou pleasest. Amen.

After these resolutions, the Penitent prepares himself with an humble soul and bended knees to beg pardon.

O the God of my life, and the unexhausted Fountain of mercy which can never be drawn dry, I have now, by the assistance of Thy Holy Spirit, gone through (though with weak and trembling steps) the whole exercise of repentance : for I have confessed my sins, and Thou hast promised (upon my confession of them) not to impute them to me. I have gone one step farther, for I have repented of my sins, and Thou hast promised again, that upon my repentance Thou wilt remember them no more ; and because Thy holy word hath taught me, that a new life is the only life of a true repentance, I have this day in Thy sight, and in the presence of all the holy Angels that attend Thee in the conversion of a sinner, made my firm resolution never to fall again into the sins which I have repented of.

And now what remains for a poor Penitent to do more, but humbly and earnestly to beg Thy pardon ?

The Penitent's prayer.

O God the Father, Who canst not be thought so cruel as to make me only to destroy me,

Have mercy on me.

O God the Son, Who knowing Thy Father's will, didst make it Thy business to come into the world to save me,

Have mercy on me.

O God the Holy Ghost, Who to the same end didst sanctify me in my baptism, and hast so often since breathed holy thoughts and motions on me,

Have mercy on me.

O holy and blessed and glorious Trinity,
Whom in Three Persons I adore as my One and only true God,

Have mercy on me.

Hear me, O Lord.

Help me, O Lord.

Save me, or else I perish.

Lord, carest Thou not that I perish? Thou that wouldest have all men saved? Thou Who wouldest have none to perish?

And wilt Thou now shew Thine anger against a worm, against a leaf, against a vapour that vanisheth before Thee?

O remember how short my time is, and deliver not my soul into the power of hell.

For, alas! what profit is there in my blood? or who shall ever give Thee thanks in that bottomless pit?

No, let me live in Thy sight: let me live, O my God, that my soul may praise Thee.

Forget me as I have been disobedient, provoking Thee to anger; and regard me as I am distressed, crying out to Thee for help.

Look not upon me as I am a sinner; but consider me as I am Thy creature.

A sinner I am, I confess, a sinner of no ordinary strain; but let not this hinder Thee, O my God, for upon such sinners Thou gettest the greatest glory.

O remember for whose sake it was that Thou camest from the bosom of Thy Father, and didst let Thyself down so low as to be content to be born of Thine own humble handmaid.

Remember for whom it was that Thy tender Body was torn, and scourged, and crucified, and Thy precious Blood shed.

Was it not for the sins of the whole world? and shall I be so narrow-hearted to my own soul, or so injurious to Thy glory, as to think that in all this crowd, Thou hast particularly excepted me?

Or, which is as great a dishonour to Thee, can I possibly imagine that Thou diedst only for sinners of a lower kind, and leftest such as I am without remedy?

What had become then of Him who filled Jerusalem with blood? What of the noted woman, who had lived in a trade of sin? Nay, what had become of Thine own disciple, who with oaths and curses thrice denied Thee?

O how easy is it for Thee to forgive? for it is Thy nature.

How proper is it for Thee to save? for it is Thy Name.

How suitable is it to Thy holy end of coming into the world? for it is Thy business.

And when I consider that I am the chief of sinners, may I not urge the Father, and say, Shall the very chief of Thy business be left undone ?

Mercy, mercy, good Lord.

I ask not of Thee any longer the things of this world : neither power, nor honours, nor riches, nor pleasures. No, my God ; dispose of them to whom Thou pleasest, so that Thou givest me mercy.

O that I could hear Thee once say, as Thou didst to him in the Gospel, My son, be of good cheer, thy sins are forgiven thee.

How would my drooping spirits revive at such a sound ! and my now wounded soul break forth into hymns and praises and hal-lujahs for a mercy so utterly undeserved of me, and which the angels that fell could never hear of !

But, O my weak soul, what dost thou fear ? or what dost thou scruple at ? For thou art not yet in such a desperate condition, but thou mayest expect that what was said to him may possibly be said to thee.

Nay, be confident, (though it be with a mixture of fear and trembling,) that if thou dost not act the part of an hypocrite all this while, thy Saviour stands ready at the very doors of thy heart, to breathe the very same words in a heavenly whisper to thee; Be of good cheer, thy sins are forgiven thee.

