This is a reproduction of a library book that was digitized by Google as part of an ongoing effort to preserve the information in books and make it universally accessible.

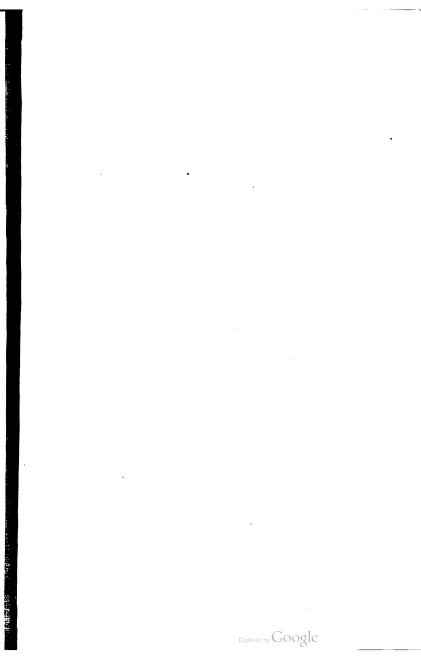

Google books

Digitized by Google

ľ

ŕ

ŀ

1....

Digitized by Google

· · · ·

.

SOME

REMARKŚ

-0 N

Mr. HILL's REVIEW,

OF ALL THE

DOCTRINES

TAUGHT BY

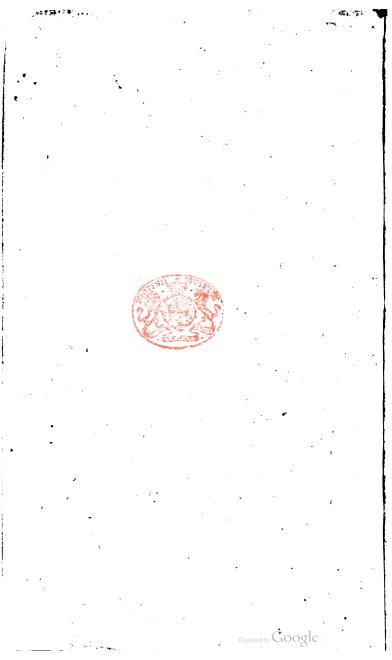

Mr. JOHN WESLEY.

Humanum est nefcire et errare.

Be calm in arguing : for fiere mels makes Error a fault, and truth diffeourtefy. Why fhould I feel another man's militakes, More than his ficknefs or infimity? In love I fhould : but anger is not love, Nor wildom neither; therefore gently move.

HERBERT.

B R I S T O L: Printed by W. PINE, in Wine-Street, 1772.

(3)

S O M E

REMARKS, &c.

MR. HILL has an immense advantage over mc: he abounds in time, and I in businefs. I cannot therefore undertake to write page for page; I have not leifure, if I had inclination. And indeed it is not needful. For a full confutation of whatloever is cited, from the Eleven Letters commonly afcribed to Mr. Hervey, I need only refer to Mr. Sellon: who has not only answered every fhadow of an argument, contained in that poor piece of low invective, but even the reproaches: which indeed he could not pass over, without paffing over great part of the book. If Mr. H. is afraid to read that answer, I ain forry for it. And for whatever he advances on particular redemption, or any of the points connected therewith, I refer every one who is not afraid of the light, to those three tracts of Mr. Sellon, " The Arguments against General Redemption answered," God's Sovereignty vindicated against Elista Coles," and "The Church of England vindicated from the charge of Calvin fm." I believe if Mr. Hill had given this laft a fair reading, he would know the 17th article is nothing to his purpofe.

2. With regard to his objections to Mr. Fletcher, I refer all candid men to his own writings: his Letters, intitled, a first, second and third Check to Antinomianifm : The rather, becaufe there are very few of his arguments, which Mr. H. even attempts 'Tis true he promiles " a full and parto anfwer. A 2 ticular ficular answer to Mr. F.'s Second Check to Antingmianism." But it will puzzle any one to find where that answer is, except in the title page. And if any thing more is needful to be done, Mr. F. is still able to answer for himself. But if he does, I would recommend to his confideration the advice formerly given by a wife man to his friend, " See that you humble not yourfelf to that man: it would hurt both him and the caufe of God." 'Tis pity but he had confidered it fooner, and he might have cleaped fome keen reflections. But he did not: he imagined when he fooke or wrote in the fimplicity of his heart, that his opponents would have received his words, in the fame fpirit wherein they were fpoken. No fuch matter; they turn them all into poison : he not only loses his fweet words, but they are turned into bitternefs, are interpreted as mere fneer and farcafm! A good lefton for me! I had defigned to have transcribed Mr. F.'s character of Mr. H. and to have added a little thereto, in hope of foftning his spirit. But I fee, it is in vain: as well might one hope to foften

Digitized by Google

" Inexorable Pluto, king of fhades!"

Since he is capable of putting fuch a conftruction, even upon Mr. F.'s gentlenefs and mildnefs, fince he afcribes even to him "a pen dipt in gall," what will he not afcribe to me? I have done therefore with humbling myfelf to thefe men; to Mr. H, and his affociates. I have humbled myfelf to them for thefe thirty years: But will do it no wore. I have done with attempting to foften hier fprits: it is all loft labour. Upon men of an ingenuo... temper, I have been able to fix an obligation. Bifhop Gibfen, Dr. Church, and even Dr. Taylor, were obliged to me for not pufhing my advantage. But it is not fo with thefe: whatever mercy you fhew, you are to expect no mercy from them. them. Mercy did I fay? alas, I expect no justice; no more than I have found already. As they have wrefted and difforted my words from the beginning, fo I expect they will do to the end. Mr. H.'s performance is a specimen ! Such mercy, such justice I am to expect!

3. And does Mr. H. complain of the unhappy fpirit, in which Mr. F. writes? Many writers have done marvelloufly: but thou excellest them all ! For forty or fifty years I have been a little acquainted. with controversial writers; some, of the Romish perfuation; some, of our own church; some, Diffenters of various denominations. And I have found many among them as angry as him : but one fo bitter I have not found. Or one only, the Author of those "excellent letters," as Mr. H. ftiles them : which he particularly admires, (that is his word) and the whole spirit of which he has drank in. This is his peculiar character, his diftinguishing grace :-As a writer, his name is wormwood. Accordingly. he charges Mr. F. with a "fevere, acrimonious fpi-. rit," with " fneer, farcafm and banter, yea with notorious falfhoods, calumny and gro's perversions," p. 2. Nay, "I accuse you, fays he, of the groffelt perversions and milrepresentations that ever proceeded from any author's pen." In the fame fpirit he is represented p. 21. as "a flanderer of God's. people and ministers, descending to the meanest quibbles, with a bitter, railing acrimonious fpirit." And p. 27: (to go no farther) as " using ftratagem and ungenerous artifices." Altho' " I have treated you fays Mr. H. with all the politeness of a gentle-. man, and the humility of a Chriftian." - Amazing !! And has he not treated me fo two? At prefent, take but one or two inftances. " Forgeries have long paft for no crime with Mr. Wefley." p. 27. "He administers falthoods and damnable herefies, rank poifon, hemlock and ratibane. We cannot allow him any other title, than that of an empiric or A 3 quack.

quack doctor." p. 29: Which fhall we admire most here! The Gentleman, or the Christian?

4. There is fomething extremely odd in this whole affair. A man falls upon another, and gives him a good beating: Who in order to be revenged, does not grapple with him (perhaps fenfible that he is above his match) but giving him two or three kicks, falls with all his might upon a third man that was flanding by. "O, fays he, but I know that rafed well: he is the fecond of him that beat me." "If he is, difpatch your bufinefs with the former firft, and then turn to him." However if Mr. H. is refolved to fall upon me, I muft defend myfelf as well as I can.

5. From the fpirit and manner wherein he writes, let us now proceed to the matter. But that is fo various, and feattered up and down for an hundred and fifty pages, without much order or connection, that it is difficult to know where to begin. However all tends to one point : the good defign of the writer is, to blacken. With this laudable view, he observes the old rule, "throw dirt enough, and fome will flick." Knowing that the mud may be thrown in a trice; but it will take time and pains to fcrape it off. Indeed he takes true pains to faften it on: to reprefent Mr. W. as a knave and a. fool; a man of no conficence, and no understanding. 'Tis true the latter is infifted on most at large : by an hundred inftances, Mr. H. has made it plain to all the world, That Mr. W. never had three grains of common fenfe : that he is the veryeft weather-cock that ever was: that he has not wit enough to be fixt in any thing, but is "toft to and fro continually :" " that he is to this very moment fo abfolutely unfettled, with regard to every funda-. mental doctrine of the gofpel, that no two difputants in the fchools can be more opposite to each other, than he is to himfelf."

6. But fome may naturally afk, what is the matter?

matter? What makes Mr. H. fo warm? What has: Mr. IV. done, that this Gentleman, this Chriftian. ita gladiatorio animo ad eum affectat viam? That he falls upon him thus outragiouily, dagger out of fheath, without either rhyme or reafon? O the matter is plain. Belide that he is Mr. F.'s friend, he is an Arminian: and nothing is bad enough for an Arminian. An Arminian! What is that ? " I cannot tell. exactly. But to be fure, it is all that is bad. For a Popish Friar, a Benedictin Monk bears witness, (and Mr. H. aver's the fame) That the tenets of the-Church of Rome are nearer by half to Calvinifm. than to Arminianifm; nearer by half to Mr. H.'s; tenets than to Mr. W.'s" Truly I always thought fo. But still I ask what is an Arminian? Why, in. other words, an Election doubter. And the "good. " old Preacher, (fays Mr. H.) places all Election-" doubters (i. e. those who were not clear in the be-" lief of Abfolute Predefination) among the nume-" rous hoft of the Diabelonians. One of these being "brought before the judge, the judge tells him, " to queftion election, is to overthrow a great. " doctrine of the gofpel .- Therefore he, the Elec-" tion-doubter, must die, p. 37." That is plainly, he must die eternally, for this damnable sin. The very fame thing Mr. H. affirms elfewhere. p. 93-" The only cement of Christian union is the love. of God, and the foundation of that love must be laid in believing the truths of God :" (that is, you muft believe particular redemption, or it is impoffible you fhould love God) For, to use " The words of Dr. " Owen, in his display of Arminianism, (see the truths " which Mr. II. means, an agreement without truth " is no peace, but a covenant with death, and a. " confpiracy against the kingdom of Christ."

