AN

TO THE

Rev. Mr. Church's REMARKS.

REVEREND SIR,

I may live peaceably with all Men. My Next, That if I must dispute at all, it may be with a Man of Understanding. I hus far therefore I rejoice on the Present Occasion. I rejoice also in that I have Considence of your Sincerity, of your real Desire, to promote the Glory of God, by Peace and Goodwill among Men. I am likewise thankful to God. for your Calm Manner of writing; (a few Paragraphs excepted:) And yet more for this, That such an Opponent, shou'd by writing in such a Manner, give me an Opportunity of explaining myself on those very Heads, whereon I wanted an Occasion so to do.

2. I do not want indeed (tho' perhaps you think I do) to widen the Breach between us, or to represent the Difference of the Doctrines we severally teach, as greater than it really is. So far from it, that I earnestly wish, there were none at all; or if there must be some, that it may be as small as possible: Being sully persuaded, that could we once agree in Doctrines, other Differences would foon fall to the Ground.

3. In order to contribute, as I am able, to this, it will be my Endeavour, to acknowledge what I think you have spoken right, and to answer what I cannot A think think right as yet, with what Brevity and Clearness I can. I defire to do this, in as inoffensive a Manner, as the Nature of the Thing will bear; and confishently with that Brotherly Love, which I can't deny you, without wronging my own Soul.

4. You sum up your Charge thus: You have now, Sir. my Sentiments—It is impossible for you to put an entire Stop, to the Enormities of the Moravians, while you fill, I. Too much commend these Men, II. Hold Principles in common with them, from which these Enormities naturally follow, and III. Maintain Other Errors more than theirs, and are guilty of Enthusiasm to the highest Degree.

I. 1. You, first, charge me with too much commending the Moravians. That the Case may be fully understood, I will transcribe the Passages which you cite from the Journal concerning them, and then give a General Answer.

"She told me, Mr. Molther had advised her, till she received Faith, to be Still, ceasing from Outward Works——In the Evening, Mr. Bray also was highly commending the being Still——He likewise spoke largely, of the Great Danger that attended the doing of Outward Works, and of the Folly of People that keep running about to Church and Sacrament."

8 Sund. Nov. 4. Our Society met, and continued

filent till Eight." c

"Sund. June 22. I spoke thus: Eight or 9 Months ago certain Men arose, who affirm'd, That there is no such Thing as any Means of Grace—and that we ought to leave off these Works of the Law." 4 You (Mr. Molther) believe, That the Way to at-

You (Mr. Molther) believe, That the Way to attain Fairth, is, Not to go to Church, not to communicate, Not to fast, Not to use fo much Private Prayer, Not to read the Scripture; not to do Temporal Good, or attempt to do Spiritual Good."

^{*} Remarks, p. 73, 74. * 4th Journal, p. 7. 'Ib.

N. B. The Sentences quoted from the Remarks, are all printed in Italicks.

"You undervalue Good Works, especially Works of Outward Mercy, never publickly insisting on the Necessity of them "if

"Some of our Brethren afferted, 1. That till they had True Faith, they ought to be fill, that is (as they explain'd themselves) To abstain from the Means of Grace, as they are called, the Loro's Supper in particular, 2. That the Ordinances are not Means of Grace, there being no other Means than Christ."

" I could not agree, either that none has any Faith, fo long as he is liable to any Doubt or Fear, or that till we have it, we ought to abstain from the Ordinances of Gop." h

"Mr. Br——n speaks so slightingly of the Means of Grace, that many are much griev'd to hear him. But others are greatly delighted with him. Ten or sources of them meet at our Brother Clark's, with Mr. Malther, and make a meer Jest of going to Church or to the Sacrament."

"You (Mr. Molther) believe, It is impossible for a Man to use these Means, without trusting in them."

Believers (faid Mr. Simpson) are not subject to Ordinances, and Unbelievers have nothing to do with them."

"Believers need not, and Unbelievers may not use them. These do not sin when they abstrain from them; but those de fin, when they do not abstain." m

"For one who is not born of God, to read the Scriptures, or to pray, or to communicate, or to do any Outward Work is Deadly Poison——If he does any of these Things, he destroys himself."

Mr. Bell earnestly defended this.

"At Eight the Society (at Nottingham) met; I could not but observe—That not one who came in, used any Prayer at all ——I looked for one of our Hymn books, but both that and the Bible were vanish'd away, and in the Room thereof lay, the Moravian Hymns and the Count's Sermons."

"One of our English Brethren join'd with you, said in his Publick Expounding, "As many go to Hell by praying, as by thieving. "Another, I knew one, who leaning over the Back of a Chair, received a great Gift. But he must kneel down, to give God Thanks. So he lost it immediately. And I know not whether he will ever have it again. And yet another, You have lost your first Joy. Therefore you pray. That is the Devil. You read the Bible. That is the Devil. You communicate. That is the Devil."

"They affirm'd, That there is no Commandant in the New Tellament, but to believe; that no other Duty lies upon us; and That when a Man does believe, he is not bound or obliged, to do any thing which is commanded there," q

"Mr. St.—told me, No one has any Degree of Faith, till he is perfect as Gop is perfect."

"You believe, there are no Degrees in Faith."

"I have heard Mr. Molther affirm, That there is no Justifying Faith, where there is ever any Doubt."

"The Moment a Man is justified, he is fanctified wholly. Thenceforth till Death, he is neither more nor less Holy.""

" We are to grow in Grace, but not in Holiness." " 2. I have frequently observed, That I wholly disapprove, of all these Politions, "That there are no Degrees in Faith; "That in order to attain Faith, we muit abflaju from all the Ordinances of Gon : " That's Believer does not grow in Holiness, and "That he is not obliged to keep the Commandments of Gop." But I must also observe, 1. That you ought not to charge the Moravian Church with the first of all these; fince in the very Page from which you quote these . Words, "There is no Justifying Faith where there is ever any Doubt" that Note occurs, "In the Preface to the 24 Journal, the Moravian Church is cleared from this Miltake." 2. That with respect to the Ordinances of Gop, their Practice is better than their Principle. They do use them themselves, I am a Witness; and that with Reverence and Godly Fear. Those Expressions however, of our own Countrymen, are utterly indefensible: As, I think are Mr. Molther's also; who was quickly after recalled into Germany. The great Fault of the Moravian Church seems to lie in not openly disclaiming all he had said: Which in all Probability they would have done, had they not lean'd to the same Opinion. I must 3. observe, That I never knew one of the Moravian Church, but that Single Perfon affirm, "That a Believer does not grow in Holiness." And perhaps He would not affirm it, on ressection. But I am still assaid their whole Church is tainted with Quietism, Universal Salviation, and Antinomianism: "I speak (as I said elsewhere) of Antinomian Opinions, abstracted from Practice, Good or Bad."

3. But I should rejoice if there lay no other Objection against them, than that of Erroneous Opinions. I know in some measure, how to have Compassion on the Ignorant: I know the Incredible Force of Prepossession. And God only knows, what Ignorance or Error (all things consider'd) is Invincible; and what Allowance his Mercy will make in such Cases, to those who desire to be led into all Truth. But how far what sollows may be imputed to Invincible Ignorance or Pre-possession, I cannot tell.

Many of "x you greatly, yea above measure, exact yourselves (as a Church) and despise others:"

" I have scarce heard one Moravian Brother own bis Church to be wrong in any thing:"

"Many of you I have heard speak of it, as if it were Infallible:" "Some of you have set it up, as the Judge of all the Earth, of all Persons as well as Doctrines:"

"Some of you have faid, that there is no true Church but yours; yea, that there are no true Christians out of it:"

"And your own Members you require to have Inplicit Faith in her Decisions, and to pay Implicit Obedience to her Directions."

^{* 4}th Journal, p. 107, 108.
A 3

I can in no degree justify these things. And yet neither can I look upon them in the same Light that you do, as fome of the very worst things which are objected to the Church of Rome. They are exceeding great Missakes: Yet in as great Mistakes, have Holy Men both lived and died Thomas & Kampis, for instance, and Francis Sales. And yet I doubt not, they are now in Abrahan's Bosom.

4. I am more concerned for their " a Despiting and decrying Self-sheniad:" for their " bextending Christian Liberty beyond all Warrant of Holy Writ;" for their " Want of Zeal for Good Works; and above all for their supposing, that " we may, on some Accounts use Guile:" In consequence of which they do " cuse Guile or Dissimulation in many Case." " Nay, in many of them I have sound" (that in all, nor in most) enuch Subtlety, much Evalian and Disguise; so becoming all things to all Men, as to take the Colour and Shape of any that were hear shem."

I can neither defend nor excuse those among the Moravians, whom I have found guilty of this. But neither can I condemn All for the lake of Same. Every Man shall give an Account of bimfelf to Gon.

But you say, & Your protessing against some of their Opinions, is not sufficient to discharge you. Have you not prepared the Way for these Moravians, by countenancing and commending them: And by still speaking of whem as if they were in the main the best Christians in the World, and only deluded or nistaken in a few Points?

I cannot speak of them otherwise than I think. And I still think, to That God has some Thousands in our coun Church, who have the Faith and Love which is among Them, without those Errors either of Judgment for Practice; 2. That next to these, the Body of the Moravian Church, however mistaken some of them are, are in the main, of all whom I have seen, the best Christians in the World.

5. Because I am continually charged with Inconfilmery herein, even by the Moravians themselves, it may be "needful to give a short Account, of what has occur'd between us from the Beginning."

My first Acquaintance with the Moravian Brethren began in my Voyage to Georgia. Being then with many of them in the same Ship, I narrowly observed their whole Behaviour. And I greatly approv'd of all I saw." (The Particulars are related in the First Journal.)

