Christian Sacrament

AND

SACRIFICE.

Extracted from Dr. BREVINT.

SECT. I.

The Importance of well understanding the Nature of this Sacrament.

THE facrament ordained by Christ the night before he suffered, which St. Paul calls—The Lord's Supper, is without doubt one of the greatest mysteries of godliness, and the most solemn feast of the Christian religion. At the holy table the people meet to worship God, and God is present, to meet and bless his people. Here we are in a special manner invited to offer up to God our fouls, our bodies, and whatever we can give: and God offers to us the body and blood of his Son, and all the other blessings which we have need to were the Holy Sacrament, like the A 2

antient pallover, is a great mystery, consisting both of facrament and facrifice; that is, of the religious fervice which the people owe to God, and of the full falvation which God hath promised to his people.

2. How careful then should every Christian be to understand, what so nearly concerns both his happiness and his duty! It was on this account that the devil from the very beginning, has been fo bufy about this facrament, driving men either to make it a false God, or an empty ceremony. So much the more, let all who have either piety towards God, or any care of their own fouls, fo manage their devotions, as to avoid superstition on the one hand, and profaneness on the other.

SECT. II.

Concerning the Sacrament, as it is a memorial of the fufferings and death of CHRIST.

THE Lord's Supper was chiefly ordained for a faerament. 1. To represent the sufferings of Christ which are past, whereof it is a memorial. 2. To convey the first fruits of these sufferings, in prefent graces, whereof it is a means; and 3. To affure us of glory to come, whereof it is an 'infallible pledge.

2. As this facrament looks back, it is a memorial which our Lord hath left in his church, of what he was pleased to suffer for her. For tho' these sufferings of his were both so dreadful and holy, as to make the heavens mourn, the earth quake, quake, and all men tremble: yet because the greatest things are apt to be forgotten when they are gone, therefore he was pleased at his last supper, to ordain this, as a holy memorial and representation of what he was then about to suffer. So that when Christian posterity slike the young Israelites who had not seen the killing of the first passover) should come to ask after the meaning of the bread broken, the wine poured out, and the partaking of both: this holy mystery might set forth both the martyrdom and the facrifice of this crucified Savieur; giving up his sless, shedding his blood, and pouring out his very foul, to atone for their sins.

g. Therefore, as at the passover, the late Jewssould say, This is the Lamb, these are the herbsour fathers did eat in Egypt; because these latter seasts did so effectually represent the sormer: so at our Holy Communion, which sets before our eyes Christ cur passour who is survisced for us; our Saviour, says St. Austin, doubted not to say, This is my body, when he gave the disciples the sigure of his body: especially because this sacrament duly received, makes the thing which it represents, as really present for our use, as if it were newly done. Eating this bread, and drinking this cup; ye do shew forth the Lord's stath.

4. And furely, it is no common regard we ought to have for these venerable representations, which God himself hath set up in and for his church. For these are far more than an ordinary sigure. And all sorts of signs and monuments are more or less venerable; according to the things which they represent. And these, besides their ordinary use, bear as it were on their face the glorious character of their divine appointment, and the express design that God hath to revive thereby, and to expose to all our fenses, his sufferings, as if they were present now.

5. Ought not then one who looks on these ordinances, and considers the great and dreadful passages which they set before him, to say in his heart, I observe on this altar somewhat very like the facrifice of my Saviour? For thus the bread of life was broken; thus the Lamb of God was slain, and his blood shed. And when I look on the minister, who by special order from God, distributes this bread and this wine, I conceive, that thus God himself hath both given his Son to die, and gives us still the virtue of his death.

6. Ought he not also to reverence and adore, when he looks toward that good hand, which has appointed for the use of the church, the memorial of these great things? As the Israelites, whenever they saw the cloud on the Temple, which God had hallowed to be the sign of his presence, presently used to throw themselves on their faces, not to worship the cloud, but God: so whenever I see these better signs of the glorious mercies of God, I will not fail both to remember my Lord who appointed them, and to worship him whom they represent.

7. To complete this worship, let us exercise such a faith, as may answer the great end of this sacrament. The main intention of Christ herein, was not, the bare remembrance of his passion; but over and above, to invite us to his sacrifice, not as done and gone many years since, but, as to grace and mercy, still lasting, still new, still the same as when it was first offered for us. The facrifice of Christ being appointed by the Father for a propitiation that should continue to all ages; and withall being everlasting by the privilege of its own order, which is an amchangeable priesthood, and by his worth who offered it, that is, the bleffed Son of God, and by the power of the eternal Spirit, thro' whom it was offered: it must in all respects stand eternal,

the same yesterday, to-day and for ever.

8. Here then faith must be as true a fubfiftence of those things past which we believe, as it is of the things yet to come, which we hope for: by the help of which, the believer being prostrate at the Lord's table, as at the very foot of his cross, should with earnest forrow confess and lament all his sins, which were the nails and spears that pierced his Saviour. We ourselves have crucified that just One. Men and brethren, what shall we do? Let us fall amazed at that stroke of divine justice, that could not be fatisfied but by the death of God! How dreadful is this place! How deep and holy is this mystery! What thanks should we pay for those inconceivable mercies of God the Father, who so gave up his only Son! And for the mercies of God the Son, who thus gave himself up for us!

g. My Lord and my God, I behold in this bread, made of corn that was cut down, beaten, ground and bruised by men, all the heavy blows and plagues and pains, which thou didft suffer from thy murderers. I behold in this bread dried up and baked with fire, the fiery wrath which thou didft suffer from above! My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken him? The violence of wicked men first hath made him a martyr; then the fire of heaven hath made him a burnt-sacrifice. And lo, he is become to me the bread of life!

Let us go then to take and eat it. For tho' the instruments that bruised him be broken, and the flames that burnt him be put out, yet this bread continues new. The spears and swords that slew, and the burnings that compleated the facrifice,

facrifice, are many years fince feattered and fpent. But the fweet finell of the offering still remains, the blood is still warm, the wounds still fresh, and the Lamb still standing as slain. Any other facrifice by time may lose itsftrength. But thou, O eternal victim, offered up to God thro the eternal Spirit, remainest always the same. And as thy years shall not fail, fo they shall never abate any thing of thy faving ftrength and mercy. O help me, that they abate nothing of my faith! Help me to grieve for my fins and thy pains, as they did who faw thee fuffer. Let my heart burn to follow thee now, when this bread is broken at this table, as the hearts of thy disciples did, when thou didft break it in Emmaus. O rock of Ifrael, rock of falvation, rock struck and cleft for me, let those two streams of blood and water which once gushed out of thy side, bring down pardon and holiness into my soul. And let me thirst after them now, as if I stood upon the mountain whence forung this water; and near the cleft of that rock, the wounds of my Lord, whence gushed this sacred blood. All the distance of times and countries between Adam and me, doin not keep his sin and punishment from reaching me, any more than if I had been born in his house. Adam descended from above, let thy blood reach as far, and come as freely tolave and fanctify me, as the blood of my first father did, both to destroy and defile me. Blessed Jesu, strengthen my faith, prepare my heart, and then bless this thine ordinance. If I but touch, as I ought, the hem of thy garment, the garment of thy pailion; virtue will proceed out of thee; it shall be done according to my faith, and my poor souls shall be made whole!

SECT.

SECT. III.

Concerning the Sacrament, as it is a fign of prefent graces.

1. A S to the present graces that attend the due use of this facrament, it is first a figure whereby God represents, 2. An instrument whereby he conveys them.

First, It is a figure or sign thereof. It is the ordinary way of God, when he either promises or bestows on men any considerable blessing to consimm his word and his gift, with the addition of some sign. So the burning bush was a sign to Moses, and the cloud that went with them to the Israelites. And in like manner hath Christ ordained outward visible signs of inward and spiritual grace, to assure every one who believes, that he shall be cleansed from his sins, as certainly as he sees that water, and he shall be fed with the grace of God, as certainly as he feeds on this bread and wine.

2. And as water was fitly chosen for the outward fign in baptism, because of the virtue it hath to cleanse, and purify: so were bread and wine fitly chosen for the outward figns of what is represented in the Lord's Supper; viz. First, The sufferings of Christ, and second, The blessings which we receive thereby. First, The sufferings of Christ. This bread and wine, do not sustain me, till the one has been cut down, ground and baked with fire, and the other pressed and trodden under foot. Nor did the Son of God fave me, but by being bruised, and prest and confumed, as it were, by the fire of God's wrath. As the best corn is not bread while it stands in the field: so neither could Jesus Iiving, teaching, working miracles, be the bread of life: it must be Jesus suffering, Jesus crueisted, Jesus dying. Nothing less than the cross, than wounds and death, my Lord, my God! could of thy dearest Son make my Saviour.

3. This facrament, fecondly, represents the blessings which we receive by his passion. Now as without bread and wine, or something anfwerable to it, the strongest bodies soon decay, so without the virtue of the body and blood of Christ, the holiest souls must soon perish. And as bread and wine keep up our natural life, so doth our Lord Jesus by a continual susply of strength and grace, represented by bread and wine, sustain that spiritual life which he hath procured us by his crofs.

4. The first breath of spiritual life in our nostrils, is the first purchase of Christ's blood. But alas! How foon would this first life vanish away, were it not followed and supported by a second? Therefore the sacrifice of Christ procures also grace, to renew and preserve the life he hath given. As the blood which he shed, satisfied the divine justice, and removed our punishment, fo the water washes and cleanses the pardoned foul; and both these blessings are inseparable; even as the blood and water were, which flowed together out of his fide.

5. There remains yet another life, which is an absolute redemption from death and our miferies. This, as to the right of it, is together with the other, purchased by the same sacrifice: but as to the possession, it is reserved for us in beaven, till Christ become our full and final redemption.

redemption. Now the giver of these lives, is the preserver of them to; and to this end, he Sets up a table by his altar, where he engages to feed our fouls, with the constant supply of his mercies, as really as he feeds our bodies, with his bread and wine. In the deliverance from Egypt, here is a people faved by the facrifice of the passover; and lest they should die in the wilderness, there you see an angel leading them with his light, keeping them cool under the shadow of his cloud, and feeding them with manna. Jelus is the truth foreshewed by these figures. He was the true pallover, when he died upon the cross. And he feeds from heaven by continually powering out his bleffings, the fouls he redeemed by pouring out his blood.

6. Thus this facrament alone represents at once, both what our Lord suffered, and what he still doth for us. What we take and eat, is made of a substance, cut, bruised and put to the fire; that shews my Saviour's passion: and it was used thus, that it might afford me food; that shews the benefit I receive from his passion. In the sacrament are represented both life and death; the life is mine; the death, my Saviour's. O blessed Jesus, my life comes out of thy death; and the salvation which I hope for, is purchased with all the pain and agonies, which thou didst fuffer.

7. Author of my falvation, bestow on me these two blessings, which this sacrament shews together, mercy and strength to keep mercy. Hosannah, O Son of David, save and preserve! Save me that I may not fall by the hand of the destroyer; and preserve me, that after this salvation I may not fall by my own hand: but set forward in me, notwithstanding all my sins, the work of thy saithful mercies. Let me not increase my guilt, by abusing what theu gavest.

My Saviour, my preserver, give me always what thou givest once. Create in me a new heart; but keep what thou createst, and increase more and more what thou plantest. O Son of God, feed this tender branch, which without thea cannot but wither; and strengthen thou a bruised reed, which without thee cannot but fall. Father of everlasting compassions, forsake not in the wilderness a feeble Israelite, whom thou hast brought a little way out of Egypt; and let not a poor foul whom thou hast helped a-while, ever faint and fall from the right way. Thou art as able to perfect me with the bleffings out of thy throne, as to redeem me by the faorifice on thy cross. O thou who art the truth of what thou biddest me take, perform in me what thou dost shew. Give me eternal life by those thy sufferings; for here is the body broken: give also strength and nourishment for this life: for here is the bread of heaven.

SECT. IV.

Concerning the Sacrament, as it is a means of grace.

1. ITHERTO we have confidered this holy facrament both as a memorial of the death of Christ, and a fign of those graces wherewith he sustains and nourishes believing souls. But this is not all: for both the end of the holy communion, the wants and defires of those who receive it, and the strength of other places of scripture, require, that much more be contained therein, than a bare memorial or representation.

1. The end of the holy communion,

nion, which is to make us partakers of Christ in another manner, than when we only hear his word; 2. The wants and desires of those who receive it; who seek not a bare representation or remembrance. I want and seek my Saviour himself, and I haste to this sacrament for the same purpose, that St. Peter and John hasted to his sepulchre; because I hope to find him there.

3. The strength of other places in scripture, which allow it a far greater virtue than that of representing only. The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? A means of communicating the blood there represented and remembered, to every believing soul!

2. And that it doth convey grace and bleffing to the true believer, is evident from its conveying a curse to the profane. Whosever eateth unworthily, saith St. Paul, eateth damnation to himself. And how can we think, that it is thus really hurtful when abused; but not really blissful in its right use? Or that this bread should be effectual, to procure death, but not effectual to procure salvation? God forbid that the body of Christ, who came to save, not destroy, should not shed as much of its savour of life to the devout soul, as it doth of its savour of death to the wicked and impenitent.

3. I come then to God's altar with a full persuasion, that these words, This is my body, promise me more than a figure; that this holy banquet is not a bare memorial only, but may actually convey as many blessings to me, as it brings curses on the profane receiver. Indeed in what manner this is done, I know not; it is enough for me to admire. One thing I know (as said the blind man of our Lord) he laid clay upon mine eyes, and behold I see. He hath blessed and given me this bread, and my soul received comfort. I know, that clay hath nothing in itself, which could have wrought such a miracle. And I know that this Bread hath nothing in itself, which can impart grace, holiness and falvation. But I know also, that it is the ordinary way of God, to produce his greatest works, at the presence (though not by the power) of the most useless instruments. At the very Aroke of a rod, he divided the sea. At the blowing some trumpets, he threw down massy walls. At the washing in Jordan, he cured Naaman of a plague, that was naturally incurable. And when but a shadow went by, or some oil was dropped, or cloaths were touched by those that were fick, presently virtue went out, not of rods, or trumpets, or shadows, or cloaths—but of himfelf.

4. It was the right-hand of the Lord, which of old time brought these mighty things to pass, either when the red sea opened a way for Ifrael to march, or when the rock poured out rivers to refresh them. And so now it is Christ himself. with his body and blood, once offered to God upon the cross, and ever fince standing before him as flain, who fills his church with the perfumes of his facrifice, whence faithful communicants return home, with the first fruits of salva-Bread and wine can contribute no more to it, than the rod of Moses, or the oil of the Apostles. But yet, fince it pleaseth Christ to work thereby, O my God, whenfoever thou shalt bid me, Go and wash in Jordan, I will go; and will no more doubt of being made clean from my fins, than i'I had bathed in thy blood. And when thou fayest, Go, take and eat this bread which I have bleffed, I will doubt no more of being fed with the bread of life, than if I were eating thy yery flefh.