Return then unto thy rest, O my soul, for thy sins are forgiven thee.

Only take this counsel along with thee, Sin no more, lest a worse thing fall unto thee.

O that I could never sin against Thee more; never purposely, deliberately, wilfully sin against Thee more!

And for those sins of daily incursion, those over-familiar corruptions of my nature, which Thou hast not yet given me strength enough to conquer; Lord, either subdue them to me by degrees, or lay them not to my charge.

But wherein soever my conscience most accuseth me, therein, O my God, be Thou most merciful unto me.

Save me, O God, as a brand snatched out of the fire.

Receive me, O my Jesu, as a sheep that hath wandered, but is now returned to the great Shepherd and Bishop of my soul.

The jubilee of the penitent soul, after the sense of pardon obtained.

Rejoice over me, O God the Father, that this Thy child was lost, but is found; was dead, but is alive again.

Rejoice over me, O God the Son, that Thy loud cries and tears, and bitter agonies which for my sake Thou enduredst upon the cross, were not so unhappily lost, as to be cast away in vain upon me.

Rejoice over me, O God the Holy Ghost, that Thy so many secret and powerful touches have at last got the upper hand of me.

Rejoice over me, O ye holy Angels, a great part of whose ministry it is to rejoice at the conversion of a sinner.

Rejoice over thyself, O my soul, that thou hast received so much grace from Heaven this day, as sadly to confess thy sins, seriously to repent of them, and stedfastly to resolve never to be guilty more of so much brutishness, as to be likened to the dog that returns to his vomit, or to the swine wallowing in the mire.

The Penitent closeth all with this short prayer.

Let this day, O my God, be noted in Thy book.

Do not Thou forget my prayers, nor suffer me to forget my resolutions.

For though I am weak, though I am unworthy, though I am unprofitable, yet I am Thy servant.

And here upon my bended knees I humbly beg of Thee, that I may live and die so.

Lord, hear my prayers, and let my cry come unto Thee.

Lord, pardon my prayers, and let not my coldness and wanderings, and infinite unworthiness, turn them into sin.

Lord, hear my prayers, and let my cry come unto Thee.

Amen. Amen.

FESTIVAL HYMNS,

CELEBRATING THE
OF THE YEAR,

According to the manner of the Ancient Church;

Fitted to the fancy and devotion of the younger and pious persons,

Apt for memory, and to be joined to their other Prayers.

FESTIVAL HYMNS,
CELEBRATING THE
OF THE YEAR,

According to the manner of the Ancient Church.

HYMNS FOR ADVENT,
OR THE WEEKS IMMEDIATELY BEFORE THE BIRTH OF OUR BLESSED SAVIOUR.

WHEN, Lord, O when shall we
Our dear Salvation see ?
Arise, arise ;
Our fainting eyes
Have long'd all night, and 'twas a long one too.
Man never yet could say
He saw more than one day,

One day of Eden's seven :
The guilty hours there blasted with the breath
Of sin and death,
Hath ever since worn a nocturnal hue.
But Thou hast given us hopes that we
At length another day shall see,
Wherein each vile neglected place,
Gilt with the aspect of Thy face,
Shall be like that, the porch and gate of Heaven.
How long, dear God, how long !
See how the nations throng :
All human kind,
Knit and combin'd
Into one body, look for Thee their Head.
Pity our multitude,
Lord, we are vile and rude,
Headless and senseless without Thee,
Of all things but the want of Thy bless'd face,
O haste apace ;
And Thy bright self to this our body wed,
That, through the influx of Thy power,
Each part that erst confusion wore
May put on order, and appear
Spruce as the childhood of the year,
When Thou to it shalt so united be. Amen.

THE SECOND HYMN FOR ADVENT,
OR CHRIST'S COMING TO JERUSALEM IN TRIUMPH.