 From Feb. 14, 1735. to Decem. 2. 1737, being with them, (except when I went to Frederica or Carelina) twice or thrice every Day, I loved and esteemed them more and more. Yet a few things I could not approve of. These I mention'd to them from Time to Time, and then commended the Cause to Gop."

"In February following I met with Peter Bübler. My Heart clave to him as foon as he spoke. And the more we convers'd, so much the more did I essemble him and the Moravian Church. So that I had no Rest in my Spirit, till I executed the Design, which I had formed long before; till after a short Stay in Hilland, I hasten'd sorward, first to Marienbourn, and then to Hernbuth."

It may be observed, That I had before seen a few Things in the Moravians which I could not approve of. In this Journey I saw a few more, in the Midst of many excellent Things: In consequence whereof,

In Septem. 1738, from after my return to England, I began the following Letter to the Moravian Church. But being fearful of truffing my own Judgment, I determined, to wait yet a little longer, and so laid it by Unfaish'd."

" My Dear Brethren,

"I Cannor but rejoice in your Stedfast Faith, in your Love to our Blessed Redeemer, your Deadness to the World, your Meekness, Temperance, Chastity, and Love of one another. I greatly approve of your your Conferences and * Bands, of your Methods of infructing Children; and in general, of your great Care of the Souls committed to your Charge.

"But of some other Things I stand in Doubt, which I will mention in Love and Meekness. And I wish that, in order to remove those Doubts, you wou'd, on each of those Heads, first, plainly answer, Whether the Fact be as I suppose; and if so, secondly, consider, Whether it be right?"

" Is not the Count All in All among you?"

"Do you not magnify your own Church too much?"
"Do you not use Guile and Dissimulation in many Cases?"

" Are you not of a Close, Dark, Reserv'd Temper

and Behaviour?" ---

"It may easily be seen, that my Objections then were nearly the same as now." (Only with this Disference; I was not then assured, That the Facts were as I supposed.) "Yet I cannot say my Affection was lessen'd at all, (for I did not dare to determine any thing.) But from Now. 1. I could not but see more and more Things which I could not reconcile with the Gospel."

These I have set down with all Simplicity—Yet do I this, because I love them not? God knoweth: Yea, and in part. I esteem them still: Because I verily believe, they have a fincere Desire to serve God; because many of them have tasted of his Love, and some retain it in Simplicity; because they love one another; because they have so much of the Truth of the Gospel, and so far abstain from Outward Sin. And lastly, because their Discipline is, in most Respects, so truly excellent: (Notwithstanding that visible Blemish, The paying too much Regard, to their great Patron and Besactor, Count Zinzendors.)

6. I believe if you coolly confider this Account, you will not find, either that is inconfistent with itself; or that it lays you under any Necessity, of speaking in the following Mannet: What Charms there may be in a Demure Look, and a Sour Behaviour, I know not. But fure they must be in your Eye very extraordinary, as they can be sufficient to cover such a Multitude of Errors and Crimes, and keep up the same Regard and Affection; for the Authors and Abettors of them. I doubt your Regard for them was not lessen'd, till they began to interfere with what you thought your Province—You was insuenced, not by a Just Resentment, to see the Honour of Religion and Virtue, so injuriously and scandalously trampled upon, but a Fear of lessing your own Authority."

I doubt there is scarce One Line of all these, which is confishent either with Truth or Love. But I will transcribe a few more, before I answer. How cou'd you so long and so intimately converse with, so much commend, and give such Countenance to, such desperately wicked People, as the Moravians, according to your own Account, were known by you to be? - And you fill speak of them, as if they were in the Main, the best Chriflians in the World - In one Place you fay, " A few Things I could not approve of." But in God's Name, Sir, is the Contempt of almost the Whole of our Duty, of every Christian Ordinance, to be so gently touch'd? Can Detestation in such a Case, be too strongly exprest? Either they are some of the vilest Wretches in the World, or You are the falsest Accuser in the World. Christian Charity bas scarce an Allowance to make for them as you bave described them. If you have done this truly, they ought to be discouraged, by All Means that can be imagined.

7. Let us now weigh these Assertions. They, (i. e. the Charms of their Sour Behaviour) must be in your Eye very extraordinary—Do not you stumble at the Threshold? The Moravians excel, in Soveetness of Behaviour—as they can be sufficient to cover, such a Multitude of Errors and Crimes—Such a Multitude of Errors and Crimes—Such a Multitude of Errors and Crimes! I believe, as to Errors, they hold Universal Salvation, and are partly Antinomians (in Opinion) and partly Quietiss. And for this Cause I cannot join, with them. But where is the Multitude of Errors?

Who-

Remarks, p. 18, 17.

Wholeever knows 2 or 300 more, let him pleafe to mention them.

Such a Multitude of Crimes too! That some of themhave used Guile, and are of a close, reserv'd Behaviour, I know. And I excuse them not But to this Multitude of Crimes I am an utter Stranger. Let bim prove this Charge upon them who can. For me, I declare, I cannot.

To keep up the same Regard and Affection-Not so. I say, My Affection was not lessen'd, till after September 1739, till I had Proof, of what I had fear'd before. But I had not the same Degree of Regard for them, when I saw the Dark as well as the Bright Side of their Character. I doubt your Regard for them was nat leffen'd, till they began to interfere with what you thought your Province. If there were only a Doubt, it were not much amis; but it presently shoots up into an Affertion, equally groundless; for my Regard for them lessen'd, even while I was in Georgia. But is increas'd again, after my Return from thence, especially while I was at Hernbuth. And it gradually leffen'd again for fome Years, as I saw more and more which I approved not. How then does it appear, That I was influenced herein, by a Fear of losing my own Authority? Not by a Just Resentment to see the Honour of Religion and Virtue so scandulously trampled upon Trampled upon ! By whom? Not by the Moravians: I never faw any fuch Thing among them.

But what do you mean by a Just Resentment? I hope you do not mean, what is commonly call'd Zeal: A Flame which often sets on Fire the aubole Course of Nature, and is itself set on fire of Hell! — Rivers of Water run from my Eyes, because Men keep not thy Lagu. This Resentment on such an Occasion I understand.

From all other may Gop deliver me.

3. You go on. How could you so long and so intimately converse with — such desperately wicked People, es the Moravians, according to your own Account, were known by you to be? O Sir, what another Affertion is this? The Moravians, according to your own Account, were known by you to be desperately wicked People, while you intimately convers'd with them! Utterly falle and injurious, jurious. I never gave any fuch Account. I convers'd inimately with them, both at Savannah and Hernhuth. But neither then nor at any other Time, did I know or think or fay, they were desperately wicked People. I think and say, nay, you blame me for saying just the Reverse, viz. That tho' I soon "found among them a sew Things which I could not approve," yet I believe they are in the Main some of the best Christians in the World.

You surprize me yet more in going on thus: In God's Name, Sir, is the Contempt of almost the Whole of our Duty, of every Christian Ordinance, to be so very gently touch'd? Sir, this is not the Case. This Charge no more belongs to the Moravians, than that of Murder. Some of our Countrymen spoke very wicked Things. The Moravians did not sufficiently disavow them. These are the Premisses. By what Art can you extort so dreadful a Conclusion from them?

Can Detestation, in such a Case, be too strongly express ?

—Indeed it can; even were the Case as you suppose — Either they are some of the wilest Wretches in the World, or you are the salfest Accuser in the World—

Neither one, nor the other; tho' I prove what I alledge, yet they may be in the Main, Good Men—

Charity has scarce an Allowance to make for them, as you have described them—I have described them, as of a Mixt Character, with much Evil among them, but more Good. Is it not a strange Kind of Charity, which cannot find an Allowance to make in such a Case?—

If you have described them truly, they ought to be discouraged by all Means that can be imagined—

By all Means: 1 hope not by Fire and Faggot: Tho' the House of Mercy imagines these to be by All Means most effectived.

9 You proceed. How can you justify the many good Things you say of the Moravians, notwithstanding this Character? — You say, they love God.—But how can this be, when they even plead against keeping most of his Commandments?— You say, you believe, they have a sincere Desire to serve God—How then can they desirise

his Service in so many Instances? — You declare some of them much Holier than any People you had yet known. Strange; if they fail in so many Prime Points of Christiane Duty, and this not only babitually and presumptuously, but even to the denying their Use and Necessity. You praise them, for trampling under Foot the Lust of the Flesh, the Lust of the Eye, and the Pride of Life— And yet you make them a close, reserved, insucere, deceitful People.

How you will extlain those Things, I know not .-By nakedly declaring each Thing as it is. They are, I believe, the most self-inconfistent People, now under the Sun: And I describe them just as I find them, neither better nor worse, but leaving the Good and Bad together. Upon this Ground I can very eafily justify, the faying many Good Things of them, as well as bad. For Instance. I am still persuaded, That they (many of them) love God: Although many others of them ignorantly plead against the keeping, not most; but some of his Commandments. I believe, they have a fincere Desire to serve God. And yet, in several In-stances, some of them (I think) despite that Manner of ferwing bim, which I know God hath ordained. I believe some of them are much Holier than any People I had known in August 1740. Yet sure I am, that others among them fail, not indeed in the Prime Points of Chriflian Duty (for these are Faith and the Love of God and Man) but in feveral Points of no small Importance. Not that they herein fin presumptuously neither: for they are fully (tho' erroneously) persuaded in their own Minds. From the same Persuasion they act, when they (in some Sense) deny the Use or Necessity of those Ordinances. How far that Persuasion will justify or excuse them, I leave to Him who knoweth their Hearts. Lastly, I believe they trample under Foot, in a good Degree, the Lust of the Flesh, the Lust of the Eye, and the Pride of Life. And yet many of them use Reserve, yea Guile. Therefore my Soul mourns for them in fecret Places.