5. This victim having been offered up in the fulness of times, and in the midst of the world, which is Christ's great temple, and having been thence carried up to heaven, which is his fanctuary; from thence spreads falvation all around, as the burnt-offering did its smoke. And thus his body and blood have every where, but especially at this sacrament, a true and real presence. When he offered himself upon earth, the vapour of his atonement went up and darkened the very fun: and by rending the great veil, it clearly shewed, he had made a way into heaven. And since he is gone up, he sends down to earth the graces that spring continually both from his everlasting sacrifice, and from the continual intercession that attends it. So that we need not say, Who will go up into heaven? Since without either ascending or descending, this sacred body of Jesus, fills with atonement and blessings the remotest parts of this temple.

6. Of these blessings Christ from above is pleased to bestow sometimes more, sometimes less, in the several ordinances of his church, which as the stars in heaven, differ from each other in glory. Fasting, prayer, hearing his word, are all good vessels, to draw water from this well of salvation. But they are not all equal. The holy communion when well used, exceeds as much in blessing, as it exceeds in danger of a curse, when wickedly and irreverently taken.

7. This great and holy mystery communicates to us, the death of our blessed Lord, both as offering himself to God, and as giving himself to Man. As He offered himself to God, it enters me into that mystical body for which he died, and which is dead with Christ: Yea, it sets me on the very shoulders of that eternal priest, while he offers up himself and intercedes for his spirit-spiritual Ifrael. And by this means it conveys to me the communion of his fufferings, which leads to a communion in all his graces and glories. As he offers himself to man, the holy sacrament is, after the sacrifice for sin, the true sacrifice of peace-offerings, and the table purposely set, to receive those mercies that are sent down from his altar. Take and eat; this is my body which was broken for you. And this is the blood which was shed for you.

8. Here then I wait at the Lord's table, which both frews me what an Apostle, who had heaven for his school, had the greatest mind to see and learn, and offers me the richest gift which a faint can receive on earth, the Lord Jesus crucified.

Amen, my Lord and my God! Give me all which thou shewest, and grant that I may faithfully keep all thou givest. Bless thine ordinance, and make it an effectual means of thy grace: then bless and sanctify my heart also. O my father, here I offer up to thee my foul; and thou offerest to me thy son. What I offer, is indeed an unclean habitation to receive the Holy One of Ifrael. Come in nevertheless, thou eternal priest; but cleanse thy house at thy coming. am a poor, finful, lost creature; but such as I am, finful and loft, I wait for thy falvation. Come in, O Lord, with thy falvation to a dying man and make me whole; to a finner bound hand and foot, and release me. Come, as thou didst to the publican. Oh! let this day salvation come to this house.

SECT. V.

Concerning the facrament, as it is a pledge of future glory,

A Pledge and an earnest differ in this, that an earnest may be allow'd upon account, for part of that payment which is promifed, whereas pledges are taken back. Thus for example, zeal, love, and those degrees of holiness, which God bestows in the use of his sacraments. will remain with us when we are in heaven, and there make part of our happiness. But the sacraments themselves shall be taken back and shall - no more appear in heaven than did the cloudy pillar in Canaan. We shall have no need of these facred figures of Christ, when we see him face to face: or of these pledges of that glory to be revealed, when we shall actually possess it. But till this day, the holy facrament hath that third use, of being a pledge from the Lord that he will give us that glory.

2. Our Lord pointed at this, when he faid to his disciples, the holy cup being in his hard, that he would drink no more of that fruit, till he should drink it new in the kingdom of his father. In the purpose of God, his church and heaven go both together: that being the way that leads to this, as the holy place to the holiest; both which are implied in what Christ calls the kingdom of God. Whosever therefore are admitted to this dinner of the lamb, unless they be wanting to themselves, need not doubt of being admitted to Ba the marriage supper of him, who was dead, but now liveth for evermore.

- 3. Our Saviour hath given us by his deaththree kinds of life; and he promises to nourish. us in every one of them, by these tokens of bread. and wine, which he hath made this facrament. Two of these are already nourished hereby; but the third we are not yet come to. This is that eternal life, for which we are as yet too vile veffels. We are now neither of age to enjoy our inheritance, nor able to bear the weight of eternal glory. And therefore it lies for us in his. hands. But we know in whom we have believed, and are perfuaded he is able to keep that fafe which we have committed unto him against that day. By faith we deposit or lay down this great treasure, in the hands of God to keep. And God by this. facrament affures us, both that he will keep it fafe, and will restore it to us when we are meet for it.
- 4. This third use is the crown of the othertwo; and indeed they all aim at the same glory: The first is, to set out as new and fresh the holy fufferings, which have purchased our titleto eternal happiness: the second is, both to represent and to convey to our fouls, all necessamy graces to qualify us for it: and the third is, to affere us, that when we are qualified for it, God will faithfully render to us the Purchase. And these three make up the proper sense of those words, take, eat; this is my body. For the confectated bread doth not only represent his body, and being the virtue of it into our fouls on earth; but as to our happiness in heaven bought with that price, it is the most folemn instrument to assure our title to it.
- 5. Our bleffed Lord being desirous before his death, as by a deed of his last will, to settle an his disciples both such a measure of grace in in this life, as might now make them holy; and after this life, such a fullness of blessings as might make them eternally happy: he delivers into our hands, by way of instrument and conveyance, the blessed facrament of his body and blood: In the same manner as kings use to bestow dignities, by the bestowing of a staff or a sword; and as fathers bestow estates on their children, by giving them some few writings.

6. The reason of all this is, the giver cannot put into his friend's hands, houses and lands. because they are of an immoveable nature. And therefore this must be supplied by some forms or tokens, by which his design may be sufficiently made known. Now Christ and his estate, his happiness and his glory, his eternity and his heaven, are not things that may be moved more easily than the mountains on the earth. And therefore these can be no otherwise made over, than great immoveable estates are. Wherefore as the kingdom of Ifrael was once made over to David. with the oil that Samuel pour'd upon his head; so the body and blood of Jesus is in full value, and heaven with all its glory, in fure title made over to true christians by that bread and winewhich they receive in the holy communion: the minister of Christ having as much power from his master for doing this, as any prophet ever had for what he did.

7. O Lord Jesus, who hast ordained these mysteries for a communion of thy body, a means of thy grace and a pledge of thy glory, settle me hereby in the communion of thy sufferings which they shew forth; seed me with that living bread which they present, and sanctify me in body and spirit for that eternal happiness which they promife.

Eternal priest, who art gone up on high, to receive gifts for men, fill my heart, I beseech thee, with bleffings out of thy holy seat, as now thou fillest my mouth with the holy things of thy church. O that in the strength of this meat, I may walk my forty days, till I come to that holy mountain, where without the help of any bread or outward sign, I shall see my God face to face. Blessed spirit, help me to drink so worthily of this fruit of the vine, that I may drink it new in the kingdom of my father!

SECT. VI.

Concerning the facrament, as it is a facrifice. And first, of the commemorative facrifice.

1. THERE never was on earth a true re-ligion, without some kind of facrifices. And the heathens who cast this slander on the Christian church, did it for no better reason than this, because they saw neither altars set up, nor beafts flain or burnt among them. Even as they accused the Jews of adoring nothing but clouds, because they had no gods of stone or filver. Whereas in truth, as what was stone or filver, could not be a god; fo neither could the bare flaughter of beafts, be a real facrifice. None of thele facrifices could ever take away fin, but in dependence on that of Jesus Christ. And no facrifice under the law could represent our service to Cod, so fully as it is done under the gospel. The holy communion alone brings together these two great ends, atonement of fins, fins, and acceptable duty to God, of which all the facrifices of old, were no more than weak · shadows. As for the atonement of sin, 'tis sure the facrifice of Christ alone was sufficient for it: and that this great facrifice, being both of an infinite value, to fatisfy the most severe justice, and of an infinite virtue, to produce all its effects at once, need never more be repeated. This perhaps was the want of faith in Moses; (Numb. xx. 12.) to strike a second time, and without order, that mysterious rock, which to firike once had been enough. For this second blow could only proceed, from a faithless mistrust, as if the first, which alone was enjoined could not fuffice. But it were a much greater offence against the blood of Christ, to question its infinite worth. The offering of it therefore must need be once only; and the repeating thereof, utterly superfluous.

Nevertheless this sacrifice, which by a real obligation was not to be offered more than once, is by a devout and thankful commemoration, to be offered up every day. This is what the apostle calls, to fet forth the death of the Lord: to let it forth as well before the eyes of God his father, as before the eyes of men: and what St. Austin explained, when he said, the holy flesh of Jesus was offered in three manners; by prefiguring facrifices under the law, before his coming into the world, in real deed upon his cross, and by a commemorative sacrament after he ascended into heaven. All comes to this, 1. That the facrifice in itself, can never be repeated; 2. That nevertheless, this facrament, by our remembrance, becomes a kind of facrifice, whereby we present before God the father, that precious oblation of his Son once offered. And thus do we every day offer unto God, the meritorious sufferings of our Lord, as the only fure ground whereon God may give, and and we obtain the bleffings we pray for. Now, there is no ordinance or mystery, that is so blesfed an instrument to reach this everlasting facrifice, and to fet it folemnly forth before the eyes of God, as the holy communion is. To men it is a faired table, where God's minister is ordered to represent from God his master, the passion of his dear son, as still fresh, and still powerful for their eternal salvation. And to God it is an altar, whereon men mystically present to him, the fame facrifice, as still bleeding and fuing for mercy. And because it is the high priest himself, the true anointed of the Lord, who hath fet up both this table and the altar, for the communication of his body and blood to men, and for the representation of both to God; it cannot be doubted but that the one is most profitable to the penitent sinner, and the other most acceptable to his gracious father.

3. The people of Ifrael in worshipping, ever turned their eyes and their hearts, toward that facrifice, the blood whereof the high priest was to carry into the fanctuary. So let us ever turn our eyes and our hearts, toward Jesus our eternal high priest, who is gone up into the true fanctuary, and doth there continually present both his own body and blood before God and (as Aaron did) all the true Ifrael of God in a memorial. In the mean time, we beneath in the church, present to God his body and blood in a memorial, that under this shadow of his cross, and figure of his sacrifice, we may present ourselves in very deed before him.

4. O Lord, who feeft nothing in me, that is truly mine, but finful dust and ashes, look upon the sacrifice of thy dear Son, once offered for my fins. Turn thine eyes, O merciful father, to the satisfaction and intercession of my Lord, who now sate at thy right hand; to the seals of thy covenant,

mant, which lies before thee upon this table; and to all the wants, weaknesses and distresses, which thou sees in my heart. O father, glorify thy Son; O Son of God, bless thou thine ordinance, and send with it the influence of that spirit, whom thou hast promised to all siesh: that by the help of these mercies, the world, the church and our souls may glorify thee now and ever.

SECT. VII.

Concerning the facrifice of ourselves.

Too many who are call'd Christians live as if under the gospel there were no facrifice but that of Christ on the cross. And indeed there is no other, that can atone for our fins, or fatisfy the justice of God. Though the whole church should offer up herself as a burnt facrifice to God, yet could fhe contribute no more towards bearing away the wrath to come, than those who stood near Christ when he gave up the ghost, did toward the darkening of the fun, or the shaking of the earth. But what is not necessary to this sacrifice which alone redeemed mankind, is absolutely necessary to our having a share in that redemption. though the facrifice of ourselves cannot procure salvation, yet it is altogether needful to our receiving it.

2. As Aaron never came in before the Lord, without the whole people of Ifrael, represented both by the 18 stones on his breast, and by the two others on his shoulders: so Jesus Christ does nothing without his church; insomuch that sometimes they are represented as only one person: seeing Christ acts and suffers for his body, in that manner which becomes the head, and the church follows all the motions and sufferings of her head, in such a manner as is possible to its weak members.

3. The whole divinity of St. Paul turns upon this conformity both of actions and fufferings; and that of St. John likewise, upon this same communion or fellowship. The truth is, our Lord had neither birth, nor death, nor resurrection on earth, but such as we are to conform to: as he hath neither ascention, nor everlasting life, nor glory in heaven, but such as we may have in common with him.

4. This conformity to Christ, which is the grand principle of the whole Christian religion, relates first to our duty, about his fufferings; and then to our happiness about his exaltation, presupposing his fufferings. And both make up a full comment on our Lords frequent command to his disciples, to follow him. For without doubt we shall follow him into heaven, if we will follow him on earth: and shall have communion with him in glory, if we have conformity with him here in his sufferings.

5. These expressions to follow, to have conformity and to have communion, oblige us all to follow him, as much as in us lies, through all the parts of his life, and every function of his office. We must be born with him, die on his cross, be buried in his grave, suffer in his tribulations. Christ and Christians must be continually together: where I am, saith he, there shall my servant be. But of all these duties, the most necessary is, the bearing his cross, and dying with him in facrifice.

6. Christ

6. Christ never designed to offer himself for his people, without his people; no more than the high priests of old. He presented himself to God in this great temple, the world, at the head of all mankind. He came as a voluntary victim to the altar, being attended on by his Israel, who, as it were, with their hands, laid all their sins upon his head. Therefore, as it was necessary, that they who fought for atonement should wait upon the sacrifice; so it is, that whoever seeks eternal salvation, should wait at that altar, the cross, whereon this eternal priest and sacrifice, was pleased to offer up himself.

7. The finners indeed under the law did not die at the altar, the victim alone being burned and destroyed. But because they laid their hands on it when it was dying, and fell on their faces to the ground, when it fell bleeding to death, they were reputed to offer up themselves as well as the victim. So Christians are not crucified in the same manner as Christ was, yet because they cast themselves upon his cross and sufferings, as the only means of atonement for their fins and falvation for their fouls, because of the grief they fuffer to think of the fon of God thus dying, dying only for their fake, which is as a fword both to pierce their hearts, and to pierce and crucify their fins; and because their whole body of fin being thus crucified, there remains no life in them, but what is offered up to God's fervice: on all these grounds, the Saviour thus offering himself, and the saved so united to him by faith, so partaking of his sufferings, and so given up to his will, are accounted before God one and the same sacrifice.

8. But be it observed that in order to their being so accounted, they are to crucify their sinful members, as really as Christ himself had his his finless body crucified: so that each may say, I am crucified to the world, and the world crucified to me. And thus Jesus Christ and his whole church do together make up that compleat sacrifice, which was foreshewn by that of old, whereof, the kidneys and fat were burnt upon the altar; but the flesh, the skin, feet and dung (emblems of fin) were thrown and burnt without the camp. For Christ and his church so joined in one offering, that he contributes all that can go up into heaven, to appeale and please God; and we contribute nothing but sin, but what must be removed out of the way: yea, and so that it is needful farther, in order to our being accounted one facrifice with him, that not only our persons but all our actions likewise, be wholly devoted to God. I am crucified with Christ. Now I live not (saith the Christian) but Christ liveth in me. And the life which I now live in the sless, I live by faith in the son

o. This act of the church confecrating herfelf to God, and so joined to Christ, as to make but one oblation with him, is the mystery which was once represented by the daily sacrifice: the first and chief part whereof was the lamb, which did foreshew the lamb of God: the second was the meat (or rather meal) drink-offering, made of flour, mingled with oil and wine; all which being thrown on the lamb continually, was accounted one and the fame facrifice. Now these, which were so thrown on the main facrifice, fignified properly these offerings, which Christians must present to God of themselves, their goods and their praises. From this meal and drink-offering came the bread and wine to be used at the Lord's supper. Now all we can offer on our own account, is but such an oblation, as this meal and drinkeffering was, which cannot be presented alone, but only with the merits of Jesus Christ, and which cannot go to heaven but with the smoke of that great burnt sacrifice. On the one side, neither our persons nor works can be presented to God, otherwise than as these additional offerings, which of themselves fall to the ground, unless the great facrisice sustain them. And on the other side, this great facrisice sustains and sanctises only those things, that are thrown into his fire, hallowed upon his altar, and together with him confecrated to God.