Lord, come away,
Why dost Thou stay?
Thy road is ready, and Thy paths made straight;
With longing expectation wait
The consecration of Thy beautiful feet.
Ride on triumphantly; behold we lay
Our lusts and proud wills in Thy way.
Hosanna! welcome to our hearts. Lord, here
Thou hast a temple too, and full as dear
As that of Sion, and as full of sin,
Nothing but thieves and robbers dwell therein.
Enter, and chase them forth, and cleanse the floor;
Crucify them, that they may never more
Profane that holy place,
Where Thou hast chose to set Thy face.
And then, if our stiff tongues shall be
Mute in the praises of Thy Deity,
The stones out of the temple wall
Shall cry aloud and call
Hosanna! and Thy glorious footsteps greet.
Amen.

HYMNS FOR CHRISTMAS-DAY.

I.

Mysterious truth! that the self-same should be
A Lamb, a Shepherd, and a Lion too!

Yet such was He

Whom first the shepherds knew,
When they themselves became Sheep to the Shepherd-Lamb.

Shepherd of men and angels! Lamb of God!
Lion of Judah!—by these titles keep
The wolf from Thy endanger'd sheep.

Bring all the world unto Thy fold;

Let Jews and Gentiles hither come

In numbers great, that can't be told,

And call thy lambs, that wander, home.

Glory be to God on high,

All glories be to th' glorious Deity.

THE SECOND HYMN;

BEING A DIALOGUE BETWEEN THREE SHEPHERDS.

Where is this blessed Babe

That hath made

All the world so full of joy

And expectation;

That glorious Boy
That crowns each nation
With a triumphant wreath of blessedness?

Where should He be but in the throng,
And among
His angel-ministers, that sing
And take wing,
Just as may echo to His voice,
And rejoice,
When wing, and tongue, and all
May so procure their happiness?

3.

But He hath other waiters now,
A poor cow,
An ox and mule stand and behold,
And wonder,
That a stable should enfold
Him that can thunder.

Chorus.

O what a gracious God have we!
How good! how great! even as our misery.

THE THIRD HYMN :

OF CHRIST'S BIRTH IN AN INN.

The Blessed Virgin travail'd without pain,
And lodged in an inn,
A glorious star the sign,
But of a greater Guest than ever came that way,
For there He lay
That is the God of night and day,
And over all the pow'rs of Heav'n doth reign.
It was the time of great Augustus' tax ;
And then He comes
That pays all sums,
Even the whole price of lost humanity :
And sets us free
From the ungodly empire
Of sin, and satan, and of death.
O make our hearts, bless'd God, Thy lodging place,
And in our breast
Be pleas'd to rest ;
For Thou lov'st temples better than an inn :
And cause that sin
Māy not profane the Deity within,
And sully o'er the ornaments of grace. Amen.

A HYMN FOR CHRISTMAS-DAY.

Awake, my soul, and come away ;
Put on thy best array,
Lest if thou longer stay,
Thou lose some minutes of so bless'd a day.
Go, run, and bid good-morrow to the sun ;
Welcome his safe return to Capricorn,
And that great morn,
Wherein a God was born ;
Whose story none can tell,
But He whose every word's a miracle.

To-day Almightyness grew weak ;
The world itself was mute,
And could not speak.

That Jacob's Star that made the sun
To dazzle, if He durst look on,
Now mantled o'er in Bethlehem's night,
Borrow'd a star to shew Him light.
He that begirt each zone,
To Whom both poles are one ;
Who grasp'd the zodiac in's hand,
And made it move or stand,
Is now by nature Man ;
By stature but a span ;

Eternity is now grown short,
 A King is born without a court :
 The water thirsts, the fountain's dry,
 And life, being born, made apt to die.

Chorus. Then let our praises emulate and vie
 With His humility :
 Since He's exil'd from skies
 That we might rise
 From low estate of men,
 Let's sing Him up again.

Each man wind up's heart

To bear a part

In that angelic choir ; and show

His glory high, as He was low.

Let's sing towards men good-will and charity,
 Peace upon earth, glory to God on high.

Hallelujah! Hallelujah!

A HYMN UPON ST. JOHN'S DAY.

This day

We sing

The friend of our eternal King,

Who in His bosom lay,

And kept the keys

Of His profound and glorious mysteries :

He that came with life to all,
Brings the babes a funeral,
To rédeem from slaughter Him
Who did redeem us all from sin.
They, like Himself, went spotless hence,
A sacrifice to innocence,
Which now does ride,
Trampling upon Herod's pride :
Passing from their fontanel of clay
To heaven, a milky and a bloody way.
All their tears and groans are dead,
And they to rest and glory fled.
Lord, who wert pleas'd so many babes should fall,
Whilst each sword hop'd, that every of the all
Was the desired King, make us to be
In innocence like them, in glory Thee.