10. But I must observe, you say, That * you fall not only into Inconsistencies, but into direct Contradictions.

—You commend them for "loving one another, in a Manner the World knoweth not of." And yet you charge them with being "in the utmost Confusion, biting and devouring one another." You say, "They caution us agains! Natural Love of one another—" And had well-wish destroyed Brotherly Love from among us."

You praise them, for "using no Diversions but such as become Saints, "and for "not regarding Outward Adorning." Yet you say They "conform to the World in wearing Gold and costly Apparel: And by joining in Worldly Diversions, in order to do Good."

You call their Discipline, "in most Respects, truly Excellent." I wish you had more fully explained yourself—I am sure, it is no Sign of Good Discipline, to permit such abominations. And you tell them yourself "I can show you such a Subordination, as answers all Christian Purposes, and yet is as distant from that among You, as the Heavens are from the Earth."

You mention it as a good Effect of their Discipline, That "every one knows and keeps his proper Rank." Soon after, as if it were with a Design to consute your-self, you say, "Our Brethren have neither Wisdom enough to guide, nor Prudence though to let it alone."

And now, Sir—bow can you reconcile these Opposite Descriptions? — Just as easily as those before, by simply declaring the Thing as it is. You commend them (the Moravians) for loving one another. And yet charge them with biting and devouring one another. Them! Whom? Not the Moravians; but the English Brethren of Fetter-Lane, before their Union with the Moravians. Here then is no Shadow of Contradiction. For the Two Sentences do not relate to the same Persons.

You fuy, "They had well-nigh destroy'd Brotherly Love from among us;" partly by "Cautions against Natural Love." It is a melancholy Truth; so they had. But we had then no Connexion with them. Neither therefore does this contradict "their loving one another, in a Manner the World knoweth not of."

^{*} Journal, p. 4. B 2 P. 18. cp. 108.

You praise them for using no Diversions, but such as become Saints: And yet say, (I recite the whole Sentence) I have beard some of you assirm, that Christian Salvation implies Liberty to conform to the World, by joining in Worldly Diversions, in order to do Good."—And both these are true. The Moravians, in general, "use no Diversions but such as become Saints:" And yet I have heard some of them affirm (in Contradiction to their own Practice) That "One then mentioned did well, when he joined in playing at Tennis, in order to do Good."

Adorning."—So I do, the Bulk of the Congregation—And yet you fay (I again recite the whole Sentence) " I bave heard some of you affirm, That Christian Salvation implies Liberty to conform to the World, by putting on of Gold and Costly Apparel. I have so. And I blame them the more, because they are condemn'd by the General Practice of their own Church.

You call their Discipline "in most Respects truly excellent." I could wish you had more fully explain'd your-seif—I have, in the Second Journal, from the 44th to the 82d Page. It is no Sign of Good Discipline, to permit such Abominations (i. e. Error, in Opinion, and Guile, in Practice) True, 'tis not; nor is it any Demonstration against it. For there may be Good Discipline aren in a College of Jesuits.—Another Fault is, Too great a Descrence to the Count. And yet, "in most Respects, their Discipline is truly Excellent."

You mention it as a Good Effect of their Discipline, Thut "f every one knows and keeps his proper Rank." Soon after, as it were with a Design to consult yourself, you say, "Our Brethren have neither Wissom enough to guide, sar Prudence enough to let it alone. "Pardon me, Sir. I have no Design either to consult or contradict myfelf in these Words. The former Sentence is spoken of the Moravian Brethren: The latter, of the English Brethren of Fetter-Lane.

p. 5. p. 103. p. 5. d p. 103. 1b. 17. 5. p. 17. 17. You

12. You need not therefore * imagine, That either the strong Pretences and quarm Professions of the Moravians, or their agreeing with me in some favourite Topicks (for my Love to them was antecedent to any fuch Agreement) induce me to overlook their Iniquity, and to firgive their other Crimes. No. I love them upon quite Different Grounds: Even, because I believe (notwithstanding all their Faults) they love the LORD JEsus in Sincerity, and have a Measure of the Mind that swas in Him. And I am in great Earnest when I decline once more, That I have a deep, abiding Conviction, by how many Degrees the Good which is among them, over-ballances the Evil: That I cannot speak of them but with tender Affection, were it only for the Benefits I have received from them: And that at this Hour, I defire Union with them (were those Stumbling-Blocks once put away, which have hitherto made that Defire ineffectual) above all Things under Heaven.

II. 1. Your Second Charge is, That I hold in common with them, Principles from which their Errors naturally follow. You mean, Justification by Faith Alone. To set Things in the clearest Light I can, I will, first, observe, What I hold, and What You object, and then enquire, What the Consequences have been?

First, As to what I hold, my latest Thoughts upon Justification, are express in the following Words +:

"Juttification sometimes means our Acquittal at the Last Day. But this is out of the present Question: That Justification whereof our Articles and Homilies speak, meaning Present—Pardon, and Acceptance with Gov: Who therein declares bis Righteousness and Mercy, by or for the Remission of the Sins that are past.—

"I believe the Condition of this is Faith: I mean not only, That without Faith we cannot be justified; but also, that as foon as any one has True Faith, in that Moment he is justified.

Remarks, p. 23. † A Farther Appeal to Men of Roafon and Religion, p. 1, 2, 3.

B 3 "Good

"Good Works follow this Faith, but cannot go before it. Much less can Sanctification, which implies a continued Course of Good Works, springing from Holiness of Heart. But—Entire Satisfaction goes before our Justification at the Last Day.

"It is allow'd, that Repentance and Fruits meet for Repentance, go before Faith. Repentance absolutely must go before Faith: Fruits meet for it, if there be Opportunity. By Repentance I mean, Conviction of Sin, producing Real Desires and Sincere Resolutions of Amendment: And by Fruits meet for Repentance, Forgiving our Brother, Ceasing from Evil, Doing Good, using the Ordinances of God, and in general, Obeying him according to the Measure of Grace which we have receiv'd. But these I cannot, as yet, term Good Works i because they do not spring from Faith and the Love of God."

2. "Faith in general is, A Divine, Supernatural Fair, De (Evidence or Conviction) of Things not feen not discoverable by our Bodily Senses, as being either Patt, Future or Spiritual. Justifying Faith implies, Not only a Divine Fair, 1 hat God awas in Christ, reconciling the World unto Himself, but a sure Trust and Considence That Christ died for my Sins, that he loved me and gave himself for me. And the Moment a penitent Sinner thus believes, God pardons and abfolves him."

Now, it being allow'd, That both Inward and Outward Holiness are the flated Conditions of Final Justification: What more can you desire, who have hitherto' opposed Justification by Faith Alone, merely upon a Principle of Conscience; because you was zealous for Holiness and Good Works? Do I not effectually secure these from Contempt, at the same Time that I desend the Doctrines of the Church? I not only allow, but vehemently contend, That none shall ever enter into Glory, who is not Holy on Earth, as well in Heart, as in all manner of Conversation. I cry aloud, Let all that bave believ'd be careful to maintain Good Works: And, Let every one that nameth the Name of Christ, depart from all Iniquity. I exhort even those who are conscious they do not believe, Cease to do evil, learn to do well. The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand; therefore, repent, and bring forth Fruits meet for Repentance. Are not these Directions the very same, in Substance, which you yourselfwould give to Persons so circumstanced?

3. " Many of those who are perhaps as zealous of Good Works as you, think I have allowed you too much-Nay, my Brethren, but how can we help allowing it, if we allow the Scriptures to be from Gon? For is it not written, and do not you yourselves believe, Without Holiness no Man shall see the LORD? And how then, without fighting about Words, can we deny, That Holiness is a Condition of Final Acceptance? And as to the First Acceptance or Pardon, does not all Experience as well as Scripture prove, That no Man ever yet Truly believed the Gospel, who did not first refent. --- Repentance therefore we cannot deny, to be necessarily previous to Faith. Is it not equally undeniable, That the running back into Wilful, known Sin (suppose it were Drunkenness or Uncleanness) stifles that Repentance or Conviction? And can that Repentance come to any good Issue in his Soul, who resolves, Not to forgive his Brother? Or who obstinately refrains from what God convinces him is right, whether it be Prayer or Hearing his Word? Would you scruple yourself to tell one of these---- Unto him that hath shall be given: But from bim that bath not, i. e. uses it not, shall be taken even that which he bath." Wou'd you scruple to fay this? --- But in faying this, you allow all which I have said, viz. That previous to Justifying Faith, there must be Repentance, and if Opportunity permit, Fruits meet for Repentance."

"And yet I allow you this, That altho' both Repentance and the Fruits thereof are in Some Scafe necessary before Justification, yet neither the one nor the other is necessary in the same Sease, or in the same Degree with Faith. Not in the same Degree; for in whatever Moment a Man believes, (in the Christian Sease of the Word) he is justified, his Sine are blotted out, his Faith is counted to him as Righteousness. But it is not so, at whatever Moment he repents, or brings forth any or all the Fruits of Repentance. Faith Alone therefore justifies; which Repentance alone does not; much less any Outward Work. And consequently, none of these are necessary to Justification, in the same Degree with Faith.

"Nor in the fame Senfe. For none of these has so Direct, Immediate a Relation to Justification as Faith." This is Proximately necessary thereto; Repentance, Remotely, as it is necessary to the Increase or Continuance of Repentance. And even in this Sense, these are only necessary on Supposition—if there be Time and Opportunity for them; For in many Instances there is not; but God cuts short his Work, and Faith prevents the Fruits of Repentance. So that the General Proposition is not overthrown, but clearly established by these Concessions; and we conclude still—That Faith Alone is the Proximate Condition of Justification."