7. I am forry Mr. H. fhould think fo. But for long as he remains in that featiment, what peace am I or Mr. F. or indeed any Armirian to expect from him? Since any agreement with us would be "a coa covenant with death, and a confpiracy againft the kingdom of Chrift." I therefore give up all hope of peace with him, and with all that are thus minded. For I do not believe what he terms the truths of God, the doctrine of abfolute predefination. I never did believe it, or the doctrines connected with it, no not for one hour. In this, at leaft, I have been confiftent with myfelf, I have never varied an hair's breadth, I cannot, while I believe the Bible, while I believe either the old or new Teftament. What I do believe, and always have believed in this matter, I will declare with all fimplicity.

"i. I believe no decree of Reprobation. I do not believe the Father of Spirits ever " Confign'd one unborn foul to hell,

Or damn'd him from his mother's womb."

"2. I believe no decree of Preterition, which is, only reprobation white-washed. I do not believe-God ever fent one man into the world, to whom hehad decreed, never to give that grace, wherebyalone he could escape damnation.

"3. I do not believe (what is only Preterition or Reprobation in other words) any fuch Abfolute Electian, as implies that all but the abfolutely elect fhall, inevitably be damned.

"4. I do not believe the doctrine of Irrefiftible, grace, or of Infallible perfeverance; because both the one and the other implies that election, which cannot fland without Preterition or Reprobation.

"5. I do not believe Salvation by works. Yet if any man can prove (what I judge none ever did, or ever will) that there is no medium between this and Abfolute Predefination: I will rather fubscribe to, this than to that, as far less absurd of the two.

"8. Hinc ille lachryma. Here is the fource of Mr. H.'s implacable hatred to me. And hence arifes his vehement difpleafure at those Minutes, which Mr. Sh. and he ftile "dreadful herefy." The appellation pellation is just, suppose (as Mr. H. asserts) all Etection-doubters are Diabolonians : suppose no man who is " not clear in the belief of absolute Predeftination," can love either God or his neighbour. For it is certain the doctrine of the Minutes and of the Decrees, cannot ftand together. If the doctrine of the Decrees stands, then that of the Minutes must fall; for we willingly allow, that the one is incompatible with the other. If the doctrine of the Minutes stands, then that of the Decrees must fall. For it is manifest this, particularly the last article, strikes at the very root of Calvinifm. Of what confequence is it then, to one who is perfuaded the belief of Calvinism is effential to falvation, to expose those Minutes to the uttermost, as well as any that dares to defend them ?

9. In order to this good end, Mr. H. publishes " a Review of all the Doctrimes taught by Mr. John Wesley." But is it possible for any man to do this, without reading all the writings that I have publifhed? It is not possible in the nature of things: He cannot give an account of what he never read. And has Mr. H. read all that I have published? I believe he will not affirm it. So any man of underftanding may judge, before he opens his book, what manner of review it is likely to contain ! However it must be owned that he and his faithful allies have been at the pains, of looking into many of my writings. I fay many: for I apprehend there are many more, which they have not fo much as looked into: nor does it appear that they have ferioufly looked through any, fo as to observe the scope and tenor of them. However from those which he or they have, after a fashion reviewed, abundance of objections are extracted. It is true none of them (one only excepted) are new, and there is hardly one that has not been answered again and again. Yet fince they are proposed in a new form, they may feem to demand a new answer.

Ŷ.

10. The

ć

10. The grand objection is, that I am inconfiftent with myfelf. This therefore I shall particularly confider. The others, which flutter up and down the whole work, I can but just touch upon. Mr. H. opens the charge thus: "Saying and unfaying is nothing new with Mr. W. who has only shewn himself consistent, by a regular feries of inconfiftencies." p. q. " How full are you of contradictions to yourfelf? How full of contrary purpoles? How often do you chide with yourfelf? How oft do you fight with yourfelf?" Title " Mr. W. feems well contented you Dage. should feitle his Creed. If you can, you will do in a few months, what he himfelf has not been able to effect in near forty years." " On this fluctuating ocean he has been toft, for fo many years. together." p. 20. "All his Journals and Tracts are replete with proofs of his having been toft from. one fystem to another, and from one opinion to. another, from the time of his ordination to this preient moment." p. 143. " The most ignorant Collier can immediately fee his inconfiftency with himfelf." p. 145. He fums up the whole charge in the lively words of Mr. Cudworth, graced with the name of Mr. Hervey. " Contradiction, didft thou ever know fo trufty a friend, fo faithful a devotee? Many people are ready enough to contradict others. But it feems all one to this Gentleman, whether it be another or himfelf, fo he may but: contradict."

11. To prove this indictment (urged home enough, though there is not one tittle of truth in it) Mr. H. has cited no lefs than an hundred and one witneffes. + Before I enter upon the examination of thefe, I beg leave to transcribe what I wrote fome time fince to Dr. Rutherforth. "You frequently

+ The very number of propositions extracted out of Quefnell's writings, and condemned "as dreadful Heavies." in the Bull Unigentus! Exemplum flacet! See how good Wits jump! Mr. H. Father Walfn, and the Pope of Rame ! quently charge me with evafion; and others have brought the fame charge. The plain cafe is this. I have wrote on various heads; and always as clearly as I could. Yet many have mifunderftood my words, and raifed abundance of objections. I answered them by explaining myself, shewing what 1 did not mean, and what I did. One and another of the objectors ftretched his throat, and cried out, " Evafion !" And what does all this outcry amount to? Why exactly thus much. They imagined they had tied me fo faft, that it was imposfible for me to elcape. But prefently the cobwebs were fwept away, and I was quite at liberty. And I blefs God I can unravel truth and falfhood, altho' artfully twifted together. Of fuch Evafion I am not ashamed. Let them be ashamed who constrain me to ule it."

"You charge me likewife, and that more then once or twice, with maintaining contraditions. I anfwer, 1. If all my fentiments were compared together, from the year 1725 to 1768, there would be truth in the charge. For during the latter part of this period, I have relinquifhed feveral of my former ientiments. 2. During the laft 30 years, I may have varied in fome of my fentiments or expressions without observing it: 3. I will not undertake to defend all the expressions, which I have occasionally used during this time; but must defire men of candor to make allowance for those,

Quas aut incuria fudit, Aut humana parum cavit natura.

But 4. it is not ftrange, if among those inaccurate expressions, there are some seeming contradictions: especially confidering I was answering so many different objectors, frequently attacking me at once; and one pushing this way, another that, with all the violence they were able. Neverthelefs defs I believe there will be found few real contradictions, in what I have published for thirty years.

12. Mr. H.'s numerous proofs of my contradicting myfelf, may be ranged under twenty four heads. I thall examine these one by one, in what appears to me to be the most natural order.

There was an everlafting covenant between God the Father and God the Son, concerning man's redemption.

The latter of these I believe, and always did, fince I could read my bible.

But Mr. H. brings a paffage out of the Chriftian Library, to contradict this. On which he parades as follows. "If the Chriftian Library be, as Mr. W. affirms, all true, all agreeable to the word of God, then what are we to think of his other works ℓ They must be an adulteration of man's devising. p. 128. The fame may be faid of the Minutes: if these be truly orthodox, upwards of forty volumes of the Library must be throughly heterodox. And then there is great reason to lamont, that for many poor people's pockets should be fleeced, for what can do their fouls no good."

Peremptory enough! But let us examine the matter more closely. "Mr. W. affirms, that the Christian Library is all true, all agreeable to the word of God." I do not; and I am glad I have this public opportunity, of explaining myself concerning it. My words are (Preface p. 4) "I have made, as I was able, an attempt of this kind. I have indeavoured to extract fuch a collection of English Divinity, as I believe, is all true, all agreeable to the oracles of God." I do not roundly affirm this, (as Mr. H. afferts) afferts) of every fentence contained in the fifty volumes. I could not pollibly atlirm it for two reafons, 1. I was obliged to prepare most of those tracts for the prefs, just as I could fnatch time in travelling; not transcribing them; (none expected it of me) but only marking the lines with my pen, and altering or adding a few words here and there, as I had mentioned in the preface. 2. Or it was not in my power to attend the prefs, that care neceffarily devolved on others: through whole inattention an hundred paffages were left in, which I had fcratched out: Yet not fo many as to make up " forty Volumes," no, nor forty pages. It is probable then I myfelf might overlook fome fentences. which were not fuitable to my own principles. It is certain, the correctors of the prefs did this, in not a few inftances. I shall be much obliged to Mr. H. and his friends if they will point out all those inftances. And I will print them as an Index Expurgatorious to the work, which will make it doubly valuable.

The plain inference is, if there are an hundred paffages in the Chriftian Library, which contradict any or all of my doctrines, these are no proof that I contradict myself. Be it observed, once for all therefore, citations from the Chriftian Library, prove nothing but the careless of the correctors.

2

II.

For Election and Perfeverance. Perfeverance. p. 101.

2. Mr. Sellon has clearly flewed, that the 17th Article does not affert Abfolute Predefination. Therefore in denying this, I neither contradict that article, nor myfelf.

3. I believe there is a ftate attainable in this life, from which a man cannot finally fall. But I never though ta babe in Chtift was in that ftate though he is a true believer.

В

4. Saved

4. Saved beyond the So fays my Brother. ead of falling. That is nothing to me, "aread of falling.

The note adds, "Mr. W. drew lots, whether or no he fhould preach against the 17th Article.

" That paltry ftory is untrue," Though Mr. H. potently believes it. So all the witticifms built upon it, fall to the ground at once. I never preached against the 17th Article, nor had the least thought of doing it. But did Mr. Hill never preach against the 31st Article, which explicitly afferts Univerfal Redemption?

5. I do not deny, that those eminently stiled perfected in love (1. John the Elect, shall infallibly | iv. 17.) and those only. pe fevere,

6. The love divine,

Which made us thine, Shall keep us thine forever,

7. From all eternity with love.

Unchangeable thou haft me vicw'd.

8. Never again will he take him away,

9. Jefus the lover of his own, will love me to the end.

10. Chrift is in the Elect world of his Church.

I mean, those that are So here is no contradic. tion.