Amen.

UPON THE EPIPHANY,
AND THE THREE WISE MEN OF THE EAST COMING TO WORSHIP JESUS.

A comet, dangling in the air,
Presag'd the ruin both of death and sin ;
And told the wise men of a King,
The King of Glory, and the Sun

Of Righteousness, who then begun
To draw towards that blessed hemisphere.
They from the farthest east this new
And unknown light pursue,
Till they appear
In this blest Infant-King's propitious eye,
And pay their homage to his royalty.
Persia might then the rising sun adore,
It was idolatry no more.
Great God! they gave to Thee
Myrrh, frankincense, and gold:
But, Lord, with what shall we Present ourselves before Thy Majesty,
Whom Thou redeem'dst when we were sold?
W'hav'nothing but ourselves, and scarcethat neither;
Vile dirt and clay:
Yet it is soft, and may Impression take.
Accept it, Lord, and say, this Thou hadst rather;
Stamp it, and on this sordid metal make
Thy holy image, and it shall outshine
The beauty of the golden mine. Amen.

A MEDITATION OF THE FOUR LAST THINGS,
DEATH, JUDGMENT, HEAVEN, HELL.

For the time of Lent especially.

OF DEATH.

Death, the old serpent's son,
Thou hadst a sting once like thy sire,
That carried hell and ever-burning fire :
But those black days are done ;
Thy foolish spite buried thy sting
In the profound and wide
Wound of our Saviour's side.
And now thou art become a tame and harmless thing,
A thing we dare not fear,
Since we hear
That our triumphant God, to punish thee
For the affront thou didst him on the tree,
Hath snatch'd the keys of hell out of thy hand,
And made thee stand
A porter to the gate of life, thy mortal enemy.
O Thou who art that gate, command that he May, when we die,
And thither flee,
Let us into the courts of heaven through Thee.

Hallelujah.

THE PRAYER.

My soul doth pant tow'rds Thee,

My God ! source of eternal life !

Flesh fights with me ;

O end the strife,

And part us, that in peace I may

Unclay

My wearied spirit, and take

My flight to Thy eternal spring,

Where, for His sake

Who is my King,

I may wash all my tears away,

That day.

Thou Conqueror of death,

Glorious Triumpher o'er the grave,

Whose holy breath

Was spent to save

Lost mankind, make me to be styl'd

Thy child ;

And take me when I die,

And go unto my dust, my soul

With saints enrol,

That in Thy arms for ever I

May lie.

Amen.

OF THE DAY OF JUDGMENT.

Great Judge of all, how we vile wretches quake !

Our guilty bones do ache,

Our marrow freezes, when we think

Of the consuming fire

Of Thine ire :

And horrid phials Thou shalt make

The wicked drink,

When Thou the winepress of Thy wrath shalt tread

With feet of lead.

Sinful, rebellious clay ! what unknown place

Shall hide it from Thy face !

When earth shall vanish from Thy sight,

The heavens that never err'd,

But observ'd

Thy laws, shall from Thy presence take their flight,

And, kill'd with glory, their bright eyes, stark dead,

Start from their head :

Lord, how shall we,

Thy enemies, endure to see

So bright, so killing Majesty ?

Mercy, dear Saviour : Thy judgment-seat

We dare not, Lord, entreat ;

We are condemn'd already there.

Mercy : vouchsafe one look

Of life. Lord, we can read Thy saving Jesus here,
And in His Name our own salvation see.

Lord, set us free;
The book of sin
Is cross'd within,
Our debts are paid by Thee.

Mercy.

OF HEAVEN.

O Beauteous God! uncircumscribed Treasure
Of an eternal pleasure,
Thy throne is seated far

Within the brightness of Thy face
For every spirit
To inherit

That builds his hopes on Thy merit,
And loves Thee with an holy charity.
What ravish'd heart, seraphic tongue, or eyes,
Clear as the morning's rise,
Can speak, or think, or see
That bright eternity,

Where the great King's transparent throne
Is of an entire jasper-stone !