10. Now tho' we are called at all times to this conformity and communion in the sufferings of Christ, yet more especially when we approach this dreadful mystery, let us take a peculiar care, that as both the principal and additional facrifices went up toward heaven in the same flame, fo Jefus Christ and all his members may jointly appear before God, that we may offer up our fouls and bodies, at the same time, in the same place and in the same oblation. Let us take care to attend on this facrifice in such a manner, 1. As may become faithful disciples, who are resolved to die for and with their master. 2. As true members that cannot outlive their head, and 3. As penitent sinners, who cannot look for any share in the glory of their Saviour unless they really enter into the communion of that facrifice and those sufferings, which their master, their head and their Saviour has past through, and which they are engaged to by this very Sacrament.

11. To this effect, the faithful worshipper, prefenting that foul and body, which God hath given him, at the altar, may fay.

Lo, I come! if this foul and body may be useful to any thing, to do thy will, O God. And if it please thee to use the power thou haft ever dust and ashes, over weak slesh and blood, over a brittle vessel of clay, over the work of thine own hands; lo, here they are, to fuffer also thy good pleasure. If thou please to visit me either with pain or dishonour, I will humble myfelf under it, and through thy grace, be obedient unto death, even the death upon the crofs. Whatfoever may befall me either from neighbours or strangers, since it is thou employest them, though they know it not (unless thou help me to some lawful means of redressing the wrong) I will not open my mouth before the Lord who smiteth me, except only to fing the Pfalm after I have eaten those bitter herbs which belong to this paffover, and to blefs the Lord. Hereafter no man can take away any thing from me, no life. no honour, no estate: since I am ready to lay them down, as foon as I perceive thou requireft them at my hands. Nevertheless, O father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me; but if not, thy will be done. Whatever sufferings hereafter may trouble my flesh, or whatever agonies may trouble my spirit, O Father, into thy hand will I commend my life, and all that concerneth it. And if thou be pleafed, either that I live, yet a while, or not, I will with my Saviour, bow down my head, I will humble myself under thy hand; I will give up all thou art pleas'd to ask, until at last I give up the ghost.

measure of that spirit, through which thy son offered himself as may sanctify for ever the body and soul which I now offer: a spirit of contrition, that I may loath those sins which delivered my God to death; and a spirit of holiness, that I may never be tempted to them again, any more than a crucissed man can be tempted. O let this body never be united from his cross, to return as resh to folly and vanity. Arm and rod of

own fon, correct and destroy them also in me. O my God, accept of a heart, that sheds now before thee its tears, as a poor victim does its blood; and that raises up unto thee all its desires, as a burnt offering does its slames. And since my sacrifice can neither be holy nor accepted, being alone, receive it, O sather, clothed with the righteousness of thy son, and made acceptable with that holy perfume which rises from off his altar: and grant that he who sanctifies and they who are sanctified, may pertake of one passion, and enjoy with thee the same glory!

SECT. VIII.

Concerning the facrifice of our goods.

It is an express command of God by Moses, that no worshipper should appear before the Lord empty. Nor is this repealed by Christ. Sincere Christians therefore, at the receiving of the holy communion, should together with the actual sacrisce of themselves, bring the freewill-offering of their goods. Indeed this as naturally follows the former, as the fruits and leaves follow the tree, and as what we have or can, comes after what we are. Otherwise, our facrisce were maimed, and would not suit with that of Christ, which was whole and entire. Therefore, as our bodies and souls are facrisces attending the sacrisce of Christ, so must all our goods attend the sacrisce of our persons. In a word, whensever we offer our-felves, we offer by the felf fame aft, all that we have, all that we can, and do therein engage for all, that it shall be dedicated to the glory of God, and that it shall be surrendered into his hands, and employed for such uses as he shall appoint.

The state of the s

2. It behaved Ifrael to go forth out of Egypt, with all their cattle and goods, to offer them unto the Lord, that he might take either all, or fuch a part, as he would be pleafed to chuse, And so it behaves every sinner at his conversion to God, and whenever he approaches his table, to confecrate all he has to Jesus Christ. From that very moment that we give up ourselves to Christ, who hath likewise given himself for us, as all he possesses ours, namely, grace, his immortality, his glory, (which he bestows upon us at the times he sees best for our falvation) fo all we have becomes his, and he may take it after, in what time and manner he shall see best for his glory. All things are his, as he is fovereign Lord and God. But all that we have is his by a farther title, because we have given them, with our own persons, by our own act and deed. So that all which we are, which we can give, even to the least vessel our houses, is made holy in this one consecration, according to the words of the prophet: In that day shall be upon the very bridles of the horses, Holinefs unto the Lord: and every pot in Jerusalem and Judah, shall be holy unto the Lord. Zech. xiv.

3. This confectation whereby the worshipper offers up himself, and all his concerns to God, is first, as to our souls and bodies an inexpressible blessing, raising us to the very nature, the holiness and immortality of God. Secondly, as to the consecrated things, it is a miraculous privilege, which infinitely multiplies whatever is thus parted

parted with. It bleffes the use of it, although it be but presented, as long as we can enjoy it: and exchanges it, when we can enjoy it no more, not as if water was turned into wine, or dirt into gold; but as if we conceive a glass of water turned into streams of everlasting comforts, small cottages of clay into royal palaces, or the dust of Israel into so many stars of heaven.

4. Now though our Lord, by that everlasting facrifice of himself, offers himself at all times and in all places, as we likewise offer ourselves and all that is ours, to be a continual facrifice: yet because Christ offers himself for us at the holy communion, in a peculiar manner; we also should then, in a more special manner, renew all our facrifices. Then and there, at the altar of God, it is right, both to repeat all the vows and promises, which for some hindrances or other we had not yet the convenience to sulfil; and to renew all those other performances, which can never be fulfill'd, but with the end of our days.

5. But at the same time that the Christian believer does any good work, let him draw out of the good treasure of his heart, fire and frankincense, that is, such zeal and love as may raise good, moral works into religious facrifices. Whenever he helps his neighbour, let him fo reverently and fervently lift up his heart to God, as may become both that majesty he adores, and the pious act which he intends. And then when-ever he does it at his door, or in the way, or in the temple, it matters not; for the hour is long fince come, that acts of religion are not confined either to Jerusalem, or to this mountain. Wherefoever thou hast the occasion of doing a holy work, there God makes holy ground for thee: only, in order to become a spiritual worshipper, the work must be done in spirit and in truth: with such a mind and thought, with such faith and love, as though thou wert laying thy oblation upon the altar, where thou knowest that Christ will both effectually find, and graciously accept it.

6. I dare appear before the Lord, with all my fins and my forrows. It is just also that I should appear with these sew blessings. Having received them of thy hand, now do I offer them to thee again. Forgive, I beseech thee, my fins, deliver me from my sorrows, and accept of this my sacrifice: or rather look, in my behalf on that only true sacrifice, whereof here is the sacrament; the sacrifice of thy well-beloved son, proceeding from thee, to die for me. O let him come unto me now, as the only-begotten of the father, full of grace and truth!

HYMNS

ONTHE

LORD'S SUPPER.

I. As it is a memorial of the sufferings and death of CHRIST.

HYMN I.

- IN that fad memorable night,
 When Jesus was for us betray'd,
 He lest his death-recording rite,
 He took, and bless'd, and brake the bread,
 And gave his own their last bequest,
 And thus his love's intent exprest:
 - Take, eat, this is my body given,
 To purchase life and peace for you,
 Pardon and holiness and heaven;
 Do this, my dying love to shew,

Accep

Accept your precious legacy, And thus, my friends, remember me.

- To crown the facramental feast,
 And full of kind concern look'd up,
 And gave what he to them had blest,
 And drink ye all of this, he said,
 In solemn memory of the dead.
 - 4 This is my blood which feals the new
 Eternal covenant of my grace,
 My blood fo freely shed for you,
 For you and all the sinful race,
 My bood that speaks your sins forgiven,
 And justifies your claim to heaven.
 - In this divine memorial take,
 And mindful of your faviour's death,
 Do this my followers, for my fake,
 Whose dying love hath left behind
 Eternal life for all mankind.

HYMN II.

- The wheat by man cut down for me,
 And beat, and bruis'd, and ground:
 The heavy plagues and pains and blows
 Which Jesus suffered from his foes,
 Are in this emblem found.
- The bread dried up and burnt with fire.
 Prefents the father's vengeful ire
 . Which my Redeemer bore:
 Into his bones the fire he fent,
 Till all the flaming darts were fpent,
 And justice ask'd no more.

Why

- Why hast thou, Lord, forfook thine own?
 Alas, what evil hath he done,
 The spotless lamb of God?
 Cut off, not for himself, but me,
 He bears my fins on yonder tree,
 And pays my debt in blood.
- 4 Seiz'd by the rage of finful man
 I fee him bound, and bruis'd, and flain,
 'Tis done, the martyr dies!
 His life to ranfom ours is given,
 And lo! the fiercest fire of heaven
 Consumes the facrifice,
- He fuffers both from man and God,
 He bears the univerfal load
 Of guilt and mifery;
 He fuffers to reverfe our doom;
 And lo! my Lord is here become
 The bread of life to me!

HYMN III.

- THEN let us go, and take, and eat
 The heavenly everlasting meat
 For fainting souls prepar'd;
 Fed with the living bread divine
 Discern we in the facred sign
 The body of the Lord.
- The instruments that bruis'd him so Were broke and scattered long ago,
 The slames extinguish'd were,
 But Jesu's death is ever new,
 He whom in ages past they slew
 Doth still as slain appear.

- Th' oblation fends as fweet a fmell.

 Ev'n now it pleafes God as well

 As when it first was made,

 The blood doth now as freely flow,

 As when his side receiv'd the blow

 That shew'd him newly dead.
- Then let our faith adore the lamb
 To-day as yesterday the same,
 In thy great offering join,
 Partake the sacrificial food,
 And eat thy slesh and drink thy blood,
 And live for ever thine.

HYMN IV.

The bleeding Saviour's name,
Their faithful hearts with us prepare,
And eat the paschal lamb.
Our passover was slain
At Salem's hallow'd place,
Yet we who in our tents remain,
Shall gain his largest grace.

This eucharistic feast
Our every want supplies,
And still we by his death are blest,
And share his facrifice.
By faith his sless we eat,
Who here his passion shew,
And God out of his holy seat
Shall all his gifts bestow.

Who thus our faith employ His fufferings to record, Ev'n now we mournfully enjoy Communion with our Lord, As tho' we every one Beneath his crofs had stood, And seen him heave and heard him groan, And felt his gushing blood.

O God! tis finish'd now!
The mortal pang is past!

By faith his head we see him bow
And hear him breathe his last!
We too with him are dead,
And shall with him arise,
The crosson which he bows his head,
Shall lift us to the skies.

HYMN V.

- Thou eternal victim flain
 A facrifice for guilty man,
 By the eternal Spirit made
 An offering in the finner's flead,
 Our everlasting prieft art thou,
 And plead'st thy death for finners now.
- e Thy offering still continues new, Thy vesture keeps its bloody hue, Thou stand st the ever-slaughter'd Lamb, Thy priesthood still remains the same, Thy years, O God, can never fail, Thy goodness is unchangeable.
- 3 O that our faith may never move, But stand unshaken as thy love, Sure evidence of things unseen, Now let it pass the years between, And view thee bleeding on the tree, My God, who dies for me, for me!

HYMN VI.

- A H give me. Lord, my fins to mount,
 My fins which have thy body torn,
 Give me with broken heart to fee
 Thy last tremendous agony,
 To weep o'er an expiring God,
 And mix my forrow with thy blood.
- 2 O could I gain the mountain's height And look upon that piteous fight! O that with Salem's daughters I Might stand and see my Saviour die, Smite on my breast and inly mourn, But never from thy cross return!

HYMN VII.

- To all our waiting fouls reveal

 The death by which we live.
- Spectators of the pangs divine O that we now may be, Differning in the facred figa His passion on the tree.
- Give us to hear the dreadful found
 Which told his mortal pain,
 Tore up the graves, and shook the ground,
 And rent the rocks in twain.
- A Repeat the Saviour's dying cry
 In every heart fo loud,
 That every heart may now reply
 This was the Son of God!

HY'MN

HYMN VIII.

Every foul may be his guest,
Jesus gives the general word;
Share the monumental feast,
Eat the supper of your Lord.

2 In this authentic fign
Behold the stamp divine:
Christ revives his sufferings here,
Still exposes them to view,
See the Crucified appear,
Now believe he died for you!

HYMN IX.

Inflaves your fouls, and lays them wafte,
Save your expence, and mend your chear;
Here God himself's prepar'd and drest,
Himself vouchsafes to be your feast,
In whom alone all dainties are.

Come hither all, whom tempting wine Bows to your father Belial's shrine, Sin all your boast, and sense your God: Weep now for what ye've drank amis, And lose your taste of sensual bliss By drinking here your Saviour's blood.

2 Come hither all, whom searching pain, And conscience's loud cries arraign, Producing all your fins to view:
Taste; and disinis your guilty fear,
O taste, and see that God is here,
To heal your souls, and fin subdue.

Come hither all, whom careless joy
Doth with alluring force destroy
While loose ye range beyond your bounds:
True love is here, that passes quite,
And all your transient mean delight
Drowns, as a flood the lower grounds.

3 Come hither all, whose idol-love,
While fond the pleasing pain ye prove,
Raises your foolish raptures high,
True love is here, whose dying breath
Gave life to us; who tasted death,
And dying once no more can die.

Lord, I have now invited all:
And inftant ftill the guefts shall call,
Still shall I all invite to thee:
For O my God, it seems but right
In mine, thy meanest servant's sight,
That where all is there all shall be.

HYMN X.

TATHER, thy own in Christ receive,
Who deeply for our follies grieve,
And cast our fins away,
Resolv'd to lead our lives anew,
Thine only glory to pursue,
And only thee obey.

2 Faith in thy pard'ning love we have, Willing thou art our fouls to fave,

For

rai.

 \mathbb{R}_{Σ}

For Jefu's fake alone: Jefus thy wrath hath pacified, Jefus, thy well-belov'd hath died For all mankind t'atone.