4. This is what I hold concerning Justification. I am next, briefly to observe what you object. I ff Faith, say you, is the Sole Condition of Justification, then it is our Sole Duty. I deny the Consequence Faith may be (in the Sense above described) the Sole Condition of Justification, and yet not only Repentance be our Duty before, but all Obedience after we believe.

You go on. If 2 Good Works are not Conditions of our Justification, they are not Conditions of our (Final) Salwation. I deny the Confequence again. Good Works (properly so called) cannot be the Conditions of Justification: Because it is impossible to do any Good Work, before we are justify'd. And yet notwithstanding, Good Works may be (and are) Conditions of Final Salvation. For who will say it is impossible to do any Good Work, before we are finally saved?

You proceed. 3 Can we be fived, in the contemptuous Neglect of Repentance, Prayer, &c.? No: nor justified neither; but while they are previous to Faith, these are not allow'd to be Good Works.

Remarks, p. 25. 2 Ibid. 3 p. 26.

You afterwards argue from my own Concessions, thus— Your notion of True Stillness is, "A patient waiting upon God, by Lowliness, Meekness and Resignation in all the Ways of his holy Law, and the Works of his Commandments— But how is it possible to reconcile to this the Position, That these Duties are not Conditions of our Justification? If we are justified without them, we may be saved without them— This Consequence cannot be too often repeated.

Let it be repeated ever so often, it is good for nothing. For, far other Qualifications are required, in order to our standing before God in Glory, than were required in order to his giving us Faith and Pardon. In order to this, nothing is indispensably required, but Repentance, or Conviction of Sin. But in order to the other it is indispensably required, That we be fully cleansed from all Sin: That the very God of Peace fanctify us, wholly, even το δλόκληςον ημων, our entire Body, Soul and Spirit. It is not necessary therefore (nor indeed possible) That we should before Justification, patiently wait upon God, by Lowline's, Meekne's and Resignation, in all the Ways of his Holy Law. And yet it is necessary in the highest Degree, that we should thus wait upon him after Justification. Otherwise, how shall we be meet to be Partukers of the Inheritance of the Saints in Light?

5. Soon after you add, In the Passages last cited, you plead for the Necessity of a Good Life. But in others, the Force of your Principles shows itself — An Answer approved by you is, "My Heart is desperately wicked. But I have no Doubt or Fear. I know my Saviour loves me and I love Him."——Both these Particulars are impossible, if the Scripture be true.

You amaze me! Is it possible you should be ignorant, That your onun Heart is desperately wicked? Yet I dare not say, either that God does not love You; or that you do not love Him.

Again, You say " you described the State of those aubo have Forgiveness of Sins, but not a Clean Heart;

(Not

[•] p. 26. * Remarks, p. 29. * p. 30.

(Not in the full, proper Scnse) Very true: But even then, they had Power over both Inward and Outward Corruptions: Far from being, as you suppose, still wedded to their Vices, and resolved to continue in them.

In another Place, after having observed, that "Sin does remain in one that is justified, tho' it has not Dominion over him, you go on, "But fear not, tho' you have an evil Heart; Yet a little while and you shall be endued with Power from on high, whereby ye may purify yourfelves, even as he is pure."—Sinners, if they believe this, may be quite secure, and imagine they have nothing to fear, tho' they continue in their Iniquities—For God's sake, Sir, speak out—If they that have an Evil Heart have not, who has reason to fear?—All who have not Dominion over Sin: All who continue in their Iniquities. You, for one, if any Sin has Dominion over you. If so, I testify against you this Day, (And you will not be quite secure, if you believe me) The Wrath of God abideth on You!

What do you mean by "Sin remains in one that is Justified?" That he is guilty of any known, wilful, habitual Sin?—Judge by what has sone before—I mean the same as our Church means, by "Sin remains in the Regenerate."

6. You proceed to another Passage, which in the Journal stands thus.

"After we had wander'd many Years, in the New-Path of Salvation by Faith and Works, about two Years ago it pleased God, to shew us the Old Way, of Salvation by Faith only. And many soon tasted of this Salvation, being justified freely, having Peace with God, rejoicing in Hope of the Glory of God, and having his Love shed abroad in their Hearts." Thus I define what I mean by this Salvation, viz. Righteousness and Peace, and Joy in the Holy Ghost"

But you object, † Here you deny the Necessity of Good Works, in order to Salvation—I deny the Necessity, nay Possibility, of Good Works as previous to this Salvation; as previous to Faith, or those Fruits of Faith,

Righ-

Righteousness and Peace and Joy in the Holy Ghost. This is my real Sentiment, not a Slip of my Pen, neither any Preof of my Want of Accuracy.

7. I I hall now, you fay, consider the Account you give in this Journal, of the Dostrine of Justification.

I will recite the whole, just as it stands, together with the Occasion of it.

"In 2 in the Afternoon I was informed, How many who cannot, in Terms, deny it-explain Justification by Faith. They say 1. Justification is twofold; the First, in this Life, the Second, at the Last Day. 2. Both these are by Faith Alone, that is, by Objective Faith, or, by the Merits of CHRIST which are the Object of our Faith. And this, they say, is all that Saint Paul and the Church mean by, We are justified by Faith only. But they add, 3. We are not justified by Subjective Faith Alone, that is, by the Faith which is in us. But Good Works also must be added to this Faith. as a Joint Condition both of the First and Second Justification.

"In flat Opposition to this, I cannot but maintain (at least till I have a clearer Light) 1. That the Justification which is spoken of by St. Paul to the Romans, and in our Articles, is not twofold. It is one and no more. It is the present Remission of our Sins, or our First Acceptance with God. 2. It is true, that the Merits of CHRIST are the Sole Cause of this our Justification. But it is not true, that this is all which Saint Paul and our Church mean, by our being justified by Faith only: Neither is it true, That either St. Paul or the Church mean by Faith, the Merits of Christ. But 3. by our being justify'd by Faith only, both St. Poul and the Church mean, That the Condition of our Justification, is Faith Alone, and not Good Works: inaimuch as All Works done before Justification, have in them the Nature of Sin. Laftly, That Faith which is the Sole Condition of Juftification, is the Faith which is in us, by the Grace of Gop. It is a fure Trust which a Man hath, That CHRIST hath loved him and died for bim."

² Journal, p. 16, 17. 1 Remarks, p. 30.

8. To the First of these Propositions You object, "That I Justification is not only I world, but Manifold. For a Man may possibly sin many times, and as many times be justified or forgiven."

I grant it. I grant also, That Justification sometimes means, A State of Acceptance with God. But all this, does not in the least affect my Assertion, That that Justification which is spoken of, by St. Paul to the Romans, and by our Church, in the 11th, 12th, and 13th Articles, is not Our Acquittal at the last Day, but the present Remission of our Sins.'

You add, 4 You write in other Places so variously about this Matter, that I despair to find any Consistency. Once you hold a Degree of Justifying Faith, short of the full Assurance of Faith, the Abiding Witness of the Spirit, or the Clear Perception that Christ abideth in him—And yet you afterwards "warned all, Not to think they were justified, before they had a clear Assurance, That God had forgiven their Sins"—What Difference there is between this Clear Assurance, And the former Full Assurance, rance and Clear Perception, I know not.

Let us go on Step by Step, and you will know. Once you hold a " Degree of Justifying Faith, short of the full Assurance of Faith, the Abiding Witness of the Spirit, or the Clear Perception that CHRIST abideth in him." And fo I hold still, and have done for some Years. And yet you ofterwards warn'd all, Not to think they were justified before they had a clear Assurance that God had forgiven their Sins-I did fo-What Difference there is between this clear Assurance, and that full Assurance and clear Perception, I know not-Sir, I will tell The one is, An Assurance that my Sins are forgiven, Clear at first, but soon clouded with Doubt or Fear. The other is, such a Plerophory or full Assurance that I am forgiven, and so clear a Perception, that CHRIST abideth in me; as utterly excludes all Doubt and Fear, and leaves them no Place, no not for an So that the Difference between them is as great as the Difference between the Light of the Morning and that of the Mid-day Sun.

9. On the Second Proposition you remark, I. That I ought to have said, The Merits of Christ, are (not the Sole Cause, but) the Sole Meritorious Cause, of this our Justification. 2d. That St. Paul and the Church, by Justifying Faith mean, Faith in the Gospel and Merits of Christ. The very Thing: So I contend, in flat Opposition to those, who say they mean, Only the Object of this Faith.

Upon the Third Proposition, "By our being justified by Faith only, both St. Paul and the Church mean, That the Condition of our Justification, is Faith Alone and not Good Works:" You say, † Neither of them mean any such Thing. You greatly wrong them, in ascribing so mischievous a Sentiment to them. Let me beg you, Sir, to have Patience, and calmly to consider, I. What I mean by this Proposition. Why should you any longer, run as uncertainly, and fight as one that beateth the Air? 2. What is advanced touching the Sentiments of the Church, in the Tract refer'd to above. Till you have done this, it would be mere Loss of Time, to dispute with you on this Head.

I wave therefore, for the present, the Consideration of some of your following Pages. Only I cannot quite pass over that (I believe, New) Assertion, ‡ That the 13th Article, intitled,

" Of Works done before Justification"

does not speak of Works done before Justification, but of Works before Grace, which is a very different Thing!— I beseech you, Sir, to consider the 11th, 12th, and 13th Articles, just as they lie, in one View. And you cannot but see, That it is as absolutely impossible to maintain that Proposition, as it is to prove, that the 1th and 12th Articles speak not of Justification, but of some very different Thing.

10. Against that Part of the 4th Proposition, "Faith is a sure Trust which a Man hath that Christ loved bim and died for bim:" You object, * This Definition is absurd; as it supposes that such a sure Trust can be in one, who does not repent of his Sins .- I suppose quite the contrary, as I have declared over and over: Nor therefore is there any fuch Danger as you apprehend.