There the eye
O' th' chrysolite,
And a sky

Of diamonds, rubies, chrysoprase ;
And, above all, Thy holy face,
Makes an eternal clarity.

When Thou Thy jewels up dost bind, that day

Remember us, we pray ;
That where the beryl lies,
And the crystal 'bove the skies,

There Thou may'st appoint us place,
Within the brightness of Thy face,

And our soul
In the scroll

Of life and blissfulness enrol,
That we may praise Thee to eternity.

Hallelujah.

OF HELL.

Horrid darkness, sad and sore,
And an eternal night,
Groans and shrieks, and thousands more
In the want of glorious light :

Every corner hath a snake
In the accursed lake.
Seas of fire, beds of snow,
Are the best delights below :
A viper from the fire
Is his hire,
That knows not moments from eternity.
Glorious God of day and night,
Spring of eternal light,
Hallelujahs, hymns and psalms,
And coronets of palms
Fill Thy temple evermore.
O mighty God,
Let not Thy bruising rod
Crush our loins with an eternal pressure ;
O let Thy mercy be the measure :
For if Thou keepest wrath in store,
We all shall die,
And none be left to glorify
Thy Name, and tell
How Thou hast sav'd our souls from hell.
Mercy.

ON THE CONVERSION OF ST. PAUL.

Full of wrath, his threat'ning breath
Belching nought but chains and death,
Saul was arrested in his way,
By a voice and a light,
That if a thousand days
Should join rays
To beautify one day,
It would not shew so glorious and so bright.
On his amazed eyes it night did fling,
That day might break within ;
And by those beams of faith
Make him, of a child of wrath,
Become a vessel full of glory.
Lord, curb us in our dark and sinful way
We humbly pray,
When we down horrid precipices run,
With feet that thirst to be undone,
That this may be our story.

Hallelujah.

ON THE PURIFICATION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN.

Pure and spotless was the maid
That to the temple came ;
A pair of turtle-doves she paid,
Although she brought the Lamb.
Pure and spotless though she were,
Her body chaste, and her soul fair,
She to the temple went,
To be purified,
And tried
That she was spotless and obedient.
O make us to follow so blest precedent,
And purify our souls, for we
Are cloth'd with sin and misery :
For our conception
One imperfection,
And a continued state of sin,
Hath sullied all our faculties within.
We present our souls to Thee,
Full of need and misery ;
And for redemption a Lamb,
The purest, whitest, that e'er came
A sacrifice to Thee ;
Even He that bled upon the tree.

ON GOOD-FRIDAY.

The Lamb is eaten, and is yet again
Preparing to be slain.
The cup is full, and mix'd,
And must be drunk :
Wormwood and gall
To this are draughts to beguile care withal :
Yet the decree is fix'd :
Doubled knees, and groans and cries,
Prayers and sighs, and flowing eyes
Could not entreat.
His sad soul sunk
Under the heavy pressure of our sin ;
The pains of death and hell
About Him dwell.
His Father's burning wrath did make
His very heart, like melting wax, to sweat
Rivers of blood
Through the pure strainer of His skin :
His boiling body stood
Bubbling all o'er,
As if the wretched whole were but one door
To let in pain and grief,
And turn out all relief.

O Thou, Who for our sake
Didst drink up
This bitter cup,
Remember us, we pray,
In Thy day,
When down
The struggling throats of wicked men
The dregs of Thy just fury shall be thrown ;
O then
Let Thy unbounded mercy think
On us, for whom
Thou underwent'st this heavy doom ;
And give us of the well of life to drink.
Amen.

ON THE ANNUNCIATION TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN.

A winged harbinger from bright Heaven flown,
Bespeaks a lodging-room
For the mighty King of love,
The spotless structure of a virgin-womb,
O'ershadow'd with the wings of the bless'd Dove :
For He was travelling to earth,
But did desire to lay
By the way,

That he might shift his clothes, and be
A perfect man as well as we.
How good a God have we ! Who for our sake,
To save us from the burning lake,
Did change the order of creation :
At first He made
Man like Himself, in His own image ; now,
In the more blessed reparation,
The heavens bow ;
Eternity took the measure of a span,
And said,
Let Us make Ourselves like man,
And not from man the woman take,
But from the woman, man.
Hallelujah : we adore
His Name, whose goodness hath no store.
Hallelujah.