So my Brother fpeaks. -But his words cannot prove that I contradict myfelf.

I believe this is true on the fuppolition of faith forefeen, not otherwife.

They are my brother's words not mine.

So are thefe.

This is cited from the Christian Library. So it goes for nothing.

The nine witneffes therefore examined on this head prove just nothing at all. So that hitherto there is not the least proof, that I contradict myfelf.

III.

For imputed righteouf-Against imputed right-"nels. coufnefs. 11. We no more deny Do not dispute for the righteousnels) than the Here is no contradiction. thing.

Digitized by Google

12. This doctrine 1 have 1 believed and taught, for near eight and twenty years.

13. This is a citation from the Christian Library. So it goes for nothing.

14. I continually affirm, that the righteousness of contending fo strenuously Chrift (in the fense there | for those expressions? I ask explained) is imputed to | it again. But where is every believer.

15. This is another citation from the Christian Lie drary. So it proves nothing.

16. The wedding garment is Chrift's righteousnels, first imputed, not exclude but presupand then implanted.

17. This is confiftent with our being justified dicts this. Perhaps fo, through the imputation | but John Goodwin is not the phrase (of imputed | that particular phrase, I do not deny it; yet I dare not dispute for it.

The use of that Term has done immense hurt.

It has; but here is no contradiction.

Where is the use of the contradiction?

The wedding garment is holinefs. This does pofes the other.

John Goodwin contraof Christ's righteousness. John Wesley, whatever therefore he fays, (obferve it once for all does not prove, that I contradict my/elf. I am no way engaged, to defend every expression of either John Goodwin or Richard Baxter's aphorifms. The Jenfe of both I generally approve, the language many times I do not.

But I observe here and in fifty other instances, Mr. H. mentions no page. Now (in controverfy) he that names no page, has no right to any answer.

18. I frequently put | I dare not require any this expression into the to use it. True; but here mouth of a whole congrega- is no contradiction. I Вs tion: tion: that is, I fing an do not require any to use it. hymn wherein it occurs. Every one in the congregation may use, or let it alone.

Here comes in a thundring note. " Although most of these extracts from Mi. W.'s fermon on Jer. xxiii. 6. have every evangelical appearance, yet all thar excellency vanification away, when we are told in the fame termon, that the righteoufnefs he contends for, is not the divine rightcouinels of Chrift, but his human righteculnels. When we confider the express words of the text. The Lord our Righteoufnefs. one might wonder (if any thing is to be wondered at that Mr. W. affirms) how he could poffibly fall into an error, which at once not only deffrovs the meritorious efficacy of the Redeemer's righteoufnefs but undermines the virtue of his atoning blood." This is home : Mr. H. has broke my head fadly. But he will foon give me a plaifter. "However if Mr. W. will acknowledge, that by Chrift's human righteousness, he means that mediatorial righteoufnefs which was wrought by God in the human nature, I entirely acquiefe with him on the e This is truly marvellous! Why what point." could Mr. W. mean befide? So this error proves to be no error at all! And all the excellency which vamilleth away, appears again in flatu quo!

7

But we are not come to the end of the note yet. It contains another dreadful objection. "Mr. W. is unwilling" (truly I am) "to be ranked among the Diabolonians, and therefore with more prudence than candor, has left the whole paffage, concerning the Election-doubters out of the Holy War." And if Mr. II. had omitted it too, it would have been no more an impeachment of his prudence, than it was of my cander, to omit it in all the tracts I abridged, whatever I difapproved of. This was what I profeffed at my fetting out. "I have endeavoured (thefe are my very words)" to preferve a confeitency throughout, throughout, that no part might contradict any other. But in order to this, I have been obliged to omit the far greatest part of feveral authors.-And in a defign of this nature I apprehend myfelf to be at full liberty fo to do. Preface p. 5. The abridged Bunyan is not therefore "the counterfeit Bunyan." This is a flourish of Mr. H.'s pen.

Digitized by Google

10. This inftance fets nothing against nothing : the Christian Library against John Goodwin.

20. This is an emblem of the righteousness of dicts this. So he may. the faints, both of their | But I am not John Goodjustification and fanctifi- win. So we have exacation.

21. I would address myself to you, who are one of them, Mr. fo ready to condemn all that use these expressions as pains to increase the Antinomians.

John Goodwin contramined twenty witneffes; and not one of all these proves, that I contradict myfelf.

On Mr. Hervey's using W. fays, why are you at fuch number of Antinomians?"

But I do not condemn him as an Antinomian. Therefore here is no contradiction.

22. Again. Is not this, that Chrift has fatif-fied the demands of the law, the very quinteffence of Antinomianifm ?

Whether it is, or no, it is wide of the mark; for this is none of the expressions in question.

To fay, 23. Again. the claims of the law are all answered, is not this Antinemianifm without a mafk?

Yes: but it is none of the expressions in question. So it is no contradiction.

Ba

24. Once

24. Once more. There are many expressions in | this dialogue, which directly lead to Antinomianifm.

Yet I do not condemn all that use them So I think. as Antinomians. So here is no contradiction still.

25. It is by faith we of Chrift.

If faith in the imputed build on this foundation, | rightcoulnels of Chrift is the imputed righteoufness | a fundamental principle, what becomes of all those who think nothing about imputed righteoufnels?

Here is no contradiction. Suppofe I build my faith on this foundation, the imputed righteoufnefs of Chrift, it docs not follow, it is fo fundamental a principle, that all who think nothing about it, will be damned.

26. But is not a believer cloathed with the righteoufnels of Chrift? Undoubtedly he is.

27. The mantle of Chrift's righteoufnefs. Christian Library.

28. Christian Library. Nothing.

29. The fole caufe of ouracceptance with God is the righteoufness and the death of Chrift, who | order to his purchasing fulfilled God's law, and] died in our stead.

Goodwin, i.e. Nothing.

Ditto again, Nothing againft nothing.

I cannot prove, that it was requisite for Chrift to fulfil the moral law, in redemption for us. By his fufferings alone the law was fatisfied.

Digitized by Google

Undoubtedly it was. Therefore although I believe Chrift fulfilled God's law, yet I do not affirm he did this, to purchafe redemption for us. This was done, by his dving in our stead.

go. Verfes of C. W. Let him answer. 31, 32, 33. Title to John Goodwin.

Life

Life. Chriftian Library, Nothing.

34. The righteoufnels of Chrift is imputed to every one that believes.

ť

Ditto.

Here follows another thundering note. "When Mr. Wefley preached this fermon, he told the congregation, It was the fame dectrine which Mr. Romaine. Mr. Madan and Mr. Whiteheld preached. So it was: Mr. Wh. did, Mr. R. and Madan do preach the doctrine contained in that fermon, namely that "we are justified, fanctified and glorified, merely for the fake of what Chrift has done and fuffered for us," But did I fay, This was all the doctrine which they preached? No; and no man in his fenfes could understand me fo. I did not therefore " impofe on the credulity of my hearers, by making them believe" any more than was ftrictly true. But " did they ever hold the tenets pleaded for in the books published by Mr. IV. ?" Whether they did or no is out of the prefent question. They did and do hold the doctrine contained in that fermon: "Mr. W. knows, they from their hearts fubscribe to Mr. Hervey's Eleven Letters." I hope not; from any that do, I expect no more mercy than from a mad "But if he had conftantly preached that dog. doctrine, how came fo many to teftify their furprize at that difcourfe?" Becaufe God fet it home upon their hearts. Hence it appeared new, though they had heard it over and over. "How came they to prefs the printing of it, in order to ftop the mouths of gainfayers ?" Becaufe they judged it would affect others, as it affected them : though I never thought it would. " Laftly, if Mr. W. had conftantly maintained this doctrine, why must poor John Bunyan be embowelled, to make him look like Mr. W.? No: his calvinism is omitted, to make him like the authors going before him; "to preferve a confiftency throughout the work :" which ftill is not done done as I could with. However those that are fond of his bowels, may put them in again, and fwallow them, as they would the train of a Woodcock.

35. They to whom the 1 righteousness of Christis | cal doctrine of imputed imputed (I mean, who | righteoufnefs, inftead of truly believe) are made | furthering men in holirighteous by the Spirit of | nefs, makes them fatisfied Chrift.

The nice, metaphyfiwithout any holinefs at all.

• I have known a thousand instances of this. And yet "they who truly believe in Chrift, are made righteous by his Spirit." Where is the contradiction between these propositions?

36. Christian Library.

37. Chrift is now the righteoufnefs of all that truly believe.

Nothing 38, 39, 40, 1 41, 42, 43, 5 againft.

44. To all believers the righteoufness of Christis imputed.

Nothing.

Baxter's Aphorifms go for nothing. Richard Baxter is not 7. W.

Nothing.

Goodwin: Nothing.

We have now examined four and forty witneffes; but still have no proof, that I contradict myfelf, either with regard to the covenant, election and perfeverance, or the imputed righteoufness of Christ. With regard to this, the thing that we are justified merely for the fake of what Chrift has done and fuffered, I have constantly and earnessly maintained, above four and thirty years. And I have frequently used the phrase, hoping thereby to please others, for their But it has had a contrary good, to edification. effect, fince fo many improve it into an objection. Therefore I will use it no more, unless it occur in an hymn, or steal upon me unawares: I will endeavour to use only such phrases, as are strictly scriptural. And I will advise all my brethren, all who are in connection with me, throughout the three kingdoms, to to lay afide that ambiguous, unfcriptural phrafe, which is to liable to be mifinterpreted, and to fpeak in all inftances, this in particular, as the oracles of God.

1V.

Suffering the penalty | isnot all the law requires.

Suffering the penalty is all the law requires. p. 132.

45. So fays the Chriftian So fays John Goodwin. Library.

But this does not prove, that I contradict myself.

St. Paul speaks of the law as a perfor :

St. Paul does not fpeak of the law as a perfon. p. 138.

45. The law is here This way of fpeaking fpoken of as a perfon, to of the law as a perfon inwhich, as to an hulband, jured and to be fatisfied, if and death are afcribed.

There is no contradiction here. 1 do affirm St. Paul speaks of the law, "as a person, to which as an husband, life and death are ascribed." But I deny, that he speaks of it "as a person injured, and to be satisfied."