But you fay, | There is nothing distinguishing enough in this, to point out the True Juftifying Faith. I grant it : Supposing a Man were to write a Book, and say this of it, and no more. But did you ever see any Treatise of mine, wherein I said this of Faith, and no more? Nothing whereby to diftinguish True Faith from False? Touching this Journal, your own Quotations prove the contrary. Yea, and I every where infift, That we are to diffinguish them by their Fruits, by Inward and Outward Righteousness, by the Peace of Gon filling and ruling the Heart, and by Patient, Active Joy in the Holy Ghoft.

You conclude this Point; * I bave now, Sir, examined at large your Account of Justification; and I hope fully refuted the several Articles, in which you have comprized it-We differ in our Judgment. I do not apprehend, you have refuted any one Proposition of the Pour. You have indeed amended the Second, by adding the Word Meritorious; for which I give you Thanks.

11. You next give what you stile + The Christian Scheme of Justification, and afterwards point out the Consequences, which you apprehend to have attended the preaching Justification by Faith; the Third Point into which I was to inquire.

You open the Cause thus: $ The denying the Necessity of Good Works, at the Condition of Justification, direally draws after it, or rather includes in it, all manner of Impiets and Vice—It has often perplext and disturb'd the Minds of Men, and in the lest Century occasioned great Confusions in this Nation-These are Points which are ever liable to Misconstructions and have ever yet been more or less attended with them. And it appears from aubat you bave lately publish'd, That since you have preached the Ibid. Į p. 1, 2. * p. 49. + p. 50. Dottine,

Dollrine, it has had its old Consequences, or rather Worse ones: it has been more misunderstood, more perverted and abused than ever.

The denying the Necessity of Good Works, as the Conditions of Justification, draws after it, or rather includes in it, all manner of Impiety and Vice. Here stands the Proposition: But where is the Proof? Till that appears, I simply say, It does not.

It has often perplext and diffurb'd the Minds of Man.
And so have many other Points in St. Pant's Epitles.

But these are Points which are ever liable to Miscons fructions, and have ever yet, more or less, been attended with them—And what Points of Reveal'd Religion are those, which are not ever liable to Misconstructions? Or of what material Point can we say, that it has not ever yet, more or less, been attended with them?

In the last Century it occasioned great Confusions in this Nation—It occasioned? No; in no wife. It is demonstrable, the Occasions of those Confusions were quite of another Kind.

And it appears—That fince you have preach'd the Doctrine, it has had its Old Confequences, or rather Worfe. It has been more mifunderstood, more perverted and abused than ever—What! Worse Consequences than Regicide (which you say, was the Old one) and making our whole Land a Field of Blood? Or, has it been more perverted and abused, than when (in your Account) it overturn'd the whole Frame both of Church and State?

12. You go on. § The Terms of the Gospel are, Respendence toward God, and Faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.—But when we undervalue either of these Terms, we involve the Consciences of the Weak in fital Perplexities; we confirm the Enemies of Religion in their Prejudices.

All this I grant. But it affects not me. For I do not.

undervalue either Paith or Repentance.

* Was not Irreligion and Vice already prevailing excuel in the Nation, but we must throw Snares in People's Way, and root out the Remains of Piety and Devotion, in the Weak and Well-meaning? That this has been the Case, your own Confessions put beyond all Doubt.

And you even now bold and teach the Principles from which those dangerous Consequences do plainly and directly follow.

Was not Irreligion and Vice already prevailing enough (whether I have increased them, we will consider by and by) --- but we must throw Snares in People's Way Gon forbid! My whole Life is employ'd, in taking those Snares out of People's Way, which the World and the Devil have thrown there-And root out the Remains of Piety and Devotion, in the Weak and Well-meaning? Of whom speaketh the Prophet this? Of Himself? or of some other Man? --- Your oven Confellions put this beyond all Doubt - What? That I root out the Remains of Piety and Devotion? Not so. The Sum of them all (recited above) amounts to this and no more: " That while my Brother and I were absent from London, many weak Men were tainted with wrong Opinions; most of whom we recover'd at our Return: But even those who continued therein, did notwithstanding continue to live a Holier Life, than ever they did, before they heard us preach." - And you even now hold the Principles, from which these dangerous Confequences do plainly and directly follow- But I know not where to find these Consequences-Unless it be in your Title Page: There indeed I read of the very fatal Sendency of Justification by Faith only, the Divisions and Perplexities of the Methodists, and the many Errors relating both to Faith and Practice, which (as you conceive) bave already arisen among these deluded People.

However + you charitably believe, I was not aware of shefe Consequences at first. No, nor am I yet: tho' 'tis strange I should not, if they so naturally succeed that Doctrine. I will go a Step farther. I do not know, neither believe, 'That they ever did succeed that Doctrine: Unless perhaps Accidentally; as they might have succeeded any Doctrine whatsoever. And till the contrary is proved, those Consequences cannot shew, that these Prin inles are not True.

13. Another Consequence which you charge on my preacning Justification by Faith, is, The introducing the Errors of the Moravians. I Had the People, say you, gone on in a quiet and regular Practice of their Duty, as most of them did before you deluded them, it would have been impossible for the Moravian Tenets, to have prevail d among them—But when they had been long and often used, to bear Good Works undervalued—I cannot Wonder, what that they should plunge into new Errors,—And wax worse and worse.

This is one String of Mistakes. Had the People gone on, in a quiet and regular Practice of their Duty, as most of them did before you deluded them .- Deluded them! Into what? Into the Love of Gop and all Mankind, and a zealous Care to keep his Commandments. wou'd to God this Delusion (if such it is accounted) may spread to the four Corners of the Earth! But how did most of them go on Before they were thus deluded? Four in five, by a moderate Computation? Even as other baptized Heathens; in the Works of the Devil, in all the Wretchlessness of unclean living --- In a quiet and regular Practice of their Duty ! - What Duty ? The Duty of curfing and swearing? The Duty of Gluttony and Drunkenneis? The Duty of Whoredom and Adultery? Or of beating one another, and any that came in their Way? In this, (not very quiet or regular) Practice, did most of those go on before they heard us, who have now put off the Old Man with his Deeds, and are Holy in all Manner of Conversation.

Have these, think you, been long and often used to bear Good Works undervalued? Or, are they prepared for receiving the Moravian Errors, by the Knowledge and Love of Goo? O Sir, the Moravians know, if you do not, that there is no such Barrier under Heaven, against their Tenets as those very People, whom you suppose

But Complaints (you say) of their Errors, come very ill from You, because You have occasion'd them. Nay, if it were so, for that very Cause, they ought to come from me. If I had occasion'd an Evil, surely I am the very Person, who ought to remove it as far as I can: To recover, if possible, those who are hurt already, and to causion others against it.

14. On some of those Complaints (as you term them) you remark as follows: Many of those who ence know in whom they had believed (these are my Words) were thrown into Idle Reasonings, and thereby filled with Doubts and Fears." This, you add, it is to be feared, has been too much the Case of the Methodists in general.—Accordingly we find in this Journal, several Instances not harely of Doubts and Fears, but of the most desperate Despair. This is the Consequence of resting so much on Sensible Impressions—Bad Men may be led into Presumption thereby: An Instance of which you give, p. 66.

That Instance will come in our Way again. Many of those who once knew in whom they had believed, were thrown (by the Antinomians) into Lile Reasonings, and thereby filled with Doubts and Fears. This you fear, bas been the Cafe with the Methoditts in general. You must mean (to make it a Parallel Case) "That the Generality of the People, now term'd Methodifts, were True Believers till they heard us preach; but were thereby thrown into Lile Reasonings, and filled with needless Doubts and Fears." Exactly contrary to Truth in every Particular. For 1. they lived in open Sins, till they heard us preach, and consequently were no better Believers, than their Father the Devil. 2. They were not then thrown into Idle Reasonings, but into Serious Thought, how to flee from the Wrath to come. Nor 3. were they filled with Neec'less Doubts and Fears; but with fuch as were Needful in the highest Degree: Such as actually issued in Repentance towards Goo, and Faith in our LORD JESUS CHRIST.

Remarks, p. 13. 1 Ibid.

Then I am greatly mistaken. But I will fet down at Length the leveral Inflances you refer to.

Pag. 14. "I was a little surprized in going out of the Room, at one who catched hold of me, and said abruptly, "I must speak with you and will. I have sinned against Light and against Love." (N. B. She was soon after, if not at that very Time, a common Prostitute) "I have sinned beyond Forgiveness. I have been cursing you in my Heart, and blaspheming Gop, ever since I came here. I am damned. I know it. I feel it. I am in Hell. I have Hell in my Heart." I defired Two or Three who had Considered in Gon, to join in crying to him on her Behalf. Immediately that horrible Dread was taken away, and she began to see some Dawnings of Hope."

Pag. 38. "The Attention of all was foon fixt, or poor L-S-. One so violently and variously torn of the Evil one, did I never see before. Sometimes, she laugh'd till almost strangled; then broke out into Cursing and Blaspheming; then stamp'd and struggled with incredible Strength, so that four or sive could scarce hold her: Then cried out, "O Eternity! Eternity! O that I had no Soul! O that I had never been born!" At last she faintly call'd on Christ to help her. And the Violence of her Pangs ceas'd."

(It should be remembered, That from that Time to this, her Conversation has been as becometh the Gospel.

Pag. 63. "Thursday Dec. 25. I met with such a Case, as I do not remember either to have known or heard of before. L—S— (the same Person) after many Years of Mourning (long before she heard of us) was silled with Peace and Joy in believing. In the Midst of this, without any discernible Cause, such a Cloud suddenly overwhelm'd her, that she could not believe her Sins were ever forgiven at all, nor that there was any such Thing as Forgiveness of Sins. She could not believe, that the Scriptures were true, that there was any Heaven, or Hell, or Angel, or Spirit, or any God. One more I have since found in the same State. (But observe, neither of these continued therein: Nor did I ever know one that did.) So sure it is, That All Faith is the Gift of God, which the Moment he withdraws, the Evil Heart of Unbelief will poison the whole Soul."