- The death fustain'd for all mankind
 With humblest thanks we call to mind,
 With grateful joy approve;
 And every soul of man embrace,
 And love the dearly ransom'd race
 In the Redeemer's love.
- A Receive us then, thou pard'ning God,
 Partakers of his flesh and blood
 Grant that we now may be:
 The Sp'rit's attesting feal impart,
 And speak to every sinner's heart
 The Saviour died for thee!

HYMN XI.

- And on thy death rely,

 Thy death which now we call to mind,
 And trust our legacies to find.
- Thou meeteft them that joy
 In these thy ways to go,
 And to thy praise employ
 Their happy lives below,
 And still within thy temple-gate
 For all thy promis'd mercies wait:
- We wait t'obtain them now;
 We feek the Crucified,
 And at thy altar bow;
 And long to feel applied
 D 3.

The blood for our redemption given, And eat the bread that came from heaven.

Come then our dying Lord,
To us thy goodness shew,
In honour of thy word
The inward grace bestow,
And magnify the facred sign,
And prove the ordinance divine.

HYMN XIII.

- 1 ESU, fuffering deity, Can we help remembring thee, Thee, whose blood for us did flow, Thee, who diedst to save thy foe!
- 2 Thee Redeemer of mankind, Gladly now we call to mind, Thankfully thy grace approve, Take the tokens of thy love.
- 3 This for thy dear take we do, Here thy bloody passion shew, Till thou dost to judgment come, Till thy arms receive us home.
- Then we walk in means no more, There their facred use is o'er, There we see thee face to face, Sav'd eternally by grace.

HYMN XII.

OME all who truly bear
The name of Christ your Lord,
His last mysterious supper share,
And keep his kindest word:

Hereby

Hereby your faith approve In Jelus crucified, In mem'ry of my dying love Do this, he faid; and died.

The badge and token this,
The fure confirming feal
That he is ours, and we are his,
The fervants of his will,
His dear peculiar ones
The purchase of his blood;
His blood which once for all atones,
And brings us now to God.

Then let us still profess
Our master's honour'd name,
Stand forth his faithful witnesses,
True followers of the Lamb:
In proof that such we are
His saying we receive,
And thus to all mankind declare
We do in Christ believe.

Part of his church below
We thus our right maintain,
Our living membership we shew,
And in the fold remain;
The sheep of Ifrael's fold
In England's pastures fed,
And fellowship with all we hold
Who hold it with our head.

HYMN XIV.

TATHER, hear the blood of Jesus,
Speaking in thine ears above!
From thy wrath and curse release us,
Manifest thy pard'ning love;

O receive us to thy favour,
For his only fake receive,
Give us to our bleeding Saviour,
Let us by thy dying live,

"To thy pard'ning grace receive them?"
Once he pray'd upon the tree,
Still his blood cries out "Forgive them,
All their fins were purg'd by me."
Still our advocate in heaven
Prays the prayer on earth begun,
"Father, fhew their fins forgiven,
"Father, glorify thy Son!"

HYMN XV.

PYING friend of finners, hear us.
Humbly at thy crofs who lie,
In thine ordinance be near us,
Now th' unfodly justify:
Let thy bowels of compation
To thy ranfom'd creatures move,
Shew us all thy great falvation,
God of truth, and God of love.

2 By thy meritorious dying
Save us from this death of fin,
By thy precious blood's applying
Make our inmost nature clean;
Give us worthily t'adore thee,
Thou our full Redeemer be,
Give us pardon, grace, and glory,
Peace, and power, and heaven in thee.

HÝMN XVI.

COME, thou everlafting Spirit,
Bring to every thankful mind
All the Saviour's dying merit
All his fufferings for mankind:
True recorder of his passion,
Now the living faith impart,
Now reveal his great salvation,
Preach his gospel to our heart.

2 Come, thou witness of his dying, Come, remembrancer divine, Let us feel thy power applying Christ to every soul and mine; Let us groan thine inward groaning, Look on him we pierc'd, and grieve, All receive the grace atoning, All the sprinkled blood receive.

HYMN XVII.

- HO is this, that comes from far Clad in garments dipt in blood!

 Srong triumphant traveller,
 Is he man, or is he God?
- 2 I that fpeak in righteousness, Son of God and man I am, Mighty to redeem your race; Jesus is your Saviour's name.
- Wherefore are thy garments red,
 Died as in a crimfon fea?
 They that in the wine-fat tread
 Are not stain'd so much as thee.

I the

4 I the Father's fav'rite Son
Have the dreadful wine-press trod,
Borne the vengeful wrath alone,
All the fiercest wrath of God.

HYMN XVIII.

- IFT your eyes of faith, and look.
 On the figns he did ordain!
 Thus the bread of life was broke,
 Thus the Lamb of God was flain,
 Thus was fhed on Calvary
 His last drop of blood for me!
- s See the flaughter'd facrifice,
 See the altar flaind with blood!
 Crucified before our eyes
 Faith discerns the dying God,
 Dying that our fouls might live,
 Gasping at his death, Forgive!

HYMN XIX.

FORGIVE, the Saviour cries,
They know not what they do,
Forgive, my heart replies,
And all my foul renew;
I claim the kingdom in thy right,
Who now thy fufferings share,
And mount with thee to Sion's height,
And see thy glory there.

HYMN XX.

- AMB of God, whose bleeding love
 We thus recall to mind,
 Send the answer from above,
 And let us mercy find;
 Think on us, who think on thee
 Andevery struggling soul release:
 O remember Calvary,
 And bid us go in peace.
- By thine agonizing pain,
 And bloody fweat, we pray,
 By thy dying love to man,
 Take all our fins away:
 Burst our bonds, and set us free,
 From all iniquity release:
 O remember Calvary,
 And bid us go in peace.
- Let thy blood, by faith applied
 The finner's pardon seal,
 Speak us freely justified,
 And all our fickness heal:
 By thy passion on the tree
 Let all our griess and troubles cease:
 O remember Calvary,
 And bid us go in peace.
- A Never will we hence depart,
 Till thou our wants relieve,
 Write forgiveness on our heart,
 And all thine image give:
 Still our fouls shall cry to thee
 Till perfected in holiness:
 O remember Calvary,
 And bid us go in peace.

HYMN XXI.

- OD of unexampled grace,
 Redeemer of mankind,
 Matter of eternal praise
 We in thy passion find:
 Still our choicest strains we bring,
 Still the joyful theme pursue,
 Thee the friend of sinners sing
 Whose love is ever new.
- 2 Endless scenes of wonder rise With that mysterious tree, Crucified before our eyes Where we our maker see: Jesus, Lord, what hast thou done! Publish we the death divine, Stop, and gaze, and fall, and own Was never love like thine!
- 3 Never love nor forrow was
 Like that my Jesus show'd;
 See him stretch'd on yonder cross
 And crush'd beneath our load!
 Now discern the deity,
 Now his heavenly birth declare!
 Faith cries out 'Tis he, 'tis he,
 My God that suffers there!
- 4 Jesus drinks the bitter cup;
 The wine-press treads alone,
 Tears the graves and mountains up
 By his expiring groan:
 Lo! the powers of heaven he shakes;
 Nature in convulsions lies,
 Earth's profoundest centre quakes,
 The great Jehovah dies!

Dies

Jobies the glorious Cause of all,
The true eternal Pan,
Falls to raise us from our fall,
To ransom finful man:
Well may Sol withdraw his light,
With the Sufferer sympathize,
Leave the world in sudden night,
While his Creator dies.

6 Well may heaven be cloath'd with black And solemn sackcloth wear, Jesu's agony partake The hour of darkness share: Mourn th' astonied hosts above, Silence saddens all the skies, Kindler of seraphic love The God of angels dies.

7 O my God, he dies for me,
I feel the mortal fmart!
See him hanging on the tree—
A fight that breaks my heart!
O that all to thee might turn!
Sinners ye may love him too,
Look on him ye piere'd, and mourn
For one who bled for you.

Weep o'er your defire and hope With tears of humblest love; Sing, for Jesus is gone up, And reigns enthron'd above! Lives our head, to die no more: Power is all to Jesus given, Worshipp'd as he was before Th' immortal King of heaven.

9 Lord, we bless thee for thy grace
And truth which never fail,
Hastning to behold thy face
Without a dimming veil:

W

We shall see our heavenly King, All thy glorious love proclaim, Help the angel-quires to sing Our dear triumphant Lamb.

HYMN XXII.

- PRINCE of life, for finners flain,
 Grant us fellowship with thee,
 Fain we would partake thy pain,
 Share thy mortal agony,
 Give us now the dreadful power,
 Now bring back thy dying hour.
- 2 Place us near th' accurfed wood Where thou didft thy life refign, Near as once thy mother stood; Partners of the pangs divine, Bid us feel her facred smart, Feel the sword that pierc'd her heart.
- Surely now the prayer he hears:
 Faith presents the crucified!
 Lo! the wounded Lamb appears
 Piere'd his feet, his hands his side,
 Hangs our hope on yonder tree,
 Hangs, and bleeds to death for me!

H Y M N XXIII.

See his body mangled, rent,
Cover'd with a gore of blood!
Sintul foul, what haft thou done?
Murther'd God's eternal Son!

- Tyes, our fins have done the deed,
 Drove the nails that fix him here,
 Crown'd with thorns his facred head,
 Pierc'd him with the foldier's spear,
 Made his soul a facrifice;
 For a finful world he dies.
- Shall we let him die in vain?
 Still to death purfue our God?
 Open tear his wounds again,
 Trample on his precious blood?
 No; with all our fins we part,
 Saviour, take my broken heart!

HYMN XXIV.

- EXPIRING in the finner's place, Crush'd with the universal load He hangs!——adown his mournful face, See trickling fast the tears and blood! The blood that purges all our stains It starts in rivers from his veins.
- 2 A fountain gushes from his side,
 Open'd that all may enter in,
 That all may feel the death applied,
 The death of God, the death of sin,
 The death by which our foes are kill'd,
 The death by which our souls are heal'd.

HYMN XXV.

To thee, O Jesus, we draw near,
Wilt thou not now the veil remove,
And meet thy mournful followers here,

Who humbly at thy altar lie, And wait to find thee passing by?

- 2 Thou bidft us call thy death to mind,
 But thou must give the solemn power,
 Come then thou Saviour of mankind,
 And bring that last tremendous hour,
 And stand in all thy wounds confest,
 And wrap us in thy bloody vest.
- With reverential faith we claim
 Our fhare in thy great facrifice:
 Come, O thou all-atoning Lamb,
 Revive us by thy dying cries,
 Apply to all thy healing blood,
 And fprinkle me, my Lord, my Gods

HYMN XXVI.

- Jefus the world's Redeemer dies!
 All nature feels th' important groan
 Loud echoing thro' the earth and fkies,
 The earth doth to her center quake,
 And heaven as hell's deep gloom is black!
- The temple's veil is rent in twain,
 While Jesus meekly bows his head,
 The rocks resent his mortal pain,
 The yawning graves give up their dead,
 The bodies of the saints arise,
 Reviving as their Saviour dies.
- And shall not we his death partake,
 In sympathetic anguish groan?
 O Saviour, let thy passion shake
 Our earth, and rent our hearts of stone,
 To second life our souls restore,
 And wake us that we sleep no more.

HYMN XXVII.

- ROCK of Ifrael, cleft for me,
 For us, for all mankind,
 See, thy feeblest followers fee
 Who call thy death to mind:
 Sion is the very land;
 Us beneath thy shade receive,
 Grant us in the cleft to stand,
 And by thy dying live.
- 2 In this howling wilderness
 On Calvary's steep top,
 Made a curse our souls to bless
 Thou once was listed up;
 Stricken there by Moses' rod,
 Wounded with a deadly blow;
 Gushing streams of life o'erslow'd
 The thirsty world below.
- 3 Rivers of falvation still
 Along the defart roll,
 Rivers to refresh and heal
 The fainting finking soul;
 Still the fountain of thy blood
 Stands for sinners open'd wide,
 Now, e'en now, my Lord, and God,
 I wash me in thy side.
- A Now, e'en now we all plunge in
 And drink the purple wave,
 This the antidote of fin,
 'Tis this our fouls shall fave:
 With the life of Jesus fed,
 Lo! from strength to strength we rise,
 Follow'd by our Rock, and led
 To meet him in the skies.

II. As it is a fign and a means of grace.

HYMN XXVIII.

- A UTHOR of our falvation, thee
 With lowly thankful hearts we praife,
 Author of this great mystery,
 Figure and means of saving grace.
- The facred true effectual fign
 Thy body and thy blood it fhews,
 The glorious instrument divine
 Thy mercy and thy strength bestows.
- We fee the blood that feals our peace,
 Thy pard'ning mercy we receive:
 The bread doth visibly express
 The strength thro' which our spirits live.
- 4 Our fpirits drink a fresh supply,
 And eat the bread so freely given,
 Till borne on eagles wings we sly,
 And banquet with our Lord in heaven.

HYMN XXIX.

Thou who this mysterious bread Didst in Emmaus break,
Return herewith our souls to feed
And to thy followers speak.

- 2 Unseal the volume of thy grace,
 Apply the gospel-word,
 Open our eyes to see thy face,
 Our hearts to know the Lord-
- 3 Of thee we commune ftill, and mourn Till thou the veil remove, Talk with us, and our hearts shall burn With slames of fervent love.
- And make thy mercy known,
 And give our pard'ning fouls to feel
 That God and love are one.

HYMN XXX

- JESU, at whose supreme command We thus approach to God, Before us in thy vesture stand, Thy vesture dipt in blood.
- 2 Obedient to thy gracious word We break the hallow'd bread, Commemorate thee, our dying Lord, And trust on thee to feed.
- 3 Now, Saviour, now thyfelf reveal, And make thy nature known, Affix the facramental feal, And ftamp us for thine own.
- 4 The tokens of thy dying love, O let us all receive, And feel the quick'ning Spirit move, And fenfibly believe.

- 5 The cup of bleffing bleft by thee, Let it thy blood impart; The bread thy mystic body be, And clear each languid heart.
- 6 The grace which fure falvation brings
 Let us herewith receive;
 Satiate the hungry with good things,
 The hidden manna give.
- 7 The living bread fent down from heaven
 In us vouchfafe to be;
 Thy flesh for all the world is given,
 And all may live by thee.
- 8 Now, Lord, on us thy flesh bestow, And let us drink thy blood, Till our souls are fall'd below With all the life of God.

HYMN XXXI.

- Rock of our falvation, fee
 The fouls that feek their rest in thee,
 Beneath thy cooling shadow hide,
 And keep us, Saviour, in thy side:
 By water and by blood redeem,
 And wash us in the mingled stream.
- 2 The fin-atoning blood apply,
 And let the water fanctify,
 Pardon and holiness impart,
 Sprinkle and purify our heart,
 Wash out the last remains of sin,
 And make our inmost nature clean.
- 3 The double stream in pardons rolls, And brings thy love into our souls,

Who dare the truth divine receive, And credence to thy witness give, We here thy utmost power shall prove Thy utmost power of perfect love.