VI.

For a twofold juffication.

47. Mr. F. affirms, juftification is twofold. Against a twofold juftification.

The juftification spoken of by St. Paul to the Romans, and in our articles, is one and no more. p. 133.

Most true. And yet our Lord (Matt. xii, 37.) speaks of another justification. Now I think one and one make two.

VII. For a justified state.

Againftajuftified ftate. p. 139.

48. The

48. The ftate of a juftified perfon is inexpreffibly great and glorious. I tend to miflead men P It frequently does. But where is the contradiction?

They who are justified

may become total apo-

VIII.

states.

They who are once justified, are justified for ever.

49. Christian Library. Nothing.

Works are a condition of juftification. p. 134.

50. Salvation (i. e. glory,) is not by the merit of works, but by works as a condition.

This proposition does not speak of justification. So it is nothing to the purpose.

Whoever defires to find favour with God fhould ceafe from evil and learn to do well. Whoever repents, fhould do works meet for repentance. And if this is not in order to find favour, what does he do them for ?

IX.

Works are not a condition of justification.

I believe no (good) works can be previous to juftification; nor confequently a condition of it,

51. If a man could be holy, before he was juftified, it would fet his juftification afide.

52. Thou canft do nos thing but fin, till thou art justified.

53. We allow, that Godjuftifies the ungodly, him that to that hour, is full of all evil, void of all good : and him that worketh not, that till that moment, worketh no goodnefs.

All this I believe ftill. "But Mr. W. fays, Whoever defires to find favour with God, fhould ceafe from evil, learn to do well," &c. Does not the bible fay fo? Who can deny it? Nay, but Mr. W. afks, "If this be not in order to find favour, what does does he do them for ?" And I ask it again. Let Mr. H. or any one elfe, give me an answer. So if there is any contradiction here, it is not I contradiet myself, but Isaiah and our Lord that contradict St. Paul.

X.

Against justification by the act of believing.

54. But do not youput faith in the room of faid to be imputed to Chrift and his righteoul- | Abraham for righteoulnels? No: I take parti- | nels is faith properly tacular care to put each of | ken ; and not the rightethese in its proper place.

For justification by the act of believing.

The faith which is oufness of Christ apprehended by faith.

This is putting each of thefe in its proper place. The righteousness of Christ is the meritorious cause of our justification. That is its proper place. Faith in Him that gave himfelf for us, is the condition of justification. That is its proper place.

I am justified through the righteousness of Christ, as the price; through faith as the condition. I do not fay, neither does Goodwin, faith is that, for which we are accepted. But we both fay. Faith is that, through which we are accepted. We are justified, we are accepted of God, for the fake of Chrift, through faith Now certainly there is no contradiction in this; unless a contradiction to Mr. H.'s notions.

55. Although we have faith, hope and love, yet | condition of justification, we must renounce the merit of all, as far too weak to deferve our justification; for which we | we confound the conditimust trust only to the werits of Chrift,

That which is the is not the righteouinels of Chrift.

Most true; otherwise on with the meritorious caufe, fpoke of in the oppolite column.

Digitized by GOOGLC

(24)

XI.

Juftification by faith alone is Articulus flantis vel cadentis ecclefiæ. All who do not hold it muft perifh everlaftingly.

56. Of this may be affirmed, (what Luther affirms of juftification by faith) that it is Articulus flantis vel-cadentis ecclesta, the pillar of that faith of which alone cometh falvation; that faith which unlefs a man keep whole and undefiled, without doubt he fhall perifh everlaftingly. Justification by faith alone is not Articulus ftantis vel cadentis ecclefiæ. Some may doubt of it, yea deny it, and yet not perifh everlastingly. 127-

A pious churchman who has not clear conceptions of juftification by faith, may be faved; yea, a myltic, (Mr. Law for inftance) who denies inftification by faith. If o, the doctrine of juftification by faith, is not Articulus flantis vel cadencies ecclefix.

It is certain, here is a feeming contradiction: but it is not a real one. For thele two oppolite propofitions, do not fpeak of the fame thing. The latter fpeaks of juftification by faith: the former of, trujting in the righteoufnels or merits of Chrift: (Juftification by faith is only mentioned incidentally in a parenthefis.) Now although Mr. Law denied juftification by faith, he might truft in the merits of Chrift. It is this, and this only that I affirm, (whatever Luther does,) to be Articulus flantis vel cadentis ecclefix. XII.

Mr. W. is a Calvinift in the point of Justification.

57. I think on Justification just as I have done these feven and twenty years, and just as Mr. Calvin does Mr. W. has leaned too much toward Calvinifm in this point.

We have leaned to much toward Calvinifm. p. 141.

But not in this point : Not as to Justification by faith.

We

We fill agree with him, that the merits of Chrift are the caufe, faith the condition of Juftification.

58. I have occasionally used those expressions, imputed Righteousness, the Righteousness of Christ and the like. But I never used them in any other sense than that wherein Mr. C. does.

59. Mr. W. does approve the expression why me?

My Brother uses it in an Hymn. Goodwin. Nothing.

Mr. W. does not approve the expression why me?

Mr. F. fays, Mr. W. doubts concerning it. p. 140.

This proof halts on both feet. "But why did not Mr. W. ftrike out of Mr. F's. Manufcript, the expressions concerning himself?" Because he thought them a proper counter-ballance to the contumelious expressions of Mr. H.

XIV.

Our fin is imputed to Chrift, and Chrift's righteoufnefs to us. 60. > Chriftian Library.

61. S Nothing.

XV. Both Adam's fin and Chrift's righteoulnels are imputed. p. 131. XV. Neither Adam's fin nor Chrift's righteoulnels is imputed.

63. Nothing against nothing.

In what fense I believe the Christian Library to be all true, I have declared above.

XVI.

Mr. W. holds Freewill. Mr. W. wonders how any man can hold Freewill.

64. Mr.

Mr. W. denies it. 64. Mr. F. holds Freewill.

This may prove, that Mr. W. contradicts Mr. F. but it can never prove that he contradicts himfelf. But indeed both Mr. F. and Mr. W. abfolutely deny Natural Free-will. We both fteddily affert, that the will of man is by nature free only to evil. Yet we both believe. That every man has a measure of Free-will reftored to him by Grace.

XVII.

Merit.

65. We are rewarded according to our works, yea, becaufe of ourworks. How does this differ from for the fake of our works? And how differs this from Secundummerita operum, or as our works deferve? Can you fplit this hair? I doubt, I cannot "-----I fay fo ftill. Let Mr. H. if he can.

For the doctrine of | Against the doctrine of Merit.

> And yet I still maintain, "There is no merit, taking the word ftriftly, but in the blood of Chrift: That falvation is not by the merit of works. And that there is nothing we are, or have, or do. which can, ftriftly fpeaking deferve the leaft thing at God's hand.

And all this is no more than to fay, Take the word Merit in a strict fense, and I utterly renounce Take it in a loofer fense, and tho' I never use it, it. yet I do not condemn it. Therefore with regard to the word Merit, I do not contradict myfelf at all.

XVIII.

Against a fingle Life.

For a fingle Life. 66. Mr. W. fays his , thoughts on a fingle life, | are just the fame they have been these thirty years.

Why then did Mr. W. marry? --- For reafons beft known to himfelf. p. 136

we

I advise fingle perfons 67. He advises, that

Digitized by GOOGLE

we fhould pray against | to pray, " That they may marriage. prize the advantages they erjoy."

Be this right or wrong, still here is no contradiction.

XIX.

For gay Apparel. 68. To make it a point do) in the fhape or colour | of their apparel is mere fuperfition.

5

ţ

5 1

Against gay Apparel. Let a fingle intention of conference to differ from to please God preferibe others (as the Quakers | both what cloathing you fhould buy, and the manner wherein it fhall bemade. und.

> Wear nothing of a glaring colour. or made in the very height of the failtion.

So I advife : but I do not make it a point of confcience. So here is no contradiction still.

XX.

Against Tea. 69. Mr. W. published a tract against drinking | ample for twelve years tea, and told the teadrinkers he would fet them an example in that piece of felf-denial.

But must not a man he fadly in want of argument, who floops to low as this?

XXI.

For Baptifm by fprinkling.

70. As there is no clear proof of Dipping in | tized Mrs. L. S. he held fcripture, fo there i ve- | her fo long under water, ry probable proof to the that her friends screamed contrary.

For Tea.

I did fet them an ex-Then at the close of a confumption. bν Dr. Fotherg. U's direction, I ufed it again.

| Againft Baptifm by fprinkling.

When Mr. W. bapout, thinking fhe had been drowned.

C₂

71. Chrift

71. Chrift no where, as far as I can find, re- | Savannah baptize all chilquires dipping, but only | dren by immersion. unbaptizing; which word lefs the parents certified, fignifies to pour on, or | they were weak? prinkle, as well as to dip. fcruple, but in obedience to the Rubric. So here. is no felf inconfiftency.

XXII.

Mr. W. never adopted Mr. W. highly appro-Mr. Law's scheme. ved of Mr. Law.

These propositions are not contradictory. I might highly approve of him and yet not adopt his fcheme. How will Mr. H. prove that I did? Or that I contradict myfelf on this head? Why thus.

72. I had been eight years at Oxford, before I | in the nature of Chriftiread any of Mr. Law's And when I writings. did. I was fo far from | making them my creed, | Chriftian Perfection. that I had objections to | did fo. almost every page. 185.

To instruct a perfon anity, I fixed an hour a day, to read with her in Mr. Law's treatife I And an excelp. | lent book it is, though liable to many chiections.

When? Where? I never heard of it before.

Why then did you at

Not becaufe I had any

Another little 73. company of us met : we fung, read a little of Mr. Law, and then converfed.

True: But neither does this prove that I adopted his fcheme.

73. I believe the myf-I retract this. It is tic writers, to be one far too ftrong. But obgreat Antichrift. ferve! I never contradieted it till now.

74. Mr. F. affirms So-I do not. I affirm no

lomon

tics: and Mr. W. acquiefces in the affirmation.

٢

lomon is the chief of myf-tics: and Mr. W. acquie-all Mr. H. builds upon this, is only a caftle in the air.

XXIII.

Enoch and Elijah are in | Enoch and Elijah are not in heaven. heaven.