Which of these is an Instance of the most desperate Despair? Surely the most Desperate of any, yea, the only one which is properly said to be Desperate at all, is that which produces instant Self-Murder: Which causes a poor Wretch, by a Sin which he cannot repent of, to rush streight through Death into Hell. But that was not the Case in any of these Instances; in all which we have already seen the End of the LORD.

15. That I raise Separate * Societies against the Church, is a Charge which I need not examine till the Evidence is produced. You next cite a Moravian's Words to me (an Englishman join'd with the Moravians) You have Eyes full of Adultery, and cannot cease from Sin; You take upon you to guide unstable Souls, and lead them in the Way of Damnation: And remark, This is only returning some of your own Treatment upon yourself. Here also you set the Pattern. At what Time and Place? When and where were such Abuses as these thrown out by me, against our Universities, and against our Regular Clergy, not the highest or the worthiest excepted? I am altogether clear in this Matter, as often as it has been obiecled : Neither do I desire to receive any other Treatment from the Clergy, than they have received from me to this Day.

You have a Note at the Bottom of this Page which runs thus: "See Page 71, 77, and 73, where some Methodijs said, they had heard both your Brother and you many Times preach Popery."

I am afraid, You advance here a Wilful Untruth, purely ad novendam Invidiam. For you cannot but know, 1. That there is not one Word of Preaching Potery, either in the 71st or 77th Page: And, 2. That when Mr. C. and two other Predestinariams (as is related, pag 73.) affirm'd, They had heard both my Brother and me many times preach Popery, they meant neither

more nor less the reby, than the Doctrine of Universal Redemption.

16. You proceed, * Kingswood you call your own House. And when one Mr. C. oppos'd you there, you reply to him, "You should not have supplanted me in my own House, stealing the Hearts of the People—The Parochial Clergy may call their several Districts their own Houses, with much more Propriety than you could call kingswood Yours. And yet how have you supplanted them therein, and labour'd to Steal the Hearts of the People—You have suffer'd by the same Ways you took to discharge your Spleen and Malice against your Brethren.

Your Brother's Words to Mr. C. arc—"Whether his Doctrine is True or False is not the Question. But you ought first to have fairly told him," I preach contrary to you. Are you willing notwithstanding, that I should continue in your House, gainfaying you? — Shall I stay here opposing you, or shall I depart? — Think you bear this spoken to you by us — What can you justly restly? — Again, if Mr. C. had said thus to you, and you had resulted him leave to stay; I ask you, whether in such a Case, he would have had Reason to resent such a Resular? I think you can't say he would. And yet how loudly have you objected our resulting our Pulpits to you!

So you judge these to be exactly parallel Cases. It lies therefore upon me to shew, That they are not parallel at all: That there is, in many Respects, an essential Difference between them.

1. Kingswood you call your own House. So I do, that is, the School-house there. For I bought the Ground where it stands, and paid for the Building it, partly from the Contribution of my Friends (One of whom contributed Fifty Pounds) partly from the Income of my own Fellowship. No Clergyman therefore can call his Parish bis own House, with more Propriety than I can call this House Mine.

2. Mr. C. opposed you there. True: But who was Mr. C? One I had sent for, to affile me there; a Friend that was as my own Soul; that even while he opposed me

^{*} Remarks, p. 15.

me lay in my Bosom. What Resemblance then does Mr. C. thus opposing me bear, to me opposing (if I really did) a Parochial Minister?

3. You faid to Mr. C. "You frould not have supplanted me in my House, Stealing the Hearts of the People. Yet you have supplanted the Clergy in their own Houses—What in the same Manner as Mr. C. did me? Have I done to any of them, as He has done to me? You may as justly say, I have cut their Throats!—Stealing the Hearts of their People—Nor are these their People in the same bense wherein those were mine, viz Servants of the Devil brought thro' my Ministry, to be Servants and Chevil brought thro' my Ministry, to be Servants and Chevil or of God.—You have suffered by the same Ways you took to discharge your Spleen and Malice against your Brethren—To discharge your Spleen and Midlice! Say, Your Muskets and Blunderbusses. I have just as much to do with one as with the other.

4. Your Brother faid to Mr. C. "You ought to have told my Brother fairly, I preach contrary to You. Are you willing I fould continue in your House, gainsaying you? Shall I stay here opposing you, or shall I depart? Think you hear this spoken to you by us— What can you justly reply?——I can justly reply, "Sir, Mr. C.'s Case totally differs from Yours. Therefore it makes absolutely nothing for your Purpofe."

17. A farther Consequence (you think) of my preaching this Doctrine, is the introducing that of Absolute Preachination. And whenever these Errors, say you, gain Ground, there can be no Wonder, that Consustances of all which, you give us among your Followers, should be the Consequences.— You should by all means have specified a few of those Instances, or at least, the Pages where they occur. Till this is done, I can look upon this Assertion, as no other than a Flourish of your Pen.

To conclude this Head. You roundly affirm once for all, ‡ The Grossest Corruptions bave ever followed the spreading of this Tenet. The greatest Heats and Animosities have been rais'd thereby. The wildest Errors have been thus occasioned. And in Proportion to its getting Ground, it has never failed—to perplex the Weak, to barden the Wicked, and to please the Prosane. Your Journal is a Proof, That these terrible Consequences have of late prevail d, perhaps more than ever—Suppose that Journal gives a true Account of Facts (which you seem not to deny) could you find there no other Fruits of my preaching, than these terrible ones you here mention!

"O who so blind, as He that will not see?"

18. But that we may not still talk at large, let us bring this Question, into as narrow a Compass as possible. Let us go no farther, as to Time, than Seven Years last past; as to Place, than London and the Parts adjoining: As to Persons, than you and me, Thomas Church, preaching one Doctrine, John Wesley the Other. Now then let us consider with Meekness and Fear, what have been the Consequences of each Doctrine?

You have preach'd Justification by Faith and Works, at Battersea and St. Anne's, Westminster; while I preach'd Justification by Faith Alone, near Moorsields, and at Short's Gardens. I beseech you then to consider, in the Secret of your Heart, How many Sinners have you converted to God? By their Fruits we shall know them. This is a plain Rule. By this Test let them be tried. How many Outwardly and Habitually Wicked Men, have you brought to uniform Habits of Outward Holines? 'Tis an awful Thought! Can you instance in a hundred? In Fifty? In Twenty? In Ten?—If not, take heed unto Yourself and to your Doctrine. It cannot be, that both are right before God.

Confider now (I would not speak; but I dare not refrain) what have been the Consequences of even my preaching the other Doctrine? By the Fruits shall we know those of whom I speak: Even the Cloud of Witnesses, who at this Hour experience the Gospel I preach, to be the Power of God unto Salvation. The habitual Drunkard, that was, is now Temperate in all Things. The Whoremonger, now flees Fornication. He that stole, steals no more, but works with his Hands. He that curied or swore, perhaps at every Sentence, has now learned to serve the Lord with Fear, and rejoice unto him with Reverence. Those formerly inflaved to various Habits of Sin, are now brought to uniform Habits of Holiness. These are demonstrable Facts. I can name the Men, with their several Places of Abode. One of them was an avow'd Atheist for many Years; some were Jews; a considerable Number Papists: The greatest Part of them as much Strangers to the Form, as to the Power of Godliness.

When you have weigh'd these Things touching the Consequences of my Preaching, on the one Hand, (somewhat different from those set down in your Remarks) and of your Preaching on the Other, I wou'd earnestly recommend the following Words to your deepest Consideration: Beware of False Prophets; Ye shall know them by their Fruits. Do Men gather Grapes of Thorns, or Figs of Thisses? Even so every Good Tree (every True Prophet or Teacher) bringeth forth good Fruit—Every Tree that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is hewn down and cast into the Fire?

III. 1. Having spoke more largely than I design'd, on the Principle I hold in common with the Moravians, I shall touch very briefly on b those Errors (so call'd) which, you say, I hold, more than Theirs.

"You name, as the First, my holding, "That a Man may have a Degree of Justifying Faith, before he has, in the full, proper Sense, a New, a Clean Heart."

I have so often explained this, that I cannot throw away Time, in adding any more now: Only this, That the Moment a Sinner is justified, his Heart is cleansed in a low Degree. But yet he has not a Clean Heart, in the full, proper Sense, till he is made Perfect in Love.

2. Another Error you mention, is this d Dostrine of Perfection. To fave you from a continued Ignoration Elenchi, I wave disputing on this Point also, till you are better acquainted with my real Sentiments. I have declared them on that Head again and again; particularly in the Sermon on Christian Perfection.

3. Into this Fallecy you plunge from the Beginning to the End, of what you speak on my Third Error (so you term it) relating to the Lord's Supper; confuting as mime, 2 Notions which I know not. I cannot think any farther Answer is needful here, than the bare Recital of my own Words.

" b Friday, June 27. 1 preached on Do this, in Remembrance of me.

"It has been diligently taught among us, That none but those who are converted, who have received the Holy Ghost, who are Believers in the full Sense, ought to communicate."

"But Experience shews the gross Falshood of that Affertion, That the Lord's Supper is not a converting Ordinance. Ye are the Witnesses. For many now present know, the very Beginning of your Conversion to God, (perhaps in some the first, deep Conviction) was wrought at the Lord's Supper. Now one single Instance of this kind, overthrows that whole Affertion."