HYMN XXXII,

- JESU, to thee for help we call,
 Plung'd in the depth of Adam's fall
 Plagu'd with a carnal heart and mind,
 No diftance or of time or place
 Secures us from the foul difgrace
 By him entail'd on all mankind.
- 2 Six thousand years are now past by, Yet still like him we sin and die, As born within his house we were, As each were that accursed Cain, We seel the all-polluting stain, And groan our inbred sin to bear.
- 3 Thou God of fanctifying love,
 Adam descended from above,
 The virtue of thy blood impart,
 O let it reach to all below,
 As far extend as freely flow
 To cleanse, as his t'insect our heart.
- 4 Ruin in him complete we have,
 And canst not thou as greatly save,
 And fully here our loss repair?
 Thou canst, thou wilt, we dare believe,
 We here thy nature shall retrieve,
 And all thy heavenly image bear.

HYMN XXXIII.

1 JESU, dear, redeeming Lord, Magnify thy dying word, In thine ordinance appear, Come, and meet thy followers here:

- In the rite thou haft enjoyn'd Let us now our Saviour find, Drink thy blood for finners fhed, Tafte thee in the broken bread.
- 3 Thou our faithful hearts prepare, Thou thy pardoning grace declare, Thou that hast for sunners died, Shew thyself the crucified!
- 4 All the power of fin remove, Fill us with thy perfect love, Stamp us with the stamp divine, Seal our souls for ever thine.

HYMN XXXIV.

- ORD of life, thy followers fee Hungring, thirsting after thee, At thy facred table feed, Nourish us with living bread,
- 2 Chear us with immortal wine, Heavenly fustenance divine, Grant us now a fresh supply, Now relieve us, or we die.

HYMN XXXV.

Thou paschal Lamb of God,
Feed us with thy sless and blood,
Life and strength thy death supplies,
Feast us on thy facrifice.

Quicken

- 2 Quicken our dead souls again, Then our living souls sustain, Then in us thy life keep up, Then confirm our faith and hope.
- g Still O Lord our strength repair, Till renew'd in love we are, Till thy utmost grace we prove, All thy life of perfect of love.

HYMN XXXVI.

- A MAZING mystery of love!
 While posting to eternal pain,
 God saw his rebels from above,
 And stoop'd into a mortal man.
- 2 His mercy cast a pitying look;
 By love, meer causeless love inclin'd,
 Our guilt and punishment he took,
 And died a victim for mankind.
- 3 His blood procur'd our life and peace, And quench'd the wrath of hostile heaven; Justice gave way to our release, And God hath all my sins forgiven.
- 4 Jesu, our pardon we receive,
 The purchase of that blood of thine,
 And now begin by grace to live,
 And breathe the breath of love divine.

HYMN XXXVII.

Though bought by the atoning blood, Unless thou grant a fresh supply,

And wash us in the wat'ry flood.

The

- 2 The blood remov'd our guilt in vain If fin in us must always stay; But thou shalt purge our inbred stain, And wash its relicks all away.
- The fiream that from thy wounded fide, In blended blood and water flow'd, Shall cleanse whom first it justified, And fill us with the life of God.
- 4 Proceeds from thee the double grace;
 Two effluxes of life divine
 To quicken all the faithful race,
 In one eternal current join.
- Saviour, thou didft not come from heaven By water or by blood alone, Thou died'ft that we might live forgiven, And all be fanctified in one.

HYMN XXXVIII,

- WORTHY the Lamb of endless praise, Whose double life we here shall prove, The pard'ning and the hallowing grace, The childish and the persect love.
- We here shall gain our calling's prize,
 The gift unspeakable receive,
 And higher still in death arise,
 And all the life of glory live.
- 3 To make our right and title fure, Our dying Lord himself hath given, His sacrifice did all procure, Pardon, and holiness, and heaven.

- 4 Our life of grace we hear shall feel Shed in our loving hearts abroad, 'Till Christ our glorious life reveal, Long hidden with himself in God.
- 5 Come dear Redeemer of mankind, We long thy open face to fee, Appear, and all who feek shall find Their bliss consummated in thee.
- 6 Thy presence shall the cloud dispart, Thy presence shall the life display, Then, then our all in all thou art, Our fullness of eternal day!

HYMN XXXIX.

SINNER, with awe draw near,
And find thy Saviour here,
In his ordinances still,
Touch his facramental cloaths,
Present in his power to heal,
Virtue from his body flows.

His body is the feat
Where all our bleffings meet,
Full of unexhausted worth,
Still it makes the finner whole,
Pours divine effusions forth,
Life to every dying soul.

Pardon, and power, and peace,
And perfect righteousness
From that facred fountain springs;
Wash'd in his all-cleansing blood
Rise, ye worms, to priests and kings,
Rise in Christ and reign with God.

A UTHOR of life divine,
Who haft a table fpread,
Furnish'd with mystic wine
And everlasting bread,
Preserve the life thyself hast given,
And feed, and train us up for heaven.

Our needy fouls fustain
With fresh supplies of love,
Till all thy life we gain,
And all thy fullness prove,
And strength'ned by thy perfect grace,
Behold without a veil thy face.

HYMN XLI.

A TRUTH of the paschal facrifice,
Jesu, regard thy people's cries,
Nor let us in our fins remain;
Surely thou hear'st the prisoners groan,
Come down, to our relief come down,
And break the dire accuser's chain.

2 Humble the proud oppressive king,
Deliverance to thine Ifrael bring,
And while th' unsprinkled victims die,
Thy death for us present to God,
Write our protection in thy blood,
And bid the hellish fiend pass by.

HYMN XLII.

- GLORY to him who freely fpent His blood that we might live, And through this choicest instrument Doth all his blessings give.
- Fasting he doth and hearing bless, And prayer can much avail, Good vessels all to draw the grace Out of salvation's well.
- g But none like this mysterious rite
 Which dying mercy gave
 Can draw forth all his promis'd migh
 And all his will to save.
- This is the richeft legacy
 Thou hast on man bestow'd,
 Here chiesly, Lord, we feed on thee,
 And drink thy precious blood.
- Here all thy bleffings we receive, Here all thy gifts are given; To those that would in thee believe, Pardon, and grace, and heaven.
- 6 Thus may we ftill in thee be bleft.

 'Till all from earth remove,
 And fhare with thee the marriage-feaft,
 And drink the wine above.

HYMN XLIII.

S AVIOUR, and can it be
That thou should dwell with me:
From thy high and lofty throne,
Throne of everlasting blis,
Will thy majesty stoop down
To so mean an house as this?

I am not worthy, Lord, So foul, fo felf-abhor'd, Thee, my God, to entertain In this poor poluted heart; I am a frail finful man, All my nature cries, depart!

Yet come thou heavenly Guest,
And purify my breast,
Come thou great and glorious king,
While before thy cross I bow,
With thyself salvation bring,
Cleanse the house by entring now.

HYMN XLIV.

UR passover for us is slain,
The tokens of his death remain,
On these authentick signs imprest:
By Jesus out of Egypt led
Still on the paschal lamb we feed,
And keep the sacramental feast.

2 That arm which smote the parting sea Is still stretch'd out for us, for me,

The

The Angel-God is still our guide, And lest we in the defart faint, We find our spirits every want By constant miracle supplied.

- 3 Thy flesh for our support is given, Thou art the bread sent down from heaven, That all mankind by thee might live; O that we evermore may prove The manna of thy quick'ning love, And all thy life of grace receive!
- 4 Nourish us to that awful day
 When types and veils shall pass away,
 And perfect grace in glory end;
 Us for the marriage-feast prepare,
 Unfurl thy banner in the air,
 And bid thy saints to heaven ascend.

HYMN XLV.

TREMENDOUS love to lost mankind! Could none but Christ the ransom find, Could none but Christ the pardon buy? How great the sin of Adam's race! How greater still the Saviour's grace, When God doth for his creature die!

Not heaven so rich a grace can shew As this he did on worms bestow, Those darlings of th' incarnate God; Less favour'd were the angel-powers: Their crowns are cheaper far than ours, Nor ever cost the Lamb his blood.

Jesu, we bless thy saving name,
And trusting in thy merits claim
Our rich inheritance above;
Thou shalt thy ransom'd servants own,
And raise and seat us on thy throne
Dear objects of thy dying Love.

HYMN XLVI.

- HOW richly is the table flor'd
 Of Jesus our redeeming Lord!
 Melchisedee and Auron join
 To furnish out the seast divine.
- 2 Aaron for us the blood hath shed, Melchisedee bestows the bread, To nourish this, and that to t'atone; And both the Priess in Christ are one.
- Jesus appears to facrifice, The flesh and blood himself supplies; Enter'd the veil his death he pleads, And blesses all our souls, and seeds.
- 4 'Tis here he meets the faithful line, Suffains us with his bread and wine! We feel the double grace is given, And gladly urge our way to heaven.

HYMN XLVII.

- JESU, thy weakest servants bless,
 Give what these hallow'd signs express,
 And what thou giv'st secure;
 Pardon into my soul convey,
 Strength in thy pard'ning love to stay,
 And to the end endure.
- Raife, and enable me to stand,
 Save out of the destroyer's hand
 This helples soul of mine,
 Vouchsafe me then thy strength'ning grace,
 And with the arms of love embrace,
 And keep me ever thine.

HYMN XLVIII.

- SAVIOUR of my foul from fin, Thou my kind preferver be, Stablish what thou dost begin, Carry on thy work in me, All thy faithful mercies shew, Hold, and never let me go.
- Never let me lose my peace, Forfeit what thy goodness gave, Give it still, and still increase, Save me, and persist to save, Seal the grant conferr'd before, Give thy blessing evermore.

HYMN XLIX.

- SON of God, thy bleffing grant, Still fupply my every want, Tree of life thine influence shed, With thy sap my spirit seed.
- Tenderest branch alas am I, Wither without thee and die, Weak as helples infancy, O confirm my soul in thee.
- 3 Unfustain'd by thee I fall, Send the strength for which I call, Weaker than a bruised reed Help I every moment need.
- 4 All my hopes on thee depend, Love me, fave me to the end, Give me the continuing grace, Take the everlasting praise.

HYMN L.

- TATHER of everlasting love,
 Whose bowels of compassion move,
 To all thy gracious hands have made,
 See, in the howling desart see
 A soul from Egypt brought by thee,
 And help me with thy constant aid.
- 2 Ah, do not, Lord, thine own forsake,
 Nor let my feeble soul look back,
 Or basely turn to fin again,
 No never let me faint or tire,
 But travel on in strong defire,
 Till I my heavenly Canaan gain.

HYMN LI:

- THOU very paschal Lamb,
 Whose blood for us was shed,
 Thro' whom we out of Egypt came;
 Thy ransom'd people sead.
- Angel of gospel-grace
 Fulfil thy character,
 To guard and feed the chosen race,
 In Ifrael's camp appear.
- Throughout the defart-way Conduct us by thy light,
 Bethou a cooling cloud by day,
 A chearing fire by night.
- Our fainting fouls fustain
 With blessings from above,
 And ever on thy people rain
 The manna of thy love.

HYMN LII.

- Thou who hanging on the cross,
 Didst buy our pardon with thy blood,
 Canst thou not still maintain our cause,
 And fill us with the life of God,
 Bless with the blessings of thy throne,
 And perfect all our souls in one?
- Lo. on thy bloody facrifice
 For all our graces we depend!
 Supported by thy cross arise,
 To finish'd holiness ascend,
 And gain on earth the mountain's height,
 And then salute our friends in light.
 HYMN

HYMN LIII.

- God of truth and love, Let us thy mercy prove:
 Bless thine ordinance divine,
 Let it now effectual be,
 Answer all its great defign,
 All its gracious ends in me.
- Set forth our dying Lord,
 Point us to thy fufferings past,
 Present grace and strength impart,
 Give our ravish'd souls a taste,
 Pledge of glory in our heart.
- Come in thy Spirit down,
 Thine institution crown,
 Lamb of God as slain appear,
 Life of all believers thou,
 Let us now perceive thee near,
 Come thou hope of glory now.

HYMN LIV:

- 1 WHY did my dying Lord ordain
 This dear memorial of his love?
 Might we not all by faith obtain,
 By faith the mountain-fin remove,
 Enjoy the fenfe of fins forgiven,
 And holineis the tafte of heaven?
- 2 It feem'd to my Redeemer good
 That faith should here his coming wait,
 Should here receive immortal food,
 Grow up in him divinely great,

And fill'd with holy violence seize The glorious crown of righteousness.

- 3 Saviour, thou did the mystery give
 That I thy nature might partake,
 Thou bidst me outward signs receive,
 One with thyself my soul to make,
 My body, soul and spirit to join
 Inseparably one with thine.
- 4 The prayer, the fast, the word conveys,
 When mixt with faith, thy life to me,
 In all the channels of thy grace,
 I still have fellowship with thee,
 But chiefly here my foul is fed
 With fulness of immortal bread.
- 5 Communion closer far I feel, And deeper drink th' atoning blood, The joy is more unspeakable, And yields me larger draughts of God, Till nature faints beneath the power, And faith fill'd up can hold no more.

HYMN LV.

- TIS not a dead external fign' Which here my hopes require, The living power of love divine In Jefus I defire.
- 2 I want the dear Redeemer's grace, I feek the Crucified, The man that fuffer'd in my place, The God that groan'd, and dy'd.

- Swift, as their rifing Lord to find The two disciples rap, I feek the Saviour of mankind, Nor shall I feek in vain.
- 4 Come all who long his face to fee
 That did our burthen bear,
 Hasten to Calvary with me,
 And we shall find him there.

HYMN LVI.

- If OW dreadful is the mystery,
 Which instituted, Lord, by thee
 Or life or death conveys!
 Death to the impious and profane;
 Nor shall our faith in thee bevain,
 Who here expect thy grace.
- Who eats unworthily this bread, Pulls down thy curses on his head, And eats his deadly bane; And shall not we who rightly eat Live by the salutary meat, And equal blessings gain?
- Destruction if thy body shed,
 And strike the soul of sinners dead
 Who dare the signs abuse;
 Surely the instrument divine
 To all that are, or would be thine,
 Shall saving health dissuse.
- A Saviour of life and joy and bliss,
 Pardon, and power, and perfect peace
 We shall herewith receive,
 The grace imply'd thro' faith is given,
 And we that eat the bread of heaven
 The life of heaven shall live.

HYMN LVII.

- The depth of love divine,
 Th' unfathomable grace!
 Who shall fay how bread and wine
 God into man conveys!
 How the bread his slesh imparts,
 How the wine transmits his blood,
 Fills his faithful peoples hearts
 With all the life of God!
- How we the grace receive:
 Feeble elements beflow
 A Power not theirs to give:
 Who explains the wondrous way?
 How thro' these the virtue came!
 These the virtue did convey,
 Yet still remain the same.
- By earthly matter fed,
 Drink herewith divine supplies
 And eat immortal bread:
 Ask the father's wisdom how;
 Him that did the means ordain
 Angels round our alters bow
 To search it out, in vain.
- The manner be unknown;
 Only meet us in thy ways
 And perfect us in one:
 Let us tafte the heavenly powers,
 Lord, we ask for nothing more;
 Thine to bless, 'tis only ours
 To wonder, and adore.