75. Enoch and Elijah Enoch and Elijah are entered at once into the | not in heaven, but only higheft degree of glory. [in paradife. p. 138.

Notes on the New Testament, John iii. 13, first edition.

But why is Mr. H: fo careful to name the first edition? Because in the second the mistake is corrected. Did he know this? And could he avail. himfelf of a miftake, which he knew was removed. before he wrote !

XXIV.

For finless perfection. | Against finless perfection.

Upon this head Mr. H. employs his whole ftrength. I will therefore the more carefully. weigh what he advances: only premifing before I descend to particulars, two general observations.

1. Out of the twenty five passages cited for Perfection, feventeen are taken from my brother's hymns. These therefore strike wide. Whatever they prove, they cannot prove, that I contradict myfelf.

2: Out of the twenty five cited against perfection, fourteen are cited from the fermon on Sin in believers. Do I mean in fuch believers as are perfected in love? Mr. H. himfelf knows, I do not. Why then every one of these fourteen arguments, is an abuse both upon me and his readers. It is the most egregious trifling that can be conceived. I affirm, "Thole perfected in love, are faved from inward fin." To. prove I contradict myself herein, fourteen passages C 3 are.

are alledged, wherein I affirm, "We are not faved from inward fin, till we are perfected in love !"

g. The fame fallacy is uled, in every inftance. when fome of my words are fet in oppolition to others. The fum is, (weak) believers, babes in Chrift, are not; adult believers, are faved from inward fin. And I still aver, there is no contradiction in this, if I know what a contradiction means.

Now to the proofs.

76. The Son hath | They are fensible of made them who are thus pride remaining in their born of God, free from hearts. pride.

They? Who? Not those who are thus born of God, who are perfected in love.

77. From the iniquity of pride, and felf, I shall | daily sensible of pride be free.

That is, when I am perfected in love.

78. They are freed from wandrings in prayer.

79. Chriftians are faved from all fin, from all unrighteoufnefs.

80. They (adult Chrif tians) are freed from all all evil thoughts and evil tempers.

81. They (fathers in Chrift) are freed from evil thoughts.

82. Chrift was free from finful thoughts. So are they likewife (adult believers .

God's children are and felfwill. Till they are perfected in love.

Is this fpoken of all believers? Mr. H. knows it is not.

True, adult Christians.

The (infant) children of God have in them fin of every kind.

The evil nature oppofes the Spirit even in believers; till they are fathers in Chrift.

This doctrine, (that all believers are thus free) is wholly new.

83. I believe, some Believers are confeiwonld

Digitized by GOOGLC

of Love."

would fay, "We truft | ous of not fulfilling the we do keep the whole Law whole Law of Love: Not till they are perfected in love.

The reader will pleafe to remember all along, the queftion is not. Whether the Dectrine be right or wrong: (that has been elfewhere confidered) but whether I contradict myself? Upwards of fourfcore witneffes have been already examined on this head: but no contradiction is proved yet.

84. Some do love God with all their heart and ftrength.

85. From that hour, indwelling fin, thou haft no place in me.

86. A finles life we live.

87. While one evil thought can rife, I am not born again.

They (weak) believers do not love God with all their heart and ftrength.

Believers are not delivered from the being of fin, till that hour.

Chriftian Lib. Nothing.

My brother faid fo once: I never did.

In the note annext there are many miftakes. 1. " The author of this hymn did not allow any one to be a believer, even in the loweft fenfe, while he found the least ftirring of fin." He did: but he took the word born again in too high a fenfe. 2. Yet " he supposes the most advanced believers are deeply fenfible of their impurity." He does not : Neither he nor I suppose any such thing. g. " He tells us in his note on Eph. vi. 13. the war is perpetual." True : the war with principalities and powers ; but not that with flesh and blood. 4. So you cannot reply, " Mr. W. Jpeaks of believers of different stature." Indeed I can: and the forgetting this is the main caufe of Mr. H.'s ftumbling at every ftep. 5. " The polition, that (any believers are totally free from fin, is diametrically opposite to Calvinism " This is no mistake. Therefore most Calvinists hate it with a perfect hatred. 6. " Many of the groffeft of thefe these contradictions, were published nearly at the fame time: and probably Mr. W. was the fame day correcting the prefs, both for and againft Sinle's Perfection." An ingenious thought! But as to the truth, or even probability of it, I cannot fay much. 7. "These hymns contain the joint fentiments of of Mr. John and Mr. Charles Westery." Not always: fo that if fome of them contradict others, it does not prove, that I contradict myfelf.

i

p
88. Chrift in a pure	There are still two and finlefs heart.	contrary principles in
5 5	believers, Nature and Grace. True, till they
•	are perfect in love.
89. Quite expell the	That there is no fin in
carnal mind.	a (weak) believer, no
•	carnil mind, is contrary to the word of God.
90. From every evil mo-	How naturally do men tion freed.	think, fin has no motion;
,	therefore it has no being?
But how does this p	rove, that I contradict
myfelf?	,
	These are two of my
is o'er.	brother's expressions,
92. I wrestle not now.	which I do not fub-
ga. 2 2	fcribe to.
on. God is thine : dif-

93. God is thine: dildain to fear the enemy against the enemy within.

Are these lines cited as implying, the enemy was not within? Most unhappily. They mean, the enemy which is within. For the very next words, which Mr. H. himself cited but the page before, are,

God fhall in thy flefh appear, And make an end of fin.

Digitized by Google

93. We

94. We wreftle not with flefh and blood, when we are grown up in Chrift.

No contradiction yet.

97. Sin shall not in our fleih remain.

96. I cannot rest if fin in me remains.

97.

98. > My brother's.

90.)

100. " Do not the beft of men fay, We groan being burdened, with the workings of inbred corruption?" This is not the meaning of the text: the whole context flews, the caufe of that groaning was, their longing to be with Chrift.

101. Nor does he that is born of God, fin by infirmities; for his infirmities have no concurrence i of his will. And without this, they are not pro- | fins; as being (involunperly fins: that is, they | tary) transgreffions of the are not voluntary tranfgreffions of a known law.

We wrefile both with flesh and blood, and with principalites; while we are babes in Chrift.

Still he (the babe in Chrift) feels the remains of the old man.

Sin remains in them ftill: in all weak believers.

We groan being burdened with numberless infirmities, temptations, and fins. This is wrong. It is not the meaning of the text. I will put it out, if I live to print another edition. So juft one fhot in an hundred has hit the mark.

Many infirmities remain, whereby we are daily fubjet to what are called fins of infirmity. And they are in fome fenfe perfect law.

I see no contradiction here : but if there was, it ought not to have been mentioned. It could not, by any generous writer; fince Mr. Hill himfelf teltifies, it was expunged before he mentioned it ! But suppose it stood as at first, I flatly deny, that it is any contradiction at all. These infirmities may be in fome fenfe fins; and yet not properly fo: that is, fins in an unproper, but not in the proper fenfe of the word.

ia

13. But " Mr. W. has not yet determined, whether fins of furprize bring the foul under condemnation or not. in. However it were to be wished, that fins of furprize and fins of infirmity too were to be declared mortal at the next Conference; fince feveral perfons, who pretend to reverence Mr. W. not only fall into outrageous paffions, but cozen and over-reach their neighbours; and call these things little, innocent infirmities. Reader, weigh well those words of Mr. W. "We cannot fav, either that men are or are not condemned for fins of furprize " And yet immediately before he calls them tronfgreffions, as here he calls them fins. Strange Divinity this, for one who for near forty years paft has profeffed to believe and teach, that fin is the tranfgreffion of the law, and that the wages of fin is death." He then brings three inftances of fins of furprize (over and above cozening and over-reaching) drunkennefs, formication, and fiving into a paffion and knocking aman down: and concludes, "Mr. W. had better fleep quietly, than rife from his own pillew, in order to lull his hearers afleep, upon the pillow of falle fecurity, by speaking in so flight a manner of sin, and making the breach of God's holy law a mere nothing."

14. This is a Charge indeed! And it is perfettly new: I believe it was never advanced before. It will not therefore be improper to give it a thorough examination. It is founded on fome paffages in the Sermon on Rom. viii. 1. There is therefore no condemnation to them that are in Chrift Jefus. who walk not after the fleft, but after the Spirit. In order to give a clear view of the doctrine therein delivered, I muft extract the fum of the fermon.

I fhew, I. Who are those that are in Christ Jefus: "Those who are joined to the Lord in one spirit, who who dwell in Chrift and Chrift in them.—And whofoever abideth in him, finneth not, walketh not after the flefh, that is, corrupt nature. These abstain from every design, and word, and work, to which the corruption of nature leads. (p. 145.) They walk after the Spirit both in their hearts and lives. By him they are led into every holy desire, into every divine and heavenly temper, till every thought of their heart is holines to the Lord.

"They are also led by him into all holinefs of converfation. They excretife themfelves day and night, to do only the things which pleafe God: in all their outward behaviour, to follow him, who left us an example, that we might tread in his fleps: in all their intercourfe with their neighbour, to walk in justice, mercy, and truth; and whatfoever they do, in every circumftance of life, to do all to the glory of God." p. 216.

Is here any room for "cozening and over reaching?" For "flying into outrageous paffions?" Does this give any countenance, for "knocking men down?" For "drunkennels, or fornication?"

But let us go on to the IId head. "To whom is there no condemnation? To believers in Chrift, who thus walk after the Spirit, there is no condemnation for their paft fins. (p. 127.) Neither for prefent, for now transgreffing the commandments of God: for they do not transgrefs them. This is the proof of their love of God, that they keep his commandments. (p. 148.) They are not condemned, 3. for inward fin, fo long as they do not yield thereto; fo long as they maintain a continual war with all fin, with pride, anger, defire, fo that the fleft hath no dominion over them, but they fill walk after the Spirit." (p. 150.) Is any encouragement given here to cozeners or whoremongers?

It follows, "They are not condemned for fins of infirmity, as they are ufually called (perhaps it were adviseable rather to call them infirmities, that we may not not feem to give any countenance to fin, or to extenuate it in any degree, by thus coupling it with infirmity. But if we muft ufe fuch an ambiguous and dangerous an expreffion) by fins of infirmity I would mean fuch involuntary failings, as the faying a thing we believe true, though in fact it prove to be falle; or the hurting our neighbour, without knowing or defigning it; perhaps when we defigned to do him good." p. 151.