"The Falshood of the other Assertion appears both from Scripture—Precept and Example. Our Lord commanded those very Men who were then unconverted, who had not yet received the Holy Ghost, who (in the full Sense of the Word) were not Believers, to do this in Remembrance of Him. Here the Precept is clear. And to these he deliver'd the Elements with his own Hands. Here is Example, equally indisputable."

Supper was ordained by God, to be a Means of conveying to Men, either preventing or justifying, or fandifying Grace, according to their several Necessities. 2. That the Persons for whom it was ordained, are all those who know and feel that they awant the Grace of God, either to restrain them from Sin, or to steel their Sins forgiven, or to renew their Souls in the Image of God. 3. That inasmuch as we come to his Table, not to give him any Thing, but to receive whatsoever he sees best for us, there is no previous Preparation indispensably necessary; but a Defire to receive whatsoever he pleases to give. And, 4. That no Fitness is required at the Time of communicating, but a Sense of our State, of our utter Sinfulness and Helplessness: Every one who knows he is fit for Hell, being just fit to come to CHRIST. in this as well as all other Ways of his Appointment."

4. A Stoical Infensibility, you add, is the next Error I have to charge you with—You say "The Serwants of God suffer nothing," and suppose, that we Ought to be here so free, as in the strongest Pain, not once to defire to have a Moment's Ease.

At the End of one of your Hymns, you feem to carry this Notion, to the very Height of Extravagance and Presumption. You fay,

"Doom, if Thou canst, to endless Pains, "And drive me from thy Face."

A Stoical Insensibility is the Next Error I have to charge you with— And how do you support the Charge? Why thus—You say, the Servants of God suffer nothing." And can you possibly misunderstand these Words, if you read those that immediately follow? "His Body was well night torn as funder with Pain. But God made all his Bed in his Sickness. So that he was continually giving Thanks to God, and making his Boast of his Praise."

You suppose, we ought to be so free, as in the strongest Pain, not once to desire to have a Moment's East—O Sir, with what Eyes did you read those Words?

† "I dined with one who told me in all Simplicity, Sir, I thought last Week, there could be no such Rest as you describe; none in this World, wherein we should be so free, as not to desire Ease in Pain. But God has taught me better: For on Friday and Saturday, when I was in the Srongest Pain, I never once had one Moment's Desire of Ease, but only that the Will of God might be done." Do I say here, That we ought not, in the frongest Pain, once to desire to have a Moment's Ease?—What a frightful Distortion of my Words is this? What I say is, "A serious Person affirm'd to me, That God kept her for two Days in such a State." And why not? Where is the Absurdity?

At the End of One of your Hymns, you feem to carry this Notion to the very Height of Extravagancy and Presumption. You say,

- "Doom, if thou canst, to endless Pains, And drive me from thy Face."
- "If Thou canst,"—i e. If thou canst deny thyself, if thou canst forget to be gracious, if thou canst cease to be Truth and Love. So the Lines both preceding and following fix the Sense. I see nothing of Stoical Intensibility, neither of Extravagan: y or Presumption in this.
- 5. Your last Charge is, That I am guilty of Enthusisasm to the highest Degree. * Enthusiasm (you say) is a Falle Persuation of an extraordinary Divine Assistance, rubich leads Men on to such Conduct as is only to be justified by the Supposition of Such Affistance -- An Enthusiast is then Sincere but mistaken. His Intentions are Good-but bis Actions most abominable. Instead of making the Word of God the Rule of his Actions, he follows only that secret Impulse which is owing to a Warm Imagination-Instead of judging of his Spiritual Estate by the Improvement of his Heart, be rests only on Exstastes, &c. He is very hable to err, as not considering things coolly and carefully. He is very difficult to be convinced, by Reason and Argument, as be all upon a supposed Principle superior to it, the Direction of Goo's Spirit. Whoever opposes him is charged with rejecting the Spirit. His own Dreams must be regarded as Oracles. --- Whatever be does, is to be accounted the Work of Goo. Hence be talks in the Stile of Inspir'd Persons: And applies Scripture Phrases to himself, without. attending to their Original Meaning, or once confidering the Difference of Times and Circumstances.

You have drawn, Sir, (in the main) a True Picture of an Enthufiast. But it is no more like me, than I am like a Centuur. Yet you say, They are these very Things which have been charged upon you, and which you could never yet disprove: I will try for once; and to that end, will go over these Articles, one by one.

Euthusiasm is, a Felfe Persua fron of an Extraordinory Divine Affistance, which leads Men on to such Conduct as is only to be justified by the Supposition of such Assistance-Before this touches me, You are to prove (which I conceive you have not done yet) That my Conduct is such, as is only to be justified by the Supposition of an Extraordinary Divine Affiltance. An Enthusic st is then fincere, but mistaken, That I am mistaken remains also to be proved --- His Intentions are Good; but his Actions most Abon incble. Sometimes they are; yet not always. For there may be Innocent Madmen. But what Actions of Mine are most Abominable? I wait to learn. stead of making the Word of Goo the Rule of his Actions, he follows only his Secret Impulse. - In the whole Compass of Language, there is not a Proposition, which less belongs to me than this. I have declared again and arain, that I make the Word of Gop the Rule of all . my Actions: And that I no more follow any fecret Impulse instead thereof, than I follow Mahomet or Confucius.

Not even a Word or Look Do I approve or own, But by the Model of thy Book, Thy Sacred Book alone.

Instead of judging of his Spiritual Estate by the Improvement of his Heart, he rests only on Extasses—Neither is this my Case. I rest not on them at all. Nor did I ever experience Any. I do judge of my Spiritual Estate by the Improvement of my Heart and the Tenor of my Lise conjointly. He is very liable to err—So indeed I am. I find it every Day more and more. But I do not yet find, that this is owing to my want of considering Things coolly and carefully. Perhaps you do not know many Persons (excuse my Simplicity in speaking it) who more carefully consider every Step they they take. Yet I know, I am not cool or careful. enough. May God supply This and all my Wants! He is very difficult to be convinced, by Reason and Argument, as he acts upon a supposed Principle superior to it, the Direction of God's Spirit - I am very difficult to be convinced, by Dry Blows or Hard Names; (both, of which I have not wanted:) but not by Reason and Argument. At least that Difficulty cannot spring from the Cause you mention. For I claim no other Direction of Goo's Spirit, than is common to all Believers. Whoever opposes bim is charged with rejecting the Spirit - What, whoever oppoles me, John Wesley? Do I charge every such Person with rejecting the Spirit? No more than I charge him with robbing on the Highway. I cite you yourself, to confute your own Words. For do I charge you with rejecting the Spirit ? His own Dreams must be regarded as Oracles-Whole? I desire neither my Dreams nor my waking Thoughts, may be regarded at all, unless just so far as they agree with the Oracles of Gop. Whatever he does is to be accounted the Work of Gup. You strike quite wide of me still. never said to of what I do. I never thought so. Yet I trust what I do is pleasing to Goo. Hence be talks in the Stile of Inspired Persons .- No otherwise inspired, than you are, if you love God And applies Scripture Phrases to himself, without attending to their Original Meaning, or once considering the Difference of Times and Circumstances I am not conscious of any thing like this. I apply no Scripture Phrase either to myself or any other, without Carefully confidering both their Original Meaning, and the Secondary Sense, wherein fallowing for Different Times and Circumstances) it may be applied to ordinary Christians.

6. So much for the Bulk of your Charge. But it concerns me likewile, to gather up the Fragments of it. You fay, We defire no more, than to try your Sentiments and Proceedings, by the Written Word—Agreed. Begn when and where you please. We find there Good work as strongly insisted on as Faith—I do as strongly insist on them as on Faith. But each in its own Order. We find all Railing, &c. condemn'd therein-True; and so you may in all I write or preach. We are assured, that the doing what Gon commands, is the sure Way of knowing, that we have received his Spirit- We have doubtless received it, if we love Gon (as he commands) with all our Heart, Mind, Soul and Strength: And not by any Sensible Impulses or Feelings what soever ----- Any Senfible Impulses what soever ! Do you then exclude all-Senfible Impulses? Do you reject Imward Feelings toto genere? Then you reject both the Love of God and of our Neighbour. For if these cannot be imwardly felt, You reject all Joy in the Holy Ghoft. nothing can. For if we cannot be Senfible of this, it is no Joy at all. You reject the Peace of God, which if it be not felt in the inmost Soul, is a Dream, a Notion, an empty Name. You therefore reject the Whole Inward Kingdom of Gon, that is, in Effect, the whole Gospel of Jesus Christ.

You have therefore yourfelf abundantly shewn (what I do not infinuate, but proclaim on the House-top). That I am charged with Enthusiasm, for afferting the Power (as well as the Form) of Goddiness.

7. You go on * The Charatter of the Exthusiast above trawn, will sit, I believe, all such of the Methodists as ean be thought sincere—I believe not. I have tried it on One, and it sitted Him, just as Saul's Armour did Danid. However, a sew Instances of Enthusiasm, you undertake to shew in this very Journal.

And first, You give us One (these are your Words) of a private Revelation which you seem to pay great Credit to. You partly relate this, and then remark, What Enthussiasm is here? To represent the Conjectures of a Woman, whose Brain appears to have been too much beated, as if they had been owing to a particular and miraculous Spirit of Provincis?—Descant. Sir, as you please on this Enthusicism; on the Credit I paid to this Private Revelation; and my representing the Conjectures of this Brain-sick Woman, as owing to the miraculous Power of the Spirit of God. And when you have done, I will defire you to read that Passage once more: Where you will find my express Words are (introducing this Account) "Sunday, 11. I met with a surprizing Instance, of the Power of the Devil." Such was the Credit I paid to this Revelation! All which I ascribe to the Spirit of God is, The enabling her to strive against the Power of the Devil, and at length restoring Peace to her Soul.