HYMN LVIIL

- How long, thou faithful God shall Here in thy ways forgotten lie,
 When shall the means of healing be
 The channels of thy grace to me!
- And wash away their pain and sin, But I an helpless fin-fick soul Still lie expiring at the pool.
- In vain I take the broken bread,
 I cannot on thy mercy feed,
 In vain I drink the hallow'd wine,
 I cannot take the love divine.
- 4 Angel and Son of God come down, Thy facramental banquet crown, Thy power into the means infuse, And give them now their facred use.
- 5 Thou feeft me lying at the pool, I would, thou knowst, I would be whole; O let the troubled waters move, And minister thy healing love.
- 6 Break to me now the hallowed bread, And bid me on thy body feed, Give me the wine almighty God, And let me drink thy precious blood.

HYMN LIX.

Shall man prefume to know,
Fully fearch him out, or tell
His wondrous ways below?
Him in all his ways we find;
How the means transmit the power
Here he leaves our thought behind,
And faith enquires no more.

2 How he did these creatures rise
And make this bread and wine
Organs to convey his grace,
To this poor soul of mine,
I cannot the way descry,
Need not know the mystery,
Only this I know that I
Was blind, but now I see.

Now mine eyes are open'd wide
To fee his pard'ning love,
Here I view the God that died
My ruin to remove;
Clay upon mine eyes he laid
(I at once my fight receiv'd)
Bless'd and bid me eat the bread,
And lo! my foul believ'd.

HYMN LX.

COME to the feaft, for Christ invites,
And promises to feed,
Tis here his closest love unites
The members to their head.

- a 'Tis here he pourishes his own
 With living bread from heaven,
 Or makes himself to mourners known,
 And shews their sins forgiven.
- 3 Still in his inflituted ways
 He bids us ask the power,
 The pardining or the hallowing grace,
 And wait th' appointed hour,
- 4 'Tis not for us to fet our God A time his grace to give, The benefit whene'er bestow'd We gladly should receive.
- 5 Who feek redemption thro' his love. His love shall them redeem; He came self-emptied from above. That we might live thro' him.
- Expect we then the quick'ning word
 Who at his alter bow:
 But if it be thy pleafure, Lord,
 O let us find thee now.

HYMN LXI.

HOU God of boundless power and grace,
How wonderful are all thy ways,
How far above our lostiest thought;
In presence of the meanest things,
(While all from thee the virtue springs,)
Thy most stupendous works are wrought.

Struck by a stroke of Moses' rod The parting sea confess'd its God,

ARG

And high in crystal bulwarks rose;
At Moses' beck it burst the chain,
Return'd to all its strength again,
And swept to hell thy church's foes.

Let but thy ark the walls furround,
Let but the rams-horn trumpets found,
The city boafts its height no more;
Its bulwarks are at once o'erthrown,
Its maffy walls by air blown down,
They fall before almighty power.

Jordan at thy command shall heal. The fore disease incurable,
And wash out all the seper's stains;
Or oil the med'cine shall supply,
Or cloaths, or shadows passing by,
If so thy sovereign will ordains.

Yet not from these the power proceeds,
Trumpets, or rods, or cloaths, or shades,
Thy only arm the work hath done,
If instruments thy wisdom chuse,
Thy grace confers their saving use;
Salvation is from God alone.

Thou in this facramental bread
Dost now our hungry spirits feed,
And chear us with the hallowed wine,
(Communion of thy sless and blood)
We banquet on immortal food,
And drink the streams of life divine.

THE heavenly ordinances shine,
And speak their origin divine,
The stars diffuse their golden blaze,
And glitter to their Maker's praise.

- They each in different glory bright With stronger or with seebler light Their influence on mortals sted, And chear us by their friendly aid.
- The gospel-ordinances here
 As stars in Jesu's church appear,
 His power they more or less declare,
 But all his heavenly impress bear.
- Around our lower orb they burn, And chear and bless us in their turn, Transmit the light by Jesus given, The faithful witnesses of heaven.
- They steer the pilgrim's course aright, And bounteous of their borrow'd light Conduct throughout the defart way, And lead us to eternal day.
- 6 But first of the celestial train
 Benigness to the sons of men,
 The facramental glory shines,
 And answers all our God's designs.
- 7 The heavenly host it passes far, Illustrious as the morning star, The light of life divine imparts, While Jesus rises in our hearts.
- With joy we feel its facred power, But neither stars nor means adore, We take the bleffing from above, And praise the God of truth and love.
- What he did for our use ordain Shall still from age to age remain, Who e'er rejects the kind command The word of God shall ever stand.

Go, foolish worms, his word deny, Go tear those planets from the sky, But while the sun and moon endura, The ordinance on earth is sure.

HYMN LXIII.

God thy word we claim,
Thou here record'ft thy name,
Visit us in pard'ning grace,
Christ the crucified appear,
Come in thy appointed ways,
Come, and meet, and bless us here.

No local Deity
We worship, Lord, in thee:
Free thy grace and unconfined,
Yet it here doth freest move;
In the means thy love enjoined
Look we for thy sichest love.

HYMN LXIV.

The grace on man belfow'd!

Here my dearest Lord I see
Offering up his death to God,
Giving all his life to me:
God for Jesu's sake forgives,
Man by Jesu's Spirit lives.

2 Yes, thy facrament extends
All the bleffings of thy death
To the foul that here attends,
Longs to feel thy quick ning breath;
Surely we who wait shall prove
All thy life of perfect love.

HYMN LXV.

- LEST be the Lord for ever bleft.
 Who bought us with a price,
 And bids his ranfom'd fervants feaft.
 On his great facrifice.
- Thy blood was fhed upon the crofs To wash us white as snow, Broken for us thy body was To feed our souls below.
- 3 Now on the facred table laid Thy flesh becomes our food, Thy life is to our souls convey'd In facramental blood.
- 4 We eat the offerings of our peace, The hidden manna prove, And only live t' adore and bless Thine all-fufficient love.

HYMN LXVI.

- JESU, my Lord and God hestow
 All which thy facrament doth shew,
 And make the real sign
 A sure effectual means of grace,
 Then sanctify my heart and bless,
 And make it all like thine.
- 2 Great is thy faithfulness and love, Thine ordinance can never prove Of none effect and vain, Only do thou my heart prepare, To find thy real presence there, And all thy fulness gain.

HOW long, O Lord, shall we In vain lament for thee; Come, and comfort them that mourn, Come, as in the antient days, In thine ordinance return, In thine own appointed ways.

Come to thy house again,
Nor let us seek in vain:
This the place of meeting be,
To thy weeping slock repair,
Let us hear thy beauty see,
Find thee in the house of prayer.

Let us with solemn awe
Nigh to thine altar draw,
Taste thee in the broken bread,
Drink thee in the mystic wine;
Now the gracious spirit shed,
Fill us now with love divine.

Into our minds recall
Thy death endur'd for all:
Come in this accepted day,
Come, and all our fouls restore,
Come, and take our sins away,
Come, and never leave us more.

HYMN LXXVIII.

- TESU regard the plaintive cry
 The groaning of thy prisoners here,
 Thy blood to every foul apply,
 The heart of every mourner chear,
 The tokens of thy passion shew,
 And meet us in thy ways below.
- 2 Th' atonement thou for all hast made,
 O that we all might now receive!
 Affure us now the debt is paid,
 And thou hast died that all may live,
 Thy death for all, for us reveal,
 And let thy blood my pardon seal.

HYMN LXXX.

- WITH pity, Lord, a finner fee,
 Weary of thy ways and thee:
 Forgive my fond despair
 A bleffing in the means to find,
 My struggling to throw off the care
 And cast them all behind.
- 2 Long have I groam'd thy grace to gain, Suffer'd on, but all in vain: An age of mournful years I waited for thy passing by, And lost my prayers, and sighs, and tears, And never found thee nigh.
- 3 Thou wouldst not let me go away; Still thou forcest me to stay,

O might the secret power Which will not with its captive part, Nail'd to the posts of mercy's door My poor unstable heart.

4 The nails that fix'd thee to the tree
Only they can fasten me:
The death thou didst endure
For me let it effectual prove:
Thy love alone my foul can cure,
Thy dear expiring love.

5 Now in the means the grace impart,
Whisper peace into my heart;
Appear the justifier
Of all who to thy wounds would fly,
And let me have my one defire
And see thy face, and die.

HYMN LXXXI.

TESU, we thus obey
Thy last and kindest word,
Here in thine own appointed way
We come to meet our Lord;
The way thou hast injoin'd
Thou wilt therein appear:
We come with confidence to find
Thy special presence here.

Our hearts we open wide
To make the Saviour room:
And lo! the Lamb, the crucified,
The finner's friend is come!
His presence makes the feast,
And now our bosoms feel
The glory not to be exprest,
The joy unspeakable.

With

With pure celestial bliss
He doth our spirits chear,
His house of banqueting is this,
And he hath brought us here:
He doth his servants feed
With manna from above,
His banner over us is spread,
His everlasting love.

He bids us drink and eat
Imperishable food,
He gives his slesh to be our meat,
And bids us drink his blood:
Whate'er th' almighty can
To pardon'd sinners give,
The fulness of our God made man
We here with Christ receive.

HYMN LXXXII.

ESU, finner's friend, receive us
Feeble, famishing, and faint,
O thou bread of life relieve us,
Now, or now we die for want:
Lest we faint and die for ever
Thou our finking spirits stay,
Give some token of thy favour,
Empty send us not away.

Long, and nothing have to eat,
Comfort us thro' wand'ring wearied,
Feed our fouls with living meat:
Still with bowels of compassion
See thy helpless people see,
Let us taste thy great falvation,
Let us feed by faith on thee,

HYMN LXXXIII.

- Stand and call us unto thee,
 Freely, fully justify us,
 Give us eyes thy love to see:
 Love that brought thee down from heaven,
 Made our God a man of grief;
 Let it shew our fins forgiven;
 Help, O help our unbelief.
- Long we for thy love have waited,
 Begging fet by the way-fide,
 Still we are not new-created,
 Are not wholly fanctified:
 Thou to fome in great compassion
 Hast in part their fight restor'd,
 Shew us all thy full falvation,
 Make the servants as their Lord.

HYMN LXXXIV.

- Is offer'd up and flain!
 Let him be remembered thus
 By every foul of man:
 We are bound above the reft
 His oblation to proclaim,
 Keep we then the folemn feaft
 And banquet on the Lamb.
- 2 Purge we all our fin away That old accurfed leaven, Sin in us no longer flay In us thro' Christ forgiven:

Let us all with hearts sincere
Eat the new unleavened bread,
To our Lord with faith draw near,
And on his promise feed.

- 3 Jesus, Master of the feast,
 The feast itself thou art,
 Now receive thy meanest guest,
 And comfort every heart:
 Give us living bread to eat,
 Manna that from heaven comes down,
 Fill us with immortal meat,
 And make thy nature known.
- In this barren wilderness
 Thou hast a table spread,
 Furnish'd out with richest grace,
 Whate'er our souls can need:
 Still sustain us by thy love,
 Still thy servants strength repair,
 Till we reach the courts above,
 And feast for ever there.

HYMN LXXXV.

- Thou, whom finners love, whose care
 Doth all our fickness heal,
 Thee we approach with hearts sincere,
 Thy power we joy to feel.
 To thee our humblest thanks we pay,
 To thee our souls we bow,
 Of hell e'er while the helpless prey,
 Heirs of thy glory now.
- As incense to thy throne above, O let our prayers arise Wing with the slames of holy love Our living sacrifice;

Stir up thy strength, O Lord of might, Our willing breasts inspire, Fill our whole souls with heavenly light, Melt with seraphic fire.

3 From thy blest wounds life let us draw,
Thine all-atoning blood
Now let us drink with trembling awe;
Thy slesh be now our food.
Come, Lord, thy sovereign aid impart,
Here make thy likeness shine,
Stamp thy whole image on our heart,
And all our heart is thine.

HYMN LXXXVI.

- A ND shall I let him go?

 If now I do not feel

 The streams of living water flow
 Shall I forsake the well?
- Because he hides his face, Shall I no longer stay, But leave the channels of his grace, And cast the means away?
- Get thee behind me fiend, On others try thy skill, Here let thy hellish whispers end, To thee I say, Be fill!
- Jefus hath fpoke the word,
 His will my reason is,
 Do this in memory of thy Lord,
 Jesus hath said, Do this!

- 5 He bids me eat the bread,
 He bids me drink the wine,
 No other motive, Lord, I need
 No other word than thine.
- I chearfully comply
 With what my Lord doth fay,
 Let others ask a reason why,
 My glory is t'obey.
- 7 His will is good and just: Shall I his will withstand? If Jesus bid me lick the dust I bow at his command:
- Because he saith Do this,
 This I will always do,
 Till Jesus come in glorious bliss
 I thus his death will shew.

HYMN LXXXVII.

- BY the picture of thy passion Still in pain I remain Waiting for salvation.
- 2 Jefu, let thy fufferings ease me, Saviour, Lord, speak the word, By thy death release me.
- At thy cross behold me lying, Make my foul throughly whole By thy blood's applying.
- 4 Hear me, Lord, my fins confessing, Now relieve, Saviour give, Give me now the blessing.

- 5 Still my cruel fins oppress me, Ty'd and bound 'till the found Of thy voice release me.
- 6 Call me out of condemnation, To my grave come and fave, Save me by thy passion.
- 7 To thy foul and helpless creature, Come, and cleanse all my sins, Come and change my nature.
- 8 Save me now, and still deliver, Enter in, cast out sin, Keep thine house for ever.

HYMN LXXXVIII.

That we should this persist to do?
Then let him here himself reveal,
The tokens of his presence shew,
Descend in blessings from above,
And answer by the fire of love.

Who thee remember in thy ways,
Come, Lord, and meet and bless us here,
In confidence we ask the grace,
Faithful and true appear, appear,
Let all perceive thy blood apply'd,
Let all discern the Crucified.

HYMN XCIII.

Who share the supper of the Lord,
Our Lord and master's praise to sing,
Nourish'd on earth with living bread
We now are at his table fed,
But wait to see our heavenly king:
To see the great Invisible
Without a sacramental veil,
With all his robes of glory on,
In rapt'rous joy and love and praise
Him to behold with open sace,
High on his everlasting throne!

The wine which doth his passion shew,

Each

Each before his Saviour stands, All in milk-white robes array'd, Palms they carry in their hands, Crowns of glory on their head.

2 Saints begin the endless fong,
Cry aloud in heavenly lays
Glory doth to God belong,
God the glorious Saviour praise:
All from him salvation came,
Him who reigns enthron'd on high,
Glory to the bleeding Lamb
Let the morning stars reply.

Angel-powers the throne furround
Next the faints in glory they,
Lull'd with the transporting found
They their filent homage pay:
Prostrate on their face before
God and his Messiah fall,
Then in hymns of praise adore,
Shout the Lamb that died for all.