3

ù

What pretence has Mr. H. from these words, to flourish away upon my "frange divinity?" and to represent them, as giving men a handle, to term gross fins innocent infirmities?

But now comes the main point. " It is more difficult to determine, concerning those which are usually filed fins of furprize. (p. 152.) As when one who commonly in his patience possible files his foul, on a sudden or violent temptation, speaks or acts in a manner not consistent with the royal law of Love." (For inflance. You have the gout. A careles man treads on your foot. You violently puss him away, and it may be cry out, "Get away: get you out of my sight.") "Perhaps it is not easy, to fix a general rule concerning transgreffions of this nature. We cannot fay, either that men are, or that they are not condemned, for fins of furprize in general." p. 153.

"Reader, fays Mr. H. let me beg thee to weigh well, the foregoing words." I fay to too. "But it feems, whenever a believer is overtaken in a fault, there is more or lefs condemnation, as there is more or lefs concurrence of his will – Therefore fome fins of furprize bring much guilt and condemnation. For in fome inftances our being furprized may be owing to fome culpable neglect, or to a fleepinefs of foul, which might have been prevented, or fhaken off, before the temptation came. The falling even by furprize in fuch an inftance exposes exposes the finner to condemnation both from God and his own conficience.

Digitized by Google

"On the other hand, there may be fudden affaults, which he hardly could forefee, by which he may be borne down, fuppofe into a degree of anger, or thinking evil of another, with fcarce any concurrence of the will. Now in fuch a cafe the jealous God would undoubtedly fhew him, that he had done foolifhly. He would be convinced of having fwerved from the perfect law, and confequently grieved with a godly forrow, and lovingly afhamed before God. Yet need he not come into condemnation. In the midft of that forrow and fhame, he can ftill fay, The Lord is my ftrength and my fong: he is alfo become my falvation." p. 154.

Now what can any impartial perfon think of Mr. H.'s eloquence on this head? What a reprefentation has he given of my doctrine, with regard to infirmities and fins of furprize? Was ever any thing more unjust? Was ever any thing more cruel? Do I here " lull my readers afleep on the pillow of falfe fecurity?" Do I " fpeak in a light manner of fin?" Or " make the breach of God's holy law a mere nothing ?" What excufe can be made for pouring out all this flood of calumny? Can any thing be termed bearing falfe witnefs against our neighbour, if this is not? Am I indeed a loofe cafuift? Do any of my writings give countenance to fin? Not Io : God knows, Mr. Hill knows, Mr. Romaine (who corrected this tract) knows it well. So does Mr. Madan: Yea fo do all who read what I write. unlefs they wilfully fhut their eyes.

15. "Thus have I at length, fays Mr. H. brought this extraordinary Farrago to a conclusion. Not because I could not have found many more inconsistencies." 142. Yes, another hundred, such as these. But see a group of them at once! "His Extract from Bishop Beveridge, is flatly contradicted in his Edition of John Goodwin. Again, Goodwin is flatly contradicted, by his Sermon on The Lord our Righteoufnefs. This Sermon is contradicted in his Prefervative against unsettled Notions in Religion. This Prefervative is itself contradicted, by his Abstract from Dr. Prefton. This Abstract is itself contradicted, by his edition of Baxter's Aphorifms. And these are flatly contradicted, by his Extract from Bishop Beveridge. And this is again flatly contradicted, by his own Thoughts on Imputed Righteoufnefs. Thus the wheel runs round !" Thus Mr. H.'s head runs round, with more hafte than good fpeed. (If this curious paragraph be not rather, as I fuspect, supplied by another hand; even as Sternhold's Pfalms are now and then eked out, by N. N. or William Wildom.) He forgets, that generals prove nothing;. and that he has fadly failed in his particular charges: just an hundred out of an hundred and one, having proved void. So that now I have full right to fay, "Whence arifes this charge of inconfiftency and felf-contradiction? Merely from ftraining, winding to and fro, and difforting a few innocent words. For wherein have I contradicted myfelf, taking words in their unforced, natural construction, in any one refpect with regard to justification, fince. the year 1738?"

16. But Mr. H.'s head is fo full of my felf-inconfiftency, that he ftill blunders on. "Mr. W.'s wavering difposition, is not an affair of yesterday. Mr. Delamotte spake to him on this head, more than thirty years ago." p. 143. He never spake to me on this head at all. Ask him. He is still alive. "He has been tost from one system to another, from the time of his ordination to the present moment." Nothing can be more falle; as not only my journals, but all my writings tessify. "And he himself cannot but acknowledge, that both his friends and foes have accused him of his unsettled principles in religion." Here is artifice! Would any man living, who does not know the fact, suppose that a gentleman gentleman would face a man down, in so peremptory a manner, unlefs the thing were abfolutely true? And yet it is quite the reverfe. " He himfelf cannot but acknowledge"- I acknowledge no fuch thing. My friends have oftner acculed me of being too fliff in my opinions, than too flexible. My enemies have accufed me of both; and of every thing belides. The truth is, From the year 1725 I faw more and more of the nature of inward religion, chiefly by reading the writings of Mr. Law, and a few other mystic writers. Yet I never was " in the way of myflicifm" at all: this is another mistake. Although I did not clearly fee, that we are faved by faith, till the year 1738, I then published the fermon on Salvation by Faith, every fentence of which I fubscribe to now.

17. But he was " too fcrupulous about using the word condition." (p. 143.) I was fo, till I was convinced by Dr. Church, that it was a very innocent word, and one that none of the reformers, English or Foreign, objected to. All this time I leaned towards Calvinifm, though more in expression than fentiment. " And now he fairly gives up the neceffity of a clear belief of justification by faith alone!" That is, I fay, A man may be faved, who is not clear in his judgment concerning it. I do: I dare not " rank Mr. Law, and all his admirers, among the hofts of Diabolonians." Nay more: " I have proved, that he makes man's rightcoulnels the procuring caufe of his acceptance with God, and his falvation, from first to last, to depend upon the intrinsic merit of his own unaffisted works." p. 144. . I think, Mr. H. " is now got to his ne plus ultra :" unless he has a mind to prove, that Mr. W. is an horfe.

18. " I expect you will tell me, that I have expofed Mr. W. particularly in the foregoing Contraft. That Mr. W. is exposed, I allow; but that I have exposed him, I deny." Who was it then? Why, " ont

Da

" out of his own mouth all that I have brought against him proceeds."

Not fo. All that I have wrote (except one fentence out of an hundred and one) is well conlistent with itfelf, provided the words be taken in their plain, natural fenfe, and one part of them in connexion with the other. But whoever will use Mr. H.'s art of twifting and torturing words, may make them fay any thing, and extract Pelagianism, Arianifm, or any thing he pleafes, out of any thing that can be fpoken. By this art he that cries out against Mr. F.'s art, has found, that is, created above an hundred contradictions in my works, and " could find abundance more." Ay. five hundred : Under his forming hand, contradictions fpring up as quick as mushrooms. And he that reads only (as is the manner of a thousand readers) the running title at the top of each page,

For Election.

For Sinless Perfection.

Against Election.

Against Sinless Perfection.

For Imputed Righteoufnels. Againft Imputed Righteoufnels.

And fo on; will readily fay, "What a heap of contradictions, flat, palpable contradictions is here?" Here! Where? "Why, at the top of every page." True; and there lies the ftrength of the caufe. The propolitions themfelves are plain enough: but neither Mr. H. nor any man living can prove them.

19. But if fo, if all this laboured Contraft, be only the work of a creative imagination, what has Mr. H. the cat's-paw of a party, been doing all this time? Has he not been abundantly doing evil, that good might come, that the Dear Decree of Reprobation might ftand? Has he not been faying all manner of evil fallely, pouring out flander like water, a firft, a fecond, a third time, againft one that never willingly lingly offended him? And what recompence can he make (be his opinions right or wrong) for having fo deeply injured me, without any regard either to mercy or truth? If he (not I myfelf) has indeed exposed me in so unjust and inhuman a manner, what amends can he make, as a chriftian and a gentleman, to God, to me, or to the world? Can he gather up the foul, poifonous water, which he has fo abundantly poured out? If he still infists, he has done me no wrong, he has only spoken the truth in love: If he is refolved at all hazards to fight it out, I will meet him on his own ground. Waving all things elfe, I fix on this point, " Is that fcurrilous hotch-potch, which he calls a Farrago, true or false ?" Will he defend or retract it ? An hundred . and one propositions are produced as mine, which are affirmed to contradict other propolitions of mine. Do I in these hundred and one instances, contradict myfelf, or do I not? Observe: the question is, Whether I contradict myfelf? Not whether I contradict some body elfe : be it Mr. Baxter, Goodwin. Fletcher; the Christian Library; or even my own Brother. These are not myself. " Nay, but you have published them." If I publish them ten times over, still they are not myfelf. I infift upon it, that no man's words but my own can ever prove, that I contradict myfelf. Now, if Mr. H. fcorns to yield. let him fall to work, and prove by my own words, That I contradict myfelf (that is the prefent queftion) in these hundred instances. If he can prove this, 1 am a Blunderer; I must plead guilty to the charge. If he cannot, he is one of the most cruel and inhuman Slanderers, that ever fet pen to paper.

20. I blefs God, that the words cited from the Sermon on Catholic Spirit, do quite " come to myfelf:" Not indeed as I am painted by Mr. H. but as I really am. From the year 1738, I have not been " unfettled as to any fundamental doctrine of the golpel." No, not in one: I am as clear of this charge, as of that wonderful one advanced in the note, p. 146. " Though this Sermon be intitled, Catholic Spirit, yet it inculcates an attendance upon one only Congregation : In other words, Hear me, and those I fend out, and no body elfe." Mr. H. himfelf knows better: He knows I advise all of the church, to hear the parifh minister. I do not advife, even diffenters of any kind, not to hear their own teachers. But I advife all, Do not heap to yourfelves preachers, having itching ears. Do not run hither and thither to hear every new thing; elfe you will be established in nothing. " However it is by ftratagems of this fort, that he holds fo many fouls in his fhackles, and prevents them from coming to the knowledge of all the glorious truths of the Gofpel."