8. As a Second Instance of Enthusiasm, you cite those Words, " † I expounded out of the Fulness which was given me." The whole Sentence is, "Out of the Fulness that was given me, I expounded those Words of St. Paul (indeed of every True Believer) To me to live is Christ, and to die is Gain." I mean, I had then a fuller, deeper Sense of that Great Truth, than I ordinarily have. And I still think it right, to assemble this, not to myself, but to the Giver of every good and person Gift.

You relate what follows as a Third I very extraordinary Instance of Enthuhafm. "Tuef. & Feb. 17. I left. Leaden. In the Afternoon I reach'd Oxford, and leaving my Horse there (for he was tired, and the Horseroad exceeding bad, and my Bufiness admitted of no Delay) set out on Foot for Stanton-harcourt. The Night overtook me in about an Hour, accompanied with heavy Rain. Being wet and weary, and not well knowing my Way, I could not help faying in my Heart, (tho' ashamed of my Want of Resignation to God's Will) O that Thou wouldst ftay the Bottles of Heaven! Or at least, give me Light or an Honest Guide! Or some Help, in the Manner thou knowest! Presently the Rain ceased: The Moon broke out, and a fiendly Man overtook me, who fet me on his own Horse, and walk'd by my Side, till we came to Mr. Gentold's Door."

Here you remark, If you would not have us look on this as Miraculous, there is nothing in it worthy of being related — It may be so; let it puss then as a Trisse not worth relating: But still it is no Proof of Enthusiasm. For I avou'd net bave you look on it as Miraculous. I do not myself look upon it as such; but as a Signal Instance of Gop's Particular Providence over all those who call upon him.

9. * In the same Spirit of Enthusiasm (you go on, citing this as a Fourth Instance) You describe Heaven as executing Judgments, Immediate Punishments, on those. who oppose you. You say, " Mr. Molther was taken ill this Day. I believe it was the Hand of God that was upon bim."-I do, but I do not say, as a Judgment from Gop, for opposing me. That You say for me. Again. you tell us of " one who was exceeding angry, at those who pretended to be in Fits; And was just going to kick one of them out of the Way, when She dropt down berself and was in violent Agonies for an Hour- And you fay you lest ber- under a deep Sense of the Just Judgment of Gop-So She term'd it, and so I believe it was. But, observe. Not for opposing me- Again, you mention as an awful Providence, the Cofe of a poor Wretch, who was last Week Curfing and Blaspheming, and had boafted to many, That he would come again on Sunday, and no Man should stop his Mouth then (His Month was stopp'd before, in the Midst of the most horrid Blasphemies, by asking him, "If He was fronger than God?") But on Friday, God leid bis Hand upon bim, and on Sunday he was buried I do look on this, as a Manifest Judgment of Goo, on a harden'd Sinner, for his complicated Wickedness - + Again, . One being just going to beat his Wife, (awhich he frequently did) God smote him in a Nomen: So the this Hund dropp'd, and he fell down upon the Ground, baving no more Strength than a new-boin Child-And can you, Sir, consider this, s one of the Common Dilpenstions of Providence? Il ve you known a Parallel one in your Life? But it was never cited by me, as it is by you, as an inmediate Punifo .. ent on a Man for of posing me. You have

Remarks, p. 66.

no Authority from any Sentence or Word of mine, for putting such a Construction upon it: No more than you have for that strange Intimation (How remote both from Justice and Charity!) That I parallel these Coses, with those of Ananias and Saphira, or of Elymas the Screer!

10. You proceed to what you account a 5th Inflance of Enthusiasm. With regard to People's falling in Fits, it is tlain, you look upon both the Diforders and the Removals of them to be Supernatural - It is not quite plain, I look upon some of these Cases as wholly Natural: On the reit, as Mixt; both the Diforder and the Removal being partly Natural and partly not. Six of these you pick out from, it may be, Two Hundred, and add. From all which you leave no room to doubt, that you would have these Cases considered, as those of the Demoniacks in the New Testament; in order, I suppose, to paralel your supposed Cures of them, with the Lighest Miracles of CHRIST and bis Disciples. I should once have wonder'd at your making fuch a Supposition: But I now wonder at nothing of this Kind-Only be pleas'd to remember, Till this Supposition is made good, it is no Confirmation at all of my Enthusiasm.

You then attempt to account for those Fits, by Obstructions or Irregularities of the Blood and Spirits; Hysterical Disorders; Wetchings, Fastings; Closeness of Rooms, great Crowds, wielent Heat. And lattly, by Terrors, Perplexities and Doubts, in weak and well-meaning Men; which, you think, in many of the Cases before us, have quite overfet their Understandings.

As to each of the rest, let it go as far as it can go. But I require Proof of the last Way whereby you wou'd account for these Disorders. Why, The Instances, You say, of Religious Madness, bave much increas'd since you began to dissure the World.— I doubt the Fact. Altho' if these Instances had increas'd lately, 'tis easy to account for them another Way. Most bave beard of or known several of the Methodists thus driven to Distraction—You may have beard of five hundred. But how many have you known? Be pleas'd to name eight or ten of them. I cannot find them, no not one of them to this Day, either Man, Woman or Child. I find fome indeed, whom You told, "They wou'd be diffracted, if they continued to follow these Men: And whom at that Time, you threw into much Doubt and Terror and Perplexity. But tho' they did continue to hear them ever fince, they are not distracted yet.

As for + the Abilities, Learning and Experience of Dr. M., if you are personally acquainted with him, You do well to testify them. But if not, permit me to remind you of the Old Advice,

Qualem commendes, etiam atg; etiam afpice; ne mox Incutiant aliena tibi Peccata Pudorem.

In endeavouring to account for the People's Recovery from those Disorders you say, $\frac{1}{2}$ shall not dispute how far Prayer may have naturally a good Effect (Nay, I am persuaded, you will not dispute but it may have Supernatural Good Effects also.) However, there is no need, of supposing these Recoveries Miraculous— who affirms there is? I have set down the Facts just as they were, passing no Judgment upon them myself, (consequently here is no Foundation for the Charge of Enthussias,) and leaving every Man else to judge as he pleases.

II. The next Passage you quote as a Proof of my Enthusiasm, taking the whole together, runsthus: "After communicating at St. Fames's, our Parish Church, I visited several of the Sick. Most of them were ill of the spotted several of the yinform'd me, had been extremely mortal, sew Persons recovering from it. But God had said, Hitherto shalt thou come. I believe there was not one with whom we were, but recover'd"—On which you comment thus; Here is indeed no Intimation of any thing Miraculous—No! Not so much as an Intimation! Then, why is this cited as an Instance of my Enthusiasm? Why, You seem to desire to have it believed, that an Extraordinary Blessing attended your Prayers: whereas, I believe they would not have failed of an equal Blessing and Success, had they had the Prayers of their own Parish Ministers.— I believe, this Argument will have Extraordinary Success, if it convince any one, that I am an Enthusiast.

12. You add, * I shall give but one Account more; and this is, what you give of yourself. The Sum whereof is, "At two several times, being ill and in violent Pain, I prayed to God and sound Immediate Ease." I did so. I aftert the Fact still. Now if these (you say) are not Miraculous Cures, all this is rank Enthusiasm.

I will put your Argument in Form

He that believes those are Miraculous Cures which are not so, is a Rank Enthusiast:

But you believe those to be Miraculous Cures which are not so:

Therefore you are a Rank Enthusiast.

Before I answer, I must know, What you mean by Miraculous? If you term every thing so, which is not strictly accountable for, by the Ordinary Course of Natural Causes; Then I deny the latter Part of the Minor Proposition. And unless you can make this Good, unless you can prove the Effects in question; are strictly accountable for, by the Ordinary Course of Natural Causes, your Argument is nothing worth.

You conclude this Head with, † Can you work Miracles.—All your present Presences to the Spirit, till they are proved by Miracles, cannot be excused, or acquitted from Enthusiasm.

My short Answer is this: I pretend to the Stirit just so far, as is essential to a State of Salvation. And cannot I be acquitted from Enthusiasm, till I prove by Miracles, that I am in a State of Salvation?

13. We now draw to a Period. The $\(\tau\) Consequences of Methodism (you say) i. e. of our Preaching this Loctrine, which have hither to appeared, are had enough to induce you to leave it. It has in fact introduced many Disorders, Enthusiasm, Antinomianism, Calvinism, a Neglect and Contempt of God's Ordinances, and almost all other Duties.

That whenever God revives his Work upon Earth, many Tares will spring up with the Wheat, both the Word of God gives us ground to expect, and the Experience of all Ages. But where, Sir, have you been, that you have heard of the Tares only? And that you rank among the Consequences of my Preaching, A Neglett and Contempt of God's Ordinances, and almost of all Duties? Does not the very reverse appear, at London, at Bristol, at Kingswood, at Newcastle? In every one of which Places, Multitudes of those (I am able to name the Persons) who before lived in a thorough Neglett and Contempt, of God's Ordinances and all Duties, do now zealously discharge their Duties to God and Man, and walk in all his Ordinances blameles.

And as to those Drunkards, Whoremongers and other Servants of the Devil, as they were before, who heard us a while and then fell to the Calvinifts or Moravians: Are they not even now in a far better State, than they were before they heard us? Admit they are in Error, yea and die therein, yet who dares affirm, They will perish everlastingly? But had they died in those Sins, we are sure they had fallen into the Fire shat never shall be quenched.

I hope, Sir, You will rejoice in confidering this, How much their Gain still outweighs their Lois: As well as in sinding the Sentiments you could not reconcile together, clearly and consistently explain'd. I am very willing to consider whatever farther You have to offer. May God give us both a right Judgment in all Things! I am persuaded you will readily join in this Prayer with

Reverend Sir,

Your Servant for CHRIST's Sake,

John Wesley.

Briffel, Feb. 2.