Him let all our orders praise,
Him that did for sinners die,
Saviour of the favour'd race:
Render we our God his right,
Glory, wisdom, thanks and power,
Honour majesty and might,
Praise him, praise him evermore!

HYMN CVL

HAT are these array'd in white Brighter than the noon-day sun, Foremost of the sons of light, Nearest the eternal throne?

Thele

These are they that bore the cross, Nobly for their master stood, Sufferers in his righteous cause, Followers of the dying God.

2 Out of great distress they came,
Wash'd their robes by faith below
In the blood of yonder Lamb,
Blood that washes white as snow:
Therefore are they next the throne,
Serve their Maker day and night,
God relides among his own,
God doth in his saints delight.

3 More than conquerors at last,
Here they find their trials o'er,
They have all their sufferings past,
Hunger now and thirst no more:
No excessive heat they feel
From the sun's directer ray,
In a milder clime they dwell,
Region of eternal day!

4 He that on the throne doth reign
Them the Lamb shall always feed,
With the tree of life sustain,
To the living fountains lead:
He shall all their forrows chase,
All their wants at once remove,
Wipe the tears from every face,
Fill up every soul with love.

HYMN CVII.

A LL hail thou fuffering Son of God, Who didft these mysteries ordain, Communion of thy slesh and blood, Sure instrument thy grace to gain, K 2

Type of the heavenly marriage-feaft, Pledge of our everlasting rest.

2 Jefu, thine own with pity fee, Our helpless unbelief remove, Impower us to remember thee, Give us the faith that works by love, The faith which thou hast giv'n increase And seal us up in glorious peace.

HYMN CVIII.

A H give us, Saviour, to partake
The fufferings, which this emblem fhews,
Thy flesh our food immortal make,
Thy blood which in this channel flows
In all its benefits impart,
And sanctify our sprinkled heart.

a For all that joy which now we taste
 Our happy hallow'd souls prepare,
 O let us hold the earnest fast,
 This pledge that we thy heaven shall share,
 Shall drink it new with thee above
 The wine of thy eternal love.

HYMN CIX.

LORD, thou knowst my simpleness,
All my groans are heard by thee,
See me hungring after grace,
Gasping at thy table see,
One who would in thee believe
Would with joy the crumbs receive.

Look

- 2 Look as when thy closing eye
 Saw the thief beside the cross;
 Thou art now gone up on high,
 Undertake my desperate cause,
 In thy heavenly kingdom thou
 Be the friend of sinners now,
- 3 Saviour, Prince, enthron'd above, Send a peaceful answer down, Let the bowels of thy love Echo to a sinners groan, One who feebly thinks of thee Thou for good remember me.

HYMN CX.

- Along the defert way,
 Thou art the living bread
 Which doth our fpirits ftay,
 And all who in this banquet join
 Lean on the staff of life divine.
- While to thy upper courts
 We take our joyful flight
 Thy bleffed crofs supports
 Each feeble Israelite,
 Like hoary dying Jacob we
 Lean on our staff, and worship thee.

 In thee our pard'ning God,
 Thy spirit be our guide,
 Thy body be our food,
 Till thou who hast the token given
 Shalt bear us on thyself to heaven.

HYMN CXI.

- A ND can we call to mind
 The Lamb for finners flain,
 And not expect to find
 What he for us did gain,
 What God to us in him hath given,
 Pardon, and holiness, and heaven?
- We now forgiveness have,
 We feel his work begun,
 And he shall fully save,
 And perfect us in one,
 Shall soon in all his image drest
 Receive us to the marriage-feast.
- 3 This token of thy love
 We thankfully receive,
 And hence with joy remove
 With thee in heaven to live,
 There Lord we shall thy pledge restore,
 And live to praise thee evermore

HYMN CXII.

TERNAL Spirit gone up on high Bleffings for mortals to receive Send down those bleffings from the fky, To us thy gifts and graces give; With holy things our mouths are fill'd, O let our hearts with joy o'erflow; Descend in pard'ning love reveal'd, And meet us in thy courts below.

2 Thy facrifice without the gate
Once offer'd up we call to mind,
And humbly at thy altar wait
Our interest in thy death to find:
We thirst to drink thy precious blood,
We languish in thy wounds to rest,
And hunger for immortal food,
And long on all thy love to feast.

O that we now thy flesh may eat,
Its virtue really receive,
Impower'd by this immortal meat
The life of holiness to live:
Partakers of thy facrifice
O may we all thy nature share,
Till to the holliest place we rise,
And keep the seast for ever there.

HYMN CXIII.

1 CIVE us, O Lord, the children's bread,
(By ministerial angels fed,
(The angels of thy church below)
Nourish us with preserving grace
Our forty years or forty days,
And lead us thro' the vale of woe.

2 Strengthen'd by this immortal food,
O let us reach the mount of God,
And face to face our Saviour fee,
In fongs of praise and love and joy,
With all thy first-born sons employ
An happy whole eternity.

HYMN CXIV.

- SEE there the quickning cause of all Who live the life of grace beneath! God caus'd on him the sleep to fall, And lo, his eyes are closed in death!
- 2 He fleeps; and from his open'd fide The mingled blood and water flow; They both give being to his bride, And wash his thurch as white as snow.
- 3 True principles of life divine Issues from these the second Eve, Mother of all the faithful line, Of all that by his passion live.
- 4 O what a miracle of love
 Hath he, our heavenly Adam shew'd!
 Jesus forsook his throne above,
 That we might all be born of God.
- 5 'Twas not an useless rib he lost,

 His heart's last drop of blood he gave;

 His life, his precious life it cost

 Our dearly ransom'd souls to save.
- 6 And will he not his purchase take
 Who died to make us all his own,
 One spirit with himself to make
 Flesh of his slesh, bone of his bone?

 Which blessings to our souls conveys,
 Brings with the hallow'd bread and wine
 His strength'ning and refreshing grace,
 Presents his bleeding facrifice,
 His all-reviving death applies!

 With joy we celebrate his love,
 And thus his precious passion shew,
 Till in the clouds our Lord we see,
 And shout with all his saints—'TIS HE!

IV. The HOLY EUCHARIST as it implies a Sacrifice.

HYMN CXVI.

- WilcTIM divine, thy grace we claim
 While thus thy precious death we shew,
 Once offer'd up a spotless Lamb
 In thy great temple here below,
 Thou didst for all mankind atone,
 And standest now before the throne.
- 2 Thou standest in the holiest place,
 As now for guilty sinners slain,
 Thy blood of sprinkling speaks, and prays
 All-prevalent for helpless man;
 Thy blood is still our ransom found,
 And spreads salvation all around.
- 3 The finoke of thy atonement here
 Darken'd the fun and rent the vail,
 Made the new way to heaven appear,
 And shew'd the great Invisible:
 Well pleas'd in thee our God look'd down,
 And call'd his rebels to a crown.
- 4 He still respects thy sacrifice,
 Its savour sweet doth always please,
 The offering smokes thro' earth and skies,
 Diffusing life and joy and peace:
 To these thy lower courts it comes,
 And fills them with divine persumes.

To bring the long-fought Saviour down,
Thou art to all already given,
Thou dost e'en now thy banquet crown:
To every faithful foul appear,
And shew thy real presence here.

HYMN CXVII.

THOU Lamb that fuffer'st on the tree,
And in this dreadful mystery
Still offer'st up thyself to God,
We cast us on thy facrifice,
Wrapt in the facred smoke arise,
And cover'd with th' atoning blood.

Thy death presented in our stead
Enters us now among the dead,
Parts of thy mystic body here,
By thy divine oblation rais'd,
And on our Aaron's ephod plac'd
We now with thee in heaven appear.

2 Thy death exalts thy ransom'd ones, And sets us 'midst the precious stones, Closest thy dear thy loving breast: Israel as on thy shoulders stands; Our names are graven on the hands The heart of our eternal priest.

For us he ever interceeds, His heaven-deferving passion pleads Presenting us before the throne; We want no sacrifice beside, By that great offering sanctified, One with our head, for ever one.

HYMN CXVIII.

Jefus Christ, the Crucified,
He who did for all atone,
From the cross where once he died
Now he up to heaven is gone.

He ever lives, and prays
For all the faithful race;
In the holiest place above
Sinners advocate he stands,
Pleads for us his dying love,
Shews for us his bleeding hands.

His body torn and rent
He doth to God present;
In that dear memorial shews
Ifrael's chosen tribes imprest:
All our names the Father knows
Reads them on our Aaron's breast.

He reads while we beneath Prefent our Saviour's death, Do as Jesus bids us do, Signify his sless and blood, Him in a memorial shew, Offer up the Lamb to God.

From this thrice hallow'd shade
Which Jesu's cross hath made,
Image of his facrifice,
Never, never will we move,
Till with all his faints we rife,
Rise, and take our place above.

HYMN CXIX.

- FATHER, God, who feest in me Only sin and misery, See thine own anointed one, Look on thy beloved Son.
- 2 Turn from me thy glorious eyes To that bloody facrifice, To the full atonement made, To the utmost ransom paid;
- To the blood that speaks above, Calls for thy forgiving love; To the tokens of his death Here exhibited beneath.
- 4 Hear his blood's prevailing cry, Let thy bowels then reply, Then thro' him the finner fee, Then in Jesus look on me.

HYMN CXX.

- TATHER fee the victim flain,
 Jefus Christ the just, the good,
 Offer'd up for guilty man,
 Pouring out his precious blood,
 Him and then the sinner see,
 Look thro' Jesu's wounds on me.

- 4 Can it, Father, can it be?
 What doth Jesu's blood reply?
 If it doth not plead for me,
 Let my soul for ever die;
 But if mine thro, him thou art,
 Speak the pardon to my heart.

HYMN CXXI.

TATHER, behold thy fav'rite fon
The glorious partner of thy throne
For ever plac'd at thy right hand,
O look on thy Messiah's face,
And seal the cov'nant of thy grace,
To us who in thy Jesus stand.

To us thou hast redemption sent:
And we again to thee present
The blood that speaks our fins forgiven,
That sprinkles all the nations round;
And now thou hearst the solemn sound
Loud-echoing thro' the courts of heaves.

The cross on Calvary he bore, He suffer'd once to die no more,

But

But left a facred pledge behind; See here!—It on thy altar lies, Memorial of the facrifice He offer'd once for all mankind.

Father, the grand oblation fee,
The death as present now with thee,
As when he gasp'd on earth—Forgive f
Answer, and shew the curse remov'd,
Accept us in the well-belov'd,
And bid thy world of rebels live.

HYMN CXXII.

- TATHER, let the sinner go,
 The Lamb did once atone,
 Lo! we to thy justice shew
 The passion of the Son;
 Thus to thee we set it forth:
 He the dying precept gave,
 He, who hath sufficient worth
 A thousand worlds to save.
- 2 Can thy justice ought reply
 To our prevailing plea?
 Jesus died thy grace to buy
 For all mankind and me;
 Still before thy righteous throne
 Stands the Lamb as newly slain;
 Canst thou turn away thy Son,
 Or let him bleed in vain?
- 3 Still the wounds are open wide, The blood doth freely flow, As when first his facred side Receiv'd the deadly blow:

Still.

HYMN CXXIII.

- Thou whose offering on the tree
 The legal offerings all foreshew'd,
 Borrow'd their whole effects from thee,
 And drew their virtue from thy blood;
 The blood of goats and bullocks slain
 Could never for one sin atone:
 To purge the guilty offerer's stain
 Thine was the work, and thine alone.
- 2 Vain in themselves their duties were, Their services could never please, 'Till join'd with thine, and made to share. The merits of thy righteousness: Forward they cast a faithful look. On thy approaching sacrifice, And thence their pleasing Saviour took, And rose accepted in the skies.
- Those feeble types and shadows old
 Are all in thee the truth sulfill'd,
 And thro' this facrament we hold
 The substance in our hearts reveal'd;
 By faith we see thy sufferings past
 In this mysterious rite brought back,
 And on thy grand oblation cast
 Its saving benefit partake.
- 4 Memorial of thy facrifice
 This euchariflick myffery
 The full atoning grace fupplies,
 And fanctifies our gifts in thee;

Our persons and personnance please,
While God in thee looks down from heaven,
Our acceptable service sees,
And whispers all our sins forgiven.

HYMN CXXIV.

A LL hail, Redeemer of mankind!
Thy life on Calvary refign'd
Did fully once for all atone,
Thy blood hath paid our utmost price,
Thine all sufficient facrifice
Remains eternally alone:

Angels and men might strive in vain,
They could not add the smallest grain
T'augment thy death's atoming power,
Thy facrifice is all-complete
The death thou never canst repeat,
Once offer'd up to die no more.

2 Yet may we celebrate below,
And daily thus thine offering flew
Expos'd before thy Father's eyes !
In this tremendous mystery
Present thee bleeding on the tree
Our ever lasting facrifice;

Father, behold thy dying Son!
Ev'n now he lays our ranfom down;
Ev'n now declares our fins forgiven:
His flesh is rent, the living way
Is open'd to eternal day,
And lo, thro' him we pass to heaven!

HYMN CXXV.

- God of our forefathers hear,
 And make thy faithful mercies knows,
 To thee thro' Jesus we draw near,
 Thy suffering, well-beloved Son,
 In whom thy smiling face we see,
 In whom thou art well-pleas'd with me.
- And fpread before thy glorious eyes.
 That only ground of all our hope,
 That precious, bleeding facrifice,
 Which brings thy grace on finners down,
 And perfects all our fouls in one.
- Acceptance thro' his only name,
 Forgiveness in his blood we have;
 But more abundant life we claim
 Thro' him who died our souls to save,
 To fanctify us by his blood,
 And fill with all the life of God.
- 4 Father, behold thy dying Son,
 And hear his blood that speaks above,
 On us let all thy grace be shewn,
 Peace, righteousness, and joy, and love,
 Thy kingdom come to every heart,
 And all thou hast and all thou art.

HYMN CXXVI.

 Faith in the blood atoning yet
 For us and all mankind.
- To thee his passion we present,
 Who for our ransom dies,
 We reach by this great instrument
 Th' eternal facrifice.
- The Lamb as crucified afresh
 Is here held out to men,
 The tokens of his blood and slesh
 Are on this table seen.
- 5 The Lamb his Father now furveys, As on this altar flain, Still bleeding and imploring grace For every foul of man.
- Father, for us ev'n us he bleeds, The facrifice receive, Forgive, for Jefus intexceeds, He gafps in death—Forgive?

HYMN CXXVII.

DID thine ancient Ifrael go
With folemn praise and prayer
To thy hallow'd courts below
To meet and serve thee there?
To thy body, Lord, we flee;
This the consecrated shrine;
Temple of the Deity,
The real house divine.

2 Did they tow'rd the altar turn
Their hopes and heart and face,
Whence the victim's blood was borne
Into the holiest place?
Tow'rd the cross we still look up,
Tow'ard the Lamb for sinners given,
Thro' thine only death we hope
To find our way to heaven.

HYMN CXXVIII.