Dg

Observe, Gospel is with Mr. H. the same as Calvinifm. So where he says, "there is no Gospel," he means no Predestination. By the same figure of speech, some of his admirers use to say, "there is no honey in the book." Here lies the core: this is the wrong, for which the bigots of this gospel will never forgive me. And all those are such, who "rank all election doubters among Diabolonians." Such is Mr. H. a bigot in grain, while he fets his hand to that gentle fentence. Nay further says he, "I cannot help informing my readers," (no, if he did, he muss burst) "that in the Life of Mr. Philip Henry, published in his Christian Library, he has artfully left out Mr. Henry's Confession of Faith." Artfully I No; Honefily; according to the open profession in the Preface cited before.

21. Yet Mr. H. this Mr. H. fays to Mr. Fl. "Suffer not bitter words and calumnious exprefions to difguife themfelves under the appearance of plainnels." p. 147. Bitter words! Can Mr. H. imagine there is any harm in these? Mr. H. that cites the judicious 3

6

ĩ

Ġ

3

ł

judicious Mr. Toplady! That admires the famous Eleven Letters, which are bitternefs double diffilled! Which overflow with little elfe but calumnious expreffions, from the beginning to the end! Mr. H. that himfelf wrote the Review, and the Farrago! And does he complain of Mr. Fl.'s bitternefs? Why, he may be a little bitter; but not Mr. F. Altering the perfort alters the thing! " If it was your bulk that gored mine, fays the judge in the fable, that is another cafe !" 22. Two objections to my perforal conduct, I have now briefly to confider. 1. " Mr. W. embraced Mr. Shirley as a friend at the Conference, and then directly went out, to give the fignal for war." p. 150. This is partly true. It is true, that although I was not ignorant of his having deeply injured me, yet I freely forgave him at the Conference, and again "embraced him as a friend." But it is not true, that I " directly went out, to give the fignal for war." " Nay, why elfe did you confent to the publishing of Mr. F.'s letters?" Because I judged it would be an effectual means of undoing the mischief which Mr. S. had done. Not that I am now forry (though I was) for what he has done, for his publication of that bitter circular letter. For I now clearly difcern the hand of God. throughout that whole affair. Both my Brother and I still indulged the fond hope, of living in peace with our warm Calvinist brethren : But we now give it up; our eyes are open; we fee what we have to expect, We look for neither mercy nor justice at their hands: If we find any, it will be clear gains.

23. The fecond objection is, "Mr. W. acknowledged the unguarded manner in which the Minutes were drawn up: and yet immediately after defended them." I answer, How did I " acknowledge the unguarded manner?" The plain case was this. I seek peace, and would do any thing for it, which I can was, that when Mr. S. read over his Declaration, (I fay his; for it was he drew it up, not I) and afked, If we agreed thereto? I was heartily defirous to agree with him as far as possible. In order to this, after altering fome words, I afked our Brethren, If they were willing to fign it? One immediately faid, " The Minutes are not unguarded; they are guarded enough." I faid, They are guarded enough for you; but not for those who feek occafion against us. And observe, it is only in this fense, that I subscribed to that expression. But I will not affirm, that my love of peace did not carry me a little too far. I know not but it would have been better, not to have figned the paper at all.

(44)

24. So much for the Minutes. Perhaps it may be expected, that I should also take some notice of what Mr. H. fays concerning Perfection. All his arguments indeed, and ten times more, I have anfwered over and over. But if it is required, I will answer once more : only premising, By that Perfection, to which St. Paul directs Mr. H. and me to go on, Heb. vi. 1. I understand neither more nor less. than what St. John terms Perfect Love, 1 John iv. 18. and our Lord, Loving the Lord our God with all our heart, and mind, and foul, and ftrength. If you chuse to call this finful perfection, (rather than finlefs) you have my free leave.

Mr. H.'s main argument against this is, that " it is a popish doctrine." How does this appear? "O, Luther fays fo." p. 25. This will not do: it is only fecond hand evidence. " It crept into the church first in the fifth century, and has been fince almost generally received in the church of Rome." p. 49. How is this proved? Either that the doctrine of Perfect Love crept first into the church in the fifth century? Or, that it has been fince almost generally received in the church of Rome? Why, "We may may very readily perceive this, by the following extract from Bifhop Cowper." I answer, 1. This is but fecond-hand evidence ftill. 2. It is wide of the mark. For this whole extract fays not a word about the church of Rome. It contains only a few citations from St. Augustin and St. Bernard, foreign to the prefent question; and one from St. Ambrose, if it be possible, more foreign ftill. None of these touch either of the points in question, "This doctrine crept into the church in the fifth century:" Or, "It has been (ever) fince almost generally received in the church of Rome."

1.1.サンド語

Here I must beg leave to put Mr. H. in mind of one flated rule in controversy. We are to take no authorities at fecond hand, but always secure to the originals. Confequently, words of St. Bernard, or twenty faints more, copied from Bishop Cowper, prove just nothing. Before we can urge the authority of St. Bernard or Ambrofe, we must conful the authors themselves, and tell our readers, what edition we use, with the page where the words are found: Otherwise they cannot form a judgment either of the fairness of the quotation, or of the fense and weight of it.

Hitherto then we have not one tittle of proof, that this is a popifi doctrine; that it ever was, or is now, " almost generally received in the church of Rome :" (although if it had, this would be no conclusive argument against it : as neither is it conclufive against the doctrine of the bleffed Trinity:) I do not know that it ever was: But this I know; it has been folemnly condemned by the church of Rome. It has been condemned by the Pope and his whole conclave, even in this prefent century. In the famous bull Unigenitus, (fo called from the first words, Unigenitus Dei filius) they utterly condemn the uninterrupted act (of faith and love, which fome then talked of, of continually rejoicing, praying, and giving giving thanks) as dreadful herefy / Now in what public act of the church of Rome, is the doctrine of Perfection maintained? Till this is produced, I pray let us hear no more, that Perfection is a popifh doctrine.

25. However " the diffinction between fins and innocent infirmities is derived from the Romish church." p. 56. How does this appear? Thus. " Two of her devoted champions, Lindenus and Andradius, diftinguish between infirmities and fins." Lindenus and Andradius / Who are they? From what country did they come? I do not know the men. One of them, for ought I know, might ferve as an interpreter at the council of Trent. What then? Was he an authorized interpreter of the doctrines of the church? Nay, and how do you know, that they did speak of little, trifling faults, or of minute and trivial fins? Did you ever read them? Pray, what edition of their works do you use? And in what page do thefe words occur? Till we know this, that there may be an opportunity of examining the books, (though I fear fcarce worth examining) it is doing too much honour to fuch quotations, to take any notice of them at all.

26. Well, now for the bufkins! Now Spirat tragicum fatis ! " And this is the doctrine, which is preached to more than thirty thousand fouls, of Then I am fure, it which Mr. W. has the charge. is high time, that not only the calvinist ministers, but all that wift well to the interests of protestantism" (fo Mr. S. faid before) " fhould in a body proteft against fuch licentious tenets." Blow ye the trumpet in Sion ! Gird on your armour ! Make ye vourfelves ready for battle! Again the trumpet founds: A crufade! An holy war! Down with the heretics! But hold! What fpirit are you of? Are you followers of peace? Then bring forth your ftrong reafons: Speak the truth in love, and we are ready to meet meet you. But really all this talk of my licentious doctrine, is a mere copy of Mr. H.'s countenance. He knows, and all in England know, (whoever have heard my name) that it is not too loofe, but too ftrict doctrine I am conftantly accufed of. Therefore all this blufter, about "my fuperfeding the law," has not only no truth, but no colour, no plaufibility. And when Mr. H. calls fo gravely for Dr. Crifp, to "fweep away all my Antinomian rubbifh," fhall we laugh or weep?

1

Cuivis facilis rigidi cenfura cachinni. Rather let us drop a tear on human infirmity.

27. So much for the first grand argument against Perfection, That it is generally received in the church of Rome. The fecond is, "It was generally received among the ranting Anabaptists in Germany." p. 49. What author of note testifies this? I allow no fecond-hand authority; but defire to know, what German historian of credit has recorded it? And in what page of his works? When this is afcertained, then we may observe, it proves just nothing.

A third argument againft Perfection is, that "it was maintained by many wild Ranters in London." Wild enough! Although no ftrefs is to be laid on Mr. H.'s informations concerning them; fome of which are altogether falfe, and the reft imperfect enough. But fuppole they were all true, what would follow? Many hearers abufing the doctrines I teach, no more prove that those doctrines are falfe, than the German Ranters proved that Luther's were fo.

28. Is it another argument, that "the monftrous doctrine of Perfection turns fome of its deluded votaries into monfters? p. 44. This may be proved from the cafes of Bell and Harris; the former of whom prophefied, that the world would be at an endthe laft of February; the latter was feized with raging raging madnefs, and died blafpheming in a most dreadful manner."

It would be ftrange, if George Bell were not brought upon the ftage, as he has been an hundred times over. As for poor Benjamin Harris, I believe, as a punifhment for his pride and uncharitablenefs, God permitted him to be ftruck in an inftant with diabolical madnefs. But it did not continue to his death: He did not die blafpheming. I faw him myfelf quiet and compofed: and he calmly delivered up his foul to God.

See another inftance. "A friend of mine lately informed me, that an eminent Preacher of Perfection told him, that he had not finned for fome years, and that the Holy Ghoft had defcended and fat on him and many others in a vifible manner, as he did upon the apoltles on the day of Pentecoft." Pleafe to name the man : otherwife an hundred fuch tales will weigh nothing with men of fense and candor.

Behold a fourth. " Laft year I myfelf converfed with a gentlewoman of fuch high Perfection, that fhe faid, No man could teach her any thing, and went to no place of worfhip for years together : However fhe was a fcold, and beat her maid." Perhaps fo. And what is that to me? If fhe is a member of our Society, tell me her name; and fhe will be in it no longer. This is our glorying. It muft be, that many members of our Society will from time to time grow weary of well-doing: yea, that fome will fall into fin. But as foon as this appears, they have no more place among us. We regard no man's perfon, high or low, rich or poor. A diforderly walker cannot continue with us.