EASTER DAY.

What glorious light!
How bright a sun after so sad a night
Does now begin to dawn! Bless'd were those eyes
That did behold
This Sun, when He did first unfold
His glorious beams, and now begin to rise.
It was the holy tender sex
That saw the first ray:
Saint Peter and the other had the reflex,
The second glimpse o' th' day.
Innocence had the first, and he
That fled, and then did penance, next did see
The glorious Sun of righteousness
In his new dress
Of triumph, immortality, and bliss.
O dearest God, preserve our souls
In holy innocence:
Or if we do amiss,
Make us to rise again to th' life of grace,
That we may live with Thee, and see Thy glorious face,
The crown of holy penitence.

Hallelujah.

ON THE DAY OF ASCENSION.

He is risen higher, not set :

Indeed a cloud

Did with His leave make bold to shroud

The Sun of Glory from mount Olivet.

At Pentecost He'll shew Himself again,

When ev'ry ray shall be a tongue

To speak all comforts, and inspire

Our souls with their celestial fire ;

That we the saints among

May sing, and love, and reign.

Amen.

ON THE FEAST OF PENTECOST, OR WHIT-SUNDAY.

Tongues of fire from Heaven descend

With a mighty rushing wind,

To blow it up, and make

A living fire

Of heavenly charity, and pure desire,

Where they their residence should take.

On the Apostles' sacred heads they sit,

Who now, like beacons, do proclaim and tell

Th' invasion of the host of hell,

And give men warning to defend Themselves from the enraged brunt of it.
Lord, let the flames of holy charity,
And all her gifts and graces, slide
Into our hearts, and there abide ;
That, thus refined, we may soar above
With it, unto the element of love,
Even unto Thee, dear Spirit,
And there eternal peace and rest inherit.

Amen.

PENITENTIAL HYMNS.

Lord, I have sinn'd, and the black number swells
To such a dismal sum,
That should my stony heart and eyes,
And this whole sinful trunk, a flood become,
And run to tears, their drops could not suffice
To count my score,
Much less to pay :
But Thou, my God, hath blood in store,
And art the Patron of the poor.

A PRAYER FOR CHARITY.

Full of mercy, full of love,
Look upon us from above ;
Thou who taught'st the blind man's night
To entertain a double light :
Thine and the day's, (and that Thine too,)
The lame away his crutches threw :
The parched crust of leprosy
Return'd unto its infancy :
The dumb amazed was to hear
His own unchain'd tongue strike his ear :
Thy powerful mercy did even chase
The devil from his usurp'd place,
Where Thou Thyself should'st dwell, not he :
O let Thy love our pattern be ;
Let Thy mercy teach one brother
To forgive and love another,
That, copying Thy mercy here,
Thy goodness may hereafter rear
Our souls unto Thy glory, when
Our dust shall cease to be with men. Amen.

Yet since the balsam of Thy blood,
Although it can, will do no good,
Unless the wounds be cleans'd with tears before ;
Thou, in whose sweet but pensive face
Laughter could never steal a place,
Teach but my heart and eyes
To melt away,
And then one drop of balsam will suffice.

Amen.

II.

Great God, and just ! how canst Thou see,
Dear God, our misery,
And not in mercy set us free ?
Poor miserable man ! how wert thou born !
Weak as the dewy jewels of the morn,
Wrapp'd up in tender dust,
Guarded with sins and lust,
Who, like court flatterers, wait
To serve themselves in thy unhappy fate.
Wealth is a snare, and poverty brings in Inlets for theft, paving the way for sin :
Each perfum'd vanity doth gently breathe
Sin in thy soul, and whispers it to death.

Our faults, like ulcerated sores, do go
O'er the sound flesh, and do corrupt that too.

Lord, we are sick, spotted with sin,
Thick as a crusty leper's skin.

Like Naaman, bid us wash ; yet let it be
In streams of blood that flow from Thee.

Then will we sing,
Touch'd by the heavenly Dove's bright wing,
Hallelujah, psalms and praise,
To God, the Lord of night and days ;
Ever good, and ever just,
Ever high, who ever must
Thus be sung, is still the same :
Eternal praises crown his Name.

Amen.