LL hail, thou mighty to atone!
To expiate fin is thine alone,
Thou haft alone the wine-press trod,
Thou only hast for sinners died,
By one oblation satisfied
Th' inexorably righteous God:

Should the whole church in flames arise,
Offer'd as one burnt-facrifice,
The finners smallest debt to pay,
They could not, Lord, thine honour share,
With thee the Father's justice bear,
Or bear one single sin away.

Thyfelf our utmost price hast paid,
Thou hast for all atonement made,
For all the fins of all mankind;
God doth in thee redemption give:
But how shall we the grace receive,
But how shall we the blessing find?

We only can accept the grace,
And humbly our Redeemer praise
Who bought the glorious liberty:
The life thou didft for all procure
We make by our believing fure
To us who live and die to thee.

Wait on the dread sacrifice,
Feel the lovely victim bleed,
And die while Jesus dies!

Sinners see, he dies for all,
And feel his mortal wound,
Prostrate on your faces fall,
And kiss the hallow'd ground;
Hallow'd by the streaming blood,
Blood, whose virtue all may know,
Sharers with the dying God,
And crucified below.

A Sprinkled with the blood we lye,
And bless its cleansing power,
Crying in the Spirit's cry,
Our Saviour we adore!

 If his cross we sustain,
 His joy and his crown we in heaven shall gain.

HYMN CXLIII.

- TATHER, behold I come to do
 Thy will, I come to fuffer too
 Thy acceptable will;
 Do with me, Lord, as feems thee good,
 Dispose of this weak slesh and blood,
 And all thy mind fulfil.
- 2 Thy creature in thy hands I am, Frail dust and ashes is my name; Thy earthen vessel use, Mould as thou wilt the passive clay, But let me all thy will obey, And all thy pleasure chuse.
- Melcome whate'er my God ordain!
 Afflict with poverty or pain
 This feeble flesh of mine,
 (But grant me strength to bear my load)
 I will not murmur at thy rod,
 Or for relief repine.

(110)

- 4 My spirit wound (but oh! be near)
 With what far more than death I fears.
 The darts of keenest shame,
 Fulfil'd with more than killing smarts.
 And wounded in the tenderest part
 I still adore thy name.
- 5 Beneath thy bruifing hand I fall,
 Whate'er thou fend I take it all,
 Reproach, or pain, or loss;
 I will not for deliverance pray,
 But humbly unto death obey,
 The death of Jefu's cross.

HYMN CXLIV.

- * LET both Jews and Gentiles join,
 Friends and enemies combine,
 Vent their utmost rage on me,
 Still I look thro' all to thee.
- 2. Humbly own it is the Lord! Let him wave o'er me his fword: Lo, I bow me to thy will; Thou thy whole defign fulfil.
- 3 Stricken by thine anger's rod, Dumb I fall before my God; Or my dear chaftifer blefs, Sing the paschal psalm of praise.
- 4 While the bitter herbs I eat, Him I for my foes entreat; Let me die, but Oh! forgive, Let my pardon'd murderers live:

HYMN CXLV.

- ATHER, into thy hands alone
 I have my all reftor'd,
 My all thy property I own,
 The fteward of the Lord.
- 2 Hereafter none can take away My life or goods or fame, Ready at thy demand to lay Them down I always am.
- 6 Confiding in thy only love
 Thro' him who died for me,
 I wait thy faithfulnes to prove,
 And give back all to thee.
- 4 Take when thou wilt into thy hands, And as thou wilt require; Resume by the Sabean bands, Or the devouring fire.
- 5 Determin'd all thy will t'obey,
 Thy bleffing I reftore;
 Give, Lord, or take thy gifts away,
 I praise thee evermore.

H Y M N CXLVI:

TATHER, if thou willing be,
Then my griefs a while suspend;
Then remove the cup from me,
Or thy strength'ning angel send;
Would'st thou have me susser on?
Father, let thy will be done.

- Let my flesh be troubled fill,
 Fill'd with pain or fore disease,
 Let my wounded spirit feel
 Strong, redoubled agonies;
 Meekly I my will resign,
 Thine be done, and only thine.
- 3 Patient as my great High-Prieft In his bitterness of pain, Most abandon'd and distrest, Father, I the cross sustain:
 All into thy hands I give, Let me die or let me live.
- Following where my Lord hath led,
 Thee I on the crofs adore,
 Humbly bow like him my head,
 All thy benefits restore;
 Till my spirit I resign
 Breath'd into the hands divine.

HYMN CXLVII.

- t JESU, to thee in faith we look,
 O that our fervices might rife
 Perfum'd and mingled with the smoke
 Of thy sweet-smelling facrifice.
- 2 Thy facrifice with heavenly powers Replete, all-holy, all-divine, Human and weak, and finful ours; How can the two oblations join?
- 3 Thy offering doth to ours impart Its righteousness and saving grace, While charg'd with all our sins thou art, To death devoted in our place.

4 Our mean imperfect facrifice
On thine is as a burthen thrown,
Both in a common flame arife,
And both in God's account are one.

HYMN CXLVIII.

- TATHER of mercies hear Thro' thine atoning Son, Who doth for us in heaven appear, And prays before thy throne;
- By that great facrifice Which He for us doth plead, Into our Saviour's death baptize, And make us like our head.
- Into the fellowship Of Jesu's sufferings take, Us who desire with him to sleep, That we with him may wake:
- Plant us into his death,
 That we his life may prove,
 Partakers of his cross beneath
 And of his crown above,

HYMN CXLIX.

- I ESU, my strength and hope,
 My righteousness and power,
 My foul is lifted up
 Thy mercy to implore;
 My hands I still stretch out to thee,
 My hands I saften to the tree.
- No more may they offend, But do thy work below;

Thou

Thou know'ft I fain would spend My life thy praife to shew; Nor will thy gracious love despise A sinner's meanest facrifice.

Thy wounds have wounded me,
Thy bloody crofs fubdu'd,
I feel my mifery,
And ever gafp for God;
My prayers and griefs and groans I join,
And mingle all my pangs with thine.

Jefu, a foul receive Upon thine altar cast To die with thee and live When all my deaths are past; To live where grief can never rise, And reign with thee above the skies,

HYMN CL.

TATHER, on us the Spirit bestow,
Thro' which thine everlasting Son
Offer'd himself for man below,
That we, ev'n we before thy throne
Our souls and bodies may present,
And pay thee all thy grace hath lent.

Whate'er to thee we now reflore,
And make us with thy will comply,
With all our mind and foul and power,
Obey thee as thy faints above
In perfect innocence and love.

HYMN CLI.

- COME thou spirit of contrition,
 Fill our souls with tender fears,
 Conscious of our lost condition
 Melt us into gracious tears;
 Just and holy detestation
 Of our bosom-sins impart;
 Sins that caus'd our Saviour's passion,
 Sins that stabb'd him to the heart.
- Fill our flesh with killing anguish, All our members crucify, Let th' offending nature languish Till on Jesu's cross it die; All our fins to death deliver, Let not one, not one survive; Then we live to God for ever, Then in heaven on earth we live.

HYMN CLIL

- RM of the Lord, whole vengeance laid My fins upon my Saviour's head, In mercy now the finner fee, And oh! deftroy them all in me.
- Accept all-gracious as thou art,
 Accept a mournful finner's heart,
 Who pour my tears before my God.
 As a poor victim does its blood.
- 3 My feeble foul would fain afpire, Its zeal and thoughts, and whole defire Lift up to thee, through Jesu's name, As a burnt-facrifice, its flame.

- 5 Cloth'd in his rightcoulness receive,
 And bid me one with Jesus live,
 Join all he fanctifes in one,
 One cross, one glory, and one crown.

HYMN CLIII.

- ATHER, thy feeble children meet,
 And make thy faithful mercies known;
 Give us thro' faith the flesh to eat,
 And drink the blood of Christ thy Son;
 Honour thine own mysterious ways,
 Thy sacramental presence shew,
 And all the fullness of thy grace;
 With Jesus, on our souls bestow.
- 2 Father, our facrifice receive;
 Our fouls and bodies we present,
 Our goods, and vows, and praises give,
 Whate'er thy bounteous love hath lent;
 Thou can'st not now our gift despise,
 Cast on that all-atoning Lamb,
 Mixt with the bl eeding facrifice,
 And offer'd up thro' Jesu's name.

HYMN CLIV

TESU, did they crucify
Thee by highest heaven ador'd?
Let us also go and die
With our dearest dying Lord!

Lord,

- 2 Lord, thou feest our willing heart, Knowst its uppermost desire, With our nature's life to part, Meekly on thy cross t'expire.
- g Fain we would be all like thee, Suffer with our Lord beneath: Grant us full conformity, Plunge us deep into thy death.
- 4 Now inflict the mortal pain,
 Now exert thy passion's power,
 Let the man of sin be slain,
 Die the slesh to live no more.

HYMN CLVIIL:

A LL praise to God above
In whom we have believ'd?
The tokens of whose dying love
We have ow'n-now receiv'd.

Have with his flesh been fed, And drank his precious blood: His precious blood is drink indeed, His flesh immortal food.

Mhigh now in Christ we know,

An earnest of our glorious bliss,

Our heaven begun below!

When he the table spreads,
How royal is the chear?
With rapture we lift up our heads,
And own that God is here.

He bids us tafte his grace,
The joys of angels prove,
The frammerers tongues are loos'd to praise
Our dear Redeemer's love.

Salvation to our God
That fits upon the throne;
Salvation be alike beftow'd
On his triumphant, Son !

The

The Lamb for sinners slain,
Who died to die no more,
Let all the rankin'd sons of men
With all his hosts adore:

Let earth and heaven be join'd His glories to display, And hymn the Saviour of mankind In one eternal day.

HYMN CLIX.

- A LL glory and praise to Jesus our Lord!
 His ransoming grace we gladly record,
 His bloody oblation and death on the tree,
 Hath purchas'd salvation and heaven for me.
- a The Saviour hath died for me and for you, The blood is applied, the record is true; The fpirit bears witness, and speaks in the blood, And gives us the fitness for living with God.

HYMN CLX.

Welcome my God, my Saviour dear!
O with me, in me, live and dwell;
Thine, earthly joy furpaffes quite,
The depths of thy fupreme delight
Not angel-tongues can fully tell.

a What streams of sweetness from the bowl Surprize and deluge all my soul,
Sweetness which is, and makes divine,
Surely from God's right-hand thy flow,
From thence deriv'd to earth below,
To cheer us with immortal wine.

Soom

- Soon as I taste the heavenly bread, What manna o'er my foul is shed, Manna that angels never knew! Victorious sweetness fills my heart, Such as my God delights t'impart, Mighty to save and sin subdue.
- A I had forgot my heavenly birth,
 My foul degen'rate clave to earth,
 In fenfe and fin's base pleasures drown'd,
 When God affum'd humanity,
 And spilt his facred blood for me,
 To wash, and lift me from the ground.
- 5 Soon as his love has rais'd me up,
 He mingles bleffings in a cup,
 And sweetly meets my ravish'd taste;
 Joyous I now throw off my load,
 I cast my sms and care on God,
 And wine becomes a wing at last.
- 6 Upborne on this, I mount, I fly;
 Regaining fwift my native fky,
 I wipe my streaming eyes, and see
 Him, whom I feek, for whom I sue,
 My God, my Saviour, there I view,
 And live with him who dy'd for me.

HYMN CLXII.

1 HOSANNAH in the highest
To our exalted Saviour,
Who left behind
For all mankind
These tokens of his favour:

His bleeding love and mercy,
His all-redeeming passion,
Who here displays
And gives the grace
Which brings us our salvation,

2 Louder than gather'd waters, Or burfting peals of thunder, We lift our voice And speak our joys, And shout our loving wonder!

Shout all our elder brethren,
While we record the flory
Of him that came,
And fuffer'd fhame
To carry us to glory.

Angels in fixt amazement Around our altars hover, With eager gaze Adore the grace Of our eternal lover:

Himfelf

Himself and all his sulness
Who gives to the believer;
And by this bread
Whoe'er are fed
Shall live with God for ever!

HYMN CLXIII.

Glory be to God on high, and on Earth Peace, &c.

HYMN CLXVI.

- HAPPY the faints of former days
 Who first continued in the word, A fimple lowly loving race, True followers of their Lamb-like Lorde
- 2 In holy fellowship they liv'd, Nor would from the commandment move, But every joyful day receiv'd The tokens of expiring love.
- 3 Not then above their Master wise. They imple in his paths remain'd, And call'd to mind his factifice ... With steelast faith and love unseign'd.
- 4 From house to bouse they broke the bread Impregnated with life divine, And drank the spirit of their head Transmitted in the sagred wine.
- With Jelu's constant presence blest, While duteous to his dying word, They kept the eucharistic feast, And supp'd in Eden with their Lord.
- 6 Throughout their spotless lives was seen The virtue of this heavenly food, Superior to the fons of men. They foar'd aloft, and walk'd with God.
- 7 O what a flame of facred love Was kindled by the altar's fire! They liv'd on earth like those above, Glad rivals of the heavenly choir.

- 9 Their fouls from chains of flesh releas'd, By torture from their bodies driven With violent faith the kingdom seiz'd, And fought and forc'd their way to heaven.
- Where is the pure primeval flame,
 Which in their faithful bosom glow'd?
 Where are the followers of the Lamb,
 The dying witnesses for God?
- The life of God extinct and dead? The daily facrifice is ceas'd, And charity to heaven is fled.
- 18 Sad mutual caufes of decay, Slackness and vice together move, Grown cold we cast the means away, And quench'd the latest spark of love.
- The facred figns thou didft ordain,
 Our pleafant things are all laid waste;
 To men of lips and hearts profane,
 To dogs and swine, and heathen cast.
- Thine holy ordinance contemn'd.

 Hath let the flood of evil in,
 And those who by thy name are nam'd,
 The finners unbaptiz'd out-fin.
- 15 But canft Thou not thy work revive Once more in our degenerate years? O wouldft thou with thy rebels firive, And melt them into gracious tears!

- 16 O wouldf thou to thy church return ! For which the faithful remnant fights,

 For which the drooping nations mourn,

 Restore the daily sacrifice.
- 17 Return, and with thy fervants fit,
 Lord of the facramental feaft,
 And fatiate us with heavenly meat,
 And make the world thy happy gueft.
- 18 Now let the spouse, reclin'd on thee, Come up out of the widerness, From every spot, and wrinkle free, And wash'd, and perfected in grace.
- Thou hear'st the pleading Spirit's groan,
 Thou knowst the groaning Spirit's will:
 Come in thy gracious kingdom down
 And all thy ransom'd servants seal.
- 20 Come quickly, Lord, the Spirit cries, The number of thy laints complete, Come quickly, Lord, the bride replies, And make us all for glory meet.
- 21 Erect thy tabernacle here,
 The new Jerufalem fend down,
 Thyself amidst thy faints appear,
 And seat us on thy dazling throne.
- Now, Saviour, with a shout descend.

 Thy standard in the heavens display,
 And bring the joy which ne'er shall end!