Again. "One told God in prayer, that fhe was perfect, as God himself was perfect." "Another prayed. Grant, O Lord, that all here prefent may be perfect as I am perfect." p. 45. Till you name the the r en, this too must go for nothing. But fuppofe it all true, what will it prove? Only that there are madmen in the world.

Digitized by Google

" I could also tell him of a woman, who was foperfect, that fhe tried to fin and could not." Pray name her.

" Mr. W. must also well remember a certain perfect married lady, who was got with child by a perfect preacher." I do not remember any fuch thing. I never heard of it before.

29. But "I hate, fays Mr. H. the law of retaliation."-Truly one would not have thought it.---" And would not have mentioned these things, but that you fet me the example," i. e. but by way of re-. taliation. " Should you doubt the truth of these inftances, I will lead you to the fountain-head of my intelligence." That will not do. In order to be even with Mr. F. you have told feven flocking ftories. Several of these I know to be false: I doubt if any, but that of George Bell, be true. And now you offer to " lead Mr. F. to the fountain-head of your intelligence !" Probably to one or two renegade Methodifts, who court the world, by flandering their brethren! " But Mr. W. adopts this way." No, never. In my lettento Mr. Hervey, I. occafionally name two famous men: but I do not flander them. In my Journals I name feveral others. This is above board: but Mr. H. flabs in the dark. He gives us no names, no places of abode; but cafts arrows and firebrands abroad. And let them light where they may, on guilty or guiltlefs: of that he takes no care.

go. It remains only, to confider the Queries, which Mr. H. addreffes directly to me.

1. " Did not you in administring the facrament, a few years ago to a perfect Society in West-Street Chapel, leave out the Confettion?"

Yes, and many times fince. When I am firaitoned for time, (as I generally am there, on a Monday)

ĸ day) I begin the communion-fervice at, "We de not prefume to come to this thy table." One Monday Mr. Madan defired to ftay. Here I fuppole, is "the fountain-head of this intelligence."

2. "Did not one of the Enthuliafts then fay, He had heard a voice telling him, He was all holinefs to the Lord?"

Poffibly fo: but I remember nothing of it.

3. " Did not a fecond declare the fame thing?" Not that I remember.

4. "Did not George Bell fay, He should never die?"

He often did, if not then.

5. " Did not one prefent confirm it?"

Not unlikely: but I do not remember it.

6. "Did not another perfect brother fay, He believed the Millennium was near: for there had been more conflubles fworn in that year than heretofore?"

Are you fure he was a perfect brother? i. e. One that profeffed to be? As for me, I can tay nothing about it. For I neither remember the man, nor the words.

"This I have put down verbatim from the mouth of a judicious friend then prefent: but from that time he has been heartily fick of finlefs perfection." Say, of perfect love.

Is it only from that time that Mr. Madan has been fick of it? Was he not fick of it before? And did he then, or at any time fince, fay one word to me, of any of these things? No, but he treasured them up for ten years, and then tells Mr. Hell, that he might tell them to all the world?

7. "Do not you know a clergyman, once clofely connected with you, who refuled a great witnels for perfection the factament, because he had been detected in bed with a perfect fifter?" No. I never "heard of it before. Surely Mr. M— d is not fallen so low, as to invent such a tale as this!

Л псе

Digitized by Google

I need not fay any thing to your last anecdote, fince you (for once!) " put a candid conftruction upon my words." If I did fpeak them, which I can neither affirin nor deny, undoubtedly my meaning was, (as yourfelf observe) " Though I have been holding forth the imputed righteousness of Chrift to a mixt congregation, yet I think it right to caution you of the Society, how you abufe that doctrine, which to fome, who turn it into licentioufness, is a smooth dectrine, of which you ought to beware." p. 61. But your friend, it feems, " who gave you this account," did not put fo candid a construction on my words. You fay, he " was fo ftruck, as hardly to refrain from speaking to you in the chapel. And from that hour he gave up all connections with you." i. e. He fought a pretence; and he found one!

And now what does all this amount to? Several perfons who professed high things, degenerated into pride and enthuliafm, and then talked like lunatics, about the time that they renounced connection with me, for mildly reproving them. And is this any objection against the existence of that love which they profeffed? Nay, and I verily believe once enjoyed, though they were afterward moved from their ftedfastnefs. Surely no more than a justified perfon's running mad, is an objection against justification. Every doctrine must stand or fall by the bible. If the Perfection I teach agree with this, it will ftand, fpite of all the enthuliafts in the world: If not, it cannot stand.

31. I now look back on a train of incidents that have occurred, for many months laft paft, and adore a wife and gracious Providence, ordering all things well ! When the Circular Letter was first difperfed. throughout Great-Britain and Ireland, I did not conceive the immenfe good, which God was about to bring out of that evil. But no fooner did Mr. F.'s E 2 firft first Letters appear, then the feene began to open. And the defign of Providence opened more and more, when Mr. S.'s Narrative, and Mr. H.'s Letters, confirained him to write and publish his Second and Third Check to Antinomianifin. lt was then indifputably clear, that neither my brother nor I had borne a fufficient teftimony to the truth. For many years, from a well-meant, but ill-judged tendernels, we had fuffered the Reprobation Freachers (vulgarly called Gofpel Preachers !) to forcad their poifon, almost without opposition. But at length they have awakened us out of fleep: Mr. H. has answered for all his brethren, roundly declaring, that " any agreement with election-doubters is a covenant with death." It is well : We are now forewarned and fore-armed. We look for neither peace nor truce, with any who do not ovenly and exprefsly renounce this diabolical fertiment. But lince God is on our fide, we will not fear what man can do unto us. We never before faw our wayclear, to do any more than act on the defensive. But fince the Circular Letter has founded the alarm. has called forth all their hofts to war: And fince Mr. H. has answered the call, drawing the fword, and throwing away the featbard : What remains, but to own the hand of God. and make a virtue of ncceflity? I will no more defire any Arminian, fo called, to remain only on the defensive. Rather chafe the fiend, Reprobation, to his own hell, and every destrine connected with it. Let none pity or fpare one limb of either fuecularive or practical Antinemianifm; or of any doftrine that naturally tends thereto, however veiled under the specious name of Free Grace Only remembering, that however we are treased by men, who have a diffenfation from the vulgar roles of justice and morey, we are not to fight them as their own weapors, to return railing for failing. Thefe who plead the caule of the the God of Love, are to imitate him they ferve: And however provoked, to use no other weapons than those of truth and love, of scripture and reafon.

32. Having now answered the Queries you propoled; fuffer me, Sir, to propole one to you: The fame which a gentleman of your own opinion propoled to me fome years fince. " Sir, how is it, that as foon as a man comes to the knowledge of the Truth, it fpoils his temper?" That it does to, I had observed over and over, as well as Mr. 7. had. But how can we account for it? Has the Truth (fo Mr. 7. termed what many love to term the doctrine of Free Grace) a natural tendency to fpoil the temper? To infpire pride, haughtiness, superciliousness? To make a man wifer in his own eyes, than feven men that can render a reafon? Does it naturally turn a man into a Cynic, a bear, a Toplady? Does it at once fet him free from all the reftraints of goodnature, decency, and good-manners? Cannot a man hold diffinguishing grace, as it is called, but he must diftinguish himself for passion, sources, bitternes? Muft a man, as foon as he looks upon himielf to be an abfolute favourite of Heaven, look upon all that oppose him as Diabalonians, as predefinated dogs of hell? Truly, the melancholy inftance now before us, would almost induce us to think fo. For whowas of a more amiable temper than Mr. Hill, a few years ago? When I first converted with him in London, I thought I had feldem feen a man of fortune, who appeared to be of a more humble, modeft, gentle, friendly difpolition. And vet this lame Mr. H. when he has once been grounded in the knowled be of the Truth, is of a temper as totally different from this, as light is from darknefs! He is now haughty. fupercilious, difdaining his opponents, as unworthy to be fet with the dogs of his flock! He 16

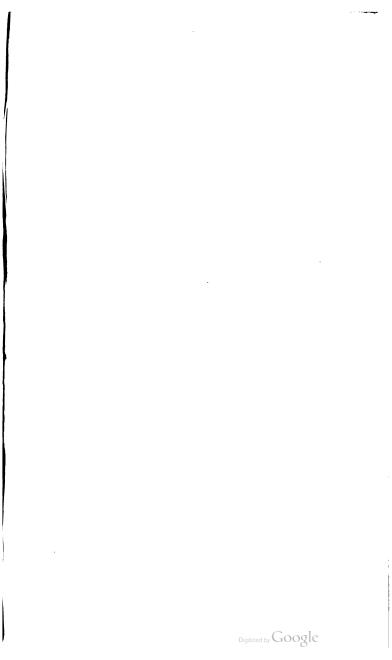

Digitized by Google

O Sir, what a commendation is this of your doctrine? Look at Mr. H. the Armanian! The loving, amiable, generous, friendly man. Look at Mr. H_{\star} the Calvinist ! Is it the fame perfon ? This spiteful, morofe, touchy man? Alas, what has the knowledge of the Truth done? What a deplorable change has it made? Sir, I love you ftill; though I cannot esteem you, as I did once. Let me intreat you, if not for the honour of God, yet for the honour of your caufe, avoid for the time to come, all anger, all fpite, all fourners and bitterners; all contemptuous ulage of your opponents, not inferior to you, unles in fortune. O put on again bowels of mercies, kindnefs, gentlenefs, long fuffering : endeavouring to hold, even with them that differ from you in opinion, the unity of the Spirit, in the bond of peace !

BRISTOL, September 9, 1772.

FIN IS.

Digitized by Google

RECORD OF TREATMENT, EXTRACTION, REPAIR, etc.

Pressmark: 4257 aqa 44 Binding Ref No: PB 57-22

Microfilm No:

Date	Particulars
	Chemical Treatment
	Fumigation
Dec 1993	Deacidification MAG- Bi-CARB
DEC 1993	Lamination 8-5 95m (Tissue)
	Solvents
	Leather Treatment
Dec 1993	Adhesives Starch Paole (GA) Animal gluck
	Remarks

•

•

A REAL PROPERTY OF A REAL PROPER

PRESERVATION SERVICE

SHELFMARK . 42.5790944

THIS BOOK HAS BEEN MICROFILMED (1996) RP1

MICROFILM NO . SEE ESTC...

BL1994

